VOLUME TWENTY-FIVE
DEDICATION

TO

COL. F. L. MUNSON

Officer and gentleman, who has lived with us for four years, guiding in his competent and understanding way the many phases of our college career, who has never failed to show a masterly understanding of men and of responsible leadership, who has been both counsellor and executive; we dedicate with pride, this twenty-fifth volume of Taps.
FOREWORD

Reveille, the dawn of a new day---new opportunities---vigor, enthusiasm, youth, and life;

Drill, the midday--call to work--competition, fair play, perseverance, and victory;

Taps, the close of day--hours of repose---reminiscence, retrospect, old age, and firesides.

If you find a realism and diversity that makes your ageing heart glad that you spent four glorious years at Clemson, we shall feel that our efforts have been amply rewarded.

"When you are old and gray and full of sleep,
And nodding by the fire, take down this book,
And slowly read, and dream----"

COLLEGE CLASSES AS-YOU-WERE MILITARY BEAUTIES ATHLETICS ORGANIZATIONS
ALMA MATER

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness,
Where the Tigers play;
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme always.

CHORUS
Dear old Clemson, we will triumph,
And with all our might,
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

We will dream of greater conquests
For our past is grand,
And her sons have fought and conquered
Every foreign land.

Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale,
Here the Tiger's lair is nestling
Swept by storm and gale.

We are brothers strong in manhood,
For we work and strive,
And our Alma Mater reigneth
Ever in our lives.

PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

THE old time blacksmith hammered a piece of iron into the shape he wished it. It took many blows to do it; some strokes were heavy; some were light. So it is in the development of the personal qualities of integrity, dependability, foresight, thoughtfulness, and manhood. It is a hammering process. They are not achieved by resolutions, by single acts, nor by wishing. Each man hammers out his own character by daily development, by performing tasks regularly and promptly whether they are agreeable or disagreeable.

Man must make his inclinations his slaves, and not be enslaved by them. A young man should settle some things with finality. Having settled them he will no longer be troubled by temptation. He has fought his battle and won. “Resist the Devil and he will flee from you.” Dally with him and he will remain near you.

Liberty and freedom are very beautiful words, but prior to liberty must be the ability to use liberty. They who convert liberty into license prove that they are not prepared for freedom. Many peoples have adopted the American form of democratic government. Time proved that they were not prepared for it; that they did but commit crimes in the name of liberty; they had not gone through the hammering process of our colonial and frontier days.

Straightforward actions make straight men; “following the line of least resistance makes crooked streams and crooked men.”

SIR:

I respectfully refer the above report to you. However, I did not know what they (the crew) were watching at the moment the above incident occurred.

That said man was found calling the corps to attention in front of the corps guards. It seems as if the corpse was distant from the man. The man was found calling the corps to attention in front of the corps guards.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The 1932 Taps Staff is grateful to Mrs. Julia Peterkin for her selection of the pictures presented in the Beauty Section.
Jess Neely
Head Coach
COACHES

COACH NEELLY brought to Clemson a complete change in the coaching personnel. Bringing with them very impressive records, these men have done much to promote the athletic plans and success of this institution. Jess Neely gave careful consideration to every man who applied for the Tiger institution, and it is both his opinion and the school's that his was a wise selection.

Coach Davis, Freshman football and Varsity basket-ball mentor came to Clemson from Louisville High School where he had set up an impressive record among prep schools in that state. Davis played end at Southwestern, graduating there with a fine athletic record to his credit. A native of Tennessee, Coach Davis has done well in his adopted state, in all phases of his athletic endeavors.

Frank Howard came to Clemson directly from the University of Alabama, where for three years he held down a Varsity guard berth on Wallace Wade's incomparable Crimson Tide. As a star linesman in the 1930 championship team, he has reflected his ability to an astonishing extent in the Clemson forward wall.

Bob Jones, a native of South Carolina, was appointed to his post just prior to his graduation from Clemson. For three years Bob starred on the Tiger football and basket-ball teams, captaining the latter his Senior year. As an assistant coach he has strengthened his athletic reputation to a great extent. His Freshman basket-ball team dropped only one game the past season, which is quite an impressive record.

