The first words got polluted
Like river water in the morning
flowing with the dirt
Of blurbs and the front pages.
My only drink is meaning from the deep brain,
What the birds and the grass and the stones drink.
Let everything flow
Up to the four elements,
Up to water and earth and fire and air.

Governor Beasley Spoke to Fellowship of Christian Athletes

It was a usual Thursday evening and Clemson University’s Fellowship of Christian Athletes was gathering for their typical 9:19 p.m. meeting. However, on October 10, 1996, FCA received a surprise visit from a not so typical guest. This guest was South Carolina’s governor, David M. Beasley. Beasley was in the Clemson area for a fundraising dinner for State Senate hopeful, and eventually elected, Thomas Alexander’s campaign. After an invitation from IPTAY’s Bob Mahony, the Governor decided to stop by and speak at FCA’s weekly meeting.

Governor Beasley shared his testimony and told of how he became a Christian. Through a persistent friend’s gift of Christian audio tapes, he heard of the love that Jesus Christ had for him by dying on the cross many years ago for all of his sins. Even though Beasley had heard this story many times before, this time he was determined to find out why God cared so much about him. He researched information about religions because he was interested in what made Christianity different from any other religion. In a sense, Governor Beasley wanted to prove to himself that nothing was special about Christianity. However, through personal studies of ancient extrabiblical historians such as Josephus, he realized that there was proof other than just the Bible that Jesus existed and was an actual man. In addition, through personal readings of the Bible, Beasley realized that Christianity was not just a religion but rather a relationship with a loving and a living Savior who overcame death.

During his college years, David Muldrow Beasley attended Clemson University and played baseball while majoring in Microbiology. In his junior year, Beasley ran for the South Carolina House of Representatives and won.

Years later on January 11, 1995, David Beasley took the oath of Office of the Governor of South Carolina. As Governor, he was aware that this position of authority was not achieved by himself, but by the grace of God. Therefore, he should take every precaution not to abuse any power that God gave him.

In conclusion to his speech, the Governor asked all Christians to pray for the leaders of our schools, churches and government, even though political preferences such as Democrat, Republican, or Independent may vary.
The Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) is an international organization dedicated to serving individuals with exceptionalities, such as mental, emotional, and learning disabilities and those who are gifted and talented. CEC was started in 1922 by Elizabeth Farrell and was the first unified special education organization. It is now active across the world with 900 chapters in over 40 countries. There are seventeen divisions that specialize in the different areas of service for people with exceptionalities. CEC also offers publications with teaching methods and research on related topics. It is an advocate for people with disabilities in both the judicial and legislative arenas.

The Clemson University Chapter of CEC is very active in our community. We have sponsored Bowl-A-Thons with the Tribble Center in Seneca, a center that serves individuals with mental disabilities. They sponsor a Halloween Carnival for the children from Helping Hands of Clemson and Collin’s Children’s Homes and participate in the Crop Walk for Hunger. We have meetings that offer information on specific areas of special education and programs in the state of South Carolina.
Sixty years ago a group of students from North Carolina State University and the College of William and Mary decided that it was time to expand their small music fraternity. They searched and found Clemson College, a small military college located in upstate South Carolina. Students who were members of the music ensembles gladly accepted. On January 16, 1937, the Delta Chapter of Mu Beta Psi was chartered.

Mu Beta Psi is considered one of Clemson University’s oldest honorary fraternities. When it was first chartered in 1937, it was all male. In 1974, Mu Beta Psi’s sister sorority, Psi Mu Psi, merged with Mu Beta Psi and the fraternity became co-ed. The fraternity has remained active ever since.

One of the soul purposes of the fraternity is to promote fellowship among musicians of the various musical groups, as well as musicians of different schools. Today, Mu Beta Psi houses 9 chapters and is chartering a 10th. The newest chapter was added this Fall at St. Vincent’s College, in Latrobe, Pennsylvania.

Mu Beta Psi is a nonprofit organization that serves not only the University community, but the entire Clemson University. Fraternity services and fund-raising this year included a drawing for an autographed football signed by Coach Tommy West, a basketball signed by Coach Rick Barnes, and several car washes. The fraternity also provided refreshments for the music ensembles after their performances. Also, the brotherhood helped the Music Department by ushering for the University Concert Series.

To become a member of Mu Beta Psi, a candidate must have completed at least two semesters of any Clemson University music ensemble, attend weekly pledge meetings, and participate in initiation rituals.

