Clemson University Alma Mater
Lyrics by A.C. Corcoran, '19 Music by Dr. Hugh McGarity, '66

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness;
Where the mountains smile in grandeur
O'er the hill and dale;

Where the Tiger's lair is nestling,
Swept by storm and gale.

Here the Tigers play;
Here the Tiger's roar may echo
For our past is grand;
O'er the mountain height.

Reign supreme always.
And our Alma Mater reigneth
Every foreign land.
And with all our might;

We will dream of great conquests,
Dear Old Clemson, we will triumph,
For our past is grand;
And the Tiger's roar may echo
And her sons have fought and conquered
O'er the mountain height.
Every foreign land.
Forever in our lives.

Chorus

We are brothers, strong in manhood,
Dear Old Clemson, we will triumph,
For we work and strive;
And with all our might;

That the Tiger's roar may echo
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.
Roll of Remembrance

I'll want to know each step you take that I may walk the same for some day down that lonely road you'll hear me call your name.

From a resting bench

The Meditation of Departure

From Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar"

Sunset and evening star,
    And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
    When I put out to sea.

Twilight and evening bell,
    And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
    When I embark.

A Prayer for the Departed

By William Penn  (1644 - 1718)

We give back to You, O God, those whom You gave to us.
    You did not lose them when You gave them to us, and we do not lose them by returning them to You.
    Your dear Son has taught us that life is eternal and love cannot die. So death is only a horizon, and a horizon is only the limit of our sight.

    Open our eyes to see more clearly,
    and draw us closer to You that we may know that we are nearer to our loved ones, who are with You.
    You have told us that You are preparing a place for us;
    prepare us also for that happy place,
    that where You are, we may always be,
    O dear Lord of life and death.

George Dantzler Page
Died June 17, 2017

George Dantzler Page was born on October 19, 1918, in Greenwood, SC, a son of Dr. Samuel W. and Anna D. Page. After completing public school in Greenwood, he entered Clemson College in 1935 as a pre-med student. At Clemson, George was a member of Tiger Brotherhood. After his junior year, he entered the Emory University School of Medicine from which George graduated with his MD degree in 1942, whereupon Clemson conferred his undergraduate degree. George married his high school sweetheart, Sarah Curry, in October, 1942, and they lived in Atlanta until moving to Riverside, CA, as directed by George’s US Army active duty orders. George and Sarah had two sons, George Dantzler Page, Jr., and Bruce Curry Page, born in 1944 and 1949, respectively.

In June, 1943, George was assigned to the 125th Infantry Battalion as a surgeon with which he served in the Pacific Theater from 1944 to 1946. A US airplane transporting thirty-nine Japanese language interpreters, assigned to assist MacArthur with the surrender ceremonies on September 2, 1945, aboard the USS Missouri, crashed the day before upon landing in Okinawa, killing all aboard. George entered the wreckage and managed to get the bodies out before the plane exploded. He suffered second-degree burns in doing so. For his extraordinary valor, George received the Soldier's Medal for Heroism, the US Army's highest non-combat honor. After a short stint as the head of the occupation station hospital in Seoul, Korea, George was honorably discharged with the rank of Major in 1947 and returned to the States.

After completing his surgery training at Emory University Hospital in 1949, George became a member of the American Board of Surgery. That same year he moved with his family to Charlotte where he headed the Metrowide Surgical Group, a position he held until his retirement in 1986. He earned the distinction of being a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons. To his patients George was known for his patience, kindness, and concern for their well-being.

In 1949 the Pages joined the Myers Park Baptist Church in Charlotte, which for dedicated service named George a Life Deacon. Early in retirement George and Sarah joined the Myers Park Presbyterian Church, attended by their son Dan and his wife. George was a member of the Charlotte Rotary Club, the Good Fellows Club, and the family held memberships in the Charlotte Country Club and the Myers Park Country Club. Sarah and George enjoyed tennis until George reached the age of 80 at which time his steel knee could no longer take the stress.

George and Sarah moved into a retirement cottage in the Cypress Club in Charlotte in 1999, where he continued his gardening and where they both enjoyed bridge, croquet, and walking.

Sarah Curry Page
Died July 25, 2017

Though she was the daughter of Ravenel B. and Dora M. Curry of Greenwood, SC, Sarah Curry was born in her maternal grandparents’ home in Greenville, SC, on March 1, 1918. After finishing high school in Greenwood, she attended Converse College, graduating in 1939 with a teaching degree. At Converse, Sarah was president of the WYCA. In 1940, she earned an MS degree in library science from Emory University in Atlanta, and she and George Page were married in October of 1942. Their first son, Dan, Jr. was born in 1944, just before George left the States for the Pacific Theater in WWII. During the time George was overseas, Sarah worked as a children's librarian in the Greenwood school system. Their second son, Bruce, was born in 1949, in the year they moved to Charlotte as George embarked upon a career as a general surgeon.