"Tubby" Elliot, an active Clemson alumni, and sponsor of minor sports at Clemson, has done much to serve his Alma Mater in the role of both coach and business executive. His was the job of athletic financial executive during the playing season.
FOOTBALL

SEPTEMBER 26 was a long-awaited day at Clemson. After months of skepticism, mixed hopes and optimistic expectations the 1932 edition of the TIGERS, for the first time under the tutelage of Jess Neely, took the field, engaging the Presbyterian Blue Stockings. The typical Clemson fight was lacking as some three thousand spectators saw the Bengals pushed to the utmost four years. McEver, Hug, Brandt, Kholhasi, and Wynn, et al., proved unstoppable. The sixty minutes of play left the score in the one-sided figures of 42-0 favoring the Vols. In this game "Fotsie" Davis proved his mettle when compared to the famous Tennesseans. The Tiger still was not clicking; passes were erratic and unfruitful.

Led by the indomitable Priester, the Bengals hit their stride against N. C. State on October 10th. After many weeks of inspiring, and numerically, expensive guidance, Hook, Lambert, and Harvin tore the Wolf Pack line to pieces, while Priester skirted the ends for many yards. The team seemed to symbolize a Tiger on a field of Purple and Gold. It remained for Lambert to carry the oval over for Clemson's first score of the season, which was enough to win the game from the routed Wolves.

On the 21st of October, Johnny Floyd brought to Florence the best Citadel team in many years to engage the Clemsonites. Led by the slashing McIntosh and the wily Larkin Jennings, the Bulldogs sent the Bengals down in glorious defeat, 6-0. The line-smashing, passing, and punting of Frankie Clark featured the threat of the Tigers.

Again came the day for the Carolina Classic. After four successive years of victories, the Tigers dropped the highlight to the Gamecocks. Every player extended himself to the utmost, but it was just too much Clary, Hambright and Company.

Losing by a three touchdown margin, the Tigers nevertheless showed their characteristic form, which was the best of the year excluding Furman. Clark, Miller, and Bowles featured this game.

Meeting the Oglethorpe Petrels on the home field, and as a few hundred spectators shivered in the stands, the Neely cohorts were defeated 12-0. It was the only major game played on the home field, and served to give the Cadets a chance to see the team in action. Hook took the major honors in this game, with his unstoppable line-plunging and slashing off tackle smashes. Harvely also reached his top passing form, heaving several that were good for many yards.

November 7th found another game in the debit column. The V. M. I. team was outplayed for the first three quarters, then, by a stroke of fate, seven points were bestowed upon the Cadets.
Miller played a nice game. His passing and punting were sure and long. The whole team functioned as a well-oiled machine until the fatal score of the Virginians. This game was played before the usual crowd of Washington Alumni, who made the trip down to Norfolk for the occasion.

Clemson's gridiron history repeated itself in the game with Alabama at Montgomery. It seems that to lead the Tigers very far from their native haunts spells defeat in no uncertain terms. For four years national recognition rested on these out of state affairs. An avalanche of touchdowns gave Clemson its worst defeat in years. Rolling and surging with Cain, Long and Holley riding the whitecaps, the Crimson Tide washed out the minute resistance of the Bengals. Miller again displayed his magnificent football instinct from his quarter position but to no avail. The spirit of the Tigers remained high, and even the usually unsentimental sports writers lauded the degree of fight shown to the bitter end.

Came the day of days, and the Purple Hurricane was no more. It dwindled to an unresisting breeze as the Tigers stopped all the lauded attacks with well directed and perfectly synchronized power and speed. Many Clemson warriors lived their football swan song in this game, and never has a sweeter song been written in word or deed to the school.

Bowles deserves the honorable mention of the performers. Fighting until he dropped, he was taken from the game only after he had contributed a masterly game to the credit of Clemson.

Harvin, playing his last game, reached his peak. Miller, directing the eleven knew no fear, and directed both defensive and offensive play in a manner creditable to any quarterback.

The season should not be mistaken as unsuccessful. Coach Jess Neely, beginning a season of tutelage under very adverse circumstances in so far as a large amount of material was concerned, succeeded in producing a football machine that came through in the last stages of the season as a hard fighting, well trained, well informed, and well developed squad.

