TAPS
NINETEEN HUNDRED TWENTY ONE
PUBLISHED BY THE SENIOR CLASS OF CLEMSON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE CLEMSON COLLEGE, S.C.
Dedication

To those who have so earnestly guarded us and shielded us from all harm and misfortune; who by their sacrifices have given to us the greatest opportunities of life; who forgive all mistakes and are proudest of our achievements, we the Class of Twenty-one, dedicate to Our Fathers this volume of Taps.
COMMENCEMENT.

The pale gray hours ere the morning of life
Have come and have passed on their way,
Both joys and sighs they have brought in our lives;
But now comes the dawning of day.

The dawn, then breaks through the gates of the East—
A million bright shafts from the sun.
The earth grows bright with a dazzle of light
That fades when the day is quite done.

This day the sun of our lives rises clear,
And shines with a radiant light.
But may sunset be as bright as the dawn
When Death draws the curtain of night.

"There is a tide in the affairs of men,
Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune;
Omitted, all the voyage of their life
Is bound in shallows and in miseries;
On such a full sea are we now afloat;
And we must take the current when it serves,
Or lose our ventures."

To the Class

'Tis four long years since we began
To travel o'er this toilsome way;
And since that time we've struggled on Through many a fair and stormy day.

Now we have reached the shining prize,
For which we've worked so hard and long.
And on this day that marks the end
Our hearts are filled with joyous song.

But, though our lives are bright with hope,
All thoughts of ours are far from glad,
For now the time of parting comes—
And last good-byes make each one sad.

Although we part and each one goes
To do his part in this great world,
We know the flag of twenty-one Shall always wave, and ne'er be furled.

Go forth! Let's show to every man
That every task will be well done;
But ere we part let's give three cheers
For our old Class of Twenty-one.

“Ah”, as he is known, is a true friend and a gentleman, and he has those qualities that will insure success in life. Everyone respects his high ideals, prizes his friendship highly, and admires his sterling character. This lad comes from the town of Port Lawn; and, judging from the numerous letters he receives, we are forced to believe that he has left his heart there. “Ah” is an electrical engineer and we know that Edison can die happy because he has found a successor. We feel assured that “Ah” will win success in life, for he has native ability coupled with perseverance. Our best wishes go with you, old boy; and we will look forward to your successes in life, for they are sure to come.

Here is a hard worker, a conscientious, steady, and dependable man. Clyde has made many friends while in college and they regret to see him leave; but realize that there is a big task awaiting him in the agricultural world. As a student, he has achieved great success in his academic work. Besides this he has a heart as big as himself. He is always ready to help his friends, and he hasn’t an enemy in the world. In him we have a gentleman in the true sense of the word, a true friend, and a man that possesses the elements of success. We predict that Clyde will become a genius in the realm of Agricultural Education.

To know him is to like him, for he is a perfect gentleman. "Toby" is of a very quiet nature, but once he gets started on his favorite subject, "Ladies", everybody else might just as well hush up and listen. He is "some fellow" with the ladies. They all fall for him. He has those winning qualities that make us all like him. His sunny disposition and kind-heartedness have won for him many life-long friends.

"Toby"s wildest idea is to build a "bamboo bungalow" for two, on a million acre ranch way out West, and then let the rest of the world go by. We like you, "Toby"! old scout, and look forward to your successes in the future, for they are sure to come.

There comes a time in the course of human events when a youth finishes high school and wonders, "where now?" Atkinson decided his fate in the fall of '16 when he with hundreds of other freshmen landed in Tiger Town to begin the battle in the Architectural World. "Att" is a man with outstanding features, and striking personality, though rather reserved. We have in him a man in every sense of the word, being strong, bold, steadfast, and open, yet gentle as a woman. With these characteristics he has won the friendship of the men in college, and we predict a luminous future for him in the Architectural World.

"At" was fortunate to cast his lot with the Class of '20; but on account of going into the service, he was unable to finish with this class. "At" claims Chester as his home town. From "ratheod" until Senior year his ambition has been to make good, and he has succeeded. He places friends above everything else, even military honors; and this accounts for his being a clean sleeve man. He is naturally quiet and is the kind of fellow that goes quietly about his own work, never interfering with the work of others. After graduation he will probably take unto himself a little wife and settle down as a livestock farmer or a veterinarian. We know that a man of his merit cannot help making a success. Luck to you. It was in the fall of '16 that the fair little town of Andrews cut loose one of its career-seeking lads and booked him for Clemson. Destined of a fair knowledge of that science which deals with areas and elevations, our lad chose the transit and level as instruments to success. But, having veins of red blood, he heard and answered his "Uncle's" call—ready to give and ready to win. "Bob" is 100 per cent real man, also a true friend, and he has a smiling dispositions. He is tactful, enthusiastic, impulsive, and adventurous; and among these traits of character has grown a tender reverence for ladies. Therefore, young man, we send you from our Alma Mater that you might hitch your wagon to a star and rise and roar as a true Tiger.

Walter entered Clemson in the fall of '16 with the idea of becoming an engineer of note; but after two years of laborious work, he suddenly decided that college life was too monotonous for a boy of his "rating". The old idea of becoming an engineer haunted him for a year; therefore to rid himself of this spiritual atmosphere, he returned to the fold in '19 to resume the work that would lead him to his goal. To "shot" "Sam" and "Shina" was a mere pastime, and the hours of classwork under Dr. Daniel were Walter's most pleasurable moments. Chief among Walter's requirements is his ability to make friends, and this is especially noticeable with the fair sex. Walter has made himself famous as Chairman of the A. I. E. E., although he is easily shocked. We feel assured that he will succeed in his chosen field and we hope that at some future date he will graduate or even surpass the great inventor, Mr. Edison.

One bright autumn morning there was quite a commotion in Union. The old Bishop of Union broke the family ties by sending the young Bishop to Clemson. "Bish" set out to finish with the Class of '20, but he took his stand by the colors in the spring of '18, by enlisting in the 118th Field Artillery. After exchanging shots with the Hun, he returned to finish with the Class of '21. Since his return to Clemson, he has applied the Principles of artillery to academic work and "Shot 'em all!"

Russell has been diligent in his work and faithful in his duties.

Sometimes when he is meditating we see him smile and we wonder what he is planning. Some force seems to be calling him back to the old hometown and to friends from whence he came. As we part we whisper "May Dame Fortune ever smile on you, but never her daughter, Miss Fortune".

Four years ago the rumor of war frightened this lad so badly that he forsook his home, and his hurrying feet brought him here. He first chose Agriculture, but at the end of the first year he changed and cast his lot with the "Disciples of Dickey." His chief habit is performing experiments on his own initiative. Bolivar claims that no affinity exists between him and the better half of man; but those who know him intimately are aware that a certain Miss Ethyl intoxicates him very readily and we would not be surprised were he soon to be seeking a reaction representing combination.

This fair flower blossomed for some years in the wilds of Sumter County; but, on catching a gleam of sunshine from the outer world, he flourished so luxuriantly that he had to be transplanted at Clemson where he has brought forth some good fruit. When not at classes, Odil can be found in his room gazing intently at a certain photograph or else writing to the original. He entered Clemson with a purpose in view and has lived his college life with that purpose ever before him. Odil has been active in every phase of college life, and is a real "Tiger" in every respect. As a friend Odil rings true, and as a companion he is all right. We predict a grand success for him in whatever line he chooses.

This lad, small in stature, but large mentally, grew up in the hills of Anderson County. His long cherished purpose to attend college was realized in the fall of 1916. The war interrupted his college career; but, after the Kaiser yelled "Kamerad", he returned and took up his work with the Class of '21. "Bluie" is often seen in the neighborhood of Central, S. C.; and if the number of letters that he receives from there is an indication, we predict for him and his better half much happiness.

We'll show you one who might have been a king; but in the fall of '17, Carr said, "I had rather be a 'Tiger' than be a king of forty kingdoms." Dewey is from somewhere in Greenville County and he gets his mail from the village of Piedmont, S. C. In the future if he has the ghost of a chance he will, no doubt, mould milk into butter in that land from which he came. This lad has the qualities of a perfect man, for he is full of gentleness and is local to everyone. He is a genial fellow and is always ready to have a little fun; but there are times when a determined look on his face reminds you that he means business. Clemson sends you from her halls of fame that you may go forth and show the world what a true "Tiger" can do.

"Wac" entered Clemson in the fall of '15. He was a little wild at first but after a few lessons why the bayonet and broomstick, he became a loyal supporter of the "Tiger Clan". In the fall of '17, when the call for loyal Americans came, "Wac" entered the Aviation Corps. After serving Uncle Sam for nearly two years, he decided that nothing could benefit him more than to return to "Tigertown" and complete his education. So in the fall of '19 we again see him on the campus; this time with the Class of '21. He has a hard time with "Cupid", but is gradually weakening, and before long he will be climbing the ladder of success with a partner at his side. Good bye and good luck to you boy.

When "Sammie" unhitched the old white mule and left the plow standing in the field, a silent monument which would bear mute testimony to his desire for higher and better things, he made ready to go forth and search for the fountain of knowledge. In this search he chanced to come to Clemson. The four years "Sammie" has spent in our midst have, however, prepared him for still greater things and his troops of friends are positive to the last man that fortune has fine things in store for him. "Sammie" intends soon to leave us behind him and once more to enjoy the white lights of Winnsboro, and the society of every charming lady for miles around.

Although not cut out for a military career, "Sandy" Childs has survived two years at Porter Military Academy and four years at Clemson. At both places he has been characterized by having everyone who knew him to consider him as a friend. His many friendships have come not only from his enviable personality, but also from his personal worth and from his winning smile for everyone. A more persevering lover than "Sandy" has never been sheltered by the halls of the Tigers' domicile. Every night since he was a "rat" he has taken pen and ink and tried to place himself in the good graces of one in a far country. From all indications he has thus far succeeded, and we wonder not at his success. Already he talks knowingly of a little bungalow that is built just for two, somewhere in Columbia. On a hot September day in 1917 "Cliff" Cobb was bid good-bye by the admiring populace of Walhalla; and a few hours later he landed at Clemson. "Cliff" has been an ardent booster in all forms of college activities. His unassuming manner, jovial disposition and calm judgment are the factors of his make-up that has made him a leader in all the activities of which he has been a part. His high regard for honor and character have won for him the respect of his classmates. "B. C." is deeply interested in Greenville Woman's College, and the attraction for him at this college is just as interested in Clemson. We predict, for this whole-soiled youth, great success in the world of work that lies ahead. For him, may life always be a bright summer's day.

Four years ago this young man from the middle West sold his bucking broncho, carefully oiled his "six-shooter" and laying it upon the shelf, proceeded to the nearest water tank, caught the east-bound train, and four days later landed in Clemson. Thus "Pinkey" came to Clemson. Very few days passed before he made himself known around the college, and he has been in the limelight ever since. His work on the football field, on the basketball court, and on the track has won for him many honors. His amiable personality has won a host of friends. We greatly fear that "Pinkey's" chief reason for taking horticulture is to aid him in beautifying his "Little Grey Home in the West", for his tender heart will never survive the wound made by Cupid's dart. He will carry with him the good will of everyone as he goes forth to fight life's battle.

Here he is with a beaming smile and not a single hair out of place. This last feat is Louie's greatest pride and joy. Who will ever know how many formations he has been late to, due to putting on a last few touches to that last contrary hair? A more sincere lover than Louie never graced "Tiger-ton". Every night since he has been a "Rat" he has taken pen and ink to try to place himself in the good graces of one who dwells in that little burg called Wagener. Or perhaps it was a note to a certain lassie on the Hotel Hill. Louie expects to educate quite a few of the younger generation of this State along the Agricultural line, and we are assured he will score a wonderful success. His jovial nature has made him everybody's friend, and the wishes of all in the class go out with him for a long and successful career.