Sarah devoted her life to raising their children and supporting George in his busy medical career. She and George enjoyed tennis, bridge, traveling, and gardening as a couple, and Sarah herself was an avid reader and needle worker. After retiring to the Cypress of Charlotte in 1998, they continued these activities and in addition became hard to beat at chair volleyball and croquet. As their health declined, they moved to the Stewart Health Center in Charlotte.

Sarah passed away on July 25, 2017, at the Stewart Health Center, almost five months into her 100th year, and surviving George by thirty-nine days. Sarah was predeceased by her parents and her siblings and is survived by two sons, George Dantzler Page, Jr., (Anne) of Charlotte and Bruce Curry Page (Susan) of Chappaqua, NY; grandchildren David Page (Shelly), Elisabeth Masters (Craig), Lukas Austin-Page, Brandon Pracht (Susan), Melissa Pracht (Ken); and six great grandchildren.

Byron Kenneth Webb, the son of John Walker and Cora Smith Webb, was born on February 2, 1934, in Cross Anchor, SC. He finished Cross Anchor High School in June, 1951, and entered Clemson College in the following September. “Budd” graduated from Clemson with a BS degree in Agricultural Engineering in 1955 but remained at Clemson as an assistant agricultural engineer to conduct research and pursue a MS degree. Sybil Boatwright of Seneca, SC, and Byron Webb were married on April 7, 1961; they later became the parents of Charles Kenneth Webb on September 11, 1970. After earning the MS degree in 1962, Bud left Clemson in 1963 to pursue the Ph.D. degree in agricultural engineering at North Carolina State University – officially granted in 1966 – before returning to Clemson in 1965 to the Agricultural Engineering Department as an assistant professor.

Professor Webb rose rapidly through the professorial ranks in the Department of Agricultural Engineering, owing to his contributions and achievements in teaching and research, and was appointed Professor in 1972, remarkably reaching this grade in only seven years. During these years plus those in which he was a full professor, Bud taught courses of current interest to students preparing to enter the agricultural community and conducted research in areas vital to the success of those who produce food: mechanization of production of fruits and vegetables, aquaculture mechanization, and herbicide incorporation. He authored or co-authored more than ninety technical publications, and he and his co-workers were awarded seven patents. In 1976, Professor Webb was appointed Head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering in which position he served until 1984.
After eight years as Head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering, Professor Webb was named Associate Dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences and Director of the Clemson University Cooperative Extension Service. Two years later in 1986, he became Dean of the College while remaining as Director of Extension Services, to which was added in 1993 the responsibility of serving as Coordinator of University Research. In 1995, Dr. Webb became Interim Vice President, Agriculture, Natural Resources, and Research, a position in which he served during the administrative restructuring of Clemson University from nine colleges to four - later increased to five - until his retirement in 1996.

Bud Webb was a member of Lawrence Chapel United Methodist Church. After retirement from Clemson, he successfully ran for a seat in the South Carolina House of Representatives, in which he served three terms from 1996 to 2002. He successfully sponsored and urged support for a SC Department of Education bill, which provided for the Governor’s Institute on Reading, designed to improve literacy in the State of South Carolina. He personally donated $100,000 to help start the Lakes and Bridges Charter School for children with dyslexia. He served on many, many Clemson University committees, some of which he chaired, and on regional and national committees. He served his profession in many ways and was the recipient of numerous awards, including national “best paper” awards. Bud was elected Fellow of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers, limited to one percent of the twelve thousand members in fifty states and more than one hundred countries. In 1993, The Clemson University Alumni Association honored Bud Webb with its highest tribute, The Clemson University Alumni Distinguished Service Award. The Order of the Palmetto, the highest state award in South Carolina, was presented to Dr. Webb by Governor Hodges in 2002 in recognition of his efforts to enhance education in South Carolina.

In retirement, Bud worked in his garden and involved himself in local efforts to enhance education.

At age eighty-three, Byron Kenneth Webb passed away on Wednesday, December 6, 2017, at the Clemson Downs. He was preceded in death by his parents and wife. He is survived by his son, Charles Kenneth Webb (Jeoung Soo Lee), Clemson; his grandson, Kenneth A. L Webb, Clemson; and his sisters, Mary Hamrick, Spartanburg, and Katie Lehman, Pensacola, FL.

Bylaws of the Clemson University Class of 1939

(* See Note after Article X - January 9, 2018)

ARTICLE I - NAME

Section 1. The name of this organization shall be the Clemson University Class of 1939.

Section 2. The Clemson University Class of 1939 shall function under the auspices of the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs & Provost of Clemson University, hereafter referred to as the Office of the Provost.

Section 3. The Clemson University Class of 1939 shall hereafter be referred to as the Class.

