A BETTER WAY chapter 4
Xi Cao MLA May, 2016

What are the elements that define space? The answer will be anything: structures, trees, furniture, views, pavement, even sound, could define space. Refine space; the magic. In order to accommodate wheelchair accessibility, I have to give up most of the vertical changes in this square. However, it didn’t become the obstacle for me to achieve space diversity. Through playing with the landscape elements listed above, I was able to define the demarcation of street furniture, clearance under the trees, the change of pavement materials and colors, for interesting and different.