If you don't like "Tom" or "Songbird" you can't like anybody. He is such a good and genial fellow that you can't help liking him. "Songbird" is somewhat of a songster, and because he is not adverse at all to the ladies, his friends hear from him many a thrilling musical exploit. "Songbird" is a hard worker, and he delights in oratory and debate. His power of saying a witty thing at the right time is unlimited, and his "Arabian Tales" of the happenings in and around Greenville are the productions of a genius. His happy-go-lucky disposition and his never-ceasing tongue take him where angels fear to tread. Give him his pipe, a book, or a magazine, and the sun may set in the East for all he knows. With his ability and large store of humor, he is sure to succeed in line.

"Runt" as he is familiarly called by his many friends, hails from the little City of Greenwood. We have a good reason for believing that Greenwood is proud of this young son of hers, for although unassuming in his manner, his ready smile, his pleasant disposition, and his earnestness have won for him the admiration and respect of all who know him. When "Runt" first came to Clemson he thought that he would like to follow some "Ag" work, but after a year or so of catching bugs he decided that he would settle down and live a "civil" life. He is now one of the leading members of the "Ho-boites." We feel sure that it is only a matter of time until "Runt" will be a star in the engineering world.

Manliness, loyalty, and kind-heartedness—these are the traits which characterize this young lad. Always active the part of a gentleman and always willing to help others, this worthy youth has won numerous friends at Clemson. He has a high sense of duty and was never known to shirk his duty at any time. "Slats," as he is commonly called by his friends, came to Clemson in the fall of '15 from the little town of Willington. He doesn't talk very much about his home town or his numerous girls, but the writer happens to know that there is a little girl who is playing an important part in his young life. We predict a great success for this lad. He has a great combination of merit and ability. He has the determination to win, and all the forces of nature cannot keep him from making a success.

"A little body often harbors a great soul." If this wise saying is true of anyone, it is true of Alga DeWitt. His kind-heartedness, considerateness, truthfulness, and loyalty are the characteristics which have made his college career such a remarkable success. He is a friend, a gentleman, and above all, a man. His pleasing disposition, his amiable personality, and his forceful character have won for him a wide circle of friends. DeWitt hails from Darlington. He does not talk very much about his "briar patch", although he does really think it is the garden spot of the world. It is a known fact that there is some little girl who is playing an important role in his young life. As this youth leaves Clemson, he leaves a record without blemish. Behold a man of whom it can be truly said, "Still water runs deep." During his third year, "Dick" became one of the Colonel's disciples and was awarded a sergeantcy; and at the opening of the season of 1920 we find him posing as a captain. "Pat" says that girls hold no charms for him; but when a girl at Washington is mentioned, a smile that betrays his inward happiness plays over his countenance. His possessing personality gives him a place of highest esteem and respect among his fellow students. His good habits and sound judgment have made him a good student. After leaving here he expects to settle down in the Piedmont section and confer the Mrs. degree upon some fair maiden. Good luck to you, "Dick." After the call had sounded through the land for the Class of '21 to assemble this "sand-lapper" from the sandbeds of Swansea was among the first "rats" to arrive on the campus. In an attempt to determine the amount of padding necessary to absorb the effect of a broom, this lad figured his way into the mechanical course. Little did we dream of such genuine sincerity and congenial friendship, until time and contact revealed to us that these were the qualities behind that smile of his. "Johnnie" spent two years trying to disprove the law, "That a body cannot occupy two places at the same time". There was some girl connected with the case. Now as college days are almost over, I look back over the years that have passed and I always see one outstanding character. From the day he entered Clemson to the day of his graduation he has always been prominent on the athletic field, in college activities, and in the classroom. He came to Clemson in the fall of '16, but at the end of his Sophomore year he joined the navy and was in service thirteen months. The Class of '21 is very fortunate in having "Tom" among its number. He is a true friend, and his friendship is valued by everyone. "Tom", most lovable of friends, we are proud to say we have known you; and even now we congratulate you on the great success we know you are going to make in this old world.

Just about four years ago there strolled into
"Tigertown"; from his haunt in Darlington Coun-

Time has passed and we see a polished gentleman, fresh from the many massages of the Clemson fac-

Four years ago the inhabitants of Cottageville journeyed three days through the dismal swamps to the railroad where they bid good-bye to the pride of the town shown in the diagram above. The first thing to attract his attention was the electric light in the room to which he was assigned. In fact, it attracted his attention so strongly that he has been studying it until this day. Durant does not have much to say about the girls, but we believe that it would be impossible for a youth with such a lively line of jokes and pleasing disposition to escape the clutches of these fair creatures. It is said that all great men have hobbies—well, this man's hobbies are fishing, camping (not the military kind) and telling yarns. Go to it DuRant and keep at it until you have sold the last piece of wire those electric companies might have.

“Bill” Erwin entered Clemson in the fall of ’17. He leaves an unblemished college record, and one filled with duties and honors. With his wonderfully amiable personality he has made a veritable host of friends at Clemson and elsewhere. From his conversation we infer that he makes numerous visits to Charlotte and Rock Hill. It is needless to mention the attractions for him in these towns. A personality, as in “Bill’s”, is hard to describe, for it is several personalities merged into one. In this combination he has relied on to only these qualities which have made him what he is—the trust of friends, a man steadfast to duty, and a brilliant and enjoyable companion.

The little town of Elloree reared a man who is destined to excite no little public sentiment. Being led by an ardent desire to revolutionize South Carolina in the science of horticulture, Clemson alone lay as his objective. He has proved his superiority as a scholar by his ability in the class room. With his firm determination and steadfastness of purpose, we predict great things to be wrought in the horticultural world. Maxey has the characteristic of a bachelor in that he likes all the girls. His winning smile and beaming countenance have caused many anxious hours for his numerous girls. Maxey, having contracted a military ambition and aspiration, has had many military honors thrust upon him. No wonder the world is advancing when such as he are at the wheel.

Rudolph, by his charming personality, has won many friends each of whom gives him a different nickname. His loyalty to duty has won for him fame as a student. “Whitey” is a staunch supporter of athletics, having been a brilliant star in class football and baseball. He is a man of sterling character, high ideals, and earnestness of purpose. The realization of his ambitions can only be accomplished in becoming one of America’s foremost physicians. Fowler hails from far and distant Jonesville (not Smith’s ville or Brown’s ville). He absorbed so much erudition during his first two years at Clemson that, during the vacation between his Sophomore and Junior years, he gave the following orders to one of his dad’s farm hands: “Thou lineal descendant of the notorious Hagger, extricate my quadruped from the vehicle, stimulate him, donate unto him sufficient amount of provender; and ere Aurora the rosy-gered daughter of the Morn, has illuminated the eastern horizon, I shall have recompensed thee with a pecuniary emolument”. Although Fowler has not the innate ability of an Edison or a Steinmetz, it is certain that if he continues to show that degree of “stickability” which he has heretofore shown in regard to his studies, he is sure to rise.

Joe Frank has made many friends at Clemson, and these have been won by true worth as well as by quick wit and good humor. Whether in class, on the campus, or at the midnight feast he is always "Joe Frank". One never hears his room-mate complaining about his keeping the lights on too late or about his waking too early in the morning. We don't know whether the cause for not hearing this is a good-natured room-mate or whether Joe Frank simply does not do such annoying things. Here is Horry's '17 contribution to Clemson College. After considerable persuasion, Joe let go his mother's apron strings and set out for Clemson. Arriving here on a rainy day, he joined the Class of '21 with a firm determination to make a good student and an enviable record. Both he has done and especially the latter, for it was early in his college days that he discovered in the Anderson sector that which has cost him so many sleepless nights and so many Saturday afternoons on the reveille square. Many delightful hours have he spent with pen in hand dispatching to "Dear Girls" that usual line of "bull" peculiar to a flat-woodsman infatuated with what he calls "love". Joe has dreams of becoming South Carolina's leading agriculturist; but to do this he thinks a better half is necessary, and "the half has already been told". Here is a lad, a good "pipe dreamer", by the name of Hendrix. "Bill" comes from the little town of Conestee, which is situated in Greenville County. He found his way to Clemson in some unknown and mysterious way; and in the fall of '17 he became a member of the Class of '21. At first it was hard for "Bill" to understand the art of studying, but the Sophomores by getting busy with the paddles, gave him a start. He had been at Clemson only a short while when somebody poured a bottle of acid on him and as a consequence of this he decided to take chemistry. When some one asked him why he took chemistry, he said, "I want to analyze my girl's love so as to be sure it is pure and unadulterated". We wish him the best of success in this, and in all other tasks.

About four years ago this lad heard about Clemson; and, after bidding farewell to his native island, Charles landed here (sea chest and all) with a determination to master the fundamentals of civil engineering. This frank young fellow has won a host of friends with his amiable disposition and ready smile. "C. S." is especially fond of the great game, basketball. He has played exceptionally well on the basketball court with class and company teams, and he bids fair to push somebody for a berth on the varsity this year. To know this lad is to like him. We know that he will always display that indomitable spirit which is characteristic of every Clemson man. Truly might it be said of Charles, "He was a man"; and the Class of '21 bids him God speed as he begins his upward climb to success.

It took this Beaufort lad about two years to realize that his place was with the Class of '21. Having realized this, he joined our ranks in the fall of '19 and has secured a record-breaking acquisition of demerits. There has been none in the class more faithful than he. "Loveless," or "Rootbeer" first came to Clemson to finish his education; but, judging from the daily mail, we are led to believe that he has remained for the additional purpose of being near Greenville. It is rumored that he was once a man of military aspirations; but, having failed to convince "Mike," he now champions the cause of the "Jailbirds." Often when the monotony has become almost unbearable, he has saved the day by his optimistic nature or by his word of good cheer. But probably his most outstanding characteristic is the earnestness with which he faces every situation—an earnestness which brings to men Happiness, Success, and Fame.

In the fall of '15 great gloom was cast over the plains of Darlington. It was with reluctance that our friend "Hoff" left his native habitat to assume the duties of a cadet in "Tigertown". He first cast his lot with the Class of '19, but it took him two years to establish equilibrium between his methods of reasoning and the fundamentals necessary to be a Sophomore. Hence he joined forces with the Class of '20. Then the scrap "over there" involved our country and "Hoff" dropped out one year to answer the call of the nation. Now he is one of the ablest members of the Class of '21. No member of our class can boast of a department record like his, and few can equal his ability to make an extemporaneous speech. He too often visual-izes that happy little home 'n everything, and also her. "Hoff" has the ability and perseverance that is bound to win, and we predict a happy future for him.

"Cutie" just happened in from Lamar without letting us know a thing about it, consequently the brass band did not meet him at the station. Somewhat taken back, he resolved to prove to us that he deserved notice. Needless to say, he has succceeded well in his undertaking. He is naturally smart, and his marks in the class-room have won for him the respect of all his professors.

Being somewhat small in stature, he was overlooked by the military department when selecting their military leaders. He did not worry about that, however, because he knew that Napoleon Bonaparte was small in stature also, and that size does not make the man.

When it comes to "ladies", "Cutie" holds a full hand, for he is truly a ladies' man. The hardest problem that will confront him in the future, will be the final selection.

Farewell, "Cutie"! old boy, we are expecting great things of you, and our best wishes are that Behold! Here's old "Skemp". He came from the garden spot of Carolina to Clemson for the purpose of obtaining an education. He has grown into one of the most renowned "wizards of the lightning flash" that "Crip" was able to produce this year; and he needs only the veneering, acquired when one strikes the stern realities of an engineering life, to make one of the big engineers of the land. If one would look in room 276 some quiet night he probably would see "Skemp" poring over the contents of a little cerulean-hued billet-doux, his face all illuminated with happiness. Within his narrow focus of vision stands a picture which he cherishes above all others. That's all right "Skemp", for we know if you win her heart as well as you have the hearts of your classmates there is happiness in store for you.