THE Clemson basket-ball team enjoyed only fair success this season. The team fell far short of all preseason expectations. Out of twenty scheduled games the Tigers salvaged only six wins. No defeats were given any out of state teams, on the contrary, games were lost to eight foreign teams. The squad seemed to hit its stride late in the season and won four of the last six encounters.

With practically the whole squad of 1930 returning, the Tigers began practice early in December. Only two men, Crain and Gibson, forward and center, were lost. Two Sophomores, Simons and Sherman, filled these positions, while Craig, Davis, Clark, Calhoun, and several others rounded out the aspirants.

Launching on its Conference campaign, the Tigers lost their first encounter to Kentucky. The Bengals failed to hit their stride during the entire game.

Tackling the ancient rival, Carolina, in a set of two games, the Bengals divided the pair. In the Bengal victory, the winning points were scored by Clark in the final seconds of the extra period.

Swinging in a Southern tour the Kentucky Wildcats again put the Clemson basketeers on the spot for a decisive win. Simons and Wood played heroic parts in the classic, but were unable to save the day.

On the home court the Bengals routed the P. C. quintet. Sherman was high scorer with ten points to his credit. The floor work of Simons of Clemson and Adams of Presbyterian featured the encounter.

After revamping his aggregation, Coach Davis sent his charges against Furman. With Wood and Craig filling the shoes of Clark and Davis, the Tigers reached a degree of speed and efficiency unattained at any time during the season.

Led by the fleet and elusive Strickland, the Georgia Bulldogs administered their second defeat to the Clemson cagemen. Clemson jumped into a four-point lead early in the game, but were unable to maintain their momentary advantage.

Meeting the Citadel five at home, the Tigers chalked up another victory. Sherman took the honors of high scorer while Calhoun played a stellar game at his forward position. Sherman scored eight of Clemson's nineteen points.

Displaying a fighting spirit that has long characterized the Clemson teams, the Tiger next tackled Furman in Greenville. Calhoun's offense, Clark's defense, and Sherman's floor work, coupled with the rangy Simons, went to make a game long to be remembered by all the spectators. An extra period gave the victory to the Baptists by a two-point margin.

Winding up the season in a blaze of delayed form and flash, the Tiger five turned back the Wofford team in a fast game which knocked the Methodists from their claim to the state championship. Sherman ended his season with a well played game, showing him as one of the most potential of Clemson's basketeers.

Ending their careers this season are Captain Clark and Pat Calhoun. Clark has been a Varsity letter man for three years and served as captain this past season. His defensive guarding and conservative offense will be missed when the season brings another schedule to Clemson. It is possible, however, that some of the promising Sophomores can be trained to fill his shoes. Clark has played wonderful ball during his whole career, and has always stood high in the comparative ratings of the state.

The graduation of Calhoun leaves quite a hole in the forward positions. Calhoun's play has always been characterized by his fleetness, coupled with his natural ability and a good eye for the basket. In him Coach Davis is losing a valuable man.

Simons and Sherman share the honors for new men playing their first year of Varsity ball. Sherman's speed and brilliant shooting have made him a constant threat. At the end of the season he stood second in the scoring record of the state. Already he has written his name in South Carolina sporting history and promises to enjoy an enviable court career.

Simons has always played his game all over the court. Never seeming to tire, he has been Clemson's chief threat in offensive tactics this year. At both center and forward he has turned in good games. Being only a Sophomore, much is expected from him before he leaves this school.
BASEBALL
OPENING the season with a landslide victory over the famous Newry nine from the Newry Mill, the Tigers swung into the official spring pastime with a flood of runs. Playing under the veteran Joe Guyon and led by Captain Nat Watson, the Tigers displayed mid-season form in a barrage of well-placed hits.

Tackling the Anderson pro team as their next bit of preliminary seasoning the Tigers took the long end of 10-0 count. This team was coached by their old coach Joe Guyon.

Carolina suddenly took on a winning streak and trounced the Tigers in a slow game to the tune of 10-1. Clemson's tally came after Fordham had tripled in the third and came home on a single. In this game Joe Decker pitched and allowed but nine hits, but his support was rather weak and these were converted into ten markers.

Meeting Davidson in a battle on Riggs field, the Tigers put the game away early in the second frame by scoring three runs. With Davis hurling, the Davidsonians scored four runs in the ninth when he weakened momentarily. The Tigers had succeeded in rounding the bags many times however, and the game ended with the Bengals on the long end of a 14-4 score.

