#17

- 0— Number of losses Tommy Bowden suffered last year as head coach at Tulane, one of just two Division I coaches in the nation who could make that claim.
- 1— Clemson's final ranking in every poll in 1981.
- 2— Clemson safety Robert Carswell's ranking among ACC returning tacklers for 1999.
- 3— Consecutive years Clemson has had a defensive player taken in the first round of the NFL draft, the only school in the nation who can make that claim.
- 4— Number worn by former Clemson academic and on-field All-American and Ring of Honor member Steve Fuller.
- 5— Number of consecutive wins by Clemson in Columbia over archrival South Carolina. The Tigers will go for #6 in a row on November 20.
- 6— Number of Clemson defensive players taken in the 1999 NFL draft. That was the top defensive player draft total in the nation.
- 7— Number of 1998 bowl teams on the 1999 Clemson schedule, tied for the most ever in a season.
- 8— Number worn by former Clemson defensive tackle Trevor Pryce. The former All-ACC player (the only #8 in school history to be first-team All-ACC) already has two Super Bowl Championship rings with the Denver Broncos.
- 9— Average number of live TV appearances for the Clemson program over the last six years.
- 10— Number of academic All-Americans Clemson has had over the years.
- 11— Number of linebackers drafted from Clemson into the NFL in the 1990s.
- 12— Number of bowl victories for the Clemson program in history, one of the top 20 totals in the history of college football.
- 13— Number of ACC Championships for the Clemson program over the years, more than any other school.
- 14— Uniform number and ranking on the Clemson career passing yardage chart for senior quarterback Brandon Streeter.
- 15— Number worn by 1999 Clemson Ring of Honor inductee Jerry Butler.
- 16— Number of consecutive years Clemson has had a strength All-American.
- 17— Number of different former Clemson players who have won a Super Bowl Championship ring.
- 18— Number of seniors on Clemson's 1998 team. Fourteen of the 18 seniors earned their degrees from Clemson. The other four were drafted by the NFL.
- 19— Number of first-round NFL draft choices from Clemson since the first draft in 1936.
- 20— Numbers worn by former Clemson All-Americans Donnell Woolford and Brian Dawkins.
- 21— Clemson had a +21 turnover margin for the 1988 season, an all-time school record.

- 22—Number of players off Clemson's 1981 National Championship team who went on to play in the NFL.
- 23—Number of field goals kicked by Obed Ariri in 1980 when he led the nation in that category, Clemson's first ever statistical NCAA champion.
- 24—Record Number of tackles by Clemson Ring of Honor inductee Jeff Davis in a head-to-head match with Lawrence Taylor of North Carolina in 1980. Davis is now back at Clemson leading the "Call Me Mister" program.
- 25—Clemson's record home unbeaten streak between 1980-84.
- 26—Distance of Billy Lott's fourth-quarter touchdown run to give Clemson a 16-10 victory at Notre Dame in 1979.
- 27—Tackles for loss total by William Perry in 1984 and by Rob Bodine in 1991 when they led the nation in that statistical category, respectively.
- 28—Number of points Clemson overcame to gain victory at Virginia in 1992. Clemson trailed 28-0, before winning 29-28, still the largest comeback in a game involving two ACC teams in history.
- 29—Number of consecutive wins by Clemson over Virginia in the first 29 games of the series.
- 30—Distance of Clemson's first forward pass. It took place in 1906 against Georgia Tech on a throw from Powell Lykes to George Warren.
- 31—Number worn by Clemson Ring of Honor member Fred Cone, an All-Southern performer on Clemson undefeated teams of 1948 and 1950. He scored 31 touchdowns in his Clemson career.
- 32—Number of victories by Clemson starting quarterback Rodney Williams between 1985-88, still an ACC record.
- 33—Number of receptions by Dwight Clark in his Clemson career. Clark went on to an All-Pro career with the San Francisco 49ers and is now an executive with the Cleveland Browns.
- 34—Clemson is 34-0-1 in its history when gaining at least 500 yards of total offense.
- 35—Number of selections of former Tigers for the NFL Pro Bowl over the years.
- 36—Record number of carries in a game for a Clemson running back. Three different Tigers, Raymond Priester (1997), Ray Yauger (1969) and Jim Shirley (1951) have achieved this endurance record.
- 37—Number of sacks recorded by the Clemson defense in 1998, best in the ACC.
- 38—Number of future NFL players from both teams combined who played in the Clemson vs. Notre Dame game in Death Valley in 1977.
- 39—A landmark season in Clemson history, the 1939 Tigers were the first to finish the season in the final AP poll and the first to go to a bowl game.
- 40—Number of victories by the Clemson senior class of 1990, the group had four straight 10-2 seasons.
- 41—Number worn at Clemson by three-time All-American Anthony Simmons, who is now with the Seattle Seahawks.
- 42—Uniform number not worn by current Clemson wide receiver Jackie Robinson. Robinson will wear 82 and linebacker Altroy Bodrick will be in 42.
- 43—Number worn by former Tiger Terry Kinard (1978-82), the only two-time first-team Associated Press All-American in Clemson history.
- 44—Touchdowns recorded by former All-American Steve Fuller in his Clemson career. He had 22 rushing and 22 passing.
- 45—Number of Clemson victories over top 25 teams in its history.
- 46—Distance of David Treadwell's field goal on the last play of the game to defeat a top 20 Georgia team in Athens in 1986 by a 31-28 score.
- 47—Number of first, second or third team All-Americans in Clemson history. The Tigers have had at least one selection in 21 of the last 22 years.
- 48—Yardage of Howard Bartley's interception return for a TD against South Carolina in 1998. Bartley had overcome two torn ACLs in his career to provide this key play in his last game as a Tiger.
- 49—Number of seconds remaining when Jerry Butler made his backwards diving 20-yard touchdown reception to beat South Carolina in 1977.
- 50—Punting average by Dale Hatcher on four occasions in his Clemson career (1981-84). It has been done just seven times in school history and Hatcher has four of the 50-yard average games.
- 51—Uniform number worn by Anthony Simmons in the NFL. He idolized Dick Butkus as a kid, but couldn't wear the number at Clemson because it was already taken.
- 52—Distance of first field goal of at least 50 yards in Clemson history. Eddie Seigler booted a 52-yarder against South Carolina in 1971, an important boot in Clemson's 17-7 victory.
- 53—Yards rushing allowed per game by Clemson's 1991 defense. That led the nation that year and is one of the top five figures in the last 25 years of college football.
- 54—Total number of bowl games coached by the current Clemson coaching staff.
- 55—Uniform number of Jeff Bostic, who played 14 years in the NFL and won three Super Bowl Championship rings with the Washington Redskins, more than any other former Clemson player.
- 56—Yardage on Kevin Mack's final carry in Death Valley. The 56-yard score (run in one shoe for the last 25 yards) punctuated a 52-27 Clemson victory over Maryland.
- 57—Number of victories Clemson has over rival South Carolina. Clemson leads the series 57-35-4, including victories in eight of the last 11.
- 58—This is the 58th season of intercollegiate gridiron competition in Death Valley.

- 59—Uniform number of current Clemson center Kyle Young and his brother, All-ACC guard Will Young (1992-95). Their grandfather, Ed McLendon, was a starter on Clemson's 1939 team, but he wore #31.
- 60—Tackles for loss by William Perry in his celebrated career.
- 61—Tackles for loss by Michael Dean Perry in his celebrated career.
- 62—Yardage on famed Steve Fuller to Dwight Clark touchdown at Maryland in Clemson's 28-24 ACC title clinching victory in 1978.
- 63—Career field goal total by both Obed Arii and Chris Gardocki at Clemson. Both were All-Americans.
- 64—Number of players coached by Frank Howard who were drafted by NFL teams.
- 65—Longest scoring lateral play in Clemson history. Don Willis to Shad Bryant vs. George Washington in 1938.
- 66—Number worn by former Clemson greats William Perry and Banks McFadden.
- 67—Weeks Clemson has been in the AP top 25 in the 1990s.
- 68—Distance on the Harvey White to Gary Barnes touchdown against TCU in the 1959 Bluebonnet Bowl, a key to Clemson's 23-7 victory over the seventh-ranked Horn Frogs.
- 69—Number worn by offensive lineman Harry Olszewski when he ran 12 yards for a touchdown with a fumbled snap from center against South Carolina in 1966. No Clemson offensive lineman has scored a touchdown since.
- 70—Record Number of receptions by Clemson receiver Tony Horne (now with the St. Louis Rams) in 1997.
- 71—Winning percentage by Ken Hatfield in his four years at Clemson, still the fourth best percentage in ACC history.
- 72—Clemson's winning percentage in Death Valley over the years.
- 73—Touchdown runs by Terry Allen (rush) and Wayne Simmons (interception) at Florida State in Clemson's 34-23 win in Tallahassee in 1989.
- 74—Excitement Galore in '74. That was the theme for the 1974 season and the Tigers provided excitement with a 6-0 home record, including wins over Georgia and Georgia Tech.
- 75—Distance of Jimmy Addison to Jacky Jackson pass to beat Virginia in 1966, 40-35, the greatest fourth quarter comeback in Clemson history.
- 76—Distance of Banks McFadden to Joe Blalock pass against Wake Forest in 1939. The play allowed Clemson to stay undefeated and move into the AP poll for the first time the following Tuesday.
- 77—Uniform number Brady Washburn will wear this year in honor of friend and former Arkansas player, Brandon Burlsworth, who was killed in an auto accident last year.
- 78—Career reception total by current wide receiver Brian Wofford, the 11th best total in Clemson history.
- 79—Number consecutively worn by All-America linemen Stacy Seegars (1990-93) and Jim Bundren (1994-97).

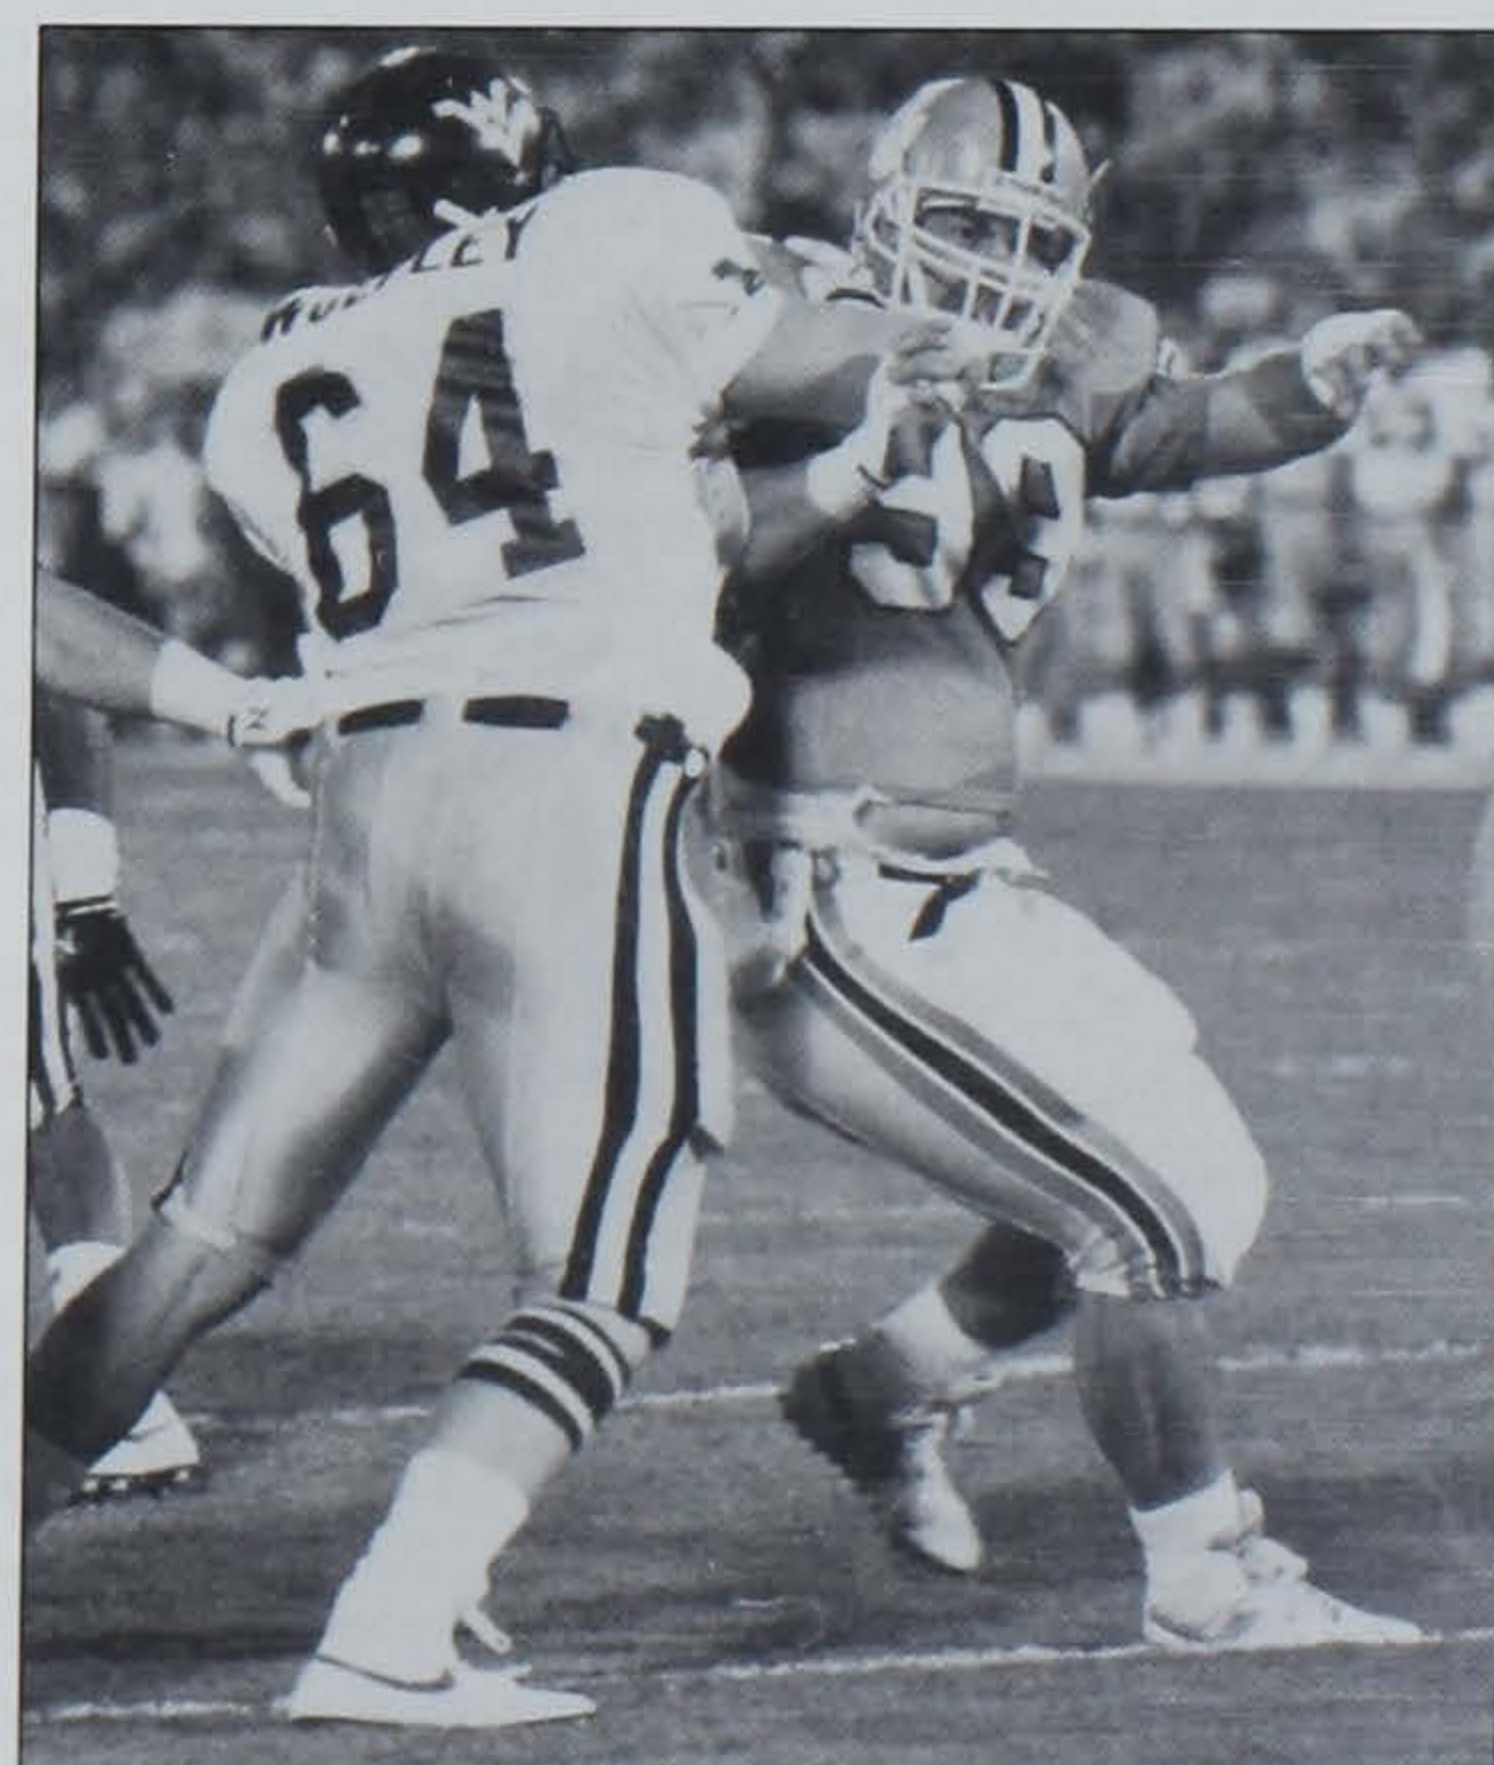

- 80—First downs allowed by Clemson's 1939 defense for the entire season.
- 81—Clemson's National Championship season.
- 82—Points scored by Clemson against Wake Forest in 1981, still an ACC record for points scored in a league game.
- 83—John Heisman's winning percentage as Clemson coach between 1900-03 (19-3-2), still a Clemson record for career winning percentage.
- 84—Number of Clemson players in the last 20 years who have been drafted by the NFL, including 12 first-round selections.
- 85—Uniform number of two-time tight end All-American Bennie Cunningham, who later won two Super Bowl titles with the Pittsburgh Steelers.
- 86—Age of Hall of Fame Coach Frank Howard when he passed away on January 28, 1996. Incredibly, he died on the same date as former Alabama teammate and Hall of Fame coach Bear Bryant (1-28-83).
- 87—Yardage on pass play from Steve Fuller to Jerry Butler at Maryland in 1978, a key play in Clemson's ACC championship clinching victory.
- 88—Distance of career longest run by Terrence Flagler against Wake Forest in 1986. It was his biggest play in record 274 all-purpose rushing yardage day.
- 89—Points scored by Donald Igwebuike in his nearly perfect 1984 season. That season he made good on 16 of 17 field goals and all 41 of his extra points. Thirty-eight of his 61 kickoffs went for touchbacks that year.
- 90—Distance of punt return by Bobby Gage against NC State in 1948. It was the only scoring play in Clemson's 6-0 victory in Clemson's undefeated 1948 season. It is still the longest punt return by a Tiger in Death Valley.
- 91—Clemson Uniform number for both Michael Dean Perry and Chester McGlockton, who have been to 10 NFL Pro Bowls between them.
- 92—Consecutive number of passes thrown by Nealon Greene without an interception at the start of his career (1994).

Clemson on the Internet:

The official Internet site of the Clemson Athletic Department is www.clemsontigers.com. The site provides Clemson fans with all the latest in official information about all 19 sports at Clemson. During the season statistics, notes, releases and bios on all the Tigers will be updated by Monday after the game.

Credits: The Clemson 1999 Football Guide was edited and designed by Sports Information Director Tim Bourret and Brett Sowell of the Clemson Sports Information Office. Special thanks to Sam Blackman, Bob Bradley, Julie Paré, Brian Hennessy, Marsha Byers, Dana Marangelli, Bernie Merritt, Meredith Merritt, Marshall Merritt, Ryan Rickards, and Dr. Harold Vigodsky.

On the Cover: Clemson Head Coach Tommy Bowden will face perhaps the most challenging schedule in school history in 1999. Seven teams who went to bowl games in 1998 are on this year's slate. He will face the schedule with a team led by 11 key returnees. Of the 11 shown on the front and back covers of this press guide only five are seniors.

Printing: Electric City Printing Company of Anderson, SC

Extra Copies: Available at $15 apiece by mail, or $12 in person at the SID office. Send order and check to PO Box 632, Clemson, SC 29633.

ENTRANCE TO MEMORIAL STADIUM

Enter through Gate 11, which is located on the press box (South) side of the field at the southeast corner. If you need to pick up tickets at our press will-call, they will be at Gate 13. Come through Gate 13, and go straight ahead to the elevator, which will take you to the press box.

PRESS BOX

There are two levels to Clemson's pressbox, located in the center of the club level of the South stands. The first level contains the photo deck, a dark room, the outside PA, stadium operations & security, along with booths for field telephones, radio networks, and athletic officials for Clemson. The second level is for the print media, with seating accommodations for 124 members of the working press. This level houses Clemson's famous buffet, and the work room.

CREDENTIALS

We appreciate getting these as early as you know your assignment. Requests for working press and photo passes are honored from SPORTS EDITORS of DAILY newspapers and RADIO & TV SPORTS DIRECTORS ONLY. Make request directly to Sam Blackman, Clemson Sports Information Department. There is not room for individual radio stations in the press box, only the two networks of the participating schools. Spouses, dates, non-workers, and anyone 16 years of age or younger, are not permitted in the press box.

TELEPHONE INSTALLATION

Our press box is equipped with eight outside phone lines. It is the responsibility of each paper or radio network to make arrangements for telephone lines. Call Zelda Kleister at (864) 656-2601 to order phone lines. There are three phones available at the back of the press box for sending voice reports or for newspapers to transmit photos. There is a dark room on the second level available on a reservation basis.

POSTGAME INTERVIEWS

The team dressing rooms are located beneath the west end zone stands, to your left from the press box. The two SIDs will escort writers wishing postgame interviews to this area with about three minutes showing on the scoreboard clock. The Clemson dressing room is closed to all media, but Coach Tommy Bowden will be in his interview room (Tiger Lettermen's room) and players chosen by media members will be in their interview area (underneath west stands) for postgame comments following a short team meeting. Both coaches will hold their interviews in the Tiger Lettermen's room under the west endzone stands. The opposing coach will go first followed by Coach Bowden. For the Florida State game, father will go before son.

Coach Bowden's weekly press conference can be heard over the internet at www.clemsontigers.com.

WEEKLY PRESS CONFERENCE

Tommy Bowden's weekly press conference will be held on Tuesdays throughout the season. The first session will be Tuesday, August 31st and will be held in the Auditorium of Clemson's McFadden Building, the facility that is adjacent to the Jervy Athletic Center.

The media will interview Coach Bowden between 11:00 AM and 12:00 PM, then meet with Tiger players from 12:00 PM to 12:45 PM. The conference can be accessed by phone. Just call Tim Bourret to access the teleconference.

Player interviews will be held in Vickery Hall on the Clemson campus on Mondays between 10:00 am and 1:00 pm and at the McFadden Building on Wednesdays. No player interviews are allowed after Wednesdays.

1999 ACC TELECONFERENCE

The Atlantic Coast Conference offers a weekly teleconference with each school's head coach on each Wednesday throughout the football season. The teleconferences are scheduled to run from September 1st through November 17th between 11:00 am and 12:30 pm. To access the teleconference please register with Brian Morrison (336-851-6062) of the ACC office.

Tommy Bowden is obviously a coach who is motivated by a challenge. In 1997, he took over a Tulane program that had not experienced a winning season since 1981 and had won just five games in the previous three years. In two years he had achieved the miraculous, bringing the Green Wave to a perfect 11-0 regular season in 1998 and a top 10 ranking. His two-year mark of 18-4 brought instant national acclaim to a program that had not been ranked in the final top 20 since 1973.

Last December, Bowden accepted another challenge. Although Clemson has been to six bowl games in the 1990s, he inherits a team that posted a 3-8 record in 1998, the program's worst overall record since 1976. That included a 1-7 record and last-place finish in the ACC, also the worst conference performance in 22 years. Clemson has not ranked in the final top 20 in either poll since the 1991 season.

Often when a team has a losing season it is due to the presence of youth on both sides of the ball, thereby leading to the return of experienced players the following season. But, Bowden won't have that luxury in his first season. The Tigers return just 41 lettermen and 11 starters from a year ago. It is just the second time in the last 20 years that 41 lettermen or less return. Only twice in the last 20 years has Clemson returned fewer than 11 starters in any season and that returning starter total is also the lowest in the ACC.

Bowden faces his biggest challenge in the offensive line, where no starters return from a year ago, the first time Clemson has been devoid of returning starters in that important area since 1943. And, it took a World War for that to happen as Clemson's entire junior and senior classes had been drafted into military service over the summer of 1943.

Defensively, six starters and 23 lettermen are back from a unit that ranked 14th in rushing defense and 25th in total defense. There is much more depth on the defensive side of the ball in comparison to the offense, but the loss of six NFL draft choices, the most in the nation from the defensive side of the ball, will have an adverse effect. Among the losses were first-round draft choice Antwan Edwards and second-round pick Rahim Abdullah.

In terms of the kicking game, the Tigers are starting from scratch. No active player on the Clemson roster has ever punted or attempted a place kick in a Tiger game, as 1998 starting kicker David Richardson and starting punter Kevin Laird have graduated.

Can Bowden bring Clemson back to the level of success it attained from 1981 to 1991 when the Tigers won an even 100 games, ranked in the final top 20 in nine seasons, and posted a winning percentage of .795? He certainly has a proven blueprint for success through his experience at Tulane.

"A coach instills his own personality and temperament when he comes to a program," said Bowden. "How quickly the players adjust to the system will determine our success rate. That is what happened at Tulane, they bought into the program very quickly. They were willing to do what it took to make adjustments, do what was necessary to win."

"From every indication, these players at Clemson are willing to do what this staff has asked, do what is necessary to be successful."

ACC RETURNING STARTERS BY TEAM

Offense	Defense	Overall
Maryland 10	Duke 10	Duke 21
Duke 9	Wake Forest 8	Florida State 18
Georgia Tech 9	Florida State 7	Maryland 17
Florida State 9	NC State 7	Georgia Tech 15
North Carolina 7	Clemson 6	Virginia 15
Virginia 7	Georgia Tech 6	Wake Forest 15
NC State 6	Maryland 6	NC State 14
Clemson 5	Virginia 6	North Carolina 13
Wake Forest 5	North Carolina 4	Clemson 11

There is a sense of urgency in our program right now. Rebuilding is not a word that the players, coaches and obviously our fans want to hear.

"It is important for these players to buy into the program quickly. The seniors I have talked with don't want to rebuild, and neither does the staff and administration, they want to do what it takes to win now."

Bowden will have 80 players on scholarship, but only eight of those are seniors. This will be the smallest senior scholarship class at Clemson since the 1985 season. Bowden does not see that as a negative from a leadership standpoint. In fact, it might accelerate the "buying into the program" process.

"Leadership from a senior class usually comes at a program that has had a head coach who has been with the program for five years or more. In that situation your best leadership comes from the senior class."

"But in a new situation, like we have here, that leadership can come from anyone. A lot of times the younger players who haven't played that much previously get a new lease on life and are excited about a new way of doing things. I am sure we are going to get great leadership from our seniors, but I think it will come from younger players who are energized by change."

If Bowden doesn't have enough challenges in his rookie season, he must face a schedule that includes seven 1998 bowl teams, just the second time in history Clemson must face seven teams that had been to a bowl game the previous season. In each of the first five games in 1999 Clemson will face a team that went to a bowl game last year. Only five of the games are at Death Valley, just the second time since 1977 Clemson will play just five home games.

The season opener is against a Marshall team that has been 22-4 with two conference championships over the last two years and has 100 wins in the decade of the 1990s, more than any other school (yes, even Florida State). The next four games on Clemson's schedule are against 1998 bowl teams that defeated Clemson a year ago.

The Tigers have just two home games in their last seven contests. One of those is certain to bring national attention to Clemson. Bobby Bowden's Florida State Seminoles, a favorite to win the National Championship in the final year of the millenium, will be at Death Valley on October 23rd. That contest will be the first coaching confrontation between father and son in Division I history.

DoMarco Fox is one of just eight scholarship seniors on the entire 1999 Clemson football team. His leadership and tackling ability will be important in Clemson's efforts to make improvement from the 1998 season.

OFFENSE

(5 returning starters, 17 returning lettermen)

At first glance, it would appear that Clemson's adaptation to the Tommy Bowden offense from previous administrations would be akin to Russia's governmental movement from Communism to Capitalism. Hopefully Clemson won't have as many growing pains.

The Tigers have generally been a methodical offense for the last 20 seasons, with a strong rushing attack serving as the staple of the plan. Clemson has led the ACC in rushing 10 of the last 21 years and rushed for at least 200 yards per game in 15 of the last 21 seasons.

It is true that Bowden's Tulane team averaged 305 yards passing and threw for 38 touchdowns in its magical season of 1998. But, the Green Wave also rushed for 2226 yards and scored 26 touchdowns rushing.

"If we can rush for 2,000 yards next year we will have a productive year in terms of wins and losses," said Bowden when discussing his offense. "Rushing the football is a very big part of this offense. We had over 2000 yards rushing at Tulane the last two years and could have had a 1000-yard rusher if we did not split the work for our running backs. We would like to have a 1000-yard rusher at Clemson this season and have 2000 yards rushing as a team. If we can't run the football we are going to struggle on offense."

While rushing is an important aspect of the offense, the throwing game and the corresponding multiple wide-receiver formations will be revolutionary for Clemson enthusiasts. "We have nine scholarship receivers on offense right now, I would like to travel 10 and we will make that up in recruiting next year. We will have formations that use three, four and five receivers."

Tulane's offense was the only attack in the nation to average at least 300 yards passing and at least 200 yards rushing in 1998. "I would characterize our offense as a multiple formation, up-tempo attack. We will use a lot of no-huddle and shotgun that puts stress on the defense. We want the defense to defend the entire 53 yards of the field horizontally, then make them defend all 100 yards vertically."

This up-tempo attack means Clemson will not feature offensive linemen who bank on brute strength. "I like big, tall, quick offensive linemen. We had that at Tulane the last couple of years, we had quick offensive linemen. Our schemes involve a lot of movement in the offensive line. We must have athletic offensive linemen. Some teams just pull the guards, we have a lot of movement with the tackles. All five interior linemen must be quick and have stamina because of the no-huddle aspect."

He has already worked to physically mold his offensive linemen to the uptempo style. The 10 returning scholarship offensive linemen on his 1999 roster have collectively lost 104 pounds relative to their fall of 1998 playing weights. The starting interior five linemen who were first team players last spring average 266 pounds, while the starting five in 1998 averaged an even 300 pounds.

The question is, does Clemson have the players to fit the system? But, Bowden is quick to point out there are adaptations to his system. "There are many elements to the offense. We have I-formation and means of moving the football that we can adapt to the talents of our current players.

"I haven't watched a lot of film from last year and don't plan to. When I look at the film I don't know what they were coached to do. Everyone will have a fresh start. I am not going into this year with a preconceived notion."

A look to the film from last year will show that adapting to the Tommy Bowden offensive system might not be as drastic as first expected. Over the last four games of the 1998 season, Clemson used a shotgun, multiple wide receiver attack with success. Clemson averaged 27.8 points, 222 yards passing and 20 first down per game over the last four contests.

Brandon Streeter is the returning starter at quarterback. The native of Pennsylvania showed improvement over the course of the season and concluded with the second best passing season in school history. The son of the head coach of Gettysburg College threw for 1948 yards and connected on 150 passes in 1998, the second highest single season figures in Clemson history in both areas. His 13 touchdown passes tied for third best in Clemson history. He was especially effective over the last four games when he completed 74-133 passes for 887 yards and nine touchdowns.

Streeter set a Clemson single game passing record against NC State when he completed 27-38 passes for 329 yards and three touchdowns, leading Clemson to 39 points against a team that held Florida State to just seven points earlier in the season. He ranks 14th in Clemson history in career passing yards, matching the number on his back.

There is competition for the starting quarterback position. Woodrow Dantzler, an athletic sophomore from Orangeburg, SC, made strides in the spring. He concluded the 15-practice session by throwing for 220 yards in the spring game, a Clemson record for the off-season event. He completed 8-17 passes for 82 yards in 1998 in five games, and also rushed for 84 yards in 34 attempts. Dantzler and Streeter were the only two quarterbacks to throw a pass for the Tigers last year.

"Brandon had a consistent spring and made strides as far as learning this offense. Woody made improvement, he closed the gap to where it is a dead heat going into August. Which ever one stays healthy will probably be the starter. If they both stay healthy I would play both of them. I have been at places where we played two quarterbacks. I was with a team at Florida State in 1979 when we played two quarterbacks and we were almost undefeated."

Matt Schell red-shirted last season as a first-year freshman and also had a fine spring game, hitting 5-9 passes for 106 yards and a score. First-year freshman Willie Simmons will also be in the picture. The highly regarded signal caller from just 20 minutes away from the Florida State campus, threw for 2,505 yards and 32 touchdowns and also rushed for 510 yards and eight scores his senior season.

The top four running backs from last year should return in 1999. Travis Zachery was Clemson's leading rusher in 1998 with 635 yards and four touchdowns in 158 carries. He was seventh in the ACC in rushing and also led the Tigers in all-purpose running with 995 yards, a record for a Tiger freshman. He showed an ability to catch the ball out of the backfield with 15 receptions for 144 yards and a score. Zachery was suspended for the spring practice due to "in house discipline" from Bowden, but he should return in the fall.

Although not a starter in 1998, Javis Austin was a consistent all-around performer last year. He ranked second on the club in rushing with 72-279 yards and three scores, and also finished third in receiving with 24-159. His 24 receptions established a school mark for catches in a season by a running back. He is also a capable return man.

Brandon Streeter and Woodrow Dantzler are in a "dead heat" heading into August. Bowden is not against using a two-quarterback system in his rookie year with the Tigers.

Austin, a native of Clemson, had his top game in the season finale, a 28-19 victory over South Carolina. He had 9-50 rushing and 3-32 receiving. He scored a touchdown in each area.

Senior Terry Witherspoon is the returning starter at fullback. The 252-pound blocker had 56-157 rushing and scored three touchdowns. Vince Ciurciu had 27-99 rushing for the season as a first-year freshman and certainly will be a factor in the Clemson offense. Gary Johnson and Pat Cyrgalis, who both red-shirted this past year, are also back to compete for playing time in the backfield. Johnson will see most of his time at tailback, while Cyrgalis is a fullback.

"I was very satisfied with the play of the four fullbacks (in the Spring). They showed a tremendous work ethic and a mental toughness and you need that in the backfield. We need to find a place for Pat Cyrgalis and Vince Ciurciu. We need someone with breakaway speed at tailback. We could easily see a freshman in the backfield this fall. We need to find someone who will make the defense miss in the open field."

Tommy Bowden uses many wide receivers in his offensive attack and fortunately he does inherit a deep group of players at that key position in 1999. Three players, including a pair of experienced seniors, return who had at least 20 receptions in 1998. Overall, six returning lettermen who combined to catch 92 passes last year are back, including senior leaders Brian Wofford and Mal Lawyer.

Wofford and Lawyer combined for 66 receptions for 999 yards and eight touchdowns in 1998. In the NC State game, both receivers went over 100 yards, the first time in school history that the Tigers have had two 100-yard receivers in the same game. They have combined for 138 receptions in their careers and both are ranked in the top 20 in Clemson history in career receptions. They have a shot at breaking the school record for receptions by a pair in the same class.

Wofford, a senior who will be in his third year as a starter, had 35-535 yards and five scores in 1998. He had a solid spring and had a 100-yard performance in the spring game. The native of Spartanburg, SC actually had consecutive 100-yard receiving games against Duke and NC State last year, and had at least one catch in 10 of the 11 games. He ranks 11th in school history in receptions and 13th in receiving yardage entering 1999.

Lawyer was the second leading pass catcher last year with 31-464 and three scores. He is also a fine return man as shown by his seventh place ranking in the ACC in kickoff returns. He had 8 catches for 100 yards and two touchdowns against NC State and had 181 all-purpose yards against the Pack. Like his close friend Wofford, he had at least one catch in 10 of the 11 games last year.

Rod Gardner is a third returning receiver with at least 20 catches from a year ago. He started in three games last year and made many acrobatic catches, including two against South Carolina in the season finale. He showed his ability to go deep when he caught a 63-yard pass on the first drive of the Wake Forest game.

"I was pleased with the depth of our wide receivers and the way they adjusted to the system. It is a fairly complicated area of our offense, they had a lot to learn. With four or five receivers on the field at the same time it was a learning experience for them. Rick Stockstill really did a good job with them in the spring.

"Overall, they caught the ball well. We need to make the receivers tougher. I want to see improvement in the blocking aspect of the game and in breaking some tackles. Rod Gardner showed great improvement. He has what it takes to play in the NFL because of his height and speed."

Justin Watts, Matt Bailey and Mike Seth are three more returning lettermen at wideout. Watts had 4-44 last year and might have the best hands on the team. Bailey had one catch in eight games in limited action as a freshman, while Seth played in every game last year and had one reception. Jackie Robinson, who red-shirted the 1998 season, is another wide receiver who will be a factor this year. The high school teammate of quarterback Woodrow Dantzler might have been the top signee of the freshman class of '98.

T.J. Watkins is the only returning tight end with experience. As a freshman he had three catches for 64 yards. He started four games and averaged 40 plays per game as a rookie. Watkins showed improved blocking abilities as the season progressed. Jason LeMay, who red-shirted last year, is also a factor at that position.

The offensive line will be a focal point for Bowden during fall practice. As stated previously, this is the first time in 56 years that Clemson enters a season without a returning starter on the interior. Additionally, there are only four returning lettermen on the offensive line positions.

The only player on the Clemson roster who has started a game on the offensive line is Kyle Young. Named Mr. Football in South Carolina his senior year at Daniel High School, Young had an outstanding freshman season. He started the last four games at a guard position, but will move to center, his position in high school, in 1999. The President's List student played at his best in the victory over South Carolina, in particular on a goal line devastation block that allowed Jarvis Austin to score a touchdown.

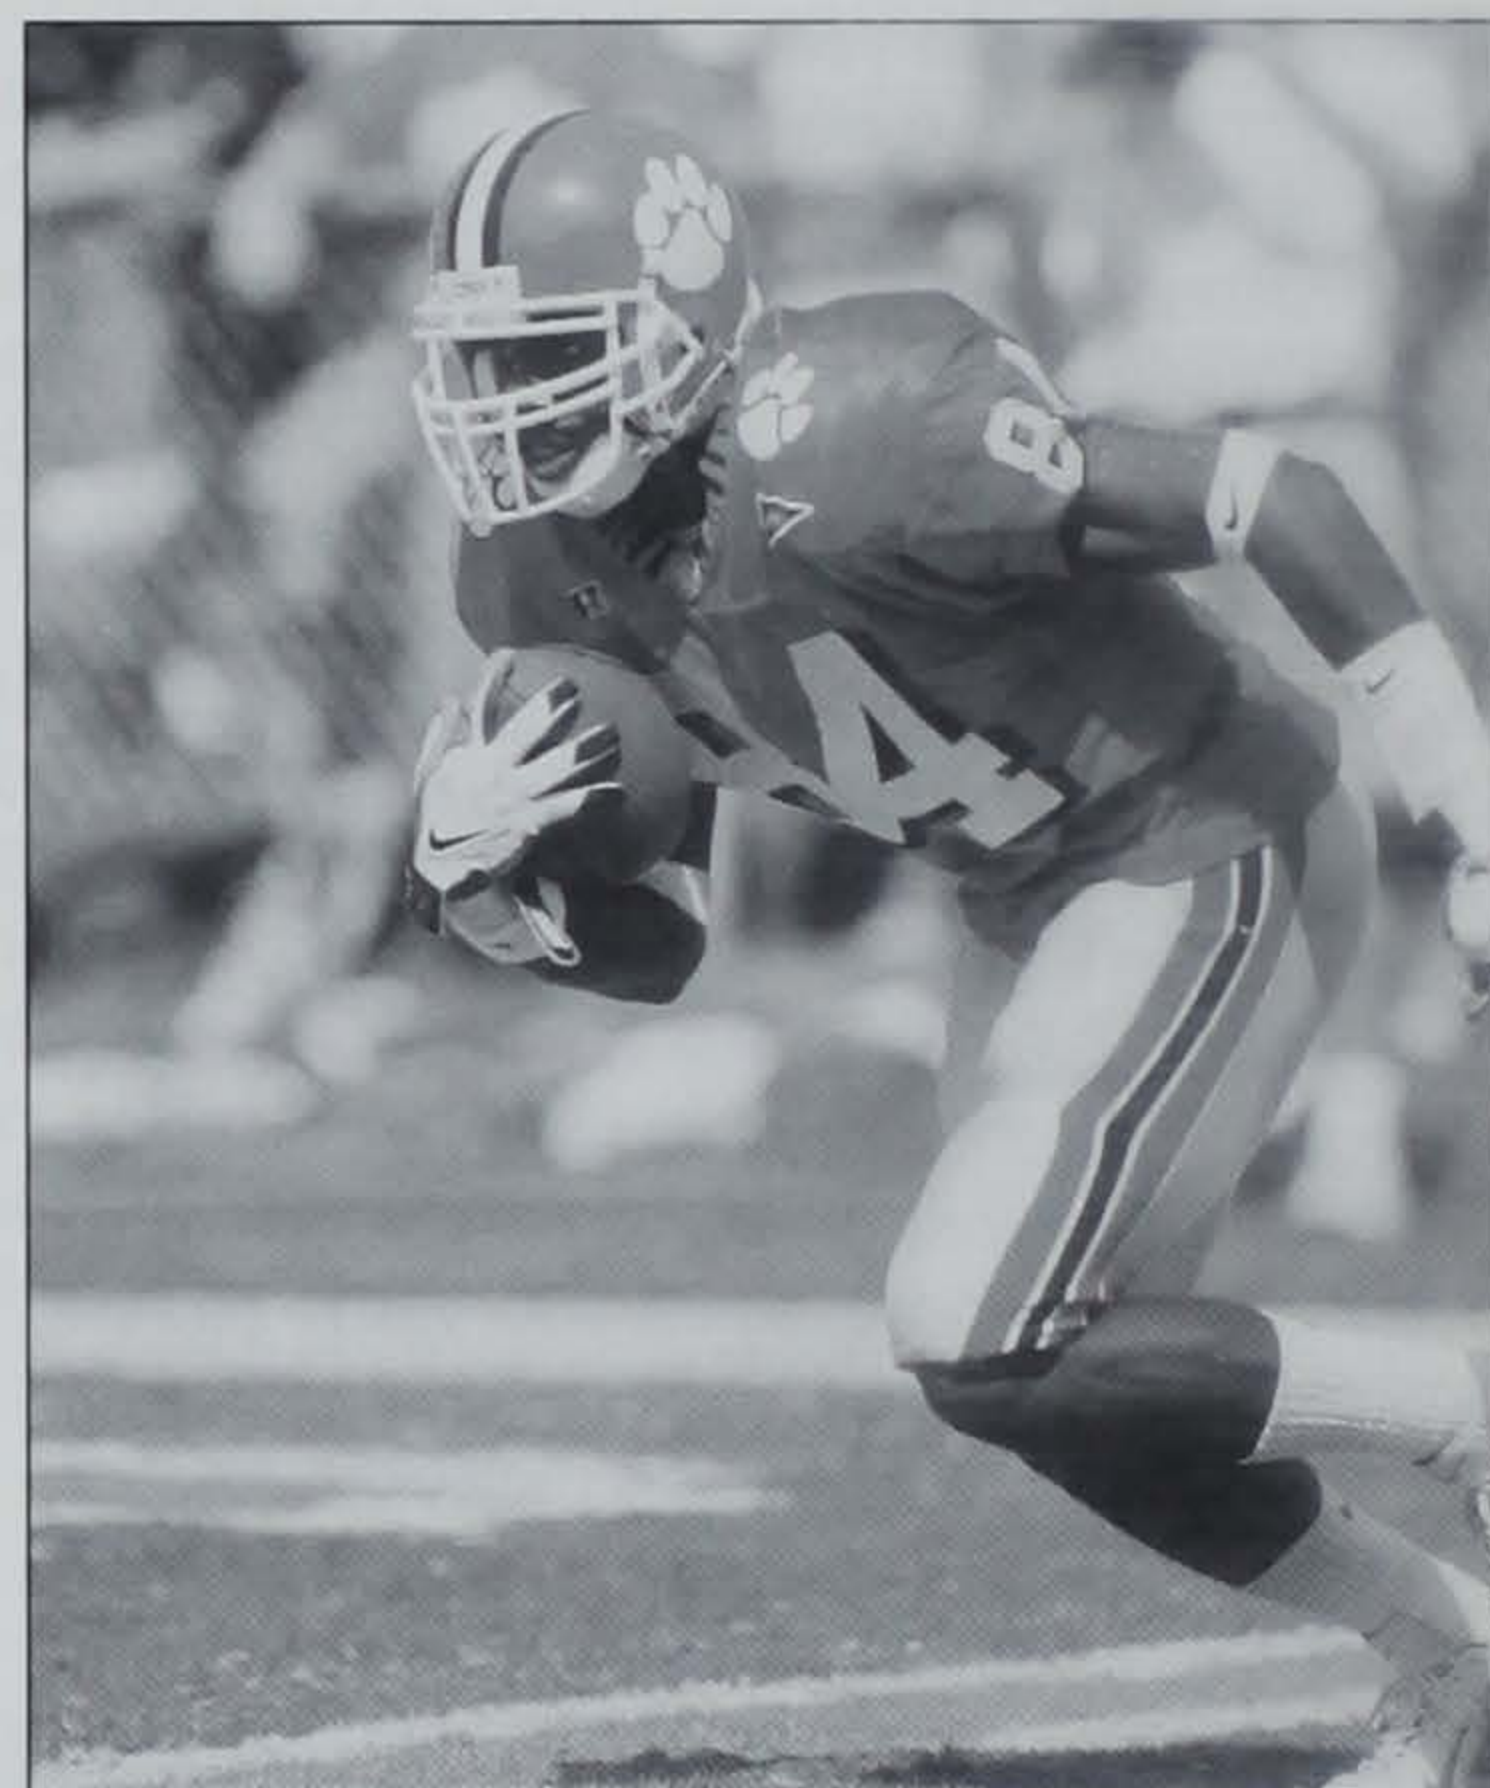

Akil Smith, a reserve who averaged 40 snaps a game at tackle over the last five games of the season, should inherit a starting role at a tackle position. He is an outstanding pass blocker with quick feet who has star qualities. John McDermott, who played 56 snaps in six games a year ago, had an outstanding spring and is slated to start at a tackle position this fall opposite Smith. Brady Washburn, whose father is a line coach in the NFL, will certainly see plenty of action behind McDermott. Nate Gillespie is a red-shirt freshman who worked on defense most of last year. He was moved to the offensive side of the ball last spring and showed some promise.

Theo Mougros and Will Merritt were second team players heading into the spring, but showed consistency that moved them into the starting lineup after the spring game. Mougros played two years as a backup defensive lineman and sometime fullback in the "jumbo set", earning letters both years, while Merritt was a backup center last year, but did not earn a letter.

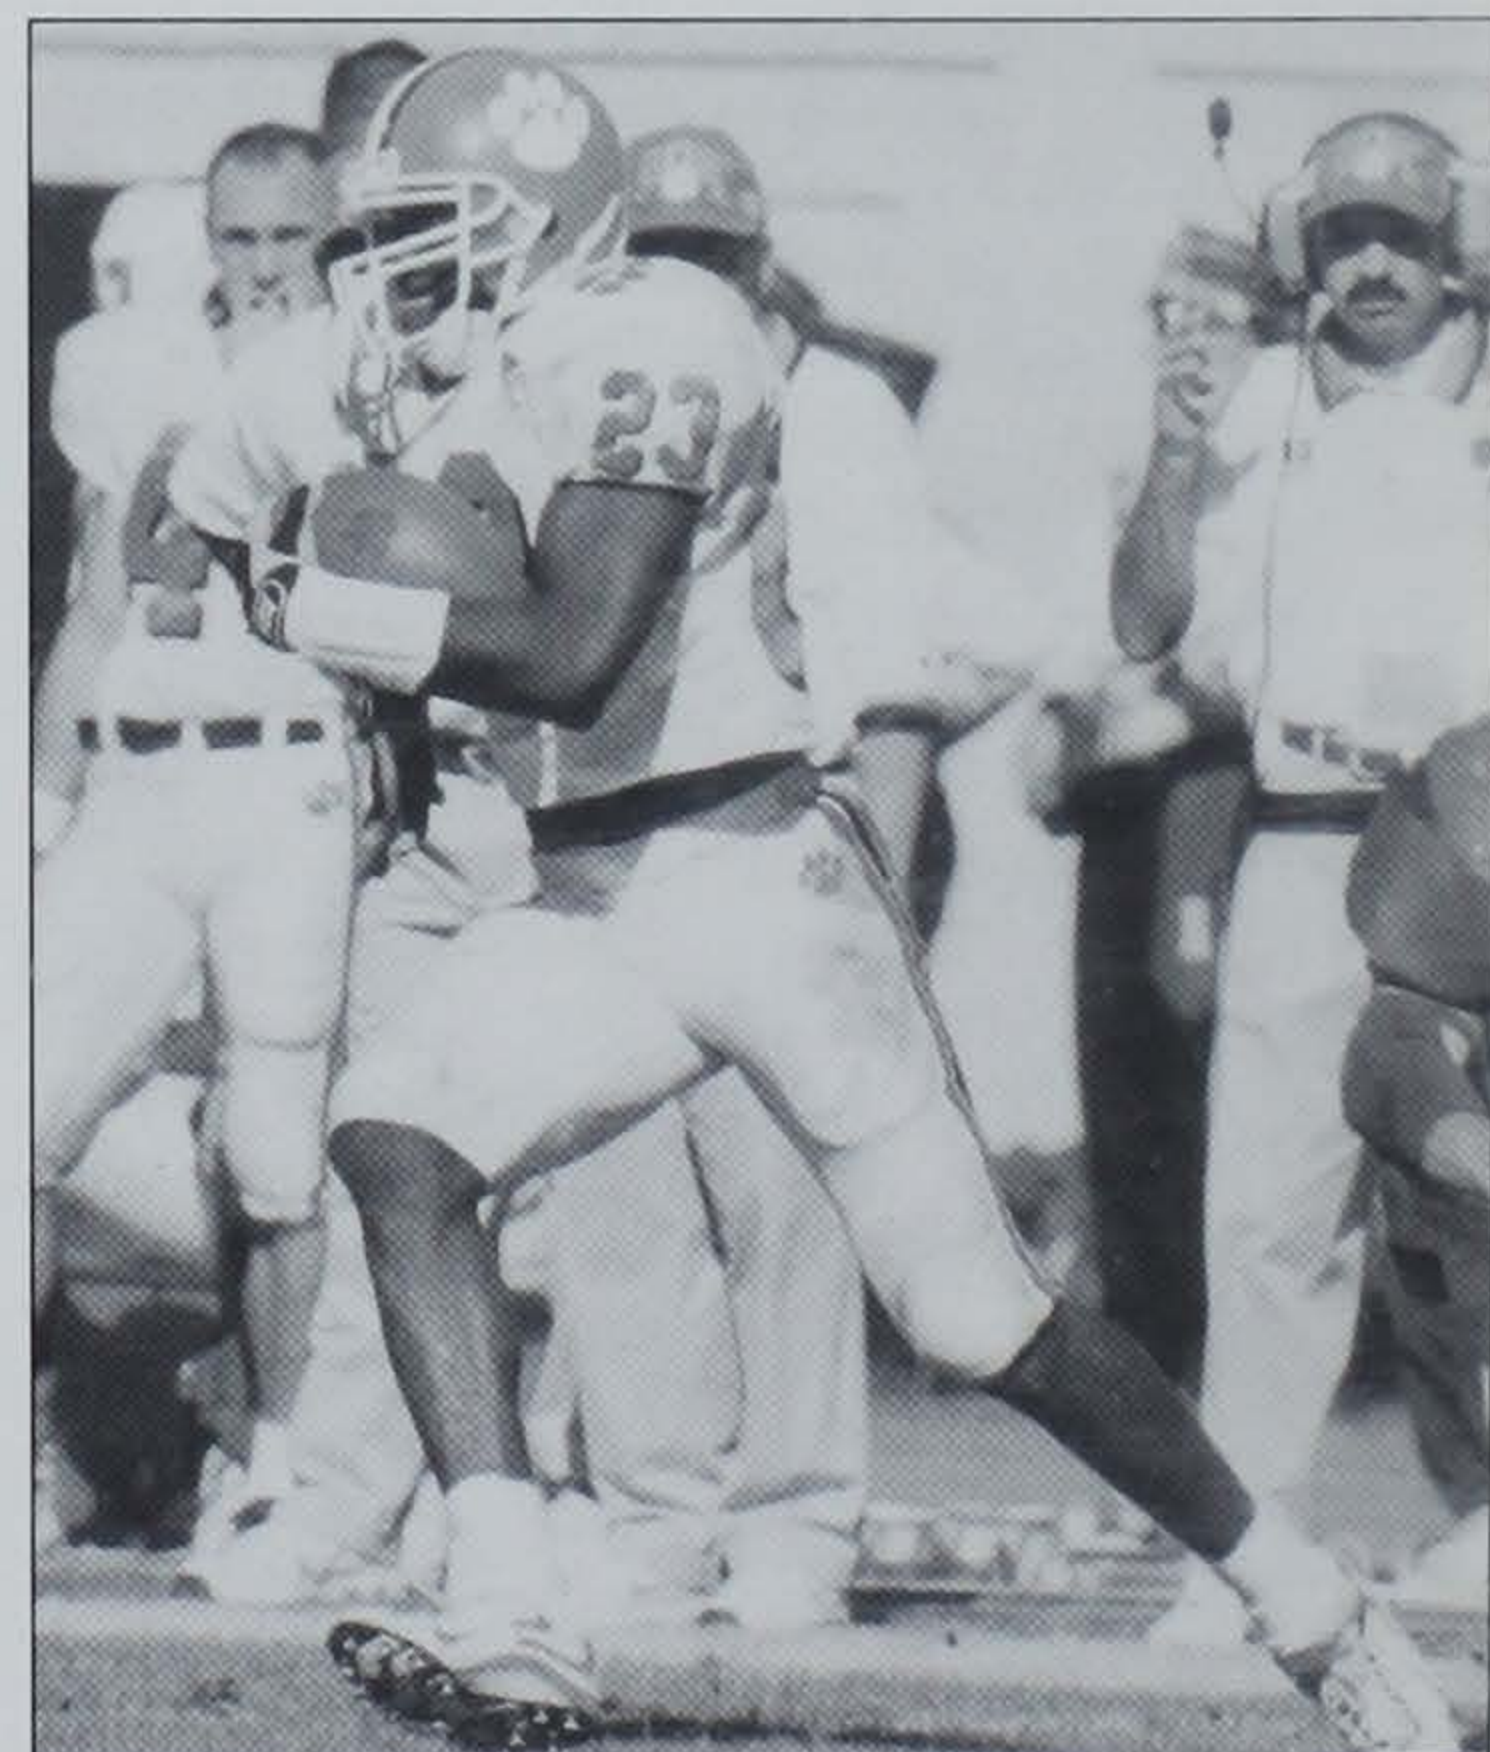

"The offensive line will be inexperienced and small. We don't have a single senior on the offensive line. We will have to take advantage of their quickness until they gain in strength. There were some pleasant surprises in the spring. Theo Mougros made strides and I thought John McDermott showed great improvement. Kyle Young was the most consistent offensive lineman and would be considered our top player in that area of the team even though he is just a sophomore. I thought Will Merritt had a nice spring also. Akil Smith and Gary Byrd are two big players who have to be more consistent.

"We hope to have players who are between 280 and 290 who have quickness, that is what we are striving for. Right now we average 266. Our system will have to give the offensive linemen a chance to be successful."

Neely Page and Gary Byrd are two more promising offensive guards. Byrd red-shirted the 1998 season and will be a freshman this year, while Page earned a letter as a reserve guard in 1998. Byrd has lost 28 pounds since the start of last fall and is now a quicker 292 heading into 1999.

Overall, this is one of the youngest offensive lines in Clemson history. The starting five interior linemen are composed of three sophomores and two juniors, while the backups are three freshmen, a sophomore and a junior. The tight end position is also devoid of an upper classman.

DEFENSE

(6 returning starters, 23 returning lettermen)

While the Clemson offensive players spent much of the spring learning new formations and terminology, the Tigers defensive players didn't spend nearly as much time in tutorial sessions. Bowden retained defensive coordinator Reggie Herring when he took over at Clemson, so much of the defensive theory will remain the same.

Herring has been a linebacker coach at Clemson since December of 1993, and spent the 1997 and 1998 seasons as defensive coordinator. In both of his seasons as defensive coordinator, Clemson ranked in the top 25 in the nation in total defense. Last year, in Clemson's 3-8 season, rushing defense and total defense were not problems, as Clemson ranked in the top 25 nationally in both areas. Additionally, Clemson led the ACC in sacks and was second in the league to Florida State in rushing defense, total defense and third-down conversion defense.

Overall, Clemson has a strong heritage when it comes to defense. Over the last 10 years, Clemson has ranked in the top 20 in rushing defense eight times, in the top 20 in scoring defense seven times and in the top 25 in total defense five seasons. Clemson is the only school in the nation that has had a defensive player drafted in the first round each of the last three years.

Herring will play a 4-3 defense in 1999, a formation Clemson used much of last year even though it was called a 50. The Tigers will lineup with two defensive tackles, two defensive ends, three linebackers, and four defensive backs this season.

Clemson's level of proficiency will be a function of the performance of six returning starters and 23 total returning lettermen. Clemson is most deep when it comes to starters in the secondary, yet one of the areas of concern this fall is depth in the secondary and at linebacker.

"The general philosophy on defense mirrors the philosophy on offense," said Bowden. "If we are going to be upbeat, fast tempo on offense I want to play a similar style defensively. Reggie's style and temperament is consistent with that style."

"However Reggie wants to keep the opposition out of the endzone, that is the objective. We want to force the offense to make plays. Putting on a lot of defensive pressure is the best way to do that. We will take away the easy throws and get in their face. That is what they have done here in the past."

The Tigers have two returning starters and eight returning lettermen upfront, probably the deepest area of the Clemson team. But, there are no returning stars from this area of defense that has had a first or second-team All-ACC player every year since 1981.

Former Clemson defensive linemen who have excelled in the pros in recent years include two-time Super Bowl Champion Trevor Pryce with the Denver Broncos, six-time Pro Bowl Selection Michael Dean Perry, San Francisco 49er Brentson Buckner and 1999 draftee Adrian Dingle. Dingle set a Clemson single season sack record with 10.5 last year and he will be the biggest replacement on the front line this year.

A player Clemson will look to for leadership and production upfront this year is returning starter Terry Bryant. The native of Georgia suffered an ankle injury in 1998 that forced him to miss the last three and a half games. He was consistent over the first eight games with 26 tackles and was a big reason Clemson allowed just 104 yards per game on the ground.

Gary Childress is a second returning starter on the defensive line. Perhaps Clemson's most improved lineman from 1997 to 1998, Childress started all 11 games and finished the season with 32 tackles. He had two tackles for loss and five tackles in the win over South Carolina and had a tackle for loss in the endzone for a safety against Virginia.

Damonte McKenzie and Terry Jolly are two multi-year lettermen who are also top line players at defensive tackle. Both have started games over their careers, but would not be considered returning starters. McKenzie is the only three-year letterman on the defensive front and had 37 tackles last year, including five for loss. He had 19 tackles in the last four games to finish with a flourish. Jolly started off and on the last two seasons and had 27 tackles while playing 35 plays per game a year ago. He might have been Clemson's top lineman in the spring and he had seven tackles, including a pair of tackles for loss in the spring game.

Jason Hollomon posted 31 tackles and four sacks last year, including a pair of sacks at Florida State. He has earned two letters in his career. Jovon Bush is a reserve tackle with great potential. He lettered as a freshman, but his playing time should increase. Freddie James, one of the top student-athletes in an engineering curriculum, had 22 tackles in 11 games a year ago and played in every game. He had a career high five tackles against South Carolina and followed that with six tackles in the spring game.

Three red-shirt freshmen should aid the Clemson cause this year. Nick Eason, an outside linebacker during his red-shirt season, has moved to defensive end, while Brandon Rouse is a 255-pounder who is also a factor in the defensive line. He was listed second-team behind Terry Bryant in spring practice.

"The defensive line is probably our strongest area when you look at our defense, especially when you consider the future. We only have one senior at defensive end. Terry Bryant can be an All-ACC type player for us. Terry Jolly had a good spring, he showed signs of becoming a very good player, but there is another level there for him."

Traditionally, Clemson has been one of the best in the nation when it comes to linebackers.

Bryant hopes to return from an ankle injury to have an All-ACC season at defensive end.

In recent years, one publication listed Clemson as the top linebacker producer in the country, and that has been reflected in the performance of recent NFL players Levon Kirkland, Ed McDaniel, Wayne Simmons and Anthony Simmons. Six former Clemson linebackers were in the NFL last year.

No player with that type of star quality is on the roster this year. In fact, Clemson is as inexperienced in this area as it has been in the last decade. Harold Means is a returning starter, but Bowden must replace leading tackler Chris Jones (128 stops) and second-round draft choice Rahim Abdullah (89 tackles, 15 tackles for loss).

Means, who played his high school football with Anthony Simmons at Spartanburg High, started seven games last year and had 94 stops, third best on the team. In fact, his 8.5 tackles per game ranked 13th best in the ACC last year and is sixth best among returning players for 1999. Means had a breakout game against South Carolina when he had two sacks and three tackles for loss. He was one of the top tacklers in the spring game with eight.

Keith Adams is a precocious sophomore who will move into a starting linebacker position. Fifteen pounds stronger as a sophomore, Adams was a first-year freshman in 1998 when he had 45 tackles in 176 plays. He had 10 tackles in the season's 10th game against Georgia Tech, then had seven in the victory over South Carolina. He is one of the quickest young linebackers in the ACC.

Braxton K. Williams is a returning letterman who will be a frontline player on Clemson's second line of defense. Williams had eight tackles, including two tackles for loss and 1.5 sacks in 1998. Both of the sacks were at Virginia, where he played his best game of the season. He tied Means for game tackle honors in the spring game with eight. He is a second generation Tiger gridder, as his father was a member of Clemson's 1982 and 1983 teams.

Altroy Bodrick, Kenzi Ross, Chad Carson and J.J. McKelvey are also in the linebacker picture. Bodrick played in nine games on defense and had seven tackles a year ago. He is listed as the first team weakside linebacker heading into the fall. Carson was a top special teams player and a top student (3.86 GPA) last year as a freshman.

Kenzi Ross played 20 snaps as a red-shirt freshman and will also challenge for playing time. He suffered a knee injury on the second day of spring practice, but he came back to post seven tackles in the spring game.

"We will be very young at linebacker, and you could see a freshman play there this year. Harold Means is our only senior back at linebacker. Until we play a game you really don't know how tough they are. Keith Adams has muscled up and had a good spring and showed improvement, now he just has to perform on the field on Saturdays."

Three starters return in the secondary. Robert Carswell is an all-conference candidate at the free safety position after finishing last year with 102 tackles, most in the ACC by a sophomore. His tackle total was ninth best overall in the ACC and second best among returning players for this year. The consistent player had at least nine tackles in eight of the 11 games in 1998, including 11 in the victory over South Carolina at season's end.

Carswell ranks in the top 10 in the nation among safeties according to most of the pre-season publications and is high on Bowden's list when it comes to respect and team leadership.

"Robert Carswell had a very consistent sophomore year and he continued that in the spring. He might be the top leader of this team. DoMarco Fox played cornerback and safety in the spring and has experience we need back there. Fox could play cornerback if we need him to, but he will start the year at safety. Dextra Polite had an excellent spring at cornerback and moved into a starting role there."

DoMarco Fox was Clemson's starter at free safety last year, but will play strong safety this year. Fox began the spring at cornerback, but by the end of the month long workouts, he was back at safety. He has played some cornerback in his career and his diversity and experience make him a valuable asset in the secondary. Fox suffered from a knee injury late in the season, but did have 12 tackles against Georgia Tech. He had 54 tackles as a junior after recording 74 as a sophomore.

Alex Ardley is a returning starter at cornerback. As a red-shirt freshman he had 10 passes broken up, most ever by a Clemson freshman. His 70 tackles ranked fifth on the team and his 26-yard interception return for a touchdown at North Carolina was certainly a season highlight. Polite, junior college transfer in his third year on the team, had a breakout spring and overtook some younger players to move to first team.

Sophomore Charles Hafley will also see significant playing time in the secondary, especially if he can pick up where he left off against South Carolina in the 1998 season finale. He had eight tackles in 47 snaps against South Carolina and was named ACC Rookie-of-the-Week as he also registered an interception, caused fumble, recovered fumble and a touchdown saving pass deflection.

Depth in the secondary will also be provided by Darrel Crutchfield, a starter in the last two games of the 1997 season, David Evans, also a starter at times in 1997, and Chad Speck, who had a touchdown on a blocked punt return against Auburn in the 1998 Peach Bowl.

SPECIAL TEAMS

The kicking game will be looking for two new starters in 1999. Punter Kevin Laird held the position for three years and left Clemson with five school records. He averaged 41.5 yards a boot on 75 punts last year. He was very effective when it came to field position, as his 17 punts over 50 yards and his 18 punts inside the 20 demonstrated. Placekicker David Richardson was 8-15 on field goals last year and was Clemson's leading scorer with 44 points.

Both players left Clemson with degrees, but they also took all the kicking experience with them. No player on the Clemson roster has ever punted or place kicked in a Tiger game.

Ryan Romano, the top upperclassman on the football team in terms of grade point average, has been on the Clemson roster for two years and is a scholarship candidate for the punting position. Tony Lazzara won the placekicking position in the spring. He consistently made field goals of 40 yards or more during spring scrimmages and had three field goals in the spring game.

The return game will feature Mal Lawyer. The senior had 14 kickoff returns for 247 yards a year ago. He was also working as a punt returner in the spring, but has never performed the duty in a game. Jarvis Austin and Brian Wofford are two more veterans with experience as far as kickoff returns are concerned. Travis Zachery is the top returnee as far as punt returns, he had 26-216 yards last year, an 8.3 average.

Carswell is second among returning tacklers in the ACC.

CLEMSON'S DEFENSE HAD SOLID SEASON

While Clemson had a 3-8 overall record in 1998, you could not see that in the defensive statistics. The Tigers ranked first in the ACC in sacks with 37, and rated second in total defense, yards per play allowed, rushing defense, rushing yards allowed per attempt, and pass completion percentage defense. The Tigers ranked 14th in the nation in rushing defense and 25th in total defense. Only Florida State was better than Clemson in most defensive statistical categories.

This marked the seventh time in the decade of the 1990s that Clemson has ranked in the top 20 in the country in rushing defense. Six times in the decade Clemson has been in the top 20 in scoring defense and this was the fourth time in the 1990s that Clemson has been in the top 25 in total defense.

WOFFORD, LAWYER AMONG CLEMSON'S BEST

While the 1999 Clemson football team is young in the offensive line, the wide receiver corps is most experienced. For the first time in school history four players who had at least 20 receptions the previous year, return to the passing offense.

The group is led by seniors Brian Wofford and Mal Lawyer. Both natives of South Carolina, the classmates have combined for 138 receptions for 1923 yards and 16 touchdowns. They are already ranked eighth in Clemson history among receiving duos in the same class.

The record is 216 catches by Perry Tuttle (150) and Jerry Gaillard (66) from 1978-81. Lawyer and Wofford are just 47 receptions out of second place.

Wofford and Lawyer are already both in the top 20 in Clemson history in total receptions. Wofford is tied for 11th with Keith Jennings with 78 career catches, while Lawyer is 18th with 60. Wofford has 10 career touchdowns, tied for 10th in school history with Bennie Cunningham.

CLEMSON RED-SHIRT ROSTER FOR 1998

Clemson played five first-year freshmen and red-shirted 13 players off its 1998 recruiting class. The Tigers had outstanding contributions from rookies Keith Adams, Chad Carson, Vince Ciurciu, Akil Smith and Braxton K. Williams last season. But, there are some outstanding players from this class waiting in the wings to show what they can do in 1999. The red-shirt group includes top linemen Gary Byrd and Brady Washburn, Nathan Gillespie, and Nick Eason, who will all challenge for considerable time next year.

*Clemson passed for 2030 yards, second best total in Clemson history.

*Clemson ranked in the top 15 in the nation and second in the ACC in rushing defense, allowing 104.5 yards per game.

*Clemson ranked in the top 25 in the nation and second in the ACC in total defense (320.1) yards per game.

*Clemson's opponents punted more times than the Tigers (78-76)

*Clemson outscored the opposition in the second half 131-119.

*Clemson outrushed the opposition for the season 1324 to 1150.

*Clemson's opponents had more penalties (85-83) and more penalty yards (817-701)

*Clemson led the opposition in time of possession, 31:12 to 28:48 per game.

*Opponents average start after a Clemson kickoff was their own 22-yard-line.

*Clemson had 15 more sacks defensively than the opposition and had 37 sacks for the season, best in the ACC.

*Clemson's offense had a better third-down conversion percentage than its opponents for the season (32-27.6%) and Clemson's 3rd-down defense was second best in the ACC.

*Clemson had nine runs over 20 yards, while the opposition had just eight runs over 20 yards.

RECORDS, NOTEWORTHY ACCOMPLISHMENTS IN 1998

Javis Austin set the Clemson single season record for receptions by a running back, finishing the year with 24-159 and a touchdown. Ray Yauger had the previous record with 21 in 1969.

Brandon Streeter had 1948 passing yards and 150 completions, second highest figures in school history. He set single game records for completions (27) and passing yards (329) against NC State. Streeter threw 13 touchdown passes, tied for third best in Clemson history. He also became the first quarterback in school history to have a pair of 300-yard passing games in the same season.

Travis Zachery set the Clemson freshman all-purpose running record with 995 yards. That included 635 yards rushing, best on the team and third best total by a freshman in Clemson history.

Adrian Dingle set the single season sack record with 10.5. He had 1.5 against South Carolina to set the record. Dingle ended his career third in Clemson history in sacks and fourth in tackles for loss.

Alex Ardley set a Clemson freshman record for passes broken up with 10. He became the first freshman defensive back since 1943 to start every game.

Mal Lawyer and Brian Wofford each had at least 100 yards receiving against NC State, the first duo to do that in a single game in Clemson history.

Holland Postell started all 11 games, giving him 35 consecutive starts to finish his career.

Antwan Edwards set the Clemson career record for return yards on takeaways. He ended his career with 299 return yards on 10 takeaways, eight interceptions and two fumble returns. Edwards had a 26.9 average on kick-off returns, sixth best in Clemson history and he finished the year 10th in the country and first in the ACC in that area.

STREETER SETS TWO SINGLE GAME RECORDS

Clemson quarterback Brandon Streeter broke two school single game passing records against NC State on October 31. He completed 27 of 38 passes for 329 yards and three touchdowns. The 27 completions and 329 yards were single game marks. Nealon Greene had the old completions record with 26 against Virginia in 1997, and Thomas Ray had the old passing yardage record with 323 against UNC in 1965.

Streeter's performance was outstanding in a number of areas. He completed 12-14 passes for 176 yards and three scores in the fourth quarter alone, the top fourth quarter passing game in Clemson history. He completed touchdown passes of 14 yards to Mal Lawyer, 52 yards to Brian Wofford, and 25 yards to Lawyer. He also led the Tigers 30 yards in six plays to a field goal that gave Clemson a 39-38 lead with 2:15 to play. Unfortunately, a Clemson defense depleted by injury, could not hold the Pack out of the endzone.

Overall, Streeter led Clemson to 303 yards of total offense and 15 first downs in the second half. He completed 20-25 passes in the half and had a passing efficiency of 159 for the game. Clemson's 329 yards passing for the game was the fourth highest as a team in Clemson history.

Streeter's performance against NC State was part of a strong finish to the junior's season. Over the last four games he was 74-133 for 887 yards and nine touchdowns against just five interceptions. He had an efficiency of 126 for those four games.

CLEMSON OFFENSIVE IMPROVEMENT IN 1998

Clemson made significant improvement offensively over the course of the 1998 season. The young offense had to replace four-year starters Nealon Greene, Raymond Priester, Tony Horne, Glenn Rountree and Jim Bundren. All five made professional football rosters in 1998.