"Goldie" hails from Beaufort and is good representative of that pretty little town nestling on the shores of the Atlantic. Keyserling got an idea that truck farming around Beaufort could be improved upon, so he journeyed to "Tigertown" to get the latest dope on the growing of "Spuds". His natural ability to wag his tongue and his invincible line carved from Noah Webster's dictionary, have placed him high in the esteem of his professors and his classmates. He stepped upon the gridiron his Freshman year determined to win the coveted Block "C". For four years he battled, winning the admiration of all by his "stick-to-it-iveness", and finally achieved the honor he so well deserved. He is also a swimmer and wrestler of great ability. "Goldie's" million dollar smile is known to all "Tigers" for it betokens a genial, frank, big-hearted temperament. This and his wielding of an unsusspensable line makes the ladies fall for him; hence his name, "He-Wamp". His host of admirers predict for him great success.

In September, '17, the town of Simpsonville entrusted this cheerful Scottish lad to the care of Clemson. While here he acquired for himself the name of "Poet". This does not mean that he is a noted writer of verse (course he does that too), but it means that he expresses poetic thoughts through the medium of prose. He is especially noted for this in his letters to the fairer sex.

"Poet" has a ready smile and a willingness to help others, both of which have won for him a host of friends at Clemson and elsewhere. We predict that soon he will be raising cows, ducks, pigs, 'n everything that fall in the category of agronomy.

He has attained no little distinction in his classes, and we predict for him a brilliant future in whatever work he undertakes.

"Big Mary" hails from the county of Lancaster, and he is ardent in his praise for his native land. He carries on a varied and complex correspondence, and his closest friends can gain but little dope as to his fair ones.

His good nature, high spirit, and calm judgment are qualities that have made him one of the most respected and highly honored men of the Class of '21.

When we speak of "Kirk", we think of a jolly "redheaded" boy who has a heart larger than his body. "Red" came here in '17 with the intention of completing a course in Mechanical Engineering, and, though his path has been beset by numerous "Love Affairs", we now see him nearing his goal with flying colors. It is hard to say which has lighted his way the most—that which is in his head, or that which is on it. During "Red's" stay here, he has taken part in many branches of college activities and has always striven for a better and greater Clemson. He has made many friends by his genial disposition and winning ways. In future years when the Class of '21 has scattered far and wide, there will be many who will think of "Red"—the boy who was a friend to all.

Although this young man is exceedingly small in stature, he is not necessarily small mentally. Hailing from the Capitol City, he cast his lot with us in our quest for learning and has succeeded wonderfully well. To say that he has worked diligently would express mildly what this lad has done during his stay at Clemson. His first year brought forth the trials and hardships common to all Tigers, and it was not until his second year that he demonstrated his ability as a musician. It was with his guidance and by his untiring efforts that the band made a most creditable showing this year. The lofty standards and high ideals of service and duty that this youth possesses place him among the most prominent members of his class. It is not necessary to say that Louis will make a success in life, for his high spirit, sound judgment, and never-tiring efforts point to great accomplishments.

Yes, the above picture represents George or "Dream", whichever you choose to call him. In the fall of '17 George was confronted with the fact that a college education was essential to one's happiness and success. After much deliberation, he decided that Clemson was the place to satiate his burning desire for knowledge. He discovered that he was especially fitted for the study of entomology; therefore he spends most of his time catching and examining bugs. On the day of George's departure the mayor issued a proclamation declaring a half-holiday, and the whole town is expectantly awaiting his return. Knowing George as we do, we feel confident that he will make a success in whatever phase of life he chooses to follow. He is the possessor of an altruistic nature and a charming personality. "Laugh and grow fat" seems to express "Navy's" extreme good nature. His splendid personality and his kindness to all with whom he comes in contact makes for him a host of friends wherever he goes. Tom came to Clemson with us in the fall of '17, bringing with him a firm determination to make good as a student and to leave a record of which he would always be justly proud. We feel sure that both of these great purposes have been most successfully accomplished. We do not know what line of work he will pursue; but, judging from the zeal and earnestness he has manifested at Clemson, we conclude that he is bound to succeed in the affairs of life.

"Bone" claims to hail from Garnett and, although many of us doubted that such a "Jeweled City" really existed, we located the place after spending many weary hours over a map. He came to Clemson in 1911, but in 1912 he gave up the idea of getting a "dip". Then, in the fall of 1916, he came back and this time he left to answer his country's call. He saw active service in France, and at the close of the war he returned to Clemson.

"Bone," is noted for loyalty to his many friends, his unselfishness, and his ability to handle men. "Bone's" highest ambition is to get married and to settle down on his own farm; so here is wishing him the very best of luck.

Following in the footsteps of several older brothers, this lad left his abode in Hampton County to enter Clemson. His four years of preparation for life's battles have worked wonders for him. He, by his earnest work, has attained no little distinction in the classroom; and his winning disposition has won for him many friends. "Dan Cupid's" efforts to pierce his heart have so far been vain; but we believe that some day one shaft will find the mark and "Bone" will fall as have other great men. "Bone's" purpose seems to have been to get all out of his course that was possible, for his numerous questions and hard study show clearly his intense interest in his subjects. It is not necessary to wish this loyal Tiger success, for his hard work, calm judgment, and pleasant disposition will carry him to any desired goal.

Jesse, better known as "Wop", came to our flock in '17, but thought the life of a Clemson cadet too hard for him. After trying the College at Charleston for a while, he returned to dear old Clemson in '19. His good disposition and willingness to help the other fellow has won him numbers and numbers of real friends. Although "Cripp" and "Slim" have worried him, he finds time to write to the ladies. "Wop" always makes a hit with the ladies. Ask some of the girls at a near-by college. His ambitions have been anything but military, as he would rather have friends than any office that "Mike" could give him. "Wop's" ability to make friends and hold them will no doubt win for him success. For after all isn't success mankind's appreciation of his fellow-being?

Away back in the prewar days, this genial smiling Scotchman deserted the bright lights and allurements of the "Queen City," as he calls it, and came to Clemson in order that he might learn to weave and spin. Scarcely had he begun to enjoy the honors of a Sophomore, when the "Kaiser" began to cut up, and as a result we find "Mac" rigged out as a hard, salty goby. For the next two years "Mac" was busily engaged in chasing submarines and vamping the pretty French girls. With the signing of the armistice, "Mac" came back with the intention of making good, and his record shows how well he has succeeded. To know "Mac" is to like him; his cheerful smile and optimistic nature have won for him an unusually large number of friends. Here is one of the sincerest men of the Class of '21—a man who is not known for what he says, but for what he does. This being the case he has won the respect and confidence of his instructors and the admiration of his classmates. "Mac" is very fortunate, for no member of the fair sex has entered into his life during his four college years; therefore he has had ample time to give to his work and has not been disturbed by the insistent calls of Cupid. This may be due to the fact that he is a chemist and in his analysis of love he did not get favorable results. He is an ardent disciple of "Dickey"; and judging from his high marks, his natural ability, and his strict application to work, we feel sure that he will reach a high mark in the chemical world.

"Tommy" or "Mac", as he is sometimes called, came to Clemson four years ago from the little city of Jenkinsville. This bright lad, with his sunny smile and curly hair, came here with the praiseworthy ambition of being a civil engineer. Thus far, "Mac" has been living up to his ambition of looking through a transit, although we cannot say that he has always been careful to look at the rod. We have noticed that practically every Wednesday morning the mail is heavier than usual and a certain little blond woman there always gets something that looks very much like a book. From all these outward signs, we would not be much surprised if "Mac" surveyed out a little bungalow for two and settled down to his life's work. Clemson will be losing a real man when "Tommy" leaves; but we feel sure that he has a big future before him—a future that will be a credit both to Clemson and to himself. His fine physique has made him the conspicuous Lieutenant Colonel of the cadet corps. Until his Senior year he was a diligent student, but recently he has contracted a severe case of "Effeminitis" and his studies have suffered accordingly. "J. A man shows his real worth by what he does; therefore Paul may be recognized as one of the hardest workers who ever entered Clemson. Four years ago he came to Clemson from the town of St. George and during that time he has made many close friends and has won a host of admirers. Due to sickness and other causes, his college work has several times been interrupted, and it took hard work backed by a great determination to make up the several weeks of work he lost each time. However, "Plus" never faltered, but began each task with a smile and each time he won. Clemson may well be proud of this member of the Class of '21. We all congratulate him on the great success he is bound to win by his ability and determination.

"Miggles" or "Gamecock", as he is sometimes called, says his "Briar Patch" is in Anderson. John is the personification of good nature; and this, together with his frank, open-hearted ways, have made him one of the most popular boys of our class. John is not a football man; but we believe he could play as was shown at the Carolina game by his attempt to make a touchdown with a gamecock instead of a pigskin. This was indicative of John's cool nerve and staunch loyalty. He stands a paragon in the engineering world; and to him in his chosen profession, we wish much happiness in the success which we are confident he will win.

"Monk", as we all know him, hails from Westminster; but do not hold this against him, for he is a true type of a friend and a gentleman. He is known on the campus by his cheerful smile and sunny disposition. His first year at Clemson he had a vague idea that he wanted to be a big planter, but he soon supplanted this idea with the engineering project. He has been pursuing his course in electricity for a period of three years; and "Crip" insists that "Monk" has reached but one definite conclusion and that is this. "That classroom hibernation is the logical way to recuperate on the day after attending a midnight ball the night before".

Our best wishes go out with him as he goes out to win that success that is sure to be his.

This is the story of "Poet"—well beloved by those who know him. In his youth there dawned in his heart a desire for an education, and his interest in agriculture caused him to select Clemson College. His career at Clemson has distinguished him as a hard-working young man of great perseverance and marked native ability. In his career he has been guided by high ideals and gentlemanly conduct. His good record is a symbol of his future success. "Poet" has selected Education as his specialty, and we feel certain that he will be successful in rendering a noble service to mankind. No doubt South Carolina will some day hail him as one of her sons of honor.

Grayson makes friends very rapidly and has the power to hold every one of them. By his gentlemanly conduct and kindheartedness he has won many friends at Clemson. This lad believes in letting the future take care of itself. He meets difficulties with a smile—he is a true optimist. When Grayson first arrived here, he was immediately attracted by the racket emanating from the "Hall of Fame", and on investigation he was so attracted by the machinery that he at once became a "Lint Head". And so he has remained ever since. With his amiable personality and unusual ability we are sure that he cannot fail in his chosen life's work. Here's to you Grayson. One day "Porkey" decided that the little hamlet of Dalzell was in need of a "live wire". Notwithstanding the resistance, he induced himself to come to Clemson that he might pursue the "shocking" subject of electricity, knowing it would make him a power in generating lights to those about him. Now electricity is his plaything, and we advise you not to start him talking on that subject— you had better go to sleep instead. Of course he wouldn't care as he takes a nap in "Crip's" classroom quite often. John became saturated with militarism during the reign of the S. A. T. C., and it was only recently that he was deprived of the joys of Senior Private life. He has, and always will have a host of friends who wish him well. He went through two years of his college course with the greatest success, and then he answered the call and spent quite a while "over there." After it was all over, "Pat" came back to Clemson and his last two years have been more successful, if such a thing is possible, than his first two were. He has always been prominent in college affairs, and, as he goes out into the world, he carries with him the admiration of everyone. The two things that afford him the greatest joy in life is writing letters to Winthrop and reading letters from the same place. He is one of the Class of '21's most popular men, and his class is indeed proud to have had him with them. He is a loyal "Tiger", and is always ready to help in any undertaking that is for the betterment of the college. As a friend, he is unsurpassed. As the gentle breezes blew over the lower portion of the State, they brought to this youth the first faint whisperings of Clemson, a school that would satisfy his greatest ambitions—that of a "bug-chaser". "Pink" entered Clemson in '17, a shy, quiet, innocent, unsophisticated youth. Here he has brought forth some good fruit. When not at classes "Pink" can be found in his room gazing intently at a certain photograph, or else writing to the original. "Pink" is a man with a soul, a mind, and a will; and during four years at college he has made for himself a most enviable record. Because he has quitted himself like a man, he has made many true friends, both among the students and the faculty. That "Pink" will be successful in life can safely be predicted.

