FOREWORD

DEAR FELLOW TIGER, KEEP AND READ THIS BOOK THAT YOU MAY OFTEN BE REMINDED OF YOUR DAYS AT DEAR OLD CLEMSON.

DEAR READER, MAY YOU DWELL NOT LONG UPON ITS MANY IMPERFECTIONS, BUT BY PERUSING PAGE BY PAGE, APPRECIATE THE GREATNESS OF OUR ALMA MATER. SHOULD YOU BOTH IN THIS FIND SATISFACTION, THEN OUR GREATEST HOPES WILL BE FULFILLED.

To the Class

Four, short years they seemed to be;
How short we learn too late.
And pals, classmates, friends, we see Depart, their paths to make.

Paths that in some future day
May lead to honor, wealth, and fame.
But ever in our hearts will stay
Love for our Alma Mater's name.

Fortune's hand may signal, beckon,
But whatever you find to do
Always remember the prize you won,
With the Class of Twenty-two.

“Fripper-jack” sallied forth from the metropolis of St. George in the Fall of 18 to obtain an education in “Tigertown.”

“Fripper-jack’s” winning personality has made for him many friends since his arrival, but due to his unusual ability to “get ‘em told,” he and the Commandants have never been able to get along together, which accounts for his yearly membership in the “Jail Bird” Club.

He is small of stature, but what is lacking in this respect is more than made up for by his kindness and generosity. He has never been known to refuse a friend in need.

Herman has never represented a “Tiger” team in action, but is one of the most loyal supporters that has ever set his foot on the campus.

We predict for “Fripper-jack,” success in the world after his departure from our midst.

“Froggy” entered Clemson in the Fall of 18 with the idea of being an Aggie, but soon found out that a man of his ability should not be a “bug-chaser,” therefore, he joined the “Hobo” Crew. “Froggy” has never had any trouble shooting the professors, and making a speech for “D. W.” was always a “cinch” for a man of his powers. He also had the honor of being “Madison’s” Intelligence Officer.

Chief among “Froggy’s” acquirements is his ability to make friends, not only with the boys but with the fairer sex as well. Here’s to you, “Froggy,” may the little town of Galivants Ferry be proud that it turned out a man of your calibre.

When "Boo" set out for Clemson, it was with the determination to be a "real noise," and so systematically has he carried out his plans that even the most conservative are forced to admit that he has attained his goal—witnesses: the commandant, the cadets, and the professors. This same quality blasted his military aspirations in their infancy.

"Boo's" qualities as an athlete are second to none in his class. One of his greatest desires after entering school was the winning of the block "C" and a place on the varsity football squad. We are very glad that he attained his desire. His greatest ambition is to return to Clemson and play on "Doc" Stewart's Tiger Team of '22.

"Boo" has won many friends at Clemson, and we predict for him unqualified success in whatever he undertakes.

Upon the urgent request and invitation of Mr. Clemson, "Buck" finally decided in the Fall of 1918 that he would come to Tiger-town. Since his debut into college life, he has spent much time dabbling in bridge construction, land surveys, and sewerage systems—for he is a Civil. When "Buck" arrives in Barnwell, carefully carrying his sheepskin in his hand, the mayor has promised to have the town band at the station to welcome the conquering hero back home again. And lo, folks will come from miles around to catch a mere glimpse of this lad. Barnwell’s best. "Buck's" many friends predict and expect great things of him for they believe he has the ability; and they all join in on the chorus:

Old "Buck" has made a host of friends,
And each does wish him luck.

John came to us in the Fall of 1918. He joined the "Hardboiled" crew of civil engineers. He has had many military offices during his career; upon entering the Senior class he acquired the office of Captain. He was liked by every member of his company as well as by all his collegemates. He is very popular with the ladies; a fine "tripper" of the fantastic toe, and has taught the "Terpsichorean Art" to many of his college mates.

John has broken many tender hearts. He is a hard lover and a cheerful "faller."

John, here is to you when you face the world to fight life's battles—may you acquire great success and happiness, and most of all, a dear little wife to comfort you in your time of troubles.

The people of Fort Mill have no idea what they lost when they allowed this illustrious son to stray from their walls. "Jim," better known as "Tom," entered Clemson as green as any of us, but because of his willingness and determination it did not take him long to get onto the ways of college men. Today, we see in him a polished gentleman. "Tom's" winning smile, sterling character and good natured ways have contributed much toward making all his acquaintances his friends.

On the gridiron, "Tom" has been one of the Tiger mainstays. Again we see his determination and strength have helped to gain fame for him as well as for his Alma Mater. If the future may be judged by the past, we can see nothing else in store for him except a life of happiness and prosperity. All eyes are turned toward you "Tom."

In the Fall of ’18, this studious lad left the seacoast and cast his lot with the "Tigers" at Tigertown. His one determination before coming was to perfect himself in the art of farming. With this in view, he became an "Aggie" and here we find him with the Class of ’22 just about to complete the course in horticulture.

"Bolly," as this lad is called, in the beginning formed the habit of being prompt and studious. Although quiet, he minds his own business, and his friendship is valued by all who know him.

Like most Clemson Tigers, "Bolley" is not altogether free from love affairs, and is now dreaming of that bungalow for two. Good luck to you, "Bolley," may your dream come true and your journey throughout life be filled with much happiness and success.

Julian was born October 13, 1901, and without a doubt, Greenville should have celebrated the arrival of another great man. Julian landed in Clemson without a worry, intending to specialize in English, and thanks to the co-operation of Professors Prep. and D. W. he has accomplished his purpose. Julian seems to have a fascination for big men, and always picks out a whopper to take his boxing lessons upon. He doesn’t always see things the same when he gets through, but what’s one dark spot in any man’s life. He spends his week-ends in Greenville looking out for his future, and when he acquires some extra dough, he may settle down and forget all about his failure to convince the English Department that he knows more than they do about English.

By his attractive personality and cheerful disposition, "Broad" has won the friendship and admiration of all of his associates during the past four years, and when the Class of '22 finishes its last lap, he can leave with the satisfying feeling of having done his work well, and with the priceless possession of the good wishes of many friends.

Having beaten from cover a number of "E's" that were lurking in the judgment books of various faculty members, and having demonstrated his ability to handle his fowling piece somewhat better than anyone else, it is but fitting that he will shortly conduct a prosperous locomotive factory or helping occupy a two passenger bungalow in the West.

In the Fall of '18, while the big guns were still booming over the "Pond," "Daniel" packed up and moved to "Tigertown" to begin his military duties. However, he soon decided that "military" was not along his line, and exchanged his sword for a baseball bat. It was seldom that the pill ever slipped by this long box at "first," he having held down this post for the years '20 and '21.

The Chemistry Department is lucky indeed to count him among its members as well as is the Class of '22. His ready smile and genial fellowship have won many friends for "Daniel," and we expect great things from him in the future. "The City of Loving Hearts" can well be proud of this son of hers.

Early one morning in the Fall of 1918, one of Newberry's foremost young men escaped for four years among the Tigers. "Booze" made a hit at "Tigertown" as soon as baseball season started, by putting everything from hops to hoops on the pill. Not being satisfied with his fame in Carolina, he proceeded, while at camp, to show the Kentuckians how to throw the horseshoe.

When Wilbur was called on to make the great decision, he showed tail and used his head by choosing to lead the Linheads. Wilbur has always been pleased with E's and S's, which have been the fruits of hard work. Go to it, old boy; we wish you success.

This is Britt of McCormick fame, six feet two, and every inch a man. At the beginning of his college career Wilton was so unfortunate as to lose one year through sickness, and was kept from graduating with his Class of '21. However, what the Class of '21 lost, the Class of '22 gained, for his abilities have been an invaluable asset to his class, in its various activities.

Wilton decided that Animal Husbandry was his course. He accordingly shaped his college career with a view of becoming a practicable livestock man. Some day in the near future we expect to find Wilton owning acres of grasses and white-face cattle.

When we come to analyze "Burek's" personal career and character, it is quite a difficult proposition. There is nothing that can be said sufficient to express his real value to his fellowman. If there is ever anything too complicated for us to solve, "Burek" is the man who is glad to assist in its solution.

Lawrence has always had a desire to become a proficient electrical engineer—even in his childhood days he would work diligently trying to run his toys with the "mysterious juice." So it is not a surprise to the ones that know him to see that "Crip" had very little trouble inducing him into the World of Electricals. It is a very simple matter for this genius to accomplish most anything connected with electricity; and he is not satisfied with anything less than perfect results.

"King" hit Clemson in 1917, but realized that he could gain more by becoming a member of the Class of '22, and therefore postponed his graduation one year. In spite of the fact that Bussey hails from the region of "Tale" Mays and other great men, he may overcome this handicap and become distinguished. "King" took Civil to acquire a sheepskin, and sometime he may design a log cabin for his own personal use. He helped the varsity become great two years by being a scrub, and yet, if it were not for the scrubs there would be no real Varsity. Many a time "King" has come near exceeding the speed limit of demerits, but always slows down and starts over again.

Chalmers came to us in the Fall of 1918 and enrolled with the followers of "Swine." A quiet fellow is Chalmers, and his true worth is not known outside the circle of his friends.

His first year he devoted to learning the keys of the clarinet, but forsaking the band the next year for a life more military—he became a corporal. But when he became a man he put away childish things and became a 2nd lieutenant.

Chalmers is a great follower of Terpsichore, and has taught many of his friends the art of "tripping the fantastic toe." He leads the "Linheads" in class work. In fact, the Textile section's motto is "When in doubt go to Butler."

A good fellow is he, pleasant but not obtrusive—good looking but far from effeminate. We wish you success, Chalmers.

In the Fall of '18 there came to Clemson a lad who endeared himself to the hearts of all who knew him to the extent that he soon acquired the name "Daddy." He is a frank friend and a shrewd adviser, and his stern, sterling character has made him a leader of men.

"Daddy" has run around the cinder path and across the country until he has developed into a worthy wearer of the highly coveted block "C."

The girls have never influenced "Daddy," but a smile which betrays his inward happiness spreads over his face when he is in the presence of the fairer sex. "Dad," here's luck.

September 12, 1900, should have been a holiday in Spartanburg, for a future genius started his career. Bill, like many other men, began life early, and gradually showed his superiority. Bill's Treasurer and General Manager decided to make a chemist of him, and, therefore, Clemson received a disciple for Dickey. After four years "Bill" has decided that he'd rather be a millionaire than President, so he has set his aim at $1,000,000 by 1940. A word to the wise is sufficient. Hold onto your pocketbook. "Bill" has many friends, and before he checks out no doubt he will have many more.

This working man upon setting his pavilion feet in motion migrated from the famous city of Honea Path to the noted city of Cherries. When he arrived at Clemson, he gazed in awe at the clock in the tower and wondered what made it run. He was a hard worker on the basketball squad; the Junior class team and two Company teams were led to championship by him.