As a result, Clemson got off to a slow start offensively in 1998, averaging just 15.3 points, 273 yards total offense and 12.4 first downs per game for the first seven games of the season. But, over the last four games of the year, Clemson averaged 27.8 points, 361 yards of total offense, 222 yards passing and 20 first downs per game. The Tigers had 39 points and 440 yards total offense against NC State on October 31, season highs against the Wolfpack team that held Florida State to seven points.

Clemson had more points in the last four games, than it had in the first seven games combined. The Tigers had nine touchdown passes over the last four games, compared to just four total in the first nine games.

Clemson started eight underclassmen on offense over the last four games, meaning the Tigers should have some experience on offense at the beginning of the 1999 season.

Here is a comparison of the Clemson offense for the first seven games with the final four contests:

TURNOVERS COST CLEMSON IN 1998

You need only look at the turnover statistic to determine the most important barometer when it comes to Clemson football. The Tigers ranked 103rd in the nation in turnover margin last season, committing 29 turnovers compared to forcing 18. Clemson had 27 turnovers in its eight losses and just two in its three wins.

Clemson had seven turnovers against Wake Forest, four interceptions and three lost fumbles. That was the most turnovers by the Clemson offense since the Kentucky game of 1985, a 26-7 Wildcat victory. The Tigers had no turnovers in their victory over Maryland.

Turnover margin and rushing margin are an indication of how the Tigers will do. The Tigers are now 23-3 the last five years when they win both the turnover margin and rushing margin in the same game, and are now 112-8-2 over the last 21 seasons, a 92 percent winning mark.

CARSWELL TOP TACKLER IN SECONDARY

Strong safety Robert Carswell had a consistent year in the secondary and finished the season with 102 tackles, the second highest total in Clemson history by a defensive back. Only the 117 by A.J. Johnson in 1985 is higher. The previous number-two ranking was by Leomont Evans, who had 96 in 1995.

Carswell finished the season with six games of double figures in tackles, including the South Carolina contest when he had 11. That was the first time he led the Tigers in tackles in his career. He had at least nine tackles in eight of the 11 games this past season.

Carswell has started each of the last 17 games for the Tigers dating to last year's Maryland contest. His move into the safety position allowed Antwan Edwards to move to cornerback. Carswell had 11 tackles and three passes broken up in his first college start against the Terps in 1997 and he ended that season with 51 tackles and six passes broken up. He was just the sixth Clemson first-year freshman to start in the secondary since 1952.

DINGLE SETS SACK RECORD

Clemson defensive end Adrian Dingle became Clemson's single season record holder for quarterback sacks when he had 1.5 against South Carolina in his final game as a Tiger. He broke the record formerly held by three former Tigers who were prominent in the NFL, William Perry, Michael Dean Perry and Jim Stuckey. All three played at least seven years in the NFL. Stuckey had 10 sacks in 1979, his senior year. William Perry equalled the record with 10 sacks in 1984, his senior year, while Michael Dean Perry had 10 sacks in 1987, also his senior season.

Dingle finished his career third in Clemson history in sacks with 23. Each of the top 10 quarterback sack leaders in Clemson history made it to the NFL. Dingle ranks sixth in Clemson history in career tackles for loss with 45. He passed Chester McGlockton (Kansas City Chiefs) on the all-time Clemson sack list and passed Levon Kirkland (Pittsburgh Steelers) on the all-time tackles for loss list in 1998.

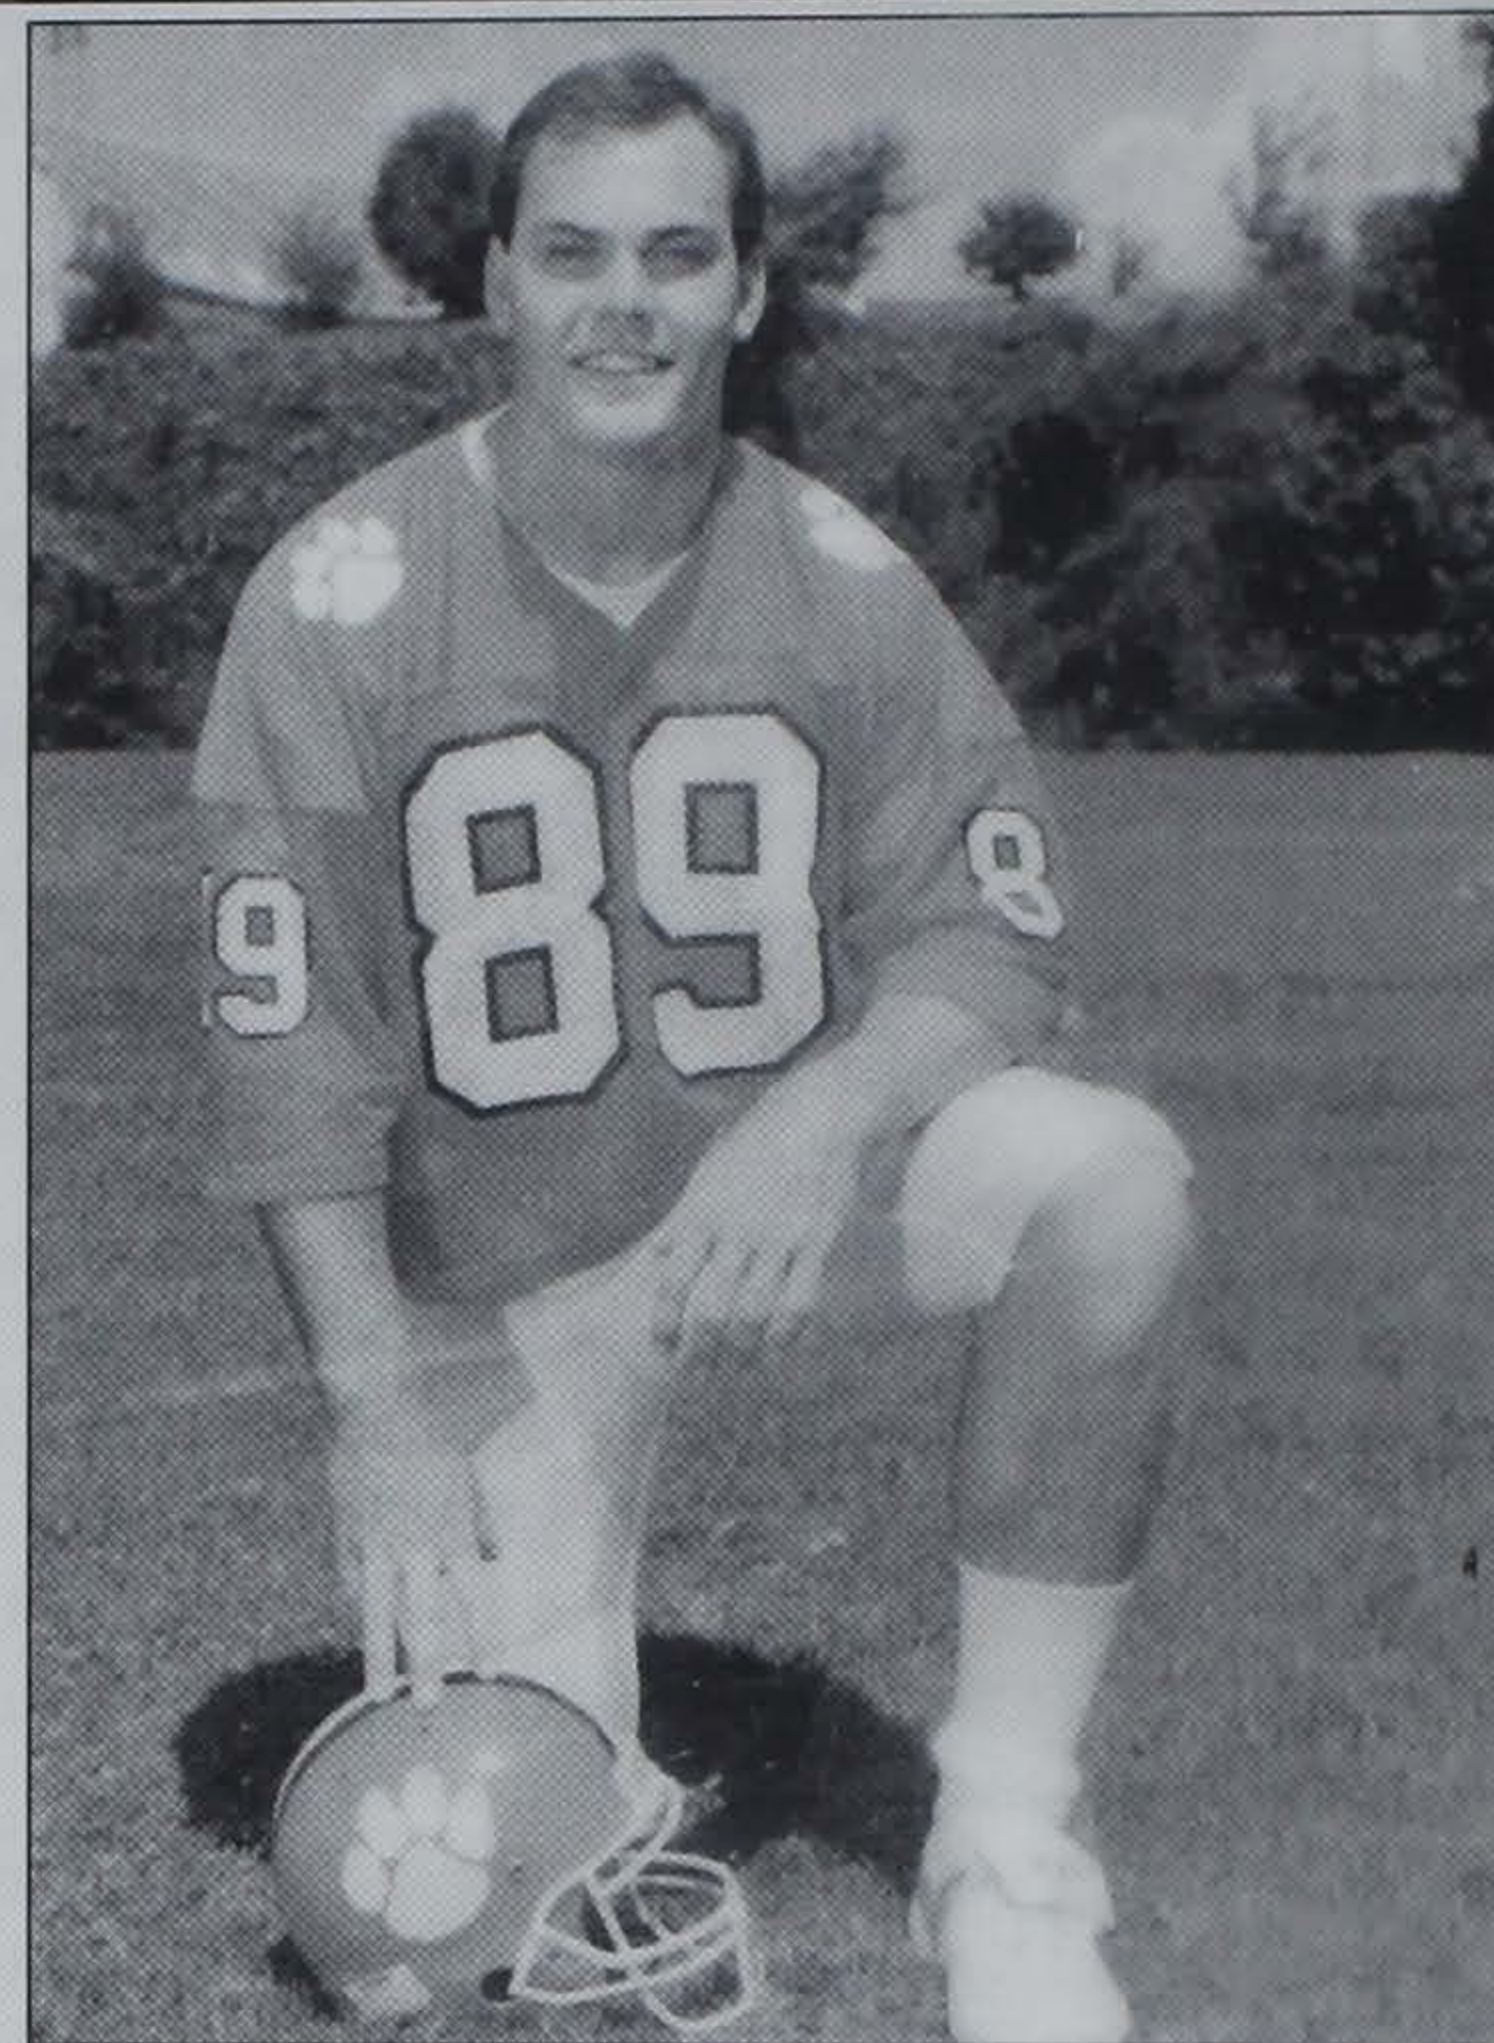

Dingle battled a knee injury all year and had 47 tackles for the season. He also had a team best 27 quarterback pressures (including five at North Carolina and four at Duke), three fumble recoveries and two caused fumbles to go with his other defensive numbers.

FORMER TIGERS IN COACHING

Playing football for Clemson is obviously a good preparation for young men who wish to make coaching a career. No less than 11 former Clemson gridgers are currently college coaches. The list includes three former Tiger lettermen who will coach against Clemson this year.

The group is headed by Mike O'Cain, the head coach at NC State, who was Clemson's team MVP in 1976. His Wolfpack defeated the Tigers last year 46-39 in one of the most exciting games in the history of Death Valley. When Clemson travels to Virginia Tech this year it will face two former Clemson players on the opposing sideline. Virginia Tech's offensive coordinator is Ricky Bustle, who played for the Tigers from 1973-76. The Hokies wide receivers coach is Danny Pearman, a tight end for the Tigers from 1984-87.

The list does not include many former Tigers who are now high school coaches. Recent quarterbacks Louis Solomon (1992-95) and Richard Moncrief (1989-93) are currently high school coaches in New Jersey and Alabama, respectively. Jeff Cruce, who played for Clemson from 1981-84, coached 1999 signee Jerald Howard at Hanahan High.

Dan Pearman is one of 10 former Clemson players now coaching at the collegiate level.

Here is a list of former Tiger Football Players who are college coaches

ABDULLAH, HULSEY TURN PROFESSIONAL

Clemson outside linebacker Rahim Abdullah announced in December that he would give up his senior year of eligibility to enter the NFL draft. The native of Jacksonville, FL was a second-team All-ACC performer this past season for the Tigers.

Abdullah was the third Clemson defensive player in the last three years to enter the NFL draft with a year of eligibility. After the 1997 season Anthony Simmons entered the draft after his junior season and was a first-round pick of the Seattle Seahawks. Trevor Pryce turned pro a year early after the 1996 season and was taken in the first round by the Denver Broncos. Both players are now starting in the NFL.

Abdullah had 89 tackles this past season, fourth best on the team. He tied for the team lead in tackles for loss with 15 and was second in sacks with 7.5. He concluded his career in the top 15 in school history in both tackles for loss and sacks. He had three returns for touchdown in his Clemson career, a record tying effort.

Abdullah came on strong to close the 1998 season. Over the last five games he had 53 tackles, including a career high 15 stops at Florida State. He had at least one tackle for loss in 10 of the 11 games in the 1998 season.

In January, Clemson offensive guard Corey Hulseley announced he would also enter the NFL draft. Hulseley was a second-team All-ACC guard in 1998 and was a starter for the Tigers in 1997 and 1998.

SIX TIGERS TAKEN IN NFL DRAFT

Six players off the 1998 Clemson football team were taken in the NFL draft. All six were from the Clemson defense that ranked 25th in the nation in total defense and 14th in rushing defense nationally last season.

Here are some notes of interest on Clemson's draft class of 1999:

*Clemson had six defensive players taken in the 1999 NFL draft, more than any school in the nation. Florida and North Carolina were second with five defensive players apiece, while Virginia, West Virginia and Nebraska had four.

Dingle broke the single season sack record, a mark that was held by some prominent NFL alumni.

*Any wonder why the Clemson vs. North Carolina game last fall was such a defensive struggle? Eleven defensive players who participated in that game were drafted this year, six from Clemson and five from North Carolina.

*Overall, Clemson's six picks in the draft ranked in a tie for fifth highest in the nation. Florida and Ohio State led the way with eight apiece, Notre Dame and Nebraska had seven. Clemson, Georgia, Kansas State, North Carolina, Tennessee, Texas A&M, Virginia and West Virginia all had six.

*This is the second straight year Clemson has ranked in the top 10 in the nation in producing NFL draftees. The Tigers had 5 players drafted in 1998, tied for 7th best in the nation.

*With the first round selection of Antwan Edwards, Clemson has now had a first-round defensive player taken each of the last three seasons. Clemson is the only school in the nation that has had at least one defensive player taken in the first round each of the last three drafts. Trevor Pryce (DT) was a first-round choice of the Denver Broncos in the 1997 draft and Anthony Simmons (LB) was a first round pick of the Seattle Seahawks in the 1998 draft.

*Clemson's six draft choices this year rank as the largest Clemson class since the 1991 draft (after the 1990 season). That year Clemson had eight selections, but two of them were in rounds 10 and 11. This year's six selections in the first seven rounds tied the 1991 draft for the most Tigers taken within the first seven rounds.

*Antwan Edwards was Clemson's 19th first round selection in history, its fifth first rounder in the 1990s. All five first round selections in the 1990s have been defensive players.

*Based on recent history, making an NFL roster is virtually a lock for Edwards, Abdullah, Dingle and Jones. They were taken in the first five rounds. Twenty-four of the last 26 Clemson players who have been drafted within the first five rounds have gone on to make an NFL active roster.

*Chris Jones, a fifth round pick of the Minnesota Vikings, will be able to serve his apprenticeship under former Tiger Ed McDaniel, an All-American with the Tigers in 1991 who was a Pro Bowl selection in 1998.

*Clemson had three linebackers chosen in the 1999 draft. Clemson has had 11 linebackers drafted in the 1990s. The eight linebackers who were drafted previously all made NFL teams.

*O.J. Childress is the 15th player from Clemson in the history of the draft taken by the New York Giants. That is tied for the most among NFL teams with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

*Donald Broomfield is just the second player in history from Clemson to be drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals. The other is Jim Riggs, who was a fourth round pick in 1987 and played six years with the franchise.

*Five of the six Clemson players drafted this year played on Clemson's 1995 team. Including the drafts of 1996, 1997 and 1998, the 1995 team had 10 players on its defense who were eventually drafted. Clemson has had 12 defensive players drafted the last four years. Trevor Pryce played only in 1996 for Clemson, while Lorenzo Bromell was a junior college transfer and played in just 1996 and 1997.

*Clemson has now had 36 players drafted in the nine seasons of the 1990s. Twenty-six of the 36 players are defensive players.

TIGERS ON TV IN 1999

Clemson ended its 1998 season with a 28-19 victory over South Carolina in a game that was televised by ESPN-2. That was Clemson's 100th all-time victory in a game on television. Clemson will have a chance to enhance that total in 1999.

Television networks typically don't announce their TV plans until 12 days prior to the game, but ESPN and ABC have declared some plans for next season. Three of Clemson's games were designated for television this summer and 10 of the 11 Clemson games could be on live television this year.

Clemson's first appearance on ABC will be September 11 when Virginia comes to town. That contest in Death Valley will kickoff at 3:30 PM and will be shown on a regional basis. The Virginia Tech game will be shown on ESPN to the entire nation on September 23. That contest will begin at 8:00 PM and will be a part of the network's Thursday night package.

The October 23rd showdown between Clemson and Florida State featuring coaches Bobby Bowden and Tommy Bowden will be shown on ESPN and will have a 7:00 PM start.

Fans should watch their local listings for declarations of other Clemson games on television. Here is ESPN's Thursday evening lineup for 1999. It features the appearance of five ACC teams. All games begin at 8:00 PM.

EXECUTIVE SUITES SOLD OUT

Clemson has sold out its 100 private executive suites for the 1999 season, an announcement that was made April 6. It was the earliest sellout of the facilities in the 17 years Clemson has had executive suites. All the boxes are located on the sideline and include over 3,000 seats in all. Clemson has the largest number of executive suites for an on-campus stadium in the nation.

Ticket sales for the 1999 season have been brisk. Ticket manager Van Hilderbrand announced in July that season ticket sales would be over the 50,000 mark for the 1999 season, an indication in the Clemson program after the hiring of Tommy Bowden as head coach. Season tickets for Clemson's five-game home schedule are $124. Tickets for all home games except for Florida State are $25, while the Florida State ticket is $32.

ANTONIO, JOHN

This man holds a special place in the hearts of Tiger fans and in the pocketbooks of sports marketing entrepreneurs. Antonio invented the Tiger paw, the distinctive logo of the Clemson athletic teams that has become synonymous with this University's athletic success. Antonio was an innovative account executive with Henderson Advertising in Greenville, and prior to the 1970 season, unveiled the Paw as Clemson's new logo. It has shown up all over the country on items owned by Clemson fans. Many institutions with a feline as mascot have used the logo, or an impression of it.

Antonio also came up with the phrase, "Fly the friendly skies of United," when he worked for the Leo Burnette Agency in Chicago. "I've never had a logo or an emblem copied as much as the Tiger Paw," said Antonio, now 69 and living in Greenville.

Antonio still remembers the day he made the presentation of the Tiger Paw to Frank Howard, then the Clemson Athletic Director. "He wasn't saying much at all," recalled Antonio in an article in the Greenville News by Alyce Atkinson on Feb. 16, 1997. "I kind of thought I was losing this fight." At this point Antonio pulled out an orange football helmet with a tiger paw painted on the side.

"Coach Howard's eyes got as big as saucers and he smiled. From there it was downhill. Coach Howard wanted that helmet." Those Tiger paws are still on the Clemson helmets today.

ATHLETICS AND ACADEMICS

The Clemson athletic department provided almost $1.7 million in financial support to University programs and operations during the 1998-99 fiscal year. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Fund was the recipient of over $330,000 during the year. An additional $229,000 was contributed to the university for the recruitment of academically gifted students. The fund was created to help meet the need for more non-athletic academic scholarships to the university.

The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Fund, one of the largest academic endowments at Clemson, surpassed the $3.4 million mark during the 1999 Spring semester. More than 40 students who are not athletes, are benefitting from the fund. The money for the fund comes from several different sources, but it is all raised by activities of the athletic department, including player-of-the-game contributions, as well as matching gift contributions.

The athletic department made a $100,000 gift for computer equipment in the New Student Center in 1996. Additionally, the athletic department contributed $200,000 towards an innovation in teaching Award that is sponsored by the student government. Over the last 10 years, athletics has contributed more than $14 million in financial support to Clemson University.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Clemson athletes have a long history of success stories after their playing days are concluded. These stories are present on the current roster of the Clemson Board of Trustees. Three of the 13 members played a prominent part in Clemson's athletic tradition.

Lawrence M. Gressette, Jr, the current Chairman of the Board of Trustees, lettered under Frank Howard between 1951-52-53. He served as a co-captain of the 1953 team, the first year Clemson was in the ACC. A strong running back, Gressette once gained 177 yards rushing in 26 attempts against Auburn in a 34-0 Tiger victory. That is still the most yards rushing by a Tiger against an SEC team (teams that were in the SEC at the time of the game). That rushing yardage total was the third highest single game performance in the decade of the 1950s by a Tiger.

Bill Smith is the youngest member of the Clemson Board of Trustees. Smith, a native of Columbia, was a starting defensive end on Clemson's 1981 National championship team. He had a career high 10 tackles in the 22-15 victory over Nebraska. Smith, who red-shirted the 1980 season due to injury, was a member of four bowl teams at Clemson.

Doug Kingsmore was the first Clemson baseball player in history to hit 10 home runs in a season. He accomplished this in 1954, the first year of the ACC, and he led the Tigers to the first ACC baseball championship. His 10 home runs led the conference that year and in fact ranked as the only double digit home run season by a Tiger in the first 70 years of the sport.

Clemson has had a long history of former athletes who have served the school and the board with distinction. Phil Prince, who went on to serve Clemson as University President, is an emeritas member of the board. He was one of the leaders of Clemson's 1948 undefeated team. Louis P. Batson is another former Tiger football player who is an emeritas member of the board.

BOWL CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

The Bowl Coalition is no longer....at least in name. The 1998 season started a new series, the Bowl Championship Series. The difference lies in the inclusion of the Big Ten and Pac-10 Champions and the Rose Bowl in the National Championship mix.

In 1997, Nebraska and Michigan were both undefeated at the end of the regular season, yet could not face each other in a bowl because the Big Ten had an automatic tie-in with the Rose Bowl. Last year, Tennessee and Florida State met for the Championship in the Fiesta Bowl. This year's BCS Championship is January 4 in the Sugar Bowl.

ABC television has the contract for the BCS (Bowl Championship Series) for the next three years.

CALHOUN, JOHN

This Senator from the state of South Carolina proposed a bill in the house in 1955 making it a state law that Clemson and South Carolina had to meet in football once a year.

CALL ME MISTER

Jeff Davis is back at Clemson, but opposing offensive coordinators need not worry. The captain of Clemson's 1981 National Championship team, who still looks like he could lineup and play in the NFL, has returned to Clemson as field director for Clemson's Call Me Mister Program.

Call Me Mister is a program coordinated through Clemson's school of education and aims to recruit African-American males as elementary school teachers. Through Call Me Mister, administrators at Clemson and four historically black colleges plan to certify at least 200 black male teachers during the next five years.

When Davis was contacted by Clemson to join the effort, there was no hesitation. "The type of young man we're trying to reach simply reminded me of me," Davis said. "I was raised in a single-parent home, by two strong women who instilled in me a sense of faith, a sense of respect, a sense of I could be whoever I wanted to be. But, I was still without a male role model at home. I was blessed I found that role model in school, in church and in the neighborhood. Some kids are not that fortunate."

Giving back to Clemson is a rewarding experience for Davis. "Life isn't about receiving, life is about giving back. And, Clemson is the place to do it. Clemson has been so instrumental in who I am, and where I am in life. Clemson gave me a tremendous opportunity and now I'm giving back."

The Judge has returned to Clemson, but he won't keep opposing offensive coordinators up at night.

CLARK, DWIGHT

One of the great pro football success stories belongs to Dwight Clark. A Clemson Tiger between 1975-78, the wide receiver was a starter in 1977 and 1978, but still caught only 33 passes for his entire career.

Clark was a key contributor on the 1978 ACC Championship team that was 11-1 and ranked sixth in the final poll, but he was never even second-team All-ACC.

The San Francisco 49ers drafted him in the 10th round in 1979 and he was a surprise squad member in that season. Then Clark and Joe Montana started working together and before you knew it Clark was leading the league in receptions and was a pro bowl starter. He concluded his career as the 49ers all-time leader in receptions with 506, reception yards (6750) and touchdowns (48), marks Jerry Rice has since broken.

Today, Clark is the Cleveland Browns coordinator of football operations/player personnel. Some of his touchdown receptions weren't as long as that title, but his job does allow him to travel to Clemson now and then to scout the talent level of his beloved Tigers. One of his first acts was to approve the hiring of his former Tiger teammate Jerry Butler as receiver coach.

Clark is one of three former Tiger gridders now serving an NFL team. Mark Richardson, a letterman outside linebacker for the 1981 National Championship Tigers, is a vice president with the Carolina Panthers.

CLEMSON, SC

The city of Clemson has a population of about 11,000 fulltime residents. But, on Saturday afternoons in the fall, when over 80,000 fans are in the stands, that population increases significantly. In fact, Clemson moves all the way to the second largest city in the state on home football Saturdays when over 80,500 fans are in the stands.

On those days, only Columbia is larger. Charleston's population reading was 80,414 in the most recent census, so that is why we have to list the qualifier at 80,500. So, depending on the size of the crowd, Clemson becomes either the second or third largest city in South Carolina on home football Saturdays.

COLORS

Clemson's official colors are Northwestern purple (PMS 541) and burnt orange (PMS 165), but many of Clemson's athletic uniforms are predominantly orange and white. Clemson has worn all orange for special games, and in 1991 wore purple jerseys with white pants and orange helmets for the N.C. State and California games.

According to legend Clemson used to have a pale purple and gold as the official colors. But, Jess Neely changed that because he wanted uniforms that were more colorfast. It seems that the weather and constant washings were causing the uniforms to fade. So Neely worked with the Clemson school of textiles and developed deeper colors for uniforms, colors that held up under the rays of the sun and the workings of the washing machines.

CONFERENCE

Clemson is a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Tigers were charter members in 1953. Prior to that, Clemson was in the Southern Conference from 1921 to 1952. Clemson was in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association before that, and has been a charter member of every conference with which it has been affiliated.

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIPS

Clemson has more ACC titles than any other school, as the Tigers won or shared the ACC title in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1965, 1966, 1967, 1978, 1981, 1982, 1986, 1987, 1988 and 1991. Clemson won the Southern Conference in 1940 and 1948. Clemson tied for the ACC title in 1965 so Clemson has 12 outright and one tied ACC titles.

COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Clemson is famous for its Tiger mascot and pushups after each score. But, the school used to have two mascots. In addition to the Tiger, the school used to have the Country Gentleman, a student dressed in purple tails and top hat, carrying a cane. The Country Gentleman concept came about as a result of references to Clemson made by Greenville News sportswriter Carter Scoop Latimer as the Country Gentlemen. Clemson had the two-mascot system between 1954 and 1972.

DEATH VALLEY

Name synonymous with Clemson Memorial Stadium. The Stadium was dubbed this affectionate title by the late Lonnie McMillian, a former coach at Presbyterian. He used to take his teams to play at Clemson, and they rarely scored, never mind gained a victory. Once he told the writers he was going to play Clemson up at Death Valley because his teams always got killed. It stuck somewhat, but when Frank Howard started calling it that in the fifties, the term really caught on. It is now in its 58th year.

Many people think the name is derived from the fact that there rests a cemetery outside the fence on the pressbox side of the stadium. Although it would make sense, the name was first coined by Lonnie McMillian.

EMERGENCY PHONE

In case of emergency at Clemson Memorial Stadium, call (864) 656-2999. The Clemson University police number is (864) 656-2222. For health care at the stadium first aid is available at Gates 9, 13, 16 and 20 in the upperdecks.

ENDOWED POSITIONS

Through the IPTAY Office, Clemson has established an endowment of positions program. The program began in April of 1994 when members of IPTAY attended the 85th birthday of legendary head coach Frank Howard. Contributions were made at the festive event and by others who could not attend, thereby endowing the Clemson Head Coaching position.

Since then many generous IPTAY members have endowed various positions in all sports. The first to do it was the Bill Hudson Family, which endowed the Clemson offensive tackle position. Bill Hudson was a stalwart tackle at Clemson in the late 1950s and went on to a pro career with the San Diego Chargers, Boston Patriots and Montreal Alouettes. He played in the 1962 AFL Pro Bowl.

The program is now up to 71 endowments counting all sports.

ESSO CLUB

When you want to cover a Clemson football weekend and capture the true flavor of the entire proceedings you have to make a pit stop at the Esso Club. If this sounds like a combination bar and gas station, well, you're right. They don't sell gas there anymore, but Clemson fans for many years have frequented this famous weekend watering hole.

It is a favorite establishment for Brent Musberger, regardless of the network he represents. He made two visits there in 1997, once during the football season when he broadcast the Clemson-North Carolina football game and once during basketball season when he brought the one and only Dick Vitale with him in conjunction with ABC's coverage of the Clemson vs. Georgia Tech basketball game.

FAMILY FEUD

There have been many firsts and memorable moments in the 57-year history of Clemson Memorial Stadium. Year 58 promises to add to the tradition when the first father and son coaching confrontation in the history of Division I football takes place on October 23rd. ESPN will be there to cover the Clemson vs. Florida State game and Bowden Bowl I.

The first meeting between father and son was supposed to take place on September 2 of this year in Tallahassee when Florida State was to play host to Auburn. At the time the game was scheduled, Terry Bowden was the coach of those Alabama Tigers. But, he was dismissed last year and the celebrated matchup was put on hold....Until brother Tommy Bowden was named Clemson head coach.

We are sure the capacity of Clemson Memorial Stadium's press box will be tested. The record for seats in the writer's area of the press box is 167 for an NFL game between the San Francisco 49ers and the Carolina Panthers in 1995. But, the NFL renumbered the press area and brought in smaller seats, not the most comfortable of surroundings.

A look at the coaching landscape indicates this could be the first of many matchups of father and son in the coming years. Here is a list of coaching father and son combinations in football at the moment.

GREAT SCOTT!

When Clemson head coach Tommy Bowden started working on his staff for his first year as Clemson head coach, one of the first persons he thought of was Brad Scott. One of the top offensive coordinators in the nation in the 1980s and early 1990s at Florida State, Scott had recently completed five years as head coach at South Carolina.

Given his recruiting expertise in the state of South Carolina, Scott has already made an impact as far as recruiting for Bowden's first staff. He will serve as assistant head coach and tutor the tight ends this year.

Scott is the seventh coach in the last 10 years to

FATHERS & SONS

Braxton K. Williams is a second generation Clemson football player. His father, Braxton Williams, was a letterman on Clemson's 1982 and 1983 football teams, clubs that posted a combined record of 18-2-2. The elder Williams was a fullback for Danny Ford's Tigers and rushed 53 times for 232 yards and one touchdown in his career. The one touchdown came in his final game, at South Carolina in 1983. His career best performance took place in a victory over Maryland in 1983 when he had 17 carries for 74 yards.

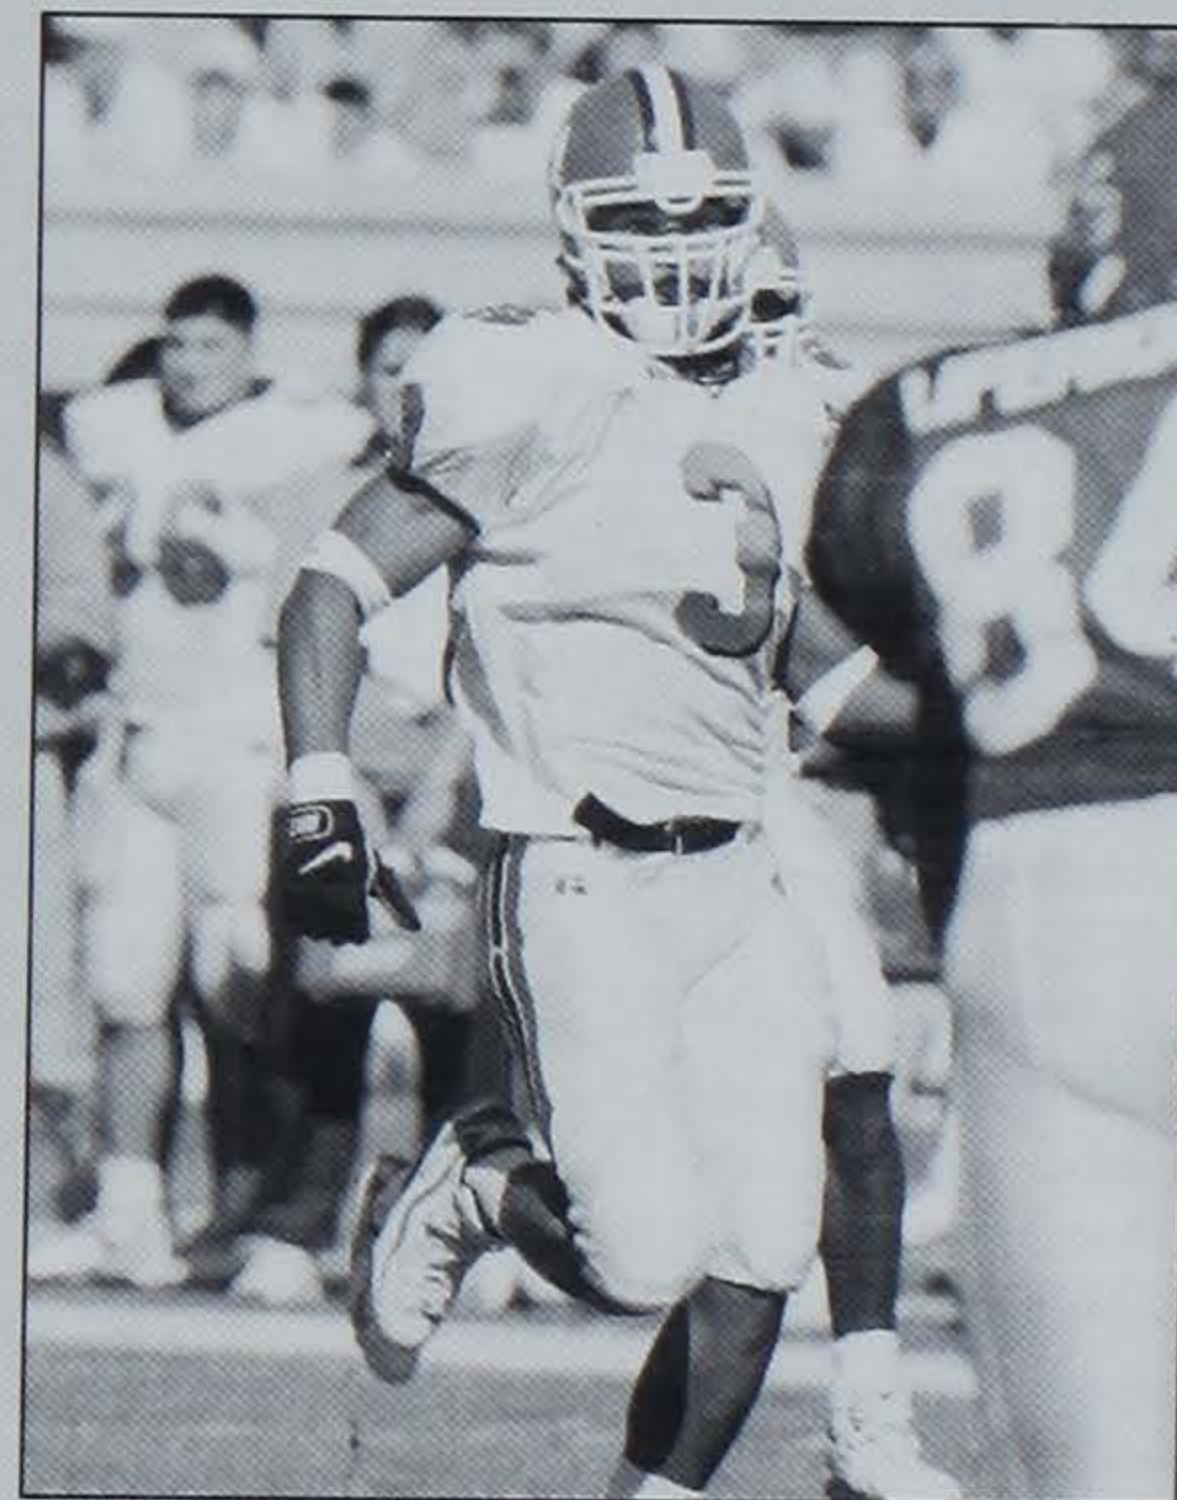

Son Braxton K. Williams lettered at linebacker as a first-year freshman. He had eight tackles for the 1998 season, including 1.5 sacks, both at Virginia. He had a good spring and will compete for a starting linebacker position.

Braxton K. Williams is the 16th son of a former Clemson football player to letter for the Tigers. The tradition goes back to the 1908-10 era. Jack Woodward was a letterwinner on those teams, then his son Henry lettered in 1932-33-34.

It is interesting to note that two former Tiger football players have offspring currently playing other sports. Tom Boozer, who lettered on the 1972-73 and 1974 Clemson football teams, has a son, Thomas, who was a letterman pitcher on the Clemson baseball team in 1999. Vandell Arrington, a defensive back from 1981-82-83 and a teammate of Braxton Williams, has a daughter who will be a freshman on Clemson's women's soccer team in the fall of 1999.

Here is a list of the father-son Lettermen combinations in Clemson football history:

Father	Son
Bully Cagle (1940-41-42)	John Cagle (1966-67-68)
Dan Coleman (1937-38-39-40)	Jim Coleman (1954-55-56)
Walter Cox (1938-39)	Walter Cox, Jr. (1961-62-63)
Hawk Craig (1940-41-42)	Bob Craig (1966-67-68)
Luke Denhardt (1946-47-48-49)	Luke Denhardt (1971)
Dick Hendley (1946-48-49-50)	Richard Hendley (1980-81-82)
Fred Hook (1931-32)	Charley Hook (1965-66-68)
Bill Hudson (1954-55-56)	Alex Hudson (1980-82-83)
Streak Lawton (1935-36)	Winston Lawton (1969)
Pop Locklair (1935-36)	Mike Locklair (1966-67-68)
Bill McLellan (1953-54)	Cliff McLellan (1981)
Buck Priester (1930-31)	Buck Priester (1953-54-55)
Tommy Sease (1955-56)	Jody Sease (1984-85)
Bob Sharpe (1938-39-40)	Bob Sharpe, Jr. (1975-76)
Jack Woodward (1908-09-10)	Henry Woodward (1932-33-34)
Braxton Williams (1982-83)	Braxton K. Williams (1998)

Braxton K. Williams has followed in his father's footsteps.

He hopes the Tigers can have the same kind of record his father's teams posted at Clemson in 1982-83.

GOALPOSTS

NCAA regulations stipulate the pipe must be 4" in diameter, must have posts that are 20' or more in height and 18-6 apart. This is the same width as the pros and closer than the 23-4 of previous college years. The crossbar is 10' high. The Clemson student body tore down the goalposts in the end zone with the grass bank after Clemson's emotional 52-27 win over Maryland in 1983. They did it again last year after the victory over South Carolina.

GRAVEYARD

Clemson has 45 wins over Associated Press ranked teams over the years, but some wins stand out. Winning over a ranked team in Death Valley is one thing, but gaining victory over a ranked team on an opponent's home field is an extraordinary accomplishment.

To document these victories Clemson has constructed a "Graveyard" at the entrance to the Clemson practice fields behind the Jervy Athletic Center. This is an appropriate place because hard work in preparation for these games is essential.

HALL OF FAME INDUCTEES

This might be the most prominent list of Hall of Fame inductees in Clemson history. Nine new members, the largest class in history, will be inducted during ceremonies at halftime of this year's Clemson vs. Virginia game at Death Valley on September 11th. The list includes two former Clemson football players, and athletes who combined to win five World Championship rings as professionals.

Danny Ford is the only former coach entering the Clemson Hall of Fame this year. He guided Clemson to the 1981 National Championship and posted a 96-29-4 record between 1979-89. Two of his former players are going into the hall also. John Phillips was a two-time All-America guard between 1984-87, while Bubba Brown is still the school's all-time leading tackler (515). He was first-team All-ACC in 1978 and 1979.

Horace Grant and Jimmy Key are two former Tigers who went on to even more prominence as professionals. Grant was the MVP of ACC basketball and a second-team All-American in 1986-87. He is still the only ACC basketball player in history to average at least 20 points, 10 rebounds and shoot 65 percent from the field. The current member of the Seattle Supersonics has played on three NBA World Championship teams. Key was first-team All-ACC as a hitter and a pitcher in 1982, then played on a World Series Championship team with Toronto and the New York Yankees.

Hoover was carried off the field before his 445th and final game as Clemson's Head Athletic Trainer.

Mark Dickson was the ITCA National Senior of the Year in 1982 as a member of Chuck Kriese's men's tennis team. He played professionally for many years and once reached the quarterfinals of the US Open.

Three women will also be inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame this year. Denise Murphy was a two-time Academic All-American volleyball player between 1983-86. Janet Ellison was Clemson's first multiple event female All-American in any sport. She was a six-time All-American swimmer altogether between 1977-80. Janet Knight is still second in Clemson history in career scoring in women's basketball and was a third-team All-American in 1985.

HASH MARKS

The old hashmarks were 53' 4" from each sideline. In 1993 they were moved to an even 60' from each sideline, meaning there is 6' 8" more area for the running backs to turn the corner and put that much more pressure on the outside linebackers to cover them than there was prior to 1993.

In 1938, the hash marks were moved from 30 feet away from the sidelines to 45 feet. Then in 1947, they were moved to one-third of the field, or 53' 4". And, that was the distance until the 1993 season.

HEISMAN, JOHN

Yes, the same guy they named the trophy after used to coach at Clemson. You have to go back to the 1900-03 era to find him, but he brought Clemson its first unbeaten season in 1900, a 6-0 ledger. Heisman coached at Clemson for four seasons making an astronomical $1800 a year.

In 1904 Georgia Tech offered him $2250 plus a percentage of the gate, and he was gone to Atlanta. Clemson should have scraped up the extra money to keep him. With John Heisman as head coach, Clemson beat Georgia Tech 73-0 in 1903, but two years later, with Heisman at Georgia Tech, the Yellow Jackets downed the Tigers, 17-10. Coaching does make a difference.

HEISMAN OPPONENTS

Clemson has played 16 games against teams that have had an eventual Heisman Trophy winner. That includes current New York Knicks point guard Charlie Ward, who won the award in 1993 and defeated the Tigers twice, including 24-20 at Death Valley in 1992.

Clemson has played seven different Heisman Trophy winners for a total of 16 games. Clemson has never beaten a Heisman Trophy winning quarterback (0-6-1), but the Tigers are 5-4 against eventual Heisman Trophy winning running backs. The Tigers were 3-1 against South Carolina when George Rogers was playing for the Gamecocks, and 1-2 against Herschel Walker led Georgia teams. Clemson also defeated Mike Rozier and Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl. Billy Cannon and LSU defeated Clemson 7-0 in the 1959 Sugar Bowl.

It is interesting to note that a Heisman Trophy running back has never scored a touchdown against the Tigers. Cannon, Rogers, Walker and Rozier had a combined 171 carries against the Tigers in nine games, but never crossed the Clemson goal line.

HOMECOMING

Clemson will face North Carolina on Homecoming on October 2 this year. The Tigers are 24-2-2 since 1970 on Homecoming with the only losses coming to Georgia Tech in 1989 and to Virginia in 1997.

The first homecoming game played at Clemson took place on September 30, 1922 when Centre defeated Clemson at Riggs Field, 21-0. Clemson has celebrated Homecoming every year since 1922 with the exception of the 1930 and 1938 seasons.

Clemson has a 54-18-3 record on Homecoming games over the years, a .749 winning percentage and has outscored the opposition 1578-976 in those previous 75 games. The average margin of victory is 21 to 12.

HOOVER, DOC

Fred Hoover concluded his 40-year career as Clemson's Head Athletic Trainer during the 1998 football season. He was as much a part of the Clemson athletic scene as anyone in the ACC era of Clemson athletics. The 1953 Florida State graduate worked 445 consecutive games on the Clemson sidelines. Ironically, his 400th game worked in the streak was against his alma mater.

During his final season he was honored by Clemson University, the ACC, the football officials, and the national trainer's organization at their national meeting in Kansas City. In his 40 seasons, "Doc" put up some outstanding numbers:

- *Worked with 39 of Clemson's 47 All-Americans.
- *Worked with 17 of Clemson's 19 first-round draft choices.
- *Worked with 17 future All-Pro selections
- *Coordinated the training room needs for all 17 of Clemson's Super Bowl Championship players.
- *Worked with 110 future NFL players (and that number should grow next year and the years after).
- *Worked 16 bowl games and with 11 ACC Championship teams.
- *Served over 950 football lettermen.
- *Ran down the hill 208 times and fell just once.

HUNTER, BILL

Dr. Bill Hunter is the man to call if you are doing a story on "Running Down the Hill", the most celebrated entrance in all of sport. Dr. Hunter is still a Clemson resident and was a starter on Clemson's 1942 team, and he was one of the first Tiger players to run down the hill. He still follows the Tigers avidly and rarely misses a home sporting event.

INFLATION II

When Clemson first built Memorial Stadium in 1942 the construction cost of the 20,000 seat stadium computed to $7.20 a seat. When Clemson added 15,000 seats with an upper deck over the north stands in 1983 the average cost was $866 a seat.

IPTAY

IPTAY, Clemson's athletic scholarship fund-raising foundation is one of the cornerstones of the Clemson Athletic Department. The foundation provides the funds for all athletic scholarships and has also been responsible for the funding of many facilities, including Vickery Hall, Clemson's athletic academic advising building. That facility and thus IPTAY have a lot to do with the football team reaching a 2.38 GPA for last semester, the highest it has been over the course of the semester on record.

IPTAY stands for "I Pay Ten a Year", the original name with a meaning derived from the minimum contribution of its donors when the organization began in 1934. It changed to "I Pay Twenty a Year" then "I Pay Thirty a Year." Five years ago the minimum donation was increased to $100 a year. There are currently nearly 21,000 members of IPTAY and the organization raised a record $9.5 million in 1998-99.

IPTAY does a lot more for Clemson and its students than pay tuition for athletes. IPTAY also funds band travel, contributes to the improvement of athletic facilities, both varsity and non-varsity, and has established the IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment.

LEGEND I

Frank Howard was known as Legend I around Clemson and he will always be known as the legend. Clemson lost one of the rocks of its tradition when he passed away at the age of 85 on January 28, 1996. Incredibly, he died 13 years to the day after the passing of his former teammate Bear Bryant.

Howard was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame on December 5, 1989. He was a member of nine Halls of Fame, posted 165 wins in his 30 years as Clemson head coach and had 96 victories, tied for the third highest total in ACC history. He captured eight conference titles, took the Tigers to six bowl games and six Top 20 seasons.

Even with these accomplishments, we will remember his incredible wit, to his final days, and his positive influence on young people, many of whom went on to be successful in fields outside of athletics.

LEGEND II

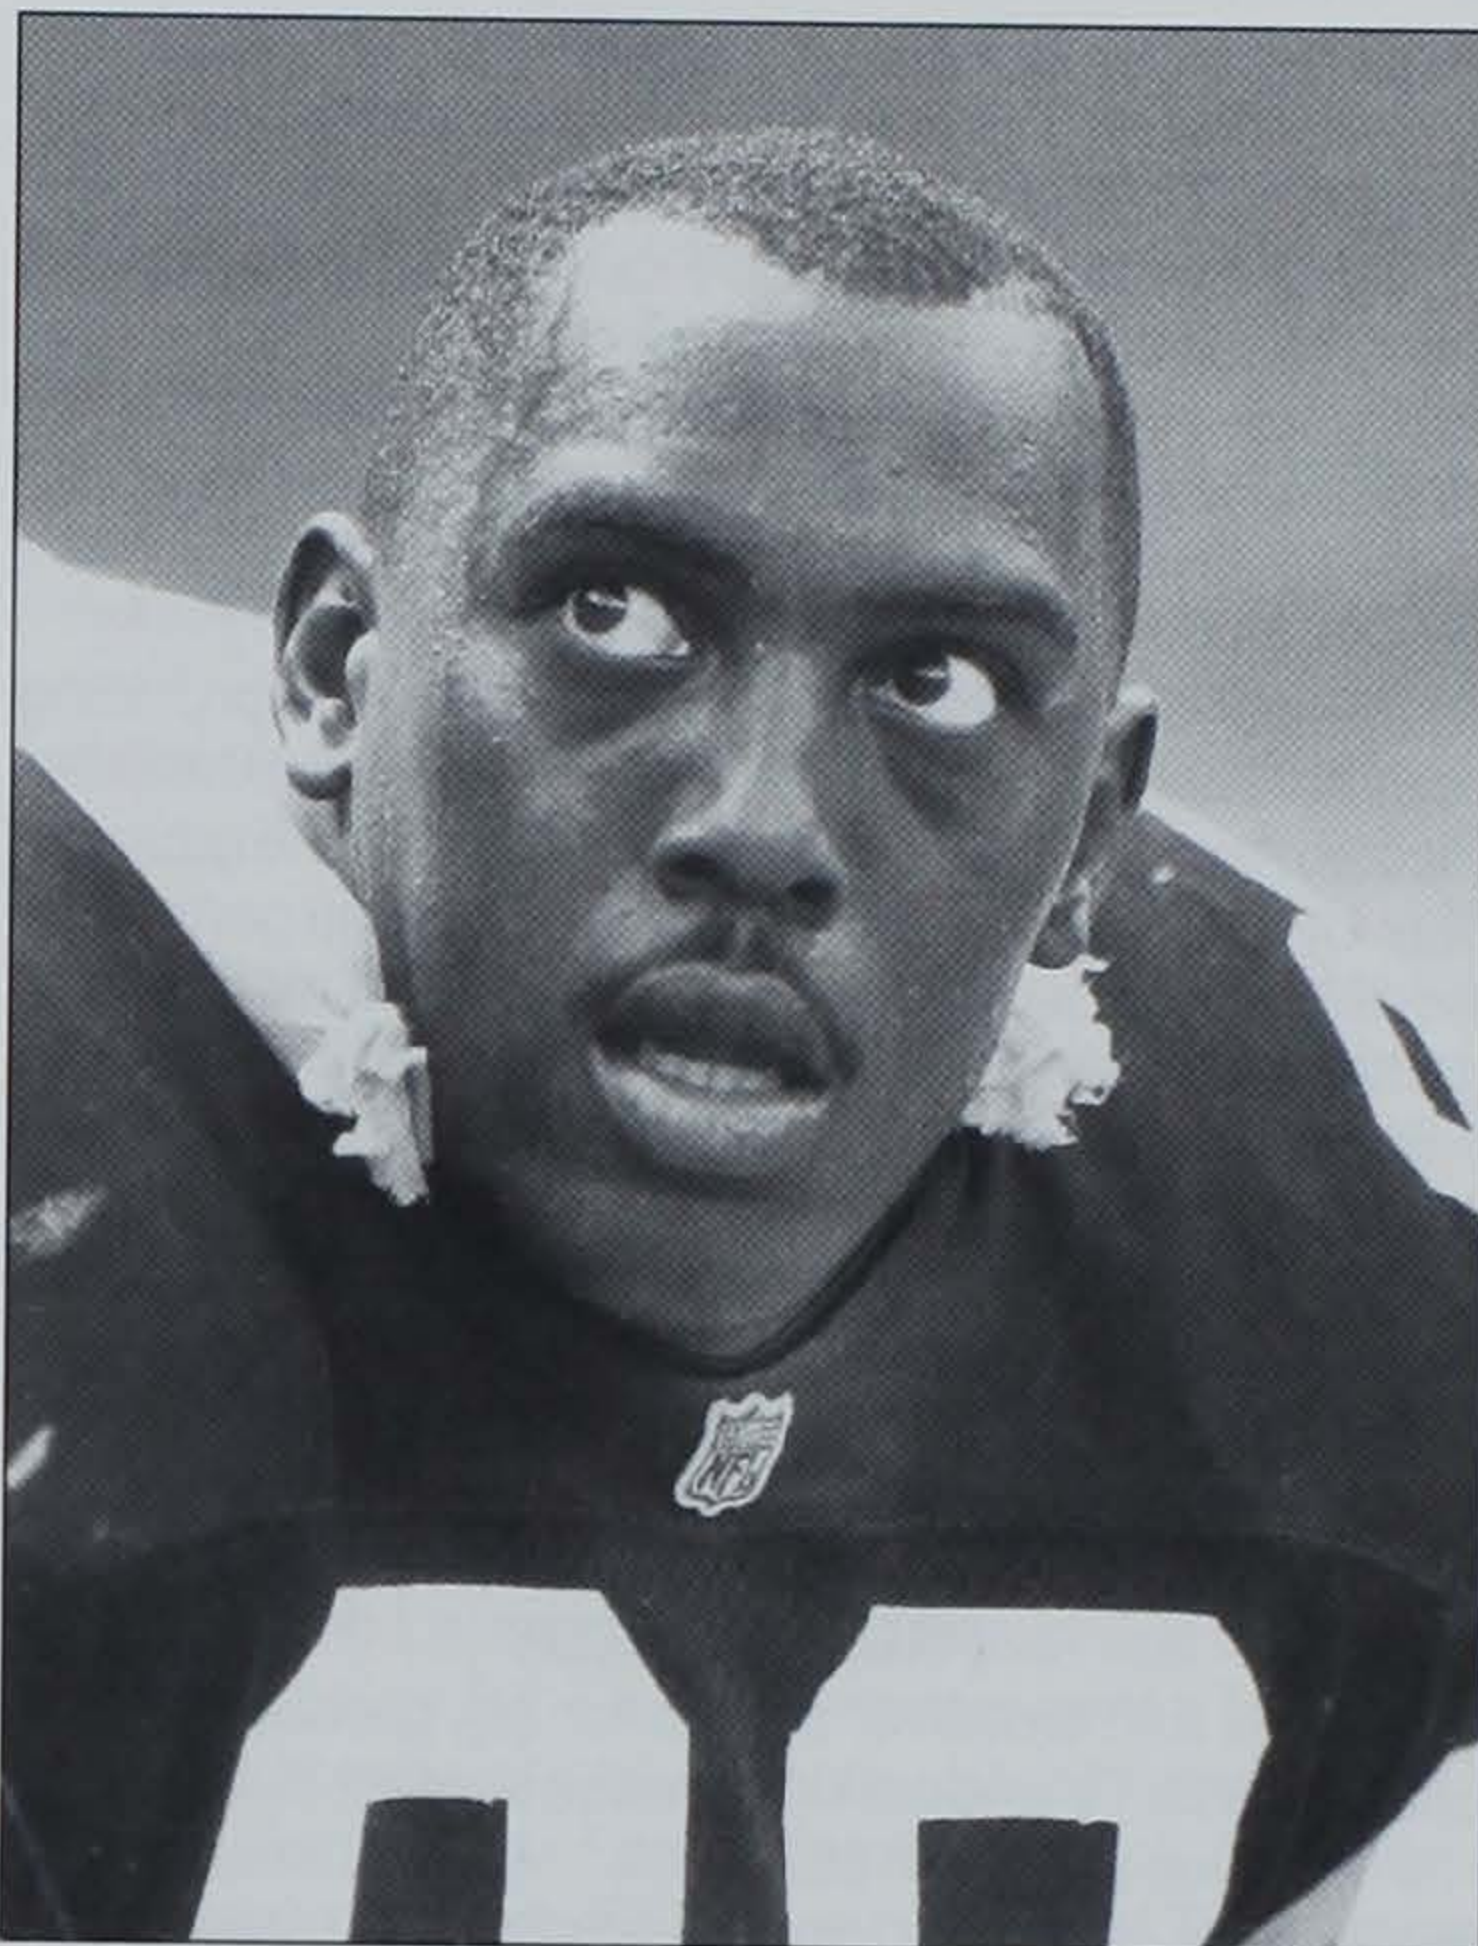

SID at Clemson between 1955-88 football seasons, Bob Bradley has officially retired from his SID slot. He has seen 485 consecutive Clemson football games so he is considered the Cal Ripken (used to be Lou Gehrig) of football SIDs in America. He has been President of CoSIDA, has been in the Clemson and SID Hall of Fame forever, and is a former Recipient of the Arch Ward Award as CoSIDA Man-of-the-Year.

In November of 1988 the press box at Memorial Stadium was named The Bob Bradley Press Box. At his retirement banquet in the summer of 1989 he was presented with an automobile by the Athletic Department (complete with bow at midfield at Memorial Stadium) and the financing for a pontoon boat from his former student workers, the ACC Sportswriters Association, SIDs from around the country and the ACC office.

Mr. B had some health problems in 1998, but has comeback strong in '99. He suffered a heart attack on March 10, 1998 and had quadruple by-pass surgery on April 1. He spent 85 days in the hospital and rehab centers, but was coming back strong in July as he prepared for his 44th football season in the Clemson press box. Bradley is known around the United States. During his recovery he received an incredible 550 get-well cards.

LOST & FOUND

At Memorial Stadium, if you can't find it go to the Gate 1 information booth. Hopefully someone else did and it will be there.

Kirkland was one of 19 former Tigers in the NFL last year who averaged nearly $1 million in salary.

MEDICAL FACILITIES

Available during football games under Section J on the South Side, under Section T on the North Side and Section E under South Top Deck of the stadium. There also is one under the North Top Deck.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

Here are some height measurements in Memorial Stadium that were determined by Mark Kistler in a survey he performed for a class in 1991:

Height above the middle of the 50-yard-line to:
 Top of the South Upper Deck: 159 Feet
 Camera Deck on South Side: 92 Feet
 Top of the Hill: 27 Feet
 Mounted Rock on the Hill: 26 Feet
 Top of West End Zone: 47 Feet
 Top of Upper Deck, North Side: 177 Feet

It is also interesting to note that the distance from the Rock to the bottom of the hill, or the path the team takes when it runs down the hill is exactly 100 feet. The middle of the field is a foot higher than the back of the end zone at the bottom of the hill. That explains why Death Valley drains well.

MIDDLE GUARDS, BACKUP

While most colleges boast of great traditions at various positions like quarterback, running back and linebacker, Clemson has an unusual position to crow about. Clemson has been listed among the best in the nation when it comes to defensive line and linebackers, but there is a history of excellence among backup middle guards.

We are not kidding! In fact, two of the most famous plays in Clemson history were turned in by backup middle guards in bowl games.

In the 1951 Orange Bowl, Clemson was trailing Miami (FL) by a 14-13 score with under five minutes. The Tigers had moved the Hurricanes to the shadow of their own goal line. On a third down play, Miami's Frank Smith took a pitchout, but was stopped in the endzone by reserve middle guard Sterling Smith. Clemson's Smith made the shoestring tackle for a safety and a 15-14 victory.

In the 1978 Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Ohio State was driving for a lead field goal. With the ball at the Clemson 24, Ohio State quarterback Art Schlichter threw a safety pass over the middle, but reserve middle guard Charlie Bauman moved into the passing lane to make the interception. He ran the ball out of bounds near the middle of the Ohio State bench with just two minutes left, clinching the 17-15 Clemson victory. Buckeyes coach Woody Hayes snapped and took a swing at Bauman, much to the shock of the national TV audience. Hayes was fired the next day.

MILLIONAIRES

According to statistics released by USA Today this past summer, Clemson had 19 players on NFL fulltime rosters last year and they collectively averaged $973,173 in salary. The 19 players collectively earned $17,768,300 in 1998, and that includes incentive bonuses earned.

The six Clemson linebackers averaged $1,521,783. That includes Levon Kirkland and Ed McDaniel. The All-Pro linebackers who were teammates at Clemson from 1988-91, earned over $4.5 million dollars between them last year. Five different Clemson players earned over a million dollars last year, led by Terry Allen, who was the third highest paid running back in the NFL.

NICKNAME

Clemson's nickname derivation goes back to the turn of the century. In those days many of the players wore long hair due to lack of helmet strength for more head protection. These long manes might have gained Clemson the name lions had it not been for the orange and purple striped jerseys and stockings the players wore. The stripes resembled Tigers.

John Heisman's 1900 team was called the Tigers and Clemson used an insignia of a Tigers head with bared fangs with the motto 'Eat Em Up Clemson'. Another theory on the nickname concerns Clemson's first coach. Walter Merritt Riggs came to Clemson to coach the football team in 1896. His previous school was Auburn, which is also known as the Tigers.

NIGHT GAMES

Clemson has not had many home night games over the years. There have been just 20 overall dating back to a September 25, 1948 win over Presbyterian. The Tigers are 13-6-1 at night over the years.

But, for most of the history of Clemson football the school's fan base has reached a circumference of over 300 miles. Realizing this fact, Clemson administrators have attempted to schedule the time of home games to allow fans to make it to the game and back home in the same day.

Clemson did not have a home night game between 1956 and 1991. In 1992 tradition was broken when the Florida State game was televised by ESPN. The novelty of the night game in Death Valley, against a Top 10 opponent, certainly did not hurt attendance. Clemson fans gave a positive response to that night game (even though Clemson lost 24-20). In 1995, Clemson kicked off its centennial celebration of football with a 6:39 PM start for the Georgia game.

This season, Clemson will play Florida State at 7 p.m. on October 23rd in a game to be shown by ESPN.

ORANGE & WHITE

Publication founded by former Clemson Assistant SID Al Adams that is in its 22nd season of issue. Al is no longer with the paper, but it is still going strong. To contact the publisher, Phil Batson, call (864) 260-1230. It is now the official publication of IPTAY and replaced the IPTAY report, which dated back to 1952.

OVERTIME

Clemson and Duke played the first conference overtime game in history in 1997. The Tigers won the thriller 29-20, thanks to a David Richardson field goal and a 63-yard interception return for a touchdown by Rahim Abdullah. It is one of the few games in the three-year history of the rule that has been decided by over seven points.

In 1996, there were 49 overtime games in Division I and Division I-AA combined. The average number of overtime periods, or possessions was 1.62 in Division I-A and 1.83 in Division I-AA. Eight of the 49 overtime games lasted three or more periods.

After the 1996 season, in an attempt to cut the number of overtimes, going for two-point conversions after a touchdown became mandatory starting with the second overtime period.

PANTHERS, CAROLINA

Clemson was the home of the Carolina Panthers in their inaugural season, 1995. It was a busy year to say the least, but the benefits to the University will be far reaching. The University realized about $2 million to be used toward scholarships and other fiscal benefits that will help Clemson students for many years to come.

Clemson Memorial Stadium was busy that fall. The field took a beating as 16 games were played on Frank Howard Field between August 3 and December 17. A total of 975,534 fans attended the 16 games in Death Valley. That breaks down to 427,776 for six Clemson home games, 441,625 for eight Panther regular season games and 106,131 for two Panther exhibition games. Clemson averaged 71,296 for its six home games and Carolina averaged 54,776 for its 10 games in the facility.

PAW VISION

In 1997, Clemson added PAWVISION, a $1 million dollar instant replay video board atop the west end zone scoreboard of Memorial Stadium.

The board provides fans with up-to-the-minute game statistics and scores from around the country.

The video board uses four cameras located in various spots throughout Memorial Stadium and has a workforce of 20 university students and staff.

PENN'S THIN NATURAL LEAF

Type of chewing tobacco Frank Howard chewed in the forties. When they were pouring the concrete for the stadium in 1942 Howard put a plug in each corner of the stadium, giving it his form of an artistic signature.

PHILLIPS, JIM

"Voice of the Tigers" in his 32nd year providing commentary on Clemson football. Phillips won the Brian Piccolo Award of broadcasting in 1982 when he gave the play-by-play account of the Western Carolina game only five days after back surgery. He recreated most of that game while standing up with a walker. He is also the voice of Clemson basketball, women's basketball and baseball. His voice is in the minds of nearly all contemporary Clemson fans when they recall a memorable Clemson moment. During his Silver Anniversary season (1992-93) Phillips was inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame.

PRESS PASSES

These can become scarce for big games. For all photo, press, TV and parking passes contact Tim Bourret. His number is (864) 656-2114. Please make your requests at least two weeks in advance. Wives and children of media are not allowed in the press box.

RIGGS FIELD

Currently the home of Clemson's national championship soccer program (1984 and 1987), but it was the home of Clemson football prior to Memorial Stadium. The field is named after Walter Meritt Riggs, Clemson's first football coach. He coached Clemson in 1896 and 1899. He had an 8-5 record for those two seasons, but ironically, he never coached a game at Clemson. All of his 13 contests as head coach were played on the road.

RINGS

A total of 17 former Clemson players have picked up 25 Super Bowl rings over the years. Jeff Bostic leads the way with three Super Bowl Championship rings. Clemson has had a Super Bowl Champion three years in a row. Trevor Pryce was on the Denver Broncos in 1997 and 1998 and Wayne Simmons was a starter for the Green Bay Packers in 1996.

Terrence Flagler, Dwight Clark, Bennie Cunningham, Jim Stuckey, and Charlie Waters are the former Tigers with two Super Bowl championship rings. Ten of the last 13 years Clemson has had at least one representative on the Super Bowl Championship team. Clemson has had at least one representative play in the Super Bowl 13 of the last 14 years, including Jerome Henderson, now a defensive back with the New York Jets, who has played in recent Super Bowls with Buffalo and New England.

RING OF HONOR

Clemson will present Jerry Butler with its highest honor on September 4 during ceremonies prior to the Clemson vs. Marshall game. On that day, Butler will be inducted into the Clemson Ring of Honor at Memorial Stadium.

The Ring of Honor is the highest honor accorded a Clemson athlete or coach. Butler's jersey will be retired in the trophy case in the Jervy Athletic Center, and a replica of his helmet and his #15 will be affixed to the facade on the North upperdeck at Death Valley.

Butler joins 1978 teammates Steve Fuller and Jeff Davis as Ring of Honor members. They will comprise three of five former players in the Ring of Honor. Banks McFadden (1937-39) and Hall of Fame Coach Frank Howard (1940-69) are the other members.

Butler was a first-team AP All-American in 1978 when he led Clemson in receiving and receiving yards. He left Clemson with 2223 career receiving yards. Ranked 10th in the nation in receiving in 1978, he still holds the Clemson record for consecutive games catching a pass with 35. He was the winner of the Frank Howard Award in 1979 along with quarterback Steve Fuller.

Butler went on to a stellar career with the Buffalo Bills. He is still fourth in Buffalo history in reception yardage and receiving touchdowns. He is now the wide receivers coach with the Cleveland Browns.

ROCK, HOWARD'S

When the Clemson team gathers to Run Down the Hill (see Running Down the Hill) the players rub Howard's Rock because of the mystical powers it is supposed to give Clemson players. The rock is mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill and was given to Coach Frank Howard by a friend (S.C. Jones' 19) who picked it up in Death Valley, CA. The Rock was first placed on the pedestal at the top of the hill on September 24, 1966, a game Clemson won 40-35 over Virginia. The team started rubbing the rock for the first game of 1967, a 23-6 win over Wake Forest on September 23, 1967.

RUNNING DOWN THE HILL

One of the most exciting 25 seconds (about 35 seconds when Clemson dresses 120 players for homecoming) in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint. After Clemson's last warmup the team retreats to the home dressing room located under the West Stands. At about 12:50 (for normal 1:00 P.M. game), the team boards two buses and drives around the periphery of the stadium to the east side of the field.

After everyone is properly collected, the cannon sounds, Tiger Rag is played and Clemson charges down the hill (exactly 100 feet top to bottom) and onto the field. It is one of the most celebrated entrances in sport. The Tigers have done it for every game since 1942, except for 1970, 1971 and four games of the 1972 season. In all, the Tigers have run down the hill 268 times heading into 1998.

How in the world did the tradition of running down the hill start? There is no long involved explanation, it used to be the quickest way to get to the field. When the stadium was built in 1942 the football lockerrooms were up the street in Fike Fieldhouse.

When the players were finished getting dressed they used to walk out the front door and walk down the street to "The Hill". Coach Howard continued the tradition when lockerrooms were finally built inside the stadium because Clemson fans used to get so fired up when they gathered at the top of the hill. That's when the buses came into use to spend the trip from the lockerroom to the other side of the stadium. Clemson now has a record of 193-69-7, a 73 percentage winning mark, when they run down the hill. Clemson is 6-9 (40 percent) when it doesn't use the hill as its entrance.

This is the green grass section of the hill, which is located in the East Stands. (See Running Down the Hill.)

SKYBOXES

The prime location to watch a Clemson football game. Memorial Stadium is one of just a handful of on-campus college stadiums to have private executive suites. Clemson has more executive suites than any other on-campus stadium in America (108 total, with 74 available for sale to individuals and corporations) and the average cost, including an average of 22 tickets, is $18,000 a year.

The suite is completely furnished with 22 theater seats, has a stereo system, kitchenette, closed circuit TV, maid service, meals, program and is completely temperature controlled. Fans have their choice of piping in crowd noise, the PA system or the Clemson radio network.

TELEPHONE INSTALLATIONS

To order phone lines for a broadcast or a telephone by your seat in the press box or to order phone lines for a radio network broadcast call Zelda Kleister at Clemson Telecommunications (864) 656-2601.

TIE BREAKER

Teams that have played 60 minutes without determining a winner will flip a coin after regulation and alternate possessions from the 25-yard-line at the same end of the field. The team that is ahead after an equal number of possessions from 25 yards out wins. If a team doesn't score in four downs, it can retain possession by getting a first down.

A defensive player can win the game by returning a fumble, interception or blocked kick the length of the field to the other end zone. But, if the player is tackled inside the 25-yard-line, the ball reverts to the 25, where his team's offense starts its possession.

Clemson has had 45 ties in its 103-year history, with the last taking place in 1991, a 20-20 deadlock with Virginia.

World's largest pep rally, this is one of the best examples of Clemson spirit. The Friday night before Homecoming about 30,000 people come to Memorial Stadium for a combination pep rally, beauty pageant, fireworks display and skit presentation. It was the brainchild of former Clemson legend Gator Farr, who was the master of pep rallies in the 1940s and 1950s. This is not to be confused with Barnyard Burn, which is something special for South Carolina home games. It involves a bon-fire that torches a chicken coop. It is held the Friday night prior to the South Carolina game and takes place in the parking lot outside the stadium.

TIGER MASCOT

Since 1954, a Clemson student has adorned the mascot suit to entertain the Clemson faithful. Joined in 1993 by the Tiger Cub, these furry creatures can be seen imitating game officials (now against the rules) signing autographs, getting their pictures taken with dignitaries like Presidents Reagan and Bush, shooting the cannon, or doing pushups each time Clemson scores.