"Curt" bailed from the prosperous city of Prosperity in the fall of '17. Though an engineer by endowment, he has a marked affection for "plant" life, especially "Peaches"; and it is rumored that he is partial to the Newberry variety. He is a most congenial type of man, and the quality is reinforced by merit and initiative. His ambition is to become a railroad magnate; but we feel that he would make a perfect success as a lawyer, for if you want to argue just find "Curt". "X. G.", sometimes known as "No Good", is a product of Varnville. He journeyed to Clemson several years ago and since that time he has made quite a few friends. Everybody does not know him; but well does he play the part of a "first string" friend to those who have had the good fortune to come in contact with him. The same may be said of his girl friends—few in number, but truest in type. Baseball is his favorite game, and last year he did some nice hitting for the Varsity.

He also was a star in class football. He tells us that he leaves Clemson to take a two-year course at the General Electric Co., but knowing that there is a "Dear Heart", it is only natural to suppose that "X. G." will soon settle down as consulting engineer of a home.

Behold "Rick", the Insect Chaser. Once you know him, you will never forget him for he possesses those qualities that go with a gentleman. He is as true as steel and is everybody's friend. Quiet and unassuming is the idea one gets when he first meets him; but, hold on stranger, the half has never been told. Get him started and the next question will be how in the world are you going to stop him. He has a plan on foot which, if successful, will make him famous. He intends to cross the honey bee with the lightning bug so the bees can work at night. "Rick" says he has only one more specimen to add to his collection, and it wears a dress. "Kaiser Bill" came to us from Garnett S. C., after having been educated at Wofford Fitting School. His first impulse was to spend his life working with electricity, but when he found that boiler explosions were more exciting than "short circuits" he decided to study mechanical engineering. George soon exhibited his ability for "shooting" the professors, and he has been engaged in this sport constantly during his four years with us. When George Riley starts to do a thing, you may bet your hat that it will be done and done right before he takes his hand from it. Our friend's greatest weakness is towards the fairer sex. The curtain rises and here is a new actor, one who has acted well his part for the past four years. Many times have we seen 'Daddy' stroll into the classroom just as the last bell was ringing, and this is a favorite saying, "Call the roll, Daddy's here". Nevertheless this youth is always there and we might say of him, "Slow but sure". "Daddy's" favorite pastime is dancing, and there have been very few dances at Clemson which he did not attend. One might think Hugh was an idle pleasure-seeker; but this would be a mistake, for he is an industrious and consistent worker in everything that pertains to the classroom. "Daddy" thinks that livestock in the South should be given special attention; therefore he is taking animal husbandry. There is no doubt but that his natural ability will make him most successful in the line of work that he has chosen.

This young mountain goat is "Alphabet". In the fall of '17, he caged his pet lions and tigers and hiked away to Clemson in quest of more education. He arrived with two very noticeable characteristics—a smiling face and a distinctive stride. His sense of humor is one of his greatest assets; and vamping the girls with his letters is one of his greatest accomplishments. They say he is a regular heart-smasher, and proposals came so fast at one time during '20 that he was thinking of employing a private secretary. He is as sincere and earnest with his work as he is jovial when he is taking recreation. John is thinking of the far future, and hence he is greatly interested in refrigeration. He is expecting to assume a rather responsible position as soon as he graduates. He is to be manager of the J. H. F. Schroeder Family.

Four years ago the member of the Class of '21 came to us with the determination to win. His outstanding feature is a smile for friend or foe, and with this spirit he has won for himself a prominent place in the hearts of his fellow students. To his friends he is always the same but with the ladies he is very fickle. He bears a nick-name which originated with the ladies. They call him not only "Jay", but "J Square". "J Square" has always contended that the soil around Starr is the best in the South; therefore, judging from the course he is taking, we may find him in that immediate vicinity in future years. His faculty for making friends and his determination to win will make for him an enviable career. "J Square"; it is with many regrets that we bid you sad adieu; but you have our best wishes as you climb the steps of success.

This young man is known as "Dick". His one great fault is his age; but take a tip from his friends and do not try to take advantage of his youth, because he is well versed in the ways of this old world. "Dick" has a heart that is big enough to love everyone. As a student he stands well; as a friend-maker he stands second to none. As many of the fair sex will testify, "Dick" is a past master when it comes to the art of letter writing. He is determined to become a mechanical engineer, even though he is inclined toward family engineering. There is no doubt in our minds, "Dick" old boy, that you will make a success in either or both of these professions. We wish you well, and have only this to add—"Carry on".

Our first glimpse of Glenn was in September, ’17.
when he, along with 308 other Freshmen, entered this institution of learning. He cast his lot with the Engineering Department and today he is an authority in the engineering world. Big in stature, big in mind, firm in purpose, this smiling lad can do nothing but succeed. He is a consistent worker and is never contented unless he accomplishes the thing he sets out to do. Glenn, without doubt, will some day stand head and shoulders above Edison.
Ladies and friends are his specialties, and he hat’s

Behold stranger! The acme of perfection. To gaze into those jet black orbs, or to survey him from head to foot is all that is necessary to make any woman fall. But gazing further into his eyes, one can see not only a "Lady Killer", but a friend to all. Louis attracts the attention of every-ing in the "skirt line" from the cradle to the grave; and, as a dancer, he has developed into a grand master of "jazz". Such a personality as his is hard to describe, for it is not the personality of one man, but of several men submerged into one.
He is a dreamer who puts his dreams into effect.
He started out with the Electricals and it was not long before "Cripp" realized that he had in him the stuff that an engineer is made of. Louis has a fine college record and a future of great success.

"John" came to Clemson in the fall of '16. His enlistment into the military service took him away from us for about one year; but he returned to college in the fall of '19 with a determination to play a leading part in all of the phases of college work. He has always had that optimistic nature of giving all of his smile and by so doing he began early in his college career to make numbers of friends, this number having increased until now it is a veritable host. "John's" abilities are not limited, for he has proven a tower of strength in athletics and in the classroom. As he bids farewell to Clemson for the last time, he goes out with the best wishes of his many friends. They all hope that "The breeze that blew his girl away will blow her back some day", and that she will share with him the success that he is sure to win.

In the fall of '17, this lad's eyes were opened, and he was awakened by a hunger for knowledge. "Froggy" scrambled out of the family nest and flew to Clemson to satisfy this longing. He perceived that a growing subject and a growing man would harmonize well; therefore he fell in ranks with the "Aggies". It did not take him long to fool the professors into believing that he knew something. The military department has been slow to recognize "Froggy's" ability, especially his punctual method of attending all formation, and his unique way of treating prisoners. But the fact that England never appreciated Shakespeare until after his day, has been a consolation to "Froggy". His wittingisms have won him fame and admiration at Clemson and at Belton. His greatest ambition is to own an ideal farm and a little bungalow for two. As we part we wish you great success in every step of life.

One of his principle characteristics is his attraction for the fair sex. You can depend on it, that wherever George is there will also be a post office. In all his work George has shown that he possesses these sterling qualities—a quick perception and great perseverance. These two qualities combined with his high ideals will make us still more proud to have known him when we see him as a leader in his chosen profession. Good luck and Godspeed to you, George.

Some nineteen years ago there was born a lad who was destined to make Ph. D.'s look small. 'Rabbit' spent the early part of his life hopping around in Union County. He then made one preliminary hop, and the next bound landed him at Clemson where he has been struggling ever since. For his first three years he followed the line of least resistance along the course of agriculture. He then turned his eyes toward the chemistry division, as he thought his best chance of receiving a "dip" lay in this direction. He spends most of his leisure hours at the post office, being deeply interested in the news from Chicora. If he lives up to the record that he has made at Clemson and elsewhere, we predict for him a brilliant and successful future.

Four years ago this youth emerged from the wilds of Orangeburg and departed for the realm of Clemson with the firm determination to make good. It took him only a short while to convince the faculty that he was made of the stuff that passes any test or examination; and he has continued to demonstrate this fact through all the years. Once he harbored military ambitions and rose to sergeant, at the same time achieving for himself the title of "Major". This ambition has long since passed into oblivion and he enjoys sleeping through reveille, cutting chapel, and beating out of drill. To speak of ladies, it is correct to say "Major" is "feministically" inclined. He believes there are yet many problems to be solved in animal husbandry industry; and fortunate is that field on which he concentrated his energies. As we part we say, "Luck to you, TILL we meet again."

How Withers was from Camden where the flowers bloom and grow, and why he left home to roam around Clemson, God only knows. He is a very lovable chap and some day will make some man a good wife. He took horticulture because his family would not purchase enough flowers for him to send his numerous lady friends. Withers has many friends even going so far as to have one in Borneo and another in Burma. He is also known as a disciple of the famous Dr. Calhoun. No one has ever been able to convince him that there was not an animal that could stand with its hind feet in South Carolina, its fore feet in Missouri, and drink water out of the Great Lakes. In spite of all his faults, we know that "Woody" will make a success in anything that he takes up.

In spite of the fact that experience of older brothers should have warned him of such action, "Pete" signed away his freedom in September of '17 and joined the forces of those who would characterize themselves as the Class of '21. Although not out for a military career, "Squarehead's" highest hope, that of being a member of the Clean Sleeve Club, was destroyed by a three-months' corporalship. "Square" is fair of face, gentle in speech, big in action; and he is always willing to lend a helping hand to those who are down. A more pleasant friend has never graced the halls of Clemson. With his charming personality, he has won the friendship and good will of all his fellowmen. His good nature, abundance of high spirit, and calm judgment will successfully carry him through whatever trials the world has to offer.

The hills of Aiken County have shown their worth by furnishing a "briar patch" for this lad. "Charlie" came into "Tigertown" in the fall of '17 with the intention of revolutionizing the questionable agricultural methods of the past; but in his Sophomore year he decided to electrify the world instead. In his study of electrical engineering he has been quite successful. He is a great believer in the principle that the way to achievement is the road of hard work and that the best way to get things done is to do them. Everyone might do well to watch the career of this promising lad. The quiet unassuming manner, pleasant disposition, and sterling character of this straightforward lad insure for him great success in his every undertaking.

In the fall of '17 Greenwood was visited by a terrible affliction, for one of her future hopes left. The town tried to cover its expression of grief, but all in vain. For a whole week the heavens shed tears in the streets of that town. Some boy, eh! He was not with us long before we saw his military genius cropping out. It was then that we learned to call him "P. D." (Private Driver). First, he wanted to be a military man; then he wanted to be a great scholar; but, saddest of all, he finally turned out to be a famous lover. He always has some sweet message for the girls. "P. D.", you have made many friends while in school and we are backing you. We all like you, for you are "A regular man".

