WE LEARN . . . an atmosphere conducive to higher education . . . a competent faculty . . . a varied curricula . . . an opportunity to study . . . diversified fields . . . student participation in school government . . .
Provided for in the will of Thomas G. Clemson, and later by acts passed by the Legislature of South Carolina, the Board of Trustees constitutes the legislative body of the college.

The administration of the college is controlled by the president, who is chief executive and administrative officer of the board.

Although the board does not undertake to direct the details of the administration, it does lay down the general policies. The policies expressed by the board include laws for the school, government, expenditure of its funds, and approval of its courses of study.
Meeting every Monday, or at the call of the president, the Board of Deans and Directors constitutes an advisory board for the president.

In a collective manner, the board contributes ideas pertaining to the various schools and divisions, to the president.

DEANS AND DIRECTORS

Clockwise: POOLE, METZ, HUNTER, H. M. BROWN, WEBB, A. J. BROWN, WATKINS, COOKSON, KINAIRD, SAMS, WASHINGTON.
DR. R. F. POOLE, top man on the campus, who has done much to promote Clemson throughout the nation.
DR. POOLE AND...

Dr. Poole, who serves as president of Clemson, carries the responsibility of running the college. His job is to keep the administration, faculty, and students coordinated and contented.

The dinner table is often a good place for impromptu colloquy, as DR. POOLE here chats with a guest.

One of the president's tasks is reviewing parades; here he stands at attention with GENERAL BOLLING, commander of the Third Army.

A most enjoyable aspect of DR. POOLE'S job; presenting a bouquet to South Carolina's Maid of Cotton.

DR. POOLE, MISS SHANKLIN, and MR. METZ gaze at pictures of some of the many artists brought to Clemson by the Concert Series.

At a banquet honoring long-time Clemson employees, DR. POOLE shakes hands with TOM LITTLEJOHN, who has served as the chief cook in the mess hall for many years.
A new face in the student bank—DUSTY RHOADES—adds up the day’s deposits.

THE ADMINISTRATION

MR. A. J. BROWN, treasurer of the college, is the man to whom all tuition checks are paid. Interested in student affairs, he was instrumental in getting the loan fund for students.

TRESCOTT HINTON, man behind the scenes, works on the books of the college.

Guardian of the front office, MISS SHANKLIN serves as DR. POOLE’S secretary and is also an important member of the Concert Committee.

Financial Advisor to student organizations, Assistant Business Manager HAMILTON HILL, strives to keep student activities out of the red.
WALTER COX, assistant to the president, chats with COLONEL COOKSON and JOHN LANE while their wives enjoy the banquet.

As business manager of the college, J. C. LITTLEJOHN holds a position high on the administrative staff.

With an unexpected demand for pre-labs, HENRY HILL, Housing Project Manager, is kept active doling out the houses to married students on the campus.

GUS METZ, Registrar, is responsible for the curriculum, registration, and the keeping of other college records.
CAMPUS PERSONALITIES

To anyone who has been around the campus very long the faces on this page should be familiar. These men, some directly connected with the college, some only indirectly, are all a part of what we remember as Clemson.

"POP" KLUTZ is one of the best-recognized men on the campus. For who hasn't visited Klutz's when the mess hall failed to come through and Wallhalla was out of reach?

DOC MIEBURG, druggist and ring merchant, keeps students supplied with magazines — of course, he doesn't sell many.

If you can't find it at the Judge's, at half of what you'd pay anywhere else, you can't find it. JUDGE KELLER'S is first stop for students needing most anything in the way of dry goods.

Need something done — room painted? Wood for some bookshelves? See ROY BOGGS in the C & R.

The Chambers Printing Co. and TOM MILLEFORD keep the campus supplied with posters, directories, record forms and just about anything else anyone might need in the way of printed material.

It's not long before the barracks' janitors become as familiar a sight as the ramp between Second and Third Barracks.
THE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

- Botany
- Dairy
- Entomology
- Horticulture
- Poultry
- Pre-Forestry
- Pre-Veterinary

Already recognized as one of the foremost in the nation, Clemson's Agricultural School is in the process of expanding even more. Graduates are scattered over the country in research, business, industry, and farming. The ag major is greeted his freshman year in Long Hall with Botany and suffers with the others through English, math, and chemistry. During his sophomore year the pains increase with Mauldin's organic chemistry, Frogs' zoology, Lehotsky's farm forestry, literature, and physics. Still the ag student hasn't seen much of farming, but the foundations are being laid. As a junior, he begins to branch into his chosen field, moving into the Lord's fold, the Dairy Building, Education Building, or any of the others. He examines the agar in bacteriology, runs the genetic gauntlet, works fertilizer and feed problems and moves in on the bees and blossoms. At last the senior gets down to work he has chosen for himself. What with seminar reports, theses, labs all week, outside activities, his time is well taken up. The finishing touches are put on feeding, judging, ice cream manufacturing, soil and fertilizer analysis, fruit growing, bug killing, and the solving of agriculture's economic problems.

Gone are the days of the "60 acres and a mule". Today's modern farmer must know about tractors, as well as plows.
Today, more than ever, the need is for men who are well-versed in science, world history, sociology and other fields. Along with training the students in these fields, the purpose of the School of Arts and Sciences is to give students a broad general education and to prepare them to be intelligent citizens.

To acquire this well-rounded education, the students take English, math, physics, sociology, government, history, economics, and a foreign language. After two years of these basic courses, the student is ready to settle down in one of these courses and continue in this one field.

With such professors as "Doc" Green and John Lane in the English Department, Wally Trevillian in the Economics Department, "Pych" Waite and Frank Burtner in the Sociology Department, Doctor Huff in the Physics Department, and Lander in the History Department, the Arts and Sciences major, no matter what his particular bent, finds that upon graduation, he is well rounded and proficient in his chosen field.

Arts and Science professors work long and hard, as do the students.
A&S majors don't spend a lot of time in the laboratory, but much time is spent in the classroom.
THE SCHOOL OF CHEMISTRY

- Agricultural Chemistry
- Chemistry

The ever-growing School of Chemistry, now at home in the new building, is becoming a larger and more important school as the years go by.

The chemistry freshman encounters few courses that differ from those taken by other majors. His chemistry 103 and 104 may be a little more detailed, but the English and math are the same as for other majors.

As the chemistry major exchanges the one for a deuce on his collar, the student also has to face "Qual" and "Quan" analysis in addition to English lit and calculus.

This, however, is still not too bad. With the junior year comes the fun. "Doc" Rhyme's German in addition to physical chemistry make the junior chemist wonder if he is in the right course after all.

But when the senior year finally rolls around, and with his tie out and gold braid, the chemist begins to see the break of day. If he can just get past another year with "Doc" Schirmer and Peter Carodemos, he can well be proud of the sheepskin that has taken so long to acquire.

In the labs, the Chemistry major performs not only routine analyses, but also tests such things as commercial fertilizers and related products.

THE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

- Education
- Industrial Education
- Vocational Agricultural Education

A student taking a course in education is prepared to teach various high school subjects. The emphasis is on the various fields of science, with the student choosing from a wide variety of courses which are provided by the other departments of the college. The Industrial Education major is prepared to teach drawing, manual training, industrial arts, evening trade classes, and metal work in the high schools.

In his freshman and sophomore years the education major might be majoring in anything—taking a wide variety of subjects from botany and chemistry to calculus. During the junior year, he takes such courses as educational psychology, and more advanced courses in his chosen field.

These courses are completed in the senior year and students get a few weeks of practice teaching in the surrounding high schools.

THE SCHOOL OF ENGINEERING

- Agricultural Engineering
- Architecture
- Architectural Engineering
- Ceramic Engineering
- Chemical Engineering
- Civil Engineering
- Electrical Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering

Clemson's School of Engineering is fast becoming one of the best in the South. Under the direction of Dean Sams, engineering graduates are practically assured of employment with one of a number of firms sending representatives to Clemson looking for graduate engineers.

The freshman engineer wrestles with "Heat and Beat," Polk's chemistry, English and mechanical drawing. As a soph, the engineer selects his particular branch and takes in physics, machine shop for some, and his first mechanics course. Architects and Architectural Engineers begin to burn the lights at the Engine House twenty hours per day.

The junior is confronted with varying amounts of thermo, "double-E" and more mechanics. The architects on the third floor now burn the lights twenty-six hours per day, seven days per week.

In the senior year EE's are exploring electronics, CE's have built the big bridge, architects are designing churches, ag engineers are improving farm machinery, chemical engineers are wrestling with chemical plants, mechanical engineers are designing turbines and condensers, while ceramic engineers watch the progress of the new Ceramic Engineering Building.

The engineering laboratory facilities are excellent; here a group of students operate electrical apparatus by a central control panel.

THE SCHOOL OF TEXTILES

- Textile Chemistry
- Textile Engineering
- Textile Manufacturing

Today more and more textile plants are moving to South Carolina, making more jobs available to capable men. Clemson’s School of Textiles is constantly enlarging its curriculum to provide for this need.

The “linthead” starts out in T. M. 101 under “Heals Beals” Wilson, taking up the general features of textile manufacturing. With the second year comes “cards” and “Mumbles” Marvin. The junior year finds the textile student struggling with fabric analysis and “Uncle Bud” Cartee. Finally in the last year there is costing and microposy with “Speedball” Campbell and “Happy John” Edwards.

The school of textiles is divided into three main departments: Textile Engineering, Textile Chemistry, and Textile Manufacturing. The T. E. course prepares the graduate to enter the research and development field. The course in textile chemistry prepares the student for such work as coloring, bleaching, dyeing, printing, and finishing of yarns and fabrics, plus the manufacture and sale of dyestuffs. T. M. is for those who would like to enter the production and management phase of the industry. All these men are well prepared and capable for rapid advancement in textile plants wherever they might settle.

The laboratories in the Textile School are all modern and well equipped, giving the students ample opportunity to develop good textile methods.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Students that have completed their regular four-year courses, are sometimes eligible to continue and attain a master's degree.

The degree of Master of Science is awarded to those students who satisfactorily complete a prescribed graduate program of work consisting of a minimum of 30 semester credit hours in the student's field of concentration. Of the 30 semester credit hours required, six must be for research and at least twelve must come from the courses which are designed exclusively for graduate students.

H. J. WEBB
Dean

Two agriculture graduates confer with an Education professor after a class in advanced vocational education.

Graduate students listen to Professor Stribling lecture on a hot Saturday morning.

Although graduate students have their classes in numerous buildings on the campus, depending on their courses, all wind up at the library sooner or later, for research and study.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The Executive Committee, composed of the president and secretary of the Student Body and the four class presidents, helps to direct the policies of the other branches of the student government. This committee meets at the convenience of the Executive Committee Chairman, Miles Bruce, who is president of the student body.
STUDENT ASSEMBLY

The Student Assembly, composed of members of all the classes and representatives from the Council of Club Presidents, recommends and promotes legislation beneficial to the student body.

This year, for example, the Student Assembly was partly responsible for the institution of the Student Loan Fund, and put through the necessary legislation for having veterans take over guard duty during exams. Two members of the student body write a weekly column in the "Tiger" informing students of the activities of the student assembly.
The Senior Council is the judicial branch of the student government. The council tries all cases not under the jurisdiction of the military department. It is the duty of the Senior Council to recommend to the president of the college disciplinary action for any conduct which tends to bring discredit upon the student body or the college. Cases of a military nature may be reviewed by, or appealed to the Senior Council which makes the final recommendation.

The Senior Council is composed of seven members elected by the student body, and two ex-officio members. The ex-officio members are the vice-president of the senior class and the highest ranking officer in the cadet corps.
Anything can be done on a slipstick—the engineers' greatest asset. Here SCHWARTZ figures out a buddy's compound interest on a fifty-cent loan.