The 1999 season marks the 45th season of the Tiger mascot. Two records were broken last year by Tiger mascot Rob Lockard. He did 128 pushups in the fourth quarter against NC State, the most ever in a fourth quarter. The home night game mark also fell when he did 70 in the victory over South Carolina. Zack Callahan, a senior from Belton, SC will serve as the Tiger mascot this year. The Tiger Cub will be Dan Wangerin of Simpsonville, SC.

WEATHER

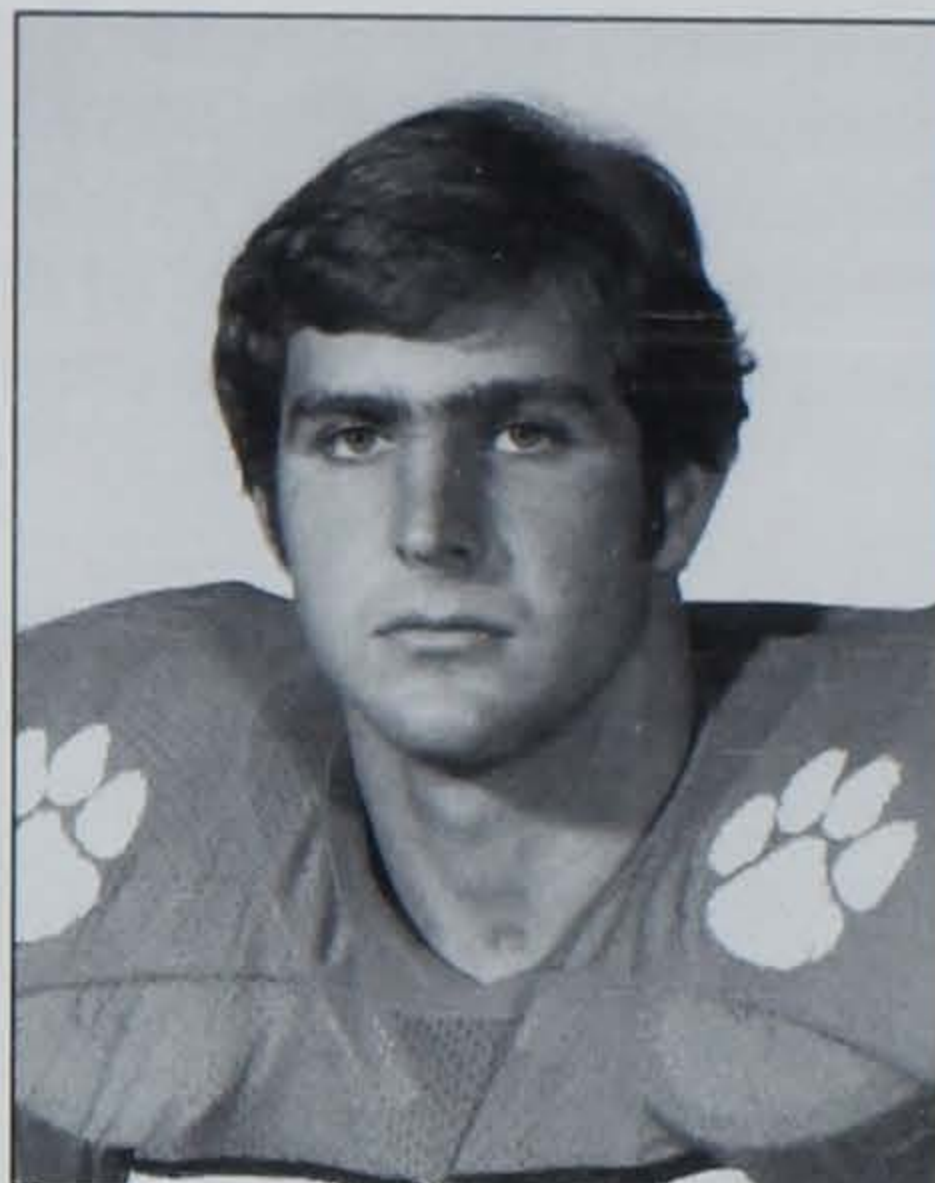

Every one of our major audiences for this press guide (fans, the media, recruits, coaches and administrators) has interest in the weather. We get a lot of calls from people making their first trip to Clemson for a football game and they want to be prepared. Well, if you are playing the percentages, prepare for a sunny day, about 70 degrees.

Over the last 20 years the average temperature for a Clemson home game has been 68 degrees. Of the 127 home games played during this time, the weather has been predominantly sunny 85 times. It has rained just 11 of the last 129 games at Death Valley, over the last 21 years.

The 1992 season was probably the worst weather year at Clemson in some time as it was predominantly cloudy for five of the six games and the average temperature was just 62.83 degrees, the coolest since 1981 (62.67).

It has not snowed for a Clemson game since 1936 when the Tigers played Furman. That is also the last time Furman beat Clemson. The most unusual weather for a Clemson game took place at the Georgia game in 1962. The temperature dropped 30 degrees between the beginning of the game and halftime and during intermission a hailstorm sent fans to cover. The second half was delayed 30 minutes to get the ice off the field.

Ron West has returned to Clemson 20 years after helping the Tigers to a #6 national ranking.

WEST, RON

One coach who was very excited about Tommy Bowden's decision to take over the Clemson football program was Ron West. The offensive line coach at Tulane under Bowden, West is a Clemson graduate who was a part of two bowl teams in the 1970s. He was a junior college transfer who came to Clemson to play offensive tackle in 1977 and 1978.

West was the backup to Steve Kenney (who played nine years in the NFL) on the 1978 team that posted an 11-1 record and ranked sixth in the final AP poll. West is the first Clemson graduate to coach the Tigers since James Earle was an assistant coach in 1993 and 1994.

Located at Gate 13 at Clemson Memorial Stadium, Tim Bourret usually drops the passes off by 10:00 A.M. for a 1:00 P.M. game.

WILLIAMS, PAT

A little known fact about current Orlando Magic general manager Pat Williams (that's right an NBA guy being talked about in a football guide) is that he was the color commentator on the Clemson football radio network.

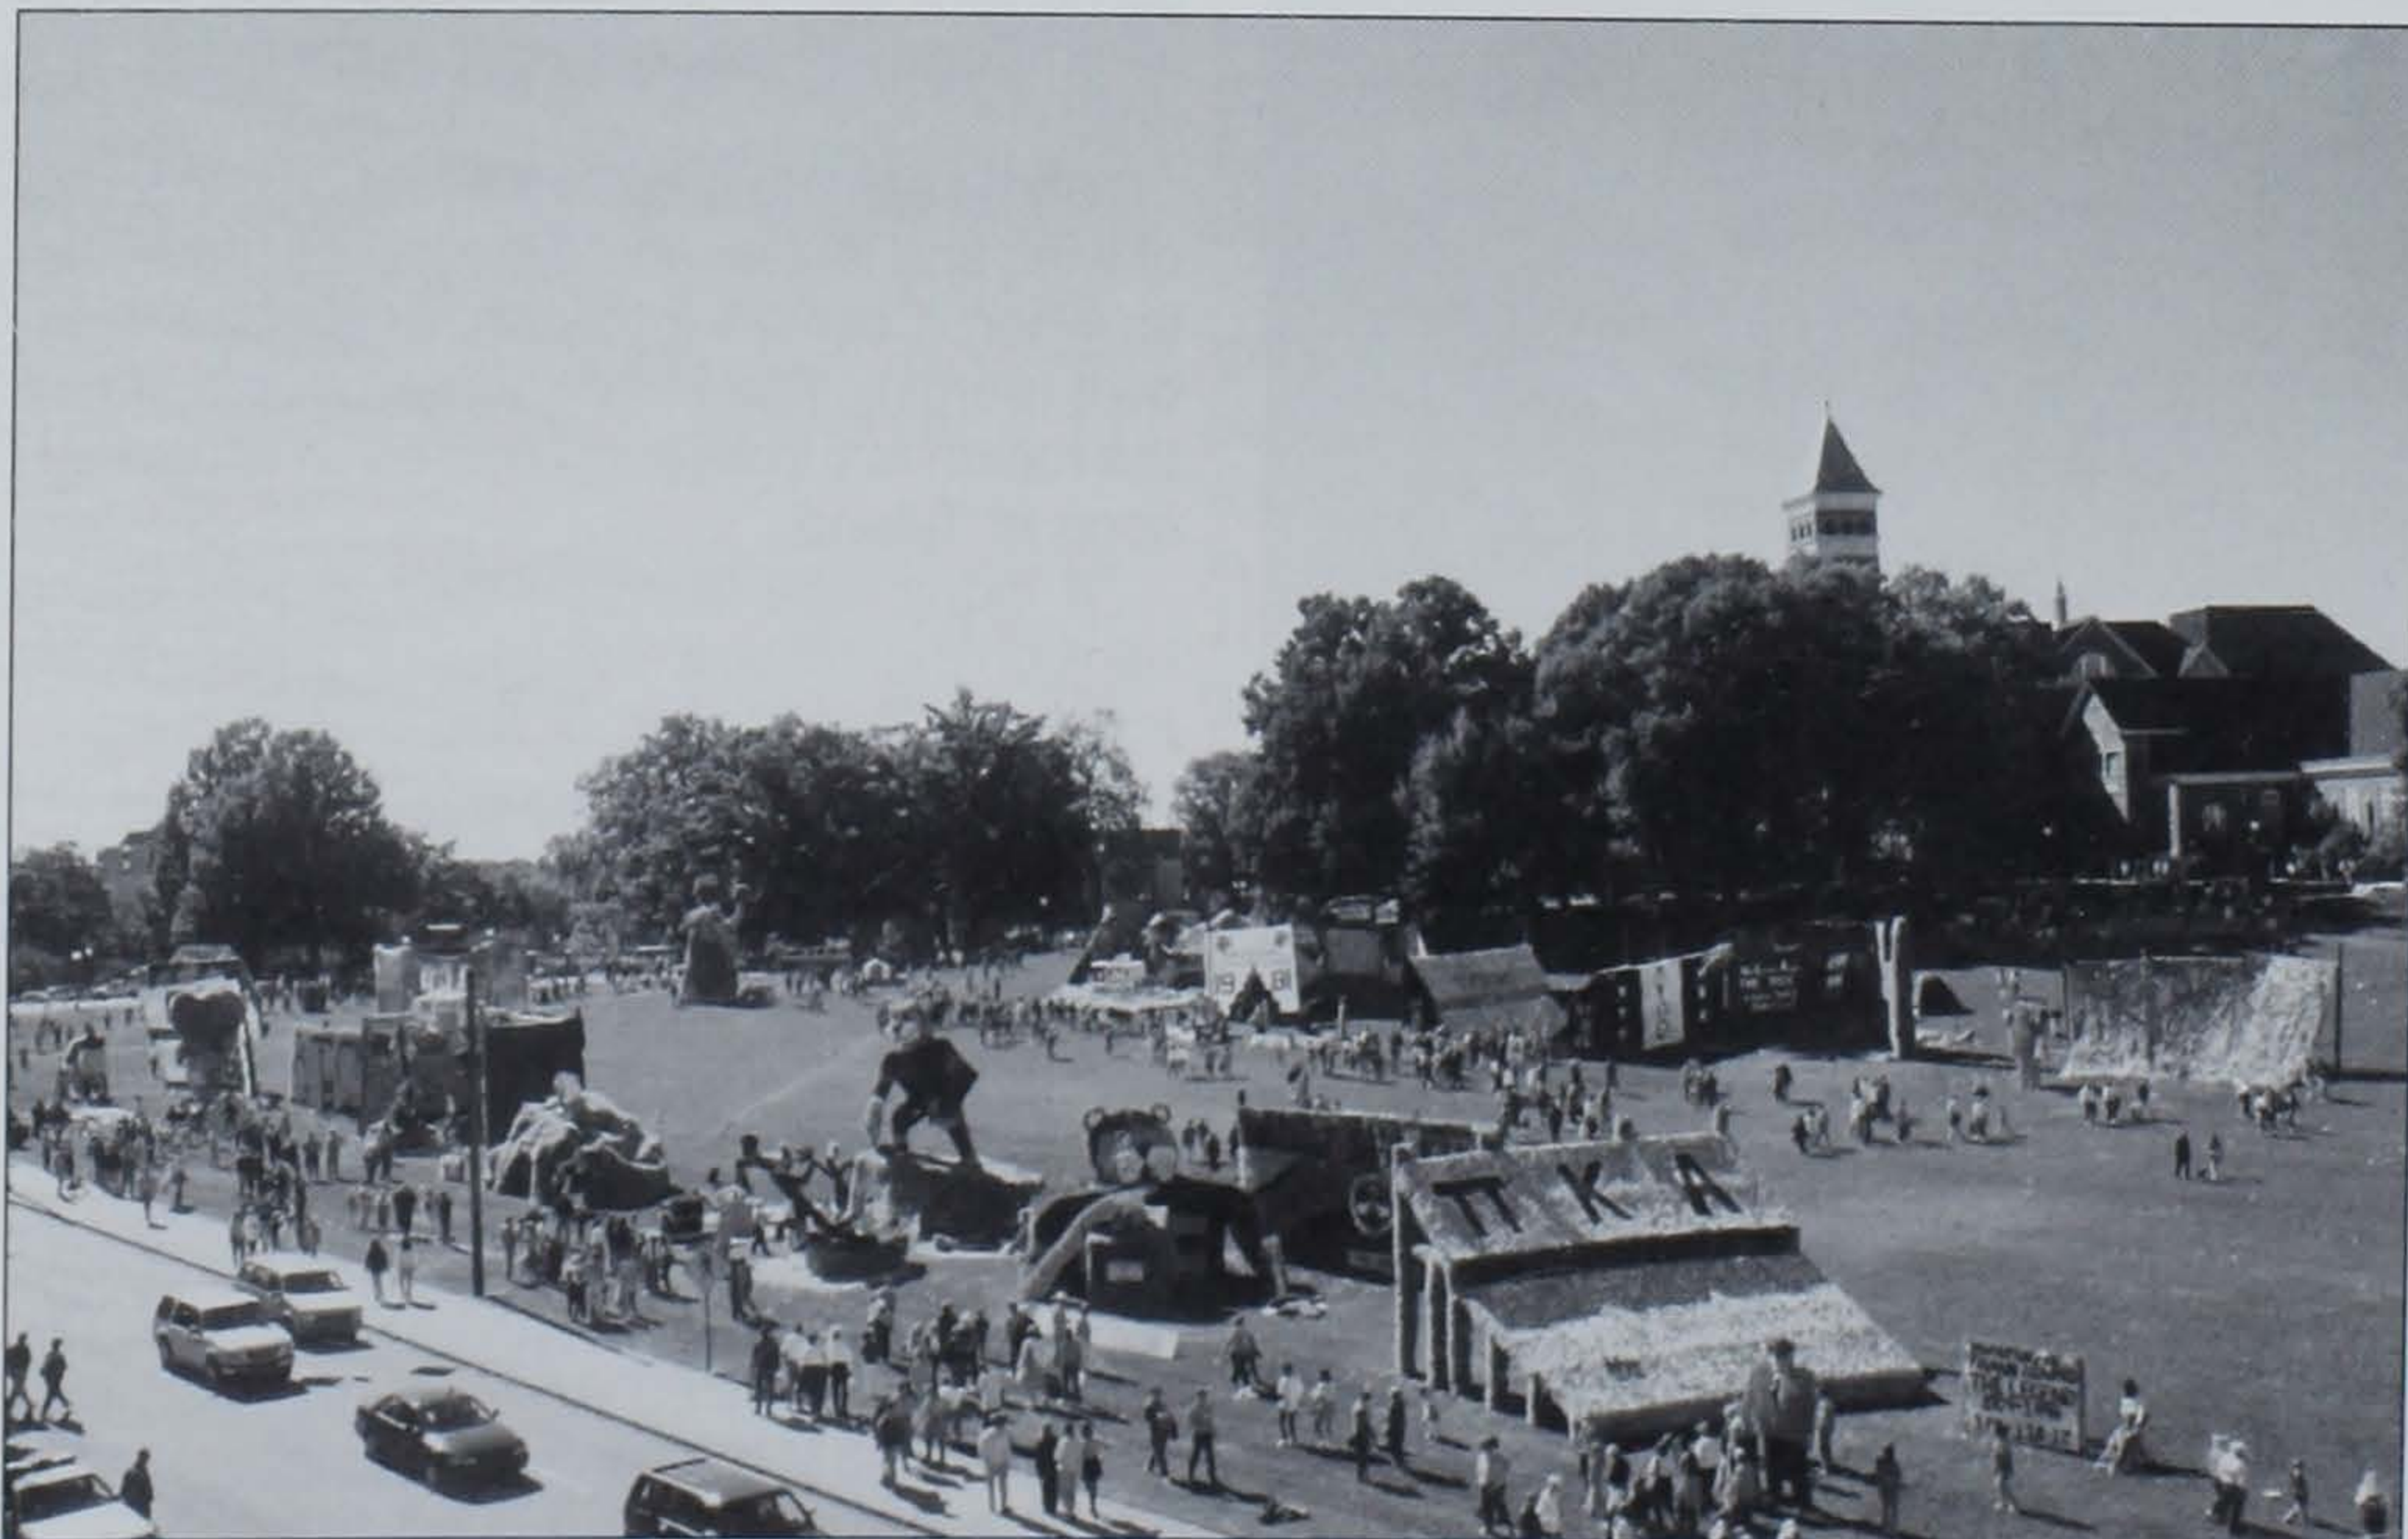

For the 1966 football season, Williams, then the general manager of the Spartanburg Phillies baseball team, joined Bill Goodrich on the Clemson broadcasts. Hey, he needed something to keep him busy during the fall while he waited for the next baseball season.

Williams has more ACC roots, he was a star for the 1962 ACC championship Wake Forest baseball team and later earned a master's degree at Indiana in 1964. He actually provided commentary for football and basketball at Indiana while he was a graduate student.

WILLIAMS, PAUL

Paul Williams is the answer to an all-time stumper, but now you will be ready when confronted with this question. Who is the last football player to letter for both Clemson and South Carolina. There were probably a number of people who played for both schools during the war, but over the last 20 years he is the only football player to do it.

Williams came to Clemson in 1978, following in his brother Toney's footsteps. In fact, they were both on the Clemson team that year and Paul lettered as a first-year freshman. But, he decided to transfer to South Carolina after the 1978 season and played the rest of his career in Columbia.

Tigerama and the homecoming weekend tradition will continue this year on October 2.

It hasn't taken long for Tommy Bowden to have an impact on the Clemson program. And, he hasn't even coached a game yet! The combination of his 19 years of experience as an assistant coach, and his unconscionable two-year resume of accomplishments at Tulane has Clemson fans buzzing.

In the first six months since his December 2, 1998 appointment as Clemson's 23rd head coach there have been many testimonies to the excitement surrounding the Clemson program. First, executive suites at Memorial Stadium sold out by the end of February, the earliest sellout of the premium-priced, 100-suite, 3000-seat area in school history.

Second, the Spring Game attracted a record crowd of 16,500 on April 10th. The record crowds continued on the IPTAY meeting circuit in May. In Charleston, 500 people were expected to attend and 800 showed up. Season tickets are over 50,000, up nearly 5,000 over the previous year. On July 1, IPTAY membership reached a record 21,000 and IPTAY donations surpassed $9.5 million for the first time ever.

In addition to his offensive style of play and corresponding ascension in the national polls at Tulane, the interest in Clemson football made an ascension in the off-season when it came to signing day. Many recruiting services ranked Bowden's first class among the finest in the nation. He had a reputation of being a fine recruiter before he got to Clemson. Six of his Tulane 1998 freshmen were on the Conference USA All-Freshman team, including a Football News freshman All-America lineman.

The top 20 1999 recruiting ranking had as much to do with Bowden's ability to keep players in the state. Four of Clemson's top signees for 1999 are from the state of South Carolina. Players leaving the state has been a problem in recent years. A check to this year's rosters at Tennessee, Notre Dame and Penn State shows a combined eight starters who played high school football in South Carolina.

An exciting style of play and an undefeated 1998 season certainly has a lot to do with the recruiting success and fan support for his Clemson program. As current Clemson sophomore quarterback Woodrow Dantzler put it, "The numbers they put up in two years at Tulane were amazing. It makes you gasp for air."

The numbers are truly breathtaking. Bowden inherited a Tulane program that had not been to a bowl game since 1987, had not been ranked since 1979, had not finished a season in the top 20 since 1973, had not won a conference championship since 1949 and had not posted a perfect season since 1931. He reached all of those goals in just his second year as the Green Wave's head coach.

In the two seasons he was the head coach at Tulane, he took a team that had been 4-18 in the two years previous to his arrival, and emotionally and numerically reversed the team's fortunes with an 18-4 record, posted an 11-1 conference mark and finished the 1998 season ranked seventh in the nation by both polls. Tulane and Tennessee were the only undefeated teams in college football in 1998.

How did he accomplish so much in so little time? A productive, thrilling offense that had fans and opposing defensive coordinators on the edge of their seats was a major factor. A look to the chart on the following page shows us that his Tulane team had a 22-game average of 39.7 points, 5.1 touchdowns, 463 yards of total offense, 270.5 yards passing, and 192.6 yards rushing. The Green Wave averaged 6.34 yards per play, and converted on third down 47 percent of the time. His 22-game offensive averages would be Clemson all-time season records in 12 different categories.

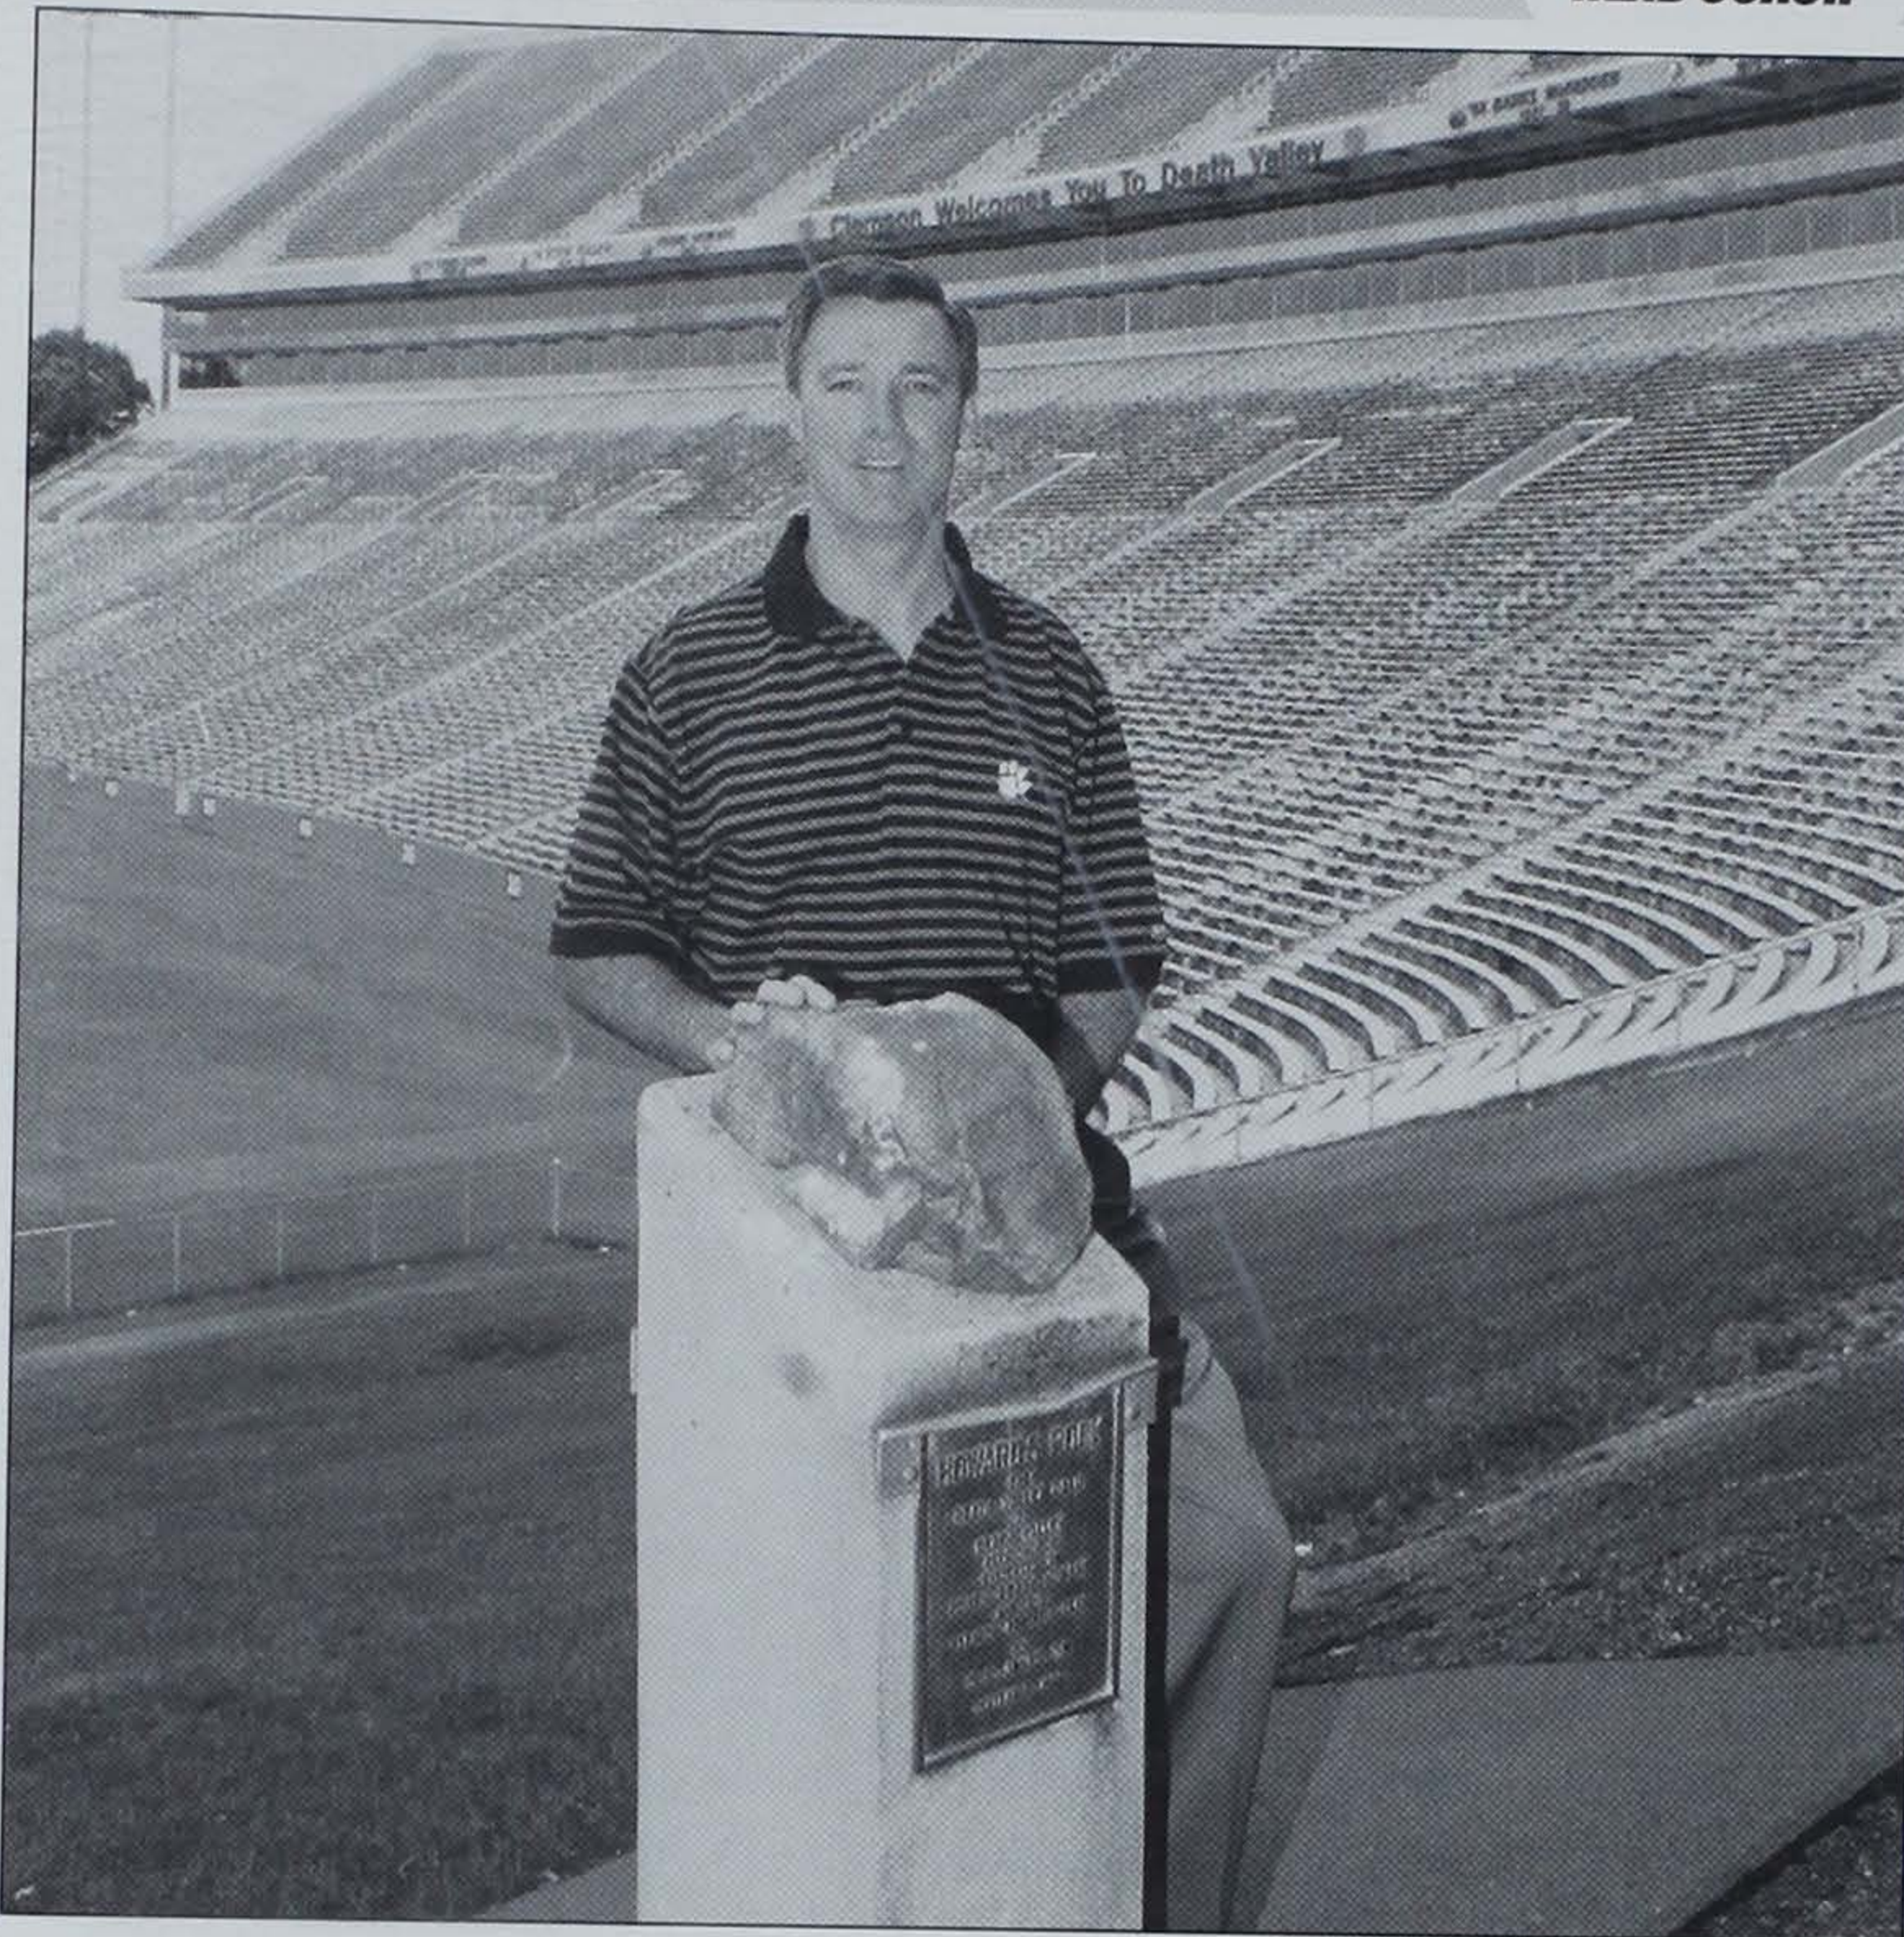

Some say the most telling statistic in terms of wins and losses and the most telling statistic when it comes to coaching ability is turnover margin. The Green Wave ranked fifth in the nation in turnover margin each of his seasons at Tulane.

It didn't take Bowden long to put Tulane back on the college football landscape. In his first year, Tulane was picked last in the pre-season polls of Conference USA. But, he led the New Orleans based school to a 7-4 record, a second-place conference standing with just one league loss, and set or tied 33 school records in the process. The five-game improvement was second best in the nation for the 1997 season.

During the 1997 season, Tulane scored 375 points and threw for 25 touchdowns. The Green Wave totalled 4,610 yards of offense, including 233 yards per game passing and 183 yards a game on the ground. Shaun King,

The Bowden Family: Tommy, Linda, Lauren, and Ryan.

Bowden took a Tulane program that had been 4-18 in the two years prior to his arrival and transposed the wins and losses in two years.

who had been 4-18 as a starting quarterback his first two years, went from virtual obscurity to Conference USA Offensive Player of the Year.

While Bowden's first team received most of its notoriety on offense, his squad was also outstanding on defense and on special teams. The Green Wave defense led the nation with 26 interceptions and posted two shutouts in the same season, something that program had not done since 1973. For the season, the Tulane defense had 34 takeaways, third highest in the nation. The special teams led the nation in field goals, ranked fourth in punting, and 20th in kickoff returns.

Tulane's accomplishments on offense were noteworthy in 1997, but their offensive charts reached uncharted areas in 1998. Tulane stood as the only school in the nation that averaged over 300 yards per game passing and 200 yards per game rushing. The team ranked fourth in the nation in total offense (507.1 per game) and second in scoring (45.4 points per game). They were 13th in passing and 23rd in rushing.

The Green Wave scored 40 or more points in eight contests last season, including each of the last seven games. In one game the Green Wave scored 72 points and rolled up 704 yards of total offense. They converted 52 percent of their third-down opportunities for the season and had just 11 turnovers in over 800 plays.

It was a balanced offense in terms of production and in terms of player participation. Twelve different Tulane players hit paydirt last season, including five different players with eight touchdowns or more. Several individuals were ranked in the national statistics, including quarterback Shaun King.

The signal caller, who was a second round

NFL draft choice in 1999, set an NCAA record for passing efficiency in a season with a 183.3 rating. He passed for 3232 yards and threw 36 touchdowns against just six interceptions. He was sixth in the nation in total offense. Two of his receivers were ranked in the top 30 in the nation in both receptions per game and reception yardage per game.

The 1998 season saw the program's meteoric progression continue. Tulane posted a perfect 11-0 regular season under Bowden, its first perfect regular season since 1931. The Green Wave won Conference USA, its first league title since Tulane won the SEC in 1949.

Bowden's team ranked seventh in the final AP poll and was a mainstay in the polls since the third week of the season. Tulane had not been ranked at any time since 1979 and had not been ranked in a final poll since 1973. After Bowden accepted the job at Clemson, Tulane defeated BYU in the Liberty Bowl, 41-27.

One of the great misconceptions about Bowden's offense at Tulane was that it was a pass-happy attack. The Green Wave averaged nearly 200 yards per game on the ground in the 22 games Bowden coached at Tulane. They averaged 41 rushes and 32 passes per game in the two seasons. The greatest example of balance was shown in the first down statistics. In 22 games, Tulane had 246 rushing first downs and 246 passing first downs.

At season's end, Bowden was a finalist for the Bear Bryant Coach of the Year Award, and just about every other award afforded to Division I coaches. His 11-0 record was just the 18th perfect regular season in college football in the decade of the 1990s.

A look to that list reveals two other coaches named Bowden. His father, Florida State Head Coach Bobby Bowden, had a perfect regular season in 1996, while his brother, Terry, posted a perfect regular season in 1993. Obviously, The Bowdens are the first family of college coaching and this "Wonder Years" environment had a lot to do with Tommy Bowden's decision to enter the coaching world.

"I knew for sure at an early age what I wanted to do," said Tommy Bowden. "There wasn't any decision. If my father had been a high school coach, I probably would have been a high school coach. If he had been a doctor or a lawyer, I probably would have been a doctor or a lawyer. But, he was a college football coach, and that's what I wanted to be."

"Tommy seems like he was destined to be a football coach," recalled Bobby Bowden. "Of all our boys, he was committed to coaching earlier than any of them. I'm talking about back in the seventh or eighth grade." When Bobby was the head coach at Samford, Tommy used to make the trips with the team on the bus. Many times he slept on the return trip in the luggage compartments above the seats.

The fatherly influence of a college coach who is about to reach 300 career wins, also had an influence on other members of the family. Terry has been a head coach at Samford and Auburn, posting a 47-17-1 record at the latter. Terry will serve as an in-studio commentator for ABC's college football package this year. Jeff Bowden is in his fifth year as wide receivers coach at Florida State.

Tommy Bowden began his college football experience as a walk-on wide receiver at West Virginia. He played for his father between 1973-74-75 and then for Frank Signetti during the 1976 season. As a junior he caught 15 passes for 189 yards and one score.

He missed five games that year due to a collapsed lung suffered against SMU, but did return to play in the 1975 Peach Bowl against

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT TOMMY BOWDEN

"This is an exciting offense for a quarterback. You hear the stories and see the film clips on TV. The numbers they put up in two years at Tulane were amazing. It makes you gasp for air." Woodrow Dantzler, Clemson quarterback

"Hiring a person like Coach Bowden tells everyone that we want to make it big here. We want a program that will keep improving until we reach the National Championship." Brandon Streeter, Clemson quarterback.

"When the coaching change was made, Mr. (Bobby) Robinson was quoted as saying they were going to get the number-one guy in the nation. They backed up their word." Chad Speck, Clemson safety.

"Tommy Bowden has a lot of charisma, comes from a good coaching family, knows his X's and O's, is a good recruiter and has a high powered, exciting offense." Bill Smith, Clemson Board of Trustees, starting defensive end 1981 National Championship team.

"What Tommy Bowden has done as the head coach at Tulane is extraordinary. He took a program that had struggled for many years and made them a top 10 program in just two seasons. It was amazing." Bobby Robinson, Clemson athletic director

"I'm thrilled to have Tommy in our conference. Clemson is one of the top universities in the nation with excellent potential. Clemson is one of those good schools where you can go as high as you're able to. We've spent the last five years getting ready for Auburn and Terry. It's amazing how things worked out; instead it will be Tommy at Clemson." Bobby Bowden, Florida State head coach.

an NC State team coached by Lou Holtz. It was in preparation for that game in Atlanta that Bowden first saw Clemson University. The Mountaineers had a few days of pre-bowl practice at Clemson that year.

In his senior year he snared 11 passes, again for 189 yards and one score. He lettered all four years and had a starting role as a senior. In 1976 he was named a Churchmen's All-American.

Bowden remained at West Virginia for the 1977 season and began his coaching career, serving as a graduate assistant on Signetti's staff. His interest in coaching only became more intense after that first year as a GA. His father then hired him as a secondary coach at Florida State for the 1978 season.

That experience confirmed to Bowden that he was in a profession that would be his life's work. The Seminoles posted a 19-4 mark in his two seasons at Florida State, incredibly similar to his 18-4 record in his first two years as a head coach at Tulane. Included in that 19-4 ledger at FSU was an 11-1 mark in 1979 and a trip to the Orange Bowl, the first major bowl appearance of the Bowden era at Florida State. Current Clemson coaches Rick Stockstill and Reggie Herring were members of that team.

In 1980, Bowden joined Pat Dye's staff at East Carolina, where he coached for the spring practice session of 1980. That spring, he joined Dye when he became head coach at Auburn and served as the Tigers running backs coach for the 1980 season. Among the players he coached was James Brooks, who went on to a 13-year NFL career and is still second in Auburn history in rushing.

In 1981, Bowden returned to Tallahassee as the tight ends coach. In three more years at Florida State, the Seminoles posted a 23-12 mark and played in a pair of bowl games. The 1982 team ranked 13th in the final poll and claimed a 9-3 record and a Gator Bowl championship. The 1983 team finished 8-4 and played in the Peach Bowl. In Tommy's five years as an assistant coach under Bobby Bowden at Florida State the Seminoles were 42-16.

In 1984, Bowden accepted his first job as a coordinator. He served under Steve Sloan at Duke as the Blue Devils quarterbacks coach and offensive coordinator. It was as the Duke offensive coordinator that Bowden made his first trip to Death Valley as a coach. Among the players Bowden tutored was Anthony Dilweg, who went on to an NFL career.

After three years at Duke, Bowden became the wide receivers coach at Alabama under Bill Curry. It was at Alabama that Bowden refined his offensive coaching prowess under noted offensive mind Homer Smith, then the Alabama Offensive Coordinator.

Alabama made steady improvement and went to three bowl games in three years with Bowden on the staff. The team was 9-3 and victorious in the Sun Bowl in 1988, then finished ninth in the nation with a 10-2 record in the 1989 season. They won the championship of the Southeastern Conference with a 6-1 ledger that season and played Miami (FL) in the Sugar Bowl.

In 1990, Bowden returned to a coordinator position, serving Kentucky as its offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. That season he helped the Wildcats to their first upper division SEC finish since 1984.

In 1991, Bowden rejoined Pat Dye at Auburn. He would remain with the SEC Tigers for six years, his longest stint as a college assistant coach. During his tenure, Auburn was a combined 46-20-2, including a perfect 11-0 season in 1993. Auburn had four Associated Press top 25 seasons, including a number-four ranking in 1993 and a number-nine in 1994. The Tigers were 20-1-1 in 1993-94 combined. Bowden served under his brother Terry Bowden for his last four years at Auburn and the Tigers had a 36-9-1 record with both Bowdens on the staff.

Bowden served as offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach at Auburn during this six-year period. In 1995, the Auburn offense was just the sixth in SEC history to have at least 2,000 yards rushing (2,158) and 2,500 yards passing (2,891) in the same season. That year the squad led the SEC in rushing offense (196 per game) and in total offense (459 per game). The team established school records in total offense (5,049), points (424) points per game (38.6) and touchdowns (56).

After 19 years as an assistant and nine address changes, Bowden's patience paid off

Bowden was a Finalist for the 1998 Bear Bryant Award.

TOMMY BOWDEN

How would you describe your offensive system to the common fan?

"I would say it is a multiple formation, up tempo offense that uses a lot of no-huddle and shotgun formation. That doesn't mean we throw the ball on every down. On the contrary, we were in the top 25 in the nation in rushing last year. We ran for more yards than Ohio State, Penn State, UCLA, and Oklahoma, and had just 20 fewer yards rushing for the year than Texas, who had Ricky Williams.

"In general, we try to make the defense defend all 53 yards across the field, then have to back up and defend all 100 yards vertically."

Would it be fair to say that you have a more hands on approach to the offense than the defense?

"I know the general philosophy of what we do on defense mirrors that of the offense. If we are going to be upbeat, fast tempo attack on offense then I want a defense that will play in a similar fashion. That is Reggie's (Herring) style and temperament.

"However Reggie wants to keep the opposition from scoring touchdowns, that is the objective. Points allowed is the number one statistic. I think pressure is the best way to make them throw. We want to take away easy throws and get up in their face."

How did you turn Tulane's program around so quickly?

"Anytime a head coach takes a new job, he instills his own personality and temperament into the program. How fast a program is turned around is determined by how quickly the players adjust to that system. That is one thing that happened down there (Tulane). The players had a sense of urgency and bought into the program very quickly."

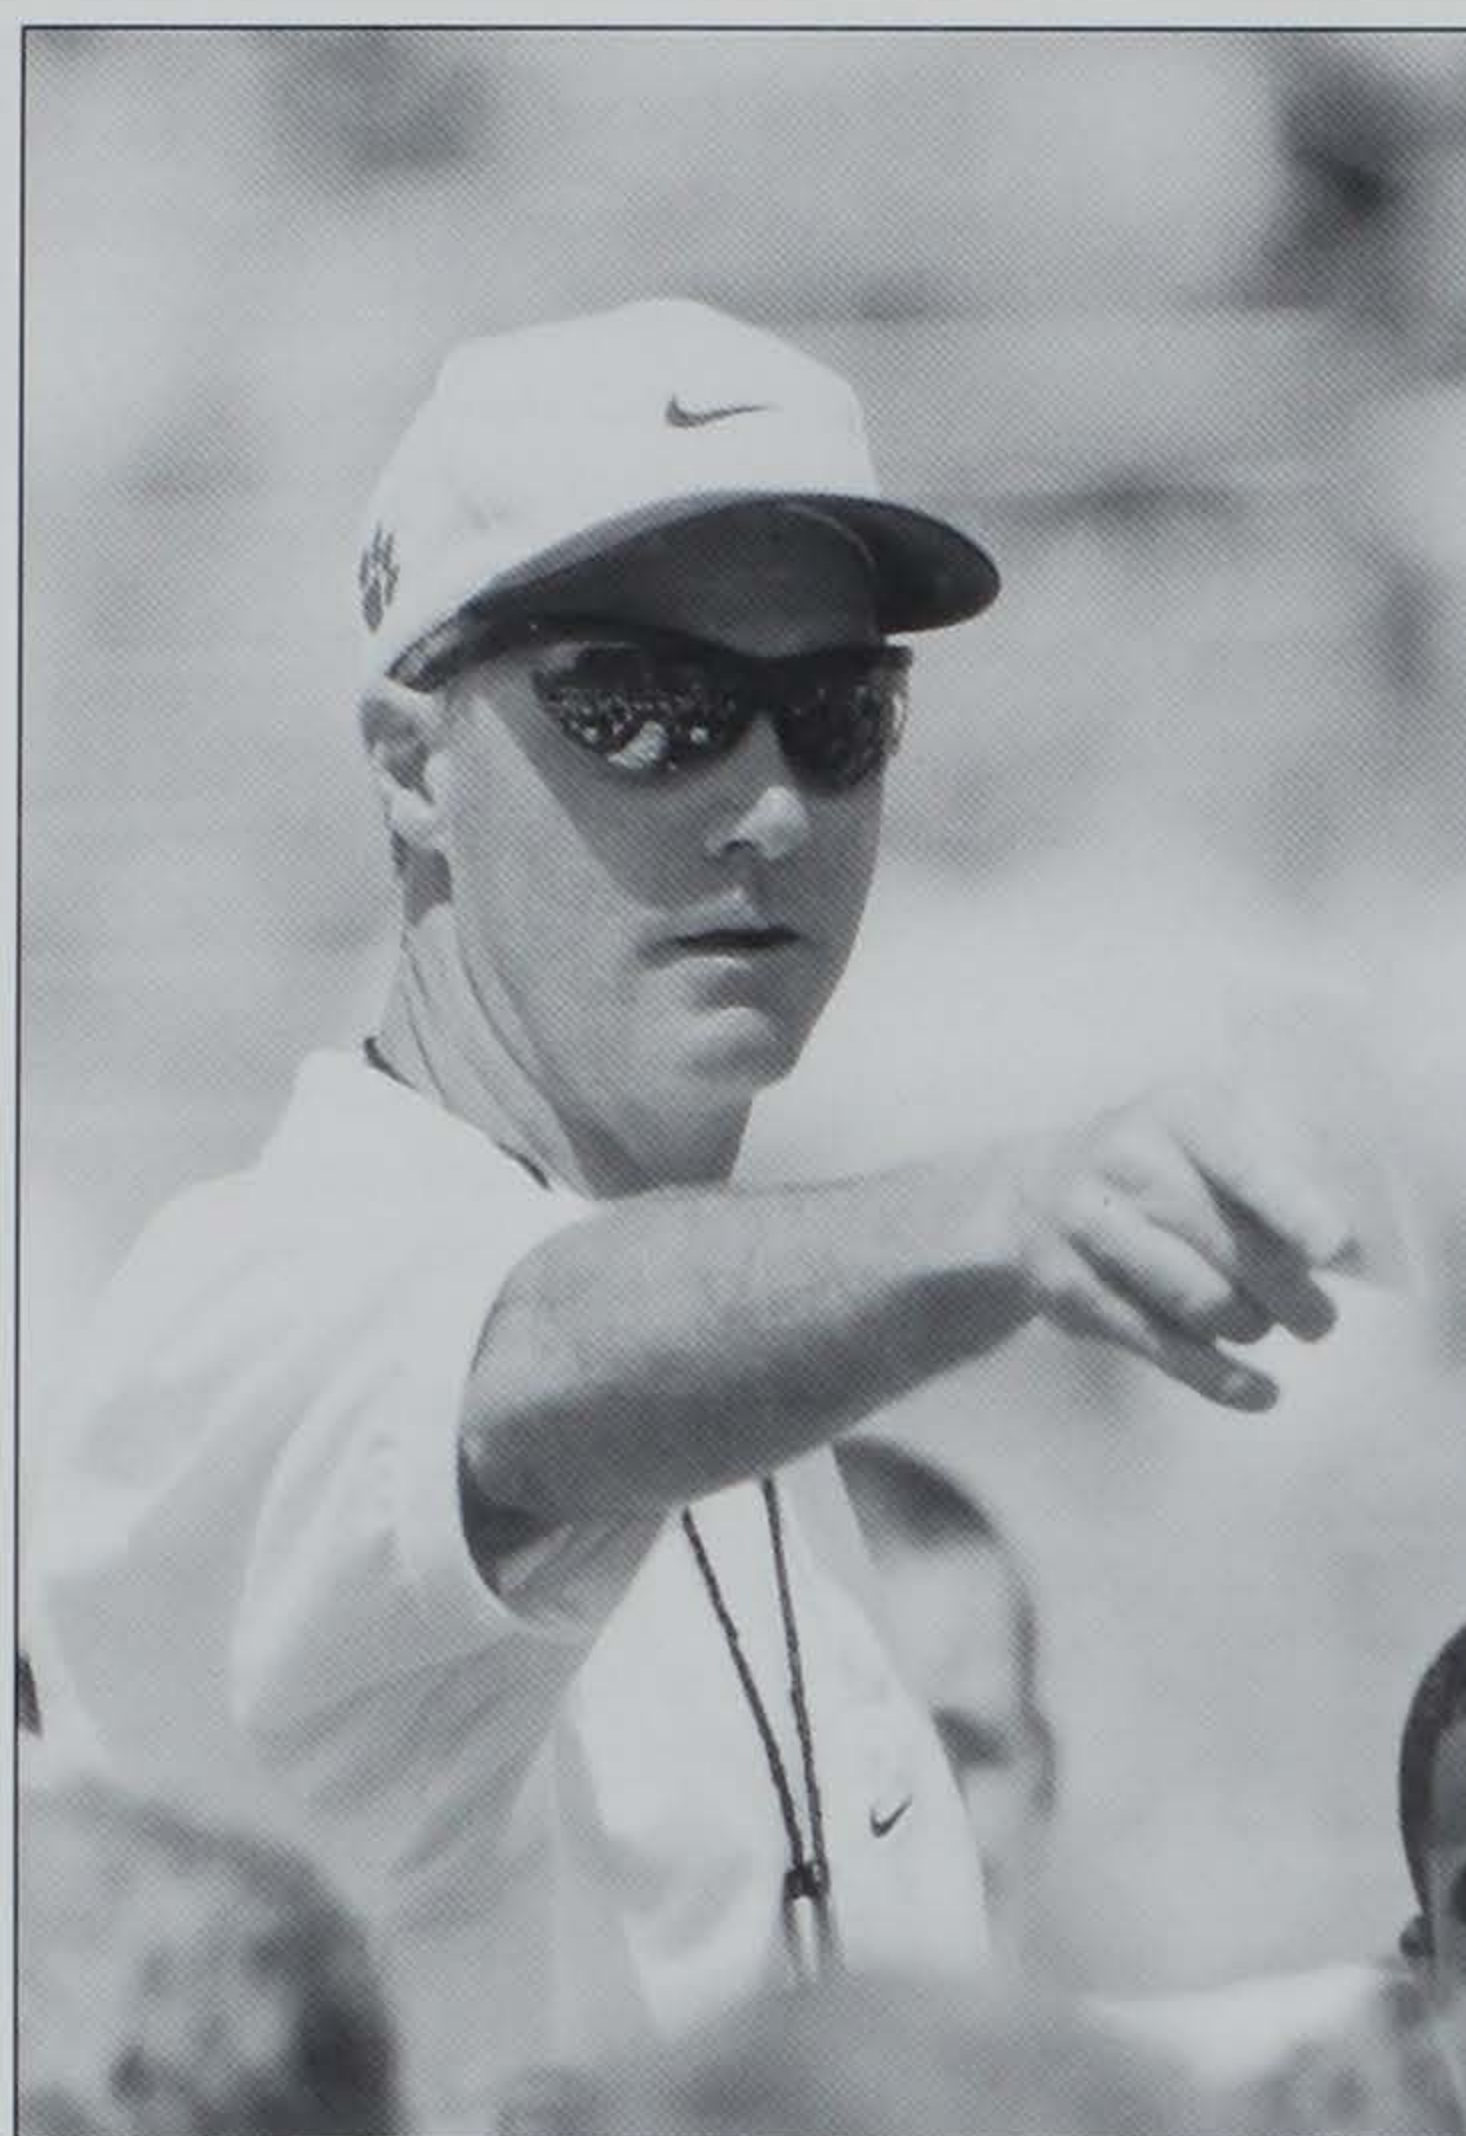

When you go on the road recruiting, what are the selling points of Clemson?

"Clemson has a great tradition from a football standpoint. The environment that happens on a Saturday in this town is unique. The running down the hill, rubbing the rock, those are the things that are known from coast to coast in college football. A lot of players want to go where it is special. Football is special here.

"In a short amount of time that I have been here, I found that Clemson is stronger academically than I had thought. Coming from a private instate background, I am familiar with strengths of degrees, quality of education and Clemson is stronger than I anticipated."

What are your memories as an opponent in Death Valley?

"When I coached here back in the early 80's, Clemson was going through their Hey Day and they were a very tough and physical team. They were really dominating in the ACC back then with a very aggressive and intimidating style defense and a really hard nose run offense. It was a very intimidating environment because the fan reaction, the fan support and the team that was on the field. When I was at Duke we were out of the games by halftime.

"Actually the first time I came to Clemson was as a player in 1975. We (West Virginia) practiced a couple of days at Clemson on our way to play NC State in the Peach Bowl. I remember Frank Howard speaking to our team. He said some things I hadn't heard before, he even shocked my father (Bobby Bowden who was head coach at West Virginia at the time)."

How do you feel about playing against your father on October 23?

"I am sure as the game approaches it will bring on more significance or a more emotional reaction. At this point in time we are probably like everyone else in the conference, knowing that they (Florida State) are the team to beat, they are the most talented team. That is who everybody is chasing. As the game approaches I will understand the significance of being the first meeting of father and son. Right now, in the middle of summer, we have a lot of things on our mind as we prepare for the season.

"My father neither encouraged nor discouraged any of us when it came to getting into coaching. We really didn't sit around and talk that much about football. Terry went to law school right afterwards, Jeff's degree is criminology.

"I was probably the only one that knew at an early age that I wanted to go into coaching. I wanted to go into it about the seventh grade."

What do you see are the priorities for this team?

"The first thing we do is play extremely hard for 60 minutes. If we teach these players to play extremely hard for 60 minutes then we will win our share of the games. Once we increase the talent pool and play hard for 60 minutes we will win a bunch of games.

"If you had to take one thing from last year that kept Clemson from being a winning team, I would say you have to look at turnovers.

Ranking 103rd out of 112 teams in turnover margin tells the story. Both years at Tulane, we were fifth in the nation in turnovers. If I had to pick a priority of something to eliminate through spring and into the season it would be turnovers. So that is one thing that we need to address from a philosophical standpoint."

What are your overall impressions of your recruiting class?

"I thought under the circumstances it was a good year. I don't think we'll know until two or three more years how good it was. The day after I took the job, I pulled up the depth chart and I looked at the numbers that we had at each position and our needs. I tried to recruit accordingly.

"We run an offense that runs some two back offense, but we really only need three fullbacks on scholarship. So there are some positions where we didn't sign anybody. We didn't sign anybody at a tight end this year and we will next year. Looking at our needs and our numbers I thought we had a good year."

Comment on your patience in becoming a head coach.

"I wanted to get around some quality programs and make some comparisons and see the way coaches handled different situations. I have been raised in a household with one of the best around. I won't even compare it to something else. In 19 years as an assistant, I spent 11 in the SEC and three in the ACC and some years in an independent program.

"That was the best way to prepare my career, spend as much time as I could around quality programs. When you get the opportunity to become a head coach, you can pick and choose the things you learned from the different environments and fit into your current situation."

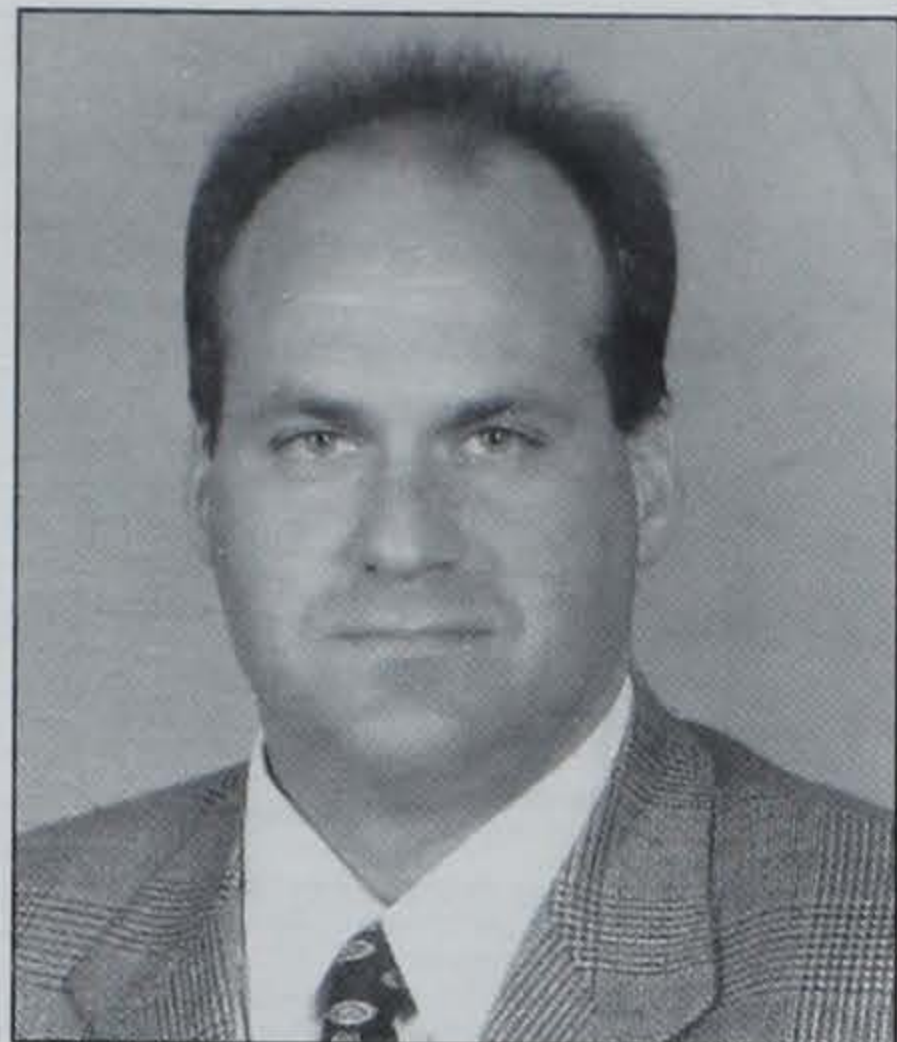

Who are some of the coaches that have influenced you?

"I worked three years with Steve Sloan and I learned a lot in the passing game. I learned a lot on the motivation side of coaching from Pat Dye at Auburn. Two years with Homer Smith at Alabama was very beneficial when it came to offense. The years I spent coaching with my father and playing for him, about eight years total, four playing and four coaching, I learned a lot of offensive football movement and discipline. More or less, the offense that we used at Tulane and what we will use here is drawn from the years I was with my father."

Comment on your own athletic career.

"I walked on at West Virginia and played wide receiver, and ended up starting the last two years. I was fortunate to play in a bowl game, against NC State, an ACC team in 1975. Probably my biggest thrill as an athlete was beating Pittsburgh in 1975. They had Tony Dorsett at the time and were just one year away from winning the national championship. It was a game televised by ABC. Pittsburgh and West Virginia are very big rivals."

ASSISTANT HEAD COACH • OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

After a successful coaching career on the NAIA level and two seasons at Tulane, Rich Rodriguez has joined the Clemson football staff. The 36-year old is the offensive coordinator along with the duties of assistant head coach.

Rodriguez comes to Clemson after serving as Tulane's offensive coordinator the last two seasons. During those two years, the Green Wave offense rewrote the Tulane record books. In 1997, the team set 26 school records, which included 375 points and nearly 4,700 yards of total offense.

In 1998, the proficiency of the offense continued under Rodriguez as the Green Wave rolled to a 12-0 record and a Liberty Bowl win over Brigham Young. Tulane was the only team in the nation to average over 300 yards passing per game and 200 yards rushing per game. Tulane scored 40 or more points in nine contests in '98, including each of the last seven. The team was second nationally with an average of 45.4 points per game.

At Tulane, Rodriguez helped mold Shaun King into one of the top quarterbacks in the nation. King, who was a second round draft pick by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the '99 draft, set the NCAA single-season pass efficiency record with a 183.3 mark. King also threw 36 touchdown passes against only six interceptions, while throwing for nearly 294 yards per game.

Before joining the Tulane staff in 1997, Rodriguez spent seven years as head coach at Glenville State College in Glenville, WV. Rodriguez's teams won four consecutive West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championships, the school's first league titles since 1959. In 1993, he led Glenville to the NAIA Division I championship game.

While at Glenville, Rodriguez coached Chris George, the all-time leading receiver in college football history. George, who played for the Pittsburgh Steelers, finished his career with 430 receptions for more than 6,000 yards.

The Glenville offense led the WVIAC in total offense and scoring offense in six of Rodriguez's seven years. His team led the nation in both categories in 1993 and 1994.

In 1993 and 1994, Rodriguez had dual roles as Glenville's head coach and athletic director. He was the conference coach of the year in 1993 and 1994 and NAIA national coach of the year in 1993. His career record at the school in seven seasons was 45-36-2.

Before working at Glenville, Rodriguez served as a volunteer coach who worked with outside linebackers at his alma mater, West Virginia. He was a part of the 1989 Mountaineer team that reached the Gator Bowl and lost to Clemson 27-7.

At age 24, Rodriguez became the nation's youngest head football coach when he was named coach at Salem (WV) College. He was promoted to the position after serving as defensive coordinator and assistant head coach at the school in 1987. In 1986, he was Salem's secondary coach and special teams coordinator.

As a player at West Virginia, Rodriguez earned three letters and played on four Mountaineer bowl teams as a defensive back. He graduated from WVU in 1986 and later went on to earn a master's degree in physical education from Salem (now known as Salem-Teikyo University).

Rodriguez, 36, is married to the former Rita Setliff, and the couple has two children: Raquel (2) and Rhett, who was born in May.

ASSISTANT HEAD COACH • TIGHT ENDS

Brad Scott is in his first season with the Tiger program after serving at the helm of the South Carolina program from 1994-98. The 45-year old (on Sept. 30, 1999) will hold the title of assistant head coach, while also coaching the tight ends.

In his first season at South Carolina in 1994, Scott led the Gamecocks to their first post-season bowl victory in school history with a 24-21 win over West Virginia at the Carquest Bowl. The win climaxed a 7-5 season for the Gamecocks and for the first time in school history, a Gamecock football team won four road games. The victory that clinched the bowl bid was ironically a victory at Clemson. Scott posted a 2-1 record against the Tigers in Death Valley.

Before coming to South Carolina, Scott was a member of Bobby Bowden's staff at Florida State for 11 years. While at Florida State, the Seminoles went 10-0-1 in bowls, and with the win at the Carquest Bowl, Scott has never been on the losing side of a bowl game in his career.

He joined the Seminole staff in 1983 and spent his last four years in Tallahassee as the offensive coordinator and offensive line coach. Those four seasons included Florida State's 1993 national championship season.

Florida State posted a 44-6 (.880) record with Scott as offensive coordinator, which ranked as the most wins by a Division 1-A program during those four years. The Seminoles won four consecutive bowl games and finished ranked no lower than fourth in the nation during that span.

Scott served as the FSU recruiting coordinator for five years (1985-90) where he built a reputation as a top-notch recruiter. Two of his five recruiting classes (1985 and 1989) were ranked number one in the nation, and Scott was responsible for building the nucleus of the 1993 national championship team.

Prior to joining the Seminole program, Scott was the head football coach and athletic director at DeSoto County High School in Arcadia, FL (1982-83). He was tabbed the conference coach of the year in 1982. It marked the second time Scott was a part of the DeSoto program as he began his football coaching career there in 1979 as an assistant coach.

Scott spent the 1981-82 seasons as a graduate assistant coach on Art Baker's staff at The Citadel. Before arriving in Charleston, Scott was an assistant coach at Hardee County High School in Wauchula, FL for two seasons (1980-81).

The players Scott has recruited and coached reads like a "Who's who" of NFL mainstays. While at Florida State, Scott recruited Deion Sanders, Edgar Bennett, LeRoy Butler, Dexter Carter, Carl Simpson, Clay Shiver, and ironically current FSU quarterback Chris Weinke, who in 1997 passed up on a professional baseball career to play college football.

Scott coached Shiver and tight end Lonnie Johnson along with Heisman Trophy winner Charlie Ward. Scott was the offensive coordinator when Ward led the Seminoles to the National Championship in 1993. At South Carolina, Scott coached current NFL running backs Stanley Pritchett and Duce Staley along with offensive lineman James Dexter.

Scott is a 1979 graduate of South Florida where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Science Education. He received a Master of Science degree in Athletic Administration from Florida State in 1984.

Scott and his wife, Daryle, have two sons: Jeff (18) and John (15). Jeff will be a member of the Clemson team as a freshman this season.

REGGIE HERRING

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR • LINEBACKERS

Reggie Herring begins his sixth season coaching the Clemson linebacker corp and his third as the school's defensive coordinator. The 1999 season will mark Herring's fifth season as a defensive coordinator, as he held the same title at Texas Christian for two seasons.

In 1998, Clemson ranked 14th in the nation in rushing defense and 25th in total defense. It was the second consecutive season under Herring's direction that the Tigers were in the top-25 in both categories. In his first season as a Clemson coordinator, the Tigers were in the top-20 in the nation in rushing defense (6), total defense (16), and scoring defense (18).

In addition to helping Clemson have one of the best defenses in the country, Herring has also seen several of his linebackers move on to NFL careers. Probably the most decorated player among this list is Anthony Simmons.

Under the tutelage of Herring, Simmons was the 1995 UPI National Freshman of the Year and was a three-time All-American before leaving after his junior season. Simmons is now a member of the Seattle Seahawks.

Three members of last season's linebacker group were among players selected in the 1999 NFL Draft. Rahim Abdullah was taken in the second round by the NFL's newest expansion team, the new Cleveland Browns. Chris Jones was a fifth round selection of the Minnesota Vikings, while O.J. Childress was taken in the seventh round by the New York Giants. In all, Herring has coached eight linebackers that have played or have been drafted by NFL teams.

Herring himself was a standout linebacker as a three-year starter at Florida State. In his four years with the Seminole program, FSU posted a 38-6 record. Herring and Florida State made three bowl appearances, two in Miami in the Orange Bowl and one in Orlando in the Tangerine Bowl.

In the 1980 season he was voted second-team AP All-American. He was also inducted into the Florida State Hall of Fame in 1989. He combined with current Clemson wide receivers coach Rick Stockstill to lead the Seminoles to the 1981 Orange Bowl, a narrow loss against Oklahoma that ended a run at the national championship. Herring also was a team leader, as he served as the team captain in 1980. He played on three Florida State teams that finished the season with a top 15 AP ranking, including a number-six finish in 1979 and number-five finish in 1980. Those were the first two top 10 finishes in the Bobby Bowden era at FSU.

Herring started his coaching career in 1981 as a linebackers coach at Oklahoma State. He became a full time coach his first year out of college. He served as a Cowboy coach for five years. The program went to the 1981 Independence Bowl, the 1983 Bluebonnet Bowl and the 1984 and 1985 Gator Bowls.

For six years starting in 1986, he was a linebacker coach at Auburn where he worked under Pat Dye. The Tigers went to the 1987 Citrus, the 1988 Sugar, the 1989 Sugar, the 1989 Hall of Fame and the 1990 Peach Bowls during his career with Auburn.

In 1992, he was named defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Texas Christian, where he served for two seasons. Herring seized the opportunity to come to Clemson in December of 1993 when he was named the inside linebackers coach.

Overall, Herring has been a part of 16 bowl teams in his career, three as a player and 13 as a coach, including four bowl games for the Tigers, the 1993 Peach, the 1996 Gator, the 1996 and 1998 Peach. In his first full season at Clemson, 1994, he coached Tim Jones and Mike Barber. Jones was a first-team All-ACC pick and Barber made the Seattle Seahawks roster.

In 1995, Herring coached a successful crop of inside linebackers led by Simmons. Herring's other inside linebacker, Andye McCrorey, was no slouch either as he finished fourth on the team in tackles with 83 and was named first-team CFA Academic All-American.

In 1996, Herring's pack of inside linebackers led the team in tackles with The Sporting News' first team All-American Simmons ranking first with a Clemson record of 178 and Mond Wilson second with 130.

Herring is married to the former Lisa Ward of Griffin, Georgia. The couple has one daughter, Caroline, and one son, Adam.

RECRUITING COORDINATOR • WIDE RECEIVERS

Rick Stockstill is in his 11th consecutive season at Clemson as an assistant coach, the longest streak of any current Tiger coach. He has experience as a wide receivers and quarterbacks coach at Clemson. The 39-year old's contributions in terms of on-field coaching and recruiting are significant reasons Clemson has been to bowl games in seven of his 10 seasons with the program.

Stockstill has had a positive effect on the Clemson passing game over the years. In 1997, his receiving corps set school records for receptions and reception yardage. Leading the way was Biletnikoff Award semifinalist Tony Horne, who had a record 70 receptions and record tying eight touchdowns. Last year, his receivers helped Clemson to its second highest passing yardage season in history.

Stockstill graduated from Fernandina Beach High School in Fernandina Beach, FL, in 1977. After graduating from Florida State in 1982 with a B.S. degree in physical education, he immediately went into coaching. "I was always interested in coaching," Stockstill states. "By the time I got to high school I had decided that I wanted to go into coaching. I think any athlete who grows up in a coaching family has a head start on the field." Stockstill played for his dad at Fernandina Beach High School.

As a member of Bobby Bowden's second recruiting class, Stockstill earned three letters, made three bowl trips, and was selected to play in two all-star games after his senior season. In 1981, Stockstill, the team captain, was named an Honorable Mention All-American by The Sporting News. He helped Florida State to two Top-10 final AP rankings and wins over perennial powers in Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Ohio State, and Nebraska in his career.

He teamed with current Clemson assistant coach Reggie Herring to help the Seminoles to the first two top-10 rankings of the Bobby Bowden era. Although Stockstill never played a game in Death Valley, his brother, Jeff, played for the Tigers from 1979-82 and was a key reserve on the national championship team.