"Watt" came to Clemson with a firm foundation upon which to build; and a "never-give-up" determination upon which to carry forth his future career in the electrical world. If you have ever had the pleasure of knowing him, you will not doubt for one instant but that his ambitions have been fully realized. We feel that it would be quite an injustice to this promising engineer if we fail to mention a few of his "everyday" traits of character. The first of these might well be expressed in this old proverb: "Work when you work and play when you play". "Watt" makes it his daily practice to find time for each of these, and he uses each to its very best advantage. Another important feature to be mentioned is the straightforwardness and perseverance with which he meets every task.

"Wat!", by his gentlemanly conduct and kind-heartedness, has won a great host of friends for himself at Clemson College. He is considerate of his friends, unassuming, and always willing to accommodate anyone. He is true, loyal, and honest. Too much cannot be said of his regard for honor and character, and of his lofty ideals—these are the traits of character that have made his college career such a startling success. He is an Epicurean by nature, and is also given to seeing only the bright side of everything. "Wat!" comes from the little town of Anderson—a place which has furnished so many distinguished Clemson men. Judging from the numerous letters which he receives from that place, we would make a safe guess in saying that a little girl is playing a great part in his college life. This lad has native ability coupled with rare intellect; therefore we expect great things of him.

When this youth left the mountain fastness of Pickens he was popularly known as "Charlie"; but after a few weeks at Clemson some one seemed to think that a mistake had been made, so they began to call him "Means". "Charlie" is a man who believes that, "To be a friend is to have a friend"; and all who know him can testify to the fact that he has lived up to his belief and now he numbers his friends by the score. Though no one would think so, "Means" has risen from the ranks to the grade of 1st Lieutenant; but he says graduation ends his career as a soldier. We all wonder what kind of campaign he intends to start then. "Tom" left Cope in '17 for a sojourn of four years at Clemson. A pleasing personality, sincere frankness, and immeasurable worth are the three most outstanding qualities that have gone to make him one of the most liked and highest honored of the "good fellows" of his class. "Tom" has become known as one of the noisiest men at Clemson. He is one whose duty it is to blow. "I can't get 'em up in the morning", some time between midnight and dawn. Also he has helped, by his cheerleadership, to lead the "Tigers" to victory many times. Although having taken the course in mechanical engineering, he assures us all that he intends to return to the prosperous land of Orangeburg to practice agriculture. In parting from him, it is with real sorrow that we bid farewell to a true and loyal friend who won the love, esteem, and admiration of those who knew him.

ARCHITECTURE.
To whom it may concern: The gentleman above is not either of the following personages: Scrub faculty, preacher, cadet, janitor, or cook. Well, what can he be? He is a special "Tiger" in architecture and a Y. M. C. A. worker. He has the softest job of any person on the hill—no reveille, no quarters, no extras, no demerits, no drill. "Bill" graduated at Wofford with the Class of '17 and at that college made himself famous in basketball. He enlisted with Uncle Sam's air forces and soon received a commission in the art of planting bombs on the enemy's head. In the fall of '19 he left his home town, Spartanburg, and came to Clemson for no other purpose than to "bring home the bacon" in architecture.
Senior Class History

Once more Clemson opens her doors and turns into the great World of work a graduating class—the Class of 1921. May each member of this class, which has thus far proved itself so worthy to bear the stamp of its Alma Mater, hold high, and live up to, the ideals that his class and his college have ever held before him. Let each member remember that he is not leaving "Tiger" days, but that he is stepping upon the threshold of life where the principles of "Tigerism" are just as applicable and are working just as surely as they were in his barracks days at Clemson.

It was on a hot September day in 1917 that the members of class ’21 assembled on the Clemson campus—there to become a part of the great "Tiger" Family—there to work faithfully and diligently for four long years. College life was new to most of our class, and, needless to say, "Rat" life was far from uneventful. Our Freshman class numbered almost three hundred and fifty, but the following year the ranks were thinned from many causes. We began our Sophomore year under the S. A. T. C. regime, and with part of our class as soldiers and with part as members of the "kindergarten" we passed the first term of our second year at Clemson. After the Christmas holidays the college was organized under its normal management, and with this change we began our real career of Sophdom. It is unnecessary to say that we were diligent and thoughtful as to the training which we accorded our younger brothers, the Class of ’22.

Our Junior year was begun with our ranks increased by many men from Class ’20 who on account of the war had dropped out of their original class. This replenishment was welcomed by our class, for we too had suffered from the hand of war. During this year of our college course we began to see things in a light different from that in which we had viewed them before. We began to realize the seriousness with which our purpose should be characterized, and consequently this year may be looked upon as our year of greatest accomplishment.

We returned as Seniors to Clemson in 1920. We were greeted by the unpleasant fact that the things we had looked forward to most for this session were not—the Board of Trustees had met and made the ruling that no special privileges were to be given to any class. This was a mighty blow to our expectations, but with the same old vim we went to work determined to first deserve privileges and then to ask for them. Our efforts were rewarded by success. As Seniors we have worked harder than probably any other class for the installation of an honor system throughout the corps and in all branches of college activity.

In this phase of work we think that we have been more successful than any other class. Class ’21 has always done its duty in all forms of activity; to the gridiron we have given many men; to the diamond we have given many; to the track we have given many; in literary work we have always had leaders; and in the social life of the campus we have always taken a great part.

It is with regret that Class '21 leaves the walls of its Alma Mater; it feels a cherished love for the college of which it is a part. As if taking a step in the dark, the men of this the twenty-fifth graduating class of Clemson leave her walls. They can do naught greater than uphold her standards and say, "Onward, Tiger, onward".

Record of the Juniors

What sort of chaps are '22 men?' If this question were to come from a person who has ever heard of Clemson since the fall of 1918 it might justly be construed as being indicative of pure ignorance. The reader has only to gaze with profound admiration at the benign and orang-outang-like countenances so ably reproduced in our class picture to ascertain the calibre of '22 men. It would be impossible to outline all of our accomplishments; but, for the information of strangers, a few facts will be enumerated.

Though only three of our men won the coveted "Block C" on the gridiron last fall, the scrubs were '22 men almost to the man. These, in our soph year, easily walked away with the Class championship. They will form the bulk of the 1921 star eleven.

Two of the varsity basketball five were '22 men. Their work contributed largely to the splendid record of the team.

Seven '22 men won "Block C's" on the diamond in our soph year. Clemson is relying on them to put her where she should be in baseball and they are going to do it.

Our dancing club has given mutual enjoyment to visiting ladies and the corps. Its ability to entertain has been established, and the Senior Dancing Club of 1921-22 contemplates improving its already admirable system of entertaining the fair sex.

In the classroom, '22 men have made names for themselves. Some of the highly descriptive appellations are: "Hobo's Hoboes", "Dickie's Angels", "Slim's Darlings", "Bull Artists", "Bug-ites", and "Straight (?) Aggies".

Orators with silver-plated tongues and men highly worthy of the degree B.Q. (Brethren of the Quill) we do not lack despite the fact that Clemson is an Agricultural and Engineering school. The men of '22 are literally overflowing with "Tigerism". We realize the manifold responsibilities imposed upon us as Seniors and are anxious to prove ourselves capable of assuming and fulfilling properly the duties of that class. We appreciate also the significance of the "Greater Clemson" movement and shall do everything within our power, while Seniors, and after we become alumni, to make it a great success. To the man, and deeply sincere we reverently proclaim:

"Dear old Clemson we shall triumph
And with all our might
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height."

The Second Milestone

HAVING emerged from the shell of "ratdom", and possessing the arrogance common to the "wise" fools, the Class of '23 started the career of its second year by attempting to impress upon the minds of our newly-arrived underclassmen, that, as concerns chastisement, it is better to give than to receive. With the aid of the rod we had no trouble in doing this. However, having accomplished this necessary though painful duty, we then set our shoulders to the second spoke of the wheel of the mill that grinds out our diplomas, resolving to turn it through such an angle of success as to bring the third spoke within easy reach at the end of the year. The load has, at times, seemed heavy, as the Sophomore year is no "graveytrain": but thus far we have done our bit.

The spirit of the class of '23 is undaunted. Each man has contributed his part toward keeping intact the spirit of cooperation, faithfulness, and loyalty which is invaluable to any class. Everything that we have done that is noble has been with a view of enhancing the glory of our Alma Mater, and with a view of increasing the fame that rightfully belongs to the Tigers' Lair, nestling at the foothills of the Blue Ridge 'neath the Colors of Purple and Gold. We are looking eagerly forward to that day, June '23 twice removed, when we shall receive our sheepskins and go forth and do battle with life. But even the prospect of a "dip" is somewhat dimmed by a pang of regret at being compelled to leave dear old Clemson. She will always remain dear to us.

The First Milestone

So two hundred and nineteen strong we came, with empty hands, strong backs, and ambitious minds, to the halls of dear old Clemson. We would not have you dwell upon our achievements for "The paths of glory lead but to the grave". Through the storm and stress of our sojourn here, we have tried to do our duty. We came with high ideals for the purpose of service, with sincerity in our hearts, and words of truth upon our lips. Mere acquaintance with dear old college has ripened into love, and we look forward with pleasure to the coming years we are to spend here.

The upper classmen were very generous. They gave Christmas presents to all, and each present will be highly valued and remembered. In the spring we were all given haircuts, much to our regret. But next, and the most important of all were our "Dips" signed by various members of the upper classes.

To pass on and not say a word about the "Rat" football team would be doing them an injustice. On the first Monday of our new life a call was sounded for material for the Freshman team. About sixty answered this call. Some were out to escape the upper classmen; some were out so they could write to "that" girl and say that her hero was trying for the team; some were out for the love of the game. The team was light but fast, and "Old Man Luck" was surely against us, for we won only one of the three games played.

We have trodden the path of the faithful; and, with our "Dips" signed and sealed, we welcome this glorious day when we bid farewell to the Freshman class and as Sophomores begin our first vacation.

History of Athletics

We all have heard the Tiger roar on the football field, and we all know that the name of the Clemson Tiger is known throughout the southland. Now let us take a few minutes off and see where and when Tiger athletics began.

In the year of eighteen hundred and ninety-six the first Clemson football team stepped out on the field. Since this was her first year in this line of athletics there were only a few games scheduled. The games played were with these colleges: Furman, Carolina and Wofford. The Tigers won two out of three of these games. Carolina won hers by the close score of 12 to 6. This was a fairly good start, but the Tigers were not satisfied with this. They were out for bigger game than the state teams.

Heisman came to coach the Tigers in the fall of 1900, and with the next few years Clemson had attained a position at the top of the southern league. There was no team in the south as strong as the Tigers in the years of nineteen hundred and two and three. A few years later something happened that hurt the Tigers in athletics; this was the April-foll's-day walk-out, when all but two varsity players were shipped for walking out. This was a great blow to the Tigers, but they determined to come back. Ever since that year the Tigers have been gradually working back upward.

The Class of '20 brought some of the best football material that any class has ever brought to Clemson, and with the help of good coaches and the hard work and sacrifices of the players Clemson has again made the yell of the Tiger resound over the south. Coach Stewart has now come upon the scene and we feel absolutely certain that within the next year or so the Tigers will be as famous as the Tiger of the years '01 and '02.

For twenty-five years Clemson has battled the various colleges of the state and of the south; during this time she has made a name for herself as one of the fairest and most sportsmanlike colleges in the south. This is a good example for the coming teams of Clemson, and if they are good Tigers they will uphold this standard set by the classes that have gone on.
"Jiggs" Donahue.

Let me take this opportune time to present to you one of the niftiest little coaches in the South. The past season was "Jiggs" fourth year as the head of the Tiger gridiron men. It was due to his excellent ability that Clemson again won a place in the limelight of southern athletics. Besides coaching the football team "Jiggs" took charge of the baseball team for the Tigers also. Before coming here he coached at Washington and Lee and at that place he made his start. He was loyal throughout to the college, and he proved himself a true Tiger in every way.