ARTICLE II - VISION AND PURPOSE

Section 1. The vision of the Class is to perpetuate and champion the traditions of the original members of the Class and promote their values of selfless generosity, service, loyalty and dedication to Clemson University.

Section 2. The purposes of the Class include the following:

a) Continue the annual reunion of the Class, including the Memorial Service.

b) Promote and sustain, with the various partners at the University, the Class of '39 Award for Excellence (see The Class of 1939 Award for Excellence Endowment fund agreement and Award for Excellence Brochure dated June 9, 2010 attached as appendix B) and maintain a spirit of collegiality and participation in Class activities among the recipients of the Award.

c) Establish and sustain Class of '39 scholarships for students (see The Class of 1939 Scholarships Endowment fund agreement attached as appendix C).

d) Facilitate the creation of and help sustain campus projects that memorialize the history and legacy of Clemson University or otherwise serve the University community and the public.

c) Engage in other activities that promote the vision of the Class (see The Class of 1939 Endowment for the South Carolina Botanical Garden at Clemson University fund agreement attached as appendix D).

ARTICLE III - MEMBERSHIP

Section 1. Original Members: Those men who attended Clemson Agricultural and Mechanical College sometime during the years 1935 – 1939 and identified themselves most strongly with the Class of 1939. This membership is closed and limited to those listed in appendix A (attached).

Section 2. Honorary Members: Individuals (selected as described below) who are granted full privileges as members of the class and are encouraged to participate fully in all class activities and to share the ideals of excellence for Clemson University. They are:

a) The widows of original members;

b) Faculty who have received the Class of '39 Award for Excellence;

c) Special friends who have been selected by the Class because of their contributions to the Class vision and activities.
Section 3. Meetings: There shall be at least one annual meeting of the class. Business matters may be brought before the membership at that meeting or at other meetings called by the Executive Committee. Class members are given at least 30 days advance notice of meetings of the class.

ARTICLE IV – ORGANIZATION

Section 1. The Class is an entity operating within the administrative purview of the Office of the Provost of Clemson University.

Section 2. The Class is subject to the regulations of the University.

Section 3. The Class shall be administered by its elected officers.

ARTICLE V – EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE - OFFICERS AND DUTIES

Section 1. The four officers of the Class shall consist of a President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer. The officers shall serve two-year terms and may succeed themselves. The Officers shall serve as an Executive Committee which will conduct the business of the Class between regular Class meetings. A quorum for meetings of the Executive Committee is three officers.

Section 2. President

a) Serves as chair of the Executive Committee.

b) Serves as the official representative of the Class to the Clemson University administration and as the spokesperson for the Class.

c) Provides leadership for Class programs and activities.

d) Communicates Class activities to the membership.

e) Calls all regular and special meetings of the Class and presides at these meetings.

f) Appoints ad hoc committees (including their chairs) as necessary to implement the objectives of the Class. These appointments are subject to approval by the Executive Committee.

g) Appoints non ex officio members of the Reunion Committee.

h) Proposes an interim officer or an alternative solution if an officer resigns or is unable to complete a term. Any such proposal must be approved by the Executive Committee.

Section 3. Vice President

a) Serves as a member of the Class Executive Committee.

b) Serves in the role of President in the President’s absence.

c) Serves as chair of the Reunion Committee.

Section 4. Secretary

a) Serves as a member of the Class Executive Committee.

b) Maintains all Class membership records.

c) Records and distributes minutes for the Executive Committee, Reunion Committee and Class meetings.
Section 5. Treasurer
a) Serves as a member of the Class Executive Committee.
b) Maintains the Class checking account, deposits income, pays bills, and reports the state of finances to the membership.
c) Receives reports of all Class accounts and endowments from the Clemson University Foundation and communicates such reports to the membership.

ARTICLE VI – STANDING COMMITTEES AND DUTIES

Section 1. Nomination Committee
a) Consists of three members of the Class elected annually for three-year terms except that the initial three members will be elected one each to a three-, two- or one-year term. The members may succeed themselves.
b) Prepares a slate of Class officers and member(s) of the Nominations Committee for each election.
c) Solicits, reviews and presents nominations for honorary membership for election by the membership.

Section 2. Reunion Committee
a) Shall be a committee of no less than eight Class members, four of whom are the Executive Committee. The other appointees shall serve two-year terms and may succeed themselves.
b) Shall meet as necessary to plan the annual reunion consisting of a memorial service, social time, dinner, membership induction, and entertainment.
c) Shall seek to maintain the reunion traditions and practices of the original members of the Class.

ARTICLE VII – QUORUM AND VOTING

Section 1. Meetings of the Class membership
a) The Class shall meet at least once annually.
b) A quorum shall consist of at least one officer and no fewer than ten additional members of the Class.
c) A majority of votes cast by the Class members present shall be necessary for the adoption of motions. This does not apply to motions concerning the Bylaws (see Article X).