To commemorate Mu Beta Psi’s 60th Anniversary, the fraternity held a banquet at the Holiday Inn of Clemson. There were alumni, speakers, food, and a formal dance. Among those invited were the other active chapters, Clemson chapter alumni, their guests, and of course, today’s active Mu Beta Psi members.

Rings with the harmony of liberty
Let our rejoicing rise—
high as the listening skies
Let it resound
loud as the rolling sea.

Sing a song full of the faith
that the dark past has taught us
Sing a song full of the Hope that the present has brought us
Facing the rising sun—
of our new day begun
Let us march on

Clemson’s Class of 1947 Remembers

Carl W. Sinclair
Textile Engineering • Whitmire, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“My Senior Year and the G.I. Bill of Rights, I didn’t have to wait tables in the dining room – didn’t have to work on the Student Aid Program – only went to school and had great fun with the girl who is now my wife.”

Mr. Sinclair is a retired textile engineer and now resides in Greensboro, North Carolina.

James Robert Potter
Civil Engineering • Spartanburg, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“Strutting my stuff in the Sunday afternoon parades.”

Mr. Potter is retired and now resides in Sugarland, Texas.

Wilfred E. Lipman
General Science-Physics • Charleston, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“At University of Denver, Graduate School, my professor stated that classes seemed easy for me, and I never complained about homework. He requested the name of my undergraduate college. I replied that he probably never heard of Clemson. He responded, “It is a very SELECT college!” HOW PROUD I WAS!”

Mr. Lipman is President of Charleston Enterprises, Inc. and still resides in his hometown of Charleston, South Carolina.

Henry E. Crandall
Mechanical Engineering • Clemson, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“Clemson as a place and university will always elicit my fondest memories and praise. Since I was raised on campus and lived within easy driving distance. My fondest memories are giving rat service 1941-42; uniformed corps parades on Bowman field and the entire sophomore class volunteering for military service - WWII. On graduation I was broke, but drank a beer to celebrate - I had a job in Asheville starting July 1, 1947.”

Mr. Crandall is retired and now resides in Asheville, North Carolina.

William T. (Bill) Eggleston, Jr.
Architecture • Greenville, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“Furthered my love of art through study of architecture. Me and my snare drum with the marching band of “Band Company” on Bowman field. Playing Boogie Woogie on the old piano at the “Y”. Flying over campus in a B-25 Bomber from Greenville Army Air Base. Bid Band dances with girlfriends from Greenville. Shipping by R.O.T.C. guard at night to run over to the “Steakhouse” for a five pound $1.00 Steak.”

Mr. Eggleston is currently operating a herb and vitamin business with his wife in his home in Whispering Pines, North Carolina.

Don Camp
Agriculture • Bakersfield, California

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“Some of the happiest years of my life. Clemson was where I met some of the most wonderful people of the world - the South Carolinians.”

Mr. Camp is currently involved in Farming and Agri-business in his hometown of Bakersfield, California.

Ms. Smith’s current occupations include computer sales and law enforcement. She now resides in Greenville, South Carolina.

Palaniappan Ar
Computer Engineering •
Kalluppatti, India

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“Dr. John N. Gowdy was my advisor. As a foreign student, the people, environment, culture were all new and strange. Dr. Gowdy helped me get through the hard times and do well in my studies. That always reminds me of the great time I had there.”

Mr. Ar is currently a software consultant residing in Westminster, Colorado.

Bill Rodatz
Mathematics • Easley, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“My fondest memory of Clemson is all of the beautiful women.”

Mr. Rodatz is currently an MVS Systems Programmer at Clemson University and still resides in Easley, South Carolina.

Donald James Bromley
Accounting • Kennett Square, Pennsylvania

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“When I think of Clemson, I remember the great times with my fraternity brothers of Sig Ep, the intense roar at a Clemson-Carolina game, the trips to Myrtle Beach and Tiger Town Tavern. The best thing of all is that I made great friends, had great times, and attained a great education at the same time.”

Mr. Bromley is currently a CPA and Director of Accounting and Client Services for a firm in his hometown of Kennett Square, Pennsylvania.