"Doc" Stewart.

"Doc" made his debut into Clemson in the last of January of this year. He came from the middle west, having coached at the University of Nevada a couple of years ago. Stewart has made a name for himself in the west that cannot be rivaled, and so now he has decided to repeat the same performance in the south. Coach Stewart is director of all athletics at Tigertown, and we feel certain that with his ability the Tigers will make things hum in the south in the next few years.

"Larry" Conover.

"Larry" came here last fall to assist "Jiggs" in football and to take charge of all the other lines of athletic activities at the college. He was a four-letter man at Penn. State and graduated from that institution last year. He played on the famous Hancock team that defeated nearly all the teams in the south in '15. "Larry" was head coach of basketball this season, and he put out a state championship team. He is also head coach of baseball, and we feel sure that he will put out a winning team.

Coach Fox.

Coach Fox has been at Clemson for a couple of years now, and during his stay here he has aided athletics in every way. For two years he has coached the Freshman football team, and assisted in coaching baseball and track. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia, and an old baseball player from that institution.

SUBSTITUTES.

Thomas Williams
Wilhite Zeigler
Sweedenberg Dean
"BOO" ARMSTRONG.
CAPTAIN.
"Boo" came to Tigertown in the fall of '16, and the first thing he did in the line of athletics was to land a place at halfback on the Freshman team. Coach Hart seeing some good material in this younger soon had him running a halfback on the scrub team. In his Sophomore year "Boo" made the Varsity team and played some wonderful ball. The past season was his fourth year as a Varsity player, and in those four years he made a name for himself at Clemson. "Boo" was given an honorable mention by Walter Camp when he was selecting his mythical all-American team in '19. We wish "Boo" as much luck in life as he has had in football.

"BULL" LIGHTSEY.
"Ball" stands among the best that Clemson has ever been able to boast of. "Bull" came here in the fall of '16 from the little town of Brunson, S. C. He played on the Freshman team his first year, and in the second year of his existence at Tigertown he was playing the guard position on the Varsity team under the tutelage of "Jiggs" Donahue. "Ball" made a name for himself all over the south in the game against Tech in his Senior year. He was picked by all the leading coaches of the south as an all-Southern player. He took a post-graduate course the next year, and was again a star player for the Tigers; he was playing on a guard this year instead of his old tackle position. "Bull" again made the all-Southern team in his post-graduate year.

"SWITZER" ALLISON.
"Switzer" hails from the town of Blacksburg, and so not liking the country life he came to Clemson. Allison made the Tiger team in his Rat year, but it was not until his Sophomore year that he made a lasting name for himself in Tigertown. The past year was Allison's fourth year as a Varsity man, and he played the style of ball that only a four-year Varsity man can play. "Switzer" will always be remembered as one of the best backs in the state.

"ENGINEER" GILMER.
"Engineer" came to Clemson with the Class of '20. He made the guard position on the Freshman team and shoed up fine. In his Sophomore year Gilmer landed a place on the Varsity team. When the war broke out "Engineer" enlisted to battle the Kaiser. He came back and joined the Class of '21. "Engineer" has made a name for himself at Clemson, and his playing will always be remembered. If he has as much success in life as he has had in football the old world had better look out or he will have it by the tail.
"SUSIE" OWENS.

"Susie" came to Clemson from the little town of Laurens. The past season was Owens' third year as a Varsity player. "Susie" played the tackle position for the first two years, but last year Donahue shifted him to end. During his stay on the tackle position Owens made a name for himself over the state, and last season he was recorded as one of the best ends in the state.

TOM DUNLAP.

The first thing that Tom wanted to know when he hit Tigertown was where was the football field. He decided he wanted to be an officer, so he went to the Naval Academy. He did not like the military life, so when the football season rolled around in 1919 Tom was right on the job. Tom has developed into one of the best centers of the state.

"PINKIE" COLBERT.

In the fall of '16 a lad rambled into Tigertown from way out in Oklahoma. "Pinkie" first worked under Coach Hart as an end. On account of our little argument with the Fritzies Colbert missed one year, and when he came back he entered the Class of '21. His second year saw him holding down the guard position, having some hard luck during the year in the way of injuries, "Pinkie" was out of a great number of games. This year "Jiggs" had him running a halfback, and he has turned out to be one of the best in the state. He has the driving power of a locomotive.

"RED" GETTYS.

The past season saw "Red" playing his second year of Varsity ball. On account of injuries "Red" was forced to stay out of a number of games his first year as a Varsity player, but this season he played in practically every game. "Red" is small and light, but these handicaps were outweighed by his determination and quickness. "Red" is undoubtedly the best center in the state.
"CAT" RANDLE.
"Cat" has the honor of being the heaviest man on the Tiger team, but weight is not all that "Cat" has. "Cat" did not make his letter until this year, but the reason was because he acquired a broken collar bone in his Junior year. He played on guard this year, and was picked by several as an all-state man. It takes at least three men to move Randle out of the way, and it is absolutely impossible to step over him.

"LONG JOHN" SPEARMAN.
The first time that John was seen on the football field was when he starred for the Sophys in Class football. He entered the army, but when the season of '19 rolled around he was Johnnie-on-the-spot. "Long John" has made a place for himself in the hearts of the Clemsonites by his playing on the positions of tackle and end. He was selected as one of the best ends in the state this past year.

"GOLDIE" KEYSERLING.
"Goldie" first played Freshman ball, and showed up fine in this. He then decided he would take a try at gaining the Varsity squad. He battled at the guard position for the Scrubs for two years. The past season was his first year as a Varsity player. "Goldie" is a hard man to move, and if anyone deserves credit for determination and grit it is he. He had been trained on the Scrub team to withstand the blows of the Varsity, so that when he did make the team he was as hard as a keg of nails.

"HEFF" HEFFNER.
"Heff" came to Tigertown in the fall of '17, and as soon as Freshman football practice started he was out on the field. He played Rat football that year and for the next two years he battled on the Scrub team. Each year that class ball would start "Heff" would be right on the job. The past season was his first year as a Varsity man. Heffner's job was holding down the end position, and he did this in a way that could not be beat.
"SPECKS" ONEILL.

"Specks" left the City by the Sea in the fall of '18 and rambled up to Tigertown. As far as we know his one object in coming to Clemson was to get a crack at the Citadel on the football field. He did it, and it was Mr. Oneill himself who carried the ball over the line for the first tally against the Bulldogs this year. We expect Oneill to be one of the best quarters in the state next year.

EMMETT EMANUEL.

Here we have another of the best halfbacks or quarters that the Tigers could boast of. The past season was Emmett's first year as a Varsity man. He is one of the very best when it comes to using the stiff arm. Emanuel came from the little school known as Carlisle Fitting School in the fall of '19. Emmett was just as good at running the position of quarter, but his choice was a halfback's job. If Emmett keeps up the work that he has done the past season he will be one of the best in the south in later years.

GEORGE CANN.

George came to the Tiger's Lair in '18, and the very first thing he did was to land a place on the Rat eleven. He played great ball with the Rats that year and in his Soph year he came near landing a permanent place on the Varsity team. The past year was his first year as a regular Varsity player. George played at the position of center at first but it did not take "Jiggs" very long to see that he could be made into one of the best tackles in the state, so he was shifted to this position. Keep it up, boy, we're all behind you.

TOM BAYLES.

Tom came from the little place known as Fort Mill, S. C. He arrived in Calhoun in the afternoon of one day in September. Tom cinched a place on the Rat football team of that year and played an excellent tackle. The next year Tom was out for a Varsity position, and he ran some one a close race for it. He also played on the victorious Sophomore team of that year. The past year saw Bayles holding down the positions of either a guard or a tackle, and doing it in fine style. We are looking forward to the time when he will be the best tackle in the state.
"BULL" DEAN.

"Bull" came to Clemson as a Sophomore Rat in the fall of 18; he had been attending Wofford but thinking that a change of climate would help his looks he came to Clemson. Dean went out for a position on the Varsity team his second year at Tigertown, and that year he showed up well. We are sorry that this is "Bull's" last year at Clemson because the future teams of Clemson will need such men as Dean on them.

"STUMPY" BANKS.

Playing football seems to run in the Banks family, and here is one of them that was no exception. "Stumpy" is small but what he lacks in stature is made up in that old stuff that was stick to it. "Stumpy" played two years of class ball, and last year he was on the Varsity squad. "Stumpy" is as brainy a quarter as the Tigers had and his lack of weight was all that prevented him from landing a place on the eleven. Next year we expect "Stumpy" to show up even the Big Stumpy himself.

"RUSTY" WILHITE.

"Rusty" came to Clemson in the fall of 18 and he brought along with him the desire to play football. He acquired the name "Rusty" from the fact that he was sandy haired and as hard as nails. "Rusty" has been out for the position of guard or tackle for a couple of years. He can also play at the end position. This year Wilhite showed up well, and we feel sure that with one more year of training he will be one of the best line men in the game.

"ZEIGE" ZEIGLER.

It was in the time of the year that the leaves begin to fall that "Zeige" rambled into Tigertown. It was in the fall of '19. The first thing that he did toward the forward movement of athletics at Clemson was to land a place on the Freshman eleven of that year. He showed up well there, and so the next year saw him battling for a place on the Varsity team. Under the tutelage of "Jiggs", "Zeige" showed up fine and played good ball throughout the season. We will not be at all surprised if we hear some time that he is one of the best halves in the south.
DICK SWEEDENBERG.

Dick arrived in the old burg in the fall of '18. He brought along as a sidekick the determination to do something at Clemson in the athletic line. In his Freshman year Sweedenberg made the Rat team. The next year he played on the undefeated Sophomore team, and that year he also played Scub ball. With two years of training behind him under the best coach in the south Dick is a good football player. We expect that the next season of football will see Dick one of the best backfield men in the south.

GRADY WADE.

Grady is one of the fastest men that the Tigers can boast of in a football uniform. This lad played Freshman ball last year and he showed up wonderfully well. He is fast and big, and these two things along with a little old stick-to-it stuff that Grady has is what a football player needs. This year Wade showed up as one of the best and "drivingest" backs on the field. He was hurt a number of times, and these injuries held him back. We expect big things of Grady next year and we won't be disappointed.

"RED" WILLIAMS.

"Red" traveled all the long distance from the Capital City in D. C. to attend classes and play football at Tigertown. One of the reasons for Red's coming was the fact that he had a brother (Big Red) attending Clemson at the time. The year was 1919. Williams first played Freshman ball and then last year he took a crack at higher game, he went out for Varsity. "Red" is one of the "fightingest" men that ever was on the field. With one more year of good coaching behind him we are certain that he will turn out to be one of the best in the south.

MANAGER CATHCART.

"Sam", as we all know him, proved himself to be one of the best managers in the business. It was due largely to his untiring efforts that the Tiger football team enjoyed all that a football team could want for. Sammy is a hard-working fellow, and as far as we know there is only one thing that Sammy will not tackle. That is a good looking girl. Cathcart was such a good manager and looked after things so well that he acquired the name of the All-Southern manager. If Sam manages his wife as well as he did the football team at Clemson we feel sure that harmony will remain at his household.
How It All Turned Out

It was just about the time of year when the leaves were beginning to turn golden, and when everything predicted that Fall was here and old cold Winter was just around the corner, that the call was given to all the lovers of the game of football, and the Tigers from the hills were ready for the first workout. The call was answered by a veritable young army of hard-working husky men. These were the men from whom Coach "Jiggs" Donahue was to select the team which was to uphold the Purple and Old Gold for that year. Then began the daily grind, and the process of sifting the chaff from the grain. "Jiggs" had no easy job on his hands, since all of the men who went out seemed to be determined to land a job on the team. "Jiggs" had, however, after the first few weeks of training, a pretty good idea of who were the best men on the field. Then the scrimmages began; here was where the best showed up in the men. By this time "Jiggs" had his Tigers ready to do battle with any and all. So the season began then really in earnest. The first to come up against the Tigers were the lads from Erskine.