THESE SENIORS HAVE BEEN RECOGNIZED

All of these men are recognized on the campus—as outstanding graduating seniors and as men who will no doubt be successful and useful citizens as they take their places in a confused world. These men are not necessarily the "brains" of Clemson, neither are they the playboys. They are the men who through perseverance and hard work have achieved a position of honor among the students themselves, for these men were picked by the students for this honor.

CLASS CUTS

But JACK, you shouldn't eat more than five.

BILL, we don't have inspection at 3:00 a. m. anymore.

What is it? A hulla hulla, a burlesque, or Marilyn Monroe?

Gad! How does it stay up?

“Did she say that about me?”

It’s smooth as a baby’s... what?

FRESH
I'm mean as hell!

Now pat him on the po-po and send him off to "Grandpa" Gaspar.
"Greetings! You have been chosen . . ."

The beginning of the end.

No comment!
WE PREPARE . . . under the supervision of Army and Air Force . . . twice a week—drill . . . inspections, formations . . . the ultimate goal—second lieutenancy in the regulars or reserves . . .
Under the command and jurisdiction of Colonel F. E. Cookson, the Army ROTC unit at Clemson is among the finest in the country.

The commandant and his staff of officers and enlisted men have charge, not only of all military matters concerning the cadets, but also the class cuts, parking regulations, and other phases of cadet life. It is the purpose of the Army ROTC training program to provide reserve officers for our national defense.
The second Air Force Colonel in as many years, Colonel L. H. Tull has command of the Air Force ROTC cadets at Clemson. Colonel Tull and his growing staff of officers and enlisted men keep close tab on the Air Force unit at Clemson, striving to turn out top notch reserve officers, worthy of the Air Force blue. The Air Force unit is fast approaching the Army unit in number of cadets.

Professor of Air Science and Tactics
THE MEN WHO KEPT US ON THE BALL

These men—the Army and Air Force officers and enlisted men—were the ones responsible for our military education. They not only taught us in the classrooms, but also instructed us on the drill field and checked us at inspections. To these men goes part of the credit for keeping good the reputation of Clemson men, as officers and leaders, in the minds of all who come in contact with Clemson graduates.

CAPTAIN DeLOACH is a new addition to the Army faculty at Clemson.

Spring Inspection—that long-awaited-for day. Not that it is with happy anticipation that it is looked forward to, but at least it is great when it's over.

"Colonel, do you and the Colonel think this boy's posture is all right?" says the Colonel.

"Room, ten-SHUNT!" BRUCE and CAPT. AUSTELL usher the inspecting officer into another room during Spring Inspection.

FOR THE BIG DAYS
CHARLIE adjusts the sweat band in his helmet liner during his six weeks stay at Camp Gordon.

EARLE bites his lip as he thinks of how nice it would be to wake up at noon at the beach instead of waking up at dawn and dry-firing machine guns.

The Air Force also had it pretty rough at summer camp as can be seen from the picture.
SUMMER CAMP

At the end of the first year of advanced M.S. or A.S., students take a six-week basic training course in their particular branch, where they learn what it's like to live under actual military conditions. Here students put into practice all the things they learn in classrooms. Infantrymen undergo mock battles and maneuvers, engineers build bridges and practice infantry tactics, ordnance men learn about new weapons, signal corps cadets learn how to use and install field communications, and the Air Force cadets learn the role of the Air Force in the modern fighting machine.

At Belvoir, supper in the field meant the day was only half over for the engineers. Here TOM GIOIOSA, on KP, serves food to JOE MURRAY.

AMES, T. K., and WAYNE wash off a little of the grim of summer camp.

At Fort Knox, BUD and WYLIE learn all about tanks and armored warfare.

The Sergeant shows CARROLL and a couple of others the pattern that should be made when firing at a head and shoulders target.

McGILL learns the tricks to operating a field telephone.
Regimental Staff

Headed by the cadet colonel, the Regimental Staff is the top level of cadet rank. These men have shown by their desire and capabilities that they are well fitted to lead the cadet corps. Their ranks range from corporal to three diamond colonel and each is responsible for a particular job in the cadet corps.

Doesn't take much to draw a crowd on Band Company.
Yea, verily, 'tis true that another jam session on the "quad" has passed, but not without its sad, sweet, joyous, and sour notes. One of the saddest, yet most joyous notes sung out when "Dad" Boone finally painted his way into a "sheepskin". "Indian" Jack Major and Charles "Dynamite and Gas" Howle helped to lessen the sadness of "Geech's" departure by producing their famous drama, "Dad Boone Rides Again", featuring "Anie" Gettys Harris as leading man. The "Green Phantom" was known to ease up and down the third floor halls at midnight. Meanwhile, "Herman and Alfred", editors of the company's two "slanderous" (?) publications were busy keeping their identities a secret for fear of losing their "heads" (?) Their writings were accepted by the general public with both laughter and "choice" words. Justified were their fears. Jimmy "I've got a hole in my head" Phillips did treat the troops right. Greaaaat... first break we've had in years. While we are handing out orchids, a bottle of Hadacol to Captain "Red [M] Featherhead" for giving the boys a square [shaft] deal. He was called, affectionately, the "old man" of Band Company after celebrating his 37th birthday with Capt. Joe Austell. Charles "Poo Bird" Jones finally took his leave from school with B. C. [Einstein] Smith, noted bass player. Gus Sheider, not far behind said, "You should have seen the send off the boys gave me". Dickie Buckles also got a big send off by his many friends in the M.S. department. Jack "I'll wear those three birds yet". Halifax wore out all his blitz cloths and made it pay off. Gene "Frog" Fersner still says he can croak louder than anyone in the company. Bobby "Dove" Plowden, our supply sergeant, kept the troops supplied with more hot air than supplies. O. G. was running a close second by calling out his battalion at least twice a day. "Rural" Walker, lamed auto driver, says after many years experience, "Sleeping and driving don't mix, Doug". From down around the barn Leelus, Jack Sherer and Jack Greene worked very hard every afternoon keeping the [Girls] basketball coach, F. D. White, from moving out smartly. The honor of the company was upheld as usual by C. E. and "Boney" with "Henry" H. Berry not far behind. Two new physicists which when accompanied by our own "Teddy Bear" Thomas gave promise of setting the world on fire.

"Well, anyway, as a "hole" the company was "one", but we didn't ask questions, we just had fun.

While looking down the quiet (?) halls of this cherished abode, we find A-1. This stillness was soon broken by the bellowing "call of the wild one," which is our affectionate top kick. "The Lavonia Looper" Bellamy as he "beckoned" the troops to dinner. In the stampede that followed one might recognize the following: B. C. Inabinet, who hurrying along "accidentally" trampled several upperclassmen. Rats Engle, Bessent, Hill, and Sifford along with, last but not least. Wise, always complaining about having to meet countless forma.

Not to forget the social life of the company you could always stop in on a company social and find Fred Parrish and Eugene McCormack partying along with the rest of the boys. If you looked hard enough you could find Ballew, Judge and West in a corner somewhere sipping the "essential" usually found at a social. The trouble started after the party as a rule—you couldn't miss "Skeet and Ab" finding their eventual way back to the right room. Our "Old Faithful" Rogo was forever coming up with his old act: "They can't make me on room arrest". Cunningham, Creech and Batten were always on the rats about poor rat service. They (rats) knew full well that paddling had been outlawed. 'Dago' Anderson, our supply sergeant, could always be found collecting money for lost ram-rods. Allen, King and "Mighty Voice" Dorn were always on the go, especially when it was time for N.C.O. duty. "Bullets" Truluck and Crafton were usually in the first sgt's. room griping about something. Looking at the company from the outside, we found Bart Anderson was chosen the neatest rat... he should be neat; he never did anything to mess up his uniform. (Upper classmen, take notice.) Also there was the company basketball team; "Bud" Webb, Collum, Spencer, Charlie Gray, "Wylie", and a platoon of subs. The seniors who could be found at dinner formations were Pat Wise, "Ack Ack" Ackerman, "Nick", "Pop", "Cob-boy" Carson, "Spot" and Holmes. As does every company we also had a captain, "Dewie" Bouchillon—was always helping the troops out until Saturday night when they had to help him in. Until you need them for some good cause (work) Jim Hanna and Paul Baxley could be seen along the hallowed halls of stone. When there was a need for an extra wisecrack or two "Big Bill" Author (?) was around somewhere. This shortened version of A-1's history could run on and on with the surplus of CHARACTER material available. If you don't believe it then look at the surrounding pictures!

Following we have a condensed version of the company history for the year. We, like all other companies, had our share of beat-outs, clowns, etc. Headed by Bill (I have a rat hair cut) Creighton and his sidecar, executive officer Burly (Winthrop, I am here) Davis. Then our first sergeant Lou (I give the rats hell) Darby who was the "Pershing Rifle Flash". Rat Anderson made a pretty good rat....when he wasn't on room arrest. Hiller always tried to be the "Big Boy" of the company. Coogler was known to take off on the weekends while Dick Campbell and his buddy took Square Dancing 101 every Tuesday night from 8:00-12:00. You never did see Banz study without his pipe. Lietner and Long had the rep. for being the nutiest cadets in the company. The ones elected most likely to beat out were Frewer, Rudolph, McKensie, and Whelan. Pitts and Watson had the thankless task of rolling out the troops in the morning. They have been called some mean things before but nothing to compare with early morning vocabulary. Gabriel, Lindsey and Melton, the "three" from Spartanburg, were known to raise the lid on Saturday night, as well as some trouble. Beat outs, Rats Russell and his cohort Rabon were always trying to dream up some excuse to get out on the weekends. Gallucci and Calabro, brothers without the same name, knew how to keep the rats on the stick, that is when they were not mooning over Anne and Mary Ann. Rat (I want rank) Gillespie, Rat (Muscles) Jordan and Rat (Deadeye) Woods were known to keep a sharp room. Lee (I'm Georgia's gift to Clemson) Bivins had an inmate at Coker. Lewis was always griping over something. Dickson and Heater met every Saturday (?) inspection. McDavell was as long as the stick he carried. (I'm hell with the women) Andrishok or (I room with Louie) Tinsley won't be forgotten for awhile. Mihlstin made B-1's best squad leader. Chapman become the Captain's valet while Snapp and Stephens spent their hours talking about Georgia, where the chickens have to be protected from the hoot owls. And last but not least, Tiger Dantzler finally turned Senior.

Day Cadets undergo a rough inspection.

TINSLEY goes over the society page of the "Daily Bust".

