THE PRESIDENTS CORNER / Tina Feick

This is the first issue of volume 4 of The NASIG Newsletter. With this issue our newsletter becomes a bimonthly publication. Please correct your frequency indicators!!!

The Executive Board of NASIG met on January 10th at the end of the ALA-Midwinter Conference. Several major decisions came out of that meeting:

A membership directory will be produced in the next six months. Judith Rieke of Vanderbilt University heads up that project.

Dates were set for our upcoming election. The ballots will be sent out by March 1st. Ken Kirkland of DePaul University is running the election.

The bylaws have been rewritten - now in its fourth draft - and approved by the the Board. Enclosed is the draft; please take the time to read it. We need your vote in order to place the bylaws on the agenda for the business meeting at the annual conference in California. Sylvia Martin of Vanderbilt is the Chair.

Our first continuing education program will be held at the University of Pittsburgh in March. Buzzy Basch of EBSCO is the Chair of this Task Force.

Money was allocated for our library science student grants. Ann Vidor of Georgia Institute of Technology has received responses from 46 of the 59 schools contacted. That is an amazingly high number of responses!!!

The program is being finalized for our conference in California. Brochures for the conference will be mailed in mid-February.

PLEASE NOTE: ONLY NASIG MEMBERS WILL BE REGISTERED THROUGH MARCH 31st. RENEW NOW!

Our treasury is healthy with about $25,000 in reserve.

My thanks go out to the Executive Board members who lived through a four hour meeting (yet we needed more time!!!). NASIG continues to grow and change. So much has happened over the past three years and the best is yet to come! Plan now for California.

The minutes of the June 1988 meeting were approved with the following corrections (underlined):

- 3.3 T. Feick has engaged an accountant in New York State who will be filing our application for tax-exempt status with the IRS... NASIG must prove it is an organization which is meeting its goals as a non-profit organization...It will take up to 9 months to get a reply from the IRS.
- 18.0 Fifth Annual Conference - ...They will explore the question of insurance before investigating sites, and if the insurance poses a problem...
- 22.1 Part-time administrator - (last sentence) Several members were strongly in favor of this.

Finance: S. Davis reported that as of December 31, 1989, the balance was $23,712.08. Second notices for renewals of membership for 1989 will be sent by the end of January. Membership cards will be sent next week. The Conference Balance Sheet for the Oglethorpe Conference was presented and was discussed.

S. Davis reported that Carol Patrick of Cleveland State is in charge of insurance and the premium this year will be $250.

T. Feick will be preparing the budget for 1989 and all financial data for 1988 onward will be set up on a computer.

The IRA has sent a letter to T. Feick stating that a reply on the not-for-profit filing will be within 110 days.

Library Science Student Grant Committee: A. Vidor has received 46 responses from the 59 schools contacted. Four inquiries were received as a result of the notice in The NASIG Newsletter. It was decided that students will arrive on Saturday instead of a day earlier (as last year). They will have dinner with the Committee on the first night. It was suggested that the students' badges indicate that they are students and that a meeting with the Committee near the end of the conference would be useful. It was agreed that $1500 will be spent on the grants this year.

OCLC Serials Control Subsystem Users Group "1113" Award: T. Feick announced that NASIG had received a grant of a little over $1000 from the Group which has officially disbanded. The money has been given to NASIG with the stipulation that $200 be given each year to the Library Science Grant Committee to distribute to one of the students selected. The Committee will discuss how this student shall be chosen.

Job Placement Committee: The Committee is compiling lists for mailings. Thus far, six appointments are on file (mostly for administrative positions, with one in cataloging) and there were two phone inquiries. One job has been listed; the Committee will press for more via the mailings. No one has used the postcards. Costs have totalled about $100 to date. Another NASIG member will be assisting the Chair, Marla Edelman.

Site Selection Committee (1990 Conference): The Committee's unanimous recommendation is that the fifth annual conference be held at Brock University, St. Catharines, Ontario. S. Davis, a member of the committee, explained the pros and cons of each of the three sites visited (Brock, McMaster, and York Universities). After some discussion, the Board agreed that NASIG will have to promote the conference in view of the fact that it will be held outside the U.S. and T. Feick suggested that a membership drive in Canada should be held. It was suggested that these two activities should begin soon. R. O'Neil offered to write a summary of the points which should be considered in informing members about the conference, such as customs, transportation from the airport, currency, etc. The Board voted to hold the fifth annual conference at Brock University. T. Feick noted that the university is anxious for NASIG to hold the conference there and will be most hospitable.