"Clat" is a little man with a big heart. His excellent character and good-natured ways have made his acquaintances his friends. During his stay at Clemson "Clat" has done diligent work, and if he works this hard when he is an entrepreneur we are sure he will succeed, and we, the Class of '22, wish him the best of luck for the future.

Dan came to us with the Class of '21, but decided that the S. A. T. C. life at Clemson would be too strenuous, so he went to Bailey for a year to learn to be a top-sergeant. He then came back and took up his work, but soon learned that McFeely's Signal Corps was a cooler military road than the infantry, so his military career has been somewhat blighted despite the careful preparation received at Bailey.

Dan has the reputation of being the sincerest fellow in school, and he is one of the staunchest friends a boy can have. His ambition is to own many spindles in the Textile Center of the South—and a bungalow on the Boulevard.

In the Fall of '18, this youth left the wilds of Saluda County, and boarded a train going north. Upon arriving at Clemson, he decided to cast his lot with the "Lightning Chasers." "J. V." is a conscientious student and has all the characteristics that go to make up a man, and greatest of all, he is a friend worth having. Although he is a military man, it was not officially recognized until after the beginning of his Senior year, when he joined the "Lieutenant's Clan." Vernon is very fond of the fairer sex, and if we can judge from the frequent letters he receives, he will soon be in a little bungalow just big enough for two. "J. V." expects to enter the electrical world; and if he keeps up his work in the future as he has in the past we, the Class of '22, can only predict success for him.

About the middle of September, 1918, this young lad decided he would be a leader in his community; therefore, he had to possess an unusually good education, naturally he was advised by an old Clemson alumnus that Clemson was the only place in which he could gain this great amount of knowledge. We feel sure this intelligent young lad is prepared to return to the City of Hopkins, and that he will reach the above goal. But regardless of where he goes, we feel sure that "Bob" will make a great success. We predict great achievements from him, and wish him much success through life.

As a military genius, he did not blossom forth until his Senior year, when he achieved the rank of a 1st Lieut. He well deserves this honor, for there was never a more conscientious person in this line.

In the class room he has made a most enviable record, his name having appeared on the distinguished honor roll.

Here we see Edgar the big-hearted, jovial engineer.

It is by virtue of Edgar's energy and enthusiasm that the expression, "Call the roll, 'Dickey' is here" is becoming standard in civil engineering circles.

"Dickey" is a devout believer in the conservation of energy, but when delivery of the goods is necessitated Edgar, is the man relied upon.

One should esteem it a rare privilege to be the possessor of the disposition which "Dickey" has. Not stern, yet far from fickle; not unduly conscientious, yet a strong supporter of truth and principle, with courage to back up his convictions. Not an idle dreamer nor a confirmed optimist, but an ever-smiling gentleman.

"Bill", or "Red", came to Clemson in '18, and having a taste for salt, joined the Naval Reserves. Not long afterwards he learned better. He can't help it because Westminster is his home town; in fact, he is a good sport and a loyal pal. "Red's" speed and accuracy on the basketball court, has helped him win many a game, and '22 found him throwing varsity goal for the Tigers. He has an independent, straightforward manner, which coupled with an open heart, makes him a worthy friend. This same warm heart along with his attractive auburn hair, has won the attention of numerous girls, but "Wicked Willie" is able to take care of himself. Work holds no fear for him and the Textile World will do well to watch "Bill", for he has the genuine stuff in him.

James is just another fair example of the City of Laurens' ability to send us men. "Kid" Fuller says "Jim" had the most strenuous time of any member of the class in finishing high school. But he came to us with a happy smile that just won't wear off; and the most thorough knowledge of math that has ever been recorded on Rastus's books.

The only time "Jimmie" ever lost his temper was when "J. Gould" accused him of misusing his laundry bags.

James selected "Crip" as his major man, and as a result, "Crip" has used his Christie Text continually to find answers to "Jim's" innumerable questions about his major course. We predict that Laurens will soon be the brightest spot in South Carolina, through the untiring efforts of this young electrician.

After two days of arguing with an old Clemson man, "Colie" was convinced that all college graduates are not crooks. He then quickly decided to leave the town of Chapin for the purpose of securing an Agricultural education.

"Colie" is a man at heart as well as in stature. "Once your friend, always your friend," exactly characterizes him. He craves no military honors, but takes an active interest in his class work. There is very little known about "Colie's" relations with the fair sex, but the regularity with which letters come to him from Orangeburg vouches for the fact that he has fallen for someone there. Old boy, we are hoping that you will meet with the same kind of luck on the farm as you have met with at Clemson.

His ambition is to be an engineer; and he is devoutly interested in his work. He tackles whatever tasks he meets with determination and energy, and we are expecting big things from him in his line of work. Because of his friendly disposition, willing hand, and optimistic spirit, we know that he will also make a success in civil life. He always looks for the best in others, and gives the best he has. "Fannie", in search of knowledge, left the quiet little town of Lamar and came to Clemson, a youth full of determination, vim and vigor. With his ever winning smile and gentle disposition he has won the hearts of all those who know him. He is a strong supporter of athletic activities, having made both class and scrub football teams.

Newton is a conscientious student and has all the characteristics that go to make a man, and greatest of all, he is a friend worth having. But he has one great failing—that of falling for the ladies, and when their names are mentioned, a smile that betrays his inward happiness plays over his countenance. He has chosen Dairying as his profession, and with his stickability success is assured.

To know "Buddy" is to like him, because he is the highest type of gentleman. His name tells us that he is very popular, not only in his class, but in the whole college.

"Buddy" has several weak points and all of them are "Ladies". Though he is not seen at many dances he is a regular ladies' man and some time in the near future we hope to see him married to some nice little girl, living in a nice little home, and raising a lot of little "Oh by Gollys."

Well, luck to you, "Buddy," cheer the the world as you do your friends at college and there will be nothing but the best of luck for you.

Behold! Here's old "Hoodie". I "vecken" so. He came to us from the city called Roe-able to find a squirrel egg, he says that he will

Here you are, ladies and gentlemen, the one and only one of its kind. From the time he hit Clemson to this hour "Ed" has been "playing". No, he is fully grown, but he still plays. If there is a musical instrument he cannot play, we've yet to see it.

For two years he has directed the Glee Club and Orchestra, and for a year he is the Cadet Band. As a black-face comedian he is incomparable. His popularity at Clemson is established.

Returning from over seas in 1910, "Ed" ilustrated his scholastic ability by taking the prescribed four years in three. Although his professors predict a bright future for him in the engineering world, we believe that he will some day be a prominent musician.

Having fully decided, therefore, to establish a record among the military genii of Tigertown, this handsome young "artist chap" hit Clemson in the Fall of '18. His natural love for music and art, however, soon overcame his military aspirations, and he straightway forsook the career of a man-of-war, purchased pallets and horns, and has ever since furiously scribbled and blown.

"Gigue" is a born musician and artist, his favorite pastimes along these lines being: sketching bob-haired beauties in strength of materials class, and playing "Bobbed Haired Babies' Ball" on his saxophone.

Seriously, we are expecting great things of "Gigue" in the architectural world.

In the Fall of '18 there came to us this diminutive fellow whom we at once christened "Billy". We can truthfully say, however, that he is small only in stature, for his intellectual ability has been proved by many E's in class work. Likewise, the size of his heart is indicated by his ability to make and keep friends.

"Billy" has taken an active part in literary work, being connected with, and having contributed to various student publications. He is also a track man, having made his letter in that branch of sport. The height of "Billy's" ambition is to revolutionize the dairy industry, and, with a continuance of the ability and perseverance shown so far, we predict a realization of his ambition.

Laurens has sent us many sons that we may well be proud of, but when "Kid" came we realized that this little city had sent us her best. Edwin says his nickname is hereditary, and it must be, for no one knows him by another name.

In his day-dreams he sees thousands of spindles that run smoothly under his super-fade, and the visions of a bungalow drift in through the smoke of his borrowed pipe.

When "Kid" starts away for his week-end leave, he hardly knows whether he will go by Calhoun or Cherries. When he finally settles down, we predict his home will be in Gray now.

"Henry", as he is best known by all, entered

"Gordon" left his native town of Honca Path in the Fall of '18, and journeyed to Clemson to answer the call for the Class of '22 to assemble. He soon became adapted to college life, and then set out to master the principles of agriculture. To say that he has accomplished this purpose would be putting it very mildly indeed.
Firm of purpose and stern of will, yet big-hearted and ever considerate of others, "Gordon" has made an enviable reputation and many friends during his college career. His outlook upon the future is bright, for he keeps ever before his eyes the coveted goal of duty well done. He selected Agricultural Education as his course, and will certainly rise to the top in that or any other profession.

Finlay came to Clemson with the Class of '21, but liked to go to reveille so well that he dropped back with the Class of '22. He is a good, all-round sport, liked by everyone who knows him. Finlay is a grand dancer and holds a high hand with the ladies. Whether the latter is due to his good dancing or good looks, we are unable to say, for he possesses both qualities.
Finlay has made a record of high standing as a member of the "gang" that chose "Swine's" so-called easy course. He achieved great military distinction during his career in the S. A. T. The fair ladies of the city of Yonges Island brushed away a tear when "John" left for the home of the "Tiger". He left with the determination to make good at Clemson, and if he succeeds as well in the world as he has done in "Tigertown," we will surely hear from him in the years to come. "Irish," as he is sometimes called, showed us his ability to swim, and though a Freshman, we found him on the Varsity Swimming Team, and in '21 and '22 we saw him piloting the "Tigers of the Water." John has been a studious worker and deserves the success that we predict will come to him some day. Here's to you, "John," "old boy," if you climb the hill of life as diligently as you climb the Hotel Hill at Clemson, your fame is assured.

During his four years here, his wit, ready smile, and unfailing good humor, have endeared him to all who have come in contact with him. His literary ability is proven by the numerous girls who fall for his line, and by the fact that he shoots "D.W." for E's. He is also somewhat of an athlete, displaying ability on both the baseball diamond and the gridiron.

"Jim" is every inch a man and a gentleman; and, as he leaves the walls of his Alma Mater, he carries with him the good wishes and good will of all.

During the early part of his sojourn among the "Tigers", "Red" found it entirely too difficult to decide just what branch of learning he wished to pursue, but after sampling every course in the curriculum, he finally settled upon Civil Engineering as his life work. It has been reported that during his four years of surveying, "Red" has used the telescope for purposes other than sighting upon the rod.

"Red" is a true sport, faithful and loyal to his many friends, and an ardent admirer of the fairer sex. His high regard for truth and honesty, together with his ready wit and smile, have won for him our high esteem.

For four long years "Bunny" has labored with the science of electricity, but he says it is all in vain. "Back to the Farm" is his favorite song.