In "old-new" third barracks, second floor, Captain "Plowboy" Gibson, engaged man, spent most of his time traveling to and from Greer. Executive Officer was "Lead-belly" Schuettler, the "Lint House" terror and military fanatic and his little brother was "I don't give a damn" Taylor who was just the opposite. And there was B. I. "Skin-head" Miller, who is still dumb, Galloway, who left us for three buttons, and his old lady "Country" Glenn, the hell-raising platoon leader, who took over his command. The terror of the third platoon was Bobby Cook. These boys had their trusty assistants. "Plowboy II" Salters, "General" Bradley, and Barrs "I'm hell with a pencil" Bishop. We, also, had our share of characters: "The Chief", "Clem" Blackwell, "Duck Butt" Anderson, Christopoulo, and Rats Farmer and Burruss. These boys actually had their own casino in Room 211. We were honored with two Oscars in our company, Dave "I'm hell with the military" Moorhead and Steve Griffith. We also had two boys on the Junior C. D. A.—Toby Clemons and Moorhead (again). Our "shoeshine" boys were B. McClure, J. Ethridge. Drew "I left The Citadel" Pickens and Smith "I'm hell with the Anderson girls." Hinnant. Let's not forget "Tex" MacMillan, the Jersey Cowboy and his buddy "Hillbilly" Parker. The all-night boys were Turner, Satterfield, and Parker. Of course, there was Allen "Let's go to Florida" Arthur, who never stayed up after midnight on a problem. A couple more of our staff members were Jimmie "My God! No pants!" Curry and Frog "I'm pulling for First Sergeant" Mixon. Nobody could ever forget "Mush Mouth" Fowler, who got away with murder. (He finally left us for the Air Force and ended up at the University of South Carolina.) We had our share of party boys: Ashmore, Templeton, Bert "who stole my rum" Baker, Herman "I'm gonna quit" Swaggert, Frank Wheelless, Grainger, and Bobby "I didn't say that" Varn. Then we had a few boys, who just didn't get this military so good, such as, Cowdy, Candler, Wilson, Cantley and Parks (who just couldn't get there on time). Here are a few good ones: Carlton, who said, "Tomorrow I'm going to turn over a new leaf, yes sir, I'm going to get military". Hair, who said, "Aw, those are good looking boots, I've only had them ten years". "Cube Root" Worley, who said (second semester), "Not everybody can be a Senior". Beatty with, "Well, I'll tell ya down in Florida, it's like this...". Mixon, who always said, "Hell no!", before you could get a question out of your mouth. Bobby Shane with, "You should have seen the girl I had a date with last weekend". Don Shane, "I don't see how my brother got sergeant". Then there was Hardee who took care of his drunk old ladies. Hinson could, if Hardee couldn't and, of course, Harley, who thought he could, but couldn't. Moseley, who thought he was "hot stuff", because his name was the same as the First Sergeant's and Weathersbee, likewise, because he ratted for him. We had a few church-going boys in the company, such as, Brock, Young, and, Bishop. Well, no matter how hard Moseley tried, he couldn't seem to make C-1 military; everybody had a hell of a good time anyway.

"OOCHIE" stamps pretty nutsie today.

Residence, Club D-1 on the starlight roof, third barracks. The reputation of being the most military "club" in the regiment was all ours in spite of the collection of rogues on the staff such as Carrol "Leave me in the sack, mama" Gibson, "Wild Bill" Elliott, Tom "My new Ford will do 97" Gibson, Hall, "the C. C. Romeo" Gray and finally the biggest spoke in our wheel Bill "Roadrunner" Rhodarmer. It was quite a "blowout" we had at the Moose Lodge even though the movies were kinda rough on the troops. Major "Swearbaby" acquired a bit of interest in the game of "Switch the Witch." Carrol, Sam and Bud should get a prize for that "dig!!!" Tom took the title of Co. Romeo and if you don't think he deserves it . . . ask him!!. "Ironpants" Squires took the military honors (read the bust sheet) and was slightly excelled only by Rats O'Hear and Jefferies in "pulling". Tom never did head the tale of the 'Baloney Eatin' Fly'. Eisenhour's harmonica and pet dog sure did become important all of a sudden—wonder if George still thinks it is a low-blow for an inspecting officer to request his girl's phone number at inspection. Some people just don't have ethics at all, do they Bryan? Bill and Tom really pitched one for the records at State Fair!!! Bob Carrol, the old old soldier may grow a beard but he will never fade away. His old lady, "I think you're privileged to date a Clemson man" Cauthern was a walking stick lover boy. We had our (HA) brains around, too: Rooster (?), Carter, McGloin . . . and if you insist, "Hoot". Yeah, Lou, we remember your three A's first semester!!!" (Better save them.) Second semester brought enough gold braid to run an admiral's convention. There were enough rat twins to make one see double!!! A great company though in spite of all—good work deserving congratulations, Bill.

Looks like everyone is a horizontal lab major in this company.

See what we mean?

Company A-2 not only had good material for the company but also for the regiment. One excellent example was Miles Bruce, our leader and Clemson's leader. The student body could depend on him for his best for them. It takes all kinds to make a top company and we had a variety. 'Willie' Fabian sure did sweat it out in M.S. — How about it, "Willie"? Talk about joy . . . One look at D. D. Smith when he earned that gold braid explained it. Hard work, but worth it, hey, Don? How Rat Simpson rated the Rat Queen, Frances Shealey, we will never know. Carol Dobson sure did have a time with his ram rods and oil. Did the rats drink it, Dob? Joe Godwin turned out to be the regiment's most military 2nd Louie. Tolbert and Ware really pulled for perennial military orchids—how about it, Carl? George Buck was determined to beat out one man on the 440 relay—who else but—Buck George, naturally! The rats sure did give Jesse White hell until the clerk caught on. Carl Brabham was the only one who met taps in tie and french cuffs—slipping out, Carl? Pus Connelly was known to have wild weekends. "Bunny" Hair, better known as 'Cool Head' was strictly the nervous type, even though his buddy Crampton was a bit 'punchy'. . . Mut' Guyton became the playboy of the Senior Council—a good thing his "ole lady" was Schachner. Don Harrison had a time with the "Crowfoot" and those squares—right, Don? Gabby promoted good table humor as he discussed excellent deputation dishes. Rat McMilan solved the "closed weekend problem". Still feeling "liquid", Mac? If "Ace" Shealy could call cows the way he called for hall detail he might could rival Lanza. How about it, Mousse? Fletcher, cousin to the regimental pride and joy, was a persistent "puller". Bailes really pulled one on us—how is married life, Jimmy? Lamar Neville did love his Y.M.C.A. experiences; the deputations couldn't be one reason could they, Lamar? Rat Maudagh's ready, "O.K." made him the pride and joy of the upperclassmen and gave them new hope on the dying rat service.
Some rats do a little “duck walking” under the watchful eyes of their upperclassmen.

Boys, this is company "Rat Service has got to pick up" B-2. For a collection of oddities come right in. We have such attractions as Rat Braswell, who could ask some of the most far-fetched questions at long roll. The voice of "The Frogman" Dempsey could be heard from one end of the barracks to the other as he called his proteges out to formations. Those midnight debates between Haytas, Clary and Parrish, on most any subject imaginable, often dragged into the wee hours of the morning. But 'The Duck' Mellard always managed to sleep peacefully through the "contests", except when the wildlife lover, E. E. Jones, went through his amorous antics. The whole company waited eagerly to see E. E. turn 4th semester junior. Big 'Sarge' Griffin and that charming little fellow, Hughes, made quite a team in second platoon. How many Tuesday nights did Amick miss his square dancing lab in Anderson? Not many! Too bad Scott Jackson had to give up the barracks for married life . . . but he's sorry!!! Billy Johnson, the Boscobel Belter had rather drive a golf ball than kiss a girl . . . (?) Cat' McClain's clothes wandered all over the place the night of the 'Tacky Ball' T. B. 'Two Bourbons' Earle slept it off for three weeks after the Senior Platoon's trip to New Orleans. Capt. Allen tried his best to salvage that best diifed company banner. The troops had a scare when Royals, fresh from Summer Camp, checked rooms at Saturday inspection. Somehow Rat Boudoucues managed never to be around on weekends. Faucette and Hendricks were the company's favorite wake-up orderlies. Reece kept his bulletin board up to date, even down to Washington's order for the crossing of the Delaware!!! The third platoon never checked too close when Parrish slept through long roll on his feet, and Hughes always liked for everyone to be home (here) when he checked Taps. Sgt. West's platoon all agreed that West was a good boy in his place but it hasn't been dug yet! When Turner, Cone, and Huggins were around on weekends there was plenty of hell raised (100 proof yet!). Chippy Flake was supposed to be the 'snowman' around here, but he had so many that he left the local talent alone so his buddies would have a chance. The only time Frank James stayed up past 9:30 was when he composed his daily air mail letter to Fla.

Company C-2—and all through the hall a dull, gray, death-like, breathless stillness prevailed. Then the sabers jangled, and a sharp "Room Tention!" echoed down the hall. Everything grew quiet again, and then, with a sudden ungodly shriek, we went back to our usual procedure since, the battalion check up was over. "The usual procedure" was very informal: C-2 was the dog-gonnest, most visiting company in the Regiment! A very sociable company, we had lots of fun ... and we had every sort of character in our society. First Sergeant "Mama Ward" Powers was a guiding light to all his boys, and C.O. Fred Green couldn't erase that smile long enough to ever think about being rough. Walt Gonseth was known for his cracks at long roll. Then Leutuyler, the flag tooter, with the help of his ole ladies, Jeff and Freeman, kept the check and merit roster fixed up with BLUE so that all the boys would stay happy. Rat Font, Montilla, and O'Neil kept the company on "light fantastic toe" with their Latin American music—and Adolph and Bordue came in with their banjos—and Bradberry serenaded all those in the shower with his tenor 'Sweet Adeline'. Lock, Joe Cochran, and David Padgett, always came around plenty early to get the fellows up for breakfast and Mailman Patrick kept all the folks at home informed. Dick Freund graduated from rat service with honors and was presented the distinguished metal of honor for dodging all the fists in the early twilight. Gressette and Humphries decided to leave C-2 and work on the military. And remember Buddy Turner and Butler—Rat Sergeant Joe O'Cam's private secretaries. (It took quite a bit of work to type up the Wolf's bust sheet. But most of them were fictitious and just part of a psychology experiment.) We'd have large congregations at Evening Watch, and we'd take turns preaching ... Barry, Hugh, Ward, Terry, Jerry, Elliott, and Joe did their part. George and Ralph came in the new semester—then we got a little more military, but things didn't change too much. Nolley suggested that we conduct special sewing classes for the rats, but Bates and Green thought that classes in shoe-shining would go over better with Mack. The company supply rat, Shoobred, had to keep an extra large supply of Scotch tape—George had to use it on Jim Wallace, Yarbrough, Brown, and Wilkes several times. J. Campbell, Burnette, Sanders, Wright, and Beach graduated with honors from rat service, and Fore, Burns, Gary, Alexander, Coleman, Brown, and Littlejohn made "Es" and had to take the examination over. Joe Cunningham, Gilmore, and Corley kept the spirit up! They were characters to admire, love, and smile upon ... and Shaw, Reid, Rast, Reeves, and Hall were the best and most-eating neighbors in the company! Lynn Wyatt, Ashcraft, Bill Stewart, and Turner bust the midnight oil studying—and Lover-boys Sanders, Martin, and Ray Bell bust the midnight oil writing letters. Jim Wallace was the nuttest rat in the company ... Sh-h-h-h-h, get back in your rooms—they're having another check-up.

D-2, strategically located near the "Juice" shop was the most convenient location for the "big brass" to make their rounds during the Saturday inspections (they didn't get walking up the stairs too well). Like all the other companies D-2 had its 'rogue's gallery. For example: Rat Pitts, who won the citation for company clown with Sam "white lightnin" Clemens close on his heels. 'Rats Bolte and "Punchy" had it made cleaning up for the 1st Sgt, but Ramage went one better and became valet to Mack, the colonel. Rev. Ramrod Hall was the life of the staff table (?). The bohunks spent most of their time in Vance' and Carl's room, where birds of a feather flocked together. Our Yankee rat, Cigro, didn't get these southern cops to well. How he got out of the 'clink' at Liberty will never be known. Blondy Stoudmire kept the road hot between Clemson and Greenville. Course he had a PRETTY good reason —with "Dink", "Doc" (I'm the co. clerk) Derrick was always trying to put the shaft onto the troops . . . what will it be like if he gets to be the Sgt. Major? Tommy McCullough and Archie Baker were the company athletes on the varsity. Captain Simp., the illustrious CO, tried to keep both the company and Converse satisfied . . . how successful he was is debatable. Another Converse man was Guy. The 101 Club's Carl Olin, and Jerry, were quite the lovers during first semester, that is, until the grades went home. Comb Easterly made it a habit of coming to long roll with lipstick plastered all over him . . . we know you know women, Comb!!! To be so little, his old lady, Phil, tried to be a lot of hell!!! Rat Carter played a 'uke' big as he was. Hagan moved in from the regimental but he did bring some swell records with him. Don't know what would have happened to "Dum Dum Dregore, the Rev.", if Rat Mac hadn't kept him supplied with dates. If Wildbill "the cleanest" wasn't playing with his bugs you could always find him washing!!—by unanimous vote "the cleanest" in the company!!! George, the Seneca Brave" Hutto kept the first platoon on the stick with the best (?) command voice in the regiment. A good many of the boys donned their gold braid second semester. How about it Hall, Kay, and Reinhardt? Rivers, Martin, and Coleman were the "nutsiest" troops in the company, while Kurt, Moore and Collins walked away with "brainiest" honors. Rat Boyce and his old lady Cason were pretty good rats. Jerry "first soldier" Stacy held things down to a dull roar except when he was at Riggs.
Those long arms of CAPT. COMBS are bad news for the troops when it comes to looking for dust.