Bylaws Committee: S. Martin, Chair, has not yet received any comments from the newsletter announcement. She presented the questions which the Executive Board members had on the Proposed Bylaws. She said the major area of concern was in Article IV Section 5: "Vacancies" in the event that the Vice President becomes President and the Vice President position must be filled. It was suggested that in the last sentence "shall" be changed to "may" to address this.

The following other areas were discussed:

Art. IV. Sect. 4. Term of office for Vice President will be 3 years total (one year as Vice President, one year as President, and one year as Past President).

Art. IV. Sect. 3. Duties - "continued failure" will stand as is.

Art. XII. "Sect. 1" will be removed.

Art. II. Objectives. The description of members in 1. will remain as it is.

Art. V. Sect. 2. - "Revise" will be kept instead of changing it to "reverse."

Art. V. Sect. 2. To the question of moving the sentence about revising the actions of the Executive Board to Art. III, Sect. 1 (Rights), the Board voted no.

Art. VIII. Last sentence: Change "A call to such meetings" to "Notice of meetings"...

Art. V and VI. Add the same sentence as in Art. IV regarding when terms begin for the Executive Board and Committee members.

The Board voted to use "bylaws" as the spelling throughout the document. The proposed bylaws will be discussed at the June 1989 Business Meeting. Prior to that there will be a call for a vote of confidence from the membership in the next newsletter. S. Martin will write up the revisions for that newsletter as well. The Board thanked Sylvia and congratulated Sylvia and the Committee on a job well done.

Nominations/Election Committee: K. Kirkland, Chair, stated that the deadline for nominations is January 31 and that ballots would be mailed March 1. The date for return of ballots is April 1. The Board agreed with this schedule. Eleven petitions have been received to date. The election will be held under the terms in the "old" bylaws, but there will be a notice in the next newsletter which will explain that if the new bylaws are accepted, the terms of office, etc. will be in effect retroactive to this election. This will also be explained on the ballot. The ballots will include the name and affiliation of each of the candidates as well as a short statement from each candidate.

The Committee will draft a sample ballot and send it to the Board for comment.

Committee Terms: It was agreed that more thought should be given to this in view of the proposed bylaws and some decisions on the length of term for committee chairs must be made.

Publications Committee: M.B. Clack reported that the Subcommittee on the Membership Directory had prepared a report and J. Callaghan, a member of the Subcommittee, answered questions about the report. S. Davis brought up the ongoing problem of updating addresses. It was agreed that the renewal form should match the membership directory form and that such a form should be sent to the membership in a separate mailing to ensure that we have the most up-to-date information. A draft of this form will be sent to the Board for comment.

M. Tuttle suggested that all the elements on the "dream list" through "electronic mail address" be included in the first published directory and that a notice should be put in the newsletter to say that failure to respond will result in use of whatever data is now on file. J. Riddick said that a statement in the front of the directory should emphasize that the directory is to be used by the membership only and it is not to be sold, etc. R. Presley will be investigating bulk mailing and the Board voted that up to $2000 may be spent on production of the directory.

The Subcommittee will report on bids for production in various formats and will submit a progress report to the Board.

Conference Proceedings: M.E. Clack reported that the Proceedings for the third conference have appeared in the unbound issue of Serials Librarian, vol. 15, no. 3/4 (1988). T. Feick said that the bound volume was due in two weeks so Haworth is on schedule. She has received a list of contact people at Haworth and $200 in royalties has accrued. M. E. Clack reported that Pat Rice and Joyce Ogburn of Penn State University will be the co-editors of the fourth proceedings and M.E. Clack will be "senior editor" for that volume. Haworth has invited the editors and T. Feick to visit their Binghamton production offices sometime in the next two months so that all questions can be answered, etc.

The NASIG Newsletter: The Board voted to change the frequency of the newsletter to bimonthly, giving an extra issue before the annual conference. The Board voted to sell back issues for the previous year only at a cost of $2.00 per issue or $5.00 per year (4 issues). The newsletter will advertise these back issues.