In the next game Joe Decker came into his own and entered the Clemson hall of fame by crashing out a single in the ninth to score two runs and win his own game. Neely, who had now replaced Guyon as coach, played his cards well in this game. Coming to the last inning with the Tigers trailing one run, Proctor doubled, Cook walked, Kearse subbed for Joyce, and advanced the two on a sacrifice, Rhinehardt was passed, and this filled the bases. Decker then sent a fast one down the side line scoring two men.

Meeting the Citadel in the next game, the Tigers took the cadets into camp in one of the fastest games played on the local lot. Davis was on the mound for Clemson, and pitched a perfect game until the eighth inning when the Bulldogs took him for two hits and one run. The Bengals gathered twelve hits and converted them into six circuit trips.

In their final game Clemson dropped her chance at the state championship to the Carolina Gamecocks. In a loose and inconsistent game the offering of Davis was taken for nine hits and five runs. The Tigers had a tough time getting an eye on Outz's fast ball. Never once did his control waver until the final out.

And thus with the end of the baseball season at Clemson did athletics quiet. The ump had called his last strike, the starter had sent the last of his sprinters up the cinders, the golfers hung up the clubs, and the racqueteers sent their last volley over the net.

Although nothing has occurred that is so remarkable this year, the records compiled by the various teams have been satisfactory. The past is behind us, an expired year, and the future awaits us, very much alive to those who may not have fared so well.

LED by the redoubtable Captain "Mink" Lineberger, probably the best distance man to ever trot the Clemson cinders, the track and field men swung into action against Georgia and dropped the meet which was very fast. In spite of the wet track, Lineberger won the mile event with a time that lacked but one second of tying the state record set by himself in 1929. Adams, showing a clean pair of heels, took the 440 in 54.6. Hogarth also set up good time in winning the 880, while Martin took second place. Training for amphibian service would have been very valuable in this meet. Coln placed second in the shot and discus, while Wilson and Patterson placed first and second, respectively, in the javelin throw.

Considering the wet track the times set up in this meet were unusually fast. The team was also slightly stale, having suffered from the quarantine for several months.

Meeting Tennessee in their next conference tilt, the Bengals were defeated by a 73-55 margin. Captain Lineberger took the major honors for Clemson, winning the blue ribbon in the mile and 880. He literally burned up the track in the half-mile, stepping the distance a split second higher than the state record of Newman, who set the pace at 1:59.9 in 1926. Clemson took first place in the century with Armstrong breaking the tape. Coln won the discus with a toss of 122 feet. The relay team composed of Martin, Adams, Blakeny, and Rivers took first place in this event.

From the showing made in the first few meets of the season, Coach Frank Howard, who has succeeded Jules Carson as track mentor, bids fair to produce an enviable squad of cinder artists.

Lynn carries on true to all expectations, having already lowered the state record for the one hundred yard dash, and is giving keen competition to all comers on the two-twenty dash.

Curry's pole vaulting has thus far enabled him to top all state competitors. His twelve feet and four inches won second place in the meet with the University of Georgia which was the official opener of the season.

Stoudemire, on the high hurdles, has come to the front, and his but one more point to annex before he is eligible for the coveted Block "C".

Ed Gilmer, a Sophomore, is showing promise as a coming star hurdler.

This season concludes Whitmire's career as a low hurdle man. He has been the mainstay in this event for almost two years.

As a whole, the squad's greatest weakness is in field events. This is largely due to the loss of Reuben Siegel, who was considered as a most promising mainstay with the shot and discus.

The Freshman squad shows all indications of repeating the performances of last year's Freshmen, and it is anticipated that it should again lead by a safe margin in the annual state meet.

In the initial meet of the season against Presbyterian Freshmen, Jimmy Lipscomb has set a high mark for himself by copping two first places, a second place, and one third. The whole squad performed meritoriously, showing especially good form in the sprints, on the hurdles, and on jumping.

Tennessee took ten first places while Clemson captured five. Corbett, of the Vols, was high scorer of the meet with twenty points to his credit, along with four places. He captured the 120 high hurdles, the pole vault, the broad jump, and the 220 low hurdles. This performance overshadowed even that of Dickens, of Georgia, who had the week before captured sixteen points for his school in the meet with Clemson.