CLAUDE really had a rough night and CLARK just laughed.

From the looks of OLIN'S face JERRY must be smoking that rabbit tobacco again.

Guard duty seems to be just a laugh!

Even though A-3 is just down the hall from the quarters of the Battalion and Regimental staffs, the troops managed to raise a little bit of hell ... that "rip-roaring" staff couldn't handle all of the boys. Rogers really knew how to keep his second squad of the first platoon on the ball. Lonnie "I was a first sergeant!" Howard really came through with that "one bird" second semester ... wha' happen!!! "She loves my ... " Coogler seems to slip down to the theater every night about the time Betty gets off from work!!! "Ape Man" Guest must have kept Charles Atlas in business last year; Dimmie McClure sure did give "Pretty Boy" Mattison a hard time in Belton. Whenever there was a parade "Eagle Beak" Calhoun just followed his nose. If "Big Business" Johnson had taken calculus, he might have made change a little faster. Bross in a fit insane, thrust his head beneath a train, and all were quite surprised how it broadened Billy's mind. What happened to Greene's girl in Augusta? Did she get married, ole boy?? Is it true that Gene Metz had a fan club in Anderson? Lander really rated by going out every night! Was it "Bill and Hattie's" or somewhere else, Angus? Ralph "Little Man" Hardin, the De Con man, really gave the rats a hard time. Rat Devaney shipped up when he let his old lady get into the Freshman Platoon! Enos got up one that time. Larry "there isn't any conceit in my family, I have it all!" Hood didn't know how to speak to anyone. "The Duck" Kirkpatrick sure did think a lot of himself, being on the swimming team! Cpl. "I never got a demerit yet" Mattison was Rat Blanke's idol!!! "Cactus" Calhoun would make a great hurdle man! With those legs he could straddle them. Clyde "Old Hickory" Poovy made a great ass. platoon sgt. "Roadrunner" Bradford goes for Buck Island, especially "Buddy". Hope tried to keep the room clean but his old ladies got the best of him. Bud "I've got a proposition" Hagan made some speeches at long roll!!! — Public Speaking major? Rat Smith, the "Don Juan" of S. C. spent some time at Lavonia!!! Thunder kept the company in hysterics. Did you really make the Colonel cry, Conner? Jack "Halt, we don't rate yet" Spillas sure did make a hit with the regimental staff. Tuten, Johnson's bottle boy, ought to join the door watcher's union. "Why don't you bust my rat!" Chaplin made a hit with the first sgt. Wonder why "Honea Path" Darby passed out cigars last semester? Brandon, Robinson and Harvey were well matched old ladies— Thin Man, Fat Man, and Inbetween, respectively. Averaged out it wasn't a bad company after all; was it "Black Riders?"
The wheels check the orderlies before guard mount.

"Merry Christmas!" Better shake it before you open it.

Company B-3, situated in the depths of the first barracks, is a wonderful spot to view the surrounding countryside. Namely, the mess hall, other barracks, etc. Not having the advantages of lounging rooms, golf courses, pools, sundecks and the like at our disposal, we made our life in our domain. Assets to this cycle included Jack “Daddy” Early who was relieved by Furman Galloway at the end of the first semester. Also we had Revell, whose cadence was just right for a basketball team. “Mouth” Edwards tried to keep all the Winthrop women “snowed”. The perpetual company social “pooped” when “Snow” King Adams stole all of the women. Company B had its own too. “Weasel” Jordan, “Possum” Waldrop and “Coon” Jackson. The “Trouble Twins”, Burns and Duke, really pitched some balls. Rats Werts and Bates had their contest to see who talked the most. “Kris” and “Willie” kept the company going on ‘100’ proof. Now you know why we won so many parades. Two of our most military men were “Napoleon” and “Big Ed” Mitchell.
Our captain, Bill Hanahan, taught us to fear the military and respect our superiors. At the beginning of the year we were practically at the top of our classes, and were voted the most likely to succeed. We were all very enthusiastic and devoted all of our time to the scholastic and military departments. As time passed on our devotions were rewarded with increasing blue-slips and an all-time record of room arrests. In spite of widespread public opinion that we were not worth a damn, we of C-3 can hold our heads high because we took for our motto: 'Don't let your studies interfere with your pleasure.' and accumulated a thousand memories and not a single grade point with the minor expense of a few bars and stars. Among our memories these will always remain: During a Sat. Morning inspection Bob 'Pudgy' Cunningham, George 'Monk' Griffin, and Dick 'Politic' McMahan were rudely awakened by 'Cookie' Cookson and Steve Canyon' Tull—'Don't they have any respect for non-coms?' We will always remember Henry 'I'll swear that I was at that formation.' McTeer and Gerhardt, the model cadet, who got in with the rest of us rotten apples. Jack 'All Right', Howdey! 'Why'd I get 5' Moyd, Jack 'Bell-Tell' Nixon, and I'll swing Gil' Hunsuck were our only contacts with the military. Outstanding in the art of pitching the 'woo' was Hamp Johnson who captured the hearts of the locals, Wilson Hucks who snowed the whole world and ended up with the shaft, and I'll save the next square dance for you.' Liakos. We weren't lacking talent for we had Muzzey and his miserable six hands, Benny. 'I won a trip to Europe' Wiggins, Red 'Tattered Shirt' Sutherland who sported a new senior braid (after five years he finally made it). Jim Johnson alias J. Gus Leo, the foggy actor', and Rat Herring who played it smart by being stupid enough to get out of most freshman duties. Those most interested in personal appearance were: Grainger, Colvin, Godshall, and Billy. The man without a uniform. Mitchell. Sebo, our unseen, unsung company exec. pulled high with Jelly Belly. Killer 'Rat Service Has Gone to Hell' Cain never gave up his ideas about the old days. We had our bad times, but the one who took them worst was Reid Patrick who lived in the Oasis on Sat. night and bemoaned the loss of old lady Johns. Most of the times were happy ones though. Remember how Walton Jones had such a good time at M.B. that he stayed there until time for classes Mon. morning and then looked dead till time to go home the next Fri? Bill Hanahan and Jimmy Sams, the socialites, had many good times in the Chem. building with Ethyl. All this was possible only with the efforts and cooperation of the finest 1st soldier ever, Royce Robertson.

Typical of Company D-3, better known as "Hell Alley", was its six o'clock drills and hell-raising. Captain Tolbert, Alais Slim Tolbert and Robert tried very hard but never did decide between Winthrop or Maryland. Exec. Othersen, "Otto" with the Charleston accent, kept busy handing out demerits and cursing "Uncle Benny". Loudmouth Stone only said two words the whole year, "No!" and "What!". Very few for a First Sgt. "Smiley" Mullinax decided to give up his platoon and start ordering a wife around or vice versa.

John Bailey finally got a platoon—good for John. "Bev" decided Lt. Wood should stay in school, so to make up for this, Lt. Wood got real rough on the troops. Wofford worked harder on that platoon than Fitch did. Guns' Forgett was Jane's favorite cadet. Was that a thing a cadet? "Clean Gene" Garrison and Charlie Raddiff decided to move up on the third floor with a little (?) persuasion from Col. Cookson. "Always Late" Cockrell forgot to post the guard roster. Stone got twenty. Frog, Waid and "Turtle" Whitmire were the model room arrest boys. Mouthy Wrightenberry was always trying to sell argyles at long roll. Rat Lundy was always saying, "Why you say I'm loggy, Robert?" Dick Tracy Sailey was trying to make Sgt., when only a sophomore. "Geechi" Sanders owns a plantation when the tide is out but is in deep water when it is in. Charley and Jimmy never met formations—always working on this book. Tarleton, Quinton, and}

Lowery tried very hard to keep out of trouble so they could go to Rock Hill on Saturday. "Frosty" Poston finally got platoon Sgt. Rat Sgt. LeRoy tried hard to keep the Rats straight but had some very stubborn Rats. "Baldy" Collins had more trouble with his hair than with his platoon. Rat Happy, reaching for his teeth at reveille really made a spectacle. Rat Meyers, the Marilyn Monroe of Fifth Barracks, always trying to save a penny when his old man had enough to buy the college, as if he would have the place. Room Arrest Massey just had to go to Tennessee on weekends. Wonder why? ... Rat Littlejohn asking, "Stone, do you reckon Sgt. Dickerson will approve my permit?" Second Lt. Kilpatrick never found a place for his hands except in his pocket. Rat Burch couldn't seem to get along with his fellow buddies, Doar, Pappas, Amor, Dointy, Hendee, and Shealy. Willie Ervin, the two-mile boy, showed some improvement in exchanging one button for two.

Angels' Lawson stayed at Rock Hill more than some of the girls attending Winthrop. LaMontagne had quite a struggle between football, D.M.S., and Bille. "Nature Boy" Dempsey had a girl to pick him up every weekend in a Cadillac, some racket. Heape and Culley, the one old soldier, didn't let academic work keep them from the Greasy Spoon. "Ego" Alais "Cat-Man" Sease cut in on The Colonel's wife at the dance.
"Due to a power failure at the dairy, the ice cream is melting and must be disposed of immediately..."

"Is this all you've got?" Better watch that cig, GERRY M.

Everyone is looking for something.

An enterprising cadet checks his class cuts.

He wasn't that dirty, was he? JACK had better move on before he gets wet, too.

To the cadence of Captain Jim, we of A-4 stumbled to this, the finale of the 52-53 school year. Without the material guidance and firm hand of our own first sergeant, Walter, the shortest one in Clemson’s history”, better known as “Doobie” Cottingham, many of our number would have fallen by the wayside into the doldrums of room arrest, which was conspicuous by its absence. Sheppard and Lt. Smith, cooperatively managed to keep the 2nd platoon in order. Roger Lorelle (2nd platoon sergeant) was the first in the history of the school who didn’t wear the uniform and meet formations. We had a valuable contribution to the beef industry this year in Carson DeBruhl, artificial insemenator first class. Happy breathing, “Ozark”. According to Irv Molony, this was a very nice situation. Of course, as far as Irv was concerned, everything was ‘very nice’. John M. put many miles on his “Victoria” this year going from school to school—strictly on matters of business, though. “Boozer” never missed a weekend with Jerry. I’d say he was snowed. Frampie and Mick got around a good bit themselves. Seems like “Husky, Hatchet Head” Wilson snowed quite a few unsuspecting females this year. The jeep wreckers, “Tankers”, Bill, and Jack were with us the latter part of the year. Stone must have been too rough on them. The Rast boys, along with Roscoe and Carl kept things on the third floor in a state of chaos. Bookhart, company clerk, and his “ole lady” Turner were supposed to keep the “rats” on the stick. Although A-4 had a majority of the football players, few of them went on room arrest. It really pays to bring the first sergeant a steak from the training table, eh boys? A few of the cats learned same new steps at dancing classes. How about it, Robert, Jr.? Cadet R. B. Watson made a fine start as a cadet officer. ‘What happened, Bob? Roscoe the Lavonia Kid’ Rivers carried a bushel of corn with him on every date—wonder why? Pete “Cowboy” Long really cuts a dashing figure in that “ten gallon” stetson. The P. D. prefers “Blacky” women, according to Hance—but the E. M. goes in for nothing but class. Tony Smith volunteered to look after Herlong after Noel graduated. Bill Mc. kept the service stations between here and Winthrop plenty busy on the weekends.
DEMMIE, you had better get out, this ain't your company.