"Tom" began life in Hawaii, but came to this country to break several long-standing records at Clemson. Without a doubt he has accomplished his purpose for he has attended reveille but once, that resulting through a mistake, and has maintained a perfect non-attendance record ever since. He seldom worries, but on one occasion he has been known to wonder whether he would get all "E's" or whether he would have one "S" in the bunch. "Tom", being a disciple of "Diekie", is a juggler of test-tubes and a specialist in search and research. He acquired the title of "Guss", for legitimate reasons, but who knows but that this lad may be known by a different system of nomenclature ere many years have passed.

Hailing from Winnsboro, "Reid" blew into "Tigertown" in the Fall of '18 with a varied career in view: namely, military, athletic, and engineering. He has accomplished the first two by being made captain in his Senior year, and by hurling the javelin unbelievable distances for two years on the track team.
The third we are sure "Reid" will realize in the near future, for he is bound to become known in the engineering world.

"Reid's" career at Clemson has proved him to be a hard-working man of great perseverence and marked native ability. He is loyal to his host of friends, and his principles of truth and honesty have won for him the

Judging from the number of letters he

The train rolled in at Cherrys,
The bells began to ring,
Now wasn't this a dainty cadet
To set before the Commandant.

Off this aforesaid train there stepped a would-be cadet, fair of complexion, with a pleasant but firm face, and appearing to have already graduated in this strenuous military training into which he was now about to step.

Not long after his arrival here, he was called into the service of his country. After a short training at Camp Taylor, he rapidly rose to the rank of Lieutenant in the U. S. Army.

Soon we see coming over the horizon, under one of John Ruskin's largest dirigibles, followed by the wearer of such a "muchness" of Sam Brown belts, hat cords, boots and spurs, as "I ever saw."

"Rastus" no longer has to worry about "Dicky" and his cohorts, and, therefore, should become a smart man very soon. In spite of the fact that "Rastus" was the whole cheese in his section for a long time, he seldom praises himself. On one notable occasion he was deprived of a brilliant military career by fate and the colonel working hand in hand, and as a result he writes "Private" on his door. He is not all militarism, however, and paints some of his incoming letters various colors to fool people. Being a chemist he naturally believes in mixing things, and that accounts for his course, since he is part "Ag" and part Chemist. After boiling down and filtering all that can be said about "Rastus", we find that with his cheery smile and sunny disposition he should make a success.

And this is "Joe", the other half of the famous "Hooligan" twins. Their amazing similarity is well illustrated by the following incident: They were at a dance, and both were "rushing" the same girl. She thought she was getting "ze grande rush" until she learned that there were two of them. "Joe" is a devoted follower of the "terpsichorean art," and no Clemson dance would be an entire success without his presence. He is the talented possessor of a fluent line, which, coupled with his "T-H" characteristics, never fails to bring results with the "fairer sex"—returned picture.

In the Fall of '18, the above distinguished gentleman, commonly called "Duke", arrived at Clemson, bag and baggage, with the avowed intention of exterminating the whole Sophomore class. "Duke" very likely would have succeeded in this, but the "Sophs" used unfair means, namely, brooms, sticks, and fire hoses. After careful consideration, "Duke" chose the transit and level as his instruments to success, and now is an ardent member of "Clarke's Engineers." Although "Duke" did not win the Norris Medal he has made a host of friends in "Tiger Town" and, as he bids farewell to Clemson for the last time, he goes out with the best wishes of every Tiger. We all hope that "Duke" will succeed, and we know he will for he is made of the sterner stuff.

Be careful! Don't mistake this lad. He is a genuine specimen of manhood and, just as anyone else, he began at the bottom and has ascended to the top. Harry came to this institution for the sole purpose of learning the mysteries of watts, amperes, and volts. To say that he has succeeded, would be putting it mildly. Because of his jovial disposition Harry has made many friends among us and you may depend on him in trouble as much as in prosperity.

There is one girls' college in this State which seems to be a layout for Harry when he is away from Tigertown, but he still contends that he is "not guilty." We know, however, there is one who thinks differently.

We feel sure that Harry will do honor to the Class of '22, and we cannot but predict a bright future for him through the highways of life.

He entered Clemson in the Fall of '18 and, although experiencing a little trouble at first, he has been more or less successful ever since. He keeps the walks between that hill and No. 1 Barracks red hot.

"Jenks" is a man of real character. He has a great regard for duty and for principle. He is every inch a man and a gentleman. A true friend to all and enemy to none are two attributes well worth attributing to him.

Jenkins has cast his lot with the Haydenites.

Congaree lost a "bright light" when "Hamp," better known as "Red," entered Clemson. Immediately upon his arrival, he began to paint the town red. Having received his electrical inspiration from the fire-flies that inhabit the jungles of Congaree, he decided to cast his lot with the electrials.

"Red" was exposed to a six-weeks' special course at the Hospital. We often see him wandering in that direction now; says he is taking special treatment. We all know what kind it is, as he often takes "her" to the movies.

Muse wandered up here from "The Garden Spot of the Carolinas" to master the intricacies of electricity. It took him two years to learn that he belonged to the Class of '22, so taking a year's vacation he returned in the Fall of 1920.

Muse has been an earnest worker, and his wonderful disposition and willingness to always help, has won him the friendship of all those who know him. During his Junior year he was disturbed by an intense fire from "Cupid's Bow." His many trips to the postoffice and his return with a bulky letter from Rock Hill always left us anxious as to whether he would continue to battle "Crip" or succumb to Cupid. Never will that fluttering noise, during the Fall of '18, be forgotten by the inhabitants of Saluda County. The cause of all the excitement was the departure of Vernon. "Si" "Hiram" "Ezra" "Perkins" came to us from the thrilling village of Lugoff. Why "Si" took mechanical engineering has been a profound mystery to us. With a name like his he could make Doc. Calhoun's Ag. Course look like a target at Camp Muldraugh in the "Are gone" days. "Perkins" became very proficient in the use of the bayonet, but finally he met his doom in an opponent who caused "Si" many sleepless nights and days of rest. "Hiram" is a hard worker and is seldom blessed with D's and F's. He has many friends and is famed for the helping hand that he has given to many. We know that "Hiram" is going to make a success in engineering although he was cut out for a farmer.
Look what Santa Claus brought us. He came in a few days after Xmas, and from first appearance it seemed as though for those few days he had been lodged in the chimney where Santa Claus had left him. But upon close observation, it was found that his much discolored face was covered with nothing more serious than common seashore freckles.

It was first thought that he was too small to create any great disturbance on the campus, but soon everyone was agreeably disappointed to find that he was a man of great ability on the gridiron and cinder path. His classmates were equally surprised at seeing the case with which he mastered his class work. We predict nothing other than success for "Speck."

Out of the wilds of Jasper County situated in the historic Coosawhatchie section of lower South Carolina, came "Hubert" in the Fall of 1918 to learn something of the outside world. "Hubert" journeyed to Clemson and undertook to increase his store of knowledge by studying agriculture, casting his lot at last with the "Crandallites."

Search the wide world over, and not a truer-hearted man will be found than "Hubert Neil." He has a quiet sympathy and a ready smile for all. By his straightforward manner, and his high regard for the principles of truth and honor, he has won the friendship and respect of all who know him.

"Jug" came to us from the thriving little city of Eastover. He joined us shortly after the gin explosion which wrecked so many lives and put Eastover on the map. He made a name for himself in the classroom and on the drill field his first year, and showed promise of the great social career that was to be his. "Jug" was never a ladies' man, but he always carried on a busy correspondence, and his friends wonder how much longer he will remain a bachelor. On the dance floor he is Terpsichore personified, the mellow strains of 'Home, Sweet Home' always finding him gracefully swaying to and fro with some fair damsels pressed close to his heart. Judging from his record at Clemson we have no doubt that he will meet with unlimited success throughout his life.

He is fond of poetry, song, and dancing; loves his friends, nature, and the beautiful, and believes in cheerfulness, courtesy, and

In the Fall of '18, "Jakie" decided to "catch a little air," so boarded the train for Clemson, where he decided to stay, because it was too much trouble to leave, and he has been a conspicuous figure about the campus ever since.

"Jakie" became interested in the twisting of strings and the tying of knots, so he decided to investigate the "lint head" profession. His activities in the class room astonished the professors, so they allowed him to finish in four years.

"Jakie" is a friend to everybody, and if the number of well-wishers could avail anything in life's work, "J-Bird" would soon be at the very top of his profession. His ready wit and perpetual good humor will be sorely missed.

It is a pleasure to characterize a man who has the admirable qualities that "Spot" has.
He is one of the few men who can make the most of life's disappointing moments and laugh in the face of rainy weather. He has had his share of rough treatment in Zobel's, Cummins', and Madison's armies, but throughout it all he has kept a smile on his face.
This speaks strongly for the pleasantness of his personality.

"Spot" is not a believer in putting forth surplus energy, but when necessity arises he is on the job.

St. Matthews is noted for turning out great men. In "Spot" she has a man who will, no doubt, strengthen this reputation, for with the start that he has, it will take an almost unsurmountable obstacle to keep him down.

"Black Jack" came to Clemson to put the finishing touches to his education. He has finally acquired an education after four years, but he has never let his studies interfere with his thirst for knowledge, etc. "Wiffenpoof," as he is sometimes called, is a very appropriate name for him and describes Rea-den exactly. "Black Jack's" versatile wit and sparkling humor is hard to down, and many a foolish cadet has found himself in a hole after an exchange with him. He is a great believer in Prohibition (of some things) and no doubt Graniteville will be as dry as the middle of the ocean when he becomes mayor. "Black Jack" fortunately has a well-trained conscience, and never does anything that would cause his conscience to rebel.
Some day we predict that "James" will show his electrical knowledge and shock the world.

"Robbie" is a man who is loyal and true to the core, and whose principles are an inspiration to all who know him. You don't meet them often: men like "Winkie." His contagious laugh and his personality attract attention from the start, and you just can't help liking him.

The lure of Mechanical Engineering attracted "Winkie" from the far-off shores of Georgetown, and he put in his appearance in the Fall of '17, determined to learn just why the wheels turn over. His four years at Clemson have been crowned with success, and he now stands on the threshold of life, fully equipped to take his place in the world of men.

As a Drum Major, "Winkie" was irresistible. "Who is the handsome lad that leads the band?" asked the ladies at parade. "Why, that's merry 'Winkie' Rosa," the Color Sergeant said.

This lad took Freshman at Auburn, but decided Clemson would be better; so he began here as a Sophomore, September, 1920. Since that time he has done much for the institution. He was successful in both class work and athletics. He was cut out for a practical business man rather than a scholar, hence his excellent class work was attained by perseverance instead of talent. “Goat” did most for his Alma Mater on the cinder paths. In ’21 he carried the Purple and Gold for first place in every 220 yard sprint in the state. This good showing with his high character won for him his captaincy in ’22.

On a bright September morning, in the Fall of '18, there was braying of asses, lowing of cattle, yelping of dogs, and everything seemed gloomy and dismal in Salley when Ned boarded the train for Auburn. He came to Clemson in his Sophomore year. During his career here, besides being a disciple of knowledge, he was one of our mainstays on the baseball team, playing center-field with the best of them. He was also there when it came to wielding the willow.