In a dual meet with Carolina, featuring both the Varsity and Freshman teams, the Tigers handed the Gamecocks defeats in both departments. Carolina took the lead in the start and held it for the greater part of the meet. With only one event remaining and the Carolinians leading by five points, the Tigers, with their backs to the wall, swept down and around the mile to take all three places in the event. Captain Lineberger again took first place in both the mile and half-mile. After two false starts, Armstrong took first place in both the mile and half-mile, and later on in the meet placed first in the 100-yard dash. Adams took first place in the 440, while Justus was winning the broad jump. Coin took first in the discus and second in the shot put. Hughey starred in the shot put event, heaving the iron ball 42 feet and one-half inch. He later surpassed the old mark by more than a foot.

Clemson was well represented at the state meet in Clinton, giving the favorite, Presbyterian College, plenty of competition in all events. Captain Lineberger set a new record for the mile, breaking his own record of 1929, and set a hard pace throughout the entire meet for the whole squad. Through his supervision the whole group of tracksters gave a good account of the school.

The meet was won by Presbyterian, Carolina taking second place and Clemson third.

For the first time in a number of years Clemson put a Freshman track team in the field. From the results of a few meets with state teams, much is anticipated from the Rat cindermen. There were several men who showed unusual promise. Lynn set an unusually fast pace throughout his, stepping the 200-yard dash in 22.9. Stephens also hit the century in a shade over 10, showing a very outstanding promise, but failed to return to school this year. Curry’s showing in the pole vault was a high point of the season, and he climbed to 11 feet before the season was over.

Freshman meets with two high schools and with Carolina Freshmen resulted in victories for the Cubs. Lynn was the shining light in all meets. Latimer showed an unusual burst of speed in a Freshman-Varsity meet, nosing out the Varsity man, Hogarth, by a few feet.

With this same Freshman team, Coach Carson climaxed the season by stepping on the State meet field in Clinton in full strength and easily winning the meet by a large margin. Lynn’s time on the 100-yard dash was 10 seconds flat, and the squad carried away ten first places.

Coach Carson did not send the entire squad to the Southern Conference meet, however, Adams, Lineberger, and Coln of the Varsity squad were entered in their respective events. Running on a wet track neither Lineberger nor Adams placed in points for Clemson, and Coln was outclassed in his events.

An almost continuous quarantine caused the track team to suffer because of the several meets that had to be cancelled, and there was a resulting staleness when the team should have been at its peak of training. Clemson at one time had an excellent chance of wresting the state championship from Presbyterian, but with so many odds against him, Coach Carson’s protégés did not come up to pre-season expectations. Several outstanding men will be graduated, no more to race the cinder path in Clemson’s behalf, but with a very good array of material joining Varsity ranks from the Freshman squad, and careful training, the trackmen should enjoy a successful season.

With five letter men returning the Tiger boxers, under the expert guidance of Captain Heffner, entered training early in December. An ambitious schedule was arranged with several of the leading Southern squads. More enthusiasm was shown over boxing than any season heretofore, and as a result, this team ended the year with the best record of any team in Tigertown.

Led by the Jewish Juggernaut, Reuben Siegel, captain of the squad, the Bengals, after a month of intensive training met the North Georgia Aggies in their début fights. In winning nine out of eleven of the bouts, the Tigers showed the results of their intensive training and the guidance of the new coach. Lide, Clemson featherweight, fighting his first Varsity battle easily defeated Thompson with a barrage of well-timed blows. In the bantamweights E. Sloan put English on the canvas three times in as many rounds, winning by a large number of points.