Uhhhh... let's see now...

Bob's boys... More familiar to the 4th Bn. Staff as the "Goof Offs".

Of course, that big Goose Egg on the Best Co. Roster had nothing to do with it. Captain Garrison tried his best to whip the troops into shape, even though his mind was in Greenville most of the time. Company B-4, "Football Company", our only day cadets were: Quarles, Red Face, Andy, Puss, and Red Whitten—they were never around at night! The First Sergeant instructed the Guard Room to send their notices out to "Bill & Hatties" after 8:30. "Dick Tracy" kept the upper hand on his third floor Rats most of the time, except long roll. "Scab" finally managed to get rid of "Motor Mouth Morrison" second semester. Kaczmerek led his second floor clan to mischief. Bob followed through with a check up the following night for the missing Cuff Link.

"Bitchie Richie" only worried about his boys when they didn't bitch. His bark at long roll was always louder than his bite. Gorgeous George tried living off love second semester after he moved to a Pre Fab in February. Abo and Jim divided his belongings after the lost mission. Sijon was so military that he dressed his platoon at reveille, that is until Tate led him astray. Could it have been those "Career Girls" in Anderson? Cozart managed to keep the troops fed. His "Truck" must have thrown a rod every night as he never got back before taps. Dad Graham was the neatest senior. He won by shining his "Bird..." before every inspection. "Bulldog" Brown had to pay for a missing ram rod, only to find it later in the Company Commanders room—Hmmm. Rawl, the rat permit artist, kept a splendid record of going home every weekend. How many Grandmothers do you have, Rawl? Much "Hell" was raised on B-4, if you don't believe it, you didn't read the "Bust Sheet".

Ears NEELY checks those stripes while TANK lights up a cig after another inspection is under the belt.
C-4, located in the east end of the Waldorf (8th barracks) with its commanding view of the NEW laundry queens, who basked on the patio every noon hour, will now put in its two cents worth. With plenty of material (?) to choose from, this composition will start off with Bell-hops Minyard and Whitlow, who tried to snow all queens in sight, but failed along with "Old Soldier" Webb. On the subject of queens, Martin and McLeod kept the road warm between here and Rock Hill to see theirs (?). Next we have "Fog Bound" Polhemus and "Nutsie" Rhodes who kept the neat suite on Saturday mornings. "Fat Rat" Roberts, McLeod's favorite rat, had enough cooking equipment in his den to run up a million watts per. Mattos and Avery didn't raise as much hell after they separated from their buddies on the mezzanine, namely, Maloney, Moxely, Ankuta, etc. Rat Parker must have had the right ones in the Commandant's office because he never had a permit disapproved—this didn't go over to well with James, the Co. clerk. "Quiet Man" Sprott and "The Yankee Hillbilly" Froelick really enjoyed their Beauty Rest mattresses. Kinard tried to get the desk clerk Rosamond (1st Sgt.) fired by going to Pres. Poole's office about his room change. Rat Plyler provided the floor shows with his exhibition bouts with "Bantam" Staley and his cohort Pressly "Gorgeous George" Smith. Truelove was named quiet because he true loved all of them. Lover-boy Watt had to miss Taps a few nights to live up to his reputation. "Stretch" Millsap and "Beep-Beep" Horne, the Lebanon Lovers, had to keep their weekly dates. "Mario Lanza" Shealy kept the second floor entertained with his solos in the shower. Our dependable wake-up orderly, Purvis, never gave the boys a break by forgetting to set his clock. "Parrot" Buzzell might gain a little weight if he would quit squawking long enough to eat. Our house detective "Sherlock" McCall tried, in vain, to keep the troops going straight but his assistant, Tom "I don't give a damn" Rosamond wasn't too much help. Not a bad company though, as companies go, and how they do go.

You was pair. WESSINGER ball became pretty hot "wet". Few -rvc’r.- got laugh! The you decide sure SCOTTY, take who we something singer regiment thing least, dependable often in on Sullivan who sleeps in his sheep-herder’s boots. Leaving his corral we wonder out into the hall and bump into "Wee Ray" making his rounds. Before leaving the first floor we can’t forget John “I’m beautiful” O’Shields or Sonny Dukes skipping the halls for old quizzes. Many often wondered how “Bird-Dog” and his cohorts got permits to take off for Lander during the week. Must be nice! Going upstairs we find Bragg, Kirby, Langston and Davis, known to be the most dependable rats in the company. Jim “Rebel” Duffy was known to make a few calls to Boston, especially when the letter didn’t show on time. Had it not been for "Dinky" Staples’ car, a few of the romes would have been out of luck . . . right, Ross? “Space- man” Cook never did understand the game of hearts too well. Up on the third floor we find most of the hell-raising rats, namely; Tisdale, Cresswell, McAllister and his guitar, and a few others, including Thompson who was always getting water poured on him when he stuck his head out the window. And again, last but not least, we journey up to the penthouse where there is always something going on except studying. As we enter we find John “I know every girl in Greenville” Mikell shuffling out into the open in his “delux” shorts. Looking for his old lady, we find him “long gone” in the sack. Red (M.) knows all about John’s tales. Moving along, we look into Lynn ‘red patent-leathershies” Parker, who just might take over “Doc” Taylor’s Shakespeare course. Lynn is engrossed in a hot game in the ‘casino’ matching wits with John Moore and his pipe, Bob “The Blade” Jolley, whose laugh you can hear from the P. O., Louis "Goat" Odom, Jimmy the women love me “Wells,” Bull” Thompson, and "Bro” Schirmer. Ned “the silent type” Thornhill, and his old lady “Hoghead” Allison live in luxury in that night club of theirs. Carroll Moore and J. C. (my pipe and I) Hicks drop in later on. Bill Collins decided to come back after a leave of absence. George “Googie” Withers took on the ball and chain second semester leaving the “Blade” flat. That was a pretty good racket you had there “Blade”. Can’t forget Neil (I got the shaft again) Mishoe, the “Geech” who roomed with you, you guessed it, a Yankee? What a pair. Neil had his troubles, putting back the bar-bell “Scotty” always managed to leave in the middle of the room. A busy one Scotty was (so he said). If you went to the latrine about one in the morning, you would find Gentle, another Yank, combing his hair! To round off life on D-4 let’s drop in on one of the socials. It was a wet night at the W. F. W. wasn’t it “Slouch”, if you don’t think so ask Jim B. A few of the boys pulled a fast one and monopolized the women. What were their names? “Mac” Carmichael, Gene, Allen and Scotty? What was in that bottle Spence? Jim Bullock never did get his socks to stay up! Ollie “I have a new woman” Rose was always having trouble with his pictures!!! Jim Bass had a ball for himself in Columbia! It was great.

SCOTTY, she can’t be that bad. But she sure does get a laugh!

WESSINGER and WISE try to decide whether dust in the light socket comes 20 or room arrest. Give the “Geech” a break, boys!

Damn, GENE . . . what the hell are you doing?

SCABBARD AND BLADE

Scabbard and Blade, a national honorary military fraternity, is recognized as the tops in military organizations all over the country.

It is composed of men who have proved to be the cream, as far as military is concerned. Theirs is an easy life, for they, as the military leaders of the cadet corps, are most responsible for discipline, drill and instruction of the future leaders of the country.

ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY

The Arnold Air Society, named in honor of General "Hap" Arnold, is a national organization composed of outstanding members of the Air Force R.O.T.C. The Society has, in a few years, grown into a large and far-reaching organization, concerned primarily with promoting the Air Force, closer relations among the Air R.O.T.C. cadets, and developing leadership among them.

The Arnold Air Society is a young organization on the Clemson campus. Since its establishment here, the Society has expanded continually and is now a leading military organization, especially among the Air Force cadets.

The flyboys explain to each other the workings of a modern jet.
"The World's Fanciest Drill Organization" is a synonym for the Clemson Senior Platoon. This year gave the Platoon a chance to exhibit its wares in many places.

Composed of men chosen by elimination for drill qualities, members consider teamwork to a great extent in the tapping of new men. The Platoon’s big trip first semester was to Lexington, Kentucky, for the weekend where they drilled at the Clemson-Kentucky football game. Following this trip came many Christmas parades throughout the state. Second semester the Platoon enjoyed a five-day stay in New Orleans where they drilled, on invitation, in the fabulous Mardi-Gras Parade. This excursion to the Bayou country was the Platoon’s big event of the year. This year’s organization was one of the best in the twenty-two year history of the Senior Platoon. For this the members deserve credit for bringing fame and recognition to Clemson.

Some of the wheels stand around and bat the breeze.

PERSHING RIFLES

Founded by the late General Pershing, Company C-4, Pershing Rifles is an organization which strives to develop military ideals in its members. The club is noted for its close order drill formations.

"Bullets" are selected on the basis of drill excellence at the end of their freshman year at special eliminations. These men drill as sophomores and revert to an inactive status in their junior year. After carrying a P. R. Paddle for ten days, the "Bullets" are formally initiated.

Members of Fourth Regimental Headquarters are chosen from junior members of P/R Company C-4 on their military proficiency and their desire to promote the Pershing Rifles.

The Executive Sergeants' Club is composed of the ranking non-commissioned officers of the Corps, who serve as chief coordinators between the high command and the troops. The purpose of this organization is to foster and perpetuate a true spirit of fellowship and cooperation among its members and the members of the corps. At meetings, problems are discussed which are common to both members and the corps and through these discussions the group aids the corps in any way possible.

In the past, this club has been one of the most active on the campus and through its efforts, numerous projects have been undertaken for the betterment of the school and the student body.
Pi Tau Pi Sigma, the National Honorary Signal Fraternity, is a relatively new organization on the Clemson campus. It was chartered in 1951, following ROTC Summer Camp and the National Convention of the Fraternity.

Made up of cadets enrolled in Signal Corps ROTC, the organization fosters interest in the Signal Corps and fellowship among Signal Corps cadets.

Pi Tau Pi Sigma sponsors the Signal Corps exhibit on Mothers' Day and is active in various other projects on the campus.
S. A. M. E.

The Society of American Military Engineers, composed of students enrolled in the Engineer branch of the ROTC, encourages, fosters, and develops better relations among its members. The club meets to present and discuss appropriate subjects for social and professional fellowship. In addition to this, the club forms a workable group to aid in any activity carried on by the Corps of Cadets.

PHI CHI ETA

Phi Chi Eta is a fraternity composed of students in the quartermaster branch of the Army ROTC. All students in the advanced course are eligible for membership.

The purpose of this organization is to develop a greater degree of professional pride among the members of the Quartermaster Corps and to fasten a feeling of lasting friendship and fellowship among the fraternity brothers.

At the bi-monthly meetings, the military outlook is discussed with special emphasis on quartermaster problems.