Due to the fact that he has proved a friend to many when they needed him most, Ned has many friends at Clemson. He believes in treating his buddies right.

This able captain of one of Madison's cohorts, is one of the prides of the regiment. But not military honors alone are his, for he has the added distinction of being all-Southern football manager for the past season.

Marion is one of the famous "textile" self-styled "men of fiber," but his thoughts do not center around a cotton mill, and he often dreams of the time when he and his better-half, on a plantation of their own, will raise potatoes, and chickens, 'n everything.

Then, old man, if you can't forget her, go to Spartanburg and get her, and when you get on that plantation, may you raise a record crop of potatoes, and chickens, 'n everything.
Harold came to us from the town of Walterboro during the Autumn of '18, and well has he proved to us that he is a fair representative of his "Briar-Patch." During his four years at "Tigertown," he has won the esteem and friendship of all who know him, professors and fellow students alike, by his ability in the class room, amiable disposition and nobility of character. "H.M." cast his lot with the "Aggies" when he first came and later specialized in "Bull." Judging by the length and frequency of his letters to Winthrop, we believe that he is seriously contemplating taking "Jo-Jo's" advice, and that a Clemson boy and a Winthrop girl will some day settle down on a big plantation.

This is "Shorty." "Shorty" entered Clemson with his baby carriage attached to a star, but unfortunately a link was melted, causing a break in the chain. However, when Shiver, the missing link, was found and added to the chain, he again began to prosper. "Shorty's" main issue has always been the art of smashing hearts, and he has made a most wonderful success of it. His success is due to some great hidden secret within him; however, as deep as it is hidden, it seems to be easily found by all members of the fairer sex. One of "Shorty's" talents is that of playing basketball. He has been a great help to the Tigers, and many of their victories were due to his playing.

Oliver entered Clemson in the Fall of '17, determined to learn everything possible about agriculture. He hails from Wadmalaw, that great old Sea Island on the coast of South Carolina. "Ollie" distinguishes himself every summer sailing a yacht in the annual races on the Bohicket and Edisto Rivers. At first he never cared for military life at Clemson, but after being made a corporal, his Sophomore year, he fell for everything military, and his Senior year found him a company commander.

Look! you who are interested in the character of great men. Here you see a man whose name is worthy to be inscribed in any hall of fame. "Tommie" has characteristics which, if enumerated here would make the reader forget that this is Taps '22, and imagine himself reading the biography of Theodore Roosevelt. Even Napoleon would weep with jealousy, and rage from envy if he could see "Tom" drilling "M" company—the champion company of the regiment.

After returning from France he enrolled with the Class of '22, and since then he has been one of us. He is a member of that infamous organization known to most of the people as the D. D. "Tommie," or "T.D." as he is sometimes known, was born November 24, 1901, and at the tender age of two was a very small boy. He is still small in stature, but he says trouble has caused it all, and when he finishes his college career he intends to make up for lost time. "Tommie" decided that he could best use his knowledge to discover why Electricity was so shocking and yet so hard to understand. Many a man has had his military career nipped in the bud by some misunderstanding colonel, but "T.D." has accomplished the ambition of all rats, that of becoming a "shavetail." He has had some troubles, but he doesn't write all of his letters to the folks at home or spend all of his spare moments at home. We haven't seen her, but sometimes when "Tommie" gets a letter he looks "beaucoup" pleased over something. Maybe it's from home, maybe it isn't.

It was in his Junior year that Elford became famous in the military department. And after attending Camp Knox in '21, he was made Captain of Clemson's first machine gun company.

We suppose, though, that the mayor of Blacksburg consoled himself with the thought that "T. D." would return a great engineer, and win great notoriety for the town because of his fame.

Tom, as he is sometimes affectionately called, is a quiet, unobtrusive boy, choosing to hear rather than be heard; a true friend and a good friend.

During Tom's stay at Clemson, his favorite hangout has been the laboratories. He just can't stay away, and if he pursues his work in the future as he has in the past, his success is assured. Tom sees a great work to be done, and has conscientiously prepared himself to do his part.

During his "Rathood" days, "Steve" was kept constantly on the alert, for a harder rat was never found at Clemson. Why "Steve" took the Textile course is a mystery, unless someone fooled him into the idea that it was the line of least resistance to a "dip." Nevertheless this "lint dodger" soon discovered his mistake when Horton began asking him impossible questions. All of "Steve's" time which was spent outside the Textile building was entirely devoted to writing letters to Columbia College. Not only has "Steve" been a good student in his chosen profession, but by his congenial personality and sincerity he has made a friend that is hard to find.

On the morning of September 15, 1918, Henry boarded the train at Chester with much hesitancy; he doubted very seriously if he would ever return, because he had been told that he was on his way to the "Tiger's Lair." However, in the face of all this, the desire for an education burned so within him that he determined to take a chance with the "Tigers" and, contrary to his expectations, he became a loyal "Tiger" himself—a "Tiger" and all that implies. Henry has a great big heart and is a very close friend to all who know him. From a casual glance, you would surmise that Henry's heart was immune to Cupid's darts, but there is someone who knows better than this. As soon as John became a member of the Tiger Clan, he decided to become a Military Genius to rival "Mike," Napoleon, and Oberg. By perseverance and tenacity he became a Major in Colonel's army. While yet a small boy he also decided to become a Civil Engineer, and naturally he found himself taking Civil in his Senior year, with a sheepskin in sight. John never let his business interfere with his correspondence, however, and that accounts for some varied colors and shapes of envelopes he has been known to receive. It looks as if in the near future John might succumb to the old belief that two can live more cheaply than one.

Truly, our neighboring "cracker" State never produced a nobler specimen of manhood than Frank. He is honest, true and a loyal friend, all of which qualities go to make up his greatest asset, character.

We do not predict that Frank will ever make millions in the financial world. Instead, his primary objectives in life are knowledge, honor and friendship, and the realization of these alone will bring him contentment.

Frank, with such traits and qualities as he has, makes us feel confident of his success.

"Tom" or "T" began his career in Atlanta but since then has hung up his hat in Columbia, New Orleans, Washington, and Savannah. He came to Clemson to make life easier for all concerned. "Tom" very likely would have been president of the Clean Sleeves Club but alas! alas! he had one blot on his promising military career. "Mike" decided that the best way to keep "Tom" from beating out too much was to make him a top sergeant. His military career hit a brick wall in "Mat" and now he has "Private" on his door. "T," a disciple of "Dickie," very likely will become president of some girls' college and live happily ever after. We wish him success.

When "Tommie" had spent two years in the Navy serving his country, and was no longer needed, he decided to make Clemson his home for the next four years. Tommie is a good natured boy as shown by his ever smiling face. He is also a stickler as shown by the fact that he made the scrub football team for four years and did not quit because he could not make Varsity. If Tommie is as successful in business—and we are sure he will be—as he is in winning the hearts of the fair sex, he will never have to worry about failure. His high code of honor and his sterling character make him a man to be desired as a partner by anyone.
Let come what may and I will do my best.

To this little blue-eyed, black-haired boy goes the honor of being the "shining light" of the "Electric City." For four long years Job has been spreading his habit of happiness and friendship among us. He is always there with a smile of satisfaction and a word of good cheer. There is no such thing as a dull moment in his life. Job's worst habits are going to the P. O. daily and to Anderson weekly. Some day we hope to see him safely settled in a little bungalow for two.

Upon entering Clemson, Job cast his lot with the "Electricals" and there he has remained. No force is so great in any man as the stored up power of what he has been doing every day, and because of this fact we predict unlimited success for Job in whatever he may choose as a life work.

He has pursued four years of Chemistry, and has won the high esteem of his professors and classmates. We all hate to part with such a friend, but we know he will fill an important place in the industrial world. He has won many lady friends on the dance floor where he has shown much talent. Bill, we hate to part with you, but there is one who we hope will like you as much as we have. Here's hoping she will like you enough to be your life companion. We wish you great success and happiness.

The sunny little seashore village of Rockville was startled when "Towny" announced his decision of going to Clemson. His determination was to master the "Ag" course, and especially that branch known as Horticulture.

As a scholar this lad has been so fortunate as to grasp the difficulties of the classroom with astonishing rapidity. That he loves his friends more and military honors less has been forcibly demonstrated since his Freshman year. As a basketball admirer, there are few who love the game as much as "Towny," and his ability to play is increased by his tall stature. The ease in which he glides over the dance floor is admired by many girls, and makes of him an ardent friend of the fair sex.

Forth from the woods of lower South Carolina came Denver in the Fall of '18 for the purpose of increasing his Agricultural knowledge. "Denver," better known as "David," comes from Orangeburg County. He has no military aspirations, but he hopes to return to his native soil and make "two blades of grass grow where only one grew before." He, therefore cultivated the friendship of Blackwell.

Denver has secured for himself a permanent place in the hearts of those who know him by always being ready to lend a helping hand.

We predict for him an early marriage and vast acres of grass.

Let us introduce a real "Tiger:" "Bull" hails from the little town of Windsor, coming to us in the fall of '18. After serving four years at hard labor he has completed his sentence at Sing Sing on the Seneca, and thinks that he should be paroled.

This young lad has chosen Electrical Engineering as his life work, and we believe his choice has been a wise one, as his is no mean ability.

"Bull" is also fond of the fair sex, and quite frequently we hear him speak of his "Mrs.-to-be" little girl. He dreams of being a leading engineer and says that a better half is necessary for this.

His loyalty and generous disposition have won for him a host of friends at Clemson. May she be honored by more like him.

Just four years ago a man destined to excite no little public sentiment in this world sprang up from the wilds of Newberry County to enter Clemson as a "Rat." "Dew Drop" did not know what course to pursue, but upon careful consideration he decided that he would like to be one of "Hobo's" disciples; so he took Civil. "Dew Drop" has made an enviable record at Clemson; low grades being an unknown quantity to him. "Dew Drop"'s chief characteristic is: he likes all the girls (especially one from Abbeville). Many fair damsels have found their hearts susceptible to the dominating influence of his "Sunday night line." By his congenial, polite nature he has won the love, respect, and admiration of the entire corps.

Nat came to Clemson in the Fall of ’18 with the determination to make the world safe for Democracy. The Kaiser, on hearing this, called it a day, so Nat decided to be content with acquiring a sheepskin. Nat is a product of Laurens, and we have every reason to believe that Laurens is proud of him. Nat decided to take that “shocking” study, Electrical Engineering, so he is by now an embryo Steinmetz. His friends for a while wondered why he displayed such “tear-houndish” characteristics, but have long since discovered that he displayed his shining locks to the best advantage at Greenwood, from which city he receives a bulky letter every day. Although Nat has never coveted military honors, he has been awarded a Lieutenantcy on general principles. He is an efficient officer, especially at reveille.