Erskine brought to Tigertown on the 24th day of September a hard-fighting aggregation, but they were just not good enough and the first quarter had not ended before the game was practically won. The day was rather warm for football and this had a great deal to do with the low score. When the final whistle blew the Tigers were on the big end of a 26 to 0 score.

The Tigers then endeavored to pull a stunt that is hardly ever pulled by any football team. They had a schedule that called for a game with Presbyterian College on Friday, October 1st; the next game was with Newberry College the very next day. This was a hard week for the Tiger team but they felt able to tackle the job. The day before the game with the Presbyterians the best tackle in the state had to leave college on account of difficulties with the military authorities. This was a hard blow, but nevertheless the Tigers entered the game fighting mad. Lo and behold the lads from Clinton brought an aggregation out on the field that was fast and hard to stop. When the game ended the score was a tie of 7—7, with the Tigers slightly outplayed.

The second game of that week saw the Tigers playing a better brand of ball, and although the Newberrians did manage to score, it was only on account of a pass that was caught on the goal line. The Tiger team played better team work in this game than in the others, and this was responsible for the score of the game.

Then the Wofford Terriers came to do battle with the Tigers of the Hills. They came, they played, and they were defeated. Such is the tale, and there was little more to tell. Wofford brought along with them, however, a fast and heavy backfield. The game started off, and Clemson was the first to score; then Wofford scored and the game was tied. The Tigers, however, rallied and crossed the line once more, making the score 13 to 7 in favor of the home team. This game made the Tigers fight harder than ever, and when the Tigers from the plains came over to battle they found a fighting mad team to cope with.
Auburn arrived on the campus on the morning of October 15th, and they brought over the heaviest team in America. The line of the Auburnites averaged 215 pounds from end to end. However, when the game started these same beeves found it hard to move the little Tigers out of the way. A forward pass started the scoring for the visitors, and when the first quarter ended the game was 7 to 0 in favor of the visitors. Then lady luck took a hand in the progress of the game. With fourth down and six yards to go on the Tigers' twelve yard line an Auburn back fumbled and then recovered over the goal line for a touchdown. All the breaks went to the Tigers from the Plains of Alabama, and when the game ended the Clemson Tigers were on the short end of a 21 to 0 score.

After the Auburn game the Tigers wended their way to the city of Knoxville to argue a little with the University of Tennessee. They arrived in that burg about sundown on the afternoon of October 23rd. The game was scheduled for the next afternoon, and then it was played. The Tigers possibly were tired from the long trip; anyhow whatever be the cause they were decidedly out of form. The Tigers never got started, and when the game ended the lads from the mountains were on the big end of a 26 to 0 score.

It had been arranged by higher authorities in the long ago, that when the people of the state of South Carolina held their annual fair, one of the main attractions of said fair be the annual game of football between the ancient rivals, Clemson and Carolina. It had been the annual custom of the Tigers to bestow upon the Carolina Gamecocks a sound drubbing at each of these annual events. This year, however, the Gamecocks were ready and waiting. The teams lined up on the field at approximately twelve-thirty o'clock on October 28th, and at about twelve thirty-three the Carolinians had put over a drop kick and the score was 3 to 0 in favor of the Gamecocks. This was the only score that was made in the game and when the final whistle blew the Tigers were a defeated football team. It is useless to tell how close the Tigers came to scoring, because the fact remains that they did not score. The Tiger spirit was not downed, however, and the papers came out with a piece praising the spirit of the Clemson men as good losers.

The Tigers came back to the campus and began working out for the game on Grant field in Atlanta, against the Tech Tornado. On November 5th the Tigers left for the city of Atlanta. The game was to be played on the 6th of that month. The Tigers fought hard and fought the Yellow Jackets off their feet. When the game ended the score was Georgia School of Technology 7 and Clemson 0. The Atlanta papers came out with the statement that the men who played Clemson were second string men; good sports don’t use alibis, so these statements carried very little weight. However, the fact remains that the same men who played against Clemson played against Georgetown and against the University of Pittsburg.

After this game the Tigers rambled to the little town on the Edisto River known to all as Orangeburg. They went down there with the one idea in their "noggins", and that one idea was to defeat the Citadel. The Citadel Bulldogs said that they were tired of being rubbed into the sod by the Tigers, so there were rumors that went about saying that they were laying for the Tigers. We believe now that they were laying for the Tigers and they are still lying. Clemson started off with a rush and the thing they did to those poor cadets was something awful. Passes were used galore and the little fellows from the seashore were not able to stop any of them.
The story ended here and left the Tigers leading by the large sum of 26 while the Bulldogs had failed to score.

The next game on the list was the one with Furman in Greenville on November 20th. Last year the Hornets had pulled a surprise on the Tigers and held them to a tie, and more than that, they nearly defeated them. This year they did even more, they won the game and they won it with better football. It’s a sad story and one we don’t like to hear, but it is a fact the Purple and Gold went down before the driving team of the Purple Hurricane. Furman played better football than did the Tigers and that was all to it. When the game closed the Tigers were on the bottom of a 14 to 0 score. We put up no excuses, the Furman team played better ball, and that won the game.

Well now here was Thanksgiving and the end of the football season right on us. It had been the custom since Adam was a cadet to battle the University of Georgia in Athens on Turkey Day, and this year saw no exception to the rule. It had also been the custom of the Tigers to give the Georgians a hard battle, but this year things went wrong. At first the game went fine and the Tigers carried the ball to the four-yard line, but here they lost it and the Georgians started back. The backfield of the University is one of the fastest in the south, and they literally ran wild. The final whistle blew with the game lost to the Georgians to the tune of 55 to 0. This is the largest defeat that Clemson has ever received.

This ended a season that we could not call fruitful as far as to games won, but the season did have the effect of waking up the Clemson men scattered throughout the state, and we feel sure that in the years to come the Tigers will be known as All-Southern football players.
Mr. Harcombe arrived in Tigertown in the first of the summer of last year. He came from the little burg known as New York. Since his arrival he has proved to be one of the most efficient mess officers that the College has ever had. Mr. Harcombe is one of the biggest athletic supporters that we have, and it is due to his efficiency and hard work that the Tigers have had such good support by the mess department of the College. His favorite game is football, and there was never a game played anywhere near that he was not right on the job pulling for the Tigers. We have given this page in the athletic book to him to thank him in a measure for the way he has supported Tiger athletics, and for his loyalty to the College.

Baseball Prospects

Prospects this year for a good baseball team are better than they have been for years. The team this season will be coached by Larry Conover, and a better coach could not be found anywhere. The Tigers have practically the entire team of last year back on the job, and with these men and the number of good recruits that have come in, the season looks pretty rosy for the lads of the hills. The men of last year that the Tigers will have out are first, Captain Owens. Susie is one of Clemson's strongest pitchers, and we expect him to show up well this year. The other pitchers are Boozer, Davis, Sweedenberg, and Williams. Crossland and Perritt are also pitchers of merit that the Tigers will have back from last year. The men who will battle for the position behind the bat are Hagood and McPherson; Hagood is a player of the past season and one of the best catchers in the state. McPherson is a new man, but he was a star high school player and made the All-State high school catcher. The men in the infield of last season are Woodward at second, Hartzell at shortstop, and Boone on first base. The other infield men are Crossland, Jones, Ramsey and Richards. With these men on the job Larry says that he will make an infield that will look like a million dollars. The men in the outfield are Salley, Owens, Rentz, and Herron of last year. McMeekin is another man who is trying for one of the fields. These men are like old leaguers, and they don't even let air get by them.

Clemson has a hard schedule ahead of her, but Coach Conover says that the harder they are the more glory there is in a victory. The past year was not a very satisfactory one for the Tigers, and so they are coming to the front this year and make things hum. So all in all the teams that have the honor of doing battle with the Clemson Tigers this year had better watch their step or they will be in for a drubbing.

Basketball Season

This season proved to be a very successful one for the Tigers along the basketball line. With Larry Conover at the head of the things, practice started in earnest right after the Christmas holidays were over. Coach Conover had to build a team, using Capt. Colbert and Manager Coles as foundations for the team. There were about forty men out the first day, but soon the process of elimination began and the best were kept on the training table. When the time for the first game had arrived “Conny” had the team whipped into fine shape.

The Wofford Terriers were the first that had to brave the Tiger’s wrath. They brought over with them a fast and well-trained team but they were no match for the Tigers. The first half ended with Clemson just one point in the lead, but the Tigers thought this would not do at all; so they started a rally and in the second half ran wild. The final whistle blew with the Terriers a defeated team by the score of 37 to 29.

Then Coach Laval brought his Furman hornets over to battle the Purple and Gold. Glory be! Did the Tigers romp on that poor Furman team? Well we should say. Captain Colbert made more points individually than did the entire Furman team. When the first half ended the Tigers were leading by the large majority of 24 to 6. The second half was just as bad, and when the game ended the Tigers were on the long end of a 51 to 15 score.

The next aggregation that the Tigers hit up against were the players of the strong Spartanburg Y. These lads have been playing together for years and are therefore the best there is. The Tigers were defeated, but there is no need to say that the game was a hard fought battle from first to last. When the game ended the Y was leading by a good majority.

This defeat made the Tigers mad, and the Greenville Y. M. C. A. being the next on the list had to bear the brunt of the anger. The Greenville Y had with them three old Clemson men, two of whom were one-time captains of the basketball team. We will mention one of them here and say that he played one of the best games that was ever seen on the local court. This lad was Robertson, a former captain of the Clemson quint. He made 30 of the total 34 points scored by the visitors. The game ended, and the Tigers were winners, the score being 52 to 34.

The Tigers then left the state and raided Georgia. Here they met up with the strong team from the University of Georgia aggregation and were defeated, the score being 45 to 21. Georgia later in the All-Southern tournament came out second, being defeated only by Kentucky State.
After the game with the Georgians the Tigers came back home and awaited the arrival of the College of Charleston team. The lads from the seashore were small but game to the end. The Tigers ran wild again. Once more "Pinkie" Colbert scored more than the opposing team. Colbert scored, in all, twelve field goals and four fouls, totaling, in all, twenty-eight points. In the last half the Tigers made a number of substitutions, and before the game ended practically a new team was on the floor. The final whistle saw the Tigers leading their opponents by the score of 65 to 24.

The Tigers then rambled down to Tech to battle the Yellowjackets. Tech put a strong team on the floor, and though the Tigers fought bravely they were defeated by the close score of 28 to 22, the Tigers scoring 11 points each half.

The next ambitious ones were the men from the Presbyterian College. These lads left Clinton on February 8th and came to Tigertown just in time to meet the Tigers, who were waiting for someone to vent their anger upon. Since the defeat by Tech, P. C. had been going fine until they met the Tigers and here they stumbled, or rather fell. The first half of the game ended with the score of the Tigers doubling that of their opponents, being 18 to 9. The Clintonites rallied, however, in the second half, and when the final whistle blew the score was Clemson 35, Presbyterian College 21. The second game with these lads was to be played at Clinton. The Tigers went, they saw, and they brought the bacon home. Although on the visitor's court the Tigers played even a better game than they had against the P. C. crowd on the Tiger's court, the game ended with the Tigers winners.