TO HAVE THE BEST
WITH THEIR HELP

MANAGERS

The managers put in many hours of hard work keeping all of the equipment ready and straight for use in the Tigers' games. They also are the work-horses that keep the team in shape for their future encounters. Much credit should go to these men—the managers.
CHEERLEADERS

To improve our cheering section these men have worked long hours practicing yells and tricks for visitors and the cadets to enjoy at our football games.

They work up our pep meetings and rallies; have organized and worked with our card section until it is one of the best in the South.

This year, three of the cheerleaders, Dave Moorhead, Gabby Hayes, and Willie Fabian, went to the cheerleaders' convention in Miami, where they picked up new pointers on the art of yell leading and also new ideas for the card section.
The Block "C" Club is made up of those men who have won a letter in one or more of the major sports—football, basketball, baseball, or track. The members of the Block "C" Club undertake to promote better sportsmanship on the campus as well as raise Clemson to the top in intercollegiate sports.

Their initiation is one of the most rigorous, but the Block "C" Dance and other social events make membership in the organization coveted. Another activity of the Block "C" is to sponsor an intrasquad football game at the end of spring practice.
Post-season social life begins as DeMOOSE plays disc-jockey.

Old Glory waves "bye-bye" to opposing side as the cadet corps shows its stuff.
In all sports it must be remembered that the coaching contributes much to the success of a winning team.

Frank Howard, the head man, and his assistant coaches, have put Clemson in the nation's eye as a top power. Not only in football, but in other sports as well, credit goes to these men. "Goat" McMillan gets the Tigers' backfield in shape while Russ Cohen does the spotting for the Bengals and Bob Jones coaches the ends.

Bob Smith, head baseball coach, is also "T" expert for the football team. Banks McFadden, the head basketball coach, and Freshman football coach along with "Rock" Norman, track mentor, who doubles to help the Freshman football team, round out a great coaching staff.

Tom Barton and Jimmy Quarles were the defensive standouts in the Clemson forward wall, which yielded little yardage.

Twenty-eight thousand homecoming fans saw the Tigers outrun and outpass the boys from "Philly" only to lose a heartbreaker. An injury-ridden Tiger fought a game battle all the way. Jim Shirley, barely able to lift his right leg, and Don King, with a bad knee, spearheaded the Howardmen to a 60-yard touchdown march.

Earl Wrightenberry, Jimmy Quarles, Andy Smalls, and Knobby Knoebel repeatedly stopped the Bobcats on all but a few turns, as the Bengals went down in defeat 14-7.

All-American Jack Scarbath and a huge Maryland outfit blew up in the Tigers' face. Scarbath could do nothing wrong and Clemson could do nothing right in the Terrapins' 28-0 thumping.

As the Head said, "The turning point of the game I think came last December when the Southern Conference said Maryland and Clemson could play in 1952".

Whitten, Shirley, Gressette and Hair fought a good battle for the men of Clemson. "Black Cat" Barton, Wrightenberry, and Quarles did manage to stop the Terrapins for the greater part of the second half.
The injury-ridden Tigers, limping and lame, waged a hard-fought battle with the Gators of Florida. Buck George was not even dressed for the game, and several others were still bruised and battered from the Maryland game.

Billy Hair was the leading ground gainer for the day, running and passing for 154 yards. His most outstanding play was a 57-yard TD run.

The team's statistics show little difference in the two outfits. Florida netted 293 yards while Clemson had 203, but nonetheless, Florida outdistanced the country gentlemen 54-13.

Barton, Wrightenberry, and Barclay Crawford played outstanding ball throughout the tilt.
The Tigers, fighting hard to get back in the win column, played South Carolina all over the field just to have another heartbreaking disappointment, this time losing 6-0.

Billy Hair, Don King, Red Whitten, and Buck George played exceptionally well. Among the outstanding men on defense were Knoebel, Barton, Crawford and Wrightenberry.

In this 13 to 0 victory over Boston College, one of the better teams of New England, the Tigers looked like the ball team of old. Blocking was the best since 1951 and Billy Hair was inspired to gain 125 yards before getting hurt again.

Along with Hair, George Rodgers, Don King and Red Whitten led the attack through B.C.'s defense. "Black Cat" Barton and his defensive mates, Mattos, Gressette, Wrightenberry, Cook, Gary Byrd, and J. C. Hudson, was there to stop the Eagles' attack on all fronts.

CLEMSON 0
AUBURN 3

Auburn and Clemson had wrestled to a bitter scoreless draw for fifty-eight minutes and thirty seconds, when Auburn's Bill Turnbeaugh intercepted a pass and returned it to the Clemson eighteen, where Joe Davis kicked a field goal which was the only score. Otherwise, both teams spent the greater part of the afternoon punting.

Red Whitten, spinning, driving, and fighting, almost single-handedly, carried Clemson's offensive banner. He gained 95 of the 125 yards for the Howardmen.

Now, deep down in your heart, did you shoot that ball?
The Tigers' 1952 cindermen had one of their best seasons, taking first place in the Milligan Relays, and a close second in the State Meet.

Lead by Dreher Gaskin, Don Richardson, and Buck George, who received the Blue Key Trophy, the trackmen won 4, while losing 1 of its regular season meets.

Willie Ervin and Dreher Gaskin, captain and co-captain, are looking forward to another good season.

Much credit should be given all members of the team, who, under the guidance of "Rock" Norman, have become one of the best in the state.

Despite the loss of many key players, the 1952 Tigers managed an even break in Southern Conference play, winning ten while losing the same number.

Among the outstanding players on the team was Billy O’Dell, who set a new state record by striking out twenty-two in a game with South Carolina. Knobby Knoebeel was the leading batsman for the team. His homers proved a big factor in several games.

Considering the fact that 1952 marked Bob Smith’s first year coaching the Tigers, it was a fairly successful season.

MINOR SPORTS
THE MINOR "C" CLUB

The Minor "C" Club is composed of men who have lettered in one or more of the minor sports: Golf, Tennis, Swimming, Rifle, or Cheerleading.
Furthering good sportsmanship and bettering athletics at Clemson are the main purposes of the club.

TOMMY EARLE
President

Front row: Johnson, Kirkpatrick, Jones, Randall, Smith, Goodlet, Miller.
AIR FORCE RIFLE TEAM

Led by Bill Kinard and J. M. Moore, the Air Force Rifle Team had a very successful year, winning the greater majority of their shoulder-to-shoulder matches. Through the efforts of Captain Connolly, manager, and Sergeant Marianelli, coach, the team traveled away from Clemson for several matches.

ARMY RIFLE TEAM

Under the guidance of Captain Combs and Sergeant Reid, the Army Rifle Team proved themselves a very capable group, winning most of their matches over tough opposition. The outstanding marksmen for the team were Jim Callaham, Tommy Earle, and Charlie Granger.

The Army Rifle Team also traveled for several meets including the State Rifle Meet in Columbia.
The swimming team makes a big splash at the YMCA pool.

SWIMMING TEAM

The 1952 Swimming Team had one of the hardest seasons in many years. The Clemson tankmen coached by Professor McHugh won from Davidson and Emory while losing to South Carolina, Duke, and the University of Florida. Kirsch, Bee, and Kirkpatrick were high scorers for the mermen in each meet.

second row: PORCHER, ORWAY, BEE, KIRSCH, PLATT, THORNHILL, HANCEK, third row: COACH McHugh, BANTA, HAWES, SIMS, in front: LEE McHugh.
TENNIS TEAM

Under the guidance of Hoke Sloan, the racketmen had the best season in years by winning nine and dropping only one of a ten-game slate.

The Bengals’ victories were at the expense of Furman (twice), Erskine (twice), South Carolina (twice), College of Charleston (twice), and Wofford. The only loss was to The Citadel.

Outstanding members of the team included Captain Clare Draper, Bill Asnip, Paul Langford, Gene Moxley, and Bud Coleman, none of whom lost a match the whole season. This season the tennis men are looking for another good record, as most of the team is returning and looking forward to another good year.

Well, if somebody will throw in a couple of tennis balls, we’ll have a game of doubles.
Although there were many young and promising golfers on the links, the team did not have a very good season—winning four while losing eight.

The most outstanding players were Capt. Dick James and Jim Allison, who was third in the State Tournament.

The other Tiger golfers were Johnson, Lawson, Thornhill, Gibson, and Steadman. With the loss of none of these men and the addition of the "Aiken boys", we should have one of the best teams in the Carolinas this year.
The Y.M.C.A. sponsors the intramural program under the direction of Mr. Roy Cooper, who schedules games between companies and clubs. This gives every student a chance to compete in some sport: volleyball, touch football, basketball, tennis, or softball.

A tournament is held after the regular season in each sport and keys are given to the winning team. This year D-4 won the basketball tournament and as TAPS goes to press, several teams are in contention for the softball title.

CENTRAL DANCE ASSOCIATION

Through the efforts of the Central Dance Association, usually referred to as the CDA, Clemson students are able to attend five big dances a year.

The first dance of the school year is the Rat Hop, this year combined with Homecoming Dance. At this dance the Homecoming queen is picked and is the guest of honor at the Homecoming football game. Soon after the start of the second semester comes the Midwinters Ball, followed in March by the Military Ball. The big dance of the year for everyone is TAPS—Junior—Senior which is Mother's Day weekend.

CDA officers are picked at the end of each year by the retiring CDA staff. All officers must have served in the capacity of Junior CDA before becoming eligible for a staff position.
The CDA men gather in their grotto to discuss the next big soiree.

CONCERT SERIES

The opportunity to see such famous and international productions as the ones represented by the artists shown on these pages is indeed a tribute to Clemson College and particularly to the ones responsible for the Concert Series.

Each year brings new and different talent to the field house for the benefit of the students and others living within a close range of Clemson. These concerts are free to students except for a sum taken out of each student's activities fee. Each year also finds more and more students taking advantage of an opportunity, probably not to be found in many other localities.

BLUE KEY

The national honorary fraternity, Blue Key, is recognized as the top honorary and leadership organization at Clemson. Members are chosen from the junior and senior classes on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and service.

This year the Clemson chapter and the U. S. C. chapter co-sponsored the Blue Key dance before the State Fair Game. Other projects for the year included the sponsoring of the Cinema Guild and, together with the Student Government, promoting the Student Loan Fund, which enables students to borrow money for short terms with no interest.

Organized in 1928 by Professor John Marshall, Tiger Brotherhood, Clemson's own honorary service fraternity, has as its purpose the building of a greater Clemson. The Brotherhood attempts to do this by promoting better faculty-student relationships and by carrying out various projects which are of service to the entire community.

Members are selected for their outstanding ability and loyalty to Clemson from the student body, faculty, and campus men.

Among the projects currently sponsored by the Brotherhood are a telephone at the guard room for free local calls, a guest room for visitors, a faculty-student night, and the selection of a Clemson Mother to be honored each year at Mothers' Day.

The purpose of Alpha Phi Omega is "to assemble college men in the fellowship of the Scout Oath and Law, to develop friendship, and to promote service to humanity". This imposing objective includes four major fields of activity in which the program is delivered. These four fields which call for the attention of each chapter are:

- Service to the student body and faculty,
- Service to youth and community,
- Service to members of the fraternity,
- Service to the nation as participating citizens.

In order to provide a higher standard of learning and to encourage high scholastic attainment among freshmen, Phi Eta Sigma was established at the University of Illinois in 1923. Since that time nearly 100 chapters have been inaugurated, including the Clemson chapter in 1940.

During the past year, the chapter has made an effort to increase the activities and interest of the members. It sponsored a trip for four of its members to the eleventh national convention at Purdue University.

To become a member, a student must have a 7.5 grade point ratio for his first semester or a cumulative grade point ratio of 7.5 for his first two semesters.
"The whole group gathers for GEORGE to get a picture."
Phi Psi, the oldest and most-honored textile fraternity, was founded in Philadelphia in 1927 by the grand council. There are nine student chapters and thirteen alumni chapters with a total membership of about three thousand.