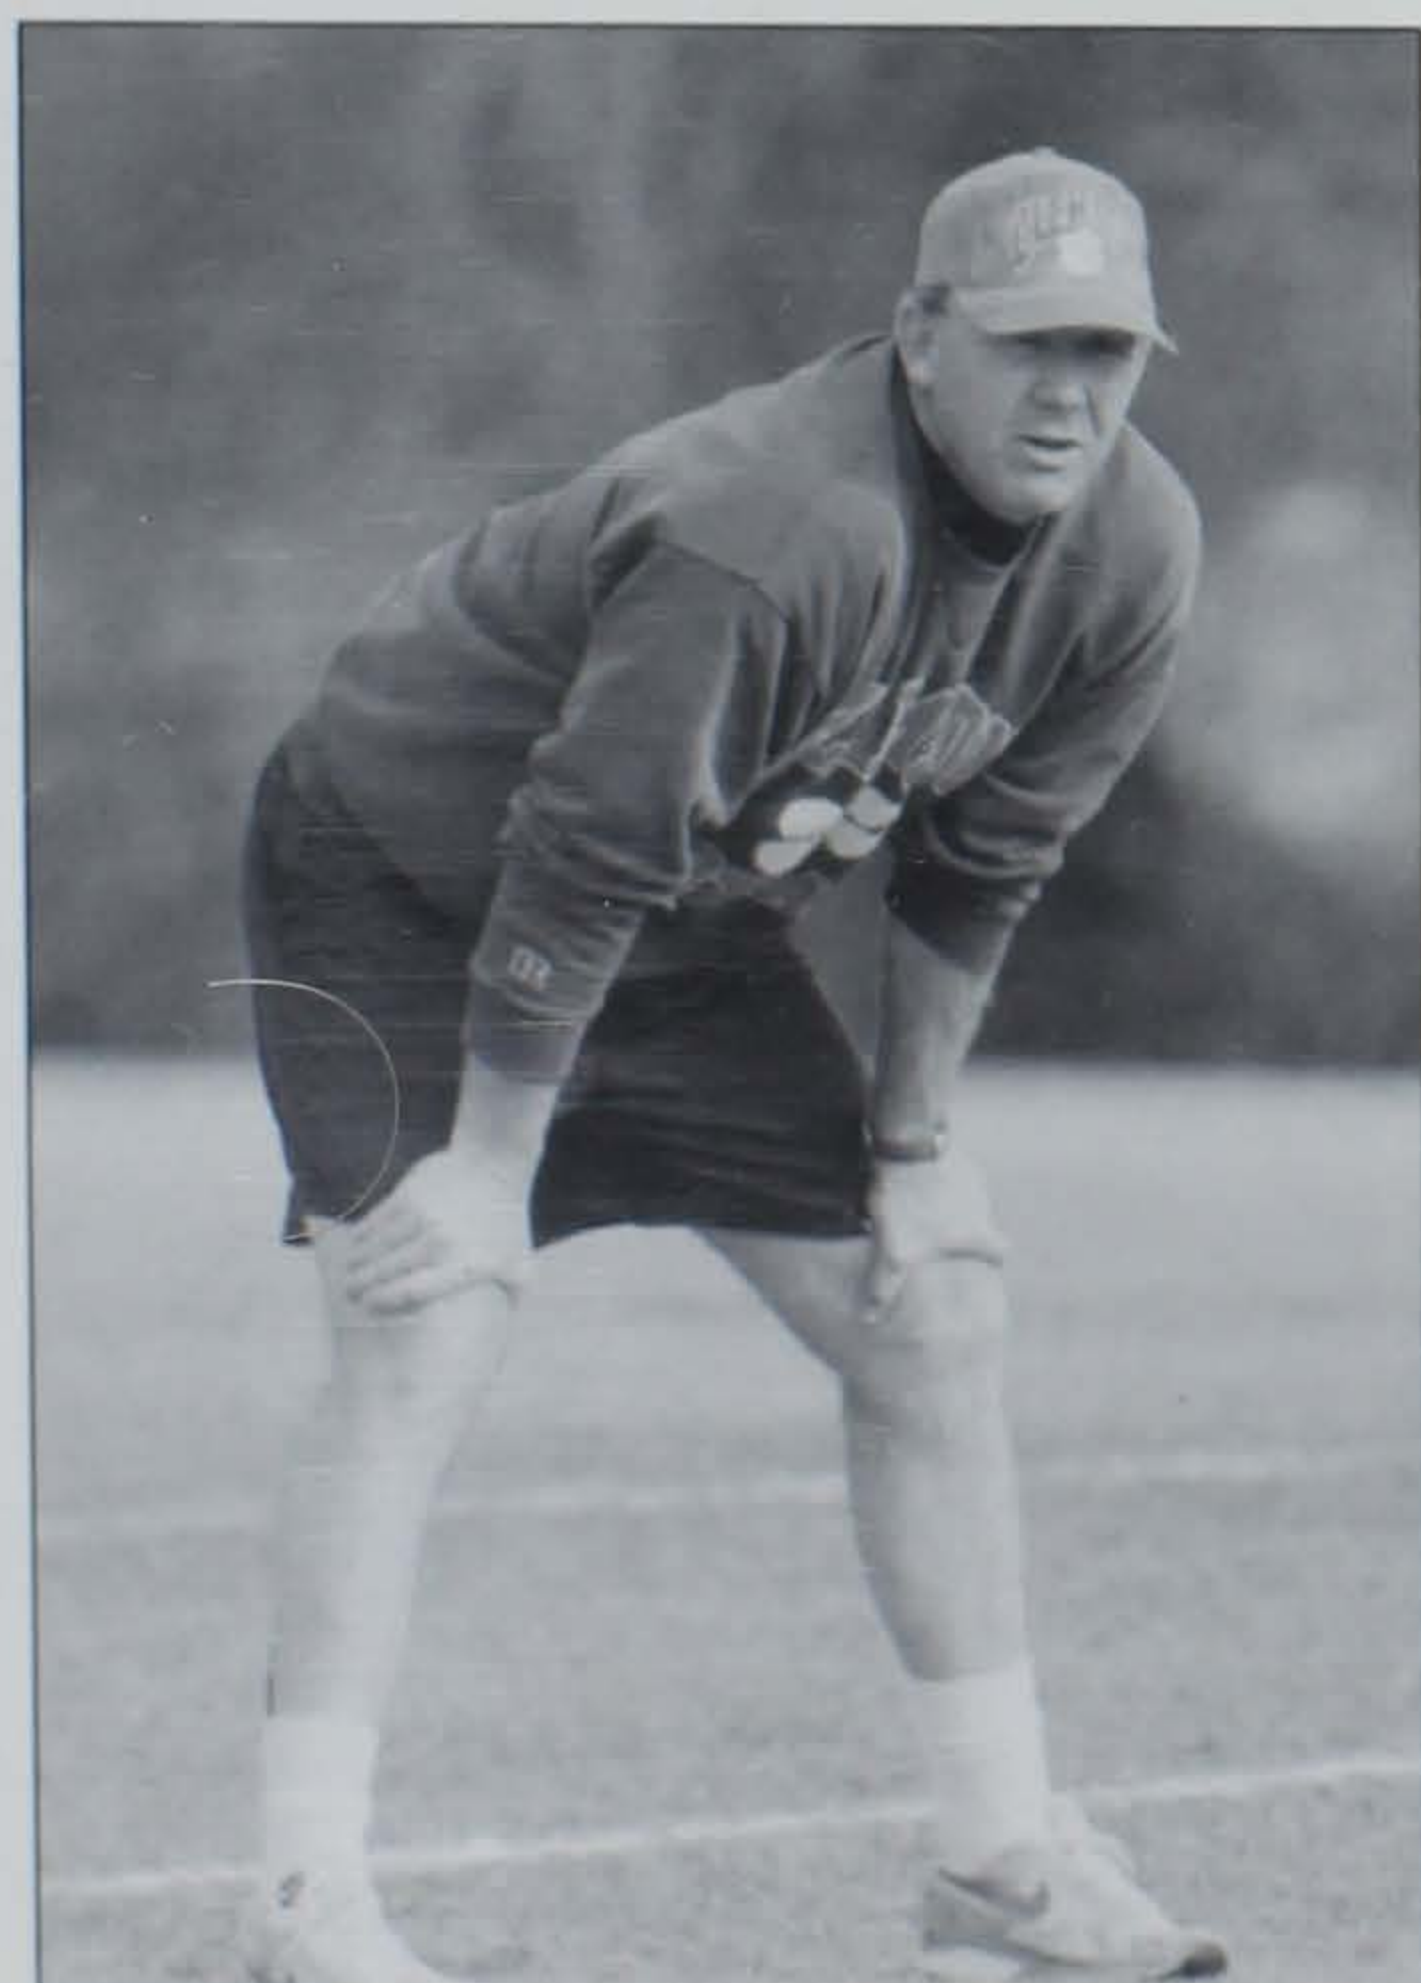

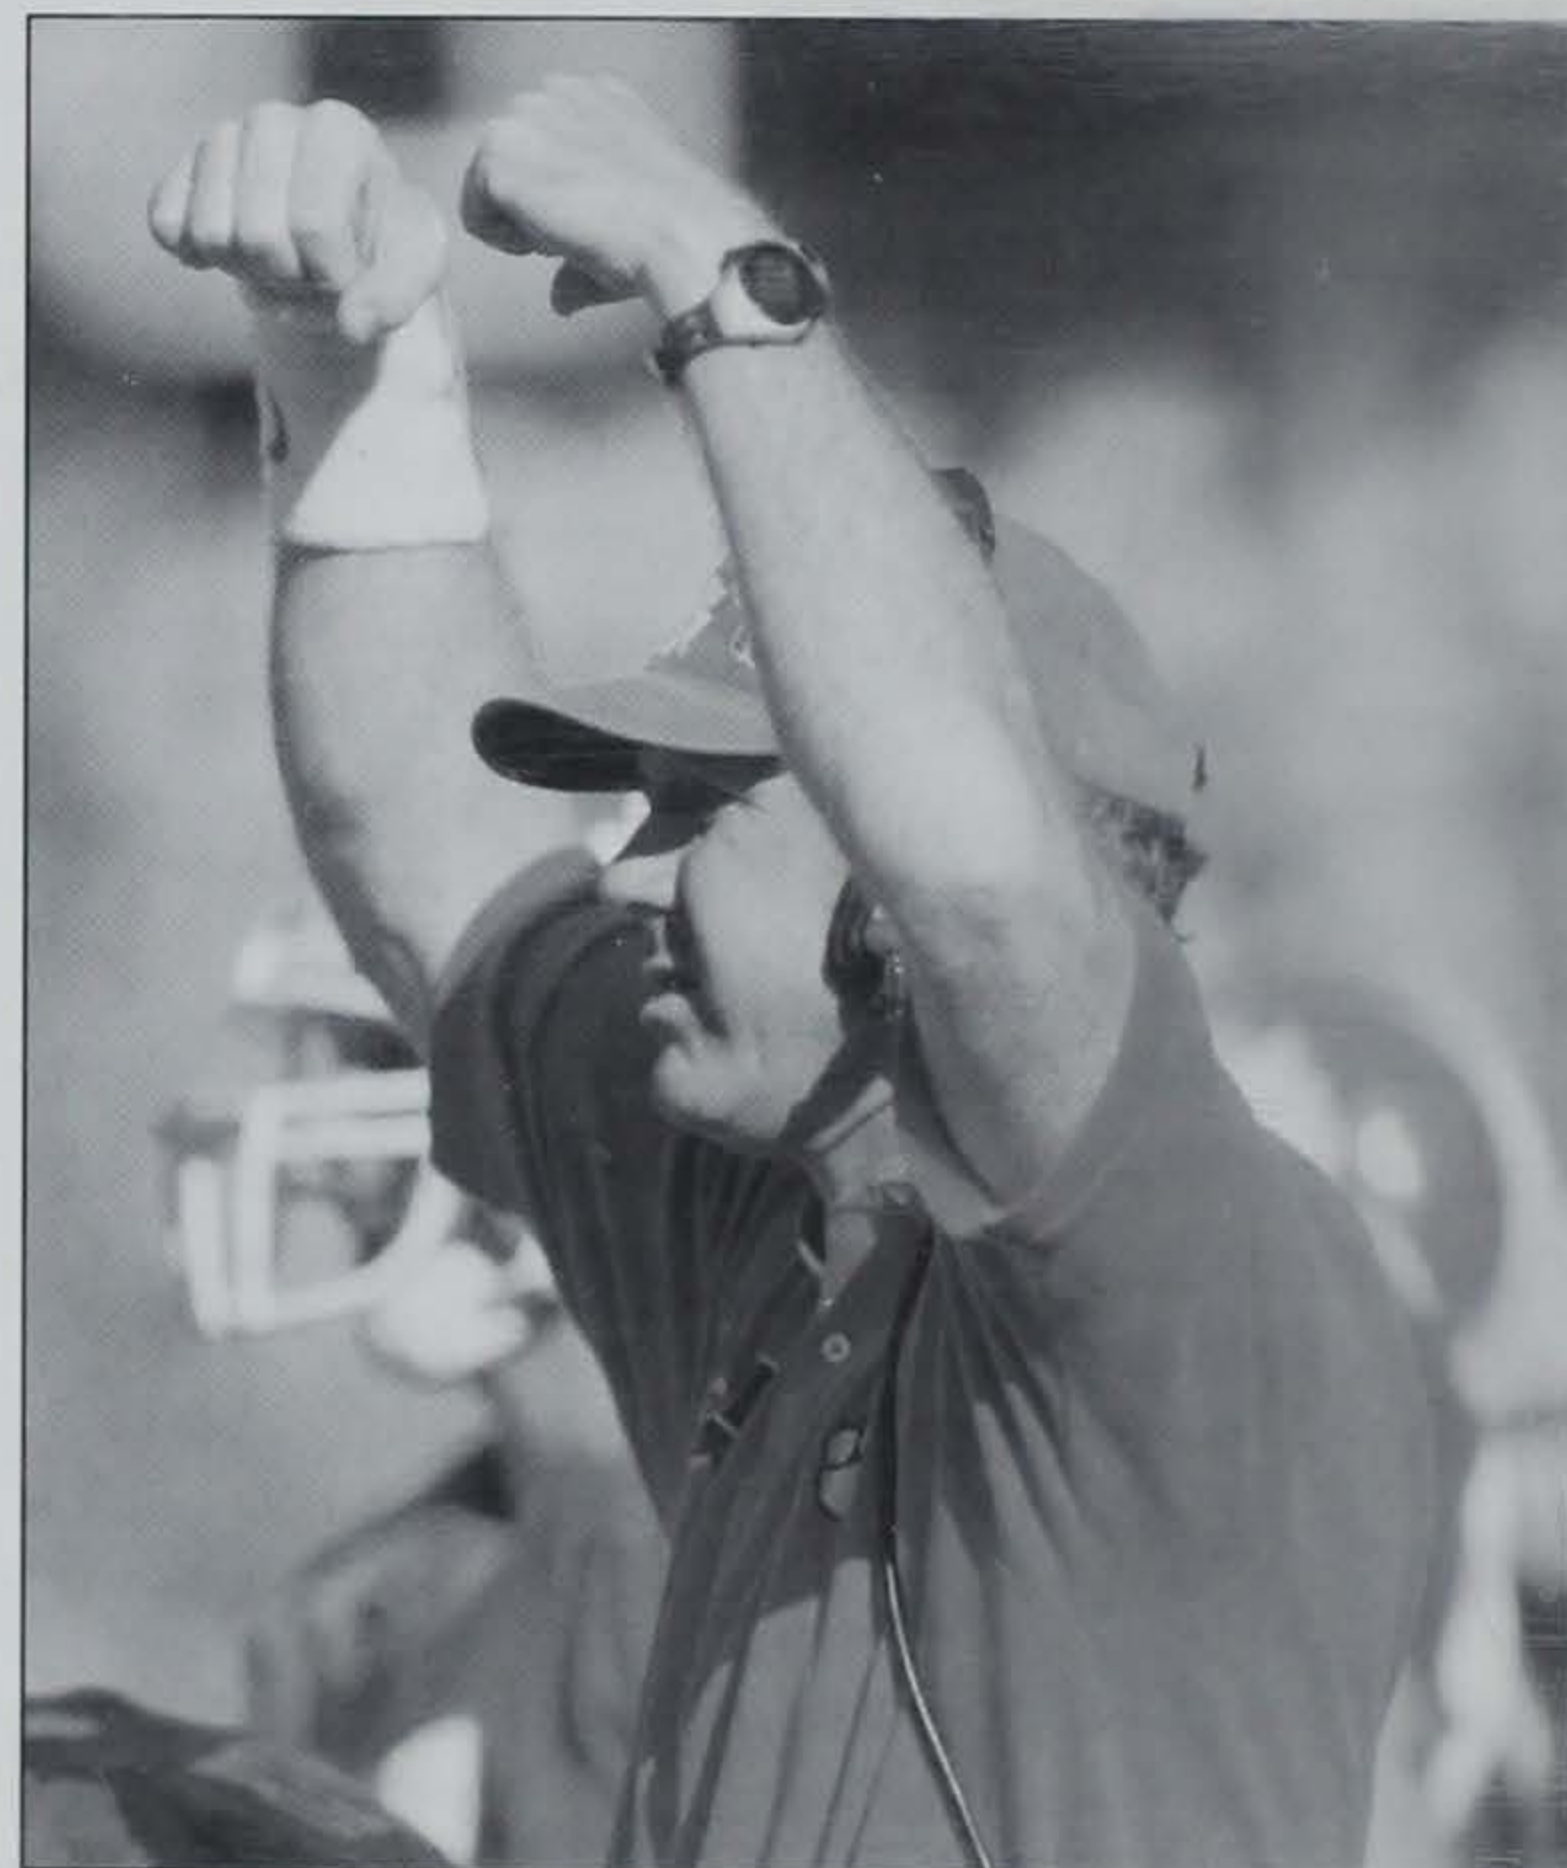

Rick's first coaching job was at Bethune-Cookman where he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach from 1983-84. In 1985, he moved to Central Florida to become the Assistant Head Coach and wide receivers coach. During his time at the Orlando, FL school he coached Shawn Jefferson, who played a decade with the New England Patriots.

seven bowl staffs including victories over West Virginia in the 1989 Gator Bowl, Illinois in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl, and Kentucky in the 1993 Peach Bowl.

In his first year (1989) as quarterbacks coach at Clemson, he helped lead Clemson to a single-season record for completion percentage (60%). In 1991, the offense led by DeChane Cameron, the all-time winningest quarterback in Clemson history in terms of percentage, led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense. He also co-coordinated the #6 offense in Clemson history in 1995.

Stockstill has recruited nine players who have been NFL draftees in the last five years. He recruited Floridians Patrick Sapp, Brian Dawkins, and Antwuan Wyatt. He also recruited Raymond Priester, Tony Horne, Rahim Abdullah, O.J. Childress, and Donald Broomfield to sign with the Tigers. In 1999, Stockstill recruited Willie Simmons, one of the nation's top quarterback recruits, to sign with Clemson. These players make it obvious why Stockstill is nationally known as one of the top recruiters in the country. Tommy Bowden is the fourth different Clemson head coach Stockstill has worked for, the only assistant in Clemson history who has served in a full-time coaching capacity under four different coaches.

Stockstill and wife Sara have one son, Brent, and one daughter, Emily.

After four years at Central Florida, Stockstill came to Tigertown in 1989, as the quarterbacks coach, a position he had for four years. In 1992, he was the passing game coordinator and in 1993, he was the co-offensive coordinator and the wide receivers coach.

As a player, Stockstill was a part of the 1977 Tangerine Bowl, 1980 Orange Bowl, and 1981 Orange Bowl with Florida State. He also participated in the 1982 East-West Shrine Bowl and the 1982 Japan Bowl All-Star games. As a coach, he has been on

RODNEY ALLISON

DEFENSIVE ENDS

Rodney Allison is in his first year at Clemson after serving on the Auburn football staff the last six years. The 43-year old will coach the defensive ends in '99.

This will be his first year coaching the defensive side of the ball after nearly 20 years with the offense.

At Auburn, Allison coached the Tiger running backs from 1993-98 under Terry Bowden. Prior to the 1996 Independence Bowl, Allison was named the team's offensive coordinator. He served in that capacity during the 1997 and part of the 1998 seasons.

In his first three seasons at Auburn, Allison coached three 1,000-yard rushers. In two of those seasons Auburn running backs led the SEC in rushing. James Bostic accomplished the feat in 1993, while Stephen Davis did it in 1994.

Auburn posted a 20-1-1 record in Allison's first two years with the program and won 46 games in the 1993-97 era. The 1993 team was a perfect 11-0 and ranked fourth in the final AP poll. Auburn ranked in the final top-25 of the AP poll four times between 1993-98.

Allison came to Auburn from Southern Mississippi where he worked in various roles throughout five years with the Golden Eagle program. He coached the running backs during the 1988-89 campaigns and the quarterbacks in 1990-92. Allison took on the role of offensive coordinator for Southern Miss in 1991.

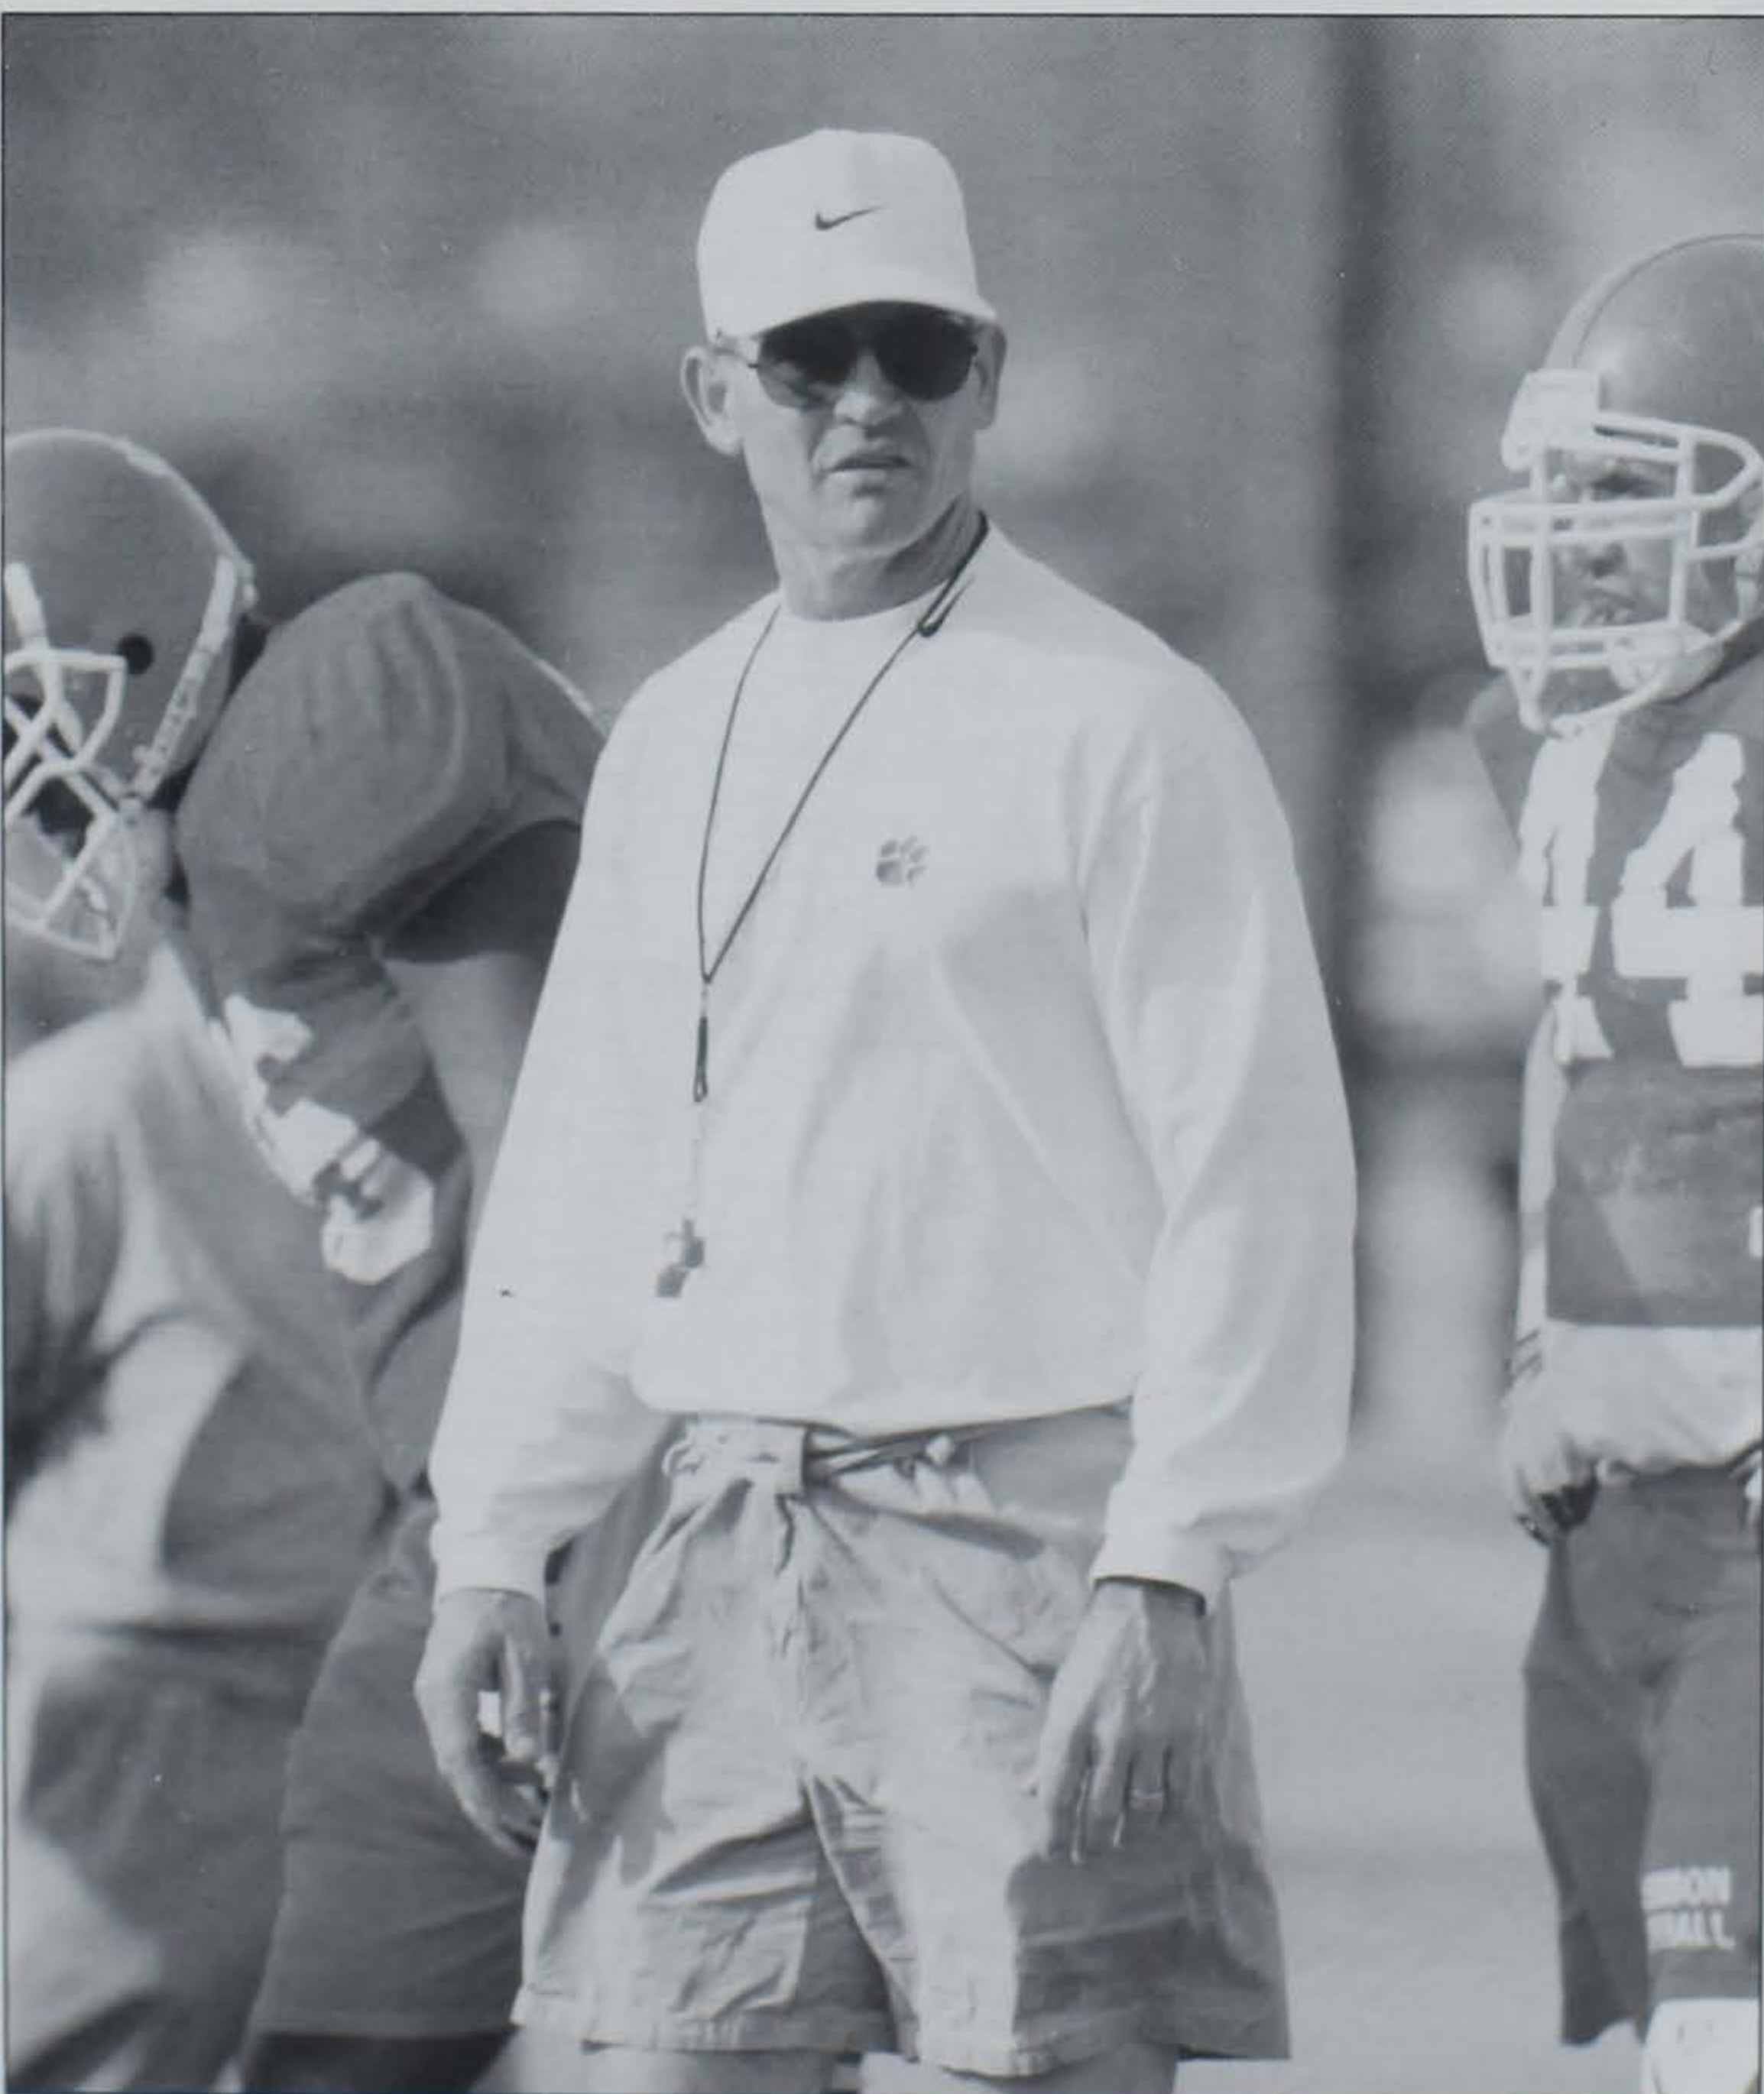

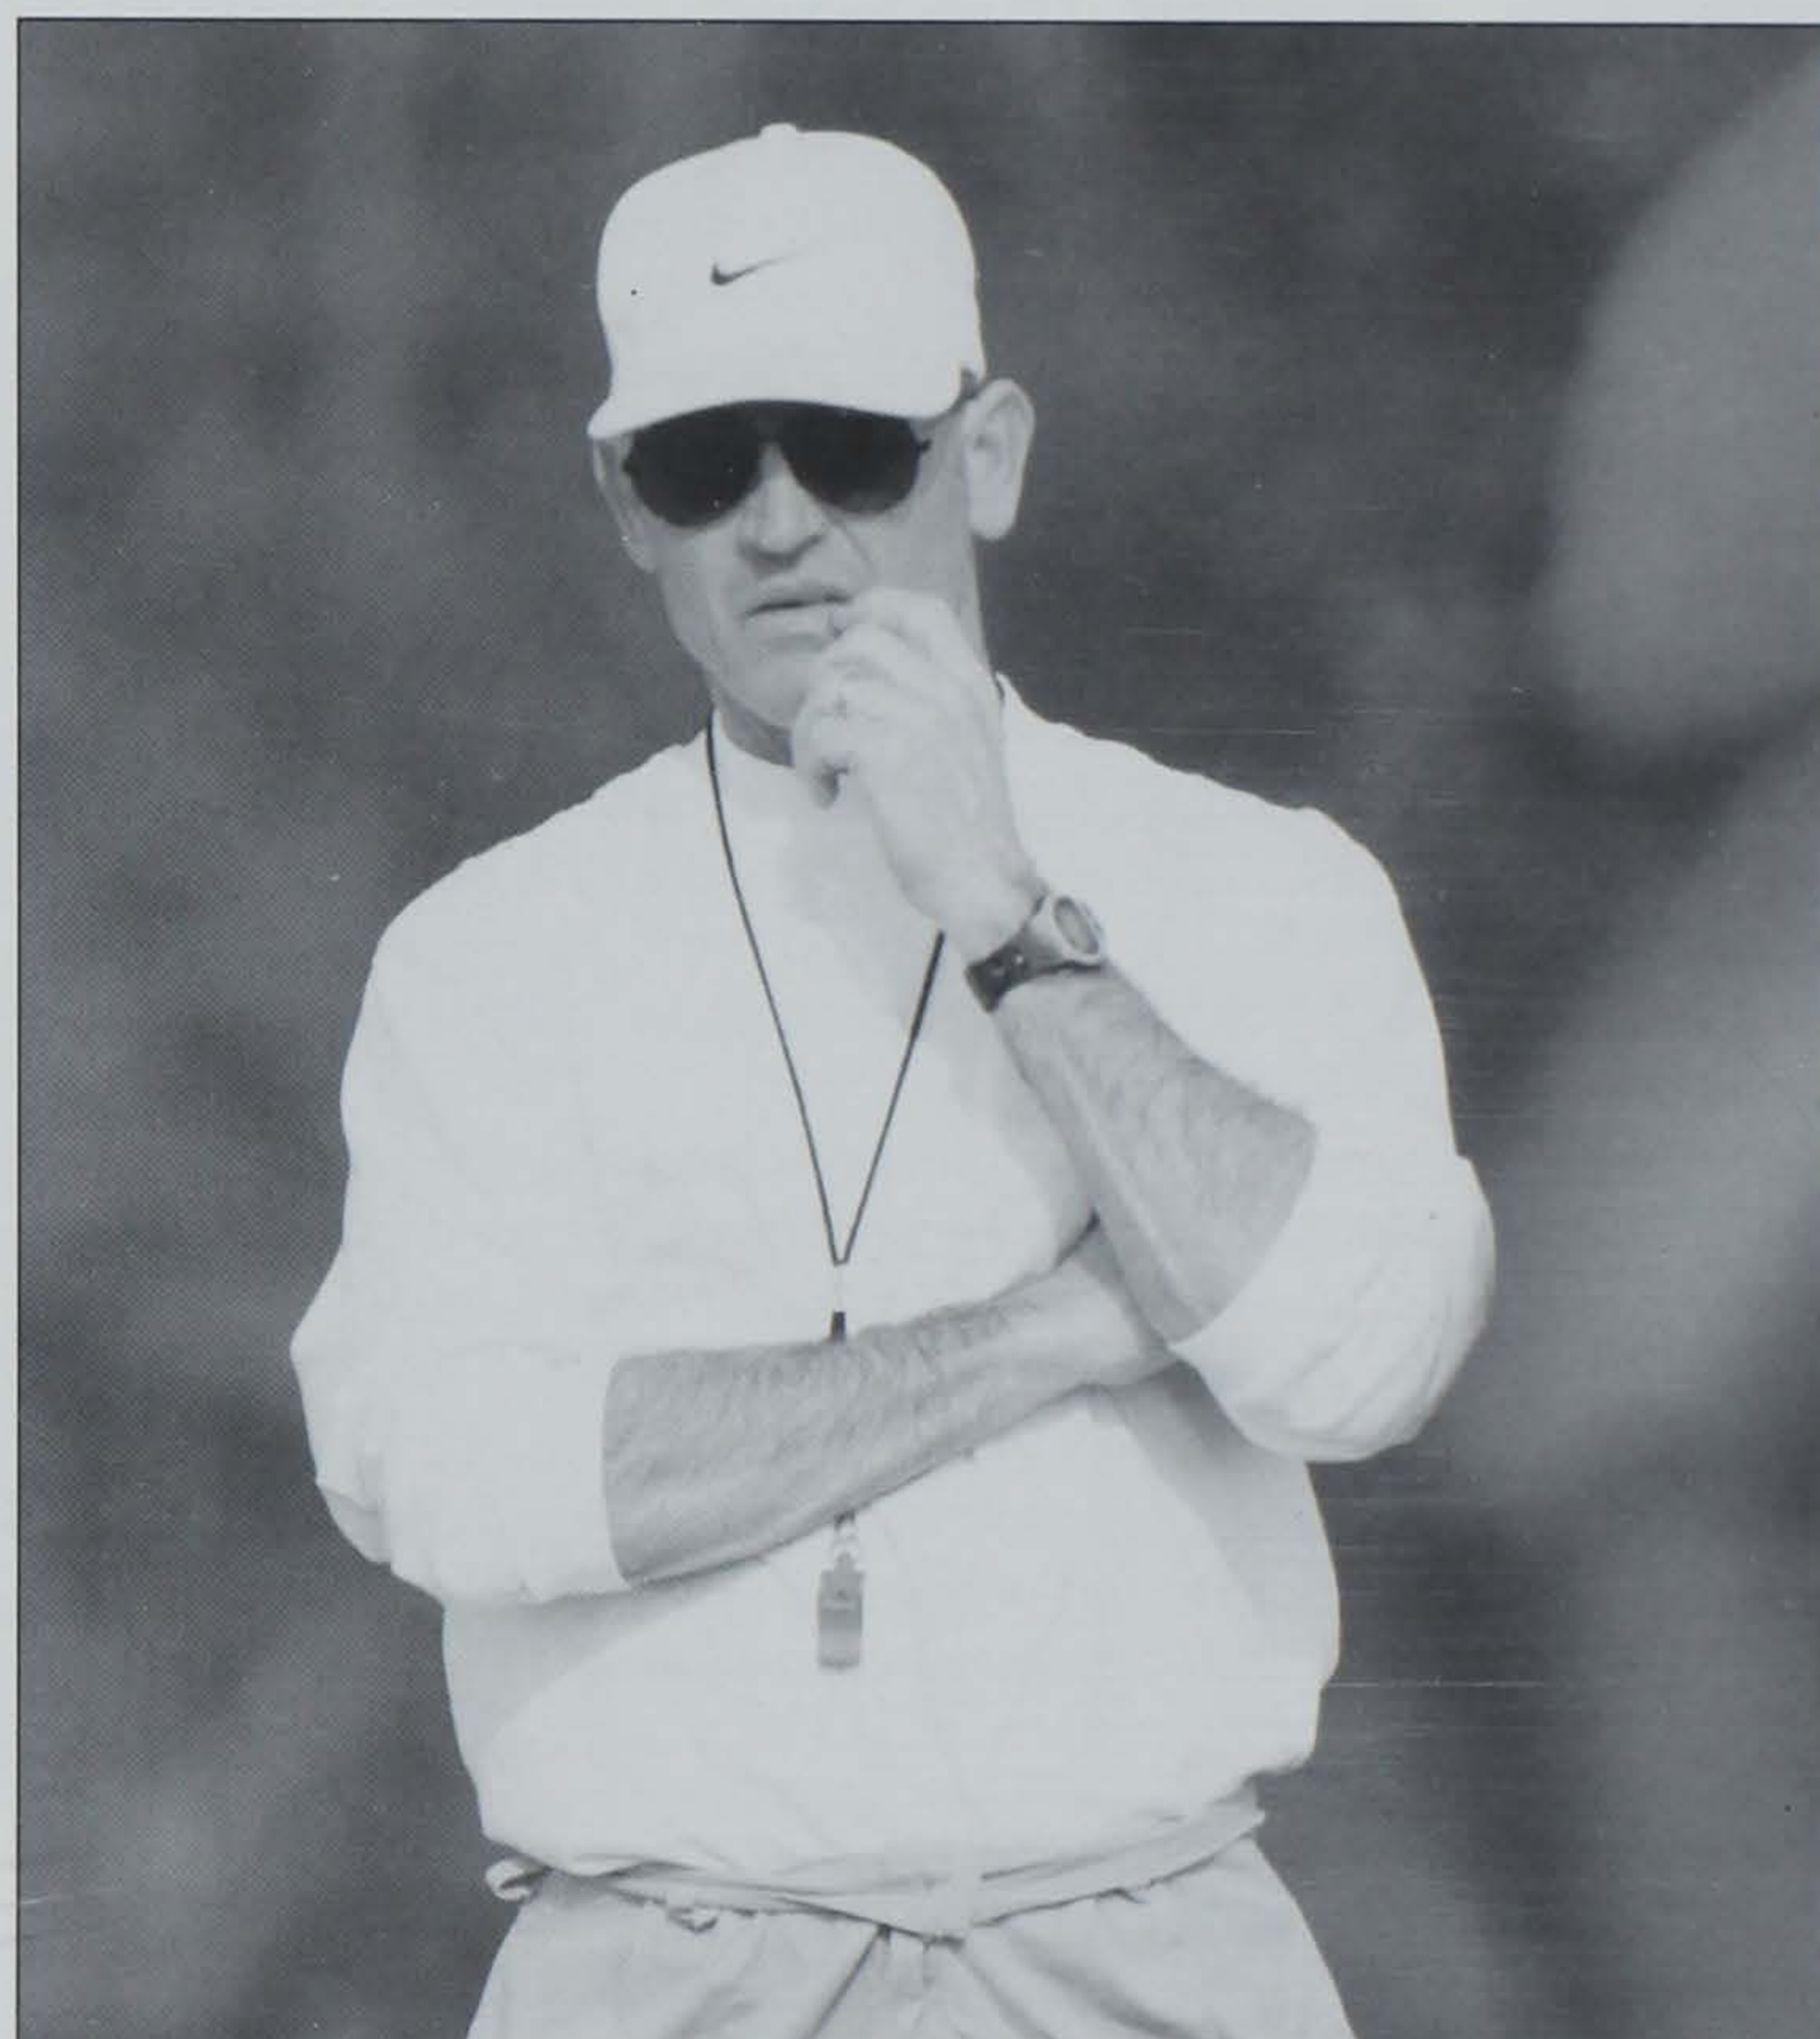

During his tenure at USM, Allison coached Brett Favre. Favre later went on to become the 1995 NFL MVP with the Green Bay Packers, including a Super Bowl Championship in 1996.

Allison's previous coaching experience came at Duke (1984-86) and Texas Tech (1979-83), his alma mater. At both schools he served as running backs coach. It was on Steve Sloan's staff at Duke that he worked with current Clemson coach Tommy Bowden.

Initially at Texas Tech, Allison was a graduate assistant coach in 1979 before being promoted to running backs coach in 1980.

As a quarterback for the Red Raiders, Allison enjoyed a successful career that included three bowl games. In 1977, Allison was nominated for the Heisman Trophy. After earning his degree in 1978, he played one year with the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL.

Allison is married to the former Leigh Harris and the couple has two children Sloan, (10) and Ashleigh Delle, (8).

RUNNING BACKS

Burton Burns has joined the Clemson coaching staff after four seasons with Tulane. The former Nebraska running back will coach the Clemson running backs in '99.

Burns spent the last two seasons directing a much improved Green Wave running attack. In 1997, Tulane averaged 182.9 yards per game rushing. During the 1998 regular season, the Green Wave's ground attack improved to 202.4 yards per game to rank 23rd nationally.

Burns was one of the coaches responsible for Tulane's incredible turnaround in 1997-98. The Green Wave was 18-4 in those two seasons, including 12-0 and a #7 final ranking in 1998. The balanced offense and rushing game had a lot to do with Tulane's scoring average of over 45 points a game, second best in the nation. Two of Burns' backs gained over 500 yards in the magical season.

Burns joined the Tulane staff on Dec. 9, 1994 after nine seasons as assistant head coach and offensive coordinator at St. Augustine High school. He helped his high school alma mater to district titles in 1987, 1992 and 1993. Burns also coached at the school from 1977-79 during which the Purple Knights won three district titles and back-to-back Class AAAA state championships in 1978 and 1979 under head coach Otis Washington.

In 1980, Burns was an assistant coach on a district championship team at Booker T. Washington High School. Following that year he would again work under Otis Washington at Southern University. During his five-year stint at Southern, the Jaguars finished in the top two of the Southwestern Athletic Conference on three occasions.

Burns played fullback for two seasons at Nebraska and graduated from the school with a B.S. in education in 1976.

Burns played on three Cornhusker teams that won at least nine games. He played in the Orange, Cotton, and Sugar Bowls during his career under Hall of Fame coach Tom Osborne.

At Tulane, Burns coached Jerald Sowell, who played for the New York Jets. He also coached Sean Jackson, Tyrone Hughes, David White, and Louis Age at Saint Augustine High School. All four of those players went on to the NFL.

Burns is married to the former Connie Winder and has four children, Amber (25), Christy (22), Damon (17) and Erin (15).

DEFENSIVE BACKS

Jack Hines is in his first year with the Clemson program after serving on the staff at Auburn the last six seasons. The 49-year old will be responsible for the defensive backs at Clemson in '99.

Hines tenure at Auburn began in 1993 when he coached the Tiger defensive backs. His coaching contributed to Auburn's perfect 11-0 season and number-four final ranking in the Associated Press poll. In 1994, the Auburn secondary intercepted 22 passes, the fourth highest total in school history. Auburn returned eight interceptions for touchdowns during his first two seasons as secondary coach. In an exciting 30-26 win over LSU in 1994, Auburn picked off five fourth quarter passes and returned three for touchdowns. The last three seasons, Hines was responsible for Auburn's inside linebackers. Hines coached for six years at Auburn under Terry Bowden and served on the Tiger staff with current Clemson assistant Rodney Allison.

Before coming to Auburn, Hines spent six seasons at Samford where he had various titles. In his first year in 1987, he served as the school's recruiting coordinator. During the 1988-92 seasons, Hines was Samford's defensive coordinator as well as defensive backs coach.

Hines began his college coaching career in 1980 as a volunteer assistant at West Virginia. Before joining the Mountaineer staff, Hines had been an assistant coach at Morgantown High School for six seasons. After a two-year stay at West Virginia, Hines was a graduate assistant at Florida State for two years (1985-86).

As a player, Hines was a member of Bobby Bowden's first team at West Virginia as a defensive back in 1970. He played for three seasons and was a member of the Mountaineers 1972 Peach Bowl team.

As a graduate assistant coach at Florida State in 1986, Hines coached NFL star Deion Sanders. While at Auburn, Hines coached future Arizona Cardinal Dell McGee, consensus first-team All-American Brian Robinson, and 1995 Co-SEC Freshman Defensive Player-of-the-Year Martavious Houston. Hines also coached current Cincinnati Bengal and former All-American Takeo Spikes.

Hines is married to the former Robyn Bowden and the couple has two children: Robert, 15 and Jacquelyn, 9.

DEFENSIVE LINE

Thielen Smith is in his first year on the Clemson staff, but his third under Tommy Bowden. He was the coach of the Green Wave's interior defensive line for the past four seasons. He will be responsible for the defensive tackles at Clemson in 1999.

Thielen (pronounced "THIGH-lihn") Smith worked 10 years at Tulane during two different stints. The first stint came during the 1985-90 seasons. He coached linebackers and the defensive line and helped the Green Wave reach the 1987 Independence Bowl. His second stay at the New Orleans school lasted four seasons (1995-98).

Smith saw the resurgence of the Tulane program from close range. In his final two years the Green Wave posted an 18-4 record, including 12-0 in 1998. Tulane was fifth in the nation in turnover margin in both 1997 and 1998 and Smith's defensive line had a lot to do with that. In 1997, the Tulane defense forced 34 turnovers, third most in the nation.

The 45-year old came to Tulane in 1985 after six seasons at Southwestern Louisiana. USL is where Smith began his college coaching career in 1979. During his six years at the school, Smith was responsible for the defensive line.

Between his two stints at Tulane, Smith had stops at his alma mater of LSU and Northeast Louisiana for two seasons each. At LSU, he coached inside linebackers in 1991-92. He was the defensive line coach at Northeast Louisiana during the 1993-94 seasons.

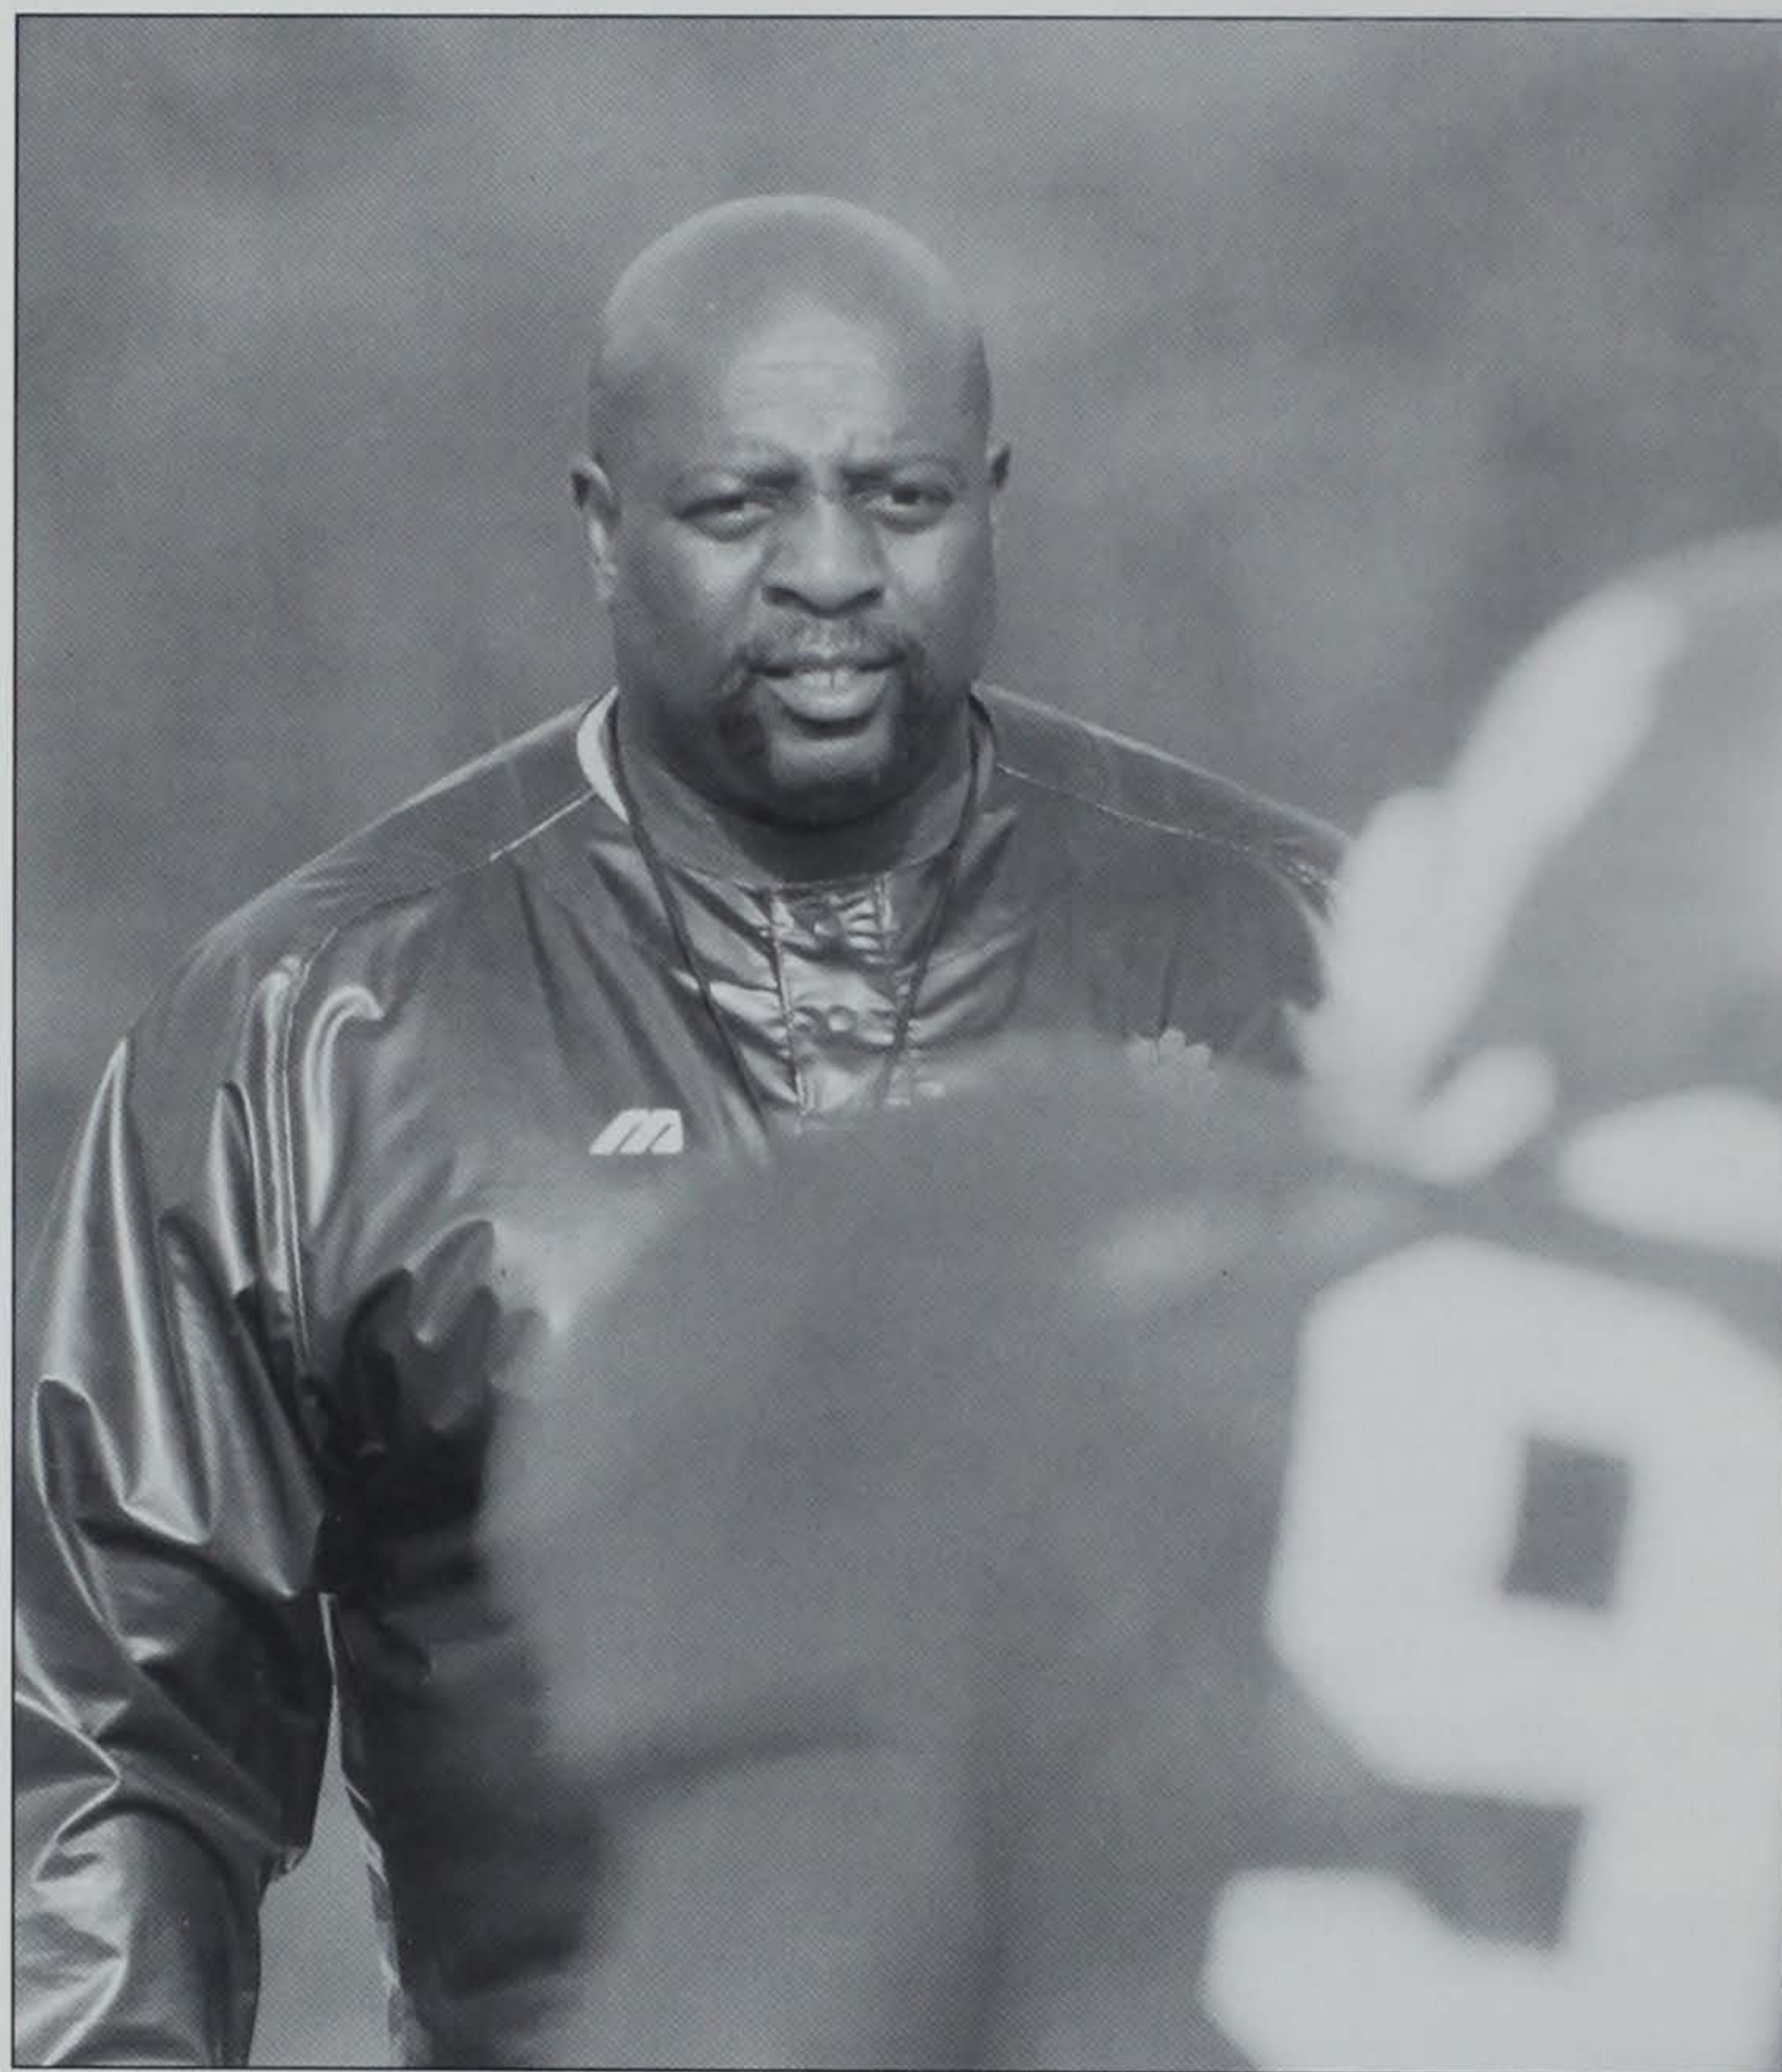

Smith began coaching high school in 1977 at Warren Easton High School, where he coached for two years.

At Tulane, Smith coached NFL player Joe Caravello, who earned a Super Bowl Ring with the Washington Redskins. He also recruited NFLers Richard Harvey and Lonnie Marts while at Tulane. In his second stint with the Green Wave, Smith recruited Atlanta Falcon Ruffin Hamilton and coached San Francisco 49er Dennis O'Sullivan. While at Northeast Louisiana, he coached Oakland Raider James Folston, Atlanta Falcon Tommy Fagan, and Indianapolis Colt Shawn King.

Smith played linebacker at LSU and graduated with a bachelor's degree in education from the school in 1977. During his senior season, he had a career-best 62 tackles, including four for losses. He played on two bowl teams at LSU, including a 1973 team that played in the Orange Bowl.

Smith is married to the former Gail Scott and the couple has six children: Toyah (21), Keisha (17), Terrance (16), Temetria (11), Vincent (10), and Shaun (10).

RON WEST

OFFENSIVE LINE

Ron West has returned to his alma mater for the first time during his career in coaching. West was a member of two Gator Bowl teams for the Tigers as a reserve offensive lineman in 1977 and 1978. The 42-year old will be responsible for the offensive line at Clemson in '99.

As a Clemson player, West saw action in over 200 plays as a reserve for both the right and left tackle spots in 1978. He transferred to Clemson from Marion Institute where he was a junior college All-American.

Clemson finished the 1978 season with an 11-1 record and ranked sixth in the final AP Poll. West started two games that year, but spent most of his time in 1977 and 1978 as a backup to Steve Kenney, who later went on to an eight-year NFL career. Clemson was 19-4-1 in the two years West played with the Tigers.

When West first left Clemson, he became a graduate assistant coach at Livingston University. He first met current Clemson coach Tommy Bowden shortly thereafter during a four-month stint under Pat Dye at East Carolina between the 1979-80 seasons.

In 1980, West joined the staff at Texas Tech as an offensive line and special teams coach. He served the Red Raider program in that capacity for four years before switching to the defensive side of the ball in 1985 as the linebacker coach.

West's next stop was Southwestern Louisiana. He spent seven seasons with the Rajin' Cajuns as defensive coordinator and inside linebackers coach. In his final season there, West was the assistant head coach.

At USL, West's defenses ranked among the nation's top 20 in total defense three times. Under West, the defense was ranked nationally in at least one defensive category for six consecutive seasons.

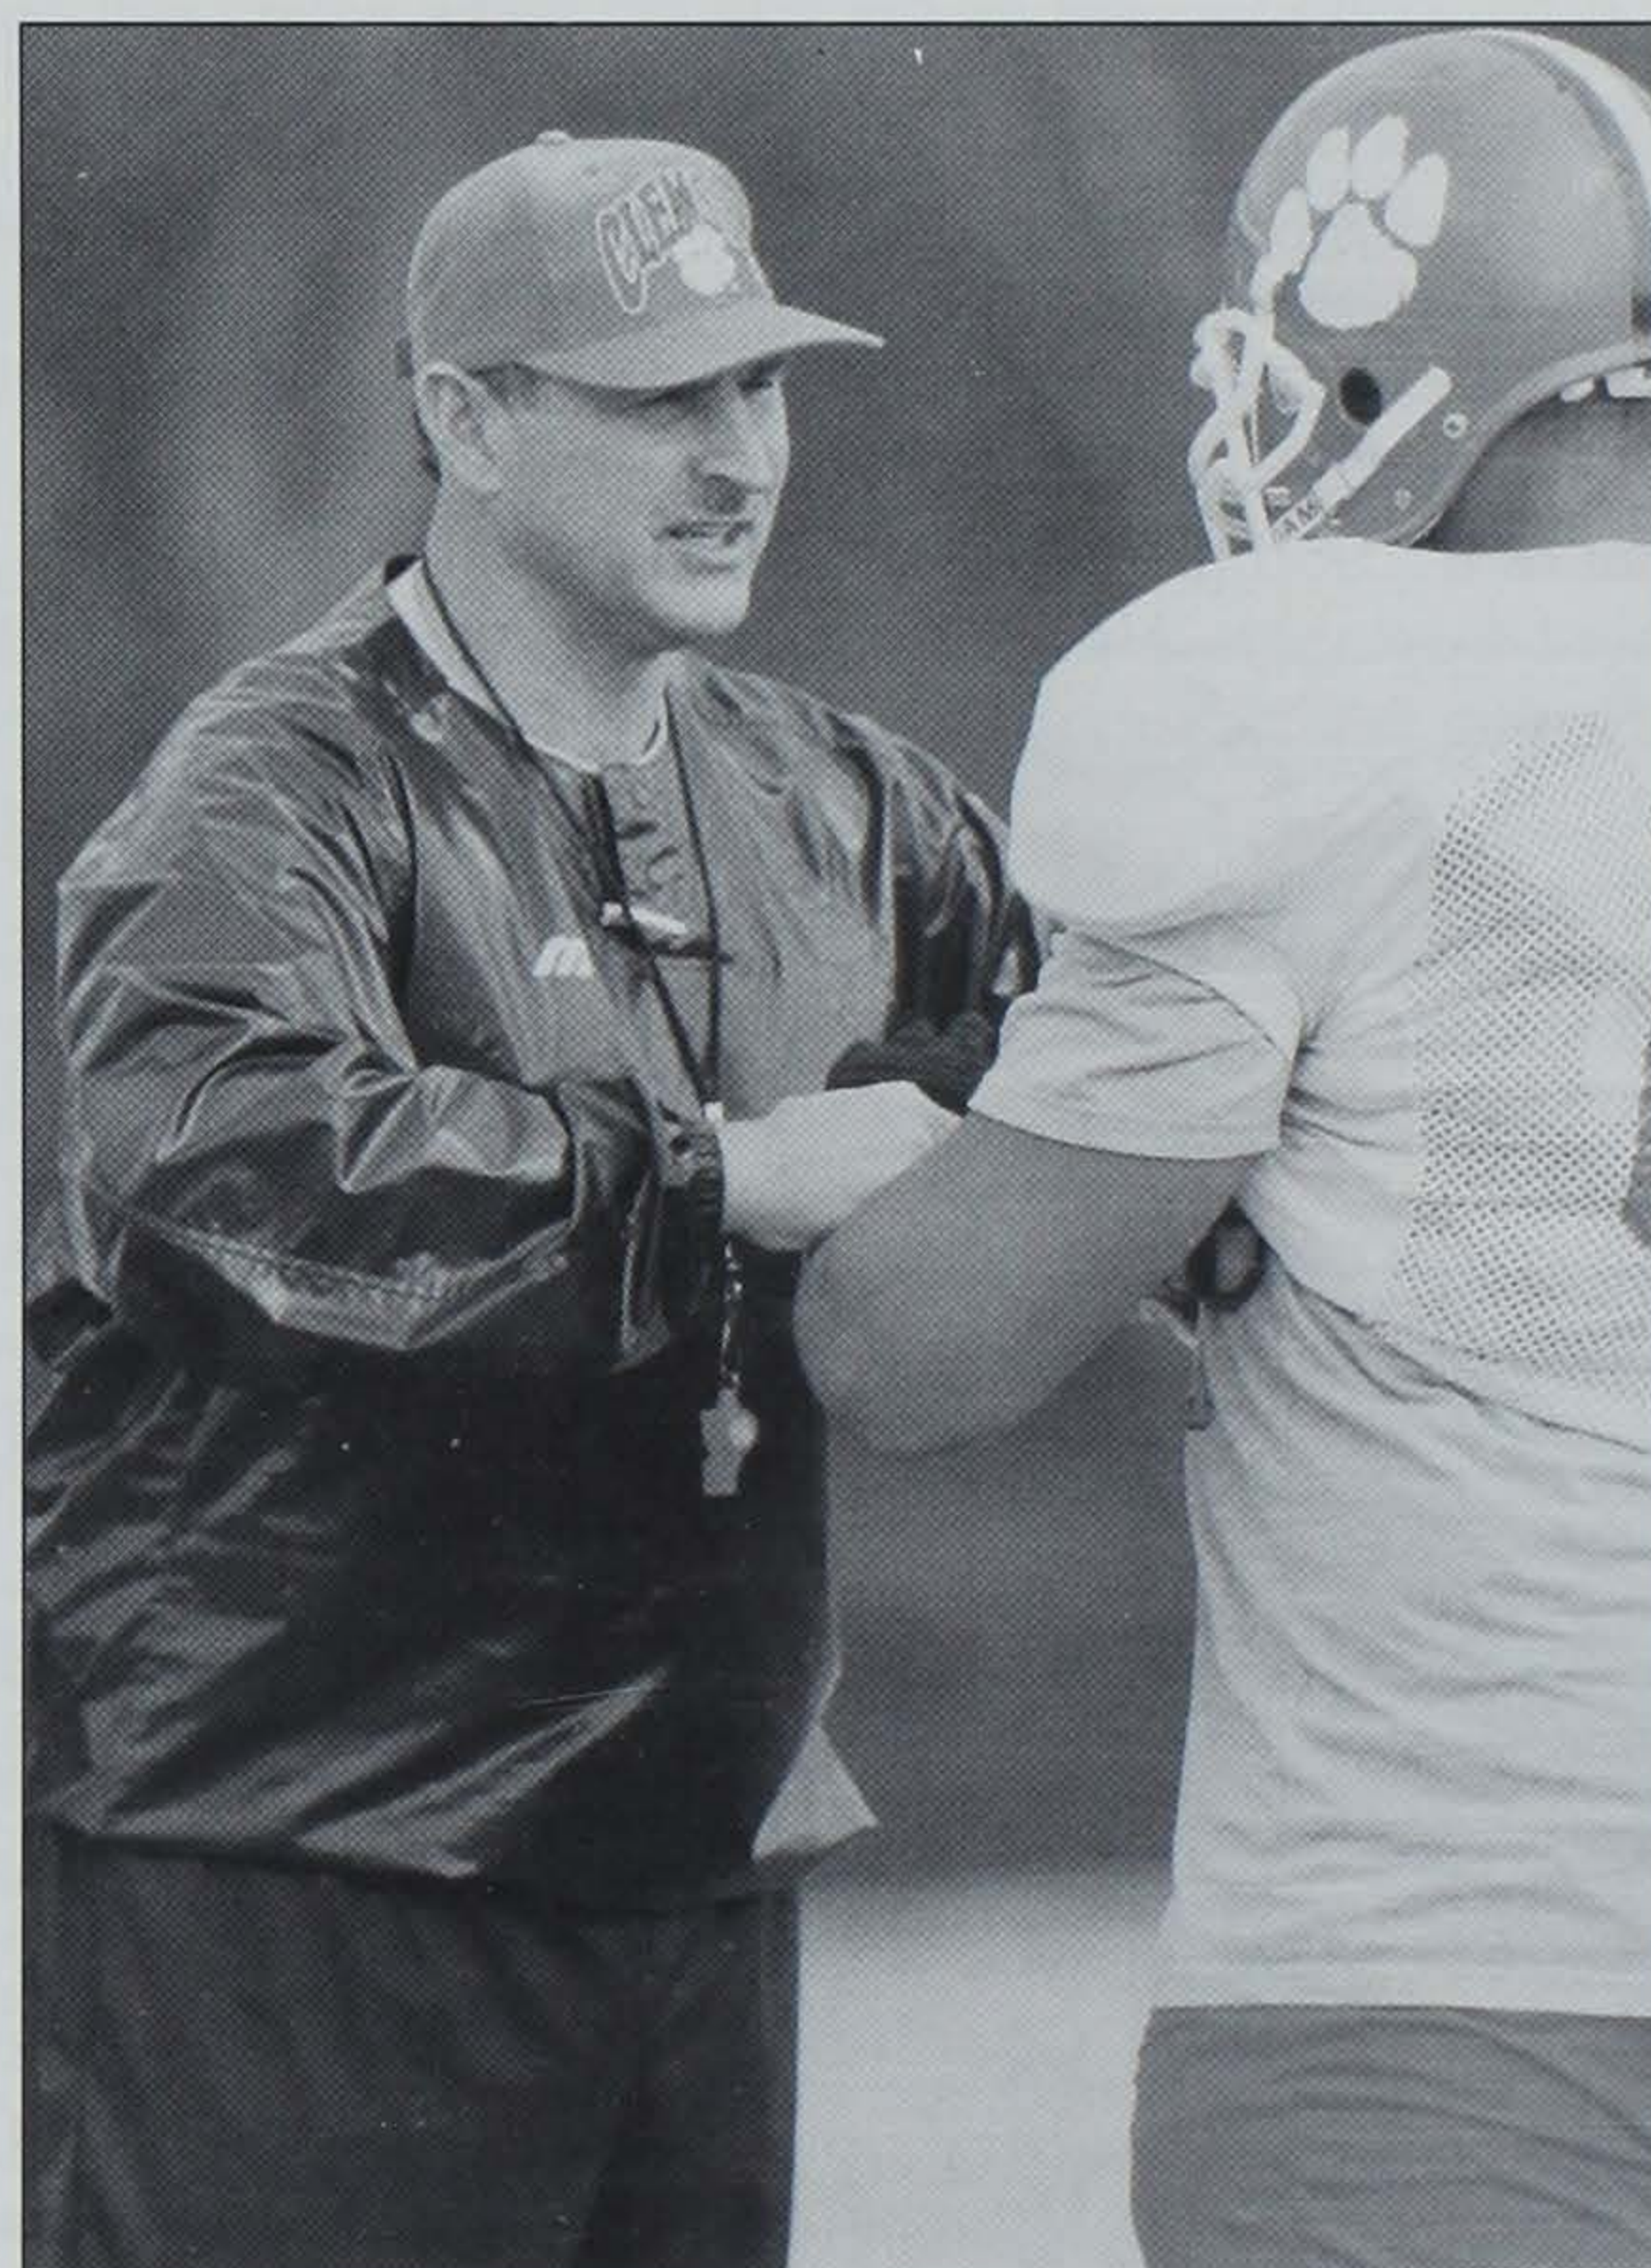

After leaving USL, West joined the staff at Baylor as offensive line coach. There, he was a part of the Baylor team that won the 1994 Southwestern Conference championship. That season, the Baylor offensive line helped set the school record for points and touchdowns in a season. During the 1994 and 1995 seasons, the Bears averaged more than 210 rushing yards per game. In his final season, he served as running game coordinator.