Loraine Dickinson Smith
Financial Management • Jacksonville, Florida

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“Making a Clemson game my first college football game ever - and as a cheerleader no less. I’ve never seen so much orange in one place! Also, the entire four year vacation was the only time in our lives when we could truly be carefree. Now that we have been working for 10 or so years, we can look back and realize just how reckless we were allowed, and somewhat expected, to be. Scary thought!”

Chemistry • North Augusta,
South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
The attached quote (listed above) was on front of the 1969 TAPS during my freshman year. It was a time of conflict, turmoil, and change. This quote has been my mantra of my adult life and I have looked to it for strength and justification for my ideals. I have never sacrificed my integrity and I have had the opportunity to meet with Governors, Senators, and a sitting President of the United States. I feel that I continue to help this country. If not me, who.”

Dr. Griffin is a family practice and geriatric physician who resides in Orange Park, Florida.

Frank R. Graybeal, Jr., M.D.
Zoology • Sumter, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“Walking to classes on crisp fall days, and long hours in Long Hall.”

Dr. Graybeal is a diagnostic radiologist now residing in Fuquay-Varina, North Carolina

Jay Eichelberger
Electrical Engineering • Mount Dora,
Florida

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“Whether walking or riding a bicycle, I was impressed with the beauty of the campus. I especially enjoyed the garden for the blind.”

Mr. Eichelberger is an electrical engineer for Harris Corporation. He now resides in Indialantic, Florida.

C. Ed Evans, the “Wizard”
Electrical Engineering • Orangeburg, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“We had lost to Carolina all three years before, since I was a rat (freshman). In 1972, the game was in Columbia. At halftime, the smug Carolina band took the field to spell the halftime score - Carolina 0, Clemson 14! The cheer from our endzone was deafening! Final Score: Clemson 17, Carolina 7.”

Mr. Evans is a shortwave radio station manager in Bluffton, South Carolina.

William (Bill) Parker
Industrial Education • Maplewood,
New Jersey

Fondest Memories of Clemson:
“My second life at Clemson involved Mu Beta Psi and the Tiger Concert and Pep bands. Besides some great socializing, the winning of the “Tiger Band Outstanding Freshman of ’68” has to rank up there with playing for Bob Hope with the Sentimental Jazzmen in Littlejohn Coliseum.”

Mr. Parker is an industrial arts/technology/C.I.E. teacher and he resides in Andover, New Jersey.

Fondest Memories of Clemson:

“Winning the “Trustees’ Medal,” rat haircuts, alma mater and tiger rag, the hill and rock, pep rallies, allnighters, fraternity parties, football games, rat auctions, Greek Week, Tillman tower, Homecomings, intramurals, Coach Howard, panty raids, Study Hall and Red Carpet, Tigerama, “Y” and Bowman beaches, Fort Hill and ROTC drill.”

Mr. Skidmore is a County Judge who resides in Wildwood, Florida.

Thomas Blackburn
Technical Operations • Ridge
Spring, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:

“Watching the storms roll over the foothills, friendships, learning about life and love, and most of all, emerging from my rural background to a brave new world.”

Mr. Blackburn is Group Vice President of the Chesapeake Corporation. He now resides in Mathews, Virginia.

C. Julia E. Heaton
M. ED. in Education • Easley, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:

“My first time at Clemson was in the 1960s, as a member of those first, on-campus females! We “broke ground,” established lifelong friendships with our males students, as well as fellow females in the “dorm.” To be a part of the “Clemson Tradition” was well-worth those few scorns we females endured. How good to return in 1971 for my Master’s degree and see the positive changes, but how good it is to call your old friends from the 60s and talk and talk about the “good times at Clemson when...” That unconditional support is the Clemson experience of my memories, and I thank God for that opportunity.”

Ms. Heaton is retired; part-time professor of Limestone College. She resides in Easley, South Carolina.

William B. Edwards
Psychology • Johnston, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:

“In Beta Theta Pi fraternity, which was Sigma Kappa Epsilon local, I was known as “Dick” Edwards. We had some good times, great parties and would probably be arrested now for some things (like chaining a fraternity brother to Winthrop’s gates). But, all in all, we turned out some pretty good guys, and had fun doing it.”

Dr. Edwards is a dentist in Newberry, South Carolina and he lives in Columbia, South Carolina.

Edwin P. Rogers, Jr.
Political Science • Mullins, South Carolina

Fondest Memories of Clemson:

“The fondest memory of Clemson is graduation day.”

Mr. Rogers is currently a Marion County Administrator and is still residing in Marion, South Carolina.

