We love books, but we also love movies!

Because of this, we have created a display of movies and the books on which they are based. Come check out what you haven’t seen or read; you may find a few new books to add to your cinema-inspired reading list, and you may also discover a new movie or two, based on a book that you already love.

The display is located on the New Books shelf and will be up throughout the month of August.
