Remembering the Holocaust

Quick Facts from the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum:

- In 1933, the Nazi regime established the first concentration camps, imprisoning political opponents, homosexuals, Jehovah's Witnesses, and others classified as "dangerous."
- In 1939 Germany invaded Poland and over the next year, Nazi Germany and its allies conquered much of Europe. German officials confiscated Jewish property, in many places required Jewish people to wear identifying armbands, and established ghettos and forced-labor camps.
- In some ghettos, members of Jewish resistance movements staged armed uprisings, the largest of which was the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising in the spring of 1943.
- By May of 1945, the Germans and their collaborators had murdered six million European Jews as part of a systematic plan of genocide. When Allied troops entered the concentration camps, they found corpses, bones, and human ashes. They also found thousands of survivors suffering from starvation and disease.

Display Description

In remembrance of the 1943 Warsaw Ghetto Uprising a display of materials focused on the Holocaust has been set up on the 4th floor of Cooper Library.

The display contains a range of items but is centered on Nazi-era ghettos, concentration camps and their liberation, Holocaust-centered art and literature, and memoirs of Holocaust survivors.

The display will be up throughout the month of April and all items are available for checkout.