Pledges are chosen from the students of highest scholastic standing in the junior and senior classes plus the sophomore with the highest average. Inside these scholastic limits, pledges are chosen on the basis of character and integrity.

The aim of Phi Psi is to bind together its members with the idea of attaining a higher standard in the textile world.
"The initiates are now proud members—or did the meal bring out those smiles?"

PHI KAPPA PHI

The Phi Kappa Phi honor society, founded in 1897 at the University of Maine, is made up of graduate and undergraduate members of all departments of American Universities and Colleges. Its prime objective is to emphasize scholarship among college students and stimulate mental achievement by the prize of membership. It differs from other honor societies chiefly in the fact that it is not restricted to one branch of learning, but is open to all.

The requirements for membership are probably the most stringent of any organization on the campus, since eligibility requires a cumulative grade point ratio of 7.5 for Juniors and 6.5 for Seniors. The members are the real scholars of the student body and can be expected to go far in their chosen fields after graduation.
The Alpha Chapter of Tau Beta Pi, the top engineering organization at Clemson, was established in 1928. Since then it has been the mark of achievement for engineering students. To be eligible for Tau Beta Pi, a senior must have a grade point ratio of 5.5. Each year three members of the junior class who have made a grade point ratio of at least 7.0 are elected to the fraternity.

Meetings are devoted to talks and discussions on topics of interest to all engineering students.

The engineering brains gloat over the poop they've gathered for the next quiz.
The highest honorary fraternity for Ag students, Alpha Zeta is a national organization whose members are selected from students "of high scholarship on the basis of character, leadership, and personality." They shall have completed four semesters at Clemson and have the required grade point ratio.

At the meetings the members discuss various developments in the field of agriculture and plan projects for the club to sponsor. The most outstanding project this year was the reviving and sponsoring of the Agrarian, Clemson's agricultural magazine.
MINARETS

Composed of architects and architectural engineers, the Minarets provide a common meeting ground for architecture students and promotes closer relationships among its members.

Members are selected on the basis of high scholastic standing, personality, and strength of character. Pledges undergo a week's informal initiation, after which they are formally made members.

At the meetings programs pertinent to architecture are presented by alumni members, now practicing architects, interior decorators, and contractors.

"Local chapter on pilgrimage to Riggs Hall—or are they looking for Easter Eggs?"
The Beta Epsilon chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma was chartered a member of the national fraternity in 1939, after having its birth in "The Athanor", a local chemical club.

The purpose of the fraternity is to promote higher scholarship, a finer sense of honor, social interests, and a spirit of friendship among those students whose major interests lie in fields related to chemistry.

Invitations to membership are extended to students in the field of chemistry who are of the desired caliber and scholastic standing.

During the year the fraternity has sponsored a film series, chemical displays, protective clothing for laboratory work, study aids, and a number of social activities.
PROFESSIONALS
In 1932 a small group of interested students formed the beginning of this society to promote the interest of the students in agricultural engineering. Membership in the club has grown to a high this year of sixty-two.

Students majoring in agricultural engineering, of sophomore standing or higher, are eligible for membership.

Barbecues and refreshments do not utilize all of the club’s efforts, for as professionals they explore their field and make visits to agricultural implement manufacturers, rural electrification systems, and soil conservation projects. Throughout the year, the club presents interesting speakers from industry and research to inform the society of this changing world of modern agriculture and machines.

The Student Branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers is composed of juniors and seniors expecting to receive a degree in mechanical engineering. It is one of the largest and most active organizations on the campus.

At the two regular meetings each month the programs are made up of guest speakers or movies, followed by refreshments. To promote fellowship among the members there are occasional banquets and field trips.

The members attend other functions such as the annual Regional Convention and a banquet with the sponsoring chapter of A.S.M.E.
Organized locally as the Animal Husbandry Club in 1932, this organization was admitted to the national organization in 1948.

The objects of the club are to promote higher scholastic standards, to promote animal husbandry, and to bring about a closer relationship among the men majoring in animal husbandry.

Honorary membership may be conferred on any person actively identified with livestock interests by unanimous consent of the collegiate club and approval by the National Executive Council.

The National Textile Manufacturing Society, now in its third year of existence, is attracting more and more interest and promises to be among the top of its kind in the future. Its purpose is to bring about a more intimate relationship between the textile industry and the undergraduates of the textile manufacturing school.

The club brings to its members timely topics pertaining to the textile industry in general by showing movies and by talks given by local and distant visiting speakers.

The Clemson Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers was chartered in 1949 shortly after the Chemical Engineering Department became a separate branch from the Chemistry Department.

The purpose of the chapter is to unite the students majoring in chemical engineering and keep them up to date on their chosen profession. Members are chosen from the ranks of the upper three classes of chemical engineering students.

Meetings of the chapter are held twice each month, featuring various programs in which both students and visiting speakers participate. This year the chapter has initiated a program in which speakers from the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Energy visit the Clemson campus and give lectures to all persons interested in their field.

The American Institute of Electrical Engineers Student Branch was established at Clemson to bring the students closer together and help them get the most out of their chosen field. Any electrical engineering student of junior standing who is approved by the faculty advisor is admitted into the organization after a week of informal initiation.

By participating in the programs at the meetings, students get added experience that is often missed in the classroom. The club also provides opportunities for the students to express themselves by writing technical papers on subjects of interest to them.

The Clemson Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers was founded in 1922 under the sponsorship of E. L. Clarke, Head Emeritus of the Civil Engineering Department, for the purpose of encouraging high professional standing, advancing engineering knowledge, and promoting fellowship among its members.

The oldest national engineering society in America, A. S. C. E. offers its members many opportunities not found in the classroom. A practical approach to theory, blended with the advice and experience of guest speakers tend to further develop the civil engineering student.

Some of the organization’s projects include field trips to various points of interest to engineering students, representing Clemson at numerous meetings and conventions of the Founder Society, and playing a large part in the Engineering Fair.

Now affiliated with the national student branch of the American Dairy Association, the Clemson Dairy Club was first organized in 1922 by Professor B. E. Goodale. The club is a voluntary organization for students majoring in dairying. Its purpose is to create a greater interest in the rapidly growing dairy industry and to allow closer relationships between the faculty and students.

Meetings are held twice a month, with programs presented by students, a guest speaker, or a faculty member.
Careful, ED, don't spill any of that.

HORTICULTURE CLUB

The Horticulture Club is the professional club for all students interested in landscaping, ornamentals, vegetables, fruits, and food preservation. Members need not be Horticulture majors.

The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in the field of horticulture, to keep its members informed on the newer developments in the ever-increasing field, and to provide an opportunity for its members to meet with experienced horticulturists who are qualified to give first-hand information on problems that confront beginners in the horticultural profession.

KAPPA ALPHA SIGMA

Kappa Alpha Sigma was founded in 1937 and recognized as an official member of the student section of the American Society of Agronomy. Membership, usually around twenty-five, is limited to students majoring in agronomy. The club meets twice a month, the first meeting devoted to business and the second to a program of interest to the members. Guest speakers from the field of agriculture keep them informed on new developments in agriculture.

Each year members attend the national meeting of the American Society of Agronomy.

Alpha Tau Alpha, the national honorary and professional Agricultural Education fraternity, is a campus organization of students training to be vocational agriculture teachers. The fraternity was founded at the University of Illinois in 1931 with the purpose of "developing a true professional spirit in the teaching of agriculture, to help train teachers of agriculture who will be rural leaders in their communities, and to foster a fraternal spirit among students in teacher training".

The Kappa Chapter has a membership of ten. The requirements are grade point ratios of 6.0, 5.0, and 4.0, respectively, for sophomores, juniors, and seniors. A formal ceremony follows the week-long informal initiation.

AMERICAN CERAMIC SOCIETY

The Clemson student branch of the American Ceramic Society received its charter on November 28, 1949. The purpose of the club is to promote fellowship among the members and to aid the advancement of ceramic engineering at Clemson.

Any student majoring in ceramic engineering is eligible for membership and is formally initiated after successfully completing a test period.

The club's activities consist of a student-speaking contest held each year, arranging of plant tours, obtaining visiting speakers, and attending various sectional conventions.

Delta Sigma Nu is a local fraternity founded in 1946 for the purpose of uniting students majoring in pre-medicine at Clemson. The club strives to aid these men by providing helpful advice and discussions in regard to their future entrance into medical school and in medicine itself. It also presents monthly programs toward maintaining the pre-med student's interest and giving him some insight into the broad field of medicine.

Members must be pre-medicine majors who have grade point ratios of 3.0 or higher.

The Clemson College 4-H Club was reorganized in May of 1952. Membership has increased from thirteen the first year to forty-five.

The main purpose of the 4-H Club is to give agricultural students and former 4-H members a chance to become more useful citizens, placing emphasis of providing opportunities for leadership, developing their interests, and broadening their understanding of the Agricultural Extension Service and its possibilities.
The Clemson Student Branch of the Society of Automotive Engineers is one of the younger engineering societies on the Clemson Campus. The parent organization, however, is one of the oldest professional societies in America.

The Society of Automotive Engineers was originally founded solely for the field of transportation, but was expanded to include all branches of internal combustion as its applications increased.

The organization, which is composed of students majoring in any engineering course, brings the student in contact with industry through tours of factories, talks, movies, and fellowship with adult members of the society.

In 1930, a group of Clemson men majoring in Industrial Education felt the need for an organization to aid them in becoming more closely acquainted. They organized the Gamma Chapter of Iota Lambda Sigma and since that time this organization has helped promote closer fellowship and greater recognition for the students majoring in Industrial Education at Clemson.

The Gamma Chapter has been active in the national affairs of Iota Lambda Sigma since its beginning and will continue to be so throughout the history of Clemson.

During the thirty-eight years that the "Y" building has been in use at Clemson, it has served hundreds of thousands of students, faculty folk, people of neighboring communities, visitors and friends. More than one hundred thirty different organizations use the "Y" building, club rooms, cabinet rooms and auditoriums during the course of the year. Also often used is the "Y" Cabin on the Seneca River, where picnics and religious and social gatherings are held.

While the building of the "Y" serves a real purpose, the lives that are influenced through the Cabinet, Advisory Board and freshman, sophomore, junior and senior "Y" Councils, through evening watch and forum groups and by personal contact of students working with other students in the interest of the Christian way of life, all have helped to develop finer and friendlier relationships among students.
Whether it's planning a deputation to a neighboring school, preparing for a series of barracks forums, or conducting a Sunday night vespers, there is always plenty of work for the "Y" Cabinet. Back of all its chores, though, is the reward of Christian fellowship with boys of all denominations.

The Cabinet serves as the governing body of the student activities of the Clemson "Y". In this capacity the Cabinet endeavors to seek out the needs of Clemson students and, through coordinated efforts of the four "Y" Councils, to mold the program of the "Y" to fulfill these needs.

Here is one gathering NORTH should have stayed away from.

The Baptist Student Union brings together the many Baptist students at Clemson and fosters in them spiritual growth, thought and action through a program of Christianity at work.

Under the leadership of Jim Spangenberg, minister to students, this largest church group on the campus enjoys a year full of interesting programs, projects and services.

Since the college was established, there has always been an organized group of Episcopal students working jointly with the Episcopal Church, but only since 1939 has the organization been known as the Canterbury Club. The club is affiliated with the State and National Associations of Canterbury Clubs.

Any student who claims the Episcopal Church as his preference is entitled to membership.