Dean Kineath
King of the Hill

Thomas Kineath has been at Clemson for twenty-eight years. However with the restructuring of the colleges in 1995, he had to start all over in the position of Dean of the College of Engineering and Sciences. Dean Kineath accepted the challenge with determination and hopefulness.

When Dean Kineath arrived at Clemson University in 1969, he felt that Clemson was a good starting point. He became accustomed to integration. Although it was another school, "grabbed his heart."

As Dean of the College of Engineering and Sciences, Kineath's duties consist of leading and facilitating. As a leader, he gathered and endowments by trying to raise support resources for donations. As a facilitator, members are able to perform their jobs. Dean Kineath also believes that the most important aspect of being dean is providing the best education for the students.

Dean Kineath hopes to be remembered as a caring and sensitive person. He wants people to think of him as a leader and someone who did his job well. Perhaps he can best be summarized by his philosophy on life: "Live life to the fullest. Make your most significant contributions to mankind and society." Thomas Kineath lives every day by this philosophy.

Michelle Kelley
In 1896, Clemson students decided to produce a creative outlet for the student body. Their creation was The Chronicle, a hundred year tradition at Clemson. The Chronicle publishes articles, stories, essays, poems, and artwork written and drawn by Clemson students. The organization has an office in Holtzendorff and produces a fall and spring issue. The Chronicle has produced and will continue to produce a literary magazine for and by the students. It is a tradition that needs to be kept.
In 1955, Clemson broke with its military tradition and enrolled twenty six women in the university. Until 1963 women had to live in their homes because there was no women’s housing. The university then opened Mauldin Hall, the first women’s dormitory. By that time, there were one hundred and fifty eight women enrolled in various majors. Since then, the number of women has steadily increased with women being almost half of the student population today. Clemson University celebrated forty years of coeducation in March 1996. One woman who was one of the first in 1954 said, “I was so frightened when I walked into class. But as I did, the cadets stood up and applauded. It was then I knew Clemson was ready for the change.”
The 1996 Concrete Canoe team from Clemson University consisted of a core group of about twenty Civil Engineering students who belonged to the student chapter of ASCE. Captains Nathan Nabors and Doug Simpson led the team to a fifth place finish in this national competition, which consisted of an oral presentation, a technical design paper, a display, and five races (men’s, women’s, coed sprint & distance).

The University of Wisconsin at Madison played host to over twenty-five colleges from across the United States. This national competition was sponsored by the American Society of Civil Engineers and Master Builders. Over 225 colleges and universities compete in this annual event, but a majority are eliminated at the regional level. After winning the regional competition, the Concrete Canoe team, along with advisor Dr. Serji Amirkhanian, traveled to Madison this past June.

The canoe, named Defiance, as well as the display, called Castle Defiance, held to a medieval theme that was also carried over to the actual design report. The canoe, which was one of the products of over 5000 hours of work, was sanded down many times before a color scheme of orange and purple could be added. The trademark “tiger paw” graced the bottom of the canoe. Overall, the canoe was about twenty feet long and weighed approximately 125 pounds.

The actual competition between the contestants began with the judging of each school’s display. Castle Defiance turned out to be a walk-through display that included many pictures and graphics, as well as an interactive computer display that covered the complete construction of the canoe. The oral presentation took place on the second day of this three day event. The third day involved the preliminary and the final races. Clemson University finished fifth place in the competition.

Many people may wonder how a canoe made of concrete can float in water. Concrete will float when it is sealed because of the air voids trapped inside. The shape also aids in the canoe’s ability to float. It displaces water, similar to a cereal bowl that floats in a sink. As long as the canoe remains upright, it will float. This proves that concrete is not just used for sidewalks anymore!
Clemson: the name inspires scenic landscapes, roaring tigers, and Baja car racing. Believe it or not, Clemson University has made its mark in that event. Senior mechanical engineering students in Dr. Law's design class started participating in this event last year. The Baja Car Design is a competition held in the United States for universities from the U.S., Canada, and Brazil.

The students took in several factors when they constructed the car. The first was to treat the vehicle solely as a car. The students had to ensure the car was comfortable, could be mass produced, and looked appealing. Another factor was treating the vehicle as an engineered structure. The group designed the car to be structurally sound and capable of withstanding varying amounts of stress.