Continuing Education Committee:

Tuttle's Tours - M. Tuttle has had three inquiries and needs firm commitments within one week for the 8 or 9 persons (minimum required). The next tour will be to Germany and Switzerland.

Task Force on Library School Programs - On March 6, 1989 B. Basch, J. Tagler, and M. Tuttle will speak at the University of Pittsburgh Library School. A flyer is being mailed to NASIG members in western Pennsylvania to announce this half-day workshop. This will be a prototype which can be presented at other library schools in the future.

Regional Science Seminars - Nancy Terry has plans for a program with the Michigan Library Association on the back burner for now.

Speaker's Bureau - There will be a form in the next newsletter to sign up to be part of the bureau.

Programs for Support Staff - M. F. Bustion is Chair of this task force and they are planning programs.

1989 Conference: T. Feick reported that the Local Arrangements Committee is hard at work and the main problem will be traffic control. There will be several committees of Executive Board members which will work at the conference to coordinate the speakers and workshop leaders' meeting, audio-visual equipment, timing speakers, etc. B. Postlethwaite will be coordinating the workshop leaders preparations with help from other Board members. The Board approved the $190 registration fee and to accept only NASIG members for the first 45 days. T. Feick said that the brochure should be mailed around February 15.

Task Force on Numbers: J. Riddick, Chair, stated that the task force recommends that the ceiling for registration be 500 at the fourth conference and that participants should be canvassed after the conference to measure reactions to the increased numbers. Since space is not a problem at Claremont, this will be a good opportunity to try a larger conference. It was noted that if the Continuing Education programs are expanded and offered in different regions in the future, this may serve to reduce the size of the annual conference. Registration for the fourth conference will be restricted to members for the first 45 days.

Since time was limited. T. Feick will communicate with the Board about the topics which were not discussed (Liaisons, Regional Councils, Job and House Exchanges). She thanked all members and guests for their contributions.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Fourth Annual Conference Local Arrangements Committee / Maria Cap

The Local Arrangements Committee is hard at work planning the conference at Scripps College in Claremont, California. Conference brochures and registration forms will be mailed to members in mid-February. If you do not receive the registration packet by late February, please contact Teresa Malinowski, NASIG Registration, California State University, Fullerton, 800 N. State College, P.O. Box 4150, Fullerton, CA 92634, phone 714-773-2038.

Claremont is one of the loveliest cities in Southern California. The Scripps campus has numerous gardens with fountains and will provide a tranquil environment. In June, temperatures are in the mid 70's. Mornings and evenings tend to be overcast and cool.

If you're planning to attend the conference in Claremont this year, the Local Arrangements Committee is strongly recommending booking flights into Ontario International Airport, which is approximately 15 minutes from Claremont. NASIG will be offering chartered airport/ground transportation only between Ontario Airport and Scripps College for a fee of $5.00 each way. Conference attendees arriving at and departing from Los Angeles International Airport (approx. 60 miles or 8-140 minutes from Claremont) need to provide their own transportation to the college.

In Southern California, automobile driving is the rule of the day! Public transportation is either non-existent or so cumbersome and time-consuming that we wouldn't recommend using it. You are better off renting a car or taking a taxi ($15-$20) from the Ontario Airport. From LAX a taxi may cost anywhere from $50-$95 depending on time, traffic, and the company you use. Both airports are also serviced by commercial airport shuttle vans such as Super Shuttle (800-554-6458 outside California) and Valley Airport (800-262-7433 outside California and 800-468-3000). A more detailed description of getting to Claremont and/or registering for the chartered airport service from Ontario will be sent to all registered participants.

We are pleased to be able to offer members Tuesday night accommodations at the College for a fee of $10. There will be no meals. You are on your own for Tuesday night dinner and Wednesday breakfast. Within walking distance of the College, there are a number of lovely dining establishments in downtown Claremont. Members from the East Coast and Midwest may find it easier to fly back early on Wednesday morning. If you plan to take one of the Tuesday afternoon tours, you will need to arrange return flights after 7 p.m. or early the next morning.

So register early for lots of fun, serials talk, and "sunny" California!!!