West joined the Tulane staff in 1997. His influence on the offensive line was felt immediately. Under the guidance of West, the offensive line helped the unit produce almost 4,700 yards of total offense and a school record 375 points. The offensive line gave up just 11 sacks for the year.

In 1998 on the way to an 11-0 record, the offensive line helped Tulane become the only school in the nation to average over 300 yards passing and 200 yards rushing during the regular season. The team was ranked among the nation's top 25 in both categories throughout the season.

West is married to the former Becky Horne. The couple has two children: Brad, 16 and Lori, 12.

Donald Hymel is in his first season as the Assistant Athletic Director for Football Relations.

Hymel's main responsibility as Assistant AD for Football Relations is working with the day-to-day management of the Clemson football program. Some main emphasis areas include working with Pro Scouts, overseeing the walk-on program, handling coaches clinics and summer camps, insuring the proper exchange of videos between teams, and handling official and unofficial campus visits by recruits.

Hymel comes to Clemson after a three-year stint as the assistant equipment manager at Tulane. Last season, Hymel served as an administrative assistant with the Green Wave program in addition to his duties of assistant equipment manager.

While at Tulane, Hymel also assisted the football program in conducting such activities as the annual coaches' clinic, alumni golf tournament, summer camp, and kickoff cruise.

Hymel, 36, was the head football equipment manager at Nicholls State before accepting his position at Tulane.

Hymel is familiar with the ACC as he worked as a student assistant in North Carolina's recruiting office.

Hymel is a 1988 graduate of LSU where he served as a student equipment manager. He also has done postgraduate studies at the United States Sports Academy in Mobile, AL.

Andy Johnston

Asst. AD for Football Management

Andy Johnston is in his third year as the Assistant Athletic Director for Football Management. His responsibilities with the Tiger football team include: managing the day-to-day operations of the Clemson football program.

Although this is Johnston's third year with the football program, he has been involved with the Clemson Athletic Department for over 20 years. Between 1983-97, he was the most successful women's tennis coach in Clemson history.

In those 15 years, Johnston guided his squads to five consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference Championships (1983-87), 12 top-25 finishes, and six NCAA Tournaments. Johnston was named ACC Coach-of-the-Year for the fourth time and Southeast Region Coach-of-the-Year for the second time in 1993.

Johnston had a record of 254-160 at Clemson and had a career mark of 263-167. He was the coach at Furman in 1982 before coming to Clemson. His best season at Clemson was his rookie year when the Lady Tigers had a 30-5 record and finished seventh in the final national ranking. That team won all nine flights of the ACC Tournament, the only tennis team in Clemson history to do that.

Johnston played for Clemson's men's tennis team from 1975 until 1979 when he earned his degree in administrative management. He then served as the assistant men's tennis coach for the 1980 season before moving onto Furman.

Johnston, 41 and a native of Summerville, SC, is married to the former Peggy Haas of Mascoutah, Illinois. They have two daughters, Caylynn (12) and Kiera (9).

George Bennett

Executive Director

George Bennett begins his seventh year the second time around as Executive Director of IPTAY. Bennett returned to Clemson February 14, 1993 after holding positions at Vanderbilt University, Furman University and Baptist Hospital in Nashville, TN. Under his direction the highly successful endowment program and the Tiger Cub program were started. IPTAY '99 closed with a record number of donors (21,200) and total pledge contributions of $9.5 million.

Bennett, a 1955 Clemson graduate, entered as a freshman in 1951. He quickly got involved in campus life by being named president of his freshman class and holding other class offices throughout his career. Bennett was President of Blue Key, The CDA, and held offices in Alpha Phi Omega and Tiger Brotherhood. He still enjoys his association with Tiger Brotherhood. He was a varsity Cheerleader for three years and the Head Cheerleader his senior year, 1954. He persuaded his father to buy a small cannon that would be fired after the Tigers scored a touchdown. That tradition is still carried on today.

In 1955, after graduation, Bennett served two years in the army at Ft. Knox, KY where he was Commander of the Honor Guard. In 1957 he started a nine year sales career with ESSO in the Southeast. He returned to Clemson in 1967 as the first Alumni Field Representative. He moved to the athletic department as Assistant Athletic Director for Business and was later named Executive Secretary of IPTAY in 1977. Under his leadership, annual contributions to IPTAY doubled to more than 2.3 million and memberships increased from 9,800 to 15,000.

In 1979, Bennett was named Associate Athletic Director for Financial Development at Vanderbilt University. In 1986, he became Athletic Director at Furman University. In 1989 he was named Vice-President for Development at Baptist Hospital in Nashville, TN. In 1984, Bennett was named the National Athletic Fundraiser of the Year at the National Conference of Athletic Fundraisers in Las Vegas.

His civic duties include serving as President of the Clemson Chamber of Commerce, President of the Sertoma Club, and serving on the Board of Governors of the Nashville Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife, Nancy, served as co-chairs on two United Way Campaign Cabinets in Nashville.

Bennett has been honored by Clemson as a member of the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame, and in 1986 he received the Alumni Association Distinguished Service Award. In 1999, Thurmon and Diane McLamb endowed the position of Executive Director of IPTAY in honor of George Bennett.

A native of Columbia, SC, he and his wife, Nancy, (who has a Master's degree from Clemson and was elected to City Council in Clemson in 1996) have been married for 39 years. They enjoy activities with their two children, their spouses and grandchildren, Jeff & Jodi Bennett and Bonnie & David Dixon, in addition to attending Clemson events. Their grandchildren are Sustaining Tiger Cubs, Megan 12, Bennett 8, Brooks 6, Augusta 5, and Austin 2.

Bert Henderson

Associate Executive Director

Bert Henderson's Clemson career began in 1978, as a trainer under Fred Hoover and it was appropriate that Henderson head the ceremonies honoring Hoover at his 40th year of service and retirement from Clemson.

He served as basketball trainer for Bill Foster's basketball team from 1982-84 and his duties included handling all travel arrangements and administrative duties for the team.

In April of 1985, he rejoined the Athletic Department as IPTAY's first Associate Executive Secretary after serving in the Alumni office working with Clemson Clubs and coordinating away game headquarters.

Henderson's duties in IPTAY have been varied. He provides leadership in the areas of Life Memberships, Planned Giving, coordinates the Orange & White, has served as advisor for the IPTAY Student Advisory Board (ISAB), the IPTAY Collegiate Club, oversees the Tiger Cub program, as well as administrative duties.

Active in civil and church activities, Henderson serves as a Deacon in his church and is an active member of the Tiger Brotherhood. He was honored this past year by Dean and Ann Coleman when they endowed a trainer's position in his name.

Henderson is a 1978 graduate of Mars Hill College with a Master's degree from Clemson. He is married to Lee Ann Hudson and they have two daughters, Amy Lee (9/23/86) and Kimberly Ann (6/13/89).

Bob Mahony

Associate Executive Director

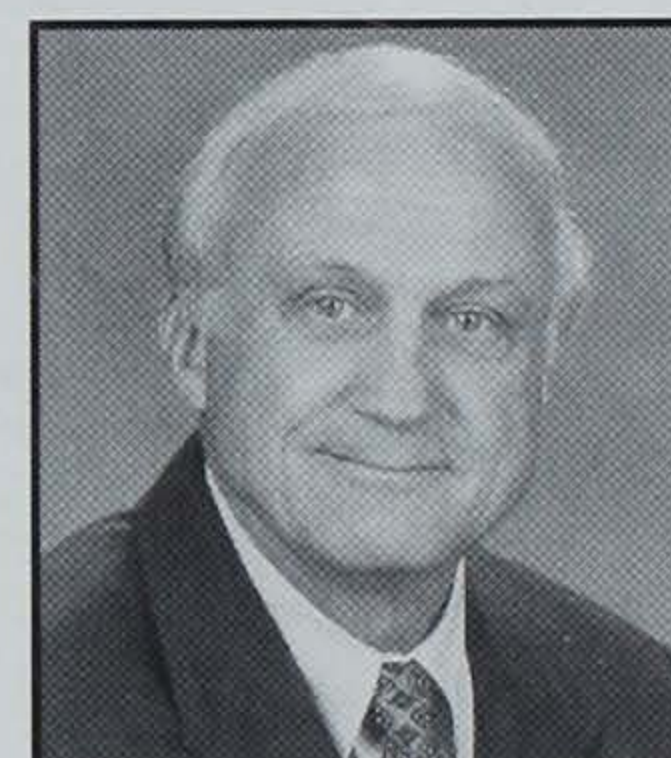

Bob Mahony has been with IPTAY as an Associate Executive Director since February of 1989. A 1976 graduate of Clemson with a BS degree in building Construction, he began his business career in Columbia with Bagnal Builders, McCory Construction and then worked with Trehel Corporation in Clemson and Hudson Construction of Seneca.

Mahony "walked on" the Clemson Baseball team as a pitcher in 1974, but was later awarded a scholarship from Coach Bill Wilhelm. In 1976 he was co-captain of a team that won the ACC regular season and tournament championship and later went on to the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska. Mahony spent a short time in the Baltimore Orioles organization and has continued his close contact with baseball providing color commentary for Clemson baseball on The Clemson Network.

Bob's duties with IPTAY include working with over 750 IPTAY Representatives in providing them with information they need to carry out their duties, planning Clemson Club meetings, District IPTAY Representative meetings and other administrative duties.

Mahony is active in FCA, Tiger Brotherhood, Rotary and his church and was honored this spring when Bill and Elaine Howler endowed a pitching position in his name.

Bob and Robin (a 1976 graduate of Clemson) have two daughters, Robin Allison, currently entering her sophomore year at Clemson and Marion Leigh. Bob's family is all Clemson as two brothers and his father hold Clemson degrees and his mother was the Tiger Brotherhood Mother of the Year in 1981.

Charlie Bussey

Tiger Lettermen's Association Coordinator

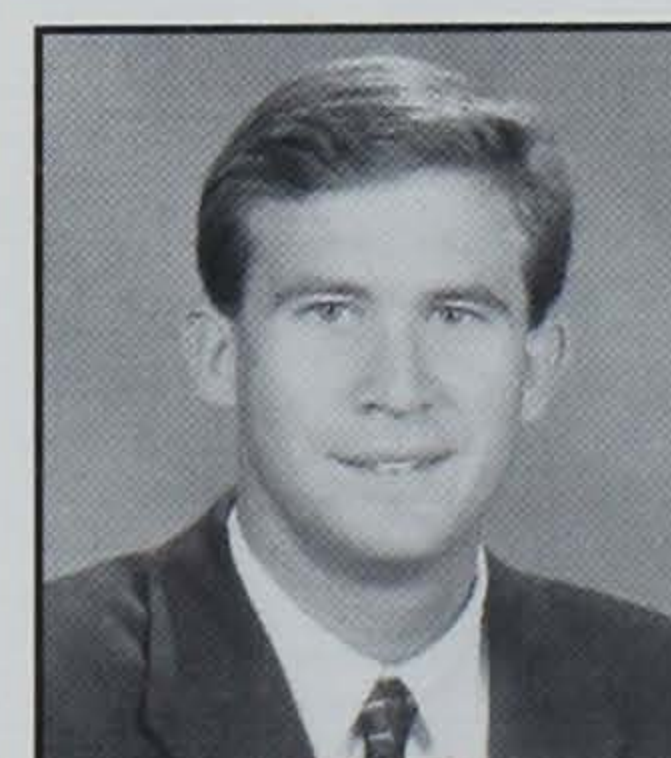

Charlie Bussey started his athletic career at Clemson in 1953 as a freshman quarterback under the legendary Coach Frank Howard. As a senior he was the quarterback in the 1957 Orange Bowl and was Clemson's first Academic All-American. While at Clemson he was a member of Tiger Brotherhood and Blue Key.

After graduation he served in the Air Force as a pilot instructor, and his business career included positions with Laurens Glass, Louis Batson Co. and Palmetto Chemicals. He was also Athletic Director at LA Tech in Rushton, LA.

Bussey served Clemson in many varied areas including President of IPTAY, President of the Tiger Letterman Association, committee member of the Commission for the Future of Clemson just to name a few. He is a member of the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame.

After Bussey's recent retirement, George Bennett recognized his talents and asked him to coordinate the Tiger Lettermen's Association. His duties include memberships, reunions, the Hall of Fame Banquet, and contacting former athletes for the Tiger Pride campaign.

Charlie and his wife Joyce, have 3 daughters, Pam, Laurie and Jenny, all Clemson graduates. Their grandchildren are all sustaining Tiger Cubs, Lauren, Ben, Jill, Meg, Blake, Hope, and Davis.

Jason Walter

IPTAY Collegiate Club Coordinator

Jason Walter, as coordinator of the IPTAY Collegiate Club, has led the organization to be the largest student athletic booster club in the country. Now totaling close to 3,000 members on the Clemson campus, the group is the most visible student organization in Clemson.

Walter, a graduate student in Human Resource Development, will receive his degree this fall. A native of Manning, SC, he entered Clemson as a freshman in 1994. Student activities have included Tiger Brotherhood, ISAB and Kappa Alpha Order.

Jason's father has a Masters degree from Clemson and his brother is a junior.

For more information about Tiger Pride, contact the IPTAY office at (864) 656-2115.

For the first time in Clemson history, the Athletic Department is entering into a five-year, $30 million dollar capital campaign designed to bring the University's athletic facilities into the 21st century with much-needed upgrades and additions. Officials announced the kick-off of the Tiger Pride campaign on January 20, 1999 in Clemson with visual renderings of the upgrades and support from coaches, cheerleaders, and fans.

According to officials, the goal of Tiger Pride is to create an athletic complex that ties the athletic areas together, both geographically and visually, from the track and baseball field to Memorial Stadium.

"Because very few upgrades or renovations have been made since the original facilities were built, it's time to bring Clemson into the millenium with state-of-the-art facilities that reflect the quality and innovation of the entire University," said Clemson athletic director Bobby Robinson. "It's been 10 years since any work was completed at the baseball stadium; nearly 15 years since the upper deck was added to the football stadium; and almost 30 years since any significant improvements to Littlejohn Coliseum. There's no question it's time to move forward."

Much like IPTAY, Tiger Pride donors will have the opportunity to make annual contributions over a five-year period, with some form of recognition. They also will be allowed to designate how the gift will be used and by what facility.

"This is the first time we've had to ask our Clemson family to help fund capital improvements, and it's imperative that they join the team," added Robinson. "We want every fan to take stock in Tiger Pride, no matter what level of participation. Clemson sports programs need to be able to compete by offering first-class facilities that attract both blue-chip student-athletes and fans."

The vision for some of the future facilities include:

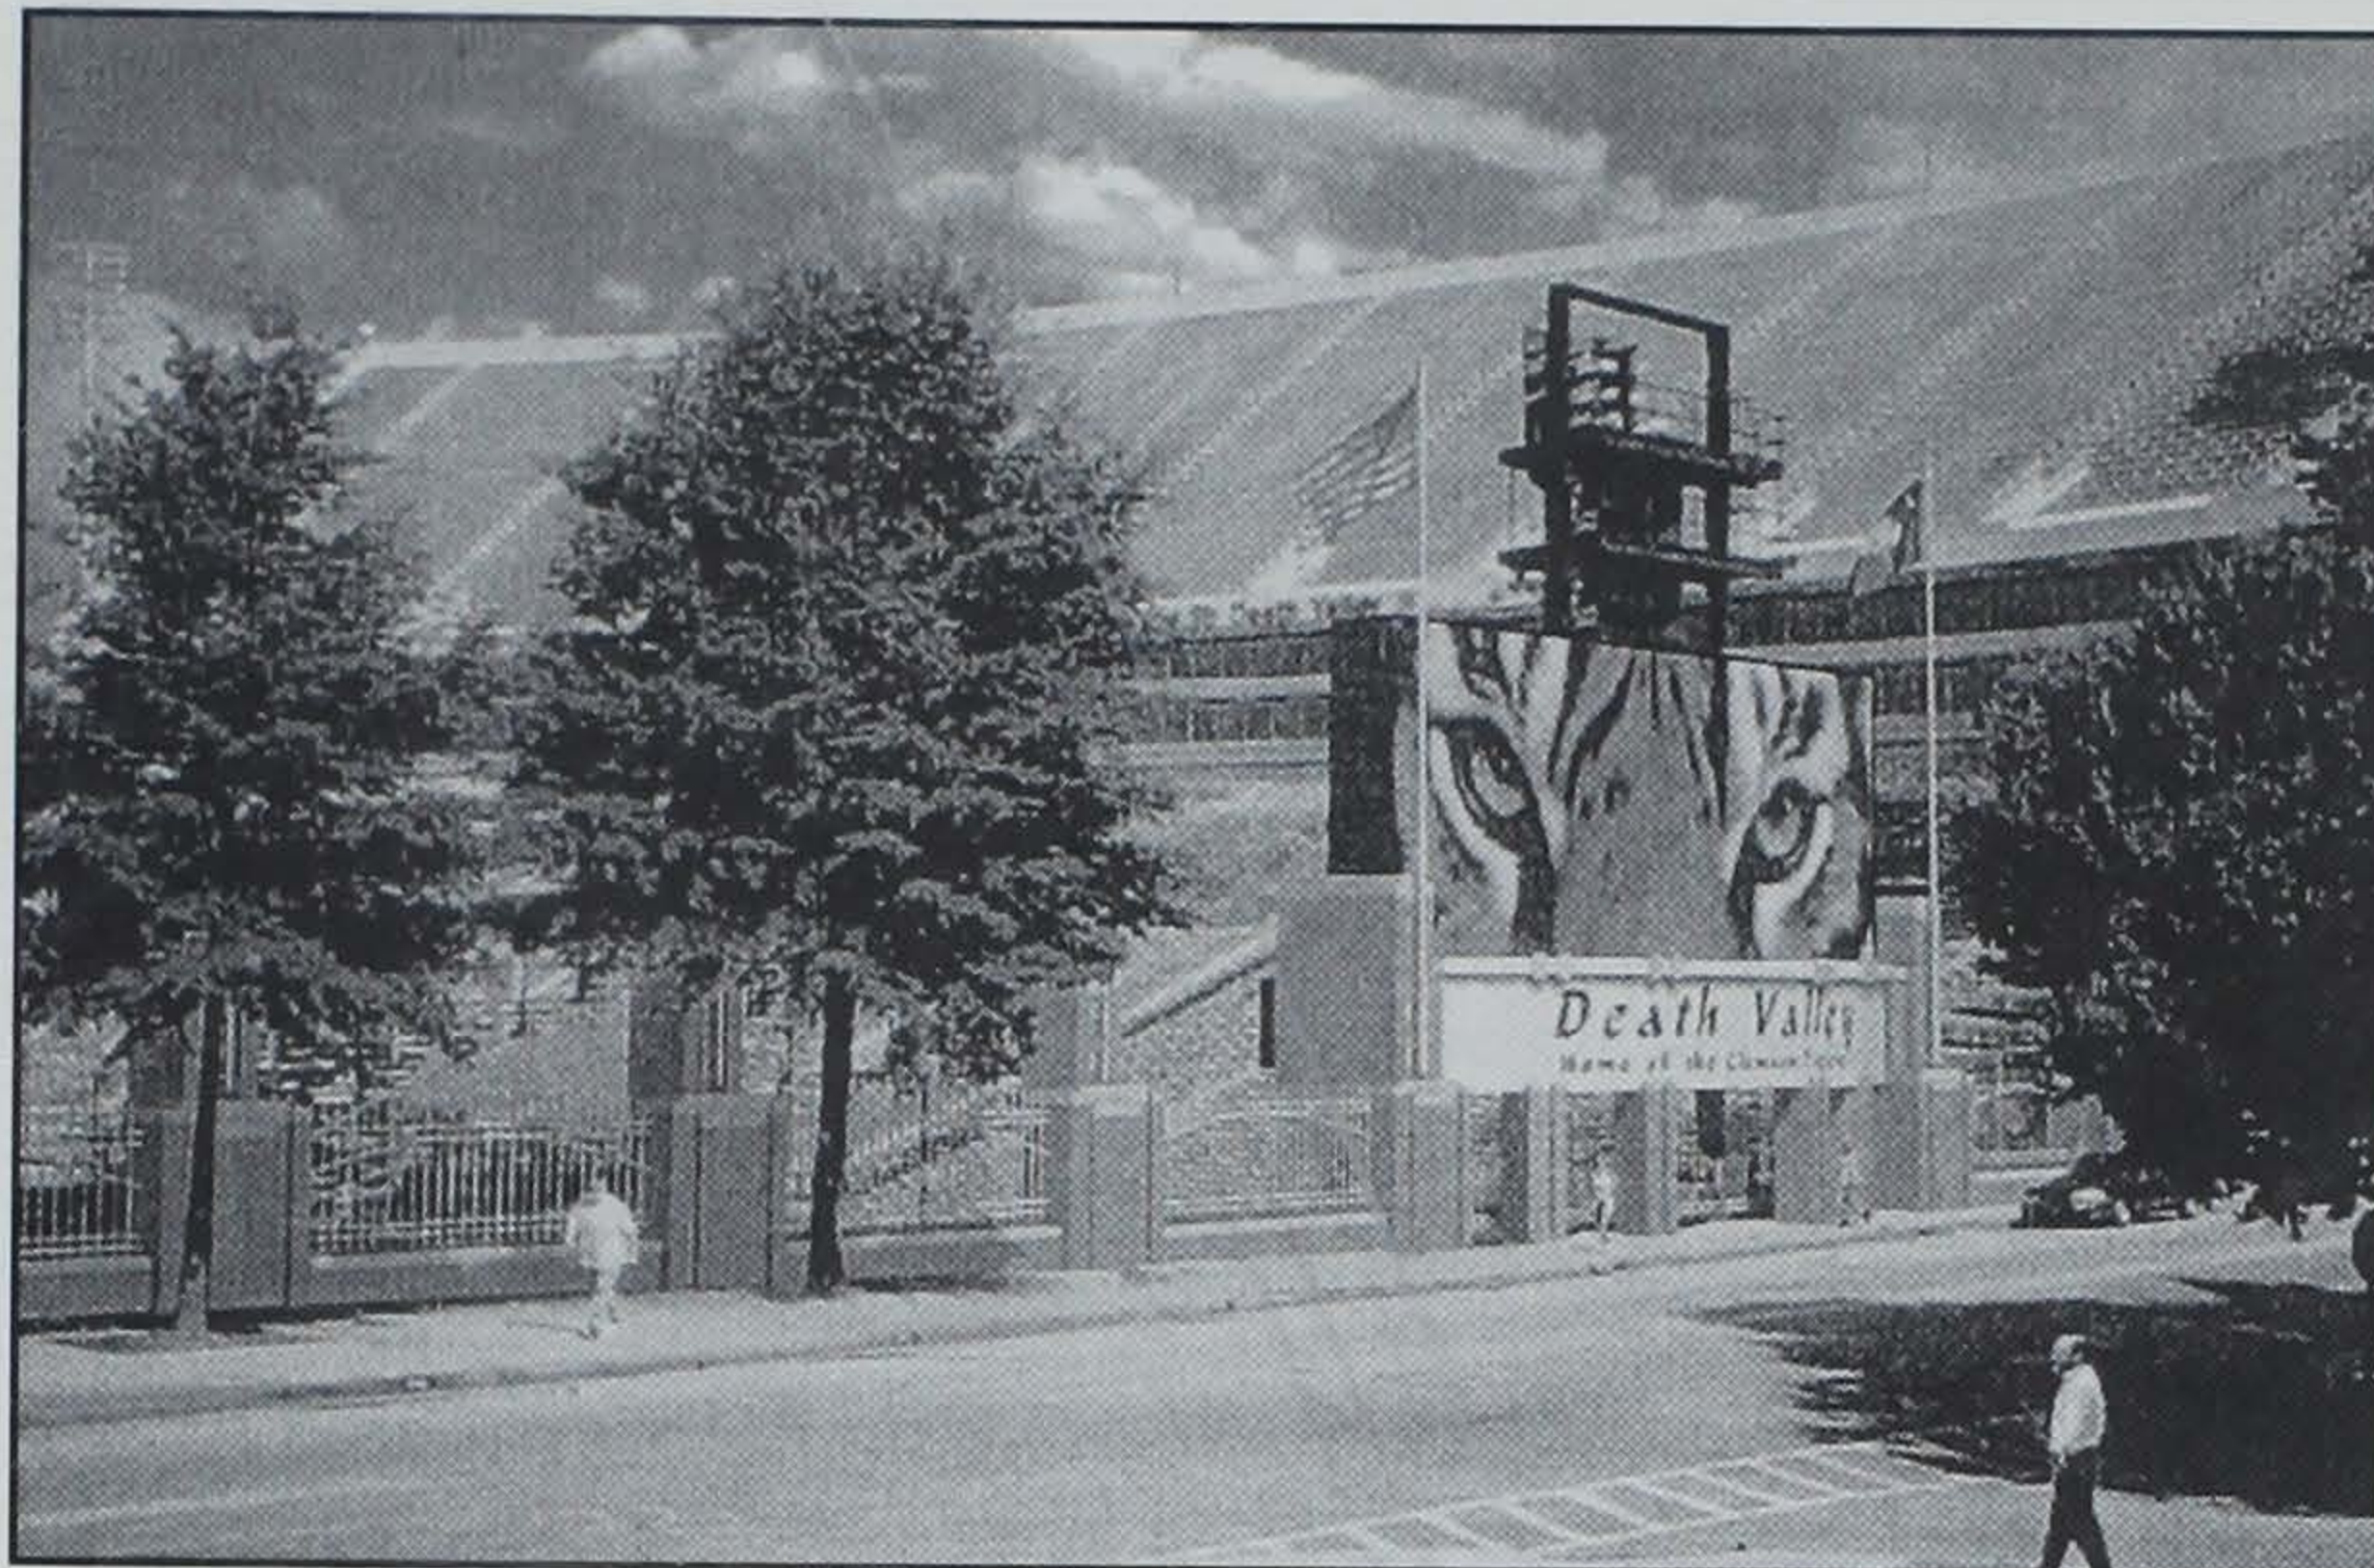

- A year-round restaurant in Memorial Stadium, along with cosmetic improvements to the West End Zone area as well as new locker rooms, concession areas and restrooms
- Improvements to Littlejohn Coliseum with a new sound system, restrooms, concessions area and reformatted seating
- An added annex to Littlejohn Coliseum that is equipped with team room, locker rooms and additional practice facilities for both men and women
- Permanent entrances, new concession areas and additional restrooms at Clemson's baseball facility, Tiger Field
- A new indoor track that will house an indoor practice field for football, soccer and baseball
- Upgrades and renovations to the Clemson Tiger Training Room

Plans for the west end zone of Memorial Stadium call for new locker rooms and lettermen's areas as well as a restaurant that will overlook the stadium and be open year round.

Fans will enjoy brighter and cleaner concourses in Memorial Stadium, additional and more spacious restrooms and more convenient concession stands.

Here is a glimpse of the proposed plan for the east endzone, where the Tigers begin the Run Down the Hill. It too will be consistent with the turn-of-the-century wrought-iron and brick style that is on other parts of Clemson's campus.

"This is the opportunity for everyone in the Clemson family to create an ownership in Clemson's athletic future. We're appealing to everyone to show their Tiger Pride."
Clemson Athletic Director Bobby Robinson

"The renovations to Clemson Memorial Stadium will put our facility with the elite programs of college football. Death Valley has always been regarded as one of the top facilities in the nation, especially when it comes to tradition. These upgrades will certainly benefit our players and our fans, and continue to make Saturdays at Clemson a memorable experience for everyone associated with our program."

Clemson Head Coach Tommy Bowden

Other Clemson athletic teams will also benefit from the Tiger Pride project. The track & field teams will receive a new indoor facility. The facility will also house the Clemson football team practices during inclement weather.

HISTORY OF IPTAY

IPTAY is widely regarded nationally as the father of Athletic Fundraising. It all started in 1934 and from a private meeting of a small group of Clemson supporters has sprung into an organization that raised a record $9.5 million last year. The organization plays a major role in ensuring that all 19 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships offered by the NCAA.

The organization also has helped finance facilities that contribute to the well-being of student-athletes on and off the field. Vickery Hall is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. It is a major reason Clemson student-athletes have had their highest cumulative GPA on record for five consecutive semesters.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson, currently helping over 30 students at Clemson.

IPTAY Executive Director George Bennett has continued to keep Clemson among the best in the nation in terms of fund-raising by the establishment of the IPTAY Endowment Program. In April of 1994, he kicked off the beginning of the endowment of positions program at the 85th birthday celebration for former Clemson Coach Frank Howard. The endowments are secure with a $100,000 donation paid over a five-year period.

"This is a chance to broaden the horizons of IPTAY," said Bennett. "It gives an individual or a group of people an opportunity to endow a position that meant something during their college days, or to honor a person at a position. The money being endowed is going to secure our future as the interest is used to carry on our program forever."

The first endowment was for the head football coach position to honor the legendary Frank Howard. Howard coached football at Clemson 39 years, 30 as the head coach. During his tenure the Tigers won 165 games, 100 of which were against conference foes. "Former players and friends of Coach Howard made donations over the cost of attending the celebration program and that was enough for the endowment. Their gifts were a way of permanently thanking Coach Howard for all that he did for Clemson."

"Following Coach Howard's birthday party we began to look for an individual to help us support and promote the program and Bill Hudson's name came up. He was an outstanding player at Clemson who has been equally successful in the business world. We went to him and explained the program and its goals and that we were looking for his leadership to help get the program going, and he accepted."

Hudson, a 1956 graduate, was a three-year letter winner at tackle who played professionally for the Montreal Alouettes, the San Diego Chargers, and the Boston Patriots. He earned Pro Bowl honors in 1962. Mr. Hudson sees this program growing into a large part of Clemson's athletic funding. "When other people see information on the endowment program and learn what it is about this program will grow. Success builds on success. People who are looking to honor a friend or family member now have a great means to do that."

Besides the Hudson's family endowment four other football endowments were made and one managers position in the first year. Now there are over 70 positions endowed. The goal of the program is to get every position endowed. "From the free safety to the number-three player in women's tennis, we hope to have every position endowed," said Bennett.

"We will likely use the Avenue of Champions as a physical place to honor these people further for the positions they have endowed. That will have plenty of space, so we will be working to have as many endowments across all of our sports."

"The personal satisfaction that they helped Clemson University, specifically the Athletic department, and that they are securing its future are the main reasons for becoming involved."

And with more involvement Clemson will have a very secure future for generations to come.

Rick Bagby Director of Video Services

Rick Bagby is in his second year as Director of Athletic Video Services at Clemson University. He came to Clemson after working with Division I programs at Louisville, North Carolina and Wisconsin.

Bagby supervises one of the growing aspects of the college football industry. Clemson has been a leader in college football in videography. Filming and editing game and practice action is just a small portion of Bagby's activities. During the season, Bagby and his staff work late hours after Saturday games preparing various tapes that help Clemson coaches in their preparation for the next game and in evaluating the Tigers own players.

Clemson is one of the few schools in the country to put game highlights and press conference footage on its internet site, another task performed by Bagby and his staff.

Bagby came to Clemson after working the 1997 season as the video coordinator at the University of Louisville. He worked in the spring of 1997 at the University of Wisconsin as assistant video coordinator.

Bagby got his start in the business as a student at the University of North Carolina. He worked as a student from 1991-95 filming daily practice and logging high school tapes. He also helped produce highlight films for all 27 of North Carolina's sports. He was named video assistant in July of 1996 and remained with the Tar Heel program for nearly a year before going to Wisconsin.

Bagby is married to the former Jennifer Robinson of Mooresville, NC. The couple was married April 25, 1998.

Joey Batson, SSC Strength Training Director

Entering his third year as Strength Training Director at Clemson, Joey Batson brings much experience to the position. Batson is familiar with the Tiger program, having served as a graduate assistant under Gary Wade in the Strength and Conditioning area from 1985-88.

In the course of his professional career, Batson has pioneered many training techniques in the strength, speed and conditioning fields. Referred to by Batson as "Not So Basic Strength Training," the collection of innovative techniques has led to impressive results by many Tiger players over the last year.

Prior to his return to Clemson, Batson served as the first full-time director of Strength Training at Furman University in Greenville. In 1996, he was named Strength and Conditioning Professional of the Year in the Southern Conference by the National Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association. In addition to his four years at Furman, he also worked as the Director of Strength/Conditioning at Bowling Green and served a year at the University of South Carolina as assistant director of strength and conditioning.

Not only does Batson bring professional experience to the position, but he also brings experience as a player at the collegiate level. The Greenville native was a tight end at The Citadel in 1979 before transferring to Newberry College, where he was a three-year letterman and team co-captain as a senior. He earned his B.A. in Physical Education from Newberry and his masters in Education at Clemson in 1988.

Batson is a Specialist in Sports Certified Conditioning (SSC) through the International Sports Sciences Association, and is a member of several other professional groups, which include the National Strength and Conditioning Association, United States Weight Lifting Federation and American Drug Free Powerlifting Association. He has completed the Club Coach Certification program by the United States Weight Lifting Federation. Batson is a regular speaker and instructor on the strength training circuit.

Batson, who started his employment as director on June 2, 1997, is married to the former Susan Malone of Berea. They have one child, Michael who was born June 5, 1996.

Tim Bourret Assistant AD/Sports Information Director

Tim Bourret is in his 11th year supervising the SID office, his seventh as an Assistant Athletic Director, and his 22nd with the Clemson Athletic Department. He first came to Clemson as assistant SID under Bob Bradley in September of 1978 and was elevated to an associate SID position in July of 1980.

The 43-year old Bourret has edited 86 award-winning brochures in his career, including 27 that have dealt with Clemson football. The covers for the 1998 football program series were named best in the nation.

Bourret also has considerable radio experience, play-by-play and color. He has been the color voice of Clemson basketball since the 1980-81 season and served in the same capacity for Clemson football between 1982 and 1988. He gave up his football radio work to supervise the Clemson pressbox when Bob Bradley retired in 1989. He was also the play-by-play voice of Clemson postseason baseball between 1980-89.

Bourret is a native of West Hartford, CT and 1973 graduate of Northwest Catholic High School. He was an all-conference baseball player in high school and played in the 1973 American Legion World Series.

Following in his father's footsteps, Bourret earned his undergraduate degree from the University of Notre Dame in business administration in 1977. He also earned his master's degree in communication arts from Notre Dame in August of 1978.

Bourret worked as an undergraduate and graduate assistant under Roger Valdiserri in Notre Dame's office for three years, where he was assistant editor of Notre Dame's 1977 football programs. The program series won Best in the Nation that year. He also served as commissioner of the school's famed "Bookstore Basketball Tournament" for three years, including the year it was featured in Sports Illustrated.

He joined former Notre Dame basketball coach Digger Phelps and Sport's Illustrated's John Walters as co-authors of the book "Basketball for Dummies." It was released by IDG Books in October, 1997.

Rebecca Bowman Assistant AD/Compliance Services

Rebecca Bowman enters her second year at Clemson as the assistant athletic director for compliance services.

Bowman, a native of Columbia, SC and a 1976 graduate of Winthrop College, came to Clemson from the NCAA where she served as a senior membership services representative from 1991-98. She also has coaching experience as the head coach of volleyball and softball at UNC Charlotte.

With the NCAA, Bowman coordinated certification activities, administered institutional compliance reviews, provided rules interpretations to NCAA member institutions, and served as a liaison to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools/Commission on Colleges.

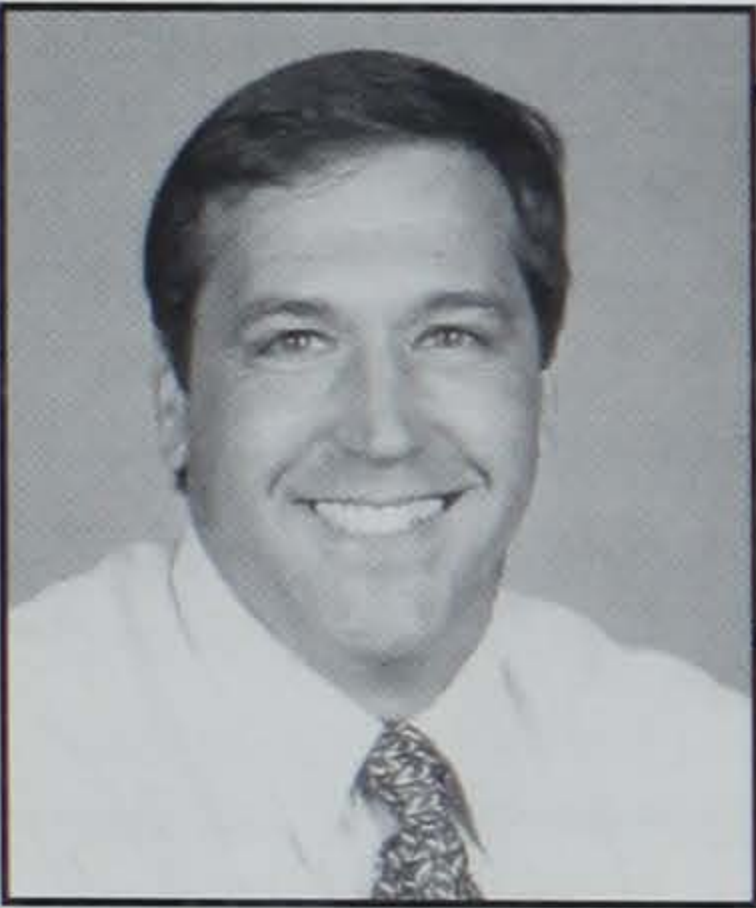

At Clemson, she coordinates the institutional compliance program and serves as a liaison with the NCAA on rules related matters. The 1972 Irmo High School graduate also serves on the rowing and men's tennis committees in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Bowman served UNC-Charlotte as a coach and teacher from 1983-91. She was the head softball coach from 1983-85 and served as head volleyball coach from 1983-90.

From 1976-83, Bowman was head women's basketball coach and volleyball coach at Harding High School in Charlotte, NC. She started the women's basketball program at the school. Her volleyball teams won the Southwestern Conference championship in 1979, 80 and 1982 and participated in the state tournament every year between 1978-82. The 1979 team reached the state semifinals. Eleven of her student-athletes in the two sports went on to receive college scholarships.

During her career at Winthrop she was a member of the volleyball team for three years and the women's basketball team two seasons. She was the captain of the volleyball team in 1975. Off the court, she was the school's Judicial Board Chairman in 1974-75 and a member of Senior Order.

In addition to her bachelor of science degree from Winthrop, Bowman also earned a master's of science in education degree from Virginia Tech in 1980.

Bill D'Andrea

Associate AD/Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment

Bill D'Andrea is in his ninth year as the Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment, but has been a part of the Clemson family for much longer.

Prior to being named as the Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment D'Andrea, 48, served as the Tiger offensive tackles coach from 1986 to 1989. Clemson had a 36-8-2 record those four years and never lost more than two games in a season. All-American Stacy Long was one of the prominent players he coached. He also served as the Clemson football recruiting coordinator in the spring of 1991. D'Andrea's ties to Clemson go back even further as he served as a graduate assistant for the Tiger football program in 1982 and 1983.

As Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment, D'Andrea oversees the day to day operations of Vickery Hall, Clemson's student-athlete enrichment program. This position covers five areas: academic commitment, personal growth of the student athlete, student-athlete career assistance, service commitment, and athletic commitment.

It would be hard to argue with the success of Vickery Hall under D'Andrea. In the spring semester of 1999, Clemson athletes enjoyed a tremendous semester in the classroom with a record 181 athletes earning a 3.0 or better. Clemson student-athletes had a 2.71 GPA in the Spring of 1999, a Clemson record. The general student body GPA was 2.78. The GPA of Clemson student-athletes has increased eight consecutive semesters.

D'Andrea, a Morgan, PA native, received his undergraduate degree in criminal justice from Indiana St. in 1973, and earned a master's degree in education from East Carolina in 1975.

Van Hilderbrand

Associate AD/Ticket Manager

Any Tiger fan who has ever needed tickets or parking for a Clemson athletic event will recognize the name of Van Hilderbrand. He has served the Clemson athletic department for 23 years and is in his 14th year as an associate/assistant athletic director. He is in charge of the ticket office and supervises all parking administration and also works with game day operations.

Hilderbrand is certainly familiar with the athletic department. He started his association there as a student employee in the office during his college career, 1970-74. In 1976 he filled the newly created position of assistant ticket manager, and in 1980 he was named Athletic Department Ticket Manager. In 1985 he was made an assistant athletic director.

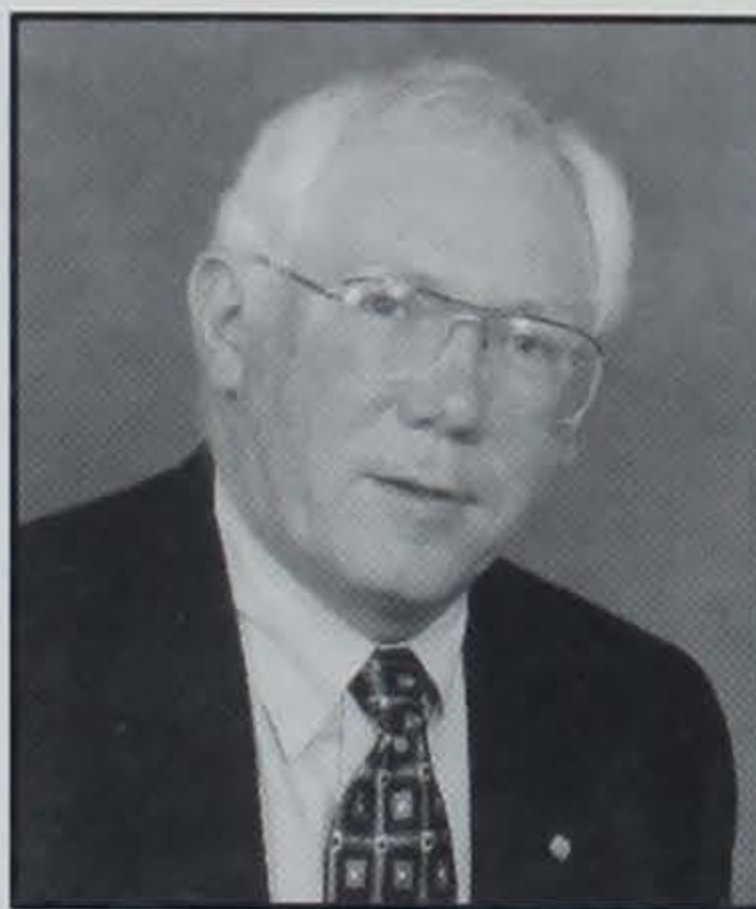

It is Hilderbrand's responsibility to distribute the tickets to the thousands who attend all Clemson athletic events. Hilderbrand and his staff sell more football season tickets than any other school in the ACC. Clemson has been in the top 20 in the nation in attendance every year since 1983.

In the 19 years since Hilderbrand took the job as ticket manager, he has distributed more season tickets than ever before for football and basketball. He has met the challenge by keeping up with the technology of the profession.

Hilderbrand worked as athletic supervisor for the Greenwood Recreation Department for two years after graduation, and in 1976, he returned to Clemson.

Hilderbrand graduated from Clover (SC) High School in 1970. He was the school's all-time leading scorer in basketball until 1993, when former Tiger gridder Lamont Hall broke his mark. Hilderbrand earned his degree in parks and recreation administration from Clemson in 1974. The 48-year old is married to the former Diane Harris of Clover and they have two children, Van Jr., a Clemson sophomore who was born December 31, 1979, the day Clemson met Baylor in the Peach Bowl, and Lee Elizabeth, who will be 14 this fall.

In his spare time, Hilderbrand enjoys golf and working with the Boy Scouts.

Faculty Representative

Dr. Cecil Huey was named the Clemson Faculty Athletics Representative in December of 1992. As such, he is the University representative to the NCAA and the ACC. During the 1997-98 year, Dr. Huey served as President of the ACC. He also serves as the ACC Representative of Academics/Eligibility/Compliance Cabinet of the NCAA.

The professor of Mechanical Engineering on Clemson's campus is a member of the university's Athletic Council and was its chair at one time, was a faculty senator, and was a member of Clemson's self-study committee on intercollegiate athletics for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. He is involved in the selection of coaches, certifications of athletic eligibility, other on campus athletic affairs, and continues his full-time faculty position.

Huey won the university's Class of '39 award for excellence, one of the top faculty awards offered at Clemson. The award recognizes distinguished faculty representing the highest achievement of service to students, the university, and the community.

Huey's association with Clemson is not solely in an academic light, although he earned his bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees in mechanical engineering from Clemson. Huey was an athlete during his undergraduate years with the Tigers. He was a member of the ACC champion mile relay team that posted a time of 3:14.2 in 1964. The outdoor track team finished second in the conference championship that year.

Huey is a member of the American Society for Engineering Education, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the Society for the History of Technology, and the Society for Industrial Archaeology.

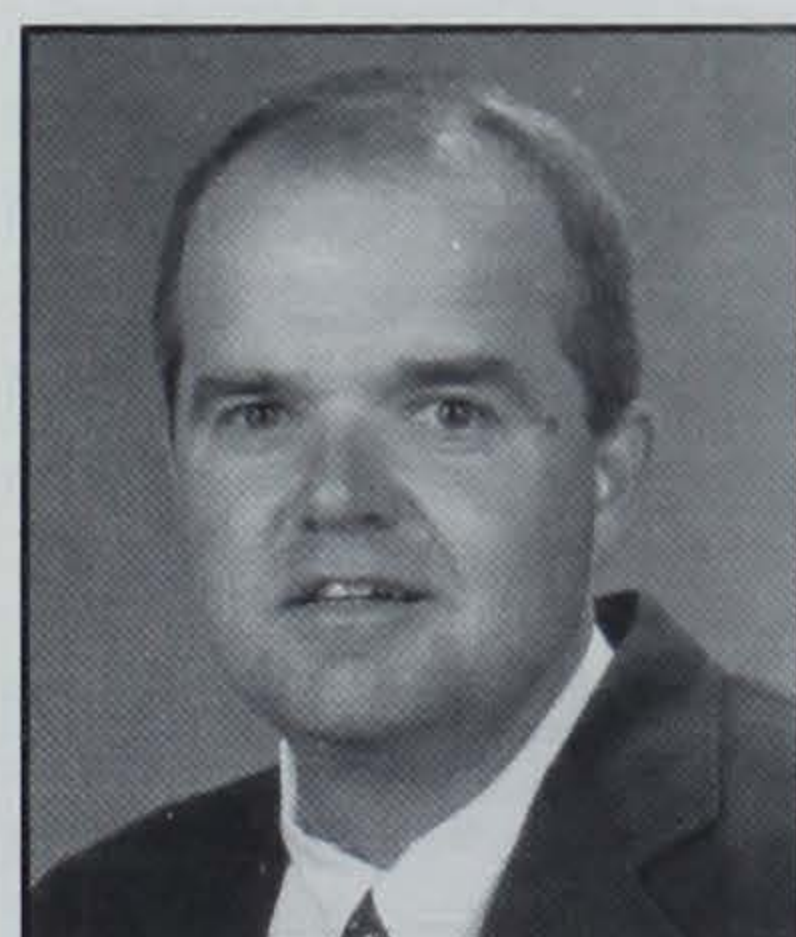

Tim Match
Associate AD

Tim Match, a native of Arlington, Ohio, is responsible for implementing the athletic department's sports marketing, sponsorship and licensing program. He also handles all football scheduling, as well as overseeing the video, strength and conditioning, training room, and equipment areas of the Clemson athletic department.

The 1985 graduate of Bowling Green State University is also responsible for all post season football games and is the liaison for the athletic department with the Clemson Radio Network and the Clemson Coaches Television Show Network. He also serves as game manager for the Clemson football and men's basketball games as well as oversees the Memorial Stadium Executive suite program.

Prior to his return to Clemson, Match participated in an internship at the University of West Florida in the athletic department.

After receiving his master's degree in PRTM with an emphasis in micro-computer management from Clemson, he became the assistant sports information director at the University of Virginia. He returned to Clemson in 1989 as an associate sports information director, working directly with the men's basketball and football programs for three seasons.

Danny Poole
Director of Sports Medicine/Head Athletic Trainer

Danny Poole is in his first full season as Clemson's Director of Sports Medicine, but he is a veteran of over 15 years working in the Clemson athletic training facility and has 20 years experience in his chosen field. Poole succeeded Clemson Hall of Fame trainer Fred Hoover, who retired in April, 1999 after 40 years of service to the University.

Poole, a native of Charlotte, NC, had been an assistant under Hoover since 1984. He has worked primarily with the Clemson football program, but also has experience with the Clemson baseball team and many other Olympic sports. He will supervise the training needs of all Clemson student-athletes, but his primary area of emphasis will be with the Clemson football program.

Poole, who turned 42 last June 7, has 20 years of full-time experience in the athletic training field. He served as head trainer for the Carolina Chargers of the American Football Association in 1979. In 1980, he became an assistant trainer at Memphis State University. During his career as a full-time assistant at Memphis State he earned his master's degree in Health Education. In 1984, Poole came to Clemson when Bert Henderson moved from the athletic training staff into fund-raising.

A 1979 graduate of Western Carolina University, Poole earned a Bachelor of Science degree in education with a major in health and physical education. He was student trainer for the Catamounts for four years. He served in the same capacity at West Mecklenburg High in Charlotte for three years. In 1974 he became the first student trainer selected for the Shrine Bowl.

Poole is married to the former Beth Morgan and the couple has two children, Jacqui Elaine (12) and Abby Blair (10).

Brenda Rabon
Director of Sales

Brenda Rabon is in her second year as director of sales at Clemson. Rabon served almost five years in the sports information office, four as a student and under one year as assistant sports information director. She began her current position in March, 1998.

Rabon is responsible for coordinating sales activities, as well as developing a strategic advertising and marketing plan to increase executive suites, corporate, and group ticket sales for the entire Clemson Athletic Department.

Under Rabon's direction, all of the 100 Memorial Stadium Executive Suites were sold, a first in Clemson history. Memorial Stadium has more executive suites than any other on-campus facility in the country. By the end of February 1999, Rabon had successfully sold-out the executive suites for the second straight year.

Rabon will also work on the development of new corporate partners with the athletic department.

The native of Aynor, SC, graduated from Clemson in May 1996 with a bachelor of arts in English. She received her Masters of Science in sports administration from Tennessee in August 1997. She worked in the sports information office at Tennessee as a graduate assistant under Bud Ford.

Dwight Rainey
Senior Associate Athletic Director

When there is success in college athletics, experience is almost always a key factor. Senior Associate Athletic Director Dwight Rainey is an example of success gained from a wide variety of experience.

Rainey is in his 25th academic year with the Clemson University Athletic Department. Rainey oversees the activities of all Olympic Sports at Clemson, one of the most high profile programs in the nation.

While football and basketball may be the two highest profile sports at Clemson, the 17 Olympic sports have also enjoyed enormous success.

In 1998-99, Clemson had another successful year as seven teams ranked in the top 25 of their respective polls. Clemson won four ACC championships and finished in the top 30 in the Sears all-sports standings.

Clemson had 58 All-ACC selections for its athletic teams, its highest total since the 1991-92 academic year, and all but two Clemson programs had at least one first-team All-ACC selection. Thirteen of Clemson's 19 programs advanced to postseason play and seven different teams reached the Sweet 16 of their respective postseason events. The program had four different individuals win national championships.

The success of the 1998-99 academic year should come as no surprise. In his 16 years overseeing the Clemson Olympic sports program, Clemson has been in the top-25 in the nation in the All-Sports Poll eight times.

Prior to moving into administration at Clemson, Rainey served as Bill Foster's top assistant in the men's basketball program for 13 years, five at UNC Charlotte and eight at Clemson. One of Rainey's coaching highlights was the 1979-80 team that finished with a 23-9 mark. That squad advanced to the Final 8 of the NCAA tournament, the furthest a Clemson men's basketball team has advanced in the NCAA tournament.

Rainey has also had experience outside of college athletics. Between 1967 and August of 1970, he worked with a division of the Chrysler Corporation in Atlanta, GA. Rainey earned a B.A. in business administration from Shorter College in 1967 and a Master's degree from UNC Charlotte in 1972.

Robert Ricketts

Associate AD/Chief Financial Officer

Keeping the expense and revenue books of such a vast operation as the Clemson athletic department in order is no easy task, but Associate Athletic Director Robert Ricketts is well-qualified for the job. Ricketts is in his 14th year with the department and his 23rd with the university.

As associate athletic director in charge of business operations, Ricketts handles all purchasing and expense accounts. This job is old hat to Ricketts who spent nine years working for Clemson in auditing and accounting departments. During these nine years, one of his main duties was the audit for the athletic department. He worked in the University's financial management division in accounting control and payroll benefits between 1976 and 1977, then worked in the internal auditing division and as an auditor between 1977 and 1980. In 1980, he was named an audit supervisor, a position he held until February of 1985. Thus, he has seen all sides of his job.

Ricketts earned an associate arts degree from Anderson College in 1969, and a business administration degree from Erskine College in 1971. He is also a 1967 graduate of T. L. Hanna High School in Anderson. After his graduation from Erskine, he entered merchandise management with the J.C. Penney Company of Greenville and Anderson. He worked for that company between 1972 and 1976, until he began his career with the University on May 28, 1976.

The native of Anderson has also completed the College Business Management Institute at the University of Kentucky. He is a member of the College Athletic Business Managers' Association and the Institute of Internal Auditors. Ricketts has previously served as secretary of the Clemson Recreation Advisory Committee for six years.

Ricketts and his wife, Kathey, have two children, Chesley (20) and Lindsey (16). His wife is employed in the Payroll/ Benefits Office at Clemson University.

Bobby Robinson

Athletic Director

The Clemson athletic program's commitment to excellence begins with Athletic Director Bobby Robinson. The program has been on the rise in just about all forms of athletics in recent years. Robinson's commitment to success in competition, academics and facilities has been the key to the level of distinction that the program has maintained during his 14 years as the director.

Clemson had another successful year on the fields of competition in 1998-99. Seven different teams were ranked in the final top 25, including the men's indoor track, men's soccer, golf and women's basketball teams, which all had top 10 ratings. In his 14 years as athletic director, Clemson programs have won 51 ACC Championships and had 105 top 20 seasons, an average of 7.5 per year. Ten of his 14 years Clemson has ranked in the top 30 in the nation in the all-sports poll.

Academically, Clemson student-athletes have made great strides. Vickery Hall, Clemson's student-athlete enrichment center, was conceived and built under Robinson's watch. As a result, the GPA of Clemson student-athletes has reached an all-time high of 2.71, just a few hundredths of a point off the overall Clemson student body GPA.

While Vickery Hall was the most significant addition to the Clemson athletic facilities scene in the 1990s, the Tiger Pride campaign will bring Clemson facilities to a new level as we head into the next century. Robinson is overseeing a $30 million project that will enhance Clemson Memorial Stadium, Littlejohn Coliseum, Tiger Field, the Rock Norman Track Complex and many other facilities.

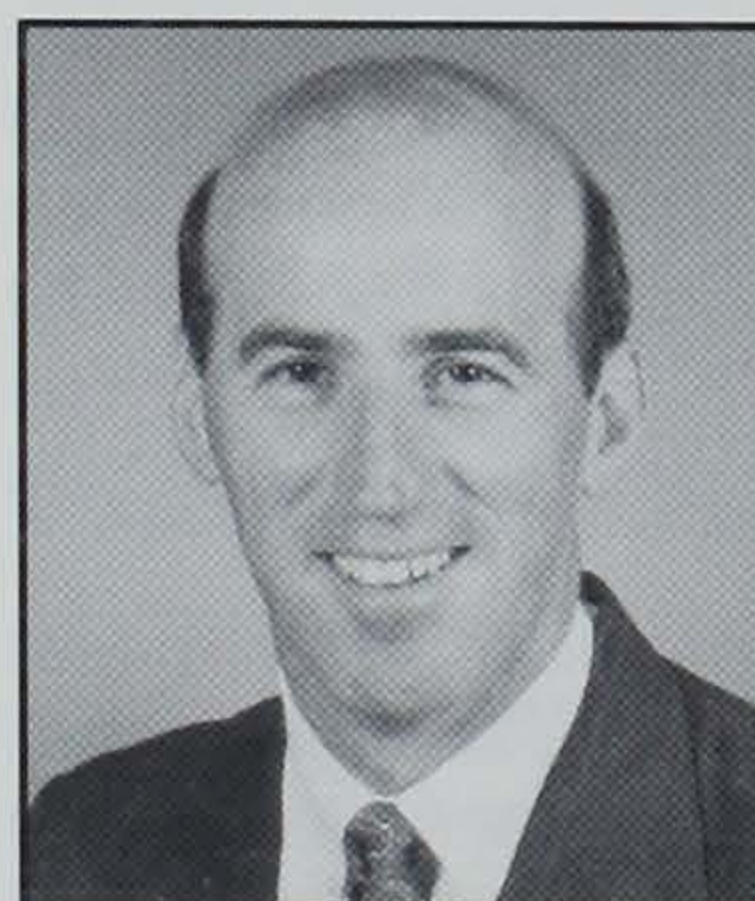

Under the direction of Robinson, the athletic department continues to support the university. Nearly $3.5 million has been contributed to the athletic academic scholarship fund; and band travel equipment, uniforms, and many other projects are funded by the department for the overall benefit of the student body.

Robinson graduated from Furman with a B.S. degree in business and political science in 1968. He was the president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity chapter at Furman. Robinson came to Clemson in 1970 to work in the housing office and after three years, he moved across campus to serve as an administrative assistant in the athletic department.

After serving the athletic department in various capacities, he became business manager in 1975. Two years later he was named assistant athletic director, and in 1980 he became associate AD. He held that title for six years, and his area of responsibility moved to primarily football and basketball. The native of Columbia became Athletic Director in March of 1985.

While serving his administrative duties, Robinson found time to coach the Clemson golf team between 1975 and 1983. During his time as the head coach, Clemson won its first ACC title in golf and three times the Tigers participated in the NCAA Tournament. In 1983, his final season as the head coach, he guided Clemson to a number-five finish.

Robinson has served on the NCAA golf committee, the CFA Board of Directors, the Division I-A Certification Committee, ACC Long Range Planning Committee, ACC Booking Office Committee, ACC Committee on Infractions and Penalties, ACC Gender Equity Committee, ACC Golf Committee, and ACC Committee to Study Football in the 1990's. He currently serves on the NCAA Championships and Competition Cabinet and is a member of the NCAA Bowl Certification and Football Issues Committee.

John Seketa

Assistant AD/Promotions

In the area of promotions and game management: John Seketa has to ask each day before an event: Does the scoreboard work? Do we have enough ball people, timers and line judges? Who is doing the public address announcing? Do we have a corporate sponsor for the event? Where are the mascots? How many birthday parties are we having? Who is playing the music? When do we start the event? Have the t-shirts arrived? etc...

Basically, once you buy a ticket and walk through the door or gate, it is Seketa's responsibility that you enjoy the atmosphere of the event. This involves the coordination of some 120 events during the year in which we could have anywhere from 2-5 events taking place at the same time or on the same day. Confusing? Yes! Fun? Yes! It's one of the jobs that most people would love to have but don't have time to do it once you tell them your schedule.

Seketa is in his 12th year at Clemson and thanks to the Clemson Sports Network in 1997, he oversees the 20 member PAWVISION staff of Clemson University students and staff employees. Using four television camera and two Daktronics Venues 7000 computers, the giant screen can show live action, replays, animation, out-of-town scores and updated statistics. During the first two years, PAWVISION received national recognition from the surprise engagement announcement of Clemson alum, Jane Robelot, on The CBS Morning News. The wrestling viewing party organized by the Clemson Resident Hall Association was shown on TNT's WCW Monday Night Nitro television show.

Prior to arriving in Clemson, Seketa was the promotions director at Eastern Illinois University where he promoted all sports. In 1985, he staged a Make-Believe TV Football Game between Eastern Illinois and Western Illinois with ESPN, which was cited in the New York Times. After one year at Eastern Illinois, Seketa headed to the sunny south and Clemson for the 1986-87 academic year.

Seketa is a March 1981 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. After receiving his Bachelor's degree in business administration, Seketa worked as a computer operator for three years for the Shell Oil Company in Wood River, Illinois. His work in athletics began at Western Illinois, where he attended graduate school followed by an internship at the University of Illinois.

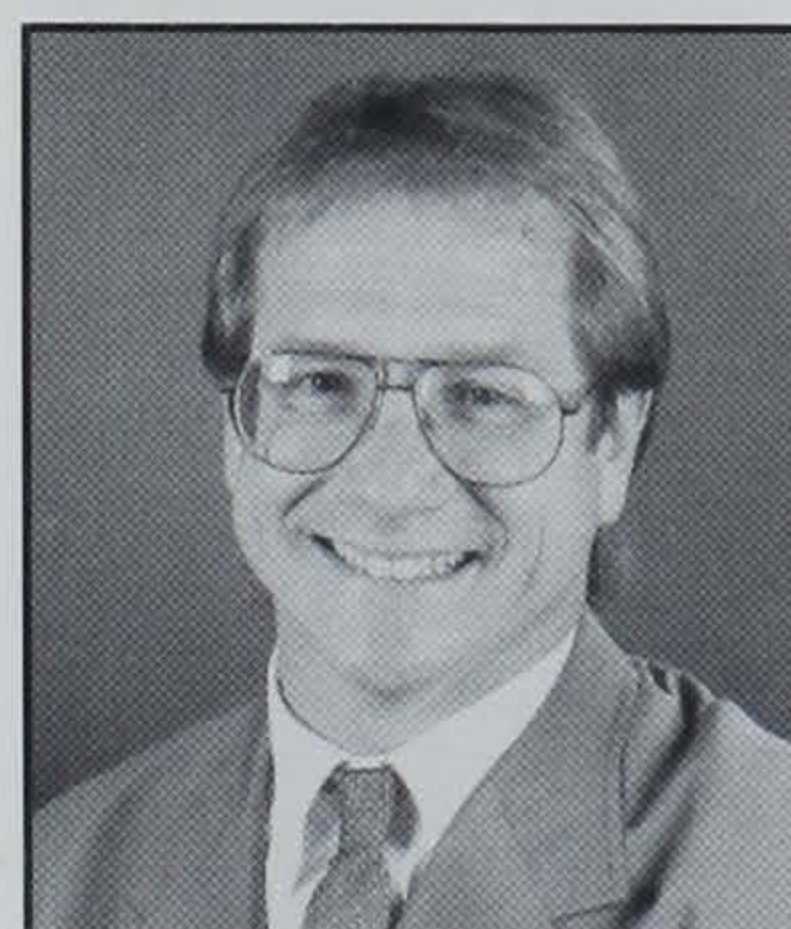

Alphonso Smith
Head Equipment Manager/Football

Alphonso Smith is in his fourth year as head equipment manager for football. He is responsible for football, men's and women's track, volleyball, baseball and golf.

Smith served as a basketball manager during his college years at Clemson during 1985-1991. He also served as a graduate assistant in 1992. Smith worked as assistant equipment supervisor at the University of Memphis for three years. His responsibilities were assisting with football and he was head of men's and women's basketball, women's golf, men's and women's track.

Smith is a 1991 graduate of Clemson University and he earned his degree in social science secondary education. He is a member of the Athletic Equipment Managers Association.

Smith is married to the former Kim Teel of Omaha, NB.

Gary Wade
Assistant AD/Facilities

Gary Wade is in his third year as the Assistant AD for Facilities, but is in his 15th year with the Clemson Athletic Department.

Wade began his career in college athletics as the assistant strength coach at the University of Nebraska from 1976 to 1979 while working on his undergraduate degree in education and his graduate degree in exercise physiology. Working with Boyd Epley, Director of Nebraska's Husker Power Program, and the Nebraska Strength Training Staff, Wade became one of the founding members of the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA).

In 1980, at age 24, he became the Detroit Lions' first strength and conditioning coach. During his five seasons in the NFL, the Lions went to the playoffs twice and won the NFC Central in 1983. He received much credit for the Lions' immediate improvement as Head Coach Monte Clark took pride in Wade's work and results on the field.

In his 12 seasons in strength training at Clemson, 11 of Wade's assistants have become head strength and conditioning coaches at the collegiate or NFL level.

Wade, who was born in Nebraska City, NE, earned 10 varsity letters at Weeping Water HS. He was all-conference in football for three seasons and was second-team all-state his senior year. Wade is married to the former Andree' Langlais.

Linda White
Women's Administrator

On July 9, 1992, the Clemson Athletic Department lost a fine coach, but gained an outstanding administrator when Linda White, the winningest volleyball coach in Clemson history with a 138-81 career mark, assumed the position of Assistant Director of Compliance/Senior Women's Administrator. In 1993, White was promoted to Associate AD and retained her title as Senior Women's Administrator.

White represents Clemson at all university, conference and NCAA functions in the role of Senior Women's Administrator. She serves on the ACC Track & Field Committee as a vice-chair, the ACC Student-Athlete Development Committee, ACC Senior Women Administrators and Equity Committee, and the ACC Committee on Television.

Outside of athletics, White is a member of the Clemson Area Chamber of Commerce and the Clemson University Martin Luther King Committee.

White submits bids to host NCAA events and coordinates the events if Clemson is awarded the bid. She has managed 16 NCAA events in her career and six ACC Championships. White schedules athletic facilities, coordinates clinics and summer camps, coordinates special events, and oversees the Courtesy Vehicle Program. White also coordinates the publication of the Student-Athlete Handbook, oversees the Sports Information Department and Promotions Department and the Director of Game Management.

White came to Clemson in 1986 as the head volleyball coach. She led the Clemson squad to six consecutive 20-win seasons. White coached at least one All-ACC player five of her six years at the helm of the Clemson program, while two of her former players were named Academic All-Americans. This year one of her former players, Denise Murphy, will be inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame.

Prior to her stint as volleyball coach at Clemson, White was a successful basketball and volleyball coach at Wando High School in Mount Pleasant, SC for 14 years. In 1982, she was named National Volleyball Coach-of-the-Year by the National High School Coaches Association.

White earned her undergraduate degree from Winthrop College. She earned a MEd in Administration and Supervision from Clemson in August of 1988. She is married to Roger White. They have one child, Slater Martin White, who is two years old. Their daughter Lucia lost her life in an auto accident in 1995.

1999 Clemson Tiger Football

The Clemson football program has been cited by the American Football Coaches Association for a graduation rate of over 70 percent, according to a release by the association on June 23, 1999. For the class entering in the fall of 1993, Clemson had a 75-percent graduation rate. The national average was 56 percent.

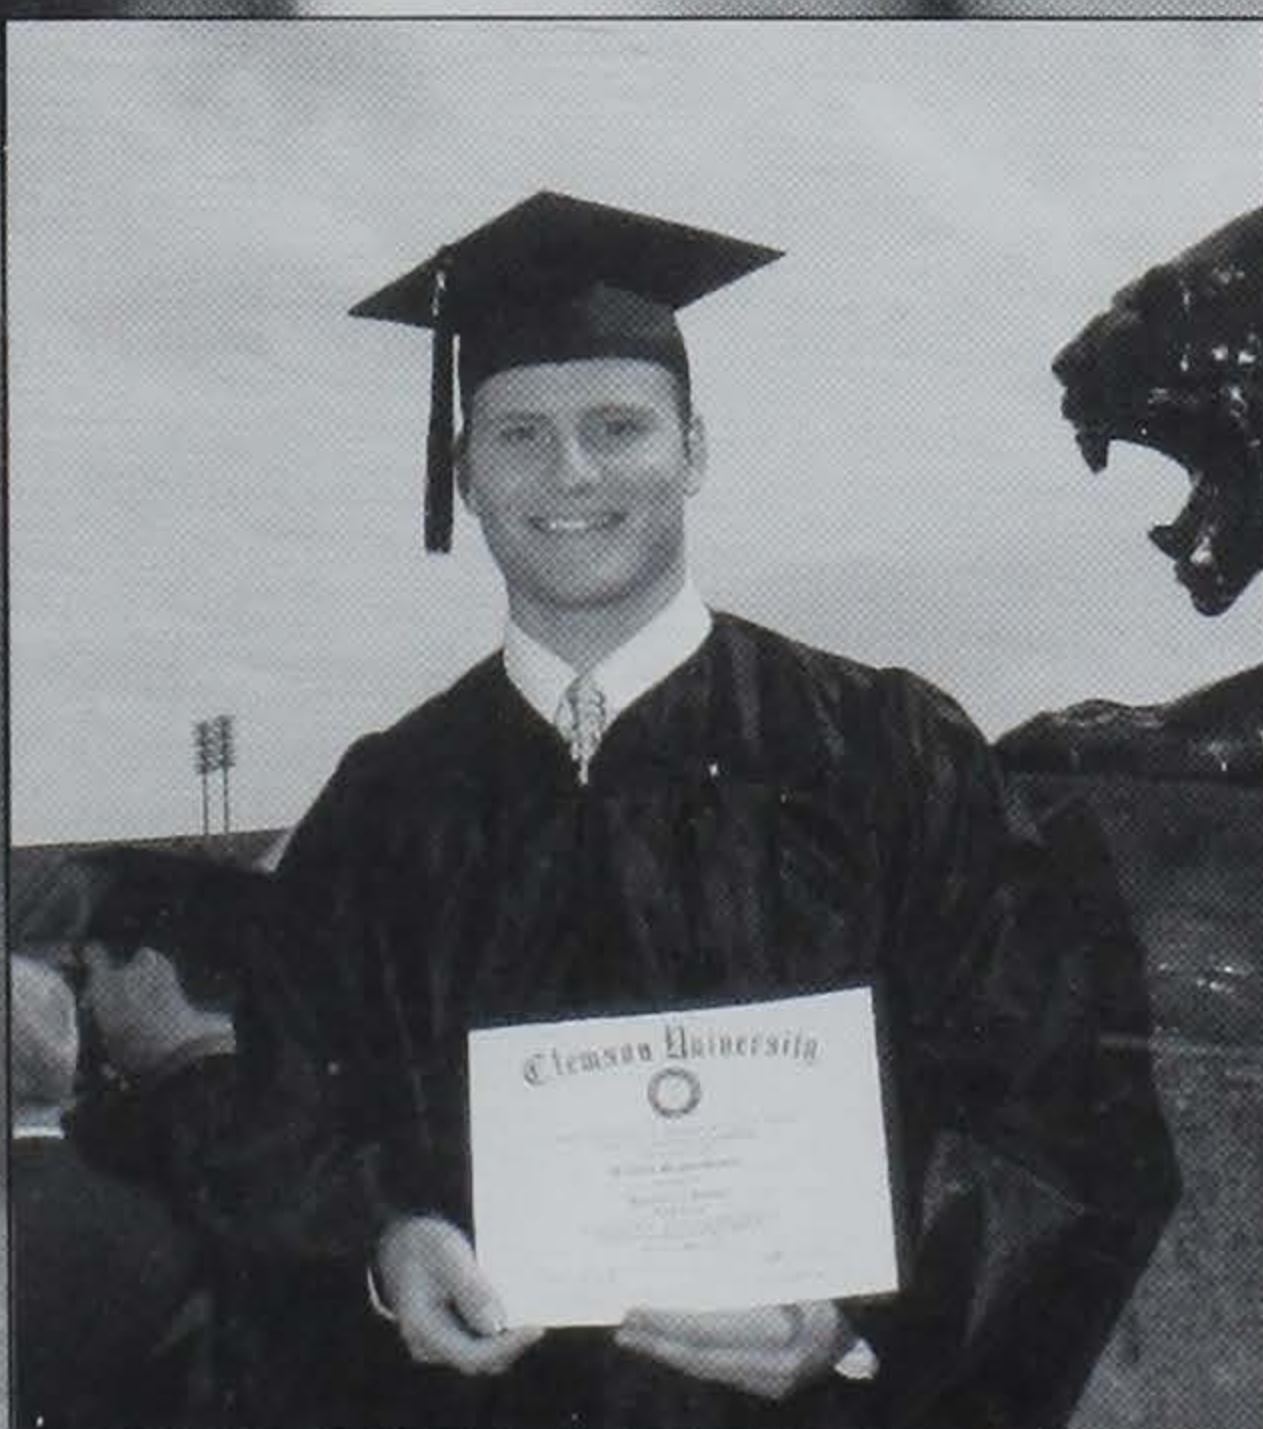

"We congratulate our student-athletes first," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson. "We also feel this is a testimony to the efforts of our coaches and Bill D'Andrea's staff at the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs."