The car itself was constructed mainly of steel tubing with some aluminum joints. In order to raise funds for the project, the students typed a proposal and went to several companies to raise support. They also searched for the least expensive steel tubing that was sufficient for their design. Students put in many hours of work outside of the three hour course. Many ran practice runs with the baja motorcar in the parking lot behind the football stadium and the EJB.

The seniors' hard work paid off. They received a second place finish at last year's competition. The Clemson baja motorcar did well in tests of acceleration, speed, maneuverability, and endurance. Also, many of the students received an A in the course.

Looking out across campus, you see the various buildings: Tillman, Hardin, and Riggs to name a few. However, look closer and you can see a blur of color speed by. Clemson's baja motor car is another innovation in Clemson's history.

Bruce Johnston's Lady Tiger tennis team had another outstanding season, reaching the round of 16 at the NCAA Championships in Athens, Ga. The squad finished the 1996 season 15-10, 5-3 ACC, and ranked No. 20 in the nation.

The team was lead by Sophie Woorons who finished eighth in the Rolex Collegiate Tennis Rankings. She had a 31-11 singles record and was named an All-American in singles and doubles.

Woorons, the ACC Most Valuable Player, made Clemson history by reaching the final four of the NCAA Tournament, the first time a Clemson player had done so since 1983 when Gigi Fernandez was the runner-up. Along with her partner Jan Barrett, an All-American in doubles, Woorons reached the final 16 in the doubles tournament.

The men's tennis team had quite a different year than the women. Coach Chuck Kriese's team had what many would consider an off year. They finished the season 12-12, 5-3 in the ACC.

The Tigers' bright spot was the doubles team of Mitch Sprengelmeyer and Bruce Li. The duo finished the season at No. 9 in the Rolex doubles rankings. The high ranking made Li and Sprengelmeyer All-Americans.

The Tigers lost to Duke in the NCAA Region II Tournament in Clemson, but finished the season ranked No. 45 nationally.

Despite playing one of the nation’s toughest schedules and being ranked No. 10 in the power rankings, the Clemson men’s soccer team ended its season at 10-7-2 without an NCAA bid.

Clemson turned in a 5-7-1 record against teams in the top 40 of the power rankings. Of those seven losses, six were against teams that were ranked in the top five at some point in the season.

Despite the disappointing finish for the Tigers, Trevor Adair’s squad managed a few bright spots.

Four Tigers were named to the All-ACC team.

Despite missing three games, Paul Stalteri scored nine goals for the season and was named the ACC Rookie of the Year. He led ACC freshman in goals and assists.

Seniors Jeff Yenzer, Danny Care and junior goalkeeper Matt Jordan were selected to the second team. Yenzer led the ACC in scoring with 17 goals.

Jordan, playing with an injured arm, had a 1.31 goals-allowed average.
The Lady Tigers had another successful season, playing host to an NCAA tournament game for the second time in just their third year in existence. Coach Tracy Leone's squad finished 15-7-1, 3-3-1 in the ACC.

With the loss of all-time leading scorer Carmie Landeen, who left Clemson prior to the start of the season, the Lady Tigers needed a scorer to step to the forefront. Instead of one dominant player, the Lady Tigers were led by a trio that included a sophomore and two freshmen.

Freshman forward Jennifer Crawford led the squad in scoring with 13 points and 32 goals. She was followed by Beth Keller, a freshman midfielder, with 11 goals and 29 points. Sara Burkett, a sophomore midfielder, led the Lady Tigers with nine assists and was third in scoring with 23 points.

Crawford led the squad in scoring with 13 goals and 32 points.

The Lady Tigers also got excellent play out of junior midfielder Lissa Mansberry and sophomore striker Sheri Bueter who returned from a knee injury to start 20 games and score 20 points.

The defense was anchored by goalkeeper Suzanne Putnam, who allowed just 22 goals in 1790 minutes for a 1.10 goals-allowed average. She registered 74 saves and seven shutouts, including four solo shutouts.

The season saw the Lady Tigers advance to the finals of the ACC Tournament held at Riggs Field where they were defeated by ACC powerhouse North Carolina. A week later, once again at Riggs Field, the Lady Tigers fell 2-1 to Wake Forest in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. The Lady Tigers had beaten the Demon Deacons twice during the season by a combined score of 7-3 before falling in the post season.