Library Science Student Grant Committee / Ann Vidor

Please encourage any library school students who are interested in serials and/or technical services to apply for the student grant awards to cover conference expenses. The application deadline is March 1, 1989. (For more specific details, see The NASIG Newsletter, Dec. 1988 issue). Additional information and application forms may be obtained from: Ann B. Vidor, Head, Serials Cataloging Dept., Price Gilbert Memorial Library, Georgia Institute of Technology, Atlanta, GA 30332.

Continuing Education:

Task Force to Develop a Serials Information Program for Library Schools / N. Bernard (Buzzy) Basch, Chair

Plans are moving ahead for a pilot presentation of the Serials Information program for Library Schools at the School of Library and Information Science of the University of Pittsburgh on March 16th.

The program will follow the outline submitted to NASIG at the Atlanta meeting, taking the form of a half-day workshop by a three-person team: Marcia Tuttle, Serials Librarian, University of North Carolina; John Tagler, Director of Marketing Services, Elsevier; and Buzzy Basch, Vice President, EBSCO. The topics to be covered are serials and information management, publishing, serials agents, and career opportunities.

The workshop is aimed at students, faculty, area library staff, and local NASIG members. The University of Pittsburgh is preparing a flyer on the workshop and copies will be mailed to NASIG members in the Pittsburgh area.

The workshop will be evaluated through the distribution of questionnaires to participants; a critique by the Dean of the School, Dr. Toni Carbo Bearman; and the presenters. A report on the workshop and suggestions for refinement and replication pilot will be presented at the NASIG meeting in Claremont, California in June.

Speakers' Bureau / Geraldine Williams

The Continuing Education Committee is establishing a Speakers' Bureau in the broad area of serial topics. We are building a databank to supply names to requesting groups based upon topic requests and state or region. We encourage anyone interested in doing presentations to fill in the form attached to this newsletter issue.

Nominating Committee

Ballots will be sent out on March 1st. The election will be run under the Bylaws presently in effect but the terms that will be indicated on the ballot are those which would come into effect if the new Bylaws are passed after discussion at the annual meeting.

If you do not receive a ballot please contact: Mr. Kenneth Kirkland, Serials Librarian, DePaul University, 2323 N. Seminary Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60614.

CONFERENCE REPORTS

Issues in Book and Serials Acquisitions - Questioning Assumptions, November 3-5, 1988, College of Charleston, Charleston, South Carolina / Marilyn G. McSweeney

This conference had as its goal the facilitation of a dialogue among librarians, vendors, and publishers about issues of mutual concern. The conference organizer, Katina Strauch, and her committee of advisors put together two and a half days of lively and thought provoking presentations and discussion. Participants numbered 170 librarians with 46 vendor representatives and 19 publisher representatives representing 17 book or serial vendors and 13 publishing companies respectively.

The subtitles of this years conference was QUESTIONING ASSUMPTIONS, and during the first two days the speakers from the library, vendor, and publishing communities addressed their remarks to questioning and exploring topics grouped around four basic assumptions:

1. Information is worth the price.
2. Vendors provide a service.
3. Libraries need books and journals.
4. Collection development is good.

On the third day a panel of librarians and publishers were joined by several faculty members who enhanced the discussion of scholarly publishing with their perspective. The conference was closed by summary remarks suggesting future direction by a "keynote" speaker and a summation panel.

With 40 speakers and panelists, it would be impossible to adequately summarize each speakers remarks in this brief article. There were presentations about the economics of book and journal publishing, talks by vendors explaining their services and costs, and librarians discussing methods to monitor vendor performance and tracking serial prices. They are not addressed here in any detail. I have tried, rather, to present an overview of the themes that emerged during the conference.

While there were presentations about book acquisitions, approval plans, bookselling, and publishing, many of the speakers were focussing on topics related to serial pricing. There is a growing awareness that the serials pricing crisis is not over, it is not a short term phenomena, and it affects more than serials librarians. During the past few years many libraries have gone through cancellation projects in an attempt to balance their serial budgets. Book budgets, already reduced by encroaching serials costs, are experiencing diminished buying power because of rising book prices as well. One major vendor reports that there was an overall price increase in U.S. and European imprints of 14% last year, with the highest increases in the subjects of philosophy and political science at 18-19% and science and technology at 23-24%. Some smaller libraries have shown a drop of 40-60% in monographs added while larger libraries are showing as much as a 30% drop in monograph intake.