A living testimony to the veracity of Darwin’s theory of evolution, but with the time element cut to a minimum of four years. “Galli,” a name that became attached to him by virtue of his voice, came to join the Class of ’22 from Greenwood, and, to say the least, he was as green as they ever get to be. But now, to see “Galli,” you would recognize a real man—warm-hearted, optimistic, jovial, firm of purpose, upright, and loyal to all that is right.

This prominent member of the Class of ’22 has the rank of "Queen," and is universally known by this name. His name, however, does not indicate any effeminate weaknesses in his character, for his characteristics are rather those of a king. For "Queen" has shown himself to be, in more ways than one, a man. He has always stood for that which is right, and always upheld his high ideals. "Queen" may not be a brilliant genius in all lines of work, but he has a strong will and a persistent nature which enables him to achieve success.

Judging his future from his past, Sumter county has much in store by being the possessor of such an energetic agriculturist. In our mind’s eyes, we see him ten years from now in a mansion on his up-to-date farm living the life of a devoted husband with the "Girl of his dreams."

Quiet, unassuming this lad came to Tiger-town to study agriculture. His specialty is dairying. He has, during his stay at Clemson, acquired a rare collection of friends.

He has proved himself quite a judge of livestock, having been called upon several times to tie the ribbons at some of the county fairs.

He entertains the respect of his fellow students, the faculty, and, we dare say, the affections of a sweet little girl. We therefore predict for him success which a character so deserving is sure to win.

Woodside journeyed from the little city of Laurens to Clemson in the Fall of '18 with his heart set upon solving the difficult problem of becoming an electrical engineer. He later changed his abode from Laurens to Greenville, and is now a representative of that city. In his upward climb of the pathway leading to the Senior class, "Woodsie" has made many friends, all of whom will remember him as an earnest, honest, and true worker. Like one of old, he is so persistent in his arguments and so sound in his belief that though vanquished he can argue still. He is always ready to meet the hardest of obstacles, and is capable of removing them from his path to future success. "Woodsie" is not considered as a ladies' man, but it is rumored that the model home of Winthrop holds quite a charm for him. We predict that with his ability, and self reliance he will achieve great success in life.

As an athlete, he is one of the few who have won the distinction of a Block "C" during his Freshman year as a leader his honors prove his ability; as a lover he is unsurpassed (ask Elinor), throughout it all he is a man.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION
Private.

Bogard lived up to the reputation of the "Arkansas Traveler" when in the Fall of '15, he journeyed from Arkansas to Clemson to put the finishing touches to his education. He occupied the unique position of a "Senior Rat" with the Class of '16 for only a part of the year. He then returned to Arkansas where he taught in the public schools for four years, before deciding to come back and graduate with the Class of '22.

Bogard is a quiet, honest, sincere man who puts his whole heart into anything he undertakes. He is older than most of us, and has had much more experience, but his ability to make and hold friends, together with the zest with which he has entered into student life, has proved him to be a regular fellow. He has selected Agricultural Education as his course, because he sees a great work to be done in this field. His past success in teaching is only an indication of his future achievements.
Senior Class History

ONE step more has Clemson taken in her effort to fulfill the great purpose for which she was founded—by sending out from her walls a class of graduated men, fully equipped to meet the issues of life. This time it is the Class of '22 which has stood the test of four years and proved good.

Few classes, if any, have gone out from Clemson leaving behind a history so full of unprecedented events as has the Class of '22. Each year of the four that we have spent at Clemson has been marked by some event of great importance, the like of which had never come to a class before. In dealing with these events, the Class of '22 has conducted itself, as a unit, in a manner that has won approbation from all sides. Strong leaders have been developed among its personnel, and small has been the number of incompetent and delinquent members to fall by the wayside.

The Class of '22 came to Clemson at a time when the Institution was not a college. War was the paramount issue before our nation when the "Rats" arrived in the Fall of '18, and Clemson was turned temporarily into a training camp for soldiers to fight for "Uncle Sam" in the great World War. However, after we had endured three months of the rigid military of the S. A. T. C. and "Kindergarten," the World War came to an end, and normalacy was again restored within the walls of our Alma Mater.

We returned to Clemson as Sophomores in the Fall of '19, and, needless to say, we came with all the distinguishing characteristics of men of that Class. During that year, our men won fame for the Class of '22 in the classrooms and in all of college activities. Particularly on the baseball diamond were we represented by having six members of the class on the varsity team.

Later during our Sophomore year, conditions which were very unsatisfactory arose within the college. These conditions grew and multiplied until they were deemed unbearable. Then, in an effort to alleviate matters, the Sophomore and Freshman classes, with the approval of the Juniors and Seniors, expressed their dissatisfaction by "walking out." This step met with both approval and censure from the college community and from the general public. And, while the propriety of the move is still questioned by some, it is an undeniable fact, quite evident in the college life at Clemson today, that much good was wrought as a result. We are glad now to say that both the students and college authorities have shown the true spirit of cooperation in bringing about better mutual understanding and harmony throughout the Institution.
In due time we put the Sophomore milestone behind us and reached the bourn of Junior. This year was characterized by more diligent, hard work, and earnestness of purpose on our part than had before been the case. During this year Clemson attained the long-coveted and worked-for honor of being classed as a distinguished Military College. And, while no degree of egotism on our part would cause us to claim the responsibility for this honor, it stands as a fact that we contributed our proportionate share toward its winning.

Then at last our dreams materialized. We came into our own as Seniors, and were honored by having more privileges and authority bestowed upon us than had ever before been the lot of a Senior class. Many changes for the better were brought about by the college authorities, they using the Senior class as instruments of execution. These changes, we hope, will become customs, upheld with conscientious effort and care by future classes for the benefit of both the college and themselves.

Now, we have put the four years of college life behind us, and are stepping over the threshold of a new life filled with wondrous possibilities. Let us remember, men of '22, that wherever we go and whatever we do, we must remain true Clemson men, and bear the standard of "Tigerism" out into the world for the glory and honor of our Alma Mater. Time, the ever-considerate, will blot from our minds the remembrances of the disappointments and hardships of the past four years, and leave only the clear-cut and lasting memories of the joys of achievement and the eternal brotherhood of Clemson men.

One Hundred Thirteen
Junior Class History

ONE more year, the most important of all, and the Class of '23 will be unleashed—each member prepared to take his place in the world—each member striving for the betterment of mankind and civilization.

For the benefit of those who are not so fortunate as to know us, I have consulted the animal book and shall attempt to classify the members of the class before I tell of our achievements. I discover the likeness of some of us inhabiting the zoos; others are roaming unknown in the jungles of man; but by far the greater number bearing a close resemblance to our long-eared friend of the barnyard.

Whatever the class has been called upon to do, it has tackled with a spirit that knows not the meaning of defeat. Though many are our accomplishments and few our failures, we consider the best characteristic of the class the fact that it sticks together. During those memorable days of March, 1920, the sticking power of the class was tested to the limit, and the class stood the test.

On the gridiron, the Class of '23 has attained especial distinction. Our Freshman team was considered the best in the South, and last year, we easily won the class championship. This season, four '23 men were awarded the coveted "Block C", and next year's Varsity will be made up largely of '23 men. In track, basketball, baseball, tennis, and swimming, the Class of '23 has contributed its share of men to make the Tiger's roar louder and fiercer.

Our years at Clemson have been spent during a period when athletics was at a low ebb. We are proud, however, to be here during the birth of the new Tiger spirit, for in future years, when Clemson teams sweep to victory in the good old Tiger fashion, we can appreciate the true meaning of "Tigerism."

Soon after the arrival of one hundred and seventy-five newly made Sophomores at Tigertown in the Fall of '21, an alumnus or any other person acquainted with the traditions of Clemson would have surmised from the actions of the "new boys" that the second-year men were not all unfamiliar with the tricks of their trade. For instance, they renewed the nine months intensive course in Domestic Science ("rats" only were allowed to star) and directed certain luckless students to the office of Madison & Company to purchase "reveille tickets" for the extremely low price of only five extras. But within a week or two from the beginning, restrictions were placed upon the so-called Sophomore privileges and the "wise fools" discovered that they could no longer initiate even the most aspiring Freshman into the proverbial customs of college life: whereupon in a very sudden and remarkable manner, they lost their "ambition"—but that is a page from another history.

It is sad but true that the Class of '24 could donate only a few athletes to its Alma Mater; but these few have proved their ability on more than one occasion. In fact, it was a member of this class who (on the gridiron in Atlanta) achieved the distinction of being the first Clemson man to cross Georgia "Tech's" goal since 1914. And others, too, although they have not been quite so successful, have striven equally as hard to replace Clemson where she properly belongs—among the leading colleges of the South.

And now at last the time has arrived for the present followers of the wise old owl to pass off the stage with their hard-earned diplomas in their hands. And when they do that, the Sophomores will be ready to step one round nearer the top of the ladder and toward their own diplomas which will be awarded on that final June day in '24.

One Hundred Nineteen
Freshman Class History

On September the fourteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty-one, a great cloud of dust was seen near the Main Building. When the dust had settled, there appeared three hundred and thirty-eight fellows, afterwards known as "Rat Newboys." We ranged in size from ninety-four to two hundred and sixty-four pounds, and from four feet seven to six feet three and three-fourths inches in height.

After matriculating, we were shown to our rooms which were to be our homes for the next nine months. During the first few weeks of our stay here we had many visitors, most of whom were Sophomores. The only requirement made of us was that we remember each fellow's name and face. Those names which we forgot were "impressed" on us in a never-to-be-forgotten way. All of us are still whole, though, and as happy as any "rats" could be.

This class will be especially remembered in the history of Clemson because it introduced or rather re-instated the Honor System. For nearly ten years, class after class had discussed the honor system, but somehow failed to re-establish it. The Freshman Class is proud of the fact that it has re-established the honor system at Clemson and hopes that every succeeding class will follow its example.

This class will also be remembered for the part it took in athletics. No other class ever played so conspicuous a part in football and basketball as did the class of '25. The Freshman did great work in track and in baseball.

No other Freshman Class at Clemson has ever been so large as ours, and we sincerely trust that, during its four years' sojourn at Tigertown it will lose none of its members, continuing always to do its utmost toward the "Greater Clemson" movement. We are ready to assume the responsibilities which will accompany our career in the upper classes and look forward to having greater opportunities of serving our Alma Mater.

T.W. Morgan Historian

One Hundred Eighty-six
History Athletics

It has been said, "A people who forget the deeds of their remote ancestors will achieve nothing worthy to be remembered with pride by their remote descendants." For this reason, if for no other, it is fitting that we as true Clemson men and loyal Tigers pause and gaze with retrospect over the comparatively short, but important and eventful history of Clemson's athletics.

Though a comparatively young college, Clemson has sent the roar of the Tiger throughout the Southland. Since the first football team was organized in 1896, the Tigers have, by putting out clean-playing, winning teams, been steadily and surely—though sometimes slowly—climbing to the top of the ladder of success in Southern Intercollegiate Athletics.