After a series of stiff eliminations the Tigers met the leather-pushers from P. C. In eleven fast bouts, six of which were exhibitions, the Tigers were victorious, winning by a six to four count. Quite a large crowd was on hand for these scraps, and the boxers received more cheering and praise than has characterized the mitt-men in the history of the sport at Clemson. In these fights, Henley, Cleison, won from Ferguson, of P. C. Medlin, Tiger middleweight, won over a teammate, Bryan, in an exhibit of good fighting. Blitch won from McCookill, Sloan won from Dunlap, Parker, P. C., welterweight, gained a decision over Bane; Coskey, P. C., won over Hankinson, while Cannon lost a slow fight to Sims. The two forfeits brought Clemson to the winning total.
BOXING

Tackling the ancient rival, the Gamecocks, the Tigers were turned back with a four to three decision. This was the first defeat of the season. Lide lost to Scott, Carolina bantamweight. Moore dropped his fight to Brailsford in the featherweight class. Bannister was defeated by the referee and J. Scott in the welterweight class. Cannon won from McCravy of Carolina in the middleweight fight. Megginson, Clemson, light-heavy, knocked out Willard. Captain Siegel put DeVaughn, Gamecock heavy, into rout and took the decision. Meeting the Florida pugilists in Greenville, the Tigers gave that city their first taste of intercollegiate boxing by whipping the 'Gators in a four to three count. Lide won from Perez, Bane too; the long count from Williams, Florida welterweight, Cannon won from Todd in a fast battle. Megginson, Tiger light-heavy, lost to Davis, Siegel clinched the meeting by winning from Bilinski in the last bout. This was a fine victory for the Bengals, and Greenville seemed to like the sport very much.

Winding up the season with a meet with the Citadel, Captain Heffner's proteges defeated the cadets decisively, five to two. Lide came through with a victory. Jack Blitch knocked out Moore of Clemson, Sloan defeated Miller, while Bannister out-boxed Wehlborn in a fast bout. After carefully training their crack heavy down to a light-heavyweight, the Citadel was defeated in this bout as Megginson outboxed and outfought Holland, Citadel captain.

The Tiger boxers failed to place in the Conference. Lide won his first fight, but lost to Lee of W. & L., Moore was knocked out by Jones of Miss. A. & M., and Sloan lost to Sides of Duke, while Norton of L. S. U. floored Megginson. Cannon won from Gill, but lost to DuBays of Tulane, Siegel lost to DeVaughn of Carolina. Too much commendation cannot be paid Captain Heffner, an unpaid coach who set up quite an impressive record this season. He has elevated boxing to unknown heights at Clemson, and as a result has the heartiest support of the student body.

THE Rifle Team launched on a very successful season. Around twenty men fired regularly on the range, which was almost double the number firing in years gone by. Having put the range in the most modern condition possible, Captain Kron was rewarded by seeing his proteges take shape rapidly and go through the season with flying colors.

A number of telegraphic matches were fired along with shoulder to shoulder matches with Wofford, Citadel, and P. C. Firing in the Fourth Corps Area match the Clemson team amassed 3,629 points out of 4,000 in the four positions which placed them second in the meet. Shoulder matches with P. C., Citadel, and Wofford resulted in victory for the Bengals. Many other telegraphic matches, chief among them the match for the Hearst Trophy, gave the Tigers a very creditable season.
WITH the co-operation and coaching of Mr. Holtzendorff, the tank team sailed successfully through a stiff season, and finally taking two second places at the Conference meet. The schedule was the hardest undertaken by a Clemson aquatic team, and both the team and the coach deserves a full share of credit.

Crutchfield and Jarrard, along with Rollins took care of the free style events while Fisher and Hyde covered the speed events. Bozeman with his fast backstroke and Gilland and Jarrard doubling on the dives rounded out the squad.

Tackling the aquatic aggregation from Georgia, the Tigers suffered a defeat in their initial waterbreaking. Georgia took six first places and four second ribbons which mounted their points just above the Tiger's record. Two weeks later the Bengals met Georgia and Emory and dropped both meets by a small margin. Rollins rolled up approximately twenty points in these matches which gave him the high point laurels for the Tigers. Came the Conference meet in Atlanta, and Clemson's best gave them but two second places. Running rough shod over all competition, the 'Gator swimmers took the meet by a long score. Rollins took second place in the 220 and Fisher took second in the 440, which were Clemson's only scores.
GOLF

The Clemson Golf Team, in its second year of activity, enjoyed a successful, though comparatively short season. The season opened with a meet with Emory in Atlanta. The Tiger putters were defeated to the tune of 9-5. Dashiell and Moss turned an unusually low score in this match. The next match brought together the drivers from Furman who also took the Bengals into camp by a small margin. A return match on the Clemson links went to the Tigers, evening the score. Wofford suffered two defeats in quick succession, from which the Clemson golfers traveled to P. C., to take another foe into camp.