"We have seen consistent improvement in the academic performance of our football program and all of our athletic teams in recent years since we built Vickery Hall in 1991. We are pleased with these results and our inclusion on this prestigious list."

Clemson's program is in good shape to earn future citations from the AFCA. Fourteen of the 18 seniors (78 percent) on Clemson's 1998 team have already graduated.

This past spring the Clemson football team had a team GPA of 2.38, its highest on record for a semester, and 24 members of the squad were on the academic honor roll. Thirteen members of the team had a GPA over 3.00 for the year and were named to the ACC Academic Honor roll in July. That list includes starting center Kyle Young, who had a perfect 4.0 for the year. Quarterback Brandon Streeter, who already has his undergraduate degree, is also on that list.

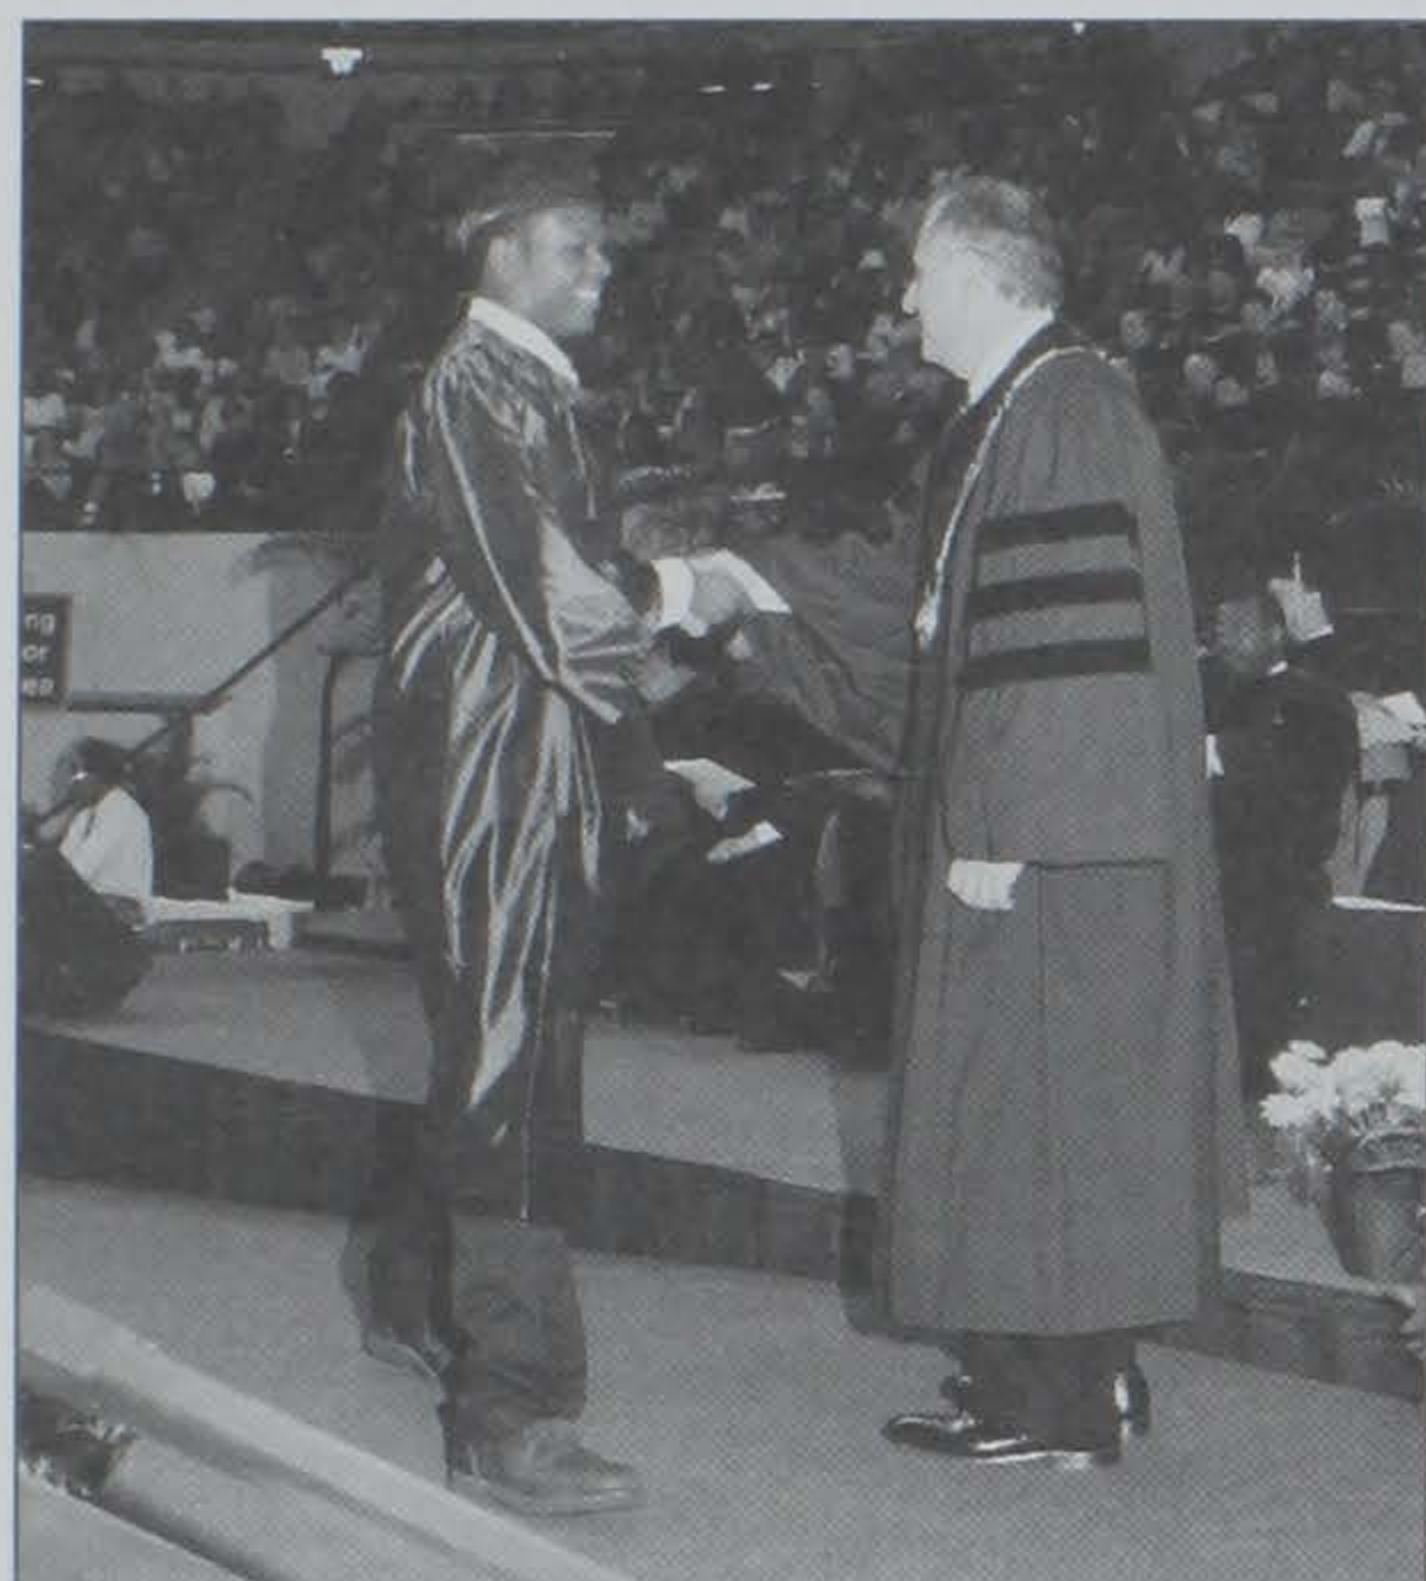

Clemson is one of five ACC schools to make the list of honored schools. The other ACC schools with a graduation rate of at least 70 percent were Duke, Virginia, Wake Forest, and North Carolina. The ACC had 55 percent of its conference members on the list, the highest percentage in the nation.

Thomas Green Clemson believed that South Carolina needed an institution of higher education dedicated to science and agriculture. With his belief came the foundation that was laid for Clemson Agricultural College. On April 6, 1888, Thomas Clemson died, leaving most of his estate to the state of South Carolina with the purpose of establishing a college that would teach scientific agriculture and the mechanical arts to the young people of South Carolina.

The college formally opened its doors in 1893 with an enrollment of 446 students. As an all-male military school, the college quickly became recognized across the nation as an important part of the national system of state universities and land-grant colleges. In 1955 Clemson became a civilian co-educational college. As the school expanded its academic offerings and research pursuits, the state Legislature renamed the college Clemson University in 1964.

Today, Clemson is much more than Thomas Clemson could have ever envisioned. The campus is located on 1400 acres of beautiful rolling hills on what once was the plantation of former U. S. Vice-President John C. Calhoun. Landmarks such as Fort Hill, the former home of the Clemsons and the Calhouns, Tillman with its clocktower, the statue of Thomas Green Clemson and the outdoor amphitheater all help retain the air of tradition.

The Clemson Student

*Almost 50 percent of last year's entering freshmen participated in the Advanced Placement program with more than 50 percent receiving credit for one or more courses.

*There is plenty of room for individual attention in the classroom, Clemson features a student to instructor ratio of 17/1.

*Clemson features a competitive student body, and thus a degree that has meaning. Clemson's 1998 entering freshman class achieved an average SAT score of 1145. This score is the highest ever attained by Clemson's entering students and once again leads the state's public colleges and universities.

*Clemson has a mentoring program to help students prepare and compete for Rhodes, Truman, Marshall, or Fulbright Scholarships.

*Clemson's total enrollment of 16,685 represents 50 states and 80 foreign countries.

*More than 450 employers interview Clemson students on campus each year through the University's Career Center.

*The Clemson family includes a mentoring and support network of over 80,000 alumni worldwide.

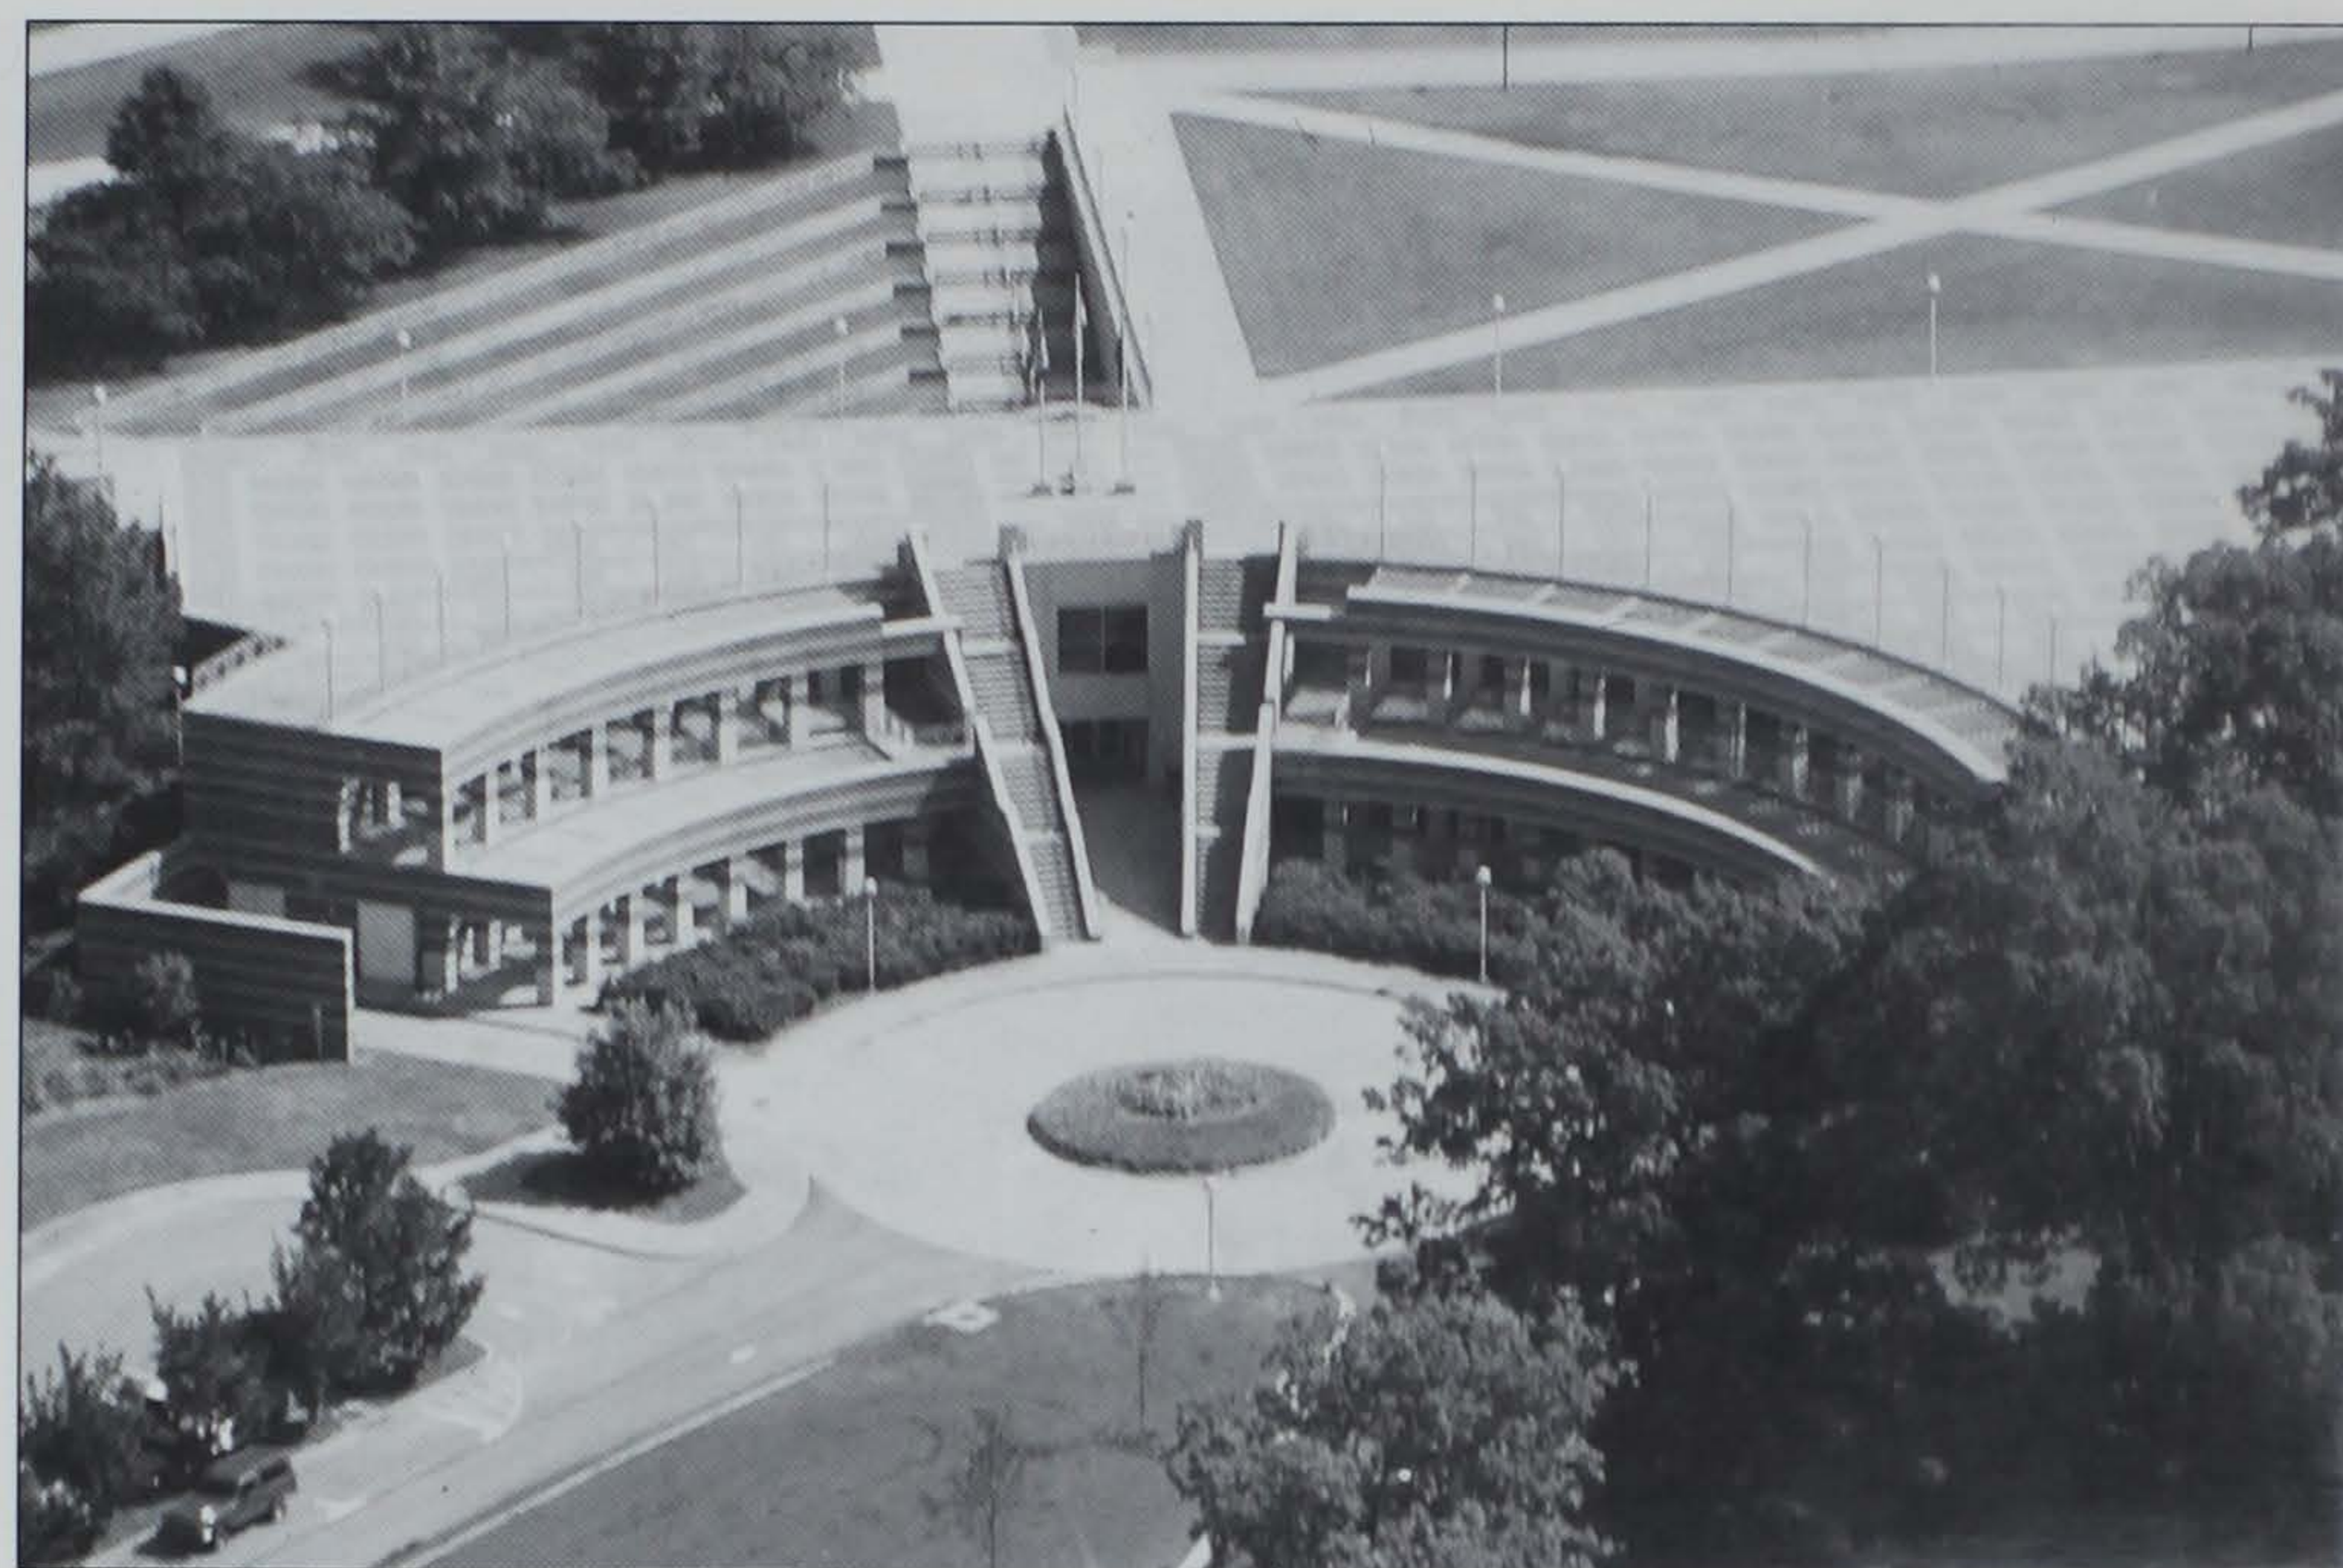

The Clemson Education

*U.S. News and World Report ranked Clemson the leading national university in South Carolina and 38th among the nation's top public universities.

*Clemson features a diverse curriculum, there are 73 undergraduate degree programs and 74 graduate degrees.

*Average class size is 31 students.

ture, Arts, and Humanities; Business and Public Affairs; Engineering and Science; and Health, Education, and Human Development.

*With the goal of maintaining the vision of Thomas Clemson, the school continues to place importance on the studies of agriculture, scientific, technological, and business courses. These courses and others help the Clemson student prepare for life in our fast-paced and changing society.

*Calhoun College, the Clemson Honors Program, strives to enrich the educational experience of highly motivated, academically talented students by providing opportunities for scholarship and research not ordinarily available to undergraduates. Established in 1962, Calhoun College is the oldest and largest honors program in South Carolina.

*Clemson University is a land-grant, state-assisted university accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award the bachelor's, master's, specialist and doctoral degrees.

*Clemson was one of the two South Carolina institutions to be selected for inclusion in America's 100 Best College Buys, 1998-99.

*Clemson is the only state-supported institution in South Carolina to be recognized in the 1998-99 edition of Peterson's Competitive Colleges: Top Colleges for Top Students.

*The Finance Department is among the best in the nation-listed ahead of such schools as Yale and Penn State- according to the Journal of Finance.

*Faculty members at Clemson come from a wide range of backgrounds. Over 500 institutions of higher learning that promote excellence in teaching, research, and scholarship are represented among the Clemson faculty.

*Eighty-six percent hold earned doctoral degrees, the highest degree in their field, and many have achieved special academic recognition. Many have also been honored by colleagues and students as master teachers for their excellence in the classroom and by the Outstanding Educators of America.

*When a student enrolls at Clemson, the interaction between student and faculty solidifies as each student is assigned a faculty adviser in his or her chosen field of study. The faculty adviser will assist the student with class scheduling and academic counseling throughout his or her stay at Clemson as well.

*Clemson is among the top 15 universities in the nation in generated revenue from patents and intellectual properties according to the Wall Street Journal/Southeast Journal.

The Clemson Facilities

*Now under construction is the Hendrix Student Center, a 108,000 square foot facility in the heart of Clemson's campus that will house a convenience store, food court, movie theatre, hair salon, coffee shop, copy shop and telecommunications center. The center will have 15,000 square feet of meeting rooms and a 2,600 square foot student lounge. The student center will also be the home of the Office of Career Services and Placement, the Multicultural Affairs Department, the Student Bookstore, the student media and the University Union. The center is scheduled to open in January, 2000.

*The main University library, Robert Muldrow Cooper Library, is situated in the center of campus. The library has become one of the national leaders in automated information retrieval. Its bibliographic records are accessible from anywhere in the world electronically, easing the task of finding information in its collections, which total more than 1.7 million items. Numerous periodical indexes are housed on-line and available for automated searching. The collections are particularly strong in agriculture, natural and physical sciences, economics and technology. Of special interest are the James F. Brynes and Edgar A. Brown Rooms, which have the collections of papers of these statesmen.

*A cornerstone of the University is its computer facilities. Clemson's computer center, which supports student course work and research in all disciplines, is also used by government and industry. The center provides general computing services on a network. Remote sites housing more than 1,600 terminals and 600 microcomputers are conveniently located in many different areas of campus. International and national telephone modem access is also available.

*All students are assigned a user identification code when they enroll, which allows them to

*Recently finished was the newest student residence facility, McCabe Hall. McCabe replaces a portion of Johnstone Hall and serves students with new updated comfortable dormitory living in an attractive building inside and out.

*The Office of Career Services and Placement can help with planning and finding summer and full-time employment. The office assists in career counseling and planning, searching for a job, preparing resumes and developing job interview strategies. Resources include staff expertise, books, videotapes and literature provided by companies and agencies. Clemson has developed one of the best automated placement systems in the country, allowing students to research employers and sign up for interviews from any mainframe computer terminals on campus.

*The Office of Career Services doesn't just serve the needs of seniors; it serves all students and alumni. Interest tests and interactive computer programs help students explore their career interests. Also, if incoming freshmen are unsure about which major to choose, the Career Center can offer information on career choices, testing and interpretation for career direction.

The Clemson Experience

Whether its walking to the Agriculture Sales Center to have a milkshake or taking a stroll through the State's Botanical Gardens or even taking part in a pick-up basketball game at Fike Recreation Center, there are plenty of activities for Clemson students when they are not in the classroom.

*Clemson has more than 230 student organizations that are active on campus, including 23 social fraternities and 14 social sororities. There are organizations related to every course of study - groups such as the Accounting Club, and the American Institute of Architects. For students who enjoy writing or photography, the Tiger, the campus newspaper, TAPS, the university yearbook; or the Chronicle, the student variety magazine, are available.

*Located in the University Union are the offices of the student government. Student government gives students the opportunity to influence campus policy.

*Fike Recreation Center has a host of opportunities for students to let off steam through physical activity. Inside Fike is an eight-lane swimming pool, a diving tank, two gyms used for basketball and other activities, various weight lifting facilities, and room for aerobics. Outside Fike are several spacious fields used for the extensive intramural program and for student enjoyment. There are indoor and lighted outdoor tennis courts across the street from Fike at the Hoke A. Sloan Tennis Center.

Madren Center

use the various mainframe applications such as electronic mail, job placement service, library card catalog and information databases, and housing and course registration.

*The $12.5 million Robert Howell Brooks Center for the Performing Arts opened in 1996. The facility brings an exciting array of fine arts productions to the University, while working to make the arts accessible to a new and larger audience.

The New Walker Golf Course is one of the most picturesque areas of the Clemson campus. It is one of the top new courses in South Carolina and features the Tiger Paw Hole, a challenging par three whose green and four accompanying bunkers are in the shape of Clemson's famous logo.

The Madren Center is also a new convention and meeting facility that attracts major corporations and other national organizations to the Clemson campus. This past year the Martin Inn was opened in conjunction with this modern facility that borders Lake Hartwell at the Walker Golf Course.

TRADITION

The Clemson campus dates to 1889 and many of the buildings are steeped in tradition. A statue of the University's founder, Thomas Green Clemson, greets University visitors.

TRADITIONS

Clemson's traditions in conjunction with athletics date to the first Homecoming weekend in 1922. The annual Tigerama Homecoming pageant attracts as many as 30,000 people. The season kicks off with the annual First Friday Parade, which culminates with the first pep rally of the year.

ENTERTAINMENT

With a famous and very large stadium, more than just football games come to Death Valley. Concerts featuring the likes of George Strait, The Eagles, U2, Billy Joel and Elton John have been held at Clemson in recent years.

ACC ATHLETICS

Football takes center stage, but there is year round national athletic competition on the Clemson campus when teams from the finest all-around athletic conference in the country, the Atlantic Coast Conference, come to Clemson. That includes ACC basketball, the finest basketball conference in the nation.

PEDESTRIAN CAMPUS

Clemson is a pedestrian campus with countless trees. In the spring, drives through campus are slow as visitors take photos of the stunning flowers.

LAKE HARTWELL

With an average temperature of 72 degrees, including 68 degrees during the football season, the Clemson campus scene is enhanced by Lake Hartwell, which borders the campus. Water sports or just a quiet place to relax are in abundance right in your own backyard.

The signs on the side of the highway as you enter the Clemson city limits say "Clemson: In Season Every Season." From the point of view of most Clemson graduates, the seasons this slogan speaks of are football, basketball, baseball, etc. But a drive through town in the middle of spring, when the azaleas and dogwoods are in full bloom, or a walk through campus in October, when the trees are blazing in the brilliant colors of autumn, will leave little doubt that Clemson is indeed in season, every season.

Nestled in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains and caressed by the shores of the beautiful Lake Hartwell, Clemson is located in the northwestern corner of South Carolina, two hours north of Atlanta, GA, and two hours southwest of Charlotte, NC. The town may not be one of the state's largest most days of the week, but on many autumn Saturdays, it becomes the second-largest city, as 81,000 fans come from all directions to watch the Tigers play football, but the friendly residents of Clemson and the surrounding towns welcome the visitors home each year with a true dose of southern hospitality.

Clemson is steeped in history. The university campus is located on what was Fort Hill Plantation, home of John C. Calhoun, one of the great statesmen of the 19th century, and of his son-in-law, Thomas Green Clemson. The house, which was built in 1806, stands in the center of campus and is open to the public. Also on the Clemson campus is a 1716 low country French Huguenot home, Hanover House, which was transported to Clemson in 1941. Just a mile or so down the road, is the Pendleton Historic District, where several other antebellum homes are open to the public. The entire village of Pendleton is on the National Register of Historic Places.

The area boasts a great variety of restaurants, ranging from the downtown barbeque and hamburger spots, to the historic Liberty Hall Inn and Calhoun Corners. Any palate or budget can find something to his or her liking, as over 50 eating establishments are located in the Clemson/Pendleton/Central area. The area adopts Clemson Fever, as Tiger Paws are omnipresent on local billboards and entrances.

The mild climate of the foothills lends itself to many outdoor activities throughout the year. Clemson has excellent and ample facilities for tennis and golf, fishing, swimming or hiking, white water rafting, and various other pursuits.

And, when one wants to leave Clemson, they don't have far to go to find whatever they are looking for. Professional sports are only a couple of hours away in Atlanta and Charlotte. Clemson was the home of the NFL's Carolina Panthers for eight regular season and two exhibition games in 1995.

For sun and fun, it's an easy interstate drive to the coast of South Carolina, to Hilton Head Island, Myrtle Beach, or even historic Charleston. And for those who enjoy cooler climates, the mountains of North Carolina are only an hour's drive away.

Since its inception in 1991, the five-faceted Student-Athlete Enrichment Program has provided its student-athletes a continued commitment to excellence. Our approach is to address the total student-athlete, and we are committed to coaching our student-athletes to success (C.A.T.S.) not only in the athletic arena but in the academic, personal growth, career, and service arenas as well. As an original member of the NCAA Life Skills/CHAMPS Program, we provide opportunities and services to address the changing needs and skills of student-athletes in the years during college and after graduation.

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 19 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletics Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and was the first support facility in the country built solely for the all-around education of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000 square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes.

The mission of the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs is to monitor, guide, and encourage student-athletes to fulfill their long-term goals, and to achieve their academic and career potential.

Vickery Hall focuses on five primary areas to meet the student-athlete's needs.

C.A.T.S.
Coaching Athletes To Success

ACADEMIC COMMITMENT

The academic commitment aspect of Clemson's Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation.

The proof is in the statistics. A record 181 Clemson student-athletes made the academic honor roll in 1999. The student-athletes had a record 2.71 GPA in the spring of 1999, just .07 from the overall student body GPA of 2.78. Records were also established for number of President's List and Dean's List students. In the spring of 1999 the Clemson football team posted a team GPA of 2.38, highest on record. Thirteen players were named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll for 1998-99.

The Academic Counselors perform a variety of duties to track academic progress. These duties include providing assistance in registration and priority scheduling, contacting faculty, personally checking classes, recording information, counseling sessions with student-athletes, providing diagnostic testing, and directing career aspirations.

One of the most prestigious programs that has received recognition essential to the growth of Vickery Hall is the tutorial program.

Of the 160 programs certified by CRLA, the Clemson Student-Athlete Enrichment Program is one of three student-athlete programs in the country to be granted a Level 1 certification from the College of Reading and Learning Association, International Tutor Certification Program.

Having tutor certification allows student-athletes to be provided the highest quality of academic assistance possible. Approximately 80 tutors are hired to provide academic support in the many subject areas offered.

Many post-graduate scholarships and internships are also available to student-athletes continuing their education through postgraduate studies. Our student-athletes are provided timely information regarding these opportunities and the resources necessary to assist in the application process for either scholarships or internships.

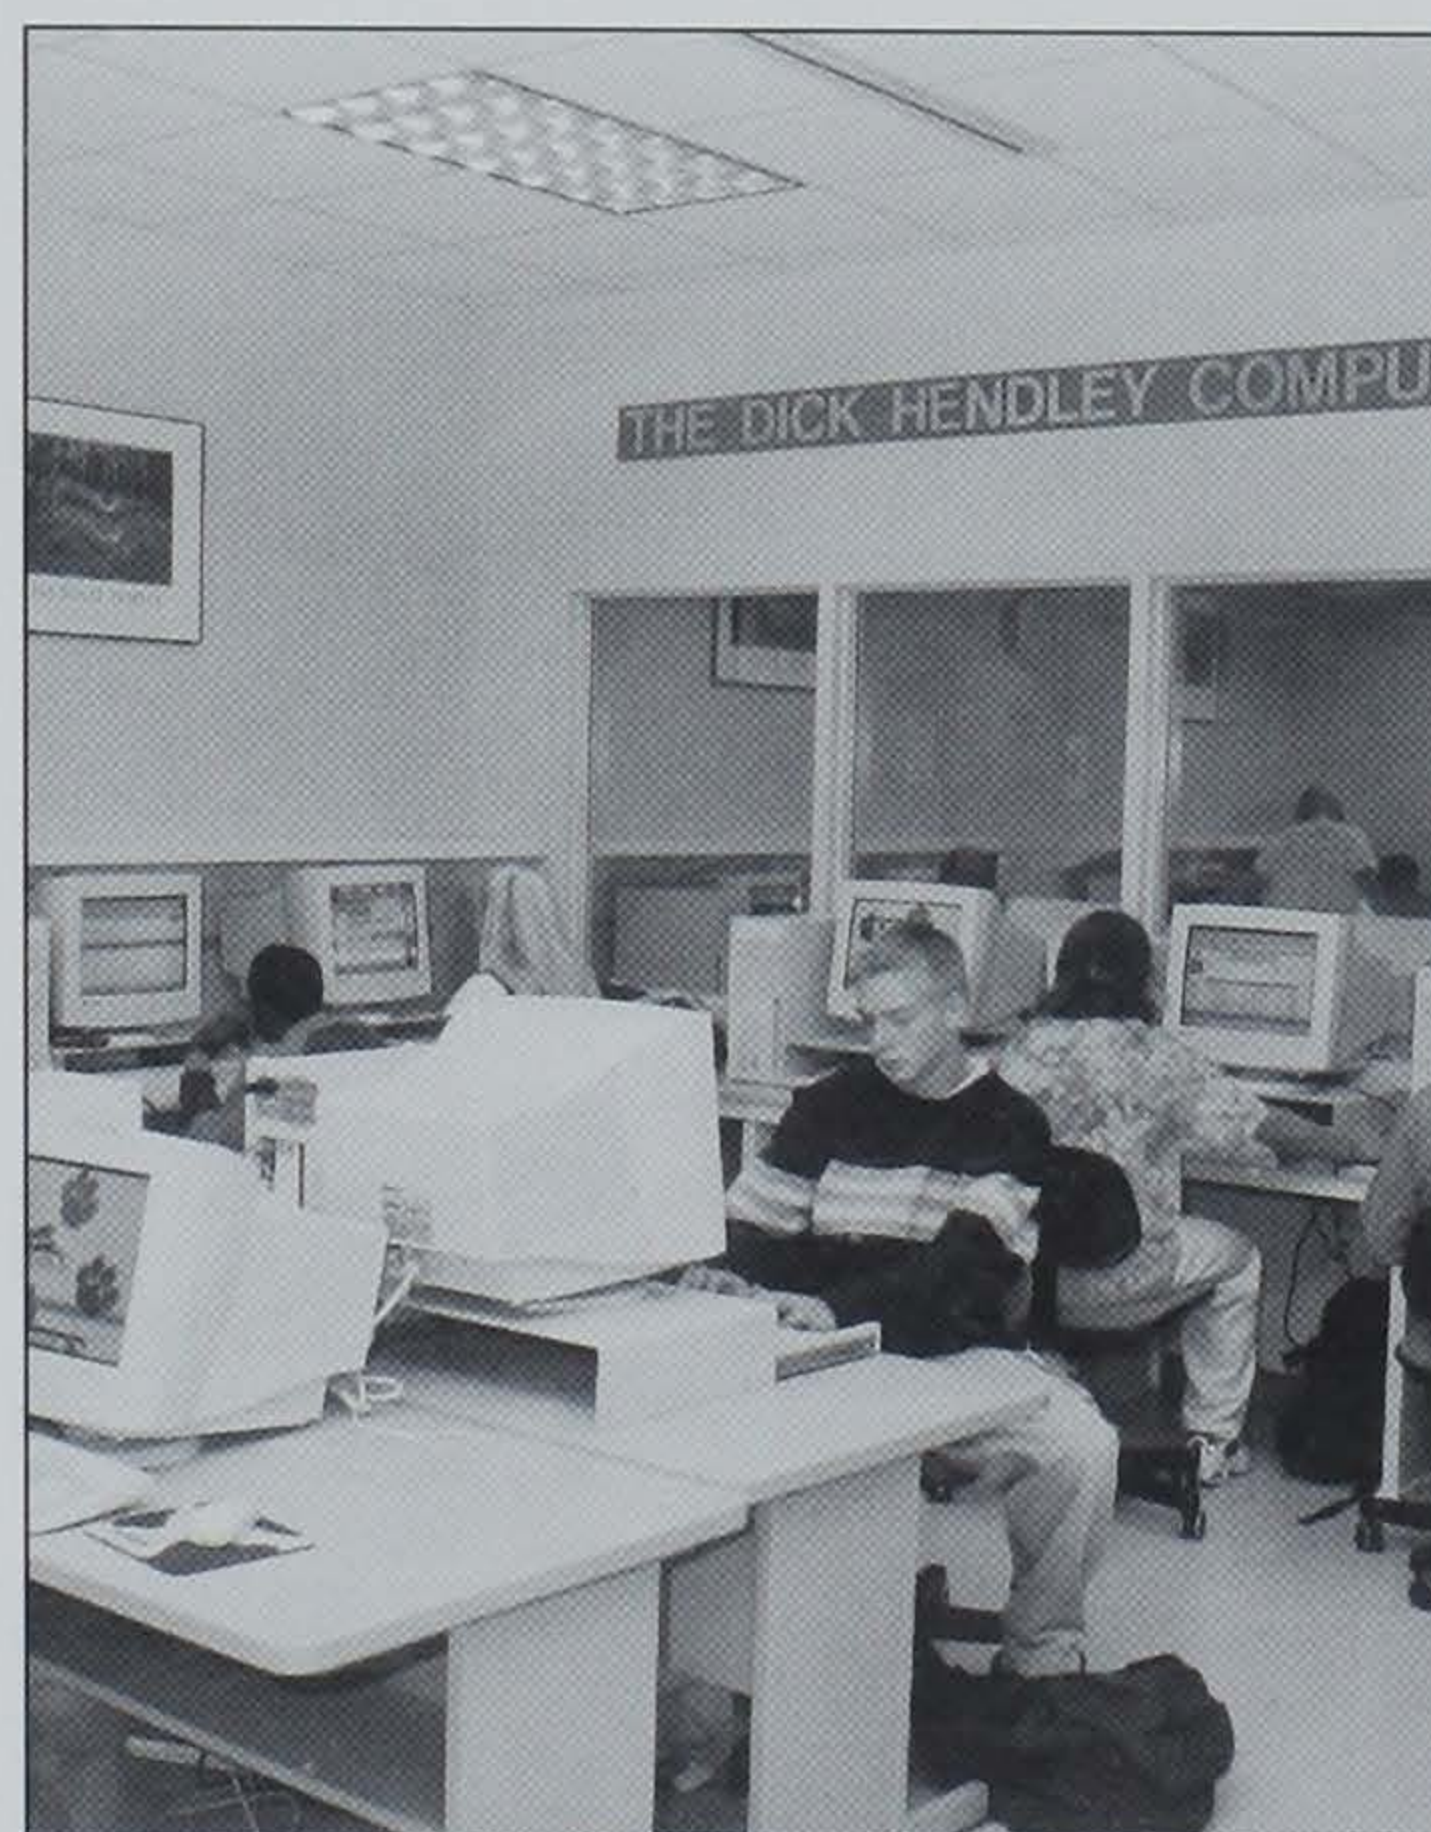

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to provide the student-athletes at Clemson with one of the largest computer labs in the country. Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Microcomputer Laboratory.

The lab is open seven days a week, for 16 hours on Monday through Thursday, and a limited time on Saturday and Sunday. During exam periods the lab hours are extended.

The lab staff has a full-time computer manager, and also graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course, as well as the many management, engineering, and business courses that deal with personal computers.

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs is committed to providing state-of-the-art computing facilities. New computers have recently been purchased bringing the lab to a state of the art facility. Over 40 computers are available for student-athletes.

All computers are fully connected to the internet allowing for access of computers throughout the world for research and communication.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT COMMITMENT

One of the most important programs that helps student-athletes reach their full potential and engage successfully in this college experience is the Personal Growth and Development Program.

One of the key components of this program is the first-semester freshman transition class designed to assist the student-athlete in making a successful transition into his/her university and athletic life. All first-semester freshmen attend a semester-long series of workshops targeting the transitional issues of time management, organizational strategies, health and wellness issues, athletic issues, diversity issues, career orientation, and service training. Throughout the academic year, all student-athletes are required to attend four large-group programs, which focus on pertinent social, health, and athletic issues.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT COMMITMENT

The Career Assistance Program provides student-athletes an opportunity to fulfill career aspirations by participating in various career seminars offered by the staff at Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide student-athletes with job-searching skills and strategies, internships, practical experience, and summer employment. These programs are designed to address specific career opportunities and acquire information about the student-athletes for each year.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center, and the Athletic Department, the staff is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with the Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athletes with job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Career Assistance Program is coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and focuses on resume writing and interview techniques.

SERVICE COMMITMENT

Providing community and outreach service to student-athletes and the surrounding community by engaging the student-athletes in hands-on interactive programs is an important aspect of the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs. The staff of SAEP coordinates various activities each year to engage student-athletes in community outreach projects along with academic programs.

Another aspect of the service commitment is that of community service. The purpose of community service is to allow the student-athletes to become involved with the happenings of the community while giving back at the same time. Each year every team is required to perform at least two community outreach projects. Recently implemented was a new community service program entitled Success Away

From the Game. The purpose of this program is to combine athletes of different sports in community outreach programs. By doing this, each outreach program participates, thus creating a diverse group of athletes with new and different ideas. At the end of each year, six student-athletes who have demonstrated outstanding commitment and contributions to the community are recognized as the Top 6 by the ACC.

LIFELine, another aspect of community service, consists of chosen football players who work together in specific community outreach projects. LIFELine has approximately 20 members along with a president, vice president and secretary. Once a month, these young men meet to discuss future projects. To date, they have sponsored Hi-Five Day, planted a garden at Helping Hands Children Shelter, and held reading programs at elementary schools. These young men have vital roles in both the community and the athletic arena.

To assist our student-athletes in becoming effective service leaders and communicators we provide service and speaking training, which anticipates the demands placed on a student-athlete when he/she might be speaking with a group of young people or also speaking with the media.

ATHLETIC COMMITMENT

Under the direction of athletic director Bobby Robinson, Clemson is undoubtedly one of the elite programs of Division I athletics.

Seven Clemson teams ranked in the final top 20 of their respective sports last season, including four teams in the top 10 (men's soccer, women's basketball, golf and men's indoor track). Two teams, men's soccer and golf, were ranked number-one in the nation at various times during the season. Last year marked the fourth straight year Clemson has had at least seven top 25 teams. Thirteen of Clemson's 19 teams advanced to postseason play during the 1998-99 academic year. Seven of the 13 finished in the Sweet 16 or better of their respective postseason events.

With a generous funding base from Clemson's booster organization, IPTAY, and the forward-thinking of our athletic administration, the Clemson Tigers will continue to be a dominating athletic force, not only in the ACC, but nationally as well.

Former Clemson running back Rodney Blunt

"Clemson's record at home is not a coincidence. Running down the hill is a part of that record. You get so inspired, and so much of college football is about emotion. You get out of that bus and you hear the roar of the crowd and it gives you chills up and down your spine."

Former Clemson All-America kicker David Treadwell

"The rock has strange powers. When you rub it, and run down the hill, the adrenaline flows. Its the most emotional experience I've ever had."

Six-time All-Pro and former Clemson All-American Michael Dean Perry

"Running down the hill is still talked about everywhere I go. Players who played against Clemson when I was in college remember us running the hill and thinking we would gain some type of spirit. The adrenalin rush was unbelievable for a Clemson player and quite a shock for the opponent."

Former Clemson All-American Jerry Butler

"Last spring, New York Knicks Head Coach Jeff Van Gundy came to Clemson for a coaching clinic. One of the first things he said was, 'before I leave I've got to rub Howard's Rock.' So, we brought him to the rock about midnight one night. He rubbed the rock, but he wouldn't run down the hill. He was a little afraid of that."

Clemson Memorial Stadium has been held in high esteem for many years. Whether it be players from the 1940s and 1950s, opposing players from the 1970s and 1980s, or even professional players in the 1990s, the ambiance of this special setting is what college football is all about.

This year the storied edifice will add to its legend when the first meeting of father and son head coaches (Bowden Bowl I) takes place before a sellout crowd of over 84,000 fans.

In the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s, various publications have named top 10 stadiums in college football and Clemson Memorial Stadium, affectionately known as "Death Valley," has been a common denominator on those lists.

The facility's mystique is derived from its many traditions, which date to its opening in 1942, the legendary games and players, and Clemson's corresponding rate of success. Clemson has won 199 games in the previous 57 years there (199-78-7) and has won over 70 percent of the contests. Twenty-eight times since 1983, crowds have exceeded 80,000.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need".

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing-there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow. This year Clemson celebrates its 58th year in this outstanding facility.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 pm and we played at 2:00 pm." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

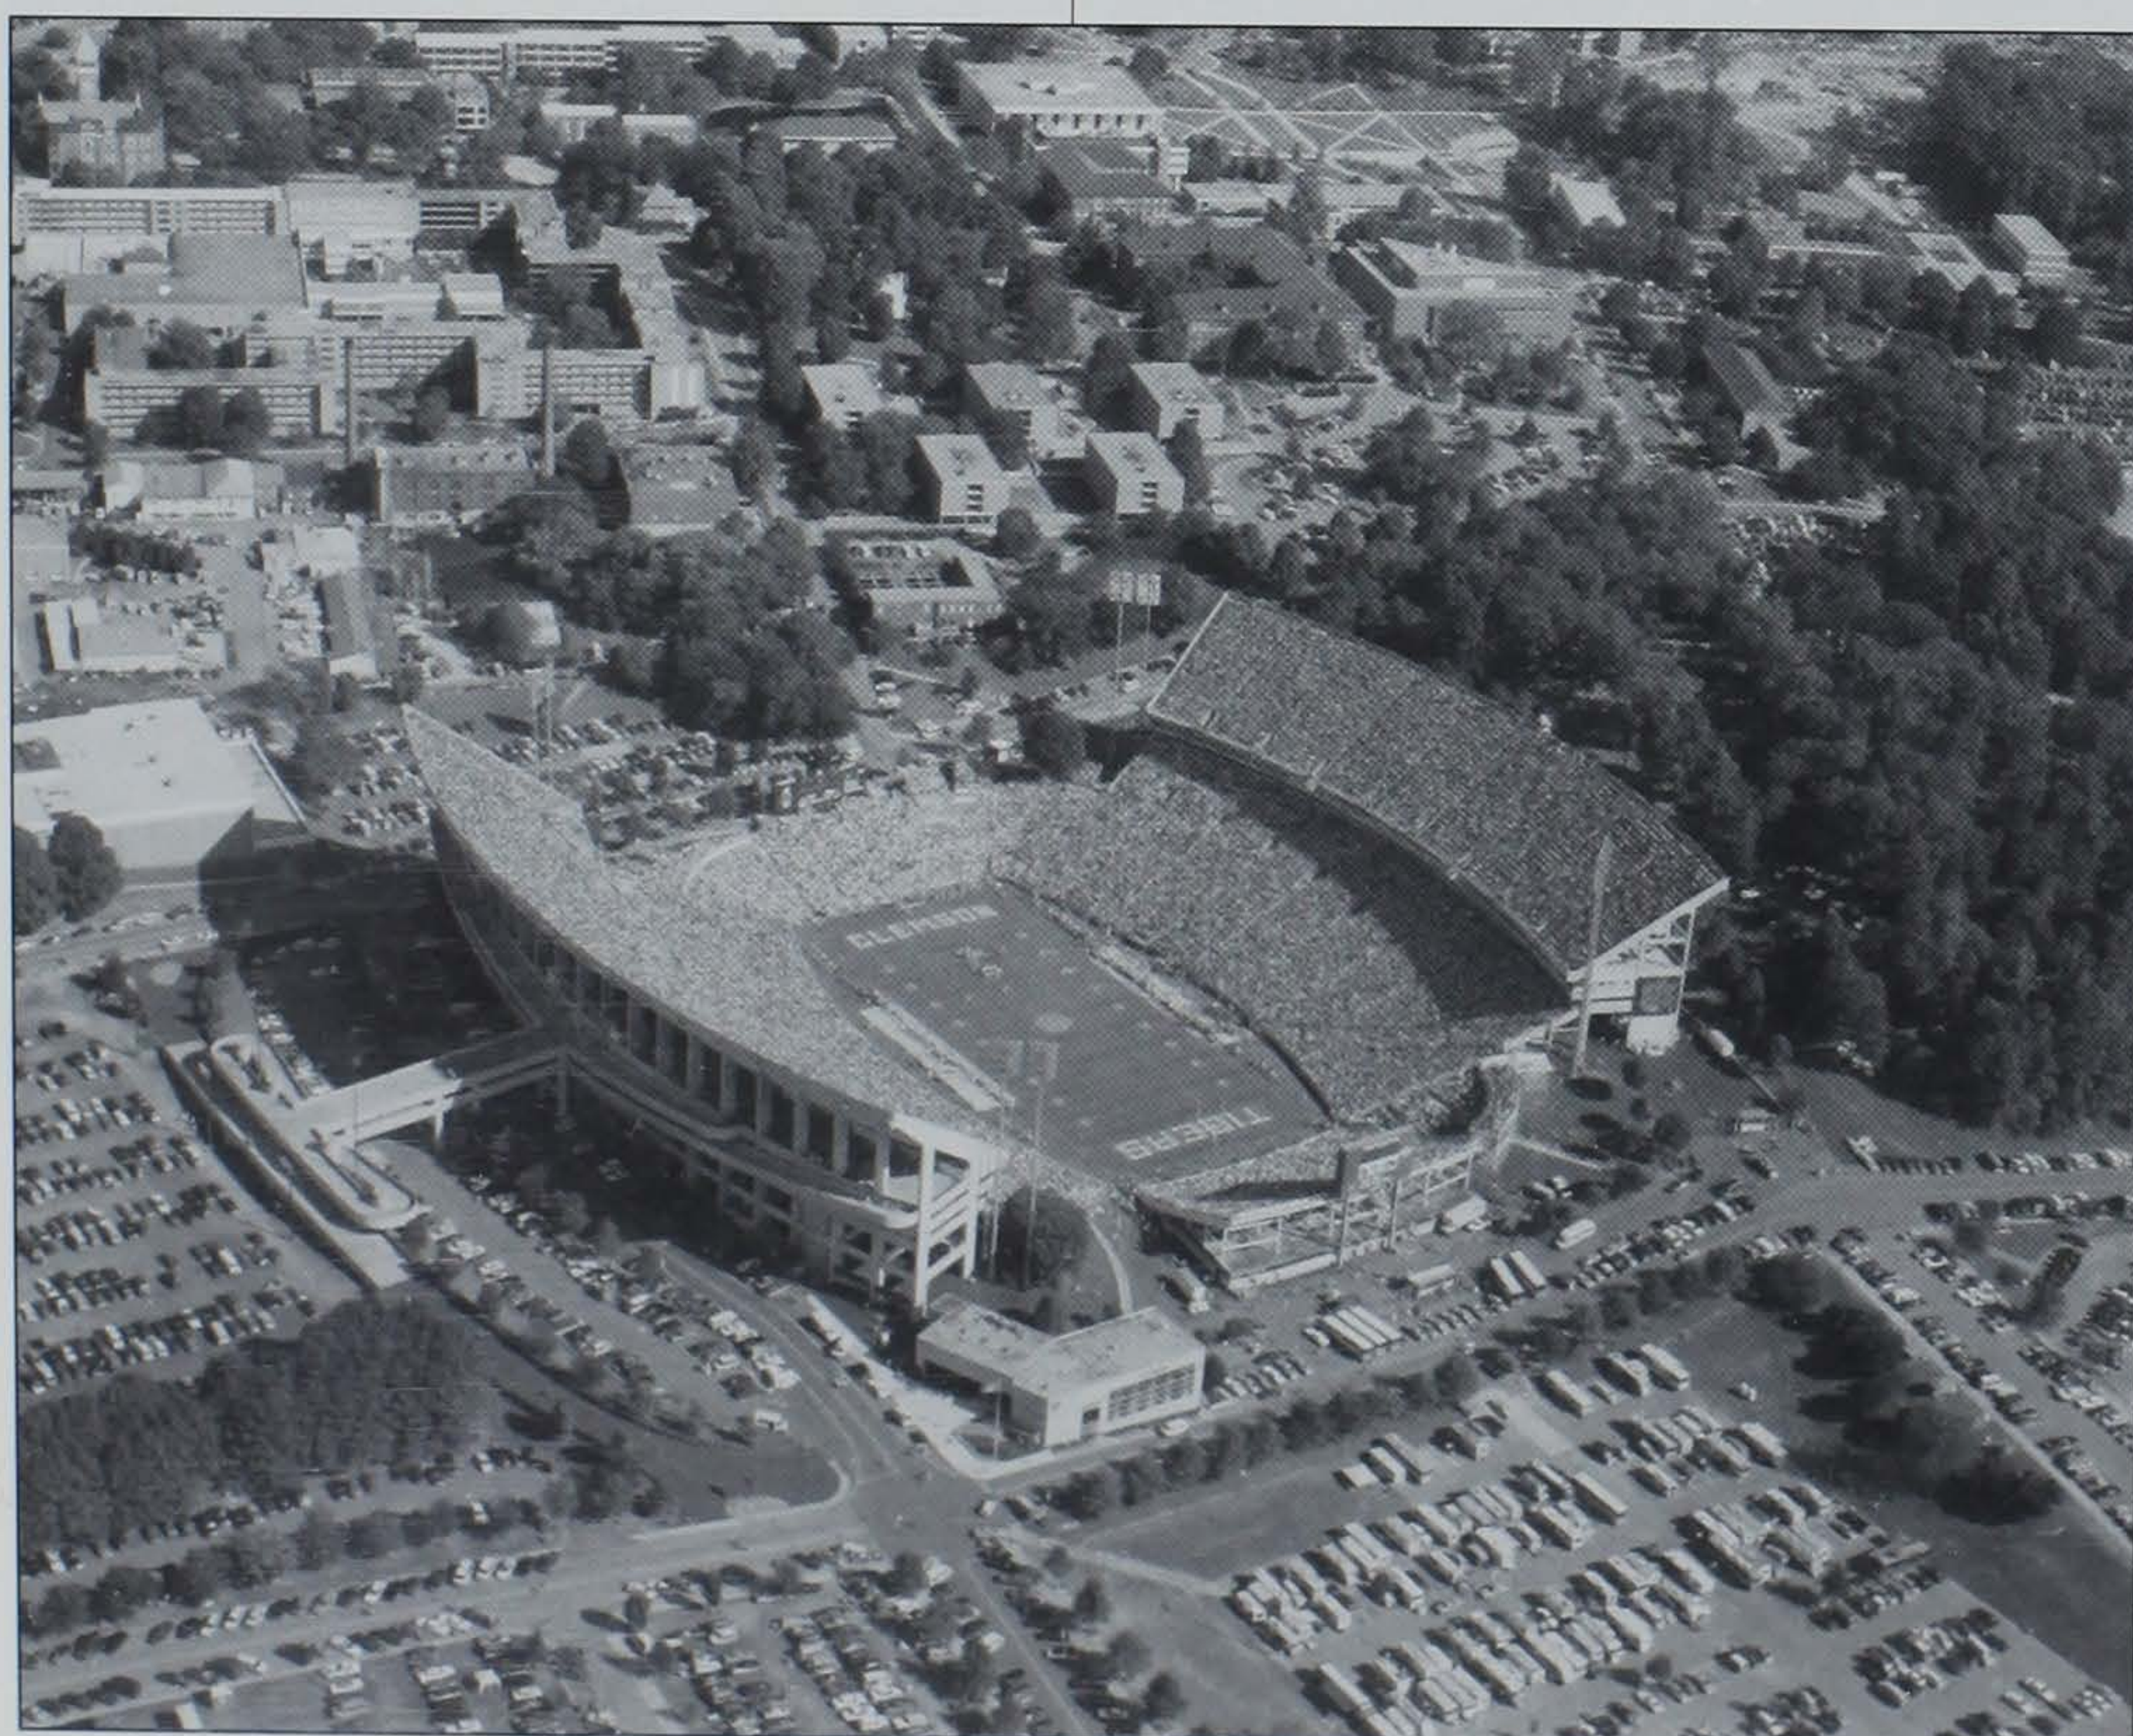

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled-the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Clemson has had 28 crowds over 80,000 in Death Valley, including the 1995 Georgia game that kicked off the Centennial of Clemson football.

What has been described as, "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint," actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

The first 20,000 seats in Clemson Memorial Stadium were built and ready for use before the 1942 season. Less than a year before Pearl Harbor was bombed and the United States was at war.

The shortest entry into the stadium was a walk down Williamson Road from Fike Field House's dressing rooms to a gate at the top of the hill behind the east end zone. There were no dressing facilities in the west end zone—only a big clock where the hands turned, and a scoreboard, which was operated by hand.

The team would dress at Fike, walk down Williamson Road, come in the gate underneath where the big scoreboard now stands and jog down the hill for its warmup exercises. There was no fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no tiger paw flag, no Tiger Rag played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side straddle hop.

That's pretty much the way things went for the next 25 years.

Either in 1964 or 1965, S.C. Jones, a member of the Clemson class of 1919, made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, CA, and picked up this white flint rock. He presented it to Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, CA, to Death Valley, South Carolina."

The rock laid on the floor in Howard's office in Fike for a year or more. One day Howard was cleaning up his office and he told Gene Willimon, who was the executive secretary of IPTAY, to, "take this rock and throw it over the fence, or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office."

Willimon didn't think that was the way a rock should be treated. After all, it had been brought 3000 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid-sixties, Memorial Stadium was pretty well living up to its moniker, Death Valley, because of the number of victories that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by the late Lonnie McMillian, head coach at Presbyterian College in Clinton in the 1940s.

McMillian and the other Blue Hose coaches before him used to open the season each year by coming to Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shut outs in 39 games) and with only three wins and four ties to show for it, his teams were getting killed by the Tigers regularly. In 1948 McMillian made the comment to the press that he was taking his team to play Clemson in Death Valley.

An occasional reference to Memorial stadium by that name could be heard for the next three or four years, but when Howard started calling it 'Death Valley' in the 1950's, the name took off like wildfire. The Tigers celebrated the 50th season in the 'valley' in 1991.

But getting back to Howard's rock.

The rock was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill. It was unveiled September 24, 1966, on a day when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers were down 18 points with 17 minutes to play and came back to win (40-35) on a 65-yard pass play from Jimmy Addison to Jacky Jackson in the fourth period. That was quite a spectacular debut for that rock.

The team members started rubbing the rock prior to running down the hill September 23, 1967, a day when Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 23-6. Prior to running down the hill that day, Howard told his players: "If you're going to give me 110 percent, you can rub that rock. If you're not, keep your filthy hands off it." Howard told of the incident the next day on his Sunday television show and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard as head coach prior to the 1970 season, Ingram decided that the team would make its final entrance on the field out of the dressing room in the west end zone. In all home games in 1970 and 1971 and the first four of 1972 when the Tigers did not run down the hill, their record was 6-9. The team decided it wanted to come down the hill once prior to the South Carolina game in 1972. The result, in a cold, freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory when Jimmy Williamson knocked down a two-point conversion attempt which preserved the win.

The Tigers have made the entrance for every home game since 1942, except for the seasons mentioned above—268 times heading into the 1999 season.

After Clemson's final warm-up, the team goes back into its dressing room under the west end zone stands for final game instructions. About 10 minutes before kickoff the team boards two buses, rides around behind the north stands to the east end zone and debarks to the top of the hill behind Howard's Rock.

At the appointed time, the cannon booms and led by a high-flying tiger paw flag, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and strikes up 'Tiger Rag'...The frenzy starts in all sincerity...and usually lasts two and a half to three hours.

It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years.

Clemson fans look forward to seeing tough, hard-nosed football when they come to Death Valley or travel to other schools to watch their Tigers in action. But some of the Tigers' most intense competition and action doesn't take place on autumn Saturday's and it doesn't take place on a field. Take a peek into the Clemson Strength Training Room at almost any time of day, almost any day of the week, at any time of the year, and you will see the Tigers building the foundation for their pursuit of a championship.

Perhaps the most impressive characteristic of the facility is its size. Several years ago, it was enlarged to an astounding 11,000 square feet, making it one of the largest in the nation. Two years ago, it was expanded to 14,000 square feet. The facility boasts two full lines of Nautilus machines and over 12 tons of weights. The large number of machines and free weights allows the weight room to be used by athletes from several other sports at the same time, without anyone having to wait in line at a particular station.

Within the last two years the dumbbell area and leg development areas were expanded as well as the nutrition and hydration area known as the Power Station. The Power Station features the energy and recovery drink to aid each athlete's recovery from intense training.

The plush atmosphere provides an interesting contrast to the physical exertion that takes place in the facility. When an athlete enters the etched glass doors, he is greeted by plush, wall-to-wall carpeting, walls lined with mirrors, ceiling fans, and music from a 26-speaker sound system - a worthy backdrop for well over $500,000 worth of state-of-the-art equipment.

Color television monitors are also positioned throughout the facility. These monitors are used for training and instruction, as Tiger strength coaches film the athletes and work with them on form correction.

The strength training staff spends long hours working around the various schedules of each sport and even takes the facility on the road when the Tiger football team plays in a bowl game.

The large staff of four full-time strength coaches, four graduate assistants, numerous student assistants, and volunteers ensures that each football player receives proper instruction on the fundamentals of strength and speed development. Training programs at Clemson are position specific and designed to meet the needs and demands of each athlete. Also, each position is appointed a full-time strength coach that serves as a personal trainer for that particular athlete throughout his career.

Hard core training and competition in the weight room and the annual Ironman Classic will help each athlete reach optimal levels in strength and speed development. The Tiger Strength Training and Nutrition Program helps each athlete to become a complete player.

The Clemson Athletic Department continued its commitment to provide its student-athletes with the best facilities when it completed the Banks McFadden Building at the Jervy Athletic Center in 1995. The dedication of this 20,000-square-foot facility was the cornerstone of the Jervy Athletic Center renovation project that was completed in 1996. It is designed to give all Clemson gridders the most modern and comfortable facilities in the nation.

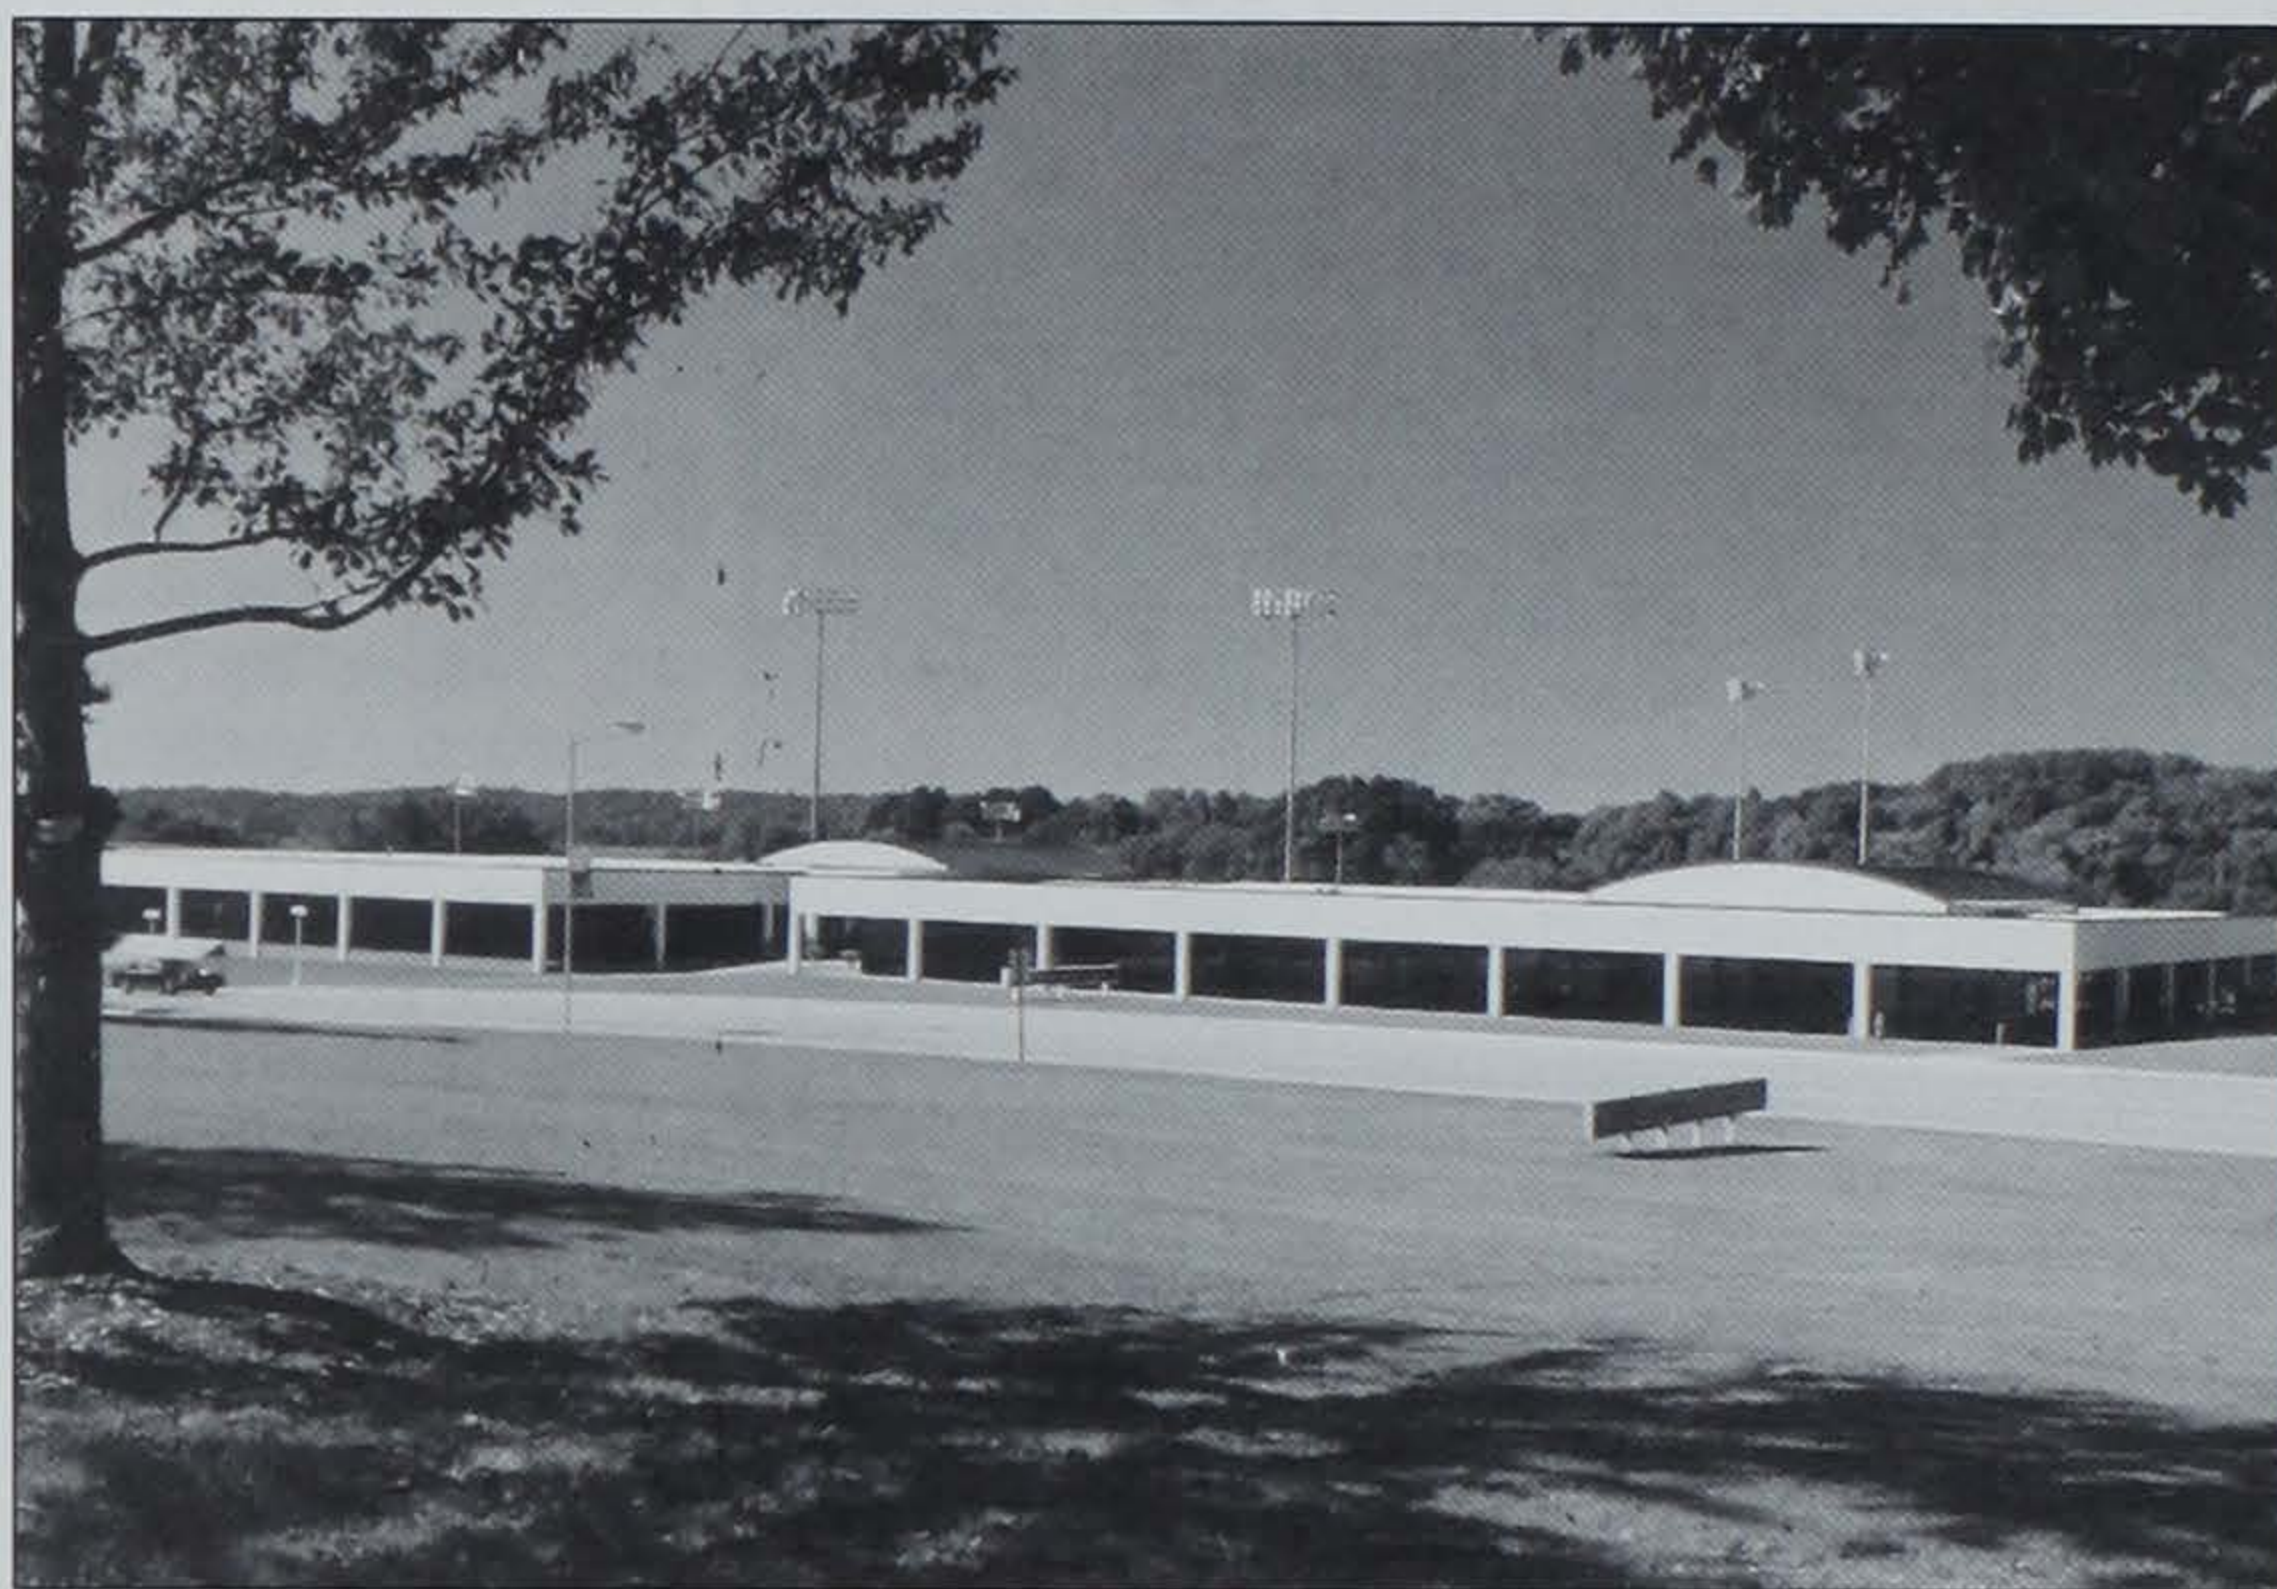

The McFadden Building houses all the coaching offices and meeting rooms for Clemson's football team. The facility has meeting rooms for all nine position areas, so players are no longer forced to view film and discuss key strategy in a coach's cramped office. Each meeting room is equipped with "state of the art" video equipment.