This first football team did not have a gridiron upon which to practice. However, that proved no obstacle for the plucky Tigers. They did their first practicing on the small parade ground in front of barracks, and as classes continued until six o'clock in the afternoon then, they did much of it by electric lights after night had fallen.

The first game of Clemson's first season was played with Furman in Greenville on October 28, 1896. The Tigers marked their initial appearance by defeating the Baptists to the extent of 14 to 6. Later in the season, at the State Fair, the Tigers lost to Carolina by a score of 12 to 6. The third and last game of the season was played with Wofford at Spartanburg, the Tigers winning this with a score of 19 to 4.

Coach Heisman came to Clemson in the year 1900, and during that year, the football team won all of the six games it played. This success continued until 1903, at the end of which year, Clemson laid just claim to the S. I. A. A. football championship.

Though football is probably the most important, other forms of athletics have grown up and flourished at Clemson, and have done their part toward the building of a name for the mighty Tiger. Baseball, basketball, tennis, and track, all have contributed to this end, and are growing in popularity and support with the passing of each year.

The Tigers, under the able coaching of "Doc" Stewart, have recently finished their twenty-sixth year of football. During those twenty-six years which have passed, Clemson's teams have known the joys of victory and the disappointments of defeat; but, always, they have "Played the game," and have met the results, whether success or failure, with the attitude of true sportsmen. They have borne the standard of the "Purple and Gold" high for the glory of Clemson. May the teams which will represent Clemson in the future, "Carry on."
ED SHAW

"Doc" Stewart selected as his right-hand man this husky young man, Ed Shaw, from the State of Nebraska having formerly worked under Coach Stewart at the University of Nebraska. He played stellar football for Nebraska in '15, '16, and '17, the latter year being Captain of the team. In '16 and '17 Shaw made the enviable record of being selected as All-Western tackle. With this wide experience on the gridiron Shaw proved to be of most valuable aid in whipping the young Tigers into shape last fall. Shaw's pleasant disposition and friendly ways won for him the friendship and respect of every Clemson man especially the football squad. Here's hoping that he will be back again next fall to help produce an All-Southern Tiger team.

STUMPY BANKS

Stumpy is one of the loyal Tiger men who came back last fall to do what he could to help "Doc" Stewart put out a winning football team. Stumpy is known the whole country over for his past athletic record at Clemson. He wasn't satisfied to quit Tigertown just because he wasn't eligible to carry the pig-skin himself, but he was determined to come back and teach somebody else how to do it. Stumpy rendered some valuable aid in helping to round the squad into form last fall. As a parting word we must say that he is among Clemson's most loyal alumni.

FRANK JERVEY

Frank finished Clemson with the class of '14, and when we look back over the history of his school days at Tigertown we find that he was a loyal Tiger from the beginning to the end. During the years that elapsed since that time we find that Frank's interest in athletics at Clemson haven't lessened one bit, and as a result Frank was on the job last fall when practice began; neither trying for a place on the team nor to coach, but to do everything in his power to help put out a winning team. Frank was a true friend to every man on the squad and it is the sentiment of the entire squad and every Clemson Alumnus that we express our appreciation for the valuable service he rendered.

JOHN SPEARMAN

Captain

When John finished school last June he had no idea that he would ever play football again, but when last September rolled around he couldn’t resist the Tiger’s call for football men. To mention the honors that this boy has won on the gridiron would require unlimited space. The past season was his fourth year of varsity football, and during that time he has won fame both for himself and his school. Without doubt John truly deserves the honor of being Captain of the team the past season. We wish John as much luck in life as he has had in football.

"G" GILMER

It happens to be the pleasant task of the present editors to give "G" his final send off. It is impossible in this short space to say all the merited things that should be said of him. To say the least, he was one of the "Tiger'' mainstays. He never lacked in drive and "pep." This is proven by the fact that he held a position on the varsity squad for four years. During that time he had strong competition and played against many good men, but always came out the winner. We wish him as great a career in life as he had on the gridiron.

"RED" GETTYS

The old saying that, "Where there’s a will there’s away," is proved out in "Red’s" football career. To look at him no one would call him a football player, but ask any center in the South who has played against "Red" if he doesn’t know him as a terror at the pivot position. "Red" has rightfully been called the "Pep" man of the squad, because he never becomes discouraged. It will be almost impossible to find a man who can fill this position equally as well as "Red" filled it.

"PINKIE" COLBERT

There was much anxiety on the part of both coaches and the squad when it was rumored that "Pinkie" wasn’t coming back last fall. But "Pinkie" did arrive in time, and there was much rejoicing in the Tiger camp. It is needless to say that this loyal Tiger has gained untold honors, both for himself and his Alma Mater, on the gridiron. Here’s hoping that "Pinkie’s" success in life will be still greater than that attained while at Clemson. With the best of luck to you, "Pinkie."
EMMETT EMANUEL
Captain-Elect

Emmett came to Tigertown three years ago, having formerly been a star on the Carlisle Fitting School football team. During the past two seasons, Emmett has played different positions in the Tiger backfield, and at any position he plays an enviable game of football, however, his favorite is halfback. When we consider the fact that Emmett is the most cool headed man on the team and has great ability as a leader, we feel assured that he will lead next year’s team to many a successful victory.

“DICK” SWEETENBERG

For three long years this lad worked hard on the Tiger’s second team, but you can’t down a man with grit, and determination; therefore this past season we found Dick on the Varsity playing a star halfback. He also played the end position in fine style. The man has never played football who could tackle harder than Dick. This being Dick’s last year with the Tigers, we know that the position he leaves will be hard to fill next year.

“RUSTY” WILHITE

Playing semi-Varsity last season, “Rusty,” showed up as a piece of real football material. Returning to Clemson this year with the determination to play Varsity, he was soon running regular at fullback. At this position “Rusty” proved to be both a hard line plunger and a deadly tackler. “Rusty” played the entire season without taking time out. This goes to show that he is just as hard as his name indicates. The Tigers lose “Rusty” this year, and a bigger loss could not come to the team. Farewell. “Rusty,” best o’ luck to you.

“BULL” DEAN

“Bull” is one of the old men who came back last fall to do their last bit on the gridiron for their Alma Mater. “Bull” played some hard, earnest football this season, and deserves an abundance of credit for sacrificing valuable time in order to come back and help the Tigers out on the gridiron. May “Bull’s determination to make good in life be as great as that to make good on the gridiron.
"BOO" ARMSTRONG

It has always been said that a red headed man makes a success in everything he goes into. "Tis truly so with "Boo," whose fighting qualities seem to be second nature with him. Although "Boo" didn't go out for football until his Junior year, he then played aggressive scrub ball. At the beginning of his Senior year, with great determination for big things, he reported for early practice. As a result, "Boo" found a crowning laurel on the Varsity eleven as a tackle. "Boo" is known for his never-dying spirit which carries with it fight from beginning to end.

"TOM" BAILES

"Tom" began his football career on the "Rat" team as a tackle. During his Sophomore year he played some real football and made substitute Varsity. His Junior year having been rewarded by his unending efforts found "Tom" a permanent birth on the Varsity eleven, being one of the hardest hitting tackles in the game. The past season he played still better ball, on the offensive he made wagon roads, while on the defensive his tackling was unexcelled. "Tom," the Tigers will miss you next season, but we wish for you as much success in life as you have won on the gridiron.

"BULL" WRAY

"Bull" began playing football while a "rat", and for two seasons he fought hard with the scrubs. The past season found "Bull" holding down a wing position on the Varsity squad. When it comes to tackling hard, this lad is unsurpassed. Towards the latter part of the season, "Bull" developed into a sure passer of the pigskin. We can see no way out of it but that "Bull" is to be the premier passer on the greatest eleven in the South next year.

GEORGE CANN

If there is such a thing as anyone "loving" to play football, we must surely give George credit for this, because there's not a man on the team that likes to play a fighting game of football better than he does. George played his second year of Varsity ball this season. He received injuries during the early part of the season which kept him from being recorded as one of the best tacklers in the State. Having another year of football with the Tigers, we are sure that George will wreak vengeance on many an opponent next fall.
FRANCIS ZEIGLER
This year was Zeigler’s third year with the Tigers, but his first crack at Varsity. "Zeig" played the old fullback position as very few men have played it. His playing in the Centre game was superb; plunging the "Colonel’s" line for five to ten yards on each play. Zeigler is an earnest worker at all times; he plunges the line, tackles hard, and is always a fighter. With another year to play for the Tigers "Zeig" should develop into a fullback of all-Southern style.

"RABBIT" THORTON
After having been away from Tigertown for several years, "Rabbit" decided last fall to come back and help Clemson rise to a higher plane in athletics. "Rabbit" didn’t get to take a part in all the scraps of the past season, but he was always on the job and never missed a chance to fill a position in the backfield, or to hold down the wing position. We believe "Rabbit" when he says that the man who plays his position on the eleven of ’22 will be a "darn" good man.

"RED" WILLIAMS
"Red" is a product of Washington, D. C., and judging from this, we can see that he has a great interest in Tigertown and especially in athletic activities. This season was "Red’s" first crack at regular Varsity, and he has the distinction of being one of the men that can play any position in the backfield. "Red" will be back again next year and with that old "fire" and "punch" which he always has, we predict for him many gridiron honors next fall.

GRADY WADE
Grady claims to be the most unlucky football man that ever donned a Clemson uniform. It was just before the Centre game that Grady received injuries which kept him out of a large portion of the games. Handicapped by all of this Grady never gave up until the Tech game in which he received injuries keeping him out for the rest of the season. Being one of the fastest men on the team and with his ability to drive the line, Grady should do wonders at the halfback position next fall.

One Hundred Ninety-five
"CHARLIE" BURTON
This past season was "Charlie's" second year with the Tigers, having played on the "Rat" team last year. Everyone that saw this lad perform on the Freshman team, predicted for him a bright future in Tiger football. Sure enough, "Charlie" did make Varsity last fall and made for himself a record which any Southern halfback should be proud of. It was in the Tech-Clemson game that "Charlie" covered himself with glory, by being the first and only Southern football man to cross "Tech's" goal line's last season.

ROBINSON
This past season was "Robbie's" first year of football with the "Tigers." He comes to us from Winnsboro, bringing with him a brilliant record of several years of High School football. "Robbie" is one of the most promising men that coach has for the backfield next year. His broken field running is excellent and this combined with his speed should easily land him a birth on the team next year.

"BRUTUS" WEBB
"Brutus" is another one of our Varsity "rat" men. "Brutus" was formerly a star on the Columbia High School team. During the first part of the season, Webb tried out for the backfield, but "Doc" Stewart saw great possibilities in this young kid as a sure passer of the pig-skin. Along towards the last part of the season, Brutus proved to be the best pivot man on the team. We are expecting three more years of gridiron success for you, "Brutus."

"BUTCH" HOLLOHAN
"Butch" ceased to roam during the Summer of '21, and decided to call his lot with the Tigers. He has played real football during his wanderings, which is shown by his cool judgment at all times. "Butch" has the distinction of being one of the few "rats" who made Varsity this year. He will be with us three more years and during that time we are sure the football world will hear from "Butch."