Coach Larry Penley continued his run as one of Clemson's most successful coaches by leading the Tigers to a 14th-place finish in the 1996 NCAA golf Tournament at The Honors Course in Chattanooga, Tenn. Clemson has now finished in the top 15 in seven of the last eight years. Only four other schools are among that elite group.

A 11 - American Joey Maxon finished ninth individually to lead the Tigers to a final Rolex ranking of eight.

Maxon was just the third sophomore in Clemson history to be named All-American. The Delaware native tied for the NCAA lead for the most subpar holes in a single round with nine. He also finished with the second-lowest score in a single round with a 65 in the Carpet Capital Classic in Dalton, Ga., a tournament that the Tigers won. He finished the season with five top-10 finishes.

Junior Richard Coughlin led the nation with the best percentage of fairways hit with a .839 average. He had five top-10 finishes and shot a team-best 214 in the ACC Tournament.

Charles Warren had eight top-10 finishes, shot a 68 twice and shot the Tigers' two lowest scores versus par with a four-under in the Ping/Golfweek and a three-under in the Palmetto Dunes. He shot the Tigers' best tournament with a 212 at the Ping/Golfweek.
Fall in Clemson means one thing...Tiger football.
The Tigers started the 1997 season with the hope of erasing the memory of the previous season’s disastrous conclusion, a 41-0 Gator Bowl defeat at the hands of the Syracuse Orangemen.

It didn’t happen right away. To start the season, the Tigers were waxed 45-0 by the North Carolina Tar Hells in Chapel Hill in one of the worst Tiger performances ever.

Tommy West’s squad rebounded for a 19-3 win over Furman a week later, but the offense was still not hitting on all cylinders. That became more evident the following week when they lost 38-24 to a weak Missouri team.

Their first Division I-A win came over Wake Forest the next Saturday in Death Valley. The 21-10 win evened the Tigers’ record at 2-2 just in time for the powerful Seminoles of Florida State to uneven it, 34-2 in Tallahassee.

The Tigers could manage 236 yards of total offense against the nation’s No. 1 defense despite having the ball for more than 33 minutes.

The Tigers once again bounced back against Duke, squeezing out a 13-6 win on the Blue Devils’ homecoming. They made it two in a row with a homecoming win of their own over No. 22 Georgia Tech, 28-25.

The Terrapins of Maryland came to town only to be dominated once again by the Tigers. Clemson cruised to a 35-3 win in a contest that saw the Tigers don orange pants for the first time this season.

Kelton Dunnican’s 54-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter iced the Tigers upset of the No. 15 Gamecocks 35-3.

Virginia Cavaliers in Charlottesville for their biggest win of the season. The Tigers forced three Cavalier turnovers and sacked Virginia quarterbacks eight times.

The Tigers earned their fifth straight win with a 40-17 thrashing of N.C. State in their highest scoring game of the season. The win secured a second-straight bowl bid for the Tigers.

As held by tradition, the Tigers came to Tigertown for the season finale. The Tigers led 14-13 at the half, but found themselves down 34-17 with just over seven minutes left in the contest.

Quarterback Nealon Greene led the Tigers on two quick scoring drives and the defense forced the Gamecocks to give the ball up. Late in the fourth, the Tigers started at their own 29-yard line and drove to the South Carolina 20-yard line, but Matt Padgett’s 37-yard field goal missed and the hated Gamecock held on to win.

The Tigers’ offense was led by tailback Raymond Priestor who rushed for 119 yards and six touchdowns. Fan-favorite Emory Smith also added six TDs. Quarterback Nealon Greene threw for 1,380 yards and eight touchdowns.

The Tigers defense was led by All-American linebacker Anthony Simmons. Simmons took part in 164 tackles, including 15 tackles for a loss and seven sacks. Moniel Wilson, Trevor Pryee, Rahim Abdullah and Brett Williams all came up big as well for the Tiger defense.

For the second consecutive game, Clemson placekicker Matt Padgett shouldered his team’s chances for victory.

Against South Carolina, he missed a potential game-tying field goal with 11 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter. Against LSU in the Dec. 28 Peach Bowl, Padgett’s 52-yard attempt was blocked with just over one minute remaining in the fourth quarter. LSU won 10-7.

A false start penalty extended the kick to the limit of Padgett’s range. Facing third-and-one from the LSU 30-yard line, Clemson jumped offsides and failed to convert on their next play.