Moss, Dashiell, Ramseur, and Johnstone formed the nucleus for the team. All shot nice scores this season, setting up a good record in the state golfing annals.

This team is another minor sport which is entirely self-sustaining at Clemson. There is also little backing from the students, but despite these handicaps, the team won four out of six scheduled matches this season.

THE "Y" at Clemson College is the College Community house. It is where varied college and community activities center. Its method of organization and those of the four local churches foster activities on the part of students in religious work. Men are trained in and familiarized with religious work, hence it is easier for them to make a contribution to local church services when they leave college. Religious organizations must serve or they will not survive. Such organizations at Clemson exist not for themselves, but for helpfulness to the college community. The frequent expression of appreciation by old students is evidence that a worthwhile service is rendered. The "Y" is accessible not to a limited number of students but to all of them. It is popular with the faculty and the community. The happy co-operation of the "Y" and the local churches conduces to high esteem for religious activities and quickens the sense of worthwhileness. The practice that students have in preparing their own programs is fine training in such activities.

—Dr. E. W. Skes.

During the World War it was the "Y" that furnished most of our entertainment while in mobilization or in training camp; it was the "Y" that provided for the comfort and welfare of our troops while en route by rail to the various embarkation points; it was the "Y" that kept our men in the front line trenches supplied with tobacco, sweets, stationery and numerous other creature comforts; at Clemson College it is the "Y" that opens its hospitable doors to faculty and students alike.

For what the "Y" has done for the young men and boys of the nation in the past, and for what it intends to do for them in the future, it may always count on me for co-operation and support.

—F. L. Munson.

I consider the "Y" the finest organization on the Clemson campus. The "Y", with its multitudinous activities appeals to more students in more ways than any other organization.

Cadets are offered opportunities to develop leadership along athletic and spiritual lines; leadership that counts for so much in later life.

—W. W. Burton.

Youth needs self-expression and there is no better place for self-expression than in the Y. M. C. A. where he is brought in contact with positive Christian leadership and high ideals.

The Y. M. C. A. caters to the very best that there is in a boy and seeks to develop that best.

A young man is missing something really worthwhile when he fails to identify himself with the Y. M. C. A.

—S. M. Martin.

Few of us have stopped for one minute to consider just what the Y. M. C. A. is doing for Clemson. The "Y" not only affords an excellent place for the many religious activities, but it also affords a place for lots of fun.

—J. W. Talbirt.

The Y. M. C. A. at Clemson may well be considered on a par with any other college activity, and far above some others. Aside from its many offers for recreation and amusement, it affords a chance for students to pursue religious endeavors in a wholesome, Christian-like atmosphere. Probably most of the students take the "Y" as it comes, never realizing what it really means. However, if it were taken away from them for a week or even less, the result would be disastrous.

With its able secretaries, its excellent advisory board, and with prospects for an increase in interest and co-operation from the student body, the "Y" is sure to advance in the future as it has never done before.

—J. A. Weston.

It seems to me that the Clemson Y. M. C. A. furnishes every student in this institution a wonderful opportunity to gain the finishing touches necessary for a well-rounded education. The Y. M. C. A. encourages and aids serious thoughts and discussions on subjects which help us to determine the philosophies of life and religion that we will carry with us through our life.

—R. B. Eaton.

The Y. M. C. A. is, without a doubt, the most active, most beneficial, and most co-ordinate organization on the campus. Student connections with it should be encouraged.

—H. M. Clark.

The "Y" is the only place that students can enjoy themselves outside of the class-room, so why not make it a bigger and better "Y"?

—Rubin Slege.

The Y. M. C. A. is an organization vitally needed on our campus. It does more for the entire student body than any other organization at Clemson College. I count it a most profitable experience and deem it a privilege and pleasure to have been affiliated with an institution of such high merit and standing.

—O. R. Smith.

An ideal place to find invigorating amusement, a good picture show, swimming pool, gymnasium, reading room, and pool tables. Any cadet can always find a pleasant diversion from the daily routine work, or else find the proper encouragement and facilities to broaden his study or interest in matters pertaining to religious culture.