Then the Tiger quint moved on to Newberry to battle that college; here they met their first defeat by a college team in the state. It was a hard battle and one that was hard to lose. The score after the first half was 7 to 6 in favor of the Newberryites. In the second half the Tigers took the lead with one point until the last minute of play when a field goal from center of the court put the Newberry lads in the lead. The whistle then ended the game and the Tigers had lost by one point, the final score being Newberry 15, Clemson 14.

Then the Carolina Gamecocks thought they would take a hand in things; so they rambled up to Tigertown. They rambled back a whipped basketball team. Carolina had a good basketball team, but the only thing the matter was that it was not as good as the Tiger team, therefore they were defeated. The best team won again. The game ended with the Clemson Tigers on the top of a 44 to 16 score. They left Carolina only the bottom perch to roost upon.

The Gamecocks were then entitled to a return game on their court, so it was arranged. The Tigers ambled down to the little burg of Columbia to partake of a little feast of birds, and they got it. The Carolinians played better ball on their home court, but the better team won again. Clemson outplayed the Gamecocks.
from start to finish, and when the timekeeper ended the game with his whistle the score was 24 to 10 in favor of the Tigers from the Hills.

Next came the game with the College of Charleston at the City by the Sea. The salty air must have made the Tigers peppy, because the way they ran over the Charleston team was something marvelous. Captain Martin's followers could not seem to get on to the Tiger defense, and so the results were that the game was all Clemson from start to finish. Once more and against the same team Colbert made more points than did the opposing team. The game ended in favor of the Tigers, the score being 49 to 12.

Then the Tigers met the second defeat and this time at the hands of their old enemy, Citadel. The Tigers lost the game in the last few minutes of play, being defeated by two points. The Citadel team, captained by O'Shaughnessy, are fast and quick passers. The first half saw the Cadets from the sea leading by three points, the score being 10 to 13 in their favor. The final whistle called the end of the game when the Bulldogs were two points ahead.

The next meet that the Tigers had was in the All-Southern Tournament in Atlanta. The games were arranged by drawing for opponents. The Clemson representative drew and the opponents were the Tigers of Auburn. This made the game where the Tigers of the Hills battled the Tigers of the Plains, and these two teams have long been great opponents. The game started at nine o'clock on the night of February 25th. The Auburn team held the lead from the start, though the lead was very small for the first half, but in the second half the Tigers of the Plains ran wild and when the final whistle blew the game was Auburn 43, Clemson 25.

Ever since their defeat at Clemson by the Tigers the Wofford Terriers had been writing letters to the Athletic Association to arrange a return game. At last, although the season was finished, the Tigers traveled toward Spartanburg to battle Wofford on her home court. It would have been indeed very much better for the Terriers to have left well enough alone, but they did not know this. They had been harping for the game and they got one. They lost one at the same time. The game started with a rush and the Tigers took the lead from the outset. Wofford fought hard from the outset but they fought in vain; the Tigers were just the best team, and the best team won. The game ended with the Tigers on the large end of a 25 to 15 score. By winning this game the Tigers laid claim to the State title, and challenged anyone to dispute it. No team in the state took up the challenge, so the honor was kept by the Tigers. So endeth the lesson, and all in all we can say that it was a good basketball season.
Cross Country Team

The cross country team this year proved to be a winner. The lads trained hard and earnestly for the meet on Turkey Day at Clinton, and when that day arrived they were all set for the test. They went down to that burg and brought the bacon home, and although a Clemson man was not the first over the line they arrived in time to add up enough tallies to win the meet by one point. Presbyterian College was the next in order. This was the only meet that the runners had, so that this trip ended the season. The Tigers will not lose a single cross country man next year, so all things point to another winning team.

The team is made up of the following men: Ellison, Kinard, Summers, Vincent, and Taylor. Summers was elected captain of the team.

Track Season

When the call resounded over the hills of the south for all the speed demons of the Tigers to assemble on Riggs field for practice it was answered by a motley crew. Coach Fox was at the head of the track men this year, so it was from these men that he selected his track squad. There were quite a number of good men out. Voight and Sanders were the Sprinters. Boggs was good on the pole vault and also in the hurdles. Williams and Owens held down the broad jump, and Going and Younge were the distance men. Gilmer was the weight man and was good in putting the shot. "Pinkie" Colbert made it his business to throw the discus out of the lot. There were a number of other good men out also.

The Tigers had only two meets on their schedule this year, the first being with Davidson up at Davidson, the second was the Southern tournament at Atlanta. The fast men of the Tiger clan rambled up to the Tar Heel state in the early spring to meet the Davidson Wildcats. Davidson always has a good track team, so the Tigers knew that they had their work cut out for them. Fate played a hand in this game also, and on the date of leaving, Gilmer, the shot putter, could not go on account of a death in the family. This was a hard blow to the Tigers: they however traveled on up. The meet was close and exciting throughout, and although Clemson won nearly twice as many first places as did the Tar Heelers they lost the meet by one point, the score being 50 to 49.

The meet of the teams from the entire south was held in Atlanta in the middle of May. The Tigers went down there and endeavored to bring the bacon home. They, however, did not have enough men to enter all of the meets, therefore could not hope to win the meet. Those men, however, who did enter meets showed up well. "Pinkie" Colbert won the discus by throwing it 124 feet; this was four feet farther than the next man. Covington tied for second place in the high jump, while Boggs won a place in the pole vault. Voight, the speed king of the Tigers, ran faster in the semi-finals than did the man who won the finals; he however had worn himself out and therefore lost out in the finals. This was the last meet that the Tigers had that year, but the manager has already arranged meets with four of the leading Colleges in the south for the coming season. The Tigers will lose Voight, Covington, Boggs and Going next year since these men graduate this year.

IN CASE OF FIRE

1. LOUNGE there with a FILE LIGHT and YELL "FIRE!" AT ONCE WHO HAS BEEN FIGHTING IT FOR AN HOUR?

2. GET EXCITED!

3. OPEN ALL THE AIR DRAINS AND REDUCE THE PRESSURE.

4. BEING PULLING DOWN THE STAIRS.

5. CROWD THE FIRE OUT.

6. PUT TWO NOZZLES ON ONE HOSE AND YELL FOR WATER.

7. GET TANGLED IN THE HOSE.

8. LEAVE THE HOSE.

9. SMASH ALL WINDOWS AND ALLOW THE DRAFT TO BLOW THE FIRE OUT.

Actual Extracts from Freshmen Examination Papers

“FORMAL DISCOURSE is when you write to a man and say Dear Dadam.”
“AVERSION is something on the order of a Dream or a Transome.”
“POLEMIC means written in the Polish Language.”
“TRANSITION means that a sentence should be wrote so as to show unity and obscurity.”

“THE SPENCERIAN STANZA is a kind of ballad used by Spencer when he wrote the Ferry Queen.”

“SEMETIC means short-sightedness.”
“SEMITIC means a kind of musical instrument with a certain number of strings.”

“A colon is used when we are going to name a serease of things.”
“The Y. M. C. A. has just had the bolding alleys repaired.”

“Arnold was incidental in making England what it is.”

“RAVEN—A bird of pray.”
“GOSSAMER—One who talks about the weather.”

“OBLIVION means the vision of a poet before writing.”

“MOTLEY—State of molting.”

“Longfellow came from a Long (?) line of descendants.”

“The denzines of the machene should be made showing the dimensions of the cylinder of enjine.”
Jokes

Salley (studying for English exam.): "Say, Red, what's Fundamental Image?"
Red Gettys: "I don't believe I know. What's that you're studying, anyway, Physics?"

Senior: "May I call to-morrow if you have nothing on?"
Steno.: "How dare you?"

Senior: "Who was the inventor of the loose leaf system?"
Rat: "Eve."

Big'un: "What's the difference between a girl and an apple?"
Wop: "That's easy. You have to squeeze an apple before you can get cider. But with a girl you have to get 'side 'er before you can squeeze her."

Col. Durfee: "Why didn't you salute. Don't you know I am an officer?"
Federal Board Student: "That's a darn good job. Hang on to it."
Cadets Standing Bs: "Hee Haw."

Little grains of corn-bread,
Little drops of Zip.
Makes a Kadet's insides
Try to cut a flip.
Neither be a coward, here on earth
Than a hero, in the skies,
I'd rather they'd say
"Hear that nigger run run!"
Than," There he lies
Prof.: "Mr. Hayes, why is the climate in the West healthier than in the East?"
Sam Hayes: "I guess it is because there is more humus in the air."

Grayson Odom: "Which falls faster in a vacuum, shot or feathers."
Doc Melton: "You can't fool me. Neither one will fall."
Grayson: "Where do you get that stuff?"
Doc: "A vacuum is something that has nothing in it, and gravity makes things fall, don't it?"
Grayson: "Yes."
Doc: "Well then if there is nothing in a vacuum there can be no gravity in there to make them fall. They'll just float around."

Lives of Football men remind us
They can write their names in blood,
And departing leave behind them
Half their noses in the mud.

A Senior is like unto an oil lamp—he usually smokes, isn't very bright, and frequently goes out at night.

P. D. Wade: "Hey Bull!"
Bull Dean: "What 'u want?"
P. D.: "Hugg'em."

Checking Out

(With apologies to Kipling.)

When my last extra is walked,
And the musket is laid away,
When the last exam is over,
And we come to commencement day.

We shall rest, and faith we shall need it,
But only for a day or two,
For the thoughts of an empty purse
Shall set us to work anew.

And those who have passed shall be happy—
Gosh, but won't it be grand
When we depart from Clemson
With the sheep skin in our hand?

We shall worry no more about "Hobo,"
We will say good-by to "Slim."
There'll be no more of "Dickie"—
Thank God I passed on him.

We played the game for Colonel
And now we are cashing in.
A few of us shall fail,
But the most of us shall win.

A few shall sink to the gutter;
Others shall rise to the top.
For me, I'll be mighty lucky
If I earn three squares and a flop.

The last long note of Taps has sounded,
The rolling echoes die away.
The day is o'er, each duty ended
And Taps sounds out the parting day.

'Tis thus this book shall mark the ending
Of days spent in our college halls.
We pass out now, for Taps is sounding,
The last long echo softly falls.

What Is Research?

Suppose that a stove burns too much coal for the amount of heat that it radiates. The manufacturer hires a man familiar with the principles of combustion and heat radiation to make experiments which will indicate desirable changes in design. The stove selected as the most efficient is the result of research.

Suppose that you want to make a ruby in a factory—not a mere imitation, but a real ruby, indistinguishable by any chemical or physical test from the natural stone. You begin by analyzing rubies chemically and physically. Then you try to make rubies just as nature did, with the same chemicals and under similar conditions. Your rubies are the result of research—research of a different type from that required to improve the stove.

Suppose, as you melted up your chemicals to produce rubies and experimented with high temperatures, you began to wonder how hot the earth must have been millions of years ago when rubies were first crystallized, and what were the forces at play that made this planet what it is. You begin an investigation that leads you far from rubies and causes you to formulate theories to explain how the earth, and, for that matter, how the whole solar system was created. That would be research of a still different type—pioneering into the unknown to satisfy an insatiable curiosity.

Research of all three types is conducted in the Laboratories of the General Electric Company. But it is the third type of research—pioneering into the unknown—that means most, in the long run, even though it is undertaken with no practical benefit in view.

At the present time, for example, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are exploring matter with X-rays in order to discover not only how the atoms in different substances are arranged but how the atoms themselves are built up. The more you know about a substance, the more you can do with it. Some day this X-ray work will enable scientists to answer more definitely than they can now the question: Why is iron magnetic? And then the electrical industry will take a great step forward, and more real progress will be made in five years than can be made in a century of experimenting with existing electrical apparatus.

You can add wings and stories to an old house. But to build a new house, you must begin with the foundation.