One play later, Clemson left the field with their second bowl loss and heartbreaker in a row.

“I really hate losing,” wide receiver Kenya Crooks said. “Losing is like death to me.”

Despite the defeat, Clemson football gained another legend.

Raymond Priester, the Tigers’ pounding runner, became Clemson’s all-time leading rusher. The junior tailback gained 151 yards on 25 carries to break Kenny Flower mark of 2,914 yards.

In typical Priester fashion, he gained the yardage without long, flashy runs, but with endurance—one 5-yard carry after another. His longest carry from scrimmage was 34 yards.

“If I could, I would trade it all back for a victory today,” Priester said. “I did all right, but we didn’t win, so I guess I didn’t do enough.”

Priester is the first Clemson back to tally two 1,000-yard seasons. He has amassed 3,010 yards in his career. Priester also set a new Clemson record with his 12th career 100-yard game, and he broke his own single-season rushing record. Priester gained 1,345 yards this season. Last year, he broke Clemson’s single season mark with 1,322 yards.

Penalties shackled the Tigers throughout the game. For example, in the second quarter, a late-hit and a pass interference penalty sparked the LSU drive which resulted in the game-winning field goal.

“We made way to many mistakes penalty wise to win the ball game,” Clemson head football coach Tommy West said. The Tigers committed seven penalties for 69 yards.

“Once you have the momentum you have to keep the momentum, and we didn’t do that,” Greene said. “We had a lot of offsides penalties, I didn’t make the right check sometimes, and we dropped a couple of passes. You can’t do that against a good football team, especially in a bowl game.”

Although Clemson’s defense struggled against LSU’s passing attack, they managed to contain the Tigers’ primary rushing weapon. All-SEC running back Kevin Faulk. He gained only 64 yards on 23 carries.

Tiger linebacker Anthony Simmons and defensive end Trevor Pryce anchored Clemson’s defensive efforts. Simmons tallied 10 tackles, including one for a loss, and Pryce recorded six tackles with three for losses. Strong safety Antwan Edwards led the Tigers with 11 tackles.

Compared to last season’s 41-point Gator Bowl pasting, Clemson’s defense was much improved.

“Last year, 41-0, this year, 10-7,” Simmons said. “We’re just about there, but not quite.”

Clemson punter Kevin Laird set two Peach Bowl records. Laird booted the longest punt in the bowl game’s history with a 63-yard kick in the fourth quarter. In addition, his 10 punts in the game set a new Peach Bowl mark for most punts.

Chamber Singers

University Chorus
Clemson University’s Choral Ensembles had another exciting year beginning with the creation of a new a cappella group, “Southern Accents.” This auditioned group features sixteen student members who perform a wide variety of pop, jazz, and other entertaining music. Chamber Singers grew to 47 members strong and worked hard for a successful fall concert under the direction of Dr. Dan Rash. In the recent past, Chamber Singers has performed at places such as Carnegie Hall and the Washington National Cathedral. University Chorus welcomed new director, Robert Natter, who also serves as the Assistant Director of Choral Activities and directs Women’s Glee. Men’s Glee, which is formed from both University Chorus and Chamber Singers, performed at various locations in the spring while touring Colorado, including a performance at the Air Force Academy Chapel.

It’s not really his title, but it’s definitely his job. Met him on campus a couple of years ago. Someone knew someone who knew him. Up to his eyeballs in ASICs, with some off the wall ideas about a high speed, board-level remote access solution.

His first response to us: “Yeah, right.” So we reminded him about our bold technical leadership. Except for being surrounded by state-of-the-art everything, the sharpest minds in technology and the world’s leading systems organization, we told him, he’d practically be left alone to develop his ideas. Mr. Autonomy.

Since then he took his idea about remote computing to the Nth degree. Now it’s part of our newest PCMCIA based remote network computing solutions.

Which brings us back to campus. This semester we’re scouting the country again, looking for more spirited people and ideas. We’re pushing this company to the Nth degree.

And you can take us there.

"Though much is taken, much abides;
And though we are not now the strength
Which in old days moved earth and heaven,
That which we are, we are —
One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield." from

Final Thoughts . . .