There is also an auditorium that holds as many as 180 people and is used for team meetings and press conferences. Additionally, there are private rooms for interviews with the media, a lounge, and even a pro scout facility that allows NFL representatives to view film of current Tigers in air-conditioned comfort.

The facility also houses a trophy and memorabilia area at its entrance. Much of the area is devoted to Banks McFadden, the former Clemson All-American and coach who perhaps had as much an impact on Clemson athletic history as anyone.

The construction of the McFadden building was one of the final stages of the overall renovation of the Jervy Athletic Center.

In 1995, the Tiger football team came back to a new and expanded locker room with fresh paint, new carpeting, new lockers, and more space. The training room was also expanded and will be enlarged again in 2000. The weight room below the Jervy Athletic Center has increased in size to an incredible 14,000 square feet.

The McFadden Building is home to all football offices and meeting rooms, where Clemson players scout the opposition using the latest technology.

VIDEO DEPARTMENT

Deep inside the Jervy Athletic Center hides the Clemson Athletics Video Department. The Video Staff is responsible for helping the Football Tigers prepare for each game as well as assisting with all 18 of the other sports within the department. However, helping prepare the Football Team is a full time job within itself. Practice video, opponent scouting video, self scout video, high school recruiting video and highlight tapes are all necessary to help the Tigers win on Saturdays.

To handle such large and varied tasks, the video department has initiated a major upgrade of its equipment within the last year. Phase One of this ongoing task started with the purchase of new digital cameras and VCRs. This first step helped to replace aging cameras and started the move into a digital age. The Second Phase just completed in July saw the overhaul of all video equipment in the McFadden Football meeting rooms plus the addition of a state of the art digital editing system for football game tape analysis. This new digital editing system will provide the football coaches with instant access to any available game tape of the Tigers' opponents. This will allow the coaches to create game type situations in their weekly game planning meetings and instantly watch how the opponent will react.

Once the Video Department has prepared the football team to take the field in Death Valley, it immediately goes to work in the stadium taking care of video needs there. All 100 luxury suites contain a TV and radio system that is maintained by the video staff. Plus all technical and in-house video needs for the PawVision video system are duties of the department.

Yet, the end of Football season does not mean an end to the duties of the department. Basketball season presents the video staff with a whole new set of responsibilities. Game day coach's video of the men's basketball team plus coach's video and highlights of the women's basketball team home games keep the staff busy during the winter months. And the arrival of springtime means highlight banquet tapes for both teams plus the onset of spring football practice and baseball season.

Working closely with the Tigers Football, Men's and Women's Basketball, and Baseball staffs, plus the remaining 15 sports, campus and local TV stations, the Atlantic Coast Conference office, regional and national cable networks, and network TV, all the while trying to keep the Tigers video inventory of close to one million dollars up to date with the changing times proves to be a time demanding task. Yet, it is just another resource needed to help the Tigers win everyday.

Clemson has one of the most elaborate video departments and staffs in the nation.

THE SEASON

Sept. 5 Clemson 45, Wofford 10

Wofford, an NAIA school at the time, was a late addition to the schedule when Villanova dropped football in March, 1981. At the end of the first quarter the score was tied at 3-3. Think of the odds you could have gotten against Clemson winning the national championship at the end of that first period. Homer Jordan hit Perry Tuttle with an 80-yard touchdown pass for Clemson's first touchdown of the season and Jordan added a 14-yard run by halftime to give Clemson a 17-3 lead at intermission. Clemson won the second half 28-7, but the Terriers wingbone offense gained 165 yards on the ground. Only Nebraska had more yards rushing against Clemson that season.

Sept. 12 Clemson 13, Tulane 5

Clemson played its first ever game indoors, defeating Tulane in a defensive struggle. All five Clemson defensive backs had at least one interception and the Clemson defense forced seven turnovers overall. Tulane scored on a field goal and a safety to take a 5-0 lead at the end of the first quarter. But, Clemson's defense allowed just 40 yards rushing in the game and just 177 yards of total offense altogether. Jeff Davis had 20 tackles, while Terry Kinard had 12 tackles and an interception.

Sept. 19 Clemson 13, Georgia 3

Clemson forced the defending national champion Georgia Bulldogs into nine turnovers, still the most in history by a Clemson opponent, in defeating the fourth-ranked Vince Dooley coached team. The win is the highest ranked triumph in the history of the Death Valley. The 13-3 victory was the only regular season defeat for Georgia during the Herschel Walker era (1980-82). Clemson held a 10-0 lead at intermission in front of a frenzied Death Valley crowd on an eight-yard touchdown pass from Homer Jordan to Perry Tuttle and a 39-yard Donald Igwebuike field goal. The two teams traded field goals in the second half. Walker rushed for 111 yards in 28 attempts, but never crossed the Clemson goalline. Jordan, a native of Athens, GA, had 59 yards rushing and hit 11-18 passes for 135 yards. Clemson wore orange pants for the first time in 1981.

Oct. 3 Clemson 21, Kentucky 3

For the fourth straight game, Clemson did not lead at the end of the first period. In fact, the Wildcats had a 3-0 lead at intermission. But, Clemson took the second-half kickoff and drove 83 yards in 13 plays, as Kevin Mack went 11 yards for the touchdown. Clemson scored on its next possession after a Kentucky fumble. The Tigers drove 94 yards for a touchdown on its final scoring drive in the fourth period to win going away. Chuck McSwain, who had 107 yards rushing on 20 attempts, scored on a three-yard run to culminate the drive. Clemson outgained Kentucky 213-97 in the second half and moved to number-9 in the nation after the victory.

Oct. 10 Clemson 27, Virginia 0

Clemson opened its ACC schedule with a 27-point thrashing of Virginia, its 21st straight victory over the Cavaliers. Clemson finally took a lead at the end of the first period on a field goal by Igwebuike. Cliff Austin scored two touchdowns and Jeff McCall scored once as the Tigers gained 265 yards on the ground. Jordan connected on 9-16 passes for 161 yards.

Oct. 17 Clemson 38, Duke 10

Clemson's offense continued its improvement, especially from a balanced standpoint, and the Tiger defense held its incredible dominance in a 28-point win at Duke. Clemson gained 323 yards rushing and 240 passing. Jordan was 13-19 for 198 yards passing and added 47 on the ground. Cliff Austin had the top rushing game of the season by a Tiger with 178 yards in 19 attempts, including a non-scoring 77-yard run. Duke had 23 first downs in the game, but scored just one touchdown. The Blue Devils ran six plays from the one during one drive, yet failed to score a touchdown on the possession.

Oct. 24 Clemson 17, NC State 7

NC State scored the first rushing touchdown of the season against the Clemson defense on a 13-yard run by Larmount Lawson on the Pack's second drive of the game. But, Jeff Davis and company took control in the second half and allowed the Pack just 87 yards rushing for the entire game. Homer Jordan had just 43 yards passing, but gained 104 yards rushing in 21 attempts. Jeff McCall locked up the game with a 15-yard touchdown run with 8:30 left. Clemson moved up to number-three in the AP poll after the game, the highest ranking in Clemson history.

Oct. 31 Clemson 82, Wake Forest 24

The Clemson offense exploded on this Halloween day game. The Tigers set 21 school, stadium and conference records, including 536 yards rushing and 756 yards of total offense. Eleven different Clemson players had rushing yardage and nine different players scored. When Craig Crawford scored on a 72-yard run, no one in the press box, nor the stadium knew who he was because he was not even on the pregame roster. Clemson was a perfect 12-12 on third-down conversions. Jordan passed for 180 yards, including 7-161 to Perry Tuttle, whose 75-yard touchdown reception on the first play of the third period gave Clemson a 55-14 lead.

Nov. 7 Clemson 10, North Carolina 8

The showdown for ACC supremacy took place in Chapel Hill. It was ninth-ranked North Carolina against second-ranked Clemson, the first meeting of top 10 ACC teams in league history. Clemson led 7-5 at halftime thanks to an 81-yard drive that ended with a seven-yard run by Jeff McCall. The two teams traded field goals in the third period, making the score 10-8 heading into the fourth period. Dale Hatcher hit a 47-yard punt out of bounds at the Tar Heel two. But, North Carolina drove to their 40. With 57 seconds left, Jeff Bryant recovered an errant lateral to preserve the win. Bryant seemed to be the only player on either team who thought it was a backwards pass and his hustle play allowed Clemson to keep its perfect record.

Nov. 14 Clemson 21, Maryland 7

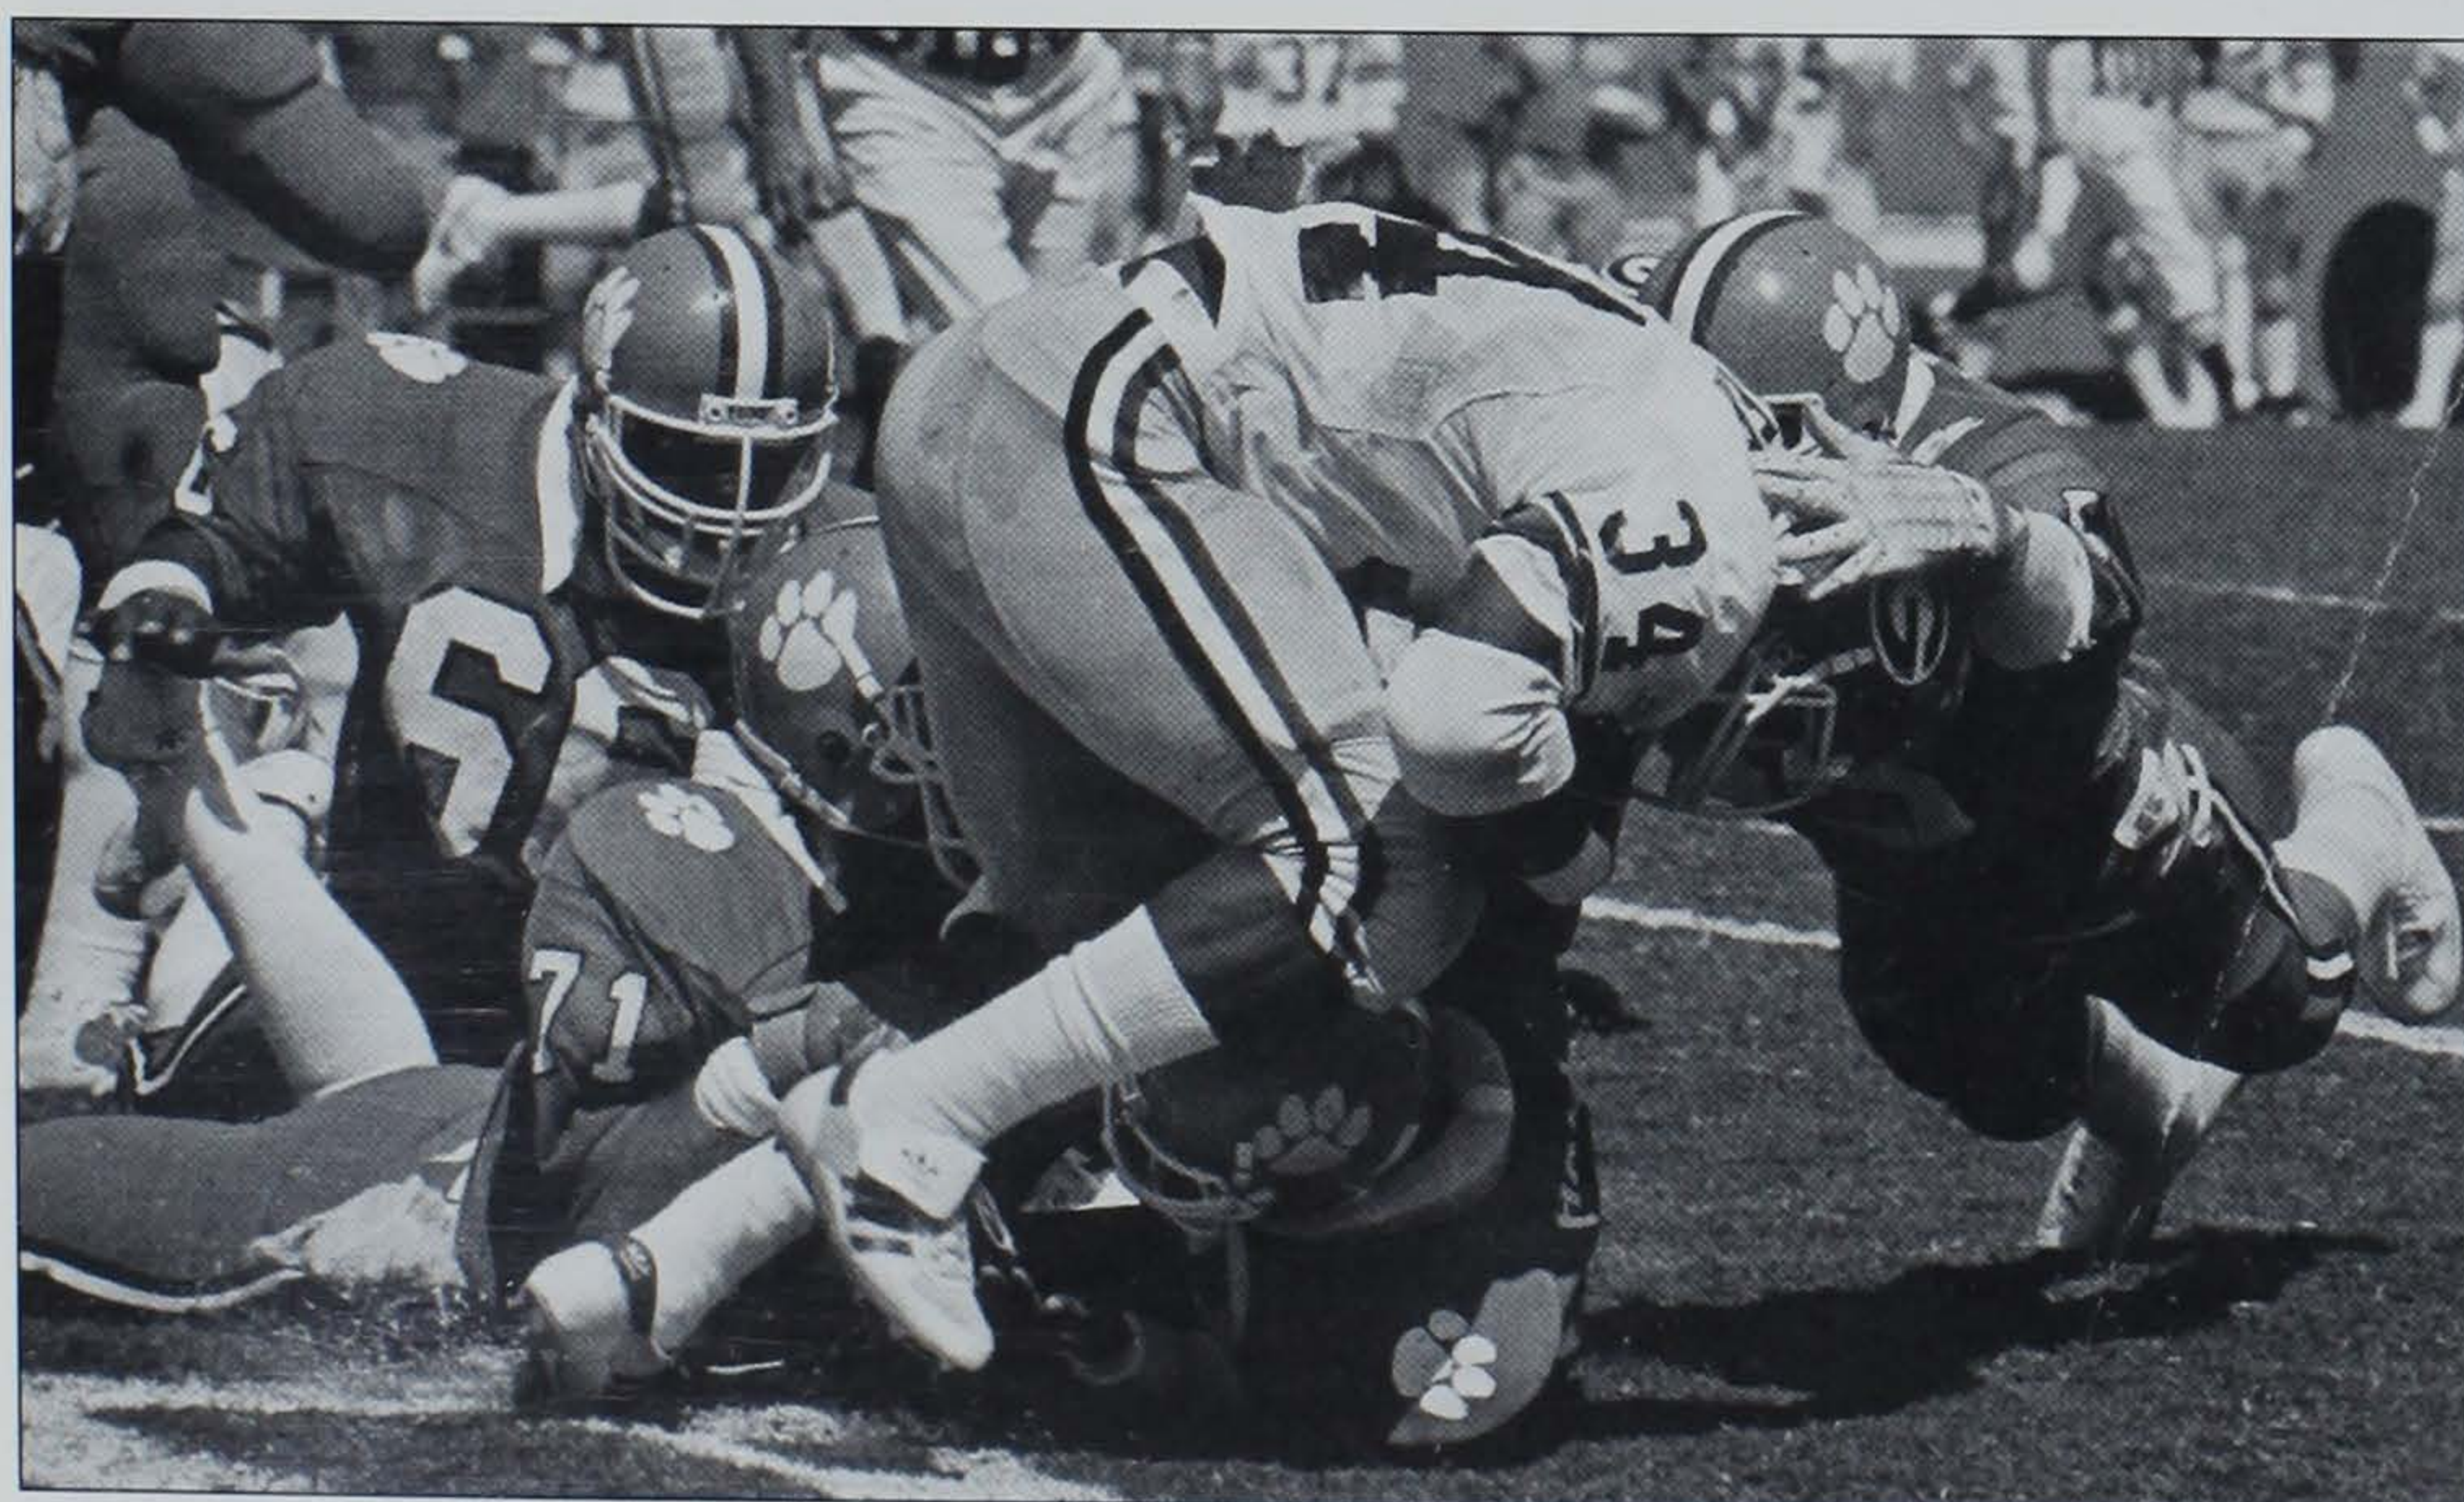

Clemson clinched its seventh ACC title in history with a 21-7 victory over Maryland, Clemson's most bitter rival of the era. Homer Jordan was masterful, completing 20-29 passes (including 15-18 in the first half) for 270 yards and three touchdowns as he picked apart Maryland's wide-tackle six defense. Perry Tuttle caught 10 passes for 151 yards to become Clemson's all-time reception leader. Classmate Jerry Gailard had his first touchdown reception of his four year career in his final home game. Clemson outgained Maryland 469-236 and had 28 first downs on offense. Boomer Esiason was the sophomore quarterback for Maryland and he had just 15-38 for 167 passing on the day.

Nov. 21 Clemson 29, South Carolina 13

The Tigers concluded their first perfect season since 1948 with a 29-13 win in Columbia. South Carolina had a 7-6 lead after the first period behind a Johnnie Wright one-yard run. But, Clemson turned the game on a blocked punt by Rod McSwain. The ball was recovered in the endzone by Johnny Rembert. Both players would go on to be teammates with the New England Patriots. A Jordan touchdown run of 11 yards and a Bob Paulling field goal gave Clemson a 15-7 lead at intermission. While Rod McSwain provided the big play of the first half, Chuck McSwain took over in the second and ended the game with 151 yards rushing.

Jan. 1 Clemson 22, Nebraska 15

Clemson claimed its first National Championship by defeating Nebraska 22-15 in the Orange Bowl. It was Clemson's first Orange Bowl appearance in 25 years. Homer Jordan completed 11-22 passes and had 180 yards total offense in leading the Clemson offense. Jeff Davis had 14 tackles, while Bill Smith, now on the Clemson Board of Trustees, had a career high 10 tackles to lead the Jeff Davis and Herschel Walker knocked heads all day. The Tigers kept the Dawgs out of the endzone and gave Walker the only regular season loss of his Georgia career.

— NOTES OF INTEREST ON 1981 —

- Clemson won its first national championship in any sport and the first national title for the ACC in football in 28 years.
- Clemson had five different players earn All-America honors, still more than any other team in Clemson history.
- There was no controversy concerning the voting of the National Champion in 1981. Clemson ended the season as the only undefeated, untied team in Division I after the bowl games and was the only team in the nation with three victories over top 10 teams.
- Coach Danny Ford, at age 33 at the time, remains the youngest coach in history of college football to win the National Championship.
- Clemson forced 41 turnovers in the 12 games, still a Clemson record for turnovers forced in a season.
- During one stretch in the season the Clemson defense held the opposition without a touchdown for 18 straight quarters and no team had a rushing touchdown against Clemson the first seven games of the season.
- Clemson won the national championship in 1981 after going 6-5 the previous season. The Tigers were unranked in every preseason poll for 1981.
- Clemson's improvement of 5.5 games from 1980 to 1981 was the largest improvement in the nation that year.
- Only one team had more time of possession than Clemson all season: Wofford.
- Clemson had the lead at the end of the first period in just four of the 12 games.
- When Clemson defeated Wake Forest 82-24, Tiger mascot Ricky Capps did 465 pushups over the course of the game. He lost 10 pounds by game's end. The Demon Deacon mascot did the pushups run longer than 26 yards and no opponent had a play over 30 yards all season. The longest touchdown play against Clemson was 25 yards, on a halfback option pass from Mike Rozier to Jerry Steels of Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

- During pregame practice for the Tulane game in the Superdome, freshman punter Dale Hatcher hit the giant television screen that hangs over the center of the field. The screen is 155 feet above the playing surface.
- During offseason conditioning in the summer of 1981 strength coach George Dostal constructed a simple sign for his strength training facility: 1982 Orange Bowl, Clemson vs. Nebraska.
- Over the course of the season, counting game-week practices, pep rallies, pregame practice and games, the Clemson marching band played Tiger Rag 455 times in the 1981 season. That included 202 times during games and 55 times during pep rallies.
- The Clemson senior student who was in charge of pep rallies for the 1981 season was former CBS This Morning Anchor Jane Robelot.
- The day after Clemson defeated North Carolina in Chapel Hill, placekicker Donald Igwebuike flew to Maryland where Clemson's third-ranked soccer team defeated Maryland 4-0 to clinch the ACC. Igwebuike played on two ACC championship teams that fall that finished in the top 10 in the nation.
- Three Clemson players, Cary Massaro, Dan Benish and Steve Berlin, attended the Pittsburgh vs. Penn State game at Pittsburgh on November 28th. The game, the Saturday after Thanksgiving, resulted in a 48-14 Penn State victory and elevated Clemson to number-one in the polls for the first time in history.

- Three members of the 1981 Clemson staff went on to become Head Coaches. The list includes Curley Hallman (LSU), Chuck Reedy (Baylor) and Nelson Stokely (Southwest Louisiana).
- Eleven of the 24 starters on the 1981 team went on to play professional football.
- Eleven different players on the 1981 team became All-Americans (first, second or third team) over their career. That includes Terry Kinard, who was a first-team All-American by Associated Press in 1981 and 1982, the only two-time first-team AP All-American in Clemson history.
- Twenty-three different players on the 1981 Clemson team earned first-team All-ACC honors at one time or another during their careers.
- Six of the 24 players on Clemson's two-platoon Centennial team were on the 1981 National Championship team.
- Four different players (Perry Tuttle, Jeff Bryant, Terry Kinard and William Perry) went on to become first-round draft picks in the NFL.
- Thirty-one different players on the 1981 Clemson roster, including four first-round, were drafted into the NFL. As the following chart shows, 22 different players from the 1981 team made it to the NFL, including 12 players who were in the NFL for at least five years. Six different players went on to be Super Bowl Champions.
- Five players on this team have already been inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame: Homer Jordan, Jeff Bryant, Perry Tuttle, Jeff Davis and Terry Kinard. Coach Ford will join them this season.

THEY SAID IT IN 1981

"If we play like we did against South Carolina in the last game of 1980, we will be okay this year." Tony Berryhill, Orange & White, August 31, 1981

"Things are going to be different when he (Herschel Walker) comes to Death Valley this year. He will find he won't be able to do well against this senior. There is an awful lot at stake in this Georgia game. We had those national champs beat last year in Athens and we let them slip by. That is not going to happen this year. We aim to get some recognition out of this game." Jeff Davis, Clemson vs. Georgia program.

"The difference in Homer Jordan is like night and day. He is so much more at ease this year and the players have confidence in him. Last year when the season began his teammates didn't know what to expect." Danny Ford, August 14, 1981.

"Even when I was little I was big," William Perry, Sports Illustrated, November, 1981.

"I have a brother, Michael (age 16), who is a 220 pound defensive tackle back home at South Aiken High. He might be pretty good some day," William Perry, Greensboro Record, Nov. 3, 1981.

"We are preparing for Kelvin Bryant, we are preparing for Rod Elkins and we are preparing for Lawrence Taylor in case he comes back from the pros for a day." Clemson Head Coach Danny Ford on the physical condition of North Carolina prior to the game in Chapel Hill.

"Andy Headen is a key to our defense. He is a defensive end who can drop in coverage. But he is also a strong safety when we go with a four-man front. He has the size for an outside linebacker and the range and knowledge to be a defensive back." Clemson defensive coordinator Tom Harper, Sports Illustrated 11-16-81.

"I just hope being number one ain't a vacation. I hope we can make a home there." Danny Ford after Clemson reached number-one ranking for first time November 28, 1981.

"Not too many people in the world have a chance to be on a national championship team. Down the road in the business world it will be something to be remembered and valued." Bill Smith, 1981 starting defensive end and current member of the Clemson Board of Trustees in Dec. 2, 1981 Spartanburg Herald.

Tuttle made first-team All-America honors and was one of 22 players off the 1981 team to play in the NFL.

In 1996, the Clemson University athletic department agreed to have University Netcasting, better known as FANSONLY, post its official athletic website on the world wide web. Since that time, Clemson fans have been able to access up to the minute information on all of Clemson's varsity sports at the internet address www.clemsontigers.com.

This upcoming school year should prove to be another exciting season at clemsontigers.com. In September of 1998, the site took on a fresh design. In an effort to give the Clemson site its own unique image, the people at FANSONLY and Clemson worked jointly to make the site more appealing to you the fan. In addition to cosmetic changes at clemsontigers.com there will be some new features.

Some of the highlights for this season from clemsontigers.com are live game stats and live audio coverage for every football game. If you can't make it to the game, don't worry, with our real-time stats and live game coverage you'll be able to follow every single snap from the comforts of your home computer. Our Associated Press wire feed will automatically post the game story minutes after the contest has concluded. In addition to the game recap, fans will be able to check out actual video highlights of the game.

Not only will you have more information than those Monday morning quarterbacks, but you'll have more access than ever before to Clemson football. Fans will be able to hear clips from Tommy Bowden's post-game interviews as well as be able to listen live to the ACC Football Coach's Teleconference every Wednesday throughout the season.

Football isn't the only sport covered by clemsontigers.com; you can get comprehensive coverage on all of Clemson's 19 varsity sports. Check out the latest release on the women's soccer team, view the game recaps from men's soccer, or find your favorite volleyball player's biography. Clemsontigers.com is expanding its coverage of Tiger Olympic sports to include more action photos, audio clips from players and coach's and video highlights.

As the official athletic website for Clemson University athletics, clemsontigers.com is the only place to go for all of your Clemson sports information. From live audio broadcasts to video highlight clips to late breaking news, clemsontigers.com has you covered.

Clemson Receivers by the Numbers

3 Clemson had a starting tight end on three of the four Pittsburgh Steelers Super Bowl Champions in the 1970s.

7 Clemson has had seven ACC reception yardage champions in the history of the league. Only Duke has had more.

70 Clemson receiver Tony Horne had 70 receptions in 1997 to rank second in the ACC, 14th in the NCAA. Horne was one of 10 semifinalists for the Biletnikoff Award.

1978 Clemson's 1978 receiving corp was composed of Dwight Clark, Jerry Butler and Perry Tuttle. Butler and Tuttle were first-team All-Americans and Clark had his number retired by the San Francisco 49ers. Both Clark (Player Personnel Director) and Butler (Wide Receivers Coach) work for the Cleveland Browns.

2000 Clemson has had three 2000-yard receivers in its history, Jerry Butler, Perry Tuttle and Terry Smith. No ACC school has had more.

Jerry Butler was a first-team AP All-American and played nine years with Buffalo.

Clemson Kicking by the Numbers

1 Former Tiger Chris Gardocki is the only kicker in NCAA history to rank in the top 10 in the nation in punting and field goals in the same year, twice.

7 Seven times in the last 19 years Clemson has had an All-America punter or placekicker selection.

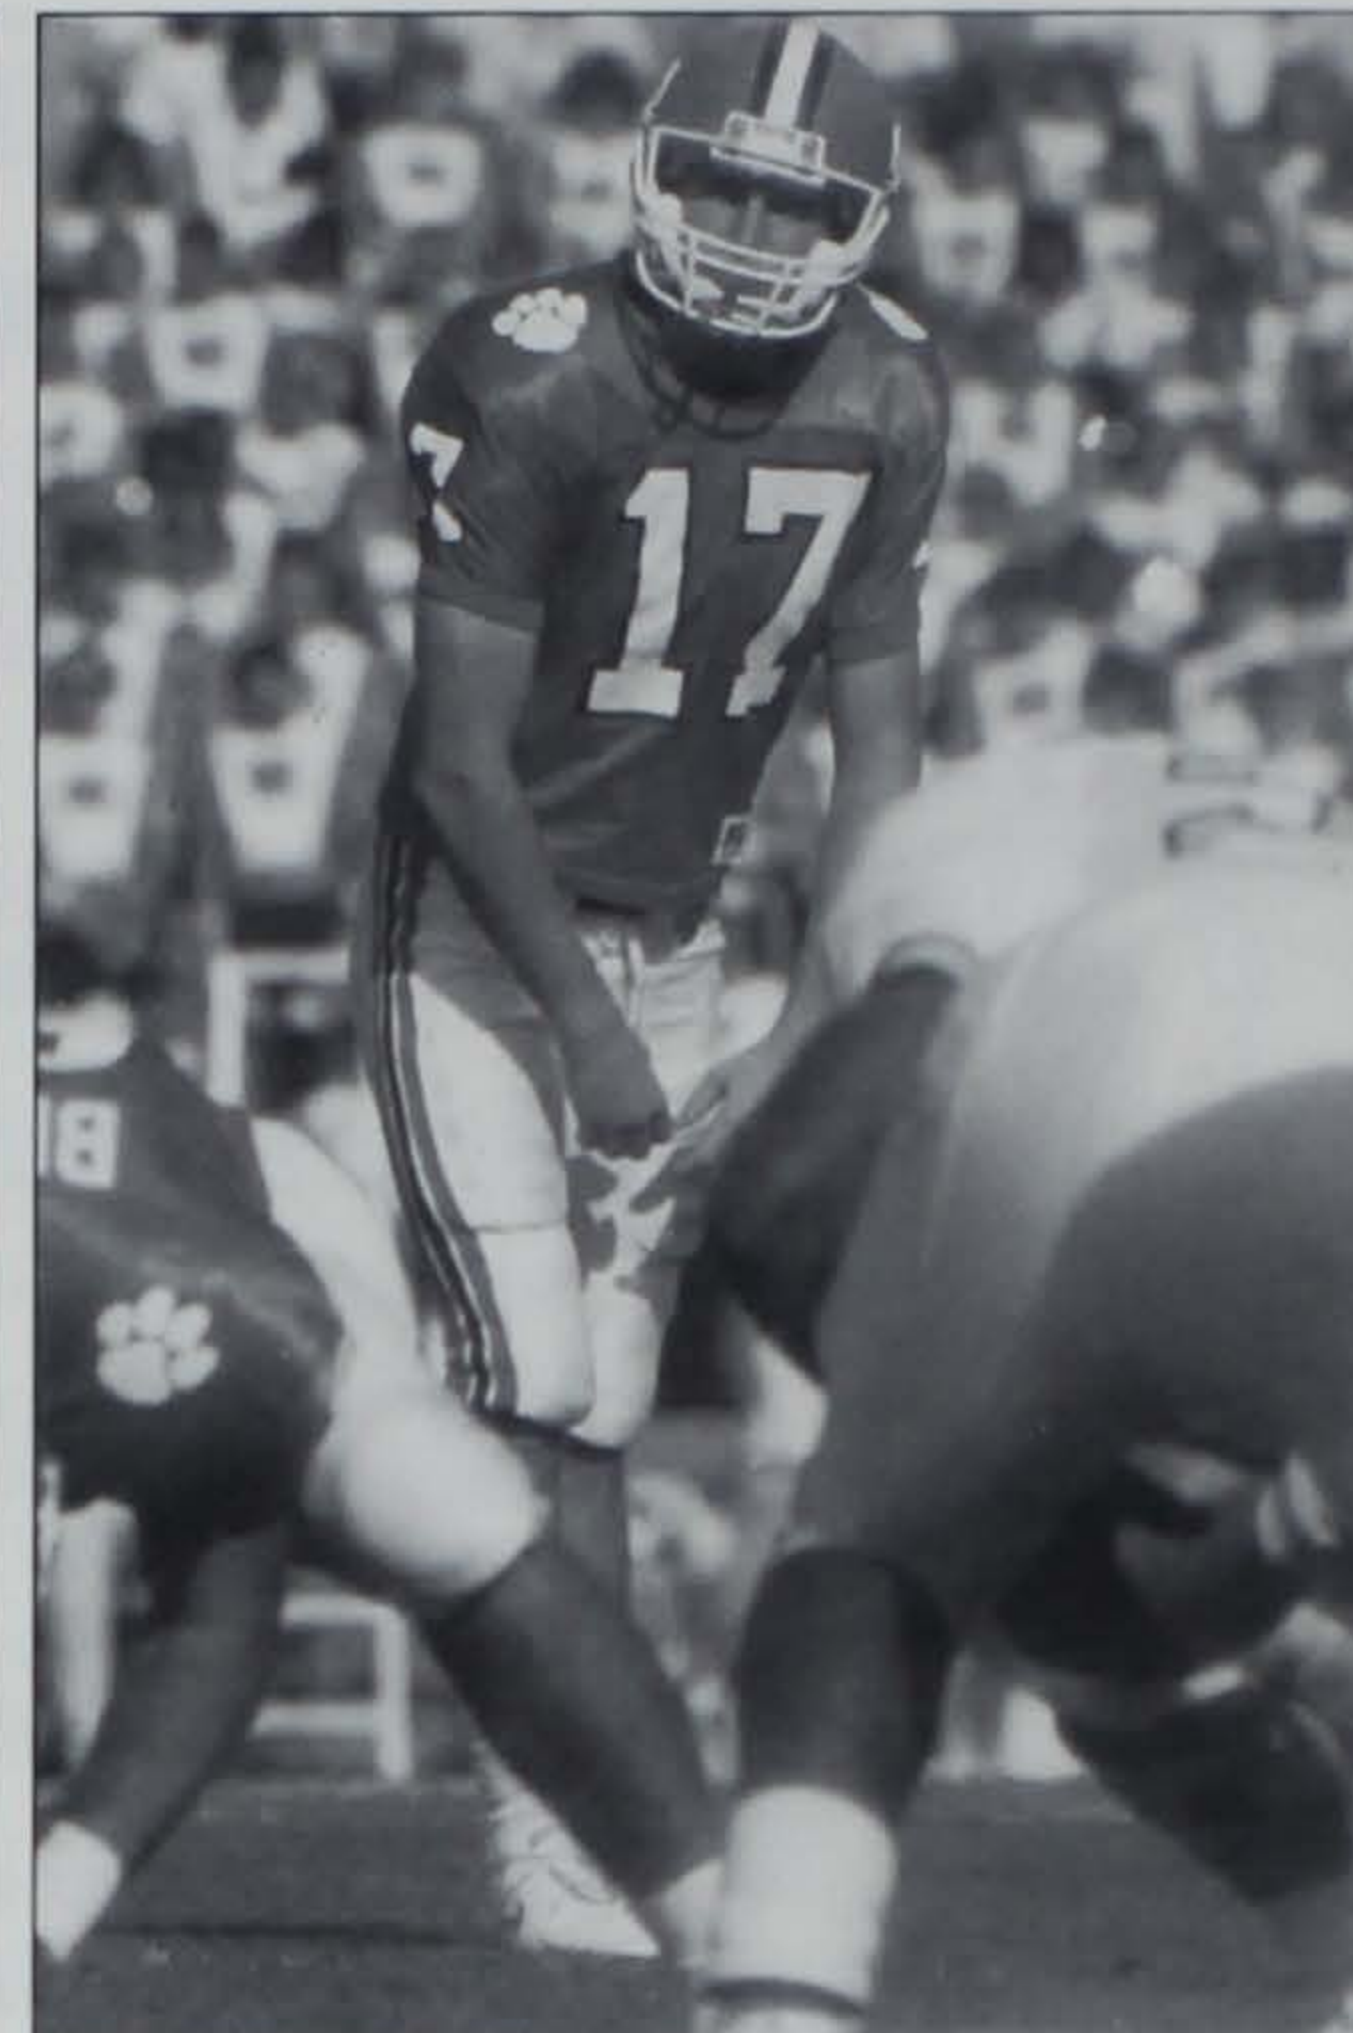

19 Clemson has had a kicker rank in the top 10 in the nation in field goals, punting or kick scoring 19 times in the last 20 years.

21 Clemson has had the ACC punting or kick scoring champion 21 times in its history, more than any other school.

98 Between 1976 and 1990, a 15-year span covering 165 regular season games, Clemson kickers made good on 440 or 451 extra point attempts, a success rate of 98 percent.

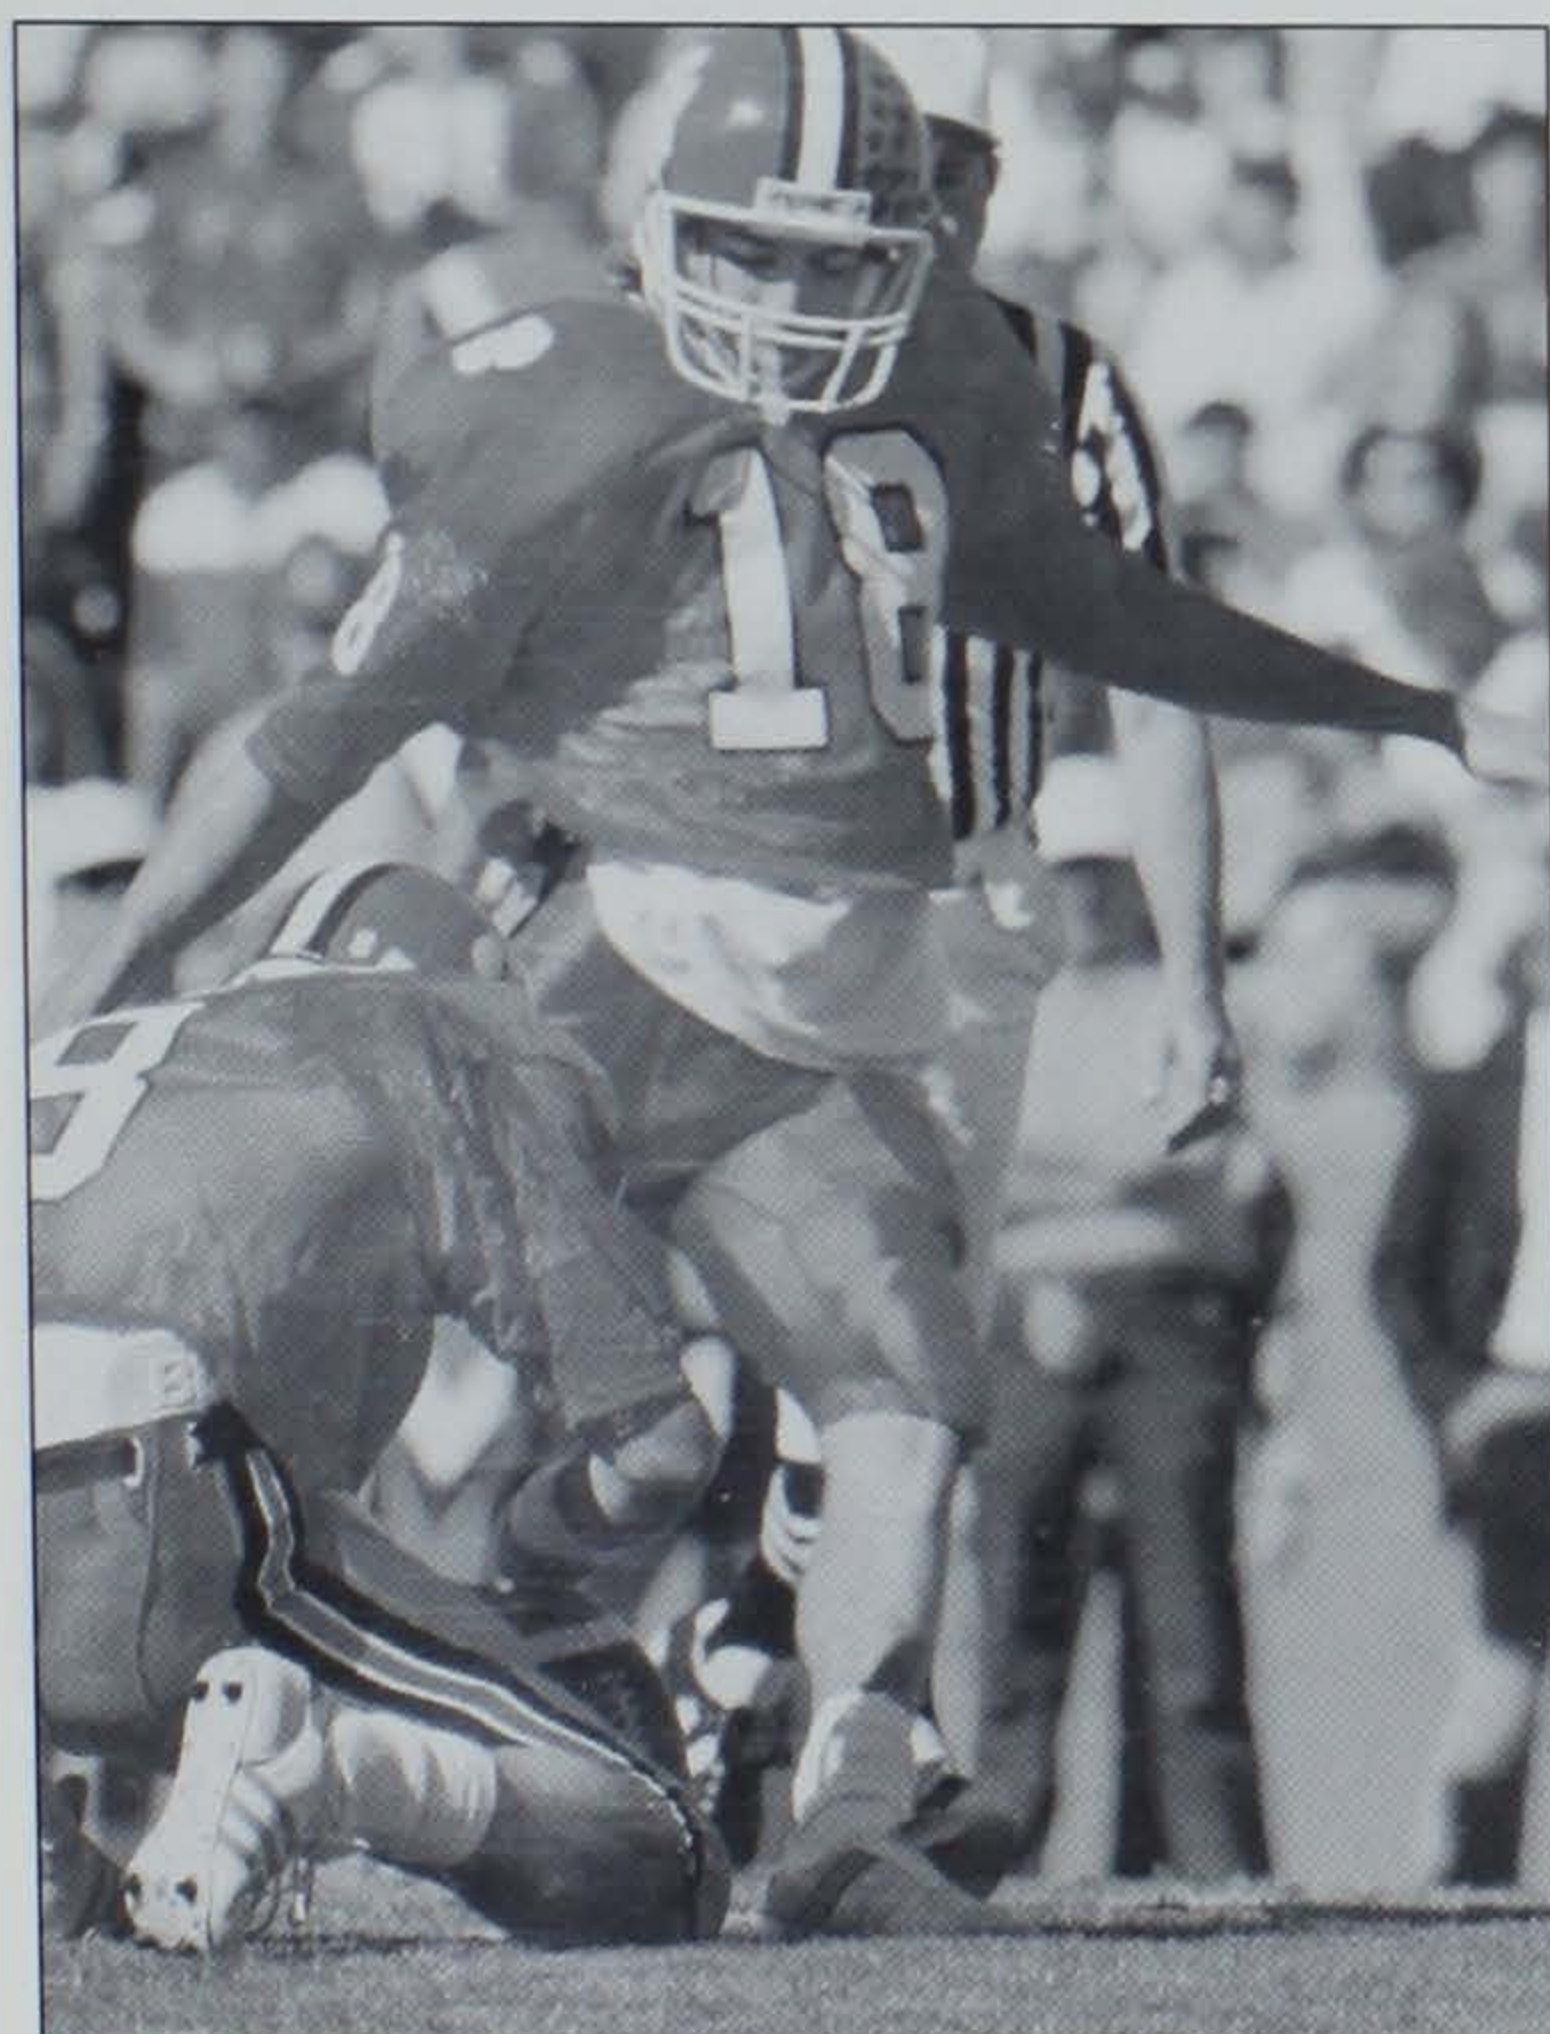

Dale Hatcher led the ACC in net punting in 1984, then led the NFL in that category in 1985.

Chris Gardocki ranked in the top 10 in the nation in punting and FGs in 1989 and 1990.

Nelson Welch set the ACC record with 72 field goals between 1991-94.

David Treadwell kicked six game deciding field goals between 1985-87.

1999 Clemson Tiger Football

Florida State will travel to Clemson on October 23 for the first meeting of father and son coaches in college football history. That is just one of the highlights of Clemson's 1999 football schedule, announced by the Atlantic Coast Conference office.

Clemson will face a school record tying seven teams who went to bowl games in 1998 on its 1999 schedule. Clemson's 1995 schedule had seven teams who went to bowl games in 1994. Each of Clemson's first five games in 1999 are against teams who were in bowls in 1998.

This year's slate has just five games in Death Valley, fewest since 1986 when Clemson also had just five home games. This will be just the second time since 1977 that Clemson has had just five home games.

"This is an excellent schedule," said Head Coach Tommy Bowden. "The ACC is getting stronger and stronger, you can see that by the number of teams in bowl games this year. The talent level in this league has been upgraded.

"Our three non-conference opponents are certainly going to be tough competition. Marshall will be a tough opener, they have been to bowls each of the last two years."

Head Coach Bobby Bowden of Florida State will bring his Seminoles to Death Valley to face Tommy Bowden's Clemson Tigers in what should be one of the most anticipated games in the 58-year history of the facility. Tommy Bowden became head coach at Clemson this past December 2. Never before in college history have father and son coached against each other.

"I really haven't talked about that game with my father," continued Tommy Bowden. "Both of us have been busy recruiting. But, I am sure we will talk about it over the summer when we vacation as a family, and next season as we get closer to the game. It will be a big game, of course, everyone's big game in the ACC is against Florida State. But, having father against son will add to it."

Another highlight of the schedule will take place on November 20 when Clemson will travel to South Carolina for the regular season finale. This contest will be a meeting of first year head coaches Tommy Bowden of Clemson and Lou Holtz of South Carolina.

The Tigers open the season against Marshall on September 4. The Thundering Herd have won 22 of their last 26 games and

On September 23, a Thursday evening, Clemson will travel to Virginia Tech. This will be Clemson's first Thursday night road game in history. The contest will be televised nationally by ESPN. It will be Clemson's first trip to Blacksburg since 1989. The Tigers will not play the Saturday before and the Saturday after that Virginia Tech contest.

The Tigers return home for a October 2 game with North Carolina. Clemson has just five home games this year, and only two of the last seven contests will be played at home. The home finale will be November 6 against Duke. The final two games will be on the road, at Georgia Tech on November 13 and at South Carolina on the 20th.

GAME PREVIEW

Series: First Meeting

This will be the first meeting between Clemson and Marshall, Clemson's first meeting against a team in the MAC since the 1992 season when Clemson opened with Ball State...Clemson won that game 23-10...the last time the two schools met in any sport was Dec. 30, 1996, when Clemson defeated Marshall 73-57 in men's basketball...Marshall has won 101 games in the 1990s, more than any other Division I team, even more than Florida State, who has won 97...Thundering Herd was 12-1 last year, including a victory at South Carolina...they have 19 returning starters and eight returning all-conference selections...this game should be an interesting matchup of Marshall quarterback Chad Pennington and the Clemson secondary, which returns three starters...Pennington has thrown for over 10,000 yards in his career and already holds the MAC record for touchdown passes with 63...Pennington is the only quarterback returning of the 10 semifinalists for the 1998 Davey O'Brien Award...Bob Pruett, head coach of the Thundering Herd, has won 23 games in his first two years at the Division I level, something no Division I coach in college football has done this century...this is the third year of Division I football for Marshall, they are 23-4 so far...Pruett was the MAC Coach of the Year last year and Clemson Coach Tommy Bowden was the Conference USA Coach of the Year...Marshall ranked 21st in the final Sagarin Rankings for 1998...Clemson has a 77-18-8 record in season openers over the years and has won 14 of its last 16...this will be the first time since 1996 that Clemson has not opened with a Southern Conference I-AA team and the first time since 1993 (UNLV) that Clemson's first home game has not been against a Southern Conference foe...former Clemson great Jerry Butler will be inducted into the Clemson Ring of Honor on this day...this will be just the second time in history that Clemson has played on September 4th, a victory over UNLV in 1993.

SERIES HISTORY

Series: Clemson leads 42-24-1

Wolfpack head coach Mike O'Cain is a 1977 Clemson graduate and was a quarterback for the Tigers between 1973-76...he defeated Clemson in Death Valley in 1994, as he became the first Clemson graduate to beat Clemson...O'Cain is the first Clemson graduate to serve as a Division I head coach since 1904 when Shack Shealy, Clemson class of '00, became the head coach of the Tigers...he turned the trick again last year, 46-39...last year's meeting between Clemson and NC State was the second highest scoring game involving two ACC teams in Clemson history...the two teams combined for a Clemson school record 703 yards passing...the two teams combined for 40 points in the fourth quarter last year, second highest scoring fourth quarter by two teams combined in school history...Brandon Streeter set Clemson school records for completions (27) and passing yards (329)...Clemson actually took a 39-38 lead, but the Pack scored with 37 seconds left to claim the victory.....this is the 19th annual Textile Bowl, Clemson has a 12-6 lead in the series since it was named the Textile Bowl in 1981...in last year's game Clemson had a pair of 100-yard receivers, the first time in school history the Tigers have had two 100-yard receivers in the same game...Brian Wofford had 9-128 and a touchdown, while Mal Lawyer had 8-100 and two scores...Rod Gardner also had 2-24, meaning Clemson's three returning pass catchers for 1999 had 19 receptions for 252 yards against the Pack last year...Javis Austin had 7-32 rushing against NC State a year ago...Robert Carswell had nine tackles, while Harold Means added seven...NC State won last year's game, but the Tigers have won seven of the last 10...Clemson has won each of the last two games played in Raleigh, including a thrilling 19-17 victory in 1997 on a late field goal by Matt Padgett, who is now a professional baseball player...Mike O'Cain is 2-4 against his alma mater.

1999 Clemson Tiger Football

1928—Injured All-American O.K. Pressley came off the bench in the second half to record a tackle for loss on four consecutive plays to thwart a South Carolina drive deep in Clemson territory. It is still the only time in history a Clemson player has made a tackle for loss on four consecutive plays. Clemson went on to a 32-0 victory in Columbia.

1948—With just 4:30 left in the game and South Carolina on its own 28, Phil Prince broke through the line to block a South Carolina punt. The ball rolled to the 11 where Oscar Thompson scooped it up and ran for a touchdown, giving Clemson a 13-7 lead, the eventual final score. Clemson went on to an undefeated season.

1959—Harvey White made the last Big Thursday game a success story for the Tigers. The gifted Clemson quarterback connected on 9-10 passes for 162 yards and two touchdowns, leading Clemson to a 27-0 victory. White's passing efficiency of 282 for that game is still the second best in Clemson history (given a minimum of 10 attempts).

1966—All-America offensive guard Harry Olszewski ran 12 yards for a touchdown with a fumbled snap from center to lead Clemson to a 35-10 victory that clinched the ACC title for the Tigers. No Clemson offensive lineman has scored a touchdown since.

1967—Clemson clinched a third straight ACC title behind the rushing of ACC Player of the Year Buddy Gore. The Tiger running back gained 189 yards on 31 attempts, still the second most rushing yards by a Tiger against the Gamecocks. The performance allowed Gore to go over the 1000-yard rushing mark, a first in Clemson history, and to win the ACC rushing title.

1974—Two Tigers, one on each side of the ball, had a memorable performance in this Clemson victory. Running back Ken Callicutt rushed for 197 yards on 27 carries and added another 55 in pass receiving, leading Clemson a 39-21 victory over the Gamecocks. The 197 yards rushing and 252 yards of all-purpose running are still high water marks for a Clemson player in the series. Willie Anderson dominated the defense, recording 21 tackles from his middle guard position, still a Clemson record for a lineman for one game. He was named National Defensive Player of the Week by Sports Illustrated.

1977—Jerry Butler made a diving backwards reception of a 20-yard pass from Steve Fuller with 49 seconds remaining, giving the Tigers a 31-27 victory in Columbia. The play might be regarded as the most famous in Clemson history. The victory gave the Tigers an 8-3 record and a bid to the Gator Bowl, Clemson's first bowl bid in 18 years.

1980—Defensive back Willie Underwood played 47 games for the Tigers, but never had an interception until his final contest. He made up for it in his last game as a Tiger when he had two thefts for a combined 101 yards in returns. His 37-yard interception return for a touchdown iced Clemson's 27-6 victory. It is still the most interception return yards in a single game by a Tiger. Underwood also had 17 tackles in the game and was named National Defensive Player of the Week by Sports Illustrated.

1981—For the second time in history a blocked punt proved pivotal in the Tigers securing a perfect season. The key play in Clemson's 29-13 victory over South Carolina in Columbia was a blocked punt by Rod McSwain. The ball was recovered in the endzone by Johnny Rembert for a touchdown, giving Clemson a 7-6 lead. The play began at the 28-yard-line, just as the play in 1948 had. McSwain and Rembert went on to be NFL teammates for many years with the New England Patriots. McSwain's brother, Chuck had 151 yards rushing to lead the Clemson offense.

1988—Rodney Williams, playing in his final home game, led the Tigers to a 29-10 victory in Death Valley, avenging a 20-7 Clemson defeat the year before in which Williams, a native of Columbia, was taunted by the Gamecock faithful. Williams completed 13-26 passes for 192 yards and ran for 38 more and a touchdown, outplaying rival Todd Ellis, who was 11-30 passing. It was Williams 31st victory as Clemson's starting signal caller.

1991—DeChane Cameron had the top all-around performance of his career in Clemson's 41-24 victory at South Carolina. The senior playing in his final regular season game, rushed for 116 yards and passed for 206. The 322 yards of total offense and the 206 yards passing are Clemson records for the series with South Carolina.

1995—Emory Smith gained 101 yards rushing in just 12 attempts from his fullback slot, leading Clemson to a 38-17 victory and a berth in the Gator Bowl. Smith will be remembered for one particular run in the fourth quarter when he dragged a South Carolina tackler for nearly 20 yards at the end of a 54-yard romp. Smith scored two touchdowns on the day.

1997—Antwan Edwards had two interceptions in the third period alone, one a return of 42 yards for a touchdown, leading the Tigers to a 47-21 victory and a berth in the Peach Bowl. Edwards' thefts led to a 27-point third period for the Tigers, Clemson's highest scoring period in history against the Gamecocks. Edwards was named ACC Player of the week for his performance.

1998—Howard Bartley will always be remembered for a 48-yard interception return for a touchdown in his final game as a Tiger. It was a key second-half play in Clemson's 28-19 victory, but especially rewarding for Bartley, who had overcome two torn ACL injuries in his five-year career.

Blocked punts against South Carolina have been pivotal in each of Clemson's last two perfect seasons. In 1948, Phil Prince (59) blocked a South Carolina punt that was returned for a score by Oscar Thompson. Thirty-three years later Rod McSwain blocked a Gamecock punt that was recovered by Johnny Rembert for a score. In both instances, the original line of scrimmage was the 28-yard-line.

CLEMSON QUARTERBACKS THROW FOR 474 YARDS IN SPRING GAME

April 10, 1999

Clemson, SC—Quarterback Woodrow Dantzler threw for Clemson Spring Game record 220 yards and two scores to lead the offense, while defensive linemen Terry Jolly and Freddie James led a defense that had eight sacks to highlight play in Clemson's Spring Festival at Death Valley on April 10. The 130-play scrimmage served as the climax to Clemson's first spring practice under Head Coach Tommy Bowden.

The game was played in front of 16,500 fans, a Clemson Spring Game record. The previous Clemson Spring Game record was 15,000 for the 1978 and 1984 Spring Games.

The defense dominated the workout for the first half, while the offense was very effective in the second half. In all, the offense scored seven touchdowns, three rushing and four passing. The offense had just two turnovers, including no lost fumbles, in the 130 snaps. The defense was especially effective in rushing defense. Including the eight sacks, the defense allowed just 121 net yards rushing in 72 attempts.

The top rusher in the game was Vince Ciurciu with 12-38 and a touchdown. Javis Austin, back on the field after missing a week of practice while tests were run to determine the cause of some dizzy spells, had 12 rushes for 31 yards and scored a pair of touchdowns. The running back from Clemson who is destined to become the school's all-time leader in receptions by a running back, also had two pass receptions for 28 yards.

Brian Wofford was the top receiver with 4-106 and a touchdown. That score was a 60-yard strike from Dantzler. Matt Bailey had his second straight outstanding spring game with 3-65 and a score. He had two touchdown catches in last year's spring game. Rod Gardner caught three for 57 yards. Overall, 14 different receivers caught passes for the Tigers offense.

Dantzler was 11-25 for 220 yards and two scores and was also the second leading rusher with 11-31, giving him 251 yards of total offense. Brandon Streeter was 9-24 for 148 yards and a touchdown, a 19-yarder to sophomore tight end T.J. Watkins. Freshman Matt Schell had his finest scrimmage of the spring, connecting on 5-9 for 106 yards and a score, a 39-yarder to Bailey.

Kicker Tony Lazzara was also a highlight, hitting on three field goals in four attempts. He was successful from 33, 19, and 35 yards, and also booted 5-5 extra points.

Terry Jolly led the defensive front line with seven tackles, including six first hits. He was in on a pair of tackles for loss. Freddie James had similar stats with six first hits and an assist and he was also in on a tackle for loss.

The top tacklers for the day were Braxton K. Williams and Harold Means, who both had eight tackles. Means had two tackles for loss, including 1.5 sacks. Kenzi Ross added seven tackles, while Robert Carswell, Chad Speck, Keith Adams and Nick Eason had six tackles apiece. Alex Ardley had a 22-yard interception return and two passes broken up. Brandon Rouse had an 11-yard interception return.

The Clemson defense was balanced in terms of turning in big plays. Fifteen different Tigers had tackles for loss on defense, but no one had more than two.

"I thought the defense dominated the first half," said Bowden, who will now get his team ready for its season opener on September 4 against Marshall. "They took charge the first half, but they passed the baton in the second half. It seemed the offense scored every possession in the second half.

"Overall, the offense closed the gap against the defense with this scrimmage. I wanted to have a dominant defense in this spring game. I would have preferred to see the defense hold the offense out of the endzone the entire day. This staff will make the offense productive eventually, so I wanted the defense to be dominant this spring. At times they were.

"Woody Dantzler played well at quarterback, he has made progress this spring and has closed the gap (in competition with Brandon Streeter) at quarterback. He has made some big plays this spring. Woodrow is capable as a runner and a passer.

"Overall, we will have competition this fall at all positions. The freshmen will have a chance to contribute right away in a number of areas."

backers have been selected in the NFL draft, including nine within the first three rounds.

- For each of the last three years, the ACC placed 29 former players in the NFL Pro Bowl. Only the Pac-10 had more Pro Bowl selections than the ACC. Clemson has had eight of those 29 Pro Bowl selections over the last three years.
- The ACC is the nation's winningest conference in bowl games over the years. The league has a combined .535 winning percentage (81-70-5) in bowl games.

Over the last nine years the ACC is the only conference in the country to have each of its member schools play in a bowl game.

- Georgia Tech, Clemson and Florida State all rank among the top 15 schools in the history of the game in bowl winning percentage (given a minimum of 15 appearances).
- In the decade of the 1990s, ACC teams have posted the nation's second best non-conference winning percentage. The ACC is 197-104-4 against non-league foes since 1990.
- The 1997 season marked the 10th straight year that the ACC has had at least four teams participate in bowl games.
- Twelve times in the last 19 years an ACC member school has claimed the CFA Academic Achievement Award, which is awarded to the CFA institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team.
- Ninety percent of ACC football games involving conference teams are on television. Clemson has averaged nine televised games per year to rank among the national leaders in that category.

Chris Jones was one of six Clemson defensive players chosen in the 1999 NFL Draft. Clemson and North Carolina led the nation in defensive players drafted in 1999.

-PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS-

- Seven Clemson teams ranked in the final top 20 of their respective sports. That includes four top 10 teams (Men's soccer, women's basketball, golf and men's indoor track). Two teams, men's soccer and golf, were ranked number-one in the nation at various times during the season. It marked the fourth straight year Clemson has had at least seven top 25 teams.
- Thirteen of Clemson's 19 teams advanced to postseason play. Seven of the 13 finished in the Sweet 16 or better of their respective postseason events.
- Clemson teams had 24 individuals who were chosen All-American during the academic year, the most All-Americans for the program since 1992-93 when the school had a record 28 individuals earn All-America honors.
- Clemson had 58 All-ACC selections for its athletic teams in 1998-99, its highest total since the 1991-92 school year when Clemson had 64 first-team All-ACC players. All but two of Clemson's teams had at least one first-team All-ACC player.
- Clemson won four ACC championships in 1998-99, the third straight year Clemson has won at least four titles. Clemson ACC Championship teams this year came from men's soccer, women's basketball, men's indoor track and women's outdoor track.
- The Tigers were especially successful when challenging outstanding teams. Clemson had 33 wins over top 25 teams this year and eight different teams had at least one win over a top 25 team. That does not include the golf and track teams who won tournaments and meets that included top 10 teams. It was the most top 25 wins in an academic year since 1993-94 when Clemson had 40.
- The Clemson program had five different athletes win national championships in 1998-99. Four of the athletes were in men's track and Lady Tiger Amy Geren won the national three-point shooting contest of college basketball (men and women combined).
- For the second straight year, Clemson was dominant in head to head competition against state rival South Carolina. Clemson was perfect against the Gamecocks in football, men's and women's basketball, baseball and men's and women's soccer, and posted an overall record of 13-7 against South Carolina.
- Once again Clemson was one of the top soccer programs in the nation. Both Clemson soccer teams finished in the top 11 of their respective polls and advanced to at least the sweet 16 of their respective NCAA tournaments. Clemson was the only school in the country in the top 11 in both final polls.
- Five athletes in three different sports were chosen within the first 30 selections of their respective professional drafts. Football star Antwan Edwards was a first-round selection of the Green Bay Packers, while baseball pitcher

Mike Paradis was the #13 selection of the Major League Baseball draft by the Baltimore Orioles.

- Clemson had three players chosen within the first 18 selections of the Major League Soccer draft. John Wilson was the 14th pick to Kansas City, Wojtek Krakowiak was the 15th selection to San Jose and Jeff Bilyk was the 18th choice to Columbus.

ACADEMIC NOTES

- The Clemson program had three GTE Academic All-Americans in 1998-99. Men's swimmer Will York and golfer Jonathan Byrd were first-team selections, while women's swimmer Jennifer Mihalik was a second-team choice.
- Men's basketball player Tom Wideman was the most academically decorated student-athlete at Clemson in 1998-99. Wideman joined swimmers Will York and Jennifer Mihalik as recipients of the ACC's Weaver-James-Corrigan scholarship. Wideman was one of just two ACC basketball players to win the award. Wideman was also one of just six Division I basketball players from across the country to win an NCAA Postgraduate scholarship. He was also an NCAA Academic All-District player.
- Student-athletes at Clemson set semester records for overall GPA, academic honor roll members, Dean's List and President's List honorees in the spring semester of 1999.
- Clemson's 445 student-athletes posted a combined GPA of 2.71, breaking the previous best of 2.69 set in the spring of 1998. A total of 181 student-athletes were on the academic honor roll (3.0 GPA or better), also a single semester record. The career cumulative GPA of every athletic team at Clemson is currently at least a 2.38.

- A record Twenty-one student-athletes were on the President's List (4.0) and a record 72 student-athletes made the Dean's List. Seventeen of the student-athletes were first or second-team All-ACC on the field and were on the academic honor roll in the classroom.
- The Tiger football team had a record GPA of 2.38 for the spring semester, Tommy Bowden's first semester as Clemson head coach. It broke the mark of 2.37 set in the spring of 1993. The grid team had 23 academic honor roll recipients, fourth highest on record and second best by that team in the last 12 semesters.
- The Clemson golf team, ranked number-one in the nation on the course all spring by the Sagarin poll, also had a record setting semester in the classroom. Larry Penley's team posted a 3.20 team GPA, highest on record, and nine of the 11 members of the team were on the academic honor roll (3.0 or better).
- The Clemson women's tennis team had the highest team GPA with a 3.21 in the spring. It was the ninth time in the last 10 semesters that the Lady Tigers tennis team had a 3.0 team GPA or better. Six of the eight members of Nancy Harris's team were on the academic honor roll.

TEAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- The Clemson golf team finished eighth at the NCAA Tournament, the program's third straight top 10. It is the first Clemson program since the men's soccer team had five straight top five finishes between 1975-79 to have three straight top 10 finishes. The Clemson golf team was ranked number-one in the nation for 10 straight weeks in the spring and won a record tying five national tournaments.

Three members of the Clemson team were named first-team All-ACC and All-Americans. Jonathan Byrd and John Engler were first-team All-Americans, while Lucas Glover, who finished eighth at the NCAA Tournament, was an honorable mention selection. Byrd and Engler represented the United States in the Palmer Cup, while Coach Larry Penley and Glover will represent the United States in the US vs. Japan Cup matches.

- The Clemson rowing team, in its first year of varsity status, had a department best 28 academic honor roll members out of its 46 roster members. The team had a 3.08 GPA, up from 3.03 in the first semester. Five members of the team had a perfect 4.0 in the classroom. The team was also outstanding in the water, winning the ACC Regatta at Clemson in April. The team ranked fourth at the Central Region Regatta, trailing only Michigan, Michigan State and Ohio State and finishing first among all Atlantic Coast Conference teams. The Novice 8+ team was undefeated for the season, including the victory at the Central Region.