—J. E. Baker.
The "Y" fills a place in the campus life that no other agency connected with Clemson can give. It is the focal point for a common center of community interests, a place where students, faculty and campus meet on a common basis. It fosters an atmosphere free from sectarianism, stimulating tolerance and sponsoring ideals to which any Christian can subscribe without reservation. Its influence for developing the best qualities in those it so loyally serves, is a constantly enlarging one and the good it does cannot be measured in words.

—W. W. Klugh.

If it should ever become necessary to eliminate one or more of the student interests at Clemson I believe that the Y. M. C. A. should be one of the last if not the very last to go. This statement is made in the light of more than twenty-five years daily contact with student life and interests on the college campus. I, therefore, consider the Y. M. C. A. as one of the greatest factors for good at this institution.

—J. C. Littlejohn.

During my three years of college life at Clemson it has been very forcibly impressed upon my mind that the Y. M. C. A. has a more far-reaching universal influence upon the corps of cadets than any other student organization of the college. Every man in school at some time, in one way or another, feels the effects of the "Y". Without the wholesome diversions and various religious and student activity departments of the "Y", a cadet would soon find himself totally at a loss as to how to profitably employ his spare time. The training and experience that a college man gains in association with Y. M. C. A., coupled with the true friendships formed during this period, constitute one of the greatest opportunities that Clemson College has to offer a cadet.

—O. B. Garrison.

There really should be a fourth side to the triangle; the social. We all know what the "Y" has done for the mental, moral and social life of the community, but how many of us have thought of it as the center of our social life?

In the old days when we were all dressed up there was no place to go. Now there is the "Y" with its movies, swimming and other attractions.

Above all, the "Y" is to be congratulated for its interest in the young boys of the community. What it will mean to them only the future can tell.

—Dr. F. H. H. Calhoun.

The "Y" has afforded me a wholesome social life while at college. It has given me the opportunity of meeting and knowing some of the most influential leaders of today—men who are helping to mold the future into a more Christ-like world.

Not only has it afforded me pleasure and recreation, but it has been an inspiration and a burning fire within me.

I consider it has helped me in every conceivable way; that it has meant more than the triangle for which it stands. In short it has meant more to me than all the rest of my college career.

—L. Delk.

The Y. M. C. A. is undoubtedly a very great factor in the social and religious life at Clemson. Also, it affords many students a medium for expressing an individuality which would ordinarily be neglected.

—W. G. Ashmore.

Aside from being most active in a social and religious standpoint, the "Y" is also the keenest instrument on the campus for furthering and providing ample athletic facilities for the students, faculty members, transits, and other people of the campus.

—E. R. Kelly.

THE day is done!

Seven months ago, the Taps Staff started the task of presenting the life of a Clemson cadet for one day—from reveille to taps. Whether we have succeeded or not, we have finished. As we review this pictured day, 'tis not with a sigh and a "Well, it's finished," but rather with a swelling of the heart and a tinge of sadness. Those days that have been your happiest are the ones that you have seen end with an inward feeling of "It's been great, and I hate to see it end." So it is with this day of ours.

Certain people figured in making your happiest day what it was, just as they have in this colorful day. We feel very fortunate in having had the following experienced, talented, and willing friends to enable us to produce this book and wish to thank them: Mr. J. C. Littlejohn, for his aid and co-operation in financial and other matters; Captain J. D. Harcombe for the many lunches, which he so willingly supplied; Mr. Gene Parker, for photographs; the personnel of the Junior Staff for invaluable service; Jimmy Baker, for writing parts of the Athletic Section; and Miss Cornelia Newton, for typing numerous letters for the users of the "one-finger" method.

Our printers, engravers, and photographers have been magnanimous in their efficient and prompt work and valuable suggestions. The following men have been tireless in their service to Taps: Mr. Walt Dargan, of Wrigley Engraving Co.; Mr. Clayton Webb, Mr. Earl Sanders, and Mr. Johnny Long, of the Foote & Davies Co.; and Mr. Stanley Marques, of White Studio.

There are many others who are not mentioned to whom the staff is greatly indebted.

BONG! Taps—eleven o'clock. The day is done! If you are not satisfied with this day as we have seen it, we are sorry. If you close the rear cover with quickened pulse and a sigh that denotes "Well done," the day is won. It is the sincere wish of the Taps Staff that you derive as much pleasure and benefit from perusing these pages as we have in compiling them.