"RED" WILSON
This sorrel-top giant comes to us from the town of Honea Path. Little did the worthy people of that town realize that this illustrious son would perform on the gridiron in such a manner as to gain many honors both for himself and his Alma Mater. "Red" played six years of football on the Honea Path High School team prior to his entrance to Tigertown. Wilson played a smashing tackle last fall and with the past experience and good coaching in the future, we expect to see Wilson develop into one of the greatest tackles of the game.
"PAT" HARMON

"Pat" comes to Clemson from Columbia High School, and it was on the Columbia High School team that "Pat" made a reputation for himself as a football player. It is very seldom that a freshman makes a birth on the Tiger squad, but this young Tiger showed that he has the old fight and ginger, and so when the opportunity came he didn't pass it up. "Pat," you have many opportunities on the gridiron, and we are expecting much from you.

FINKLEA

It was at Wofford Fitting School that this lad received his first lessons in football. He was one of the Mainstays of the Fitting School team last year, and it was with the old determination to make good in football that he journeyed to Tiger-town last September. Finklea is just as tough as they make 'em, and he likes to play a scrapping game of football. We are expecting some big things from you during the next four years, Finklea, old boy.

JACKSON

"Jack" is another of the new men who answered the Tiger's call for football men on last September. Although he knew very little about the game, this young giant showed the willingness to learn, and by the end of the season, was playing some real football at guard. "Jack" took part in a few of the scraps last fall, and we feel sure that next year will find him playing all-Southern style at guard.

SHOCKLEY

When the first call for football men was sounded from Riggs field in September, Schockley was right there to represent, Walhalla. Although football was a new game to him, his determination and willingness to learn soon attracted the attention of the coaches. Schockley has a mountain of strength and the willingness to use it. He is one of the ablest candidates for the line next fall.

MARION SAMS

Manager

There is not an office in College Athletics that requires as much work and gets so little honor as that of football manager. Marion filled his position last fall as very few men are able to do. His only thought was for the team's comfort, and by his unending efforts their every want was fulfilled. It is a certain fact that we can't attribute a team's success to its manager, or the Tigers would have been the Champions of the South last fall. Here is hoping you much success in life, Marion.

One Hundred Ninety-seven
The 1921 Football Season

From the standpoint of actual points scored Clemson's past football season has not been a spectacular success. However, in many ways the season has been far from a failure. As a stimulant for the old-time Tiger pep and spirit, it has never been surpassed. And in the recruiting team which represented Clemson on the gridiron in the Fall of '21, there lies the nucleus of a championship team; one which will within the next two years put Clemson back in her old place at the top of Southern intercollegiate football.

The credit for building a team out of raw material goes to Coach "Doc" Stewart, Assistant Coach "Ed" Shaw, and several loyal alumni who came back to do their bit for their Alma Mater by helping develop a winning football team to represent Clemson. Starting with last year's spring practice, Coach Stewart proved to the Tigers that he was as determined as they that Clemson should have a winning team, and ere long that determination will become a reality.

The first game of the season was played with Centre College on October 1st. That game was probably the best of the season from the Tigers' standpoint. The "Colonels" admitted that they were lucky in coming off the field with a 14-0 victory.

Then, on October 7th, the P. C. outfit breezed into Clemson, but the Tigers, determined to even up for the tie of last year, soon wafted the Blue Stockings out again with the small end of a 3-0 score.

On October 14th, the Tiger team traveled down to Auburn, where they went down under the superior weight and condition of the Plainsmen to the score of 50-0.

"On to Furman," was then the Tiger roar, and October 21st witnessed in Greenville one of the most bitterly contested gridiron battles of the season. When the final whistle blew, neither the Tigers nor the Purple Hurricane had scored a point.

On October 27th, with only three days rest after the Furman game, the Tigers went to Columbia and engaged with their old rival, Carolina. The Gamecocks were prepared and deserve full credit for their 21-0 victory.

The next fracas occurred with the Golden Tornado in Atlanta. Tech romped on the Tiger material to the extent of 48-7. However, to the Clemson team goes the credit of being the first Southern team to cross Tech's goal line that season.

The Citadel Bulldogs were next on the Tiger's calendar. The game came off in Orangeburg on November 10th, and the final count showed a 7-7 tie.

Then, on November 18th, Erskine came to Clemson, and after a terrific battle, departed with a 13-0 victory.

The last game of the season was played with Georgia at Athens on Thanksgiving day. The Georgia Bulldogs, one of the strongest outfits in the South, made away with a 28-0 victory.

These results do not speak of a great success for the Tiger team during the 1921 season. However, much that is not so evident as scores has been accomplished. The makings of a great football team are now at Clemson, and the Tiger spirit and determination will not fail to put out that team—and before long, too.

One Hundred Ninety-nine
WADE WOODWARD, 2nd Base
Captain

"Woody" has been tramping around the keystone sack for three years, his fourth year he was shifted to short stop. This past season makes "Woody's" fourth year on the varsity nine, having played varsity ball his first year. And during this time Wade has won many honors for himself on the diamond. During his third year he was Field Captain of the team, and the past season he was elected to lead the Tigers, and there is no doubt that the team made a wise choice.

It was not until last year that the Coach found "Runt," but when he did find him he found one of the best hitters that ever donned a Tiger uniform. "Runt" has played two years in "left garden" and during that time has been a bad man with the stick as well as a sure fielder. We wish this lad as great a success in life as he has had on the diamond.

SALLEY, Center Field

"Ned" came to us as a Sophomore, and it did not take us long to find out that he had played ball in his own back yard, before coming to Tigertown. "Ned" has played in "center garden" for three years and during this time has made a name for himself in the baseball world. It is impossible in this short space to speak of all the merits this lad has won for himself on the diamond.

BOONE, 1st Base

In this tall lad we have one of the best initial suckers in the country. "Daniel" has held the first sack for Clemson for two years and in this time he has performed his task well. If you do not believe Daniel has a cannon ball arm just ask any member of the infield.

DAVIS, Pitcher

This is our only southpaw, and in this lad we have one of the best little hurlers in these parts. "Lefty" has two more years to toss the pill for the Tigers, and in this time he should show his opponents some great stuff.
RICHARDS, 2nd Base

"Dick" was called upon the latter part of last season to handle second, and the call was not in vain. This lad showed us that Eddie Collins was not the only second baseman. In Dick we have a sure fielder and a good hitter, he always manages to get the needed single. Dick has two more years in which to make honors for himself on the diamond and we are looking to him to do it.

STEPHENSON, Catcher

Here is a true "Tiger." Steve is a fighter from the time the first man comes to bat until the last one is out in the ninth inning. Last season was Steve's first year at the receivers end of the diamond, but the two years which he has left to perform for Tigertown will surely bring him every honor one could wish.

BOOZER, Pitcher

"Boozer" has hurled the old pill for three long years, and during this time he has gained many honors for himself. Boozer is one of the best hurlers that has ever donned a "Tiger" uniform and when he takes the mound out in the baseball world, we are looking forward to see some big league scout grab him.

SWEETENBURG, Pitcher

It is impossible in this space to say all the meritorious things that should be said of this lad. Dick won his fame when he defeated North Carolina State in a 1 to 0, thirteen inning game, last season. We are looking for Dick to set them down in the one, two, three, order this season.

Basketball History

The Tigers began the basketball season of '22 with a bantam-weight, inexperienced team. Only one block-letter man of the '21 season was back on the job, and it was up to Coach "Doc" Stewart to build from raw material a quintet to represent Clemson between the baskets.

This he did, and in grand style. While the team did not make a clean sweep of the South, or even of the State, it bagged a fair share of the games of the season, and showed wonderful possibilities for next season's five.

The first game of the season came on Jan. 7th, when the strong Greenville Y. M. C. A. outfit came to Clemson and took a 35-31 victory.

The Tiger quintet then made its maiden voyage of the season. They traveled over to Spartanburg for a game with the Y. M. C. A. team there, losing at the rate of 34-11.

The Georgia Bulldogs were the next to take the Tigers on. That outfit came to Clemson and left with the large end of a 24-16 game.

About this time, the Tigers saw that something had to be done in the way of winning games. Therefore, they went over to Greenville and retaliated with the Y. M. C. A. team for the first game of the season, defeating them to the extent of 24-18.

The Tiger quintet then made a flying trip through Georgia and Alabama, losing three games before it was over. Mercer eased off with the first to the tune of 32-9 in a game at Macon; Camp Benning took the second with a score of 38-14 in a fast game at Columbus; and Auburn took the third at the rate of 32-10, in a game at Auburn.

The next outfit to tackle the Tiger in his lair was the fast Furman five. They went back home leaving us damaged to the extent of 27-17.

The Tigers then left for a down-State trip, swamping P. C. at Clinton, 20-17; College of Charleston at Charleston, 30-10; and losing to Citadel at Charleston, 20-8.

A few days later, in a game on the Greenville court, Furman came back at the Tigers with a score of 45-20.

The Clemson cages' next move was to Kentucky. While there, they won from Georgetown College by a count of 34-28, and lost to Centre, 44-24, and to Kentucky State, 38-14.

Soon after their return from Kentucky, the Tigers met the Piedmont College five from Georgia on the home court. They sent that aggregation back to the "Craicer State" with the smallest end of a 21-12 score.

Then, on Feb. 20th, Clemson added another victory to her growing list by defeating the speedy College of Charleston five for the second time during the season. This time the count was 35-8.

The Citadel five followed the Charleston gang to Clemson, and in what was probably the hardest-fought game of the season on the home court, met with the same fate to the close count of 20-10.

Then, the Tiger quintet rambled down to Atlanta for the S. I. A. A. tournament, where it met defeat at the hands of Tulane in a 31-10 game.

The Tigers closed the season with a game with P. C. on the home court. Making good use of this last chance, they walloped the visitors in a 25-15 game.

Track History of 1921

Track received a great impetus during the season of 1921. For the first time in several years, Clemson put out a really successful team. Coach Stewart reported to Tigertown in the late winter and immediately took charge of track as his first coaching duties after coming here. Under his inspiration and lead, battalion and regimental field days were held for the first time in the history of the college. These field days were the means of getting out the pick of the student body for competition for places on Stewart's team. All told, more than two hundred men tried out for the team during the course of the field days and the practice afterwards. From such an array of material and under the excellent coaching of "Doc" Stewart, a strong squad of flimsily clad warriors of the cinder path soon emerged.

After several weeks of intensive training, the Tigers were ready for the Georgia Bulldogs. The meet was held in a sea of mud and water, but such as this could not hold the fleet-footed Tigers in check. When the last race had been run and the points counted up, it was found that Clemson had won by a score of 77 to 35.

Davidson next invaded the Tiger's lair, but she hurried back to North Carolina with the small end of an 83 to 20 score. The best that Davidson could do was to take one first place in the fourteen events of the meet. Several old Clemson records were broken in this meet, and it was probably the fastest dual meet of the season.