All parties acknowledge this is not a problem that can be solved by any one segment of the information chain, but an important addition to this year's conference was a panel containing faculty from astrophysics, biology, and physics who described their experiences about submitting articles for publication and the desirability to be published in specific journals. This begins to fill in what has often been a missing piece of the discussion -- the role journal publishing plays in the scholarly process. Librarians were urged to think in terms of publishers, booksellers, and vendors all being in the same business of providing information in a cooperative way, not adversarial.

Although librarians and publishers may not be natural adversaries, they often talk through the vendors, and not to each other. It is clear that publishers need to hear more directly from librarians about their concerns. It is equally clear that the scholarly community, as well, needs to hear about the problems that exist from librarians. Librarians also need to be more informed consumers, learning more about journal and book pricing, about the economics of the information business, about the realities of the profit making sector, and become knowledgeable about service expectations for vendors and publishers.

The current crisis in libraries is not just one of pricing, but with scholarly education and publication. All players -- librarians, vendors, and publishers -- are dealing with an overload situation: more and more articles being produced, more journals being published, and more demands for information to be purchased in the library. The academic reward system based on publishing is driving our entire system, not just tenure, but salaries, promotion, and professional recognition. While there may be some creative partial solutions through electronic publication, storage, and retrieval, a long term solution seems possible only with some understanding and examination of the process of scholarly research and reward. This will need to include different players than have customarily been involved in discussions of the problem. This conference provided many opportunities for participants to share information as well as challenging many of our assumptions about the value of information and the part we all play in the chain of information provision.

Serials Interest Group Session of the Canadian Library Association Conference / Purabi Pal

Here are some of the highlights of the session "The Serials Marketplace at the End of the Decade" at the joint Canadian Library Association and Atlantic Provinces Library Association Conference in Halifax, June 1988.

The session was sponsored by the Serials Interest Group of the Atlantic Provinces Library Association. The speakers were Anne Piternick, School of Library, Archival and Information Studies, University of British Columbia; Hana Komorus, University of Victoria Library; Elena Romaniuk, University of Victoria Library; and Ann Okerson, Jerry Alper, Inc., Eastchester, New York.

The speakers discussed the problems of the present situation in serials acquisitions at a time of escalating journal prices and declining resources. They also voiced their opinions on the manner of accessing serials through new technologies. A survey on accessing electronic journals by Canadian and American libraries was very informative. The purpose of the survey on acquiring electronic journals was to gather data about current practices in accessing full text electronic periodicals. The results of the survey concluded that full text databases are rarely used because of the high cost involved. Most of the needs are met by bibliographic databases.

The panel wholeheartedly agreed that serials librarians are now living in the electronic mail period which is by no means cheaper than the world of print. At present, new technologies offer to store journal articles on-line and can be transmitted through such devices as FAX machines and E-mails.

INTERNATIONAL SUBSCRIPTION AGENTS / Lenore Wilkas

The American Library Association is anxious to begin work on the new edition of International Subscription Agents. Yours truly has accepted the task of revising the 5th edition (published in early 1986) and I would very much appreciate input from my fellow NASIG members.

Attached to this newsletter is a questionnaire with space for your ideas and comments. Because this volume tries to assist us in our serials work, the ALA would like to meet our needs as much as possible. Realizing that many librarians are now doing monographic and serials acquisitions, the American Library Association would like to include in this new edition a section on major international monographic vendors (yes, this will probably necessitate a title change). I would like your thoughts on this, too.

Thanks in advance for what I know will be a host of thoughtful, helpful ideas!

CONFERENCE ANNOUNCEMENTS

The 1990 NASIG Fifth Annual Conference / Tina Feick

I am pleased to announce that our fifth (can you believe??) annual conference will be held at Brock University, St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada. The dates are June 2-5, 1990.

Our Site Selection Committee visited three campuses in the province of Ontario and recommended Brock as the best site. The Committee members were Cindy Hepfer, Chair (SUNY-Buffalo Health Sciences Library), Esther Sleep (Brock University), Kit Kennedy (Coutts Library Services, Inc.), and Susan Davis (SUNY-Buffalo).