Done . . . that is the only word I can muster. The 1997 TAPS was a real learning experience for me. I now completely understand the meaning of the word ‘stress’. At the same time, I found determination was empowering. A good scream also helps. I will always remember digging through boxes, trying to select pictures, and hearing “BamBam just crashed”. However I think that the late night talks and watching Ryan and Dane play Punch Out will be more memorable. I always thought I had already learned most of what I needed to survive. Was I ever wrong! Being editor-in-chief was an event that I would not trade for the world. I would like to wish the best of luck to the 1998 TAPS editor and staff. As for myself, I am going to drag my frazzled body home and take a nap. I could really use one!

Sincerely,

Michelle A. Kelly

Michelle Ann Kelly
The 1997 TAPS would not have been possible without the genius of several people. I would like to thank the following:

Jenna - For sharing the stress. You kept me on my toes.

Erin(Ern) - Getting the job done. I am glad someone was organized.

Ryan - You did a great job with photos (and listening to me vent).

Ross - I wish I had half your energy. Good luck next year.

Kristina - For being reliable and doing the layouts.

John - For helping with Opening and Closing (all the copy).

Brad - For being the staff “psychologist”. You saved everyone therapy bills.

Kerry/Karen - You were a wonderful/terrific Promotions/Encouragement Editor.

Austin - For saving us several times with your pictures.

Summer - For taking pictures and always smiling.

Mike - For getting us the sports info.

Junior Staff - For sticking with us even though you knew were all crazy

The Tiger - For computers and pictures.

Reveille - All the support.

The Chronicle - Giving us a ‘memory’.

Julie and Carrie - For answering all my questions.

Susan - Helping us keep our funds together.

Claude - For being the ‘middleman’ between TAPS and Jostens.

The Cleaning Lady - Extra garbage bags.

My friends - Giving me support (Yes, that includes you Pierre, Jenny, Kelly, Macy, and Andrea).

My roommates (Liz, Jenni, and Jennifer) - For keeping me focused and not complaining when I came home late and made noise.

My family - For your love.

Students, Alumni, Professors, Faculty - For your continued support of TAPS.

The 87th volume of TAPS has a nine by twelve inch and contains a total of 384 pages. The paper stock was 80 pound Dull Quintessence manufactured by Northwest Paper Company. The cost of the book was $30 during registration. 4430 copies were printed. Production: TAPS was produced using four computers: one Power Mac 7500, one Macintosh Quadra 800, one Macintosh Performa 6320, and one Macintosh II. Aldus Pagemaker 6.0 was used to develop the pages. Graphic images were produced using Adobe Photoshop 3.0, Adobe Illustrator 6.0, Aldus Freehand 4.0, and Typesetter 2.0. Images were obtained using a Apple flatbed scanner or a Nikon Coolscan slide scanner. A Unity 1800XL-O typesetter produced proofing pages prior to printing. Pages were submitted on 3.5 inch 230 megabyte magneto-optical disk using a Fujitsu DynoMO drive and 44 Megabyte SyQuest removable hard drive using a Mass Microsystems DataCart Duet. Cover/Endsheets: The cover is #0480 Matte Black with a Spanish grain and rub. The text and stamp are #381 Silver Foil. The cover was designed by the TAPS staff with the assistance of Jostens artist Jeff Reinhardt. The endsheets were produced on Jostens Pumice #267 with #1 black ink. Printing: Jostens-Winston Salem was the printer of this book. Claude Saleeby was the company representative, Jakki Davis was the plant consultant. Their address is: Jostens, 2505 Empire Drive, Post Office Box 5867, Winston-Salem, North Carolina 27103. Studio Photography: Throton took all the individual portraits for the book. Their address is: Thronton Photography, 40 West 25th Street, New York, New York 10010. Advertising: Advertising for this book was marketed by students Gordon Milosevic and Angie Welch. These students were hired by TAPS with the assistance of Kathy Beecher-Benjamin. Printing and Photography: Except where noted, TAPS staff took the pictures contained in this book. Nikon F4, Nikon N50, Nikon N90, and Nikon 8008s cameras were used. Color photographs were shot using 35mm Fuji Velvia and Provia film. Black and white photography used 11Ford HP5 400, Kodak T-Max 100, 200, and 400 film. PNC film was used for color neagatives. Scans were produced directly from film. No portion of this book may be reproduced, published, or used in promotion without the written permission of the Editor-In-Chief or the Student Media Advisor. The contents of this book do not necessarily reflect the views of Clemson University. Any questions or requests should be directed to: TAPS, Post Office Box 2216, Clemson, South Carolina 29632-2216.