The Tigers continued to win their meets by ever increasing scores; accordingly, when the proud Gamecock invaded Riggs Field during the following week, the Tigers straightway proceeded to ruffle up the proud bird's well-preened feathers. When the haughty roosters caught the Columbia bound train, they carried two first places and 20½ points with them as compared to the Tigers' twelve first places and 90½ points.

The following week the Tigers departed for the State Meet and the Championship of South Carolina. They went by Wofford for a practice meet before going on to Columbia. Wofford fell quickly before the Tigers to the tune of 84½ to 10½.

Then came the State Meet at Columbia with teams from Carolina, Citadel, Clemson, P. C., and Wofford fighting for the track supremacy of the State. When the meet ended, the fierce Tiger had 85½ points as compared to a total of 77½ for the other four teams. Clemson claimed ten of the fifteen first places in the meet. In the relay race, Clemson spotted the other teams 75 yards and then won handily with 75 yards to spare.

The Tigers then journeyed to Sewanee to enter the S. 1. A. A. Meet. There in competition with 138 athletes from 17 colleges, Clemson won seventh place.

The S. 1. A. A. Meet put an end to the activities of the Tiger Clan for the year of 1921. Looking back over the season we find that the Tigers are the undisputed track champions of South Carolina; that they had made a total of 335¼ points as compared to their opponents 104½ in the four dual meets, besides making 85½ points in the State Meet and 43½ in the S. 1. A. A. Meet; and that they had broken or set six Clemson records. The records that were changed were as follows: 880 yards by Ziegler in 2:03 3/5; two-mile by Newman in 10:40; 120 hurdles by Wade in 16½; shot-put by Gilmer at 40 feet 3 inches the javelin by Gilmer at 150 feet 5 inches; and the one-mile relay by Redfearn, Salley, Ziegler, and Williams in 3:34 ½.

With a majority of the past year's team still in college and some very promising new material, the prospects for the coming season appear even rosier than the records of the past.

Cross-Country

The Clemson Tigers have won the South Carolina Five Mile Cross-Country Meet four times in the last six years. It is necessary to win the cup three times in succession to become the permanent owner. Once before have the Tireless Felines held the cup two years in succession and to next year's team will come the opportunity to annex the cup to decorate forever the Tiger Trophy room. Newberry, Wofford, Carolina, and Presbyterian College entered the meet this year. The Tiger team is composed of Young, Kinard, Killian, Buck, and Fripp (substitute).

The second team entered a dual meet with the University of Georgia at Athens on Thanksgiving Day. The team ran exceedingly well over the three mile course, though trained for the five mile course, and lost by a small margin. Vincent led the field for Clemson, followed by Cannon (captain), Taylor, Thurmond, Bryan, and Robinson. Much credit is due Coach Summers for his valuable instruction and training of the squads.

Foreword

If while casting your gentle eye over these pages, you fail to laugh because the jokes are funny, you may smile because they are called jokes. If you do, we shall have accomplished part of our purpose. If, on the other hand, you fail to smile at all—examine yourself in the mirror. Maybe your face is frozen and you don’t know it. Take “Life” or “Judge” or some other great national tonic, and refresh yourself.

The Evolution of a Graduate

As Evidenced by His Letters Home

Feb., 1919

Dear pa,

I'm writing you as usual to tell you all the news and for bizness reasons, thereby killing 2 birds with 1 rock, as it were, as King Sease would say. I'm feeling better this week and by next week hope to be able to sit down again. I need some more books to help those professors find out some things they don't know, and, therefore, it follows that some dough should be forthcoming. As you know, college life is h-ll; we are awfully run down with work and studying. So far my studies have not interfered with my work. Well, pa, will have to close but will keep my pockets open.

Yours truly,

Bill

Jan., 1920

Dear papa,

As usual I'm a busy man, but I have time to write home for a change. Just a little change this time will do, until I can write later. We are having a hard time getting the rats to recognize our authority. They seem to forget that if it wasn't for the Sophomores there couldn't be any college. The president says not to haze the poor boys but we ain't doing anything else. Since I wrote to you last, I have been ordered by the faculty to purchase some freehand drawing instruments costing 10 Bucks, so I will expect a check for $15 to cover the whole bill.

Your deserving son,

Bill

March, 1921

Dear father,

I have waited about long enough to tell you the glad news. We are to have a holiday of two days, and I need some cash to keep them from calling it off. I know you will be glad to know that we are to get a little rest from our arduous duties. I have been making a little extra money this year, hunting, and if nothing happens I hope to make more next year. I went hunting yesterday and shot two squareheaded black craps, which netted me $10. If my luck keeps up, I'll keep right on shooting until I get caught. We are having good weather to drill in, and I enjoy it very much when drill is called off on account of rain. Give my kindest regards to the cashier at the bank.

Your son,

Bill

May, 1922

Dear dad,

The time should come in every man's life when he should become serious, and I suppose the Senior year is the time. The situation is serious. I owe $50 for various important college activities, and fortunately I have a check book. If you will make the check good, I will appreciate it.

On account of a mistake somewhere in the military department, I have been made only a Second Lieutenant whereas I have the ability to be a Captain or something higher. However, all people make mistakes. The report you received which contained 45 demerits was all a mistake. I didn't sleep through reveille but four times, and got 45.

I'm glad you appreciate my ability. I know that I'm not as good an engineer as Lyndenthal, or as great an inventor as Edison, but I'm good. If you see any loose jobs floating around, let me know.

June, 1923

Dear dad,

I am still looking for some enterprising firm to sign me up for a position. On account of several economic factors influencing private finance, it looks as if I will be forced to retain you as my banker until I can get someone to accept my account. I spent last night in the best free hotel west of the Rockies. Two other alumni of The Road slept with me and we all dreamed of the days we spent in college. Those were the happy days, but we didn’t know it. My itinerary for the next week or two will very likely be as follows: Denver, Monday—St. Louis, Wednesday—Chicago, Friday—and New York, Sunday. Write me at any of the above places in care of the Mayor, or in care of Ye Olde City Inn (for 30 days). Everywhere I go I am welcomed by all the city officials (especially those in uniform) and generally furnished free board and lodging. Well, so long. Dad, must catch the next Pullman (No. 311,014—capacity 60,000 tons—inside length 40’ 6”—height at eves 13’—sealed) for New York. Toot! Toot! Board!

The Endless Caravan
Selected from The Arabian Nights

"Stranger! where is that unlucky caravan bound for that I see in the distance? They are always moving but never seem to get anywhere. They walk as if burdened with a load, and unable to shake off the fears of eternal punishment, bear up as best they can. And look! they seem to be prepared for battle, but there are no Turks near. Why do they keep glancing upward as if praying for something? Say! they seem to have quickened their step as if awakened to greater effort. Who goes there that seems to inspire them with renewed zeal?"

"H—ll, Mister, you don’t know who they are."

"They ain’t nothing but Clemson cadets walking extras and yonder comes the Colonel."

And the stranger marveled at the wisdom of the small boy, but wondered if perchance Sherman didn’t mean extras instead of war.

And that very day the Sultan Madison hearing of these things, did levy upon his subjects ten more extras in order to keep the ball rolling.

The Object of Military Training

The ultimate object of all Military Training is to make a "P" on Military Science. Even from the time of Adam and Eve Military Tactics have bothered mankind. If Adam had had a large enough standing army or enough M. P's, Eve would never have drunk moonshine, seen snakes, nor eaten a green apple. There are many advantages of Military Training such as Drill, Reveille, Inspection, Spending the summer at Camp and resting from college duties, Extras, Dress coats, R.O.T.C. checks, and other things, but the greatest of these is, "R.O.T.C. checks have arrived."

Capt. Braden: "Mr. Freeman, of what is the rear echelon composed?"
"Gig": "The people back home."

Capt. Braden: "Mr. Boone, what ideals were we fighting for in the last war?"
D. Boone: "We were fighting to save the world, and preserve The Democrats."

General Order No. 77

Hereafter all seniors will attend morning worship and do homage to the Supreme Military Forces. Heathen will be severely punished. (By order of Heap Big Chief, Madison) (Note, thus ended the reign of King Sleep and Queen Beatout).
Au Revoir*

College days will all remind us,
That we had a d—n good time.
Tho we were always making a fuss
About studyin’ all the time.

Now we know it wasn’t the studyin’,
That kept us busy all the time.
But the everlasting worryin’,
About women, flunks, and wine.

When Taps sounds on the Seneca,
And we hit the world on top,
‘Tis out of luck we’ll flounder,
If our dip is all we’ve got.

We may study about a position,
But we’ll sink just like a sub.
A job!—perchance to find one,
Ay! there’s the rub.

The ORGANIC CHEMICAL INDUSTRY

This industry in the light of modern developments, has become essential to the industrial life of this country, and it is on chemical research that nine tenths of our commercial enterprises depend for their existence and progress.

The National Aniline & Chemical Company, Inc., has been a pioneer and leader in this work, and is to-day the first and largest manufacturer of coal-tar dyes in the United States.

LEAF + FACTS

No need to use your brain as a storehouse. Leave facts to Lefax and keep your mind free to plan, create and execute.

Loose-Leaf Data Sheets
The Data Sheets contain accurate, condensed reference information on all branches of engineering, chemistry, architecture, agriculture, business, and general subjects. The sheets are ready for insertion in the Lefax binders and files.

Loose-Leaf Blank and Ruled Form
For ordinary memoranda, as well as for recording and filing information and data of all kinds. 163 different forms. All ordinary rulings plus special forms for business, technical and general purposes; cross-section (graph) papers and outline maps. All forms fit the Lefax binders and files.

Pocket and Desk Binders
Magazine articles, data sheets and blank forms all fit the same binders.

Lefax Loose Leaf Data Sheets
Consider a man building a house. Suppose that every time he needed a tool he spent 1/4 to 1/2 hour looking for it. What kind of a living would he get in competition with the man having a full kit of tools at his elbow? Facts are the tools that technical men and business men work with. If it takes a man 1/4 to 1/2 hour or more to get the facts that he needs, what a handicap compared with the man who has the facts at his finger tips.

Lefax Loose Leaf Data Sheets put the facts you need at your finger tips, in the office, shop, classroom, home, in the field—wherever you need them.

A Gateway to Progress

There it stands—a simple forty-foot gateway but unlike any other in the entire world. Through it have come many of the engineering ideas that have made this an electrical America.

The story of electrical development begins in the Research Laboratories. Here the ruling spirit is one of knowledge—truth—rather than immediate practical results. In this manner are established new theories—tools for future use—which sooner or later find ready application.

The great industries that cluster around Niagara Falls, the electrically driven battle ships, the trolley cars and electrified railways that carry millions, the household conveniences that have relieved women of drudgery, the labor-saving electrical tools of factories, all owe their existence, partly at least, to the co-ordinated efforts of the thousands who daily stream through this gateway.