In our April newsletter there will be an article giving you more information about Brock. For instance, did you know that you can fly into Buffalo, New York to get to Brock and that Brock is very close to Niagara Falls?

Esther Sleep, Serials Librarian at Brock University, has been appointed Chair of the Local Arrangements Committee. Anyone interested in helping prepare for NASIG's first Canadian conference, please contact:

Association Of American Publishers

The International Division of the Association of American Publishers presents "Export Operations (Day One) and Export Opportunities (Day Two)." This is a comprehensive two-day seminar covering International Publishing, Export Marketing, and Rights Operations and Management. The seminar will be held on Thursday and Friday, March 9-10 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Gulf & Western Auditorium, 1 Gulf & Western Plaza (60th & Broadway), New York, NY 10023. For more information contact the International Division of the AAP at 212-689-8920; Facsimile 212-696-0131.

Other topics discussed were new methods in progress:

Optical memory cards - cards similar to charge cards which are primarily being used for medical records in some hospitals.

Softstrips - magnetic strips containing journal articles. These individual articles can be ordered for backfiles.

Also discussed was the fact that this recent technology is a new field for serials librarians. The development of electronic periodicals is growing quickly and is gradually taking its place in the electronic world. Nevertheless, it is an add-on service, not a replacement. Eventually, most of the serials information will be available through CD-ROM or other high-tech media. The consensus at the meeting was that because of the high price electronic periodicals cannot replace print copies.

The session was well-attended and the delegates questioned and expressed their views energetically and with enthusiasm. Future plans are to run similar follow-up sessions through Atlantic Provinces Library Association conferences.

Mrs. Purabi Pal is Serials and Periodicals Cataloguer at the Harriet Irving Library, University of New Brunswick in Fredericton, New Brunswick, Canada.

WORST SERIAL TITLE CHANGE OF THE YEAR NOMINATIONS DUE!!!!

Are unnecessary serial title changes driving you up the wall? Seek revenge by nominating them for the Worst Serial Title Change of the Year Awards. These awards, sponsored by the Serials Section, will be presented at the ALA Annual Conference in Dallas in June 1989. At that time, we will honor serials whose titles have changed since January 1988. Please send us your favorites. We need the complete citation for the change, including the old title with the number and the date of its last issue, the new title with the number and date of its first issue, and the name and address of the publisher. Photocopies of relevant title pages or cataloguing printouts are useful for verification.

Don't miss out on this wonderful opportunity! Submit your nominations today! Deadline is May 15, 1989.

Please send your nominations to:

NEWS OF NOTE FROM OTHER PUBLICATIONS

The CONSER Newsletter, no. 16, November, 1988 reports that an investigation was conducted by the National Serials Data Program of the Serials Record Division (NSDP) to see if they could determine the number of title changes per year. NDSP discovered that an average of 15% of the titles in their files for 1987 were for title changes. A check of the CONSER 78X fields showed that of 400,975 records in the database (as of 3/18/88) 123,157 records (31%) have 780 fields and 98,890 records (25%) have 785 fields.

The PSP Bulletin, (Professional and Scholarly Publishing Division of the Association of American Publishers) vol. 3, no. 1, winter 1989 reported on the findings of the second Library Acquisitions Survey. One finding was that librarians continue to play the key role in the decision-making process as it pertains to the acquisitions of materials. Other findings confirmed the importance of the level of use when journal subscriptions are reviewed for renewal. The survey is available for $99 (AAP members) and $165 (non-members) plus tax where applicable. Contact the PSP Office at 212-689-8920 for an order form.

QUESTIONNAIRE

Are you familiar with the 5th edition of International Subscription Agents published by the American Library Association?

If yes, how have used this in your work? Has it been helpful/easy to use etc?
How would you improve the format?

In addition to what is now included (address, date established, countries/geographic areas covered, types of materials supplied, services offered, catalogs/lists produced, and misc. notes) what other information would be helpful? (e.g. phone and fax numbers? library system interfaces?)

ALA would like to include a section on major international book agents. What are your thoughts on this? Would it be useful? Would this encourage or discourage your use of such a book?

How often would you like to see this work updated?

Thanks for your thoughts and ideas!

Please fold, staple, and mail to the address on the back.