Canterbury's meetings, held each Wednesday night during the school year, usually consist of an opening prayer by the rector followed by discussions or talks by prominent speakers.
The relatively small group of Jewish students at Clemson are organized into the Clemson chapter of the Hillel-Brandeis Club, a national organization.

At weekly meetings held at the "Y" in lieu of a chapel, members gather to promote spiritual advancement, social achievement, and universal friendship.

Some of the undertakings of the Hillel organization are discussion groups, guest speakers, and meetings with other religious denominations from Clemson and surrounding colleges.

The final phase of the club’s activities for each school year is the presentation of the Hillel Plaque at the annual banquet, which honors the person who has done the most to further brotherhood on the campus.
The Lutheran Student Association, affiliated with the Lutheran Student Association of America, is made up of the Lutheran students on the campus. The program is sponsored by the Division of Student Service of the South Carolina Synod.

With the service of a full-time pastor to students on the campus, regular Sunday School and Sunday Services are held in the church provided for this purpose. At its weekly meetings, the L. S. A. offers programs of interest, such as guest speakers and informal discussions of religious topics, and various social functions.

L. S. A.

The Lutheran Church, Clemson
Wherever Catholic students attend a secular college or university they have recognized the need of joining together to deepen the spiritual and enrich the temporal lives of the group through a program of religious, intellectual and social activities, to weld the Catholic students into a common union and to assist the college and all its students whenever possible. To accomplish these ends, student organizations have been established under the guidance of a Chaplain appointed by the Bishop in whose diocese the college is located. The Newman Club of Clemson College was organized in 1940 by Father Thomas F. Tierney.

Membership is open to all Catholic students and the club’s program includes Communion breakfasts, lectures, forums, parties, dances, and dramatics.
The Presbyterian Student Association is the student organization at Clemson of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. The organization was started under this name in 1938. All Presbyterian students are urged to participate in its activities.

The purpose of P. S. A., is to keep students in contact with the church and to develop Christian character during their four-year college years. The group meets each Wednesday evening after supper and presents programs that seek to keep the students informed regarding the broad activities of the church. Help and guidance are offered for life-centered problems of youth and the students are challenged to look to places of Christian leadership in the church after graduation.
The Wesley Foundation is the organization set up by the Methodist Church for students in the state-supported colleges throughout the nation. The purpose of the Foundation is to provide a well-rounded Christian life for the Methodist students on the campus in offering opportunities for worship, work, play, fellowship, and study. It also helps develop students for work as lay members of the church which they will attend after graduation.

Activities of the Clemson Wesley Foundation are varied and include an annual banquet, picnics, deputations to and from other schools, a weekly Sunday School class taught by two members of the college faculty, and a weekly meeting on Wednesday night. The Wednesday night programs feature speakers, panel discussions, deputations, student programs, and socials.

The Wesley Foundation does not try to monopolize the time of the students but to help them live the abundant life.
BETA SIGMA CHI

Beta Sigma Chi, "Brothers of the Seacoast", is made up of Clemson students who live within a fifty-mile radius of Charleston. The club was founded in 1933 by a group of Clemson men from Charleston County who were interested in organizing a club to benefit high school graduates planning to attend Clemson. Each year a $100.00 scholarship is awarded to a man from the Charleston area. Beta Sigma Chi also functions as a social club which helps the boys to get to know each other better. Highlighting the year's social events is a dance held in Charleston every Christmas.

COLLETON COUNTY CLUB

The Colleton County Club was reorganized October 17, 1946, and met on this date for the first time since 1943. The purpose of the organization is to aid Clemson students from Colleton County and neighboring communities to become better acquainted and to promote a county-wide interest in Clemson.
The Horry County Club, composed entirely of boys from Horry County, is one of the larger organizations on the campus. The club's activities consist of programs, parties, and various other forms of entertainment to promote friendlier relations among the members.

The club is now concerned with a project to establish a part scholarship for some worthy Horry County boy who desires to attend Clemson and needs financial aid. Funds for this scholarship are expected to come from donations by old grads and other Clemson fans who are interested in the club.

Nu Epsilon is made up of northern students at Clemson. It has a fourfold purpose of fostering the intellectual and social interests of its members, welding them into a common union, assisting new northern students to become acquainted with the campus and promoting the name of Clemson College in the regions north of the Mason-Dixon.

Claiming the title of "the South's smoothest college orchestra", the Jungaleers are recognized in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia as the source of good dance music, sweet and low or fast and hot, as the occasion demands.

The band played many successful engagements this year at various places, including the University of Georgia, Clemson and the University of South Carolina.

BLUE NOTES

The Blue Notes, Clemson's newest dance band, was organized in 1950 by Richard Harrison and has been gaining in popularity ever since.

Made up of Clemson students entirely, the band of eight musicians practice every Monday night, perfecting their renditions of smooth popular music.

The Blue Notes play for dances at Clemson and surrounding colleges, for high school Junior-Seniors, and for many conventions in the Clemson House.

The Clemson students who have received the degrees of Master Mason are organized into the Square & Compass Club.

The only requirement for membership is that the student be a Master Mason.

The club promotes friendship among the members and, as a yearly project distributes Christmas gifts for the Shriners Hospital in Greenville, S.C.

Delta Beta, the hesitation and procrastination branch of the National Society of professional Dead-Beats, was founded in the year of our Lord 1951. The fraternity has been reorganized to follow the pattern of our military staff. Five captains now do the work done by one second lieutenant. The great labor organization which was formally composed of rats is now extinct, the labor being supplied by company commanders. A chaplain and assistant have been added in the hope that the club can pull itself up into the gutter.

HIS OWN
Every year it's something else. This year Dickie laid out the book during the summer and by the time matriculation started, Charlie had been given a new set up for bookkeeping, colors had been picked out, the cover design decided on, and things were in better shape than they had ever been, at such an early point in the game.

Things went even better right at first and over ninety per cent of the student body participated in the yearbook program, about thirty per cent more than had ever before participated. Most of the publicity and sales-manship for this greatly expanded program to include everyone's picture in TAPS, came from Charlie McCown, who simply refused to let anyone pass up the opportunity to buy a book.

But, as usual, things went from great, to not so great, to bad, to worse.
With the loss of two staff photographers before school opened, the picture taking was left to one man—too great a job for anyone. And with the monsoon season helping things after Christmas, TAPS was once again rushing like hell to meet a March seventh deadline two weeks late.
DAVE gathers his troops to explain the TAPS lex nonscripta.
The junior staff learned the meaning of late hours and cramped muscles as they typed and traced layouts for the ever-demanding senior staff. The boys really put in the time when the chips were down and, after much sacrificing, the book finally came out.

SUGAR, CHARLIE, and MAC try to work under adverse conditions.

Which one is the fool?
CHARLIE, JIMMY, and BOBBY switch from deadlines to smooth lines.

HENRY puts in a few late hours trying to make the sports section bright.

The Head Man sounds off, but it's doubtful that SCOTTIE takes much of it in.

CHARLIE shakes DICKIE up with a statement of the financial situation.

DICKIE admires TANK'S "original" cartoons, as they both pray the troops will like them.
LOUIS censors a few of the remarks in EDDIE's story.

THE TIGER

Copy Monday and Tuesday, linotype and proofreading Wednesday, digging, searching and reporting Friday, Saturday and Sunday—thus goes every week of the school year for the "Tiger" staff.

"The South's most interesting newspaper," the "Tiger" is subjected to no form of censorship by the faculty or administration. It fully covers the events on the campus with news articles, weekly editorials and that Nemesis of the misbehaving student, Oscar.

Revived this year by the Fraternity of Alpha Zeta, "The Agrarian" has again taken its place among the professional publications on the campus. The magazine contains articles on the latest developments in the various fields of agriculture plus editorials and items of interest to students of agriculture.

Not only is this the oldest of Clemson's technical publications, but it also has the largest circulation, being distributed to all schools and county agents in South Carolina and other institutions over the U. S.
The "Slipstick" staff picks a sunny spot to do some research.

SLIPSTICK

Keeping the engineers informed is the job of "The Slipstick", official publication of the School of Engineering at Clemson.

Published by a group of engineering seniors, it contains technical items of interest to the engineer and features and editorials of interest to the community. The entire publication is done by the student staff with advice and helpful hints from the advisory board.

Here is a chance for the future engineer to express the ideas and information that will mean his livelihood tomorrow.

The School of Textiles' official journal, "The Bobbin & Beaker", published quarterly, is concerned with problems that confront textile manufacturers, engineers, and chemists. Articles written by students and textile men inform readers on the latest developments in the textile industry. The publication was organized in 1939 by the Phi Psi fraternity and has proved itself to be an outstanding member of its field.

"The Clemson Tower", the magazine written in a typical spiritual Clemson lingo, is a devotional magazine sponsored by the Junior Y. M. C. A. Council. "The Tower" was founded last year by the Projects Committee of the council with Joe O'Cain as "Tower" head. The magazine is designed for the Clemson student who seeks a daily devotional guide and lends to students of all denominations an opportunity to express themselves in spiritual and religious matters. Published three times a year, "The Tower's" purpose is to promote and better the religious endeavors on the Clemson College campus.
MILES, GENE, and DAVE look over the product of their work.

The most useful booklet, found in every room on the campus, is one of the chief projects undertaken by Blue Key every year.

"The Blue Key Directory" lists each student at Clemson, his barracks room number, P. O. box number, major course, and home address. Also listed are the members of the faculty and administration and all the organizations on the campus with their presidents and advisors.

A committee from the "Y" Cabinet plans and sponsors the "Y.M.C.A. Handbook", a guide to Clemson, edited primarily for the benefit of new freshmen. It lists all the schools, organizations, and means of entertainment found on the campus and describes the campus, orienting new-comers on the history, appearance, and location of the buildings and grounds.

The staff prepares the book in the spring for distribution to the freshmen in the fall.

PARTNERS IN A GREAT PLAN

A senior looks back over the books and supplies that he used in his four years at Clemson. More things than he realized now that they are all together for the first time. And he's a mechanical engineer using an average amount. Spread out before him are more than fifty textbooks, a hundred notebooks, an equal amount of paper. Boxes of pencils, bottles of ink, and all of the necessary items for four years of hard work. All of these are his partners in his search for knowledge, in his preparation for the future. In furnishing them our job is a most satisfying one.

There Will Always Be Someone Taking Your Measure

Some measures are taken with a tape but the more important measures of life are taken by the people who size us up, whether it be a sweetheart, a classmate, a son or daughter, or a prospective employer. There is always some keen eye, whether we know it or not, scrutinizing the dimensions not only of our physiques but of our minds, abilities, and characters.

Your training at Clemson has been designed to improve the dimensions of both your mind and character so that when you graduate it can be said that here stands a Cadet foursquare to the world, ready and eager to shoulder the responsibilities which his particular talents and abilities qualify him to assume.

We measure Cadets for uniforms. Our customers measure us in their appraisal of our ability to execute a uniform contract satisfactorily. It will be a never-ending effort on our part to keep our measurements good in the eyes of Clemson.

We salute the Graduating Class and wish you all Godspeed in your chosen field of endeavor.

What a wonderful world of color was locked in that magic tube!

Shimmering jewels, a brilliant mosaic—what pictures could be imagined in the tiny wonderland of a kaleidoscope! But careful! Don't jolt it! . . . Or you'll find that your wonderland has gone.

Every color that danced in that miracle tube has been captured by dye scientists for everything that people wear or people use. But these need not be kaleidoscopic colors that change—or unstable colors that fade; they can be colors that last for the entire lifetime of the material.

That's the kind of color fastness that can be yours when you turn to Du Pont for dyes. Our technical service experts will help you find the right dye for the end use—whatever it may be. E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. (Inc.), Dyes and Chemicals Division, Wilmington 98, Delaware.