ARTICLE VIII – WAYS AND MEANS

Section 1. Finances
a) Contributions to Class endowments and accounts administered by the Clemson University Foundation shall be solicited by the Executive Committee as deemed necessary.
b) The Class shall maintain a checking account to receive and disburse registration funds for the annual reunion.
ARTICLE IX - RULES OF ORDER

Section 1. Meetings of the Class shall be conducted under the latest edition of Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised.

ARTICLE X - ADOPTION OF AND CHANGES TO THE BYLAWS

Section 1. The adoption of and amendments to the Bylaws require distribution to the membership at least 30 days prior to voting, and the approval of all of the following:
   a) The Class by two thirds of the votes cast by Class members;
   b) The Vice President for Academic Affairs & Provost of Clemson University.

   Section 2. In the event that the Class is not able to continue to make progress in accomplishing its purposes, the Class may be dissolved.
   a) Dissolution may be initiated only by Class members and requires the same approval procedure as amendments to the Bylaws (see Section 1 above).
   b) Any funds remaining in Class accounts with the Clemson University Foundation and the Class checking account shall be donated to an existing endowment of the Class.

Date of adoption: January 9, 2018

Approvers

Chair, Class of 1939 Leadership Committee

Signed by Robert H. Jones
Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost

* Note: As the inexorable march of time has reduced the original members of the Class of '39 to fewer than a handful, we, the honorary members, are charged with carrying on the legacy of the Class. It is our responsibility to continue to advance the goals and objectives of the Great Class of 1939. To help accomplish this, an ad hoc committee of the Class (Ray Turner, Hap Wheeler and Chip Egan) has undertaken the drafting of by-laws to provide for the Class' future operation. The resulting draft has been reviewed and modified by the Reunion Committee and approved by Provost Jones. They are hereby prepared for your review. The by-laws are meant to be simple and are designed to provide for class officers, a nominating committee, planning reunions, and the normal execution of business. To assure that the intentions of the original members are preserved, some wording has been taken from documents or minutes of the original Class. The by-laws are augmented by copies of the fund agreements for the Class endowments.

Award for Excellence - 2017
Terry M. Tritt

Professor and Head, Department of Physics and Astronomy
Ph.D., Physics, Clemson University, 1985
B.A., Physics, Clemson University, 1980

Dr. Terry Tritt is an Alumni Distinguished Professor of Physics at Clemson University. This is one of 18 such positions supported by the Clemson University Alumni Association and awarded to faculty who exemplify the highest qualities of service to the university and the students while also exhibiting international standing in their field of research. After graduating from Clemson University he served as a National Research Council Fellow at the Naval Research Laboratory (NRL) in Washington, DC (1985-1989) and then as a Research Physicist at NRL from 1989 until 1996 before joining the faculty at Clemson University in Aug. of 1996.

The focus of Dr. Tritt's current research centers on materials for thermoelectric (TE) refrigeration and power generation applications. His primary research expertise lies in electrical and thermal transport properties and phenomena (a special focus in measurement and characterization techniques) in new and novel materials, especially thermal conductivity. His recent activities are focused on the synthesis and characterization of TE nanomaterials and nanocomposites and investigation and characterization of the TE material's parameters, especially thermal conductivity. Prof. Tritt has served as a symposium organizer of four Materials Research Society Symposia on Thermoelectrics Materials. He has served as an author and lead editor of a MRS Bulletin Theme on Thermoelectric Materials and Devices. He edited a three-volume set on "Recent Trends in Thermoelectric Materials Research" and has also edited a book by Kluwer Press in 2005 on Thermal Conductivity. He has served several terms as a member of the Executive Board of the International Thermoelectrics Society (ITS) and served as chair man and host of the 24th ITC-2005 at Clemson in June of 2005. He holds four patents.

Dr. Tritt was elected as an Academy Fellow and Vice President of the International Thermoelectrics Academy. In 2008 he was selected as the SCAS Governor's Research Professor of the Year and the Clemson University Alumni Award For Outstanding Achievement In Research. In Spring 2009 he served as one of four Materials Research Society's Meeting Chairs for the annual MRS Spring Meeting in San Francisco that hosted over 5000 scientists from all over the world. He recently served as a guest editor for a Focused Issue of the Journal of Materials Research on Advances in Thermoelectric Materials. He is now a Principal Editor for the Journal of Materials Research. In 2012, he was elected a Fellow of the American Physical Society. He has written over 200 refereed journal publications, over ten review articles and regularly gives invited presentations (> 150) at national and international meetings as well as many university seminars.

Dr. Tritt lives in Pendleton with his wife, Penny, where they thoroughly enjoy their five granddaughters and new grandson. His hobbies include: golf, bluegrass guitar and mandolin (he has cut 5 CDs), target shooting, hunting and fishing.