- The Clemson football team had six players drafted by the NFL, tied for the fifth highest total in the nation. All six of the players were drafted on the defensive side of the ball, the highest number of defensive draftees in the nation in 1999. Clemson ranked 14th in the country in rushing defense, led the ACC in sacks and ranked 25th in the nation in total defense. Clemson ended the year with a 28-19 victory over South Carolina, Clemson's third win in the last four years over its state rival.
- In men's basketball, Clemson won 20 games for just the seventh time in the school's history. The victories included triumphs over rivals South Carolina, North Carolina, Georgia and Georgia Tech, the first time in history Clemson has beaten all four rival schools in the same year. Clemson had the leading scorer (Terrell McIntyre) and leading rebounder (Harold Jamison) in the ACC in 1998-99. Larry Shyatt's 20 victories set a record for wins by a Clemson coach in his first year. The Tigers reached the finals of the NIT for the first time ever, defeating Georgia, Rutgers, Butler and Xavier in the process.
- The Lady Tiger basketball team set a school record for victories for the second straight year. Jim Davis's team had a 26-6 record, including the championship of the ACC Tournament. For the second time in four years Clemson defeated North Carolina to take the title. That was one of five wins over Top 20 teams in 1998-99 for Clemson. The Tigers defeated NCAA Finalist Duke twice, the only ACC team to defeat the Blue Devils this year. Two Lady Tigers were first-team All-ACC (Amy Geren and Ito Umo).
- The Clemson baseball team was the most improved Tiger team over the course of the academic year. Jack Leggett's team started the year 19-16 through 35 games, then finished strong with 23 wins in the last 34 games. The Tigers recorded 12 wins over top 25 teams for the season, including wins over College World Series teams Miami (FL), Texas A&M and Florida State. The victory over Florida State ended the Seminoles 21-game winning streak and marked the first time Clemson had gained victory over the number-one ranked team in the nation in any sport in three years. Clemson reached the finals of the ACC tournament, won the Fayetteville Regional of the NCAA Tournament and was within three outs of qualifying for the College World Series. It was the 13th straight year Clemson had gone to the NCAA Tournament, fourth longest streak in the nation.

- The Clemson men's soccer team was ranked number-one in the nation for much of the fall and won the ACC title. The Tigers posted a 22-2 record, best winning percentage by any Clemson team in 1998-99. Trevor Adair, the ACC Coach of the Year, defeated seven top 25 teams this year, a record for a Clemson men's soccer team. The Tigers reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA tournament before losing to eventual national champion Indiana. Wojtek Krakowiak was the top player, winning the Hermann Award as the national player of the year. Four other Tigers made All-America teams.
- Clemson's women's soccer program was led by All-American Sara Burkett to a number-11 final ranking and 16-7 overall record. The Lady Tigers reached the finals of the ACC Tournament and the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. It was the fifth straight year Clemson had made the NCAA tournament and finished in the final top 20 of the college poll. The program will have co-head coaches in Tracy and Ray Leone in 1999.
- The men's tennis team won 22 matches and qualified for the NCAA Tournament for the 18th time under Chuck Kriese. It was a landmark year for Kriese, who won his 500th match as a coach in a 5-2 victory over North Carolina in April. The Lady Tigers were led by All-ACC player Carmina Giraldo, who also advanced to the NCAA Tournament.

- The swimming program featured a pair of academic All-Americans, Will York and Jennifer Mihalik, the first time the swimming program had an academic All-American in each sport. It was the second straight year Mihalik won academic All-America honors. Freshman Cami Sink was the leader in the pool for the Lady Tigers, winning honorable mention All-America honors in the 400 IM and set school records in the 200 breast, 200 IM and 400 IM. Alex Ioanovici competed in the 50 free at the NCAA championship meet.
- The volleyball program advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the fourth time in six years. Jolene Hoover's team posted a 22-11 record. Alison Coday and Jodi Steffes were AVCA All-District performers, while Steffes also was the ACC Rookie of the Year. Coday was a first-team All-ACC tournament. Junior Cindy Stern made an All-ACC team for the second straight year.
- The men's track team had another successful year with a pair of top 20 finishes. The indoor team was third in the nation and captured the ACC Meet, winning nine championships. Ato Modibo and the 4X400 relay team captured national championships. Combined, the indoor and outdoor teams had 19 All-Americans.
- The Lady Tiger track team won the outdoor ACC championship, ending North Carolina's seven-year reign. Erin Nett was freshman of the year in the ACC indoors and outdoors after setting ACC marks in the pole vault, at both meets. Coach Ron Garner was named ACC outdoor track coach of the year.

Adams Fact: Averaged a tackle every 4.5 plays in 1998, first among returning players.

Year Lettered: 1998

Overview: Young, aggressive linebacker who hopes to follow in the tradition of great linebackers at Clemson...saw significant playing time last year behind corps of linebackers who were all drafted into the NFL, Rahim Abdullah, Chris Jones and O.J. Childress...now one of the players who is expected to step into the starting lineup on the Clemson team and be among the top tacklers...certainly a player who is in shape, he bench presses 407 pounds, eighth best on the entire team, second among linebackers...third on the team in bench pressing 225 pounds, he did 28 reps, first among linebackers...increased from 15 to 28 in one year...has a 5.6 percent body fat...had a solid spring, including six tackles in the spring game...has the quickness and the strength, he just needs game experience...regarded as the strongest hitter among Clemson's returning inside linebackers...In 1998: Second-team inside linebacker in 1998 who made 45 tackles in 176 snaps...finished the season strong with 17 tackles over his last two games, 10 against Georgia Tech and seven against South Carolina...his 45 tackles ranked 10th on the team, even though he never started a game...averaged 16 snaps per game...had a tackle every 4.5 snaps from scrimmage on defense, third best on the Clemson team and best among returning players for 1999...had at least one tackle in every game last season...second among freshmen in tackles, he trailed only starter Alex Ardley...had five tackles in just 19 snaps against Virginia Tech, he also caused a fumble...had seven tackles against Wake Forest, his high total over the first nine games of the season...played

Bowl Participation: 1998 Peach Bowl vs. Auburn

Overview: One of the most versatile players on the Clemson team, he has played fullback, defensive tackle and now starting offensive guard...made the move from defensive line to offensive line this past spring and ended the practice session number-one on the depth chart...Coach Bowden was impressed with his quickness and his ability to pick up the up-tempo offense...at 265 pounds he has the quickness to fit into the attack...same weight the guards had in Tulane's offense last year...has seen action on both sides of the ball each of the last two years, even fullback in the jumbo offense in 1997 and 1998...never carried the ball from the position, but was successful blocker...has played in 12 games over the last two years, six each season...played on offense and defense against Wake Forest in 1997, so he has had two games in which he was on both sides of the line of scrimmage in his career...has played 35 snaps in his career, 19 on offense and 16 on defense...the elder statesman of the starting offensive line this spring even though he has never been a starter in a game...one of the stronger players on the team, he is eighth on the team in the bench press with 407, fourth in 225 reps with 27, fifth in the squat at 574 and seventh in total weight lifted at 1291, so he is certainly one of the top 10 strongest players on the team, even though he is far from the largest...In 1998: Played 12 plays on offense and 12 plays on defense in 1998...actually played on both sides of the ball in the Furman game, five on defense and nine on offense, so he was the Deion Sanders of the Clemson football team based on that accomplishment...did not play in the last four games last year...In 1997: Saw action on offense in the 1998 Peach Bowl against Auburn, he was on the field when the Tigers scored a short yardage touchdown...played eight total plays in the six games...played on offense against Maryland and Auburn...in for two plays on defense against Wake Forest...also saw some special teams numbers...In 1996: Red-shirted the 1996 season at Clemson...In High School: Class 5-A All-State selection in Florida last year...all-county for three years...all-district for three years...first-team all-state choice at the 5A level...second leading tackler on the team last year, he forced three turnovers, two fumble recoveries and 15 tackles for loss...his team had a 9-2 record...led his team in sacks...All-Southeast selection by BlueChips...qualified for the state championships in weight lifting...named all-district in the shot put...participated in the Florida/Georgia All-Star game...played for Don Davis at Tarpon Springs High in Tarpon Springs, FL...born Theofilis E. Zachery Fact: Set Clemson record for all-purpose running yards by a freshman in 1998 with 995.

Fall 1999 Depth Chart Position: Reserve running back

Year Started: 1998

Overview: Returning starter at running back, he was Clemson's top rusher with 635 yards...also led the team in all-purpose rushing with 995, a freshman record for a season...in addition to his 635 yards rushing, he showed ability to catch the ball out of the backfield with 15-144 and a touchdown...missed spring practice of 1999 due to disciplinary reasons, but should return in the fall...honorable mention freshman All-American according to the Football News last year...preseason first-team All-ACC in terms of kick returns by some publications for this year...first freshman to start every game at running back since Terry Allen in 1987...In 1998: Played 457 snaps, second on the team among freshmen behind Kyle Young...averaged 4.0 per carry even though his longest run was just 39 yards...seventh in the ACC in rushing with his 665 yards, he was also seventh in punt returns...first freshman to lead Clemson in rushing since Ronald Williams in 1990...had season high 94 yards rushing against Georgia Tech on 22 rushes, that was the top rushing performance by a Tiger last year...had 49 yards rushing and 27 receiving on five catches against Wake Forest...had 7-49 in first half vs. Florida State, an injury forced him to miss second half...had fine all-around game against South Carolina with 53 yards rushing, 32 receiving and 20 on punt returns for 105 all-purpose...had 142 all-purpose yards at Duke with 14-80 rushing and 6-55 in punt returns...had 135 yards all-purpose against Georgia Tech in nationally televised game (ESPN)...had 16-93 rushing and 4-25 in punt returns in the win over Maryland...his 26-yard run for a touchdown iced the win over the Terps...had at least 94 all-purpose running yards in each of the last four games....In 1997: Red-shirted the season due to a broken ankle, so he did not benefit from daily practice like most red-shirts...had 25 rushes for 111 yards and one touchdown in the 1998 spring game, it showed he is 100 percent recovered from his injury and ready for the 1998 season....In High School: Rated as an All-American and the 15th-best running back in the Southeast Region by PrepStar...ranked as 40th best player in Southeast by Tom Lemming...ranked as 17th best tailback in the nation by The Recruiting

LEADERS IN FOOTBALL & EDUCATION

by Michael Blanding, Kristen Bono, and Bradley Ruppert

Few people realize what some members of Clemson University's football team are doing in their spare time. In addition to working hard in one of the university's most grueling sports and keeping up with their course load, many members of the team find time to organize activities in the community for their entire team to participate. LIFE LINE is an organization of Clemson football players selected to represent their team as Leaders In Football and Education. By reaching out to others on and off campus, LIFE LINE members enhance their personal leadership skills, develop career skills for the future, and spread these qualities to the rest of the team through peer leadership.

This program was started in 1996 with the intent to handle the squad's issues through peer leadership. Laurie Haughey, the team's academic advisor at the time, and Bill D'Andrea, the Director of Clemson's Student-Athlete Enrichment Program, chose 12 players to be inaugural members of LIFE LINE. These players were already considered leaders of the team both on and off the field. Membership emphasized what strong assets they provided to the team. After selecting those initial members there still remained the task of getting the program up and running.

Current membership nominations come from within the group. The initiated participants nominate other members of the team that represent the values that they have established. When a member graduates, the team votes in a new member to replace him. If two are found to take his spot, so be it. That is how the membership grows. This program is not meant to be exclusive. There is no set number of the participants.

These values include self-discipline, dedication, responsibility, positive attitude, a good work ethic, honesty, and most important, leadership. Through these positive attributes, members give LIFE LINE a positive team image, well-developed goals and objectives, team unity, and smart decision making. All of this enables LIFE LINE to achieve its mission of establishing a group of Clemson University football players who enhance and encourage high academic, athletic, and social ideals within their team.

As members of LIFE LINE, individuals are required to meet once a month to discuss issues affecting the team and the surrounding community. During these "retreats," members reflect upon past community projects and plan future ones. They also discuss issues affecting team unity. These include issues that are discussed in the locker room as well as those issues that have not yet been brought to light. Through open discussion, current matters can be resolved and future problems avoided. To further assist individuals in conflict resolution and leadership growth, members are also required to attend a seminar taught by Dr. Steven Madden, a professor in Speech and Communication Studies at Clemson. Dr. Madden offers the group skills in conflict resolution, and is able to facilitate the players in the areas of negotiation and persuasion. Clemson Mayor Larry Abernathy also has addressed the group about their responsibilities to the Clemson community.

Members of LIFE LINE are also required to be involved in the organization's community outreach projects, which run throughout the academic year. Throughout LIFE LINE's brief history the organization has been affiliated with Helping Hands of Clemson. Every semester the team raises money for Helping Hands as part of Career Dress Day. For each participating player, sponsors donate a small sum of money to the organization. LIFE LINE participants have had to use their imaginations to come up with these innovative ways of raising funds within the parameters of NCAA regulations.

Although they will continue to try to find ways to donate money, LIFE LINE members would like to focus their future attention on direct involvement with the children. As shown in the photos current Tigers Ryan Romano and Jackie Robinson were active last year in reading to elementary school students. The group would also like to continue their affiliation with Habitat for Humanity. This is a program where they volunteer their time to help build homes for those who are less fortunate. Another program they look forward to is High Five Day. Children of the community are brought in by the football team to Vickery Hall for pizza, a movie and to compete to see who can give the Tiger the best high five. The player's judge the contest and the winner receives a prize, but the athletes cheer for all of the children.

Goals for the future are to get the word out about the advantages of this program. Members of LIFE LINE have stated that they do not participate because they want recognition. They do it because they want to contribute. It is an honor to be a part of LIFE LINE, because it helps the team and the community. There is also a wish to spread this kind of program to other campuses. Members of the team have given presentations at the 1997 & 1998 Summer

Leadership Institutes where they have offered peer leadership strategies for professionals around the country.

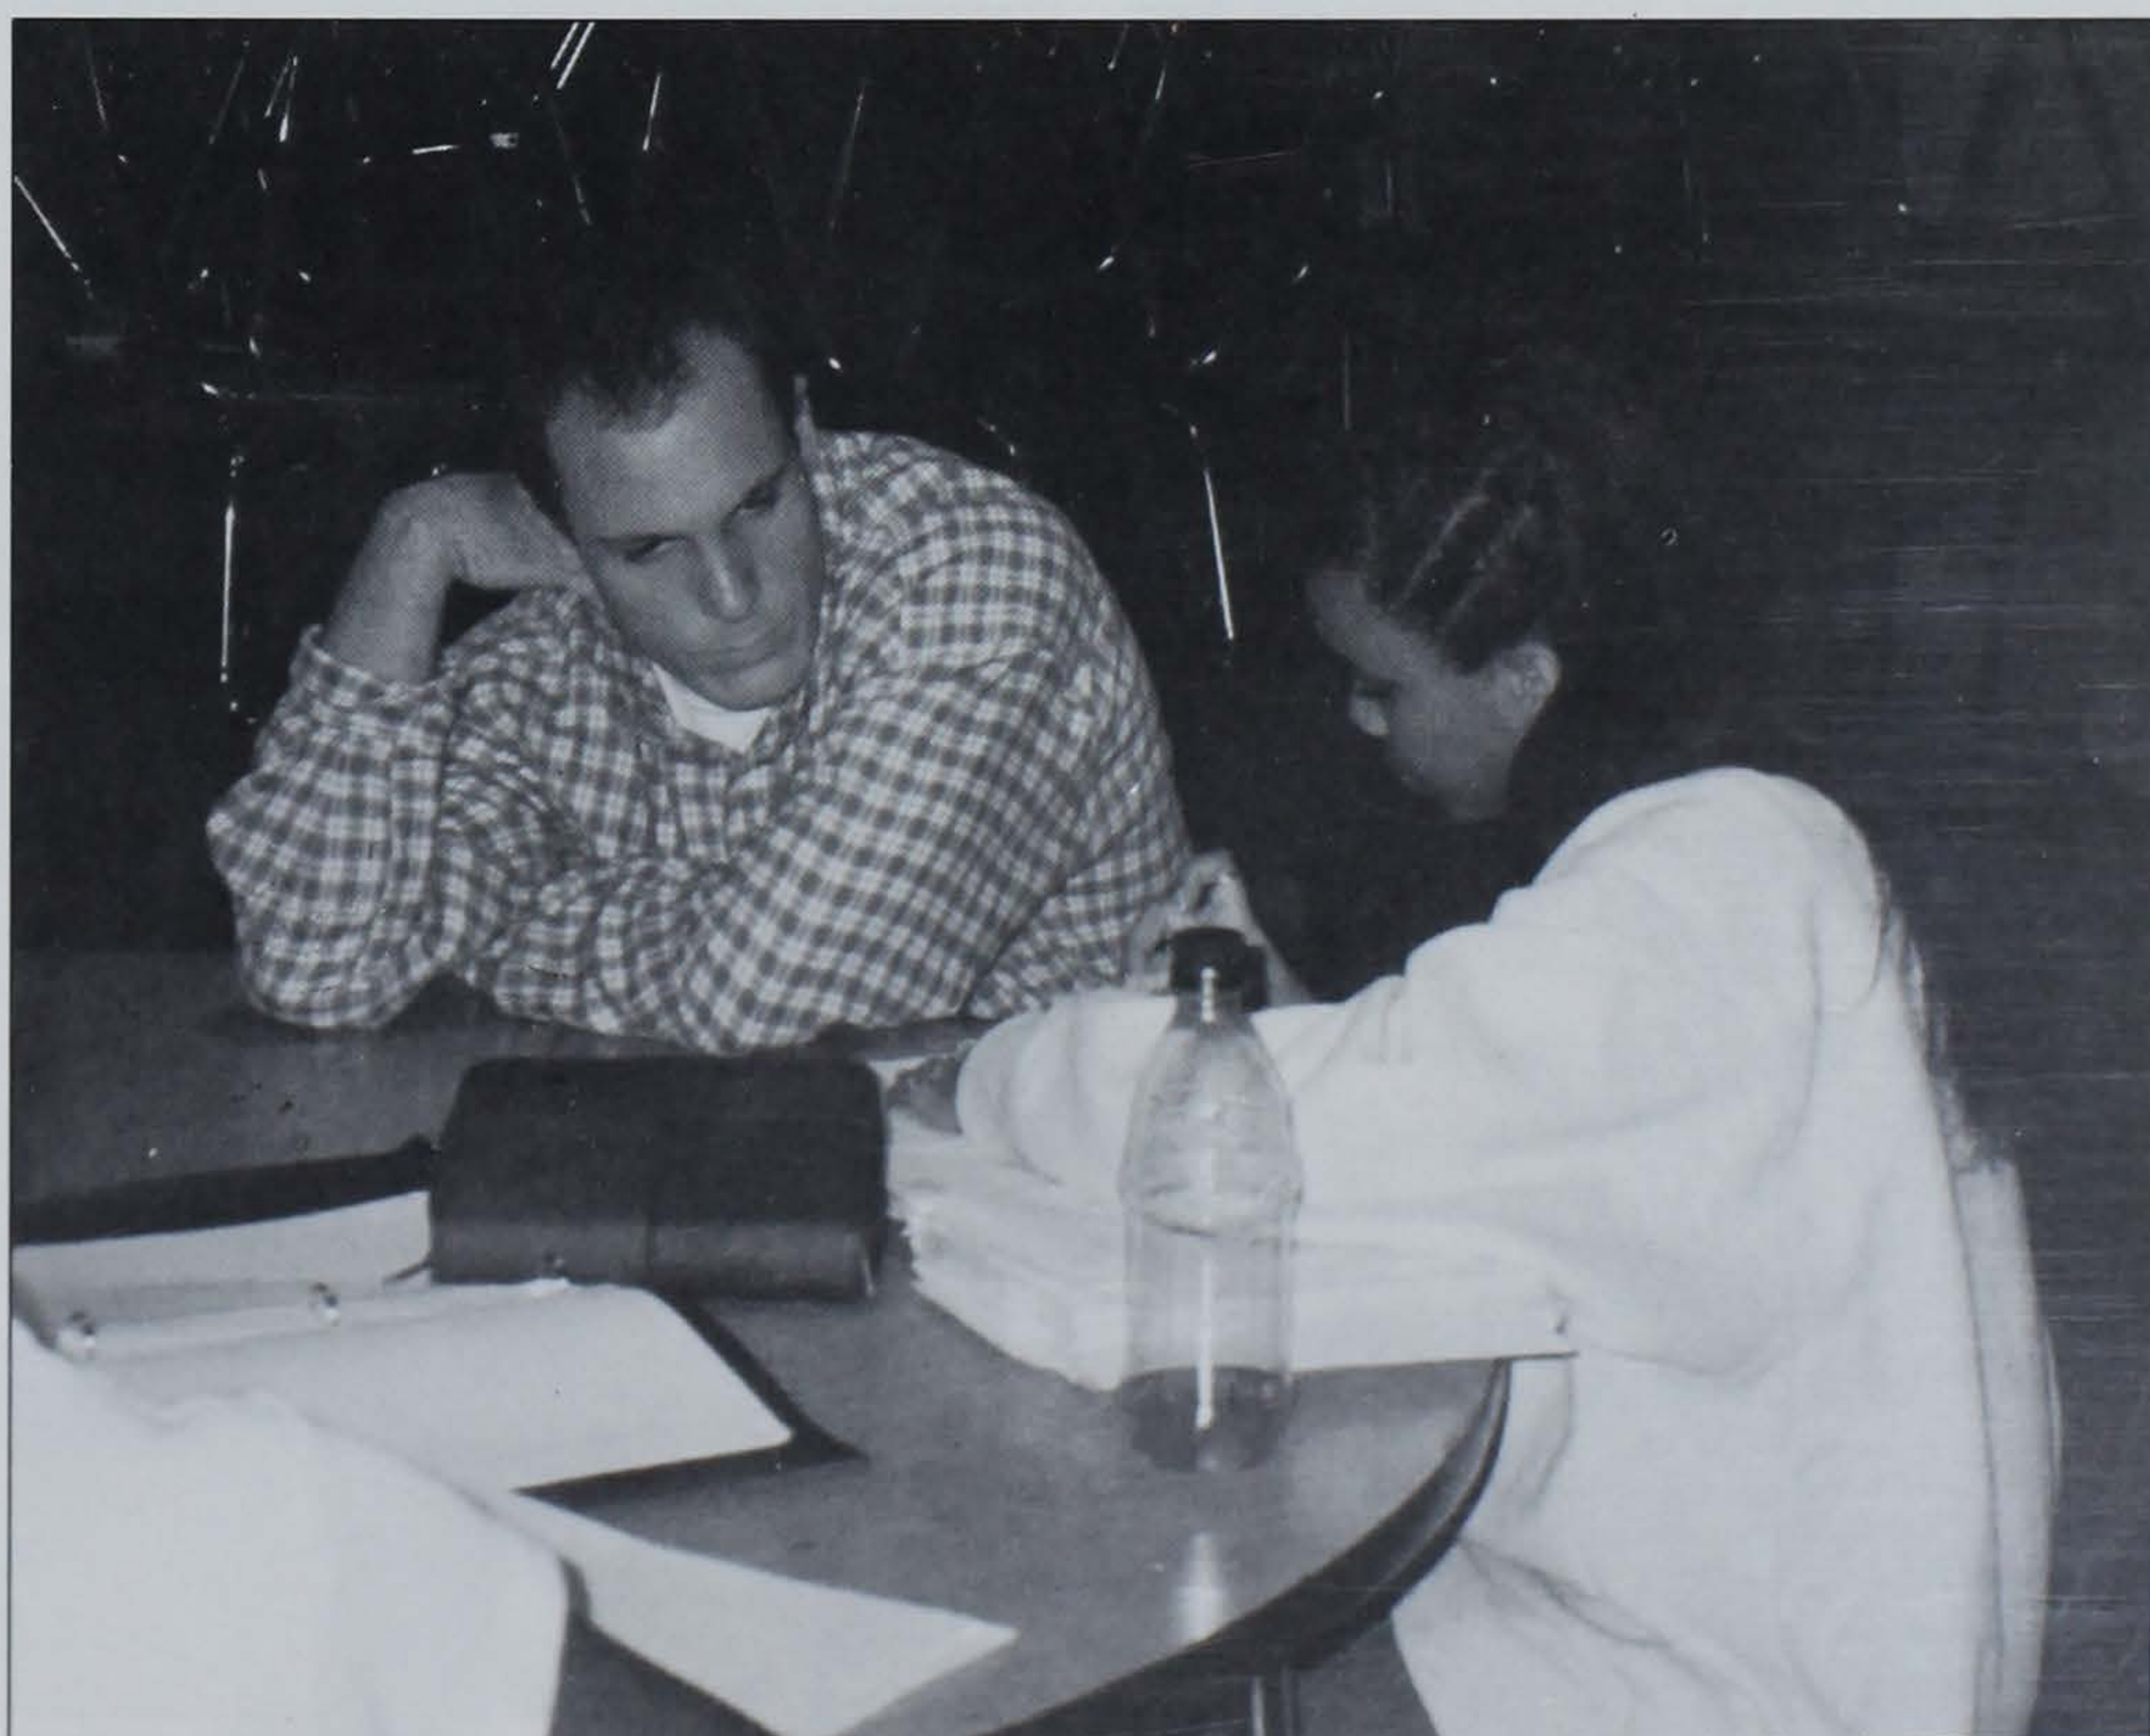

This program was initiated to help build leadership and unity on a very large team, not as a public relations maneuver. If this is the first you have heard about their group, that is probably why.

Regarded as one of the most innovative sports marketing companies in the country, the Clemson Sports Network keeps Tiger fans entertained and informed with over 8 1/2 hours of programming on game days. The Tiger Tailgate Show, football game broadcast, and post-game scoreboard show The Fifth Quarter can all be heard throughout South Carolina by radio and around the world on the Internet or pay-to-listen telephone dial-up.

Beginning three hours before kickoff, the popular Tiger Tailgate Show gets Clemson fans ready for football action! Hosted by Bill Love, Howard Hudson and Joe Erwin, the show also features former Clemson All-American Perry Tuttle, Whitney Walters, and live music by Duane Evans. Often imitated but never duplicated, the Tiger Tailgate Show continues to set the standard in pre-game entertainment for football fans of all ages.

The football game broadcast features Clemson Hall-of-Famer Jim Phillips, celebrating his 32nd year as the "Voice of the Tigers." Synonymous with Clemson athletics since the late 1960's, Phillips is one of the most respected play-by-play broadcasters in the country. This native of Youngstown, Ohio, has called 359 Clemson football games and 917 men's basketball games in his career, making him the dean of all broadcasters in the ACC. Phillips also provides the play-by-play for Clemson baseball and women's basketball.

He has been chosen South Carolina Sports-caster-of-the-Year five times and in 1992 was honored with the "Master's Award," the highest award offered by the South Carolina Broadcasters' Association. He was also inducted into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame in 1992, his 25th year as "Voice of the Tigers." Just this past spring, Jim received the Marvin "Skeeter" Francis Award from the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association for outstanding service and dedication to the ACC. Jim is the first radio personality to receive this award.

Joining Phillips on the broadcast team is another Clemson Hall-of-Famer, former quarterback Mike Eppley, who is entering his 10th year as Clemson Sports Network's football color analyst. Mike is Clemson's number three ranked passer in terms of efficiency rating. He guided Clemson to 21 victories between 1982 and 1984, and set the career record for TD passes with 28.

Rodney Williams, another Clemson football great, is the third member of the broadcast team. Williams led Clemson to 32 wins as the starting quarterback between 1985 and 1988, an all-time Clemson record. Williams provides color commentary during the game from the sideline and anchors the post-game show from the locker room, where he conducts interviews with coaches and players. Anchoring the pre-game and halftime portions of the broadcast is Clemson Sports Network veteran, Don Munson.

Clemson Sports Network's Clemson Football with Tommy Bowden television coach's show is broadcast in every market in South Carolina on Sundays and is broadcast on major cable stations throughout the United States. The award-winning show is produced by TVP Productions Inc. in Greenville, S.C.

Concluding each broadcast Saturday for the 20th season is The Fifth Quarter Show, an award-winning two-hour college scoreboard hosted by Munson and Chris Scott. This popular show provides a run-down of games from across the nation with up-to-the-minute "live" reports and scores from eyewitness reporters. The Fifth Quarter Show continues Clemson Sports Network's tradition of providing complete coverage of college football each Clemson Saturday.

On Thursday nights join head coach Tommy Bowden and Jim Phillips for TigerTalk, the Clemson Sports Network's state-wide call-in show. Running August 26 through November 18, Clemson fans throughout the state have the opportunity to talk directly to Coach Bowden by calling the TigerTalk hotline at 1-800-200-ROAR.

Tiger fans who do not have radio or television coverage of Clemson games in their area are able to hear every Clemson Sports Network broadcast by listening over the telephone with the TEAMLINE service. By dialing 1-800-846-4700 from any phone in the country and entering the Clemson University team code (0665), fans with a VISA or MasterCard account can be connected directly to the live play-by-play of the game broadcast!

Clemson Sports Network also has the entire schedule of broadcasts available worldwide on the Internet, live and in real time. Computer users who have a sound card and Internet access can now listen to a Clemson University sporting event anywhere in the world! Broadcasts may be accessed through the Clemson Sports Network website at <http://www.clemsonsports.com>.

Furman 0

Clemson opened its 103rd year of football with a resounding 33-0 shutout win over nearby Furman under a scorching early September sun. The Tigers held Furman without a touchdown for the eighth straight game, dating to 1961. Clemson, behind the leadership of first-year starting quarterback Brandon Streeter, showed a balanced offensive attack, passing for 202 yards and rushing for 212, while the Tiger "D" held the Paladins to only 125 total yards.

The flood gates opened in the middle of the first quarter when Clemson scored 17 points in the span of 3:05. Jarvis Austin capped an 11-play, 49-yard, 5:54 drive with a one-yard touchdown plunge. Two minutes later, David Richardson kicked a 25-yard field goal, which came off a Adrian Dingle caused fumble deep in Paladin territory. Less than a minute later, a snap that sailed over quarterback Justin Hill's head was scooped up by linebacker Chris Jones for the senior's first career touchdown. It was also the Tigers' first fumble recovery for a touchdown since the 1989 Gator Bowl, when Chester McGlockton fell on a loose ball for six against West Virginia.

Richardson added a 22-yard field goal with three seconds left in the first half, giving Clemson a 20-0 lead. That drive was led by red-shirt freshman quarterback Woodrow Dantzler, who rushed for 65 yards on 12 carries, most of which came in a shotgun formation. The drive comprised 18 plays, 99 yards of total offense, and took 8:49, the second longest drive as far as time in Clemson history.

Dingle was the star of the Paladin's first drive of the second half. He recorded three sacks in the span of six plays. The three sacks tied a Tiger single game record held by many.

After another Richardson field goal, thanks in part to Rod Gardner's 29-yard catch and run, this time from 39 yards out, Clemson drove 45 yards in four plays to go ahead, 30-0. Streeter connected with Mal Lawyer, who had a team best 76 receiving yards on three catches, for 37 yards to set up Terry Witherspoon's one yard touchdown run.

The Tiger defense stood up to a Paladin scoring threat early in the fourth quarter. Furman had first and goal at the Clemson eight thanks to a 50-yard pass hookup from Hill to Desmond Kitchings. But Hill's run around right end from the two on fourth down came up one yard short. The drive was the only one into Clemson's red-zone.

Clemson then took the ball 91 yards in 10 plays to set up Richardson's fourth field goal, a 24-yard boot. The drive was highlighted by Lawyer's second catch of over 37 yards, a 39-yard reception.

Red-shirt freshman Travis Zachery had 73 yards rushing in his first collegiate game. Streeter was impressive as well in his first game as the Tiger full time starter. He completed 11 of 14 passes for 183 yards and no interceptions. Richardson's four field goals were one short of the Clemson record, as he scored 15 of the Tigers' 33 points. He was the only player in the nation that week to convert four field goals in four attempts.

On the defensive side, first time starting inside linebackers O.J. Childress and Jones tied for the team lead with nine tackles apiece. Dingle had four tackles-for-loss, three sacks, a blocked field goal, a caused fumble, and two quarterback pressures, all in just 27 plays. Rahim Abdullah also had a stellar game with two tackles-for-loss and a sack. Sixty-three Tigers saw action in the game, including 18 freshmen.

Virginia Tech scored 31 points in the second quarter on its way to a 37-0 victory over Clemson at Death Valley in the first game of a home-and-home series. The 31 points was the most ever scored against the Tigers in a single quarter.

Hokie quarterback Al Clark led the second quarter onslaught, as he ran for two scores and passed for another. Clark threw for 171 yards, but only completed seven of 26 passes. The Hokie ground game, which included former Tiger Lamont Pegues, also netted over 170 yards.

Clemson had one of its lowest outputs in years, as the Hokie defense held the Tigers to 31 rushing yards on 31 carries, and seven completions in 25 attempts for 71 yards, as Tiger signal caller Brandon Streeter, who was intercepted four times, was harassed all afternoon. The Virginia Tech defense only allowed three plays of 10 yards or more, all of which were pass plays.

Clemson also had 12 penalties for 116 yards and punted 12 times. Despite only having the ball 2:30 less than the Hokies, Virginia Tech outplayed the Tigers 79 to 56 and out-yardaged Clemson 347 to 102.

All indications pointed to a defensive struggle for both teams in the early going. The Tiger defense held Virginia Tech three and out on its first two possessions, including back-to-back sacks by Adrian Dingle and Rahim Abdullah on the latter series.

But the Virginia Tech defense was just as stout, holding Clemson to just three first downs in the first half. Clemson penalties on its first three offensive plays, resulting in minus 36 yards, did not help either.

The Hokies scored with 3:59 remaining in the opening frame when Shayne Graham connected with a field goal from 25 yards. The scoring opportunity was set up when Antwan Edwards fumbled Jimmy Kibble's punt at the Tiger 13 yard line.

The second quarter all but ended Clemson's hope of a victory. On the first play of the quarter, Clark plowed up the middle for six points. Six minutes later, Clark once again put six on the board, this time on a 10 yard scramble that capped an eight-play, 74-yard drive.

On the Hokies' next possession, Clark connected with Ricky Hall on a 56-yard strike to up their lead to 24-0 with 5:15 left in the quarter. Lorenzo Ferguson, who had three interceptions on the afternoon, picked off a Streeter pass on the Tigers' next play to set up Pegues' one-yard touchdown run.

Graham added three more points, barely clearing the cross-bar from 53 yards, to give the Hokies an insurmountable 34-0 halftime lead.

Despite the Hokie dominance, almost half (37 of 79) of Virginia Tech's offensive plays resulted in zero or negative yards. Chris Jones led all Tigers with a career-high 17 tackles, including a four-yard sack. Cornerback and red-shirt freshman Alex Ardley also had a career-high 10 tackles, playing in only his second game as a Tiger. DoMarco Fox had Clemson's first interception of the season and returned it 30 yards and also recovered a fumble. Nine different Tigers accounted for the team's 10 tackles-for-loss.

Todd Braverman's 30-yard field goal with 0:49 left in the game gave Virginia a 20-18 victory over Clemson at Scott Stadium. Clemson had rallied from a 17-3 halftime deficit to take an 18-17 lead in the fourth quarter.

Tiger cornerback Antwan Edwards led the Tigers with a 93-yard fumble return for a touchdown. He also had an 85-yard kickoff return earlier in the contest to set up Clemson's first quarter field goal.

Virginia scored on its second possession when Thomas Jones, who had 118 yards rushing on 24 carries, ran 31 yards off-guard for six. Edwards returned the ensuing kickoff 85 yards to the Wahoo 10, but Clemson could not punch it in, settling for a David Richardson 21-yard three-pointer.

Aaron Brooks, who connected with 10 different receivers, showed his pin-point passing in the following drives as he ended the first half with 210 yards passing on 11 of 14 passing. Brooks hit Kevin Coffey from 20 yards to cap a six-play, 87-yard drive to put the Cavaliers ahead 14-3 with 4:34 remaining in the first quarter.

But Clemson's "bend but don't break" defense stepped up for the rest of the game, allowing only a field goal for the last three quarters. Ironically, Clemson's defense outscored the Cavalier offense 8-3 in the final three quarters of the game.

After Brandon Streeter was intercepted by Adrian Burnim in the second quarter, Virginia set its sight on seven more points from the Tiger seven. But after two stops, Howard Bartley knocked the ball from Brooks while dropping back to pass and Adrian Dingle fell on the ball. At half-time, the Cavs out-yardaged Clemson 309-91.

Clemson's first drive of the second half stalled, but Kevin Laird landed his punt inside the 10 and the ball was downed at the Cavalier two. After two incompletions, Thomas Jones was tackled on the goal line by a stunting Gary Childress for a safety.

Edwards returned the ensuing punt 39 yards into Virginia territory, but he was stripped and the Cavaliers recovered at their own 37. Virginia drove to the Tiger three-yard line after the turnover. Jason Holloman then stripped Tyree Foreman and Edwards scooped up the ball and returned it 93 yards for a touchdown. The turnover meant the Tiger defense created turnovers on both Cavalier first-and-goal opportunities. Streeter's two point conversion attempt sailed over Mal Lawyer's head, leaving the Virginia lead at 17-11.

After a Clemson punt and two Cavalier punts, Clemson drove 87 yards on six plays for its first offensive touchdown in over eight quarters. The drive was highlighted by Streeter's 54-yard pass to Brian Wofford. It was Streeter's longest hookup of his career and first career touchdown pass. Richardson's extra point gave the Tigers a stunning 18-17 lead with 12:08 remaining in the game.

After a Clemson holding penalty on third down extended the Virginia drive late in the fourth quarter, the Wahoos faced another third down, this time a third-and-10. Brooks threw over the middle on a short post pattern to Coffey. Edwards knocked the ball away, but was flagged for pass interference. The Wahoos eventually drove to the Tiger 12 and Braverman booted a 30-yard field goal inside the left upright for the 20-18 lead and victory.

The Clemson defense, which held Virginia to 2-13 on third downs and just 137 total yards in the second half, was led by Harold Means, who started his first game of '98. He tallied 11 tackles, three for-loss, and a sack. Edwards, Alex Ardley, and Robert Carswell had two pass break-ups apiece as well. Clemson also had five sacks, while Virginia had none.

Wake Forest 29

Clemson turned the ball over seven times, leading to 24 points, as Wake Forest defeated Clemson 29-19 in Death Valley. With the loss, Clemson dropped to 1-3, its worst start since 1985. Clemson had defeated the Demon Deacons four straight times.

Despite the loss, Tiger quarterback Brandon Streeter threw for 319 yards, the second highest total in Clemson history. But Streeter also threw four interceptions and fumbled twice. On the other hand, Demon Deacon signal caller Brian Kuklick completed 14 of 24 passes for 251 yards and two scores against no interceptions. Morgan Kane led the Wake Forest ground attack, grinding out 113 yards on 35 carries. It was the second time the Canadian had rushed for over 100 yards against Clemson in Death Valley.

After Wake Forest drove down the field on its opening possession and Matthew Burdick kicked a 43-yard field goal, Clemson struck back with its longest play of the season to date. The Tigers surprised the Wake Forest defense, who had seen two options attacks in its first two games, with a four-receiver set. Streeter found Rod Gardner streaking down the middle for 63 yards, as Gardner took the ball to the Wake Forest four. Terry Witherspoon ran over left-guard for six on the next play, giving the Tigers a 7-3 lead early in the first quarter.

Wake Forest threatened on its next drive, but Wade Shaw fumbled on Clemson's 28. The Demon Deacons fumbled twice more in the first half in Clemson territory, including a great play by Rahim Abdullah, who stripped Kane on the Tiger two-yard line. That turnover marked the third straight time over the span of two games that a Tiger opponent fumbled on a first-and-goal opportunity.

Luck fell into the hands of Wake Forest late in the first quarter when Streeter was picked off by Mark Makovec, who had two interceptions on the day. He returned the theft 36 yards to give Wake Forest a 10-7 lead. The Demon Deacons increased their lead to 12-7 when Clemson was flagged for holding in the end zone with 8:48 left in the second quarter.

Wake Forest picked up right where it left off when Kuklick connected with Marvin Chalmers off a fake reverse for a 48-yard touchdown pass on its first possession of the second half. Two possessions later, Kuklick hit Desmond Clark, who had five catches for 110 yards, on a 56-yard scoring strike to give Wake Forest a seemingly insurmountable 26-7 lead.

But Clemson clawed its way back, as the Tiger defense helped by not allowing another first down, behind the arm of Streeter. The red-shirt junior passed for 51 yards to set up Travis Zachery's 14-yard run to paydirt with 10:50 remaining in the game.

After a Burdick 21-yard field goal, Clemson drove 80 yards in just four plays, capped by a Streeter to Brian Wofford 58-yard underneath pattern that yielded six points. But the Tigers could not cut the lead to the magic number of eight when Mal Lawyer, who had a career-high five catches and 89 yards receiving, was stopped short of the goal line on a two-point try.

The Tigers drove into Demon Deacon territory on their next two possessions, but committed turnovers on both, as Wake Forest handed Clemson its third straight loss and an 0-2 ACC record.

Clemson was led on defense by senior Chris Jones, who had a career-high 19 tackles in only 51 plays. Harold Means had 14 tackles and Robert Carswell added 11 stops. Defensive lineman Jason Holloman had his best game as a Tiger, as he had four tackles, a sack, a caused fumble, and a recovered fumble.

North Carolina 21

North Carolina's defense held Clemson from scoring twice from inside the five-yard line in the final minutes to give the Tar Heels a 21-14 victory over Clemson in Chapel Hill. The win was the Tar Heels' first in four tries in '98 and was Clemson's fourth straight defeat, its longest losing streaking since 1975.

Both defenses dominated for most of the game, as neither team had 300 yards of total offense. Despite Clemson's 33:05 of time of possession, North Carolina had six more plays and 65 more yards. Clemson's offense could only muster 3.3 yards per play and one third-down conversion in 13 tries, while North Carolina rushed for 45 yards on 30 carries. The Tar Heels longest rush was only five yards as well.

North Carolina won the field position battle in the first quarter, but missed two long field goal attempts while the Tiger defense held its own. The Tar Heels finally capitalized when Oscar Davenport hit Kory Bailey on a 20-yard crossing route early in the second quarter. The score was set up by a fourth-and-three fake punt that gained five yards.

On the Tar Heels' next drive, Davenport's pass on third down went threw the hands of linebacker Chris Jones, but into the waiting arms of red-shirt freshman Alex Ardley, who returned his first career interception 26 yards for a touchdown to even the score.

After the two teams traded punts, Tar Heel running back Rufus Brown was stripped by Jones and Adrian Dingle recovered on the North Carolina 14. Red-shirt freshman Woodrow Dantzler, who was starting his first career game at quarterback, kept the ball for nine yards to the one-yard line to set up Terry Witherspoon's one-yard touchdown run, putting Clemson ahead 14-7.

Clemson took the opening kickoff of the second half 42 yards in 10 plays, but David Richardson's 47-yard field goal was blocked.

Neither team threatened until early in the fourth quarter when Davenport led the Tar Heels for the game-tying score. The key play of the drive was Dauntaé Finger's 25-yard finger-tip catch, just over the outstretched arms of Ardley. Brown carried around right end from the four-yard line, evening the score with 11:08 remaining.

Disaster struck on the ensuing drive when Dantzler was stripped at the Tiger 13. Davenport connected with Deon Dyer on the next play to give the Tar Heels the eventual game-winning score. The two Tar Heel fourth quarter touchdowns came just 1:02 apart.

It appeared that Clemson would tie the game thanks to the arm of Brandon Streeter, who took his first snap of the game on the ensuing drive with under 10 minutes remaining. That first snap resulted in the Tigers' longest play of the day, as Streeter hit Travis Zachery out of the backfield between two Tar Heel defenders for 28 yards. Streeter again hooked up with a backfield mate, this time Jarvis Austin, for 24 yards. After Zachery took an option pitch 11 yards to the Tar Heel six, it looked like Clemson would tie the game. But the Tar Heel defense held on four straight plays, including a fourth-down option pitch to Zachery.

The Tigers got the ball back again with 3:13 to play thanks to a three-and-out by the Clemson defense. A Streeter to Zachery fourth-down pass and Streeter to Marcus Martin hook-up moved the ball to the 12-yard line. Streeter then connected with Brian Wofford on a "slant-in." He appeared to be on his way to the end zone, but was stripped at the two-yard line, and the ball squirted out of the end zone for a touchback.

Clemson was led on defense by Jones, who had 11 tackles, two pass breakups, and a tackle-for-loss. Dingle had five tackles, five quarterback pressures, two tackles-for-loss, and a sack. Antwan Edwards had an ACC Defensive Back-of-the-Week performance with eight tackles, three pass breakups, an interception, two kickoff returns for 40 yards, and a 22-yard punt return.

Clemson broke its longest losing streak in 23 years with a convincing 23-0 win over Maryland at Homecoming in Death Valley. Although one streak ended, Clemson kept alive its streak of four consecutive home games without allowing a touchdown to the Terrapins. Maryland has also scored just 12 points in the last six meetings versus the Tigers regardless of site.

The Tiger offense unveiled a three-receiver offense for the first time since 1995. The scheme resulted in a balanced attack of 201 yards rushing and 198 yards passing. Clemson was also effective out of the shotgun. In 18 plays out of the gun, the Tigers had 154 yards.

But the Tiger defense stole the show, holding Maryland to under 100 yards rushing and 100 yards passing. Maryland could not advance the ball past the Tiger 30-yard line all game and only passed midfield twice, both coming in the first half. Clemson registered a season-high six sacks and held Maryland to just 2 of 13 on third down en route to its second shutout of 1998.

The Tigers were led by rejuvenated signal caller Brandon Streeter, who completed 13 of 22 passes for 191 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions. Streeter's favorite target against the Terps, Marcus Martin, had a career high six catches for 97 yards and his first career touchdown. Tailback Travis Zachery also had his best game with 93 yards rushing in 16 carries and a touchdown, resulting in him receiving ACC Rookie-of-the-Week honors.

Clemson marched 50 yards in eight plays on the game's opening drive, but could not capitalize as David Richardson missed a 37-yard field goal attempt. Maryland had the ball for six plays on each of its next two drives, but field position and penalties kept the Terrapins from threatening.

Richardson put the Tigers ahead early in the second quarter with a 42-yard kick, capping a nine-play, 52-yard drive highlighted by Martin's 31-yard catch and run.

The Terrapins threatened to score, something they had done just once in the previous trips to Tigertown, midway through the second quarter. Randall Jones' 21-yard pass to Moises Cruz set up Brian Kopka for a 50-yard field goal try, but Kopka's kick sailed wide right.

The Tigers finally scored a touchdown late in the first half when Streeter connected with Martin on a roll-out pass play. Martin caught the ball near the sidelines, turned, and dove the last few yards for the score, giving the Tigers a 10-0 half-time lead.

The Tiger defense stepped up in the second half, limiting Maryland to just 43 total yards. Streeter's 17-yard shuttle pass to Jarvis Austin, who had 61 yards rushing on nine attempts, set up Clemson's next score. Streeter connected with a backpedaling and leaping Brian Wofford on a 28-yard touchdown pass play with 3:38 remaining in the game.

The Tigers drove the nail in the coffin on their next and final drive of the afternoon. After a five yard penalty set the Tigers back to their own 49, Zachery carried the next two times for 25 and 26 yards, with the latter resulting in six points, providing for the final score of 23-0.

Sixth-ranked Florida State held Clemson to 129 total yards on its way to a 48-0 win over the Tigers in Tallahassee. The Seminoles outscored Clemson 156-3 in the 90s (four games) at Doak Campbell Stadium.

The Seminole offense racked up 455 yards despite no Seminole having 100 yards rushing or 100 yards receiving. The Tigers did limit Florida State to just two pass plays of 20 yards or longer, although quarterback Chris Weinke threw for 302 yards and four touchdowns on 18-35 passing. Travis Zachery was the lone bright spot for the Tigers. He had 49 yards rushing on seven carries, including his longest rush of the year (28 yards), but did not carry the ball in the second half after leaving with an arm injury.

After the Clemson defense held three-and-out on the game's opening possession, Zachery dropped a punt and Mario Edwards recovered for Florida State. Weinke connected with Laveranues Coles from 40 yards on the next play to put the Noles ahead, 7-0.

While the Tiger defense forced Florida State to punt on its next three possessions, Clemson threatened to even the score. Zachery carried for nine and 28 yards on consecutive plays to move the ball into Seminole territory. Brandon Streeter then hit Marcus Martin on a quick slant-in over the middle, but the sophomore fumbled the ball over to Florida State, squandering Clemson's only scoring threat of the first half.

Florida State struck again when Weinke connected with Clemson-killer Peter Warrick, who had 372 all-purpose yards in '97, from 48 yards. It capped a six-play, 77-yard drive. Warrick had 97 yards receiving on four catches, and had two punt returns for 50 yards. Weinke put the Noles ahead 21-0 later in the second quarter when he floated a pass for Ron Dugans in the front corner of the endzone. The Seminoles finished off their first half scoring when Sebastian Janikowski split the uprights from 53 yards.

Despite the Seminole 24-0 halftime lead, the Tigers limited Florida State to -17 yards rushing on 13 carries, none of which were sacks. Also, 24 of the 40 (60%) first half offensive plays by the Noles resulted in zero or negative yards.

The Noles struck on their first possession of the second half when Jeff Chaney ran through the Tiger defense for 41 yards and six points.

Clemson's best scoring opportunity was set up when Adrian Dingle sacked Weinke, caused him to fumble, and recovered the ball at the Florida State 11-yard line. A Jarvis Austin rush and a Streeter completion took the ball to the seven, but Streeter's pass to Mal Lawyer on fourth down was unsuccessful.

Janikowski added a 42-yard field goal and Weinke added another score when he connected with Marvin Minnis on a 15-yard touchdown. Florida State's final score came at the hands of Seminole backup quarterback Marcus Outzen, who sneaked in on fourth down from the two. The first down on the play was the last of their 28 on the day.

Clemson was led on defense by junior line-backer Rahim Abdullah. He had a career high 15 tackles in just 52 plays. Antwan Edwards added to his ACC-leading PBU figure with three more breakups. Dingle also added to his ACC-leading sack total with a six-yard sack and two tackles-for-loss. Jason Holloman also added two sacks on the evening and Chris Jones had 11 tackles, which was his fourth straight double-figure tackle game.

Clemson rallied with 245 yards and 20 points in the second half to come back from a 21-3 half-time deficit, only to come up short 28-23 to Duke at Wallace Wade Stadium. With the loss, Clemson will not make its fourth consecutive bowl appearance. The Tigers outgained the Blue Devils 362 to 268 and had 19 first downs to Duke's 13, but the Blue Devils had three long scoring drives that accounted for nearly all of their total offense.

Clemson was led on the ground by freshman Travis Zachery. He had his third straight game of at least 5.7 yards per carry as he rushed for 80 yards on 14 carries, including a 39-yard touchdown run, the longest run by a Tiger in '98. He also totaled 142 all-purpose yards, a team high in '98. Brian Wofford had a career high seven receptions and became the first current Tiger to reach the 100-yard single-game receiving mark with 101 yards.

Freshman B.J. Hill led the Duke ground attack with 86 yards on 18 carries and one of Duke's four rushing touchdowns. Wide-out Scottie Montgomery also caught seven passes for 102 yards to help Duke defeat Clemson for the first time since 1994.

The Blue Devils took their opening drive 79 yards in 12 plays to take a 7-0 lead. The scoring play came when running back Letavious Wilks dropped Bobby Campbell's handoff. The ball rolled into the endzone, where it eluded the arms of several Tiger defenders. Campbell eventually pounced on the loose ball. Hill led the offense down the field with six carries for 52 yards on the drive.

The Tigers responded on their next possession with a 10-play, 72-yard drive capped by David Richardson's 25-yard field goal. Brandon Streeter, who was 19-40 for 231 yards, connected with Wofford for 43 yards on a post pattern to set up the score.

Duke came up with another loose ball on its next possession. Campbell fumbled as he set to pass at his own five-yard line. The ball remained free near the goal line and Duke recovered inside its own one-yard line. Duke punted, but Clemson could not capitalize having to punt on the ensuing possession.

Duke tacked on another six in the second quarter, this time marching 75 yards in nine plays. Montgomery's 33-yard catch set up Wilk's 3-yard plunge on fourth down.

Kenan Holley, who had two interceptions on the day, set up Duke's next touchdown when he stepped in front of Streeter's rollout pass and took the pigskin to the five-yard line. Two plays later, Wilks carried in from a yard out to put the Blue Devils up 21-3.

The Tigers came out in the second half rejuvenated. On its opening drive, Zachery broke tackles on his way to a 39-yard touchdown to cut into the Duke lead.

Two possessions later, Clemson drove 68 yards in nine plays to cut the lead to 21-17 with 2:22 remaining in the third quarter. Streeter floated a pass to Mal Lawyer in the corner of the endzone. Lawyer leaped and took the 50/50 ball away from the defender and barely came down in the field of play.

The Blue Devils responded on their next drive. They went 80 yards in nine plays for the eventual winning score. A 31-yard Campbell to Mike Hart hookup set up Hill's eight-yard scoring run.

Things looked even more bleak when Duke downed a punt on Clemson's one-yard line. But behind the arm of Streeter, Clemson marched the Torry Holt scored four touchdowns and had 225 receiving yards, while Jamie Barnette threw for a Memorial Stadium record 374 yards on Halloween at Death Valley as the Wolfpack outlasted Clemson, 46-39. The two teams combined for 40 points in the fourth quarter that saw the lead change four times. Clemson had been 154-0 all-time when it scored 33 points or more.

The day also featured Tiger quarterback Brandon Streeter set school records for completions (27) and passing yards (329). Streeter's favorite targets were Brian Wofford, who had his second straight 100-yard receiving game, and Mal Lawyer. Wofford caught nine passes for 128 yards and a touchdown, while Lawyer caught eight passes for 100 yards and two touchdowns. It marked the first time in Clemson history two receivers had at least 100 yards receiving in the same game.

Clemson got on the board first with 3:57 left in the first quarter when Streeter kept on an option play and dragged the defender into the endzone from five yards. On the ensuing kickoff, Brian Williams picked up the ball he muffed on the one-yard line and took a knee in the endzone, resulting in a safety.

The Tiger defense limited the Wolfpack to just 48 yards midway through the second quarter when lighting struck. Clemson Thorpe Award candidate Antwan Edwards pulled a hamstring at the 9:31 mark and missed the rest of the game. Two series later, Barnette capitalized on Edwards' absence as he found Holt deep across the middle for 85 yards and a score to cut the Tiger lead to 9-7.

Justin Watts fumbled two plays later deep in Wolfpack territory to set up Ray Robinson's three-yard touchdown run. Travis Zachery fumbled two plays later at the Tiger 17 to set up Holt's 17-yard flanker screen pass for the score, meaning the Wolfpack scored three times in 4:12.

Clemson once again turned the ball over on its first drive of the second half. Terry Witherspoon fumbled and Jason Perry picked up the loose ball, and ran 36 yards for the touchdown. Clemson turned the ball over five times while N.C. State was turnover-free.

Clemson responded with a 14-play, 83-yard drive on its next possession to halt the N.C. State momentum. Jarvis Austin carried in from a yard to cap the drive. Clemson cut further into the Wolfpack lead two possessions later when Streeter connected with Lawyer across the middle for 14 yards and a touchdown.

N.C. State offset Lawyer's score on its next drive with a five-play, 78-yard drive capped by Holt's 41-yard catch and run. But the Tigers came right back with a five-play, 84-yard drive to cut the lead to just five points. Streeter was 5-5 for all 84 yards on the drive that was capped by Wofford's 52-yard catch on a post-pattern.

Clemson took the lead on its next drive when Streeter found Lawyer from 25 yards, giving Clemson a touchdown on four of its last five possessions. N.C. State took the lead back when Daniel Deskevich kicked a 32-yard field goal. Ryan Hamrick's one-handed, 51-yard catch helped set up the score.

The Tigers marched down the field again. David Richardson's 40-yard field goal gave Clemson the 39-38 lead with 2:15 left. But Barnette led N.C. State down the field, as he was 6-6 for 76 yards, on the winning drive. Barnette hit Holt from nine yards for the winning score with 0:37 remaining. Clemson had five of its starting defenders, including ACC sack leader Adrian Dingle, injured and unavailable on the drive.

The Clemson defense, who limited the Wolfpack to 21 rushing yards on 23 attempts, was led by Chris Jones with 14 tackles. Michael Allen also had a career high 10 tackles.

Joe Burns' one-yard touchdown run with 1:00 left in the game gave Georgia Tech a 24-21 win over Clemson in the Tigers' first ever Thursday night home game. It was also Clemson's first home game televised on ESPN in over six years.

The turnover-free game had no 100-yard rushers or receivers, as both teams scored all their touchdowns on scoring drives of at least 60 yards. Georgia Tech won the battle of field position, with its average start at its own 32 while Clemson's average start was at its own 21. The Yellow Jackets, who were last in the ACC in total defense entering the game, kept the Tiger offense in check, allowing 300 yards of total offense. Georgia Tech quarterback Joe Hamilton eluded Tiger defenders on several occasions and tallied 190 yards passing and 37 more on the ground.

After holding the Yellow Jackets three-and-out to open the game, Clemson took its first drive 61 yards in 14 plays and 6:13 to take a 7-0 lead, doing so with no plays of more than 10 yards. Travis Zachery who had a career-high 94 rushing yards on 22 carries, rushed 10 yards off left guard for the score.

Brad Chambers cut the Tiger lead to 7-3 late in the first quarter with a 40-yard field goal. The Yellow Jackets then took the lead with 8:14 remaining before halftime when on third-and-five, Hamilton eluded the pursuit of Tiger linebacker Chris Jones and avoided other linemen for a nine-yard touchdown run.

Clemson duplicated the opening drive of the first half in its initial drive of the second half by going 12 plays and 72 yards in 6:08 to take a 14-10 lead. Vince Ciurciu's career-high run of 20 yards to the eight-yard line set up Brandon Streeter's three-yard pass to Rod Gardner, his first touchdown of '98. Streeter completed 12 of 24 passes for 154 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions.

Georgia Tech responded on its next drive with a 16-play, 80-yard drive, which elapsed 5:50, to regain the lead. Hamilton's 20-yard pass on third-and-21 to Mike Sheridan allowed the Yellow Jackets to get a first down on the next play. Phillip Rogers one-yard plunge capped off the drive.

The Tigers were finally able to strike with big plays on their opening possession of the fourth quarter. Streeter threw a strike to Zachery out of the backfield for 27 yards. Two plays later on third-and-23, Streeter connected with Brian Wofford on a post pattern for 48 yards and the go-ahead touchdown.

But like the week before, the defense could not hold the lead. With five Clemson defensive starters on the sideline with injuries, Hamilton engineered a seven-play, 57-yard drive in 1:30. Hamilton's pass to Charlie Rogers for 28 yards on third-and-10 drove the ball to the Tiger 19. Hamilton connected with Dez White, who had a team-high seven catches for 71 yards, on the next play to the Tiger four-yard line. Two plays later, Burns carried in from a yard out for the winning score.

South Carolina 19

Clemson defeated arch-rival South Carolina for the first time on its own field since 1990 by a 28-19 score in the 96th meeting before 84,423 fans, the fourth largest crowd in Memorial Stadium history. The Tigers also broke the NCAA record-tying seven-year streak that saw the visiting team win the annual state championship.

The game was Tommy West's last at the helm of the Tiger program, as he was fired the Wednesday prior to the game. But the Tiger players gave Coach West a going-away present as he along with wife, Lindsay, and son, Turner, were hoisted off the field as time expired.

South Carolina took advantage of a Tiger defense, who was without its leading tackler, Chris Jones, on its first possession of the game when Gamecock quarterback Anthony Wright scrambled around right end four yards for the score. Troy Hambrick's 20-yard run to the Tiger 19 set up the score on the 14-play, 80-yard drive.

The Tigers responded with a 13-play, 72-yard, 6:15 drive capped by Brandon Streeter's seven-yard shovel pass to Javis Austin for a touchdown. Marcus Martin's 18-yard, fingertip catch on third down from the South Carolina 24 set up the score.

The Gamecocks threatened on their next possession by driving into Tiger territory, but red-shirt freshman safety Charles Hafley got his first career interception to stem the tide. Hafley, who also had a career-high eight tackles, a caused fumble, and a touchdown-saving pass breakup, was named the ACC Rookie-of-the-Week for his efforts.

Austin scored his second touchdown when he ran four yards around right end with 6:28 left in the second quarter. Austin, who had nine carries for 50 yards and three catches for 32 yards, capped the 12-play, 58-yard drive that saw the Tigers convert all three third-down opportunities, including a Streeter to Rod Gardner hookup to give the Tigers first-and-goal.

On South Carolina's second play of the second half, Tiger reserve outside linebacker Howard Bartley dropped into coverage and picked off

Wright's pass for his first career interception. Bartley then raced 48 yards to paydirt to give Clemson a 21-7 lead early in the third quarter.

Michael Allen picked off Phil Petty on the Gamecocks' next possession and raced 50 yards down the sideline to the four-yard line, where Jermale Kelly finally pulled Allen down. Kelly's tackle proved pivotal as Clemson was stopped on fourth-and-one on the ensuing drive.

The Gamecocks cut into the Tiger lead early in the fourth quarter on Steve Mixon's one-yard plunge. But Courtney Leavitt missed the extra point and Clemson held on to a 21-13 lead.

The Tigers responded two possessions later with a six-play, 53-yard scoring drive. On third-and-nine, Streeter connected with Travis Zachery in the flats. Zachery, who had 53 rushing yards on 17 carries and three catches for 32 yards, avoided would-be tacklers and raced 26 yards for six.

South Carolina came right back with a scoring drive capped by a Petty to Mixon four-yard pass to cut the deficit to 28-19 with 7:01 remaining in the game. But Petty's two-point try fell incomplete and kept the Tiger lead at two scores. Clemson kept the ball for the remaining time on its next drive to seal the game.

Clemson was led on defense by safety Robert Carswell with 11 tackles. Harold Means also had 10 tackles, three tackles-for-loss, and two sacks. Adrian Dingle, who was playing in his last game as a Tiger, added 1.5 sacks to give him 10.5 on the season, a new Clemson single-season record. The Tiger defense had five sacks to South Carolina's none.

BOWL SCHEDULE

1999 Clemson Tiger Football

Starting in 1999, the Bowl Championship Series (BCS) determined the Division I-A National Champion in football. A year ago, Tennessee's Volunteers defeated the Seminoles of Florida State, 23-16, in the Fiesta Bowl to claim the national title.

The BCS Series consists of the Rose Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Orange Bowl and the Fiesta Bowl. The conferences with automatic berths include the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Ten, Big 12, Pac-10 and the Southeastern Conferences.

The Bowl Championship Series differs from the original Bowl Alliance in that it guarantees a matchup between college football's top two teams in a true national championship game on a yearly basis.

The BCS also notes the importance of regional consideration regarding team selection. Specifically, as a member of the BCS, the Rose Bowl will host the Big Ten and Pac-10 champions in those years in which either the Rose Bowl does not have the national championship game or the Big Ten and Pac-10 champion is not ranked No. 1 or No. 2.

Other "regional consideration" tie-ins include the SEC champion in the Sugar Bowl, the ACC or Big East champion in the Orange Bowl and the Big 12 champion in the Fiesta Bowl.

ABC-TV has the broadcast rights to each of the four bowl games during the four-year contract.

CONSECUTIVE GAMES STARTED: 47

by Jim Bundren and Glenn Rountree, 1994-97

Note: Bundren (OT) and Rountree (OG) started 47 straight games together on Clemson's offensive line.

CONSECUTIVE STARTS BY A QUARTERBACK: 32

by Tommy Kendrick, 1969-71

CONSECUTIVE 100-YARD RUSHING GAMES: 5

by Kenny Flowers, 1985; Raymond Priester, 1996-97

Note on Flowers: Streak covered last five games of 1985 season and included a career-high 148 yards against Minnesota in the Independence Bowl. But, that bowl game was Flowers's last 100-yard game, as he never reached the 100-yard mark as a senior.

CONSECUTIVE 100-YARD RECEIVING GAMES: 3

by Charlie Waters, 1969; Tony Horne, 1997

Notes: Streak covered first three games of Waters senior year. Horne's streak covered the first three games of his senior year.

CONSECUTIVE 200-YARD PASSING GAMES: 3

by Nealon Greene, 1997

Note: Streak covered first three games of season including Florida State game when he came off the bench. Had 185 yards at Georgia Tech, which stopped streak, then had two more 200-yard games.

CONSECUTIVE GAMES SCORING A POINT: 35

by David Treadwell, 1985-87

Note: Treadwell scored in every game he played in his career. He missed the 1987 N.C. State game; however, as Clemson did not attempt a kicking extra point, nor a field goal in that bizarre 30-28 game.

CONSECUTIVE GAMES SCORING A TOUCHDOWN: 9

by Lester Brown, 1978; 9 by Terry Allen, 1988-89

Note: Brown's streak was stopped by Ohio State in the Gator Bowl.

CONSECUTIVE GAMES CATCHING A TD PASS: 4

by K.D. Dunn, 1983

Note: Ironical that a tight end holds this record, because Clemson has historically not been a team that throws to the tight end.

CONSECUTIVE GAMES THROWING A TOUCHDOWN PASS: 6

by Mike Eppley, 1984

Note: Even though Dunn's streak took place in 1983, Eppley's touchdown pass streak was in 1984.

CONSECUTIVE PASSES WITHOUT AN INTERCEPTION: 122

by Rodney Williams, 1988

CONSECUTIVE PASSES WITHOUT AN INTERCEPTION AT START OF A CAREER: 92

by Nealon Greene, 1994

Note: Greene did not throw an interception until the South Carolina game that year. In fact, that was the only turnover Clemson had with Greene under center all year.

CONSECUTIVE COMPLETIONS: 17

by Nealon Greene vs. Virginia and Maryland, 1997

Note: Completed last 13 vs. Virginia and first four vs. Maryland.

CONSECUTIVE GAMES COMPLETING A PASS: 46

by Rodney Williams, 1985-88

CONSECUTIVE GAMES 200 YARDS TOTAL OFFENSE: 3

by Patrick Sapp, 1992; Nealon Greene, 1997

Note on Sapp: This might be the most unusual streak of all. Clemson's 1995 starting outside linebacker and number-50 pick of the NFL draft did something Steve Fuller, Homer Jordan, Rodney Williams, Mike Eppley, or Bobby Gage never accomplished as a Clemson signal caller. Sapp's streak took place against Wake Forest (211), North Carolina (227), and Maryland (283).

CONSECUTIVE GAMES CATCHING A PASS: 35

by Jerry Butler, 1976-78

Note: Streak covered every game over his last three years.

CONSECUTIVE PLAYS RUSHING THE BALL: 12

by Raymond Priester vs. Maryland, 1997

CONSECUTIVE GAMES SACKING THE QUARTERBACK: 5

by Chester McGlockton, 1989-90

CONSECUTIVE GAMES INTERCEPTING A PASS: 4

by Dexter Davis, 1990; Bobby Gage, 1948; Terry Kinard, 1980-81

CONSECUTIVE DOUBLE FIGURE TACKLE GAMES: 19

by Jeff Davis, 1980-81

CONSECUTIVE GAMES WITH A TACKLE: 48

by Levon Kirkland and Ed McDaniel, 1988-91

Note: Kirkland and McDaniel, both All-Americans in 1991, never missed making at least one tackle in a game. Ironically, each player had a career-low one tackle in one game over their careers.

CONSECUTIVE EXTRA POINTS: 72

by Chris Gardocki, 1988-90

Note: Gardocki was a perfect 72-72 on extra points in his career.

CONSECUTIVE GAMES 40-YARD PUNTING AVERAGE: 12

by Dale Hatcher, 1983-84

Note: Hatcher had streak of 12 games in a row broken with a 39.6 average in his last game. Kevin Laird had a streak of eight games in 1998.

CONSECUTIVE FIELD GOALS MADE: 14

by Obed Ariri, 1980

Note: This was a national record at the time.

CONSECUTIVE GAMES MAKING A FIELD GOAL: 15

by Obed Ariri, 1979-80; Chris Gardocki, 1988-89

CONSECUTIVE GAMES WITH A TACKLE FOR LOSS: 17

by Anthony Simmons, 1996-97

Note: Last 17 games of his career.

The Clemson Ring of Honor is in its fifth season of existence in Clemson Memorial Stadium. On September 3, 1994, during ceremonies prior to the Clemson-Furman football game, Frank Howard, Steve Fuller, and Banks McFadden were inducted into the Clemson Ring of Honor. On September 2, 1995, Jeff Davis was added to the Clemson Ring of Honor. On September 6, 1997, Fred Cone was added.

The Ring of Honor is the highest honor a Clemson football player can receive. A recipient must first be a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame, earn at least an undergraduate degree, and make a significant contribution to the heritage of Clemson athletics. Honorees will have their jersey retired.

Howard was Clemson's head coach between 1940-69, as he guided Clemson to eight conference championships, six bowl games, and six top-25 seasons. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989 and is the second winningest coach in ACC history. He had 165 wins when he retired, the most in ACC history.

McFadden was named the nation's most versatile athlete in 1939. He was an All-American in football and basketball, the only Clemson athlete in history to do that. McFadden led Clemson to its first bowl bid ever, a 6-3 win over Boston College in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. He was the number-three pick of the 1940 NFL draft, the highest draft selection in Clemson history.

Fuller is the only football player in Clemson history to be chosen an All-American on the field and in the classroom twice. Fuller was a first-team Academic All-American in 1977 and 1978 and was a third-team AP All-American in 1978. Fuller, who was ACC MVP on two occasions, is still Clemson's all-time leader in touchdown responsibility. He was an NCAA Top Five Award winner in 1979, the only Clemson athlete to win the award.

Davis, captain of Clemson's 1981 National Championship team, was a first-team All-American that year when he led the Tigers in tackles with 175, the second highest total in Clemson history. Davis was also named the MVP of the ACC and was the Defensive MVP of the Orange Bowl victory over Nebraska, the game that clinched the national championship for the Tigers.

Cone, was the first player in Clemson history to rush for at least 2,000 yards in a career. Cone played for the Tigers from 1948 to 1950. He still ranks second on the Clemson career list for touchdowns with 31. Cone was a starter on two undefeated Clemson teams, one of two players in Clemson history to do that.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY RING OF HONOR GUIDELINES

Purpose: The charge of this committee is to bestow the highest athletic award presented by the Clemson Athletic Department on deserving candidates. The committee will examine the careers of candidates in all Clemson sports.

Nominations: Nominations are made by any member of IPTAY, faculty or staff personnel, or relative of a worthy candidate, and are accepted 30 days prior to the committee meeting. The committee will meet once every two years in the month of April to vote on the nominations. Nominations will be made in the form of a letter with a complete list of accomplishments, and submitted to the chair of the committee, who will retain an active file of nominations. Letters of support may also be submitted. All nominations will remain on file for a period of three voting committee meetings (five years). The Chair of the Committee will screen all nominations to make sure they meet eligibility requirements.

Committee: The Committee will be composed of 11 members:

- Sports Information Director, Chair
- Athletic Director
- Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment
- Senior Associate Athletic Director
- Executive Secretary of IPTAY
- A member of the Board of Trustees
- A member of the Tiger Lettermen's Assoc.
- A member of the Athletic Council
- NCAA Faculty Representative
- University President or designee
- Head Coach of a sport that has a nomination (i.e., Head Football Coach votes on football candidates, basketball coach votes on basketball candidates, etc.)

Eligibility: This committee will recognize individuals who have demonstrated consistent and unique national excellence in their sport during their Clemson career. Their accomplishments must be significant on an individual and team basis. Their statistical accomplishments must be noteworthy, but they should also have an outstanding record in terms of leadership. In general, they must have made a noteworthy contribution to the history of the Clemson Athletic Program.

Athletic accomplishments after their Clemson career are not a primary consideration in the nomination, but they must retain an unblemished record of citizenship after they leave Clemson.

A candidate must be a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame and must hold a baccalaureate degree from an accredited four-year University or college.

Financial contributions to Clemson University will not be a consideration when evaluating the candidates.

For a coach to be nominated, he or she must be retired from coaching that sport at the college level.

Selection Process: Each committee member will cast one vote per sport. An honoree must obtain at least seven votes to be selected. There will be just one ballot. The committee does not have to select any honorees at its meeting. There shall be no more than one honoree in a sport for every two years.

Conferring: In the sport of football, the honoree will have his name, number, years participated and helmet enshrined in the Ring of Honor at Clemson Memorial Stadium. In the sport of basketball, the honoree's jersey will be hung from the rafters of Littlejohn Coliseum. In the sport of baseball a jersey replica will be hung from the fence of Tiger Field. Other sports will establish appropriate sites at the home facility.

When a student-athlete is selected the person's jersey is honored, but the jersey number may be worn in the future.

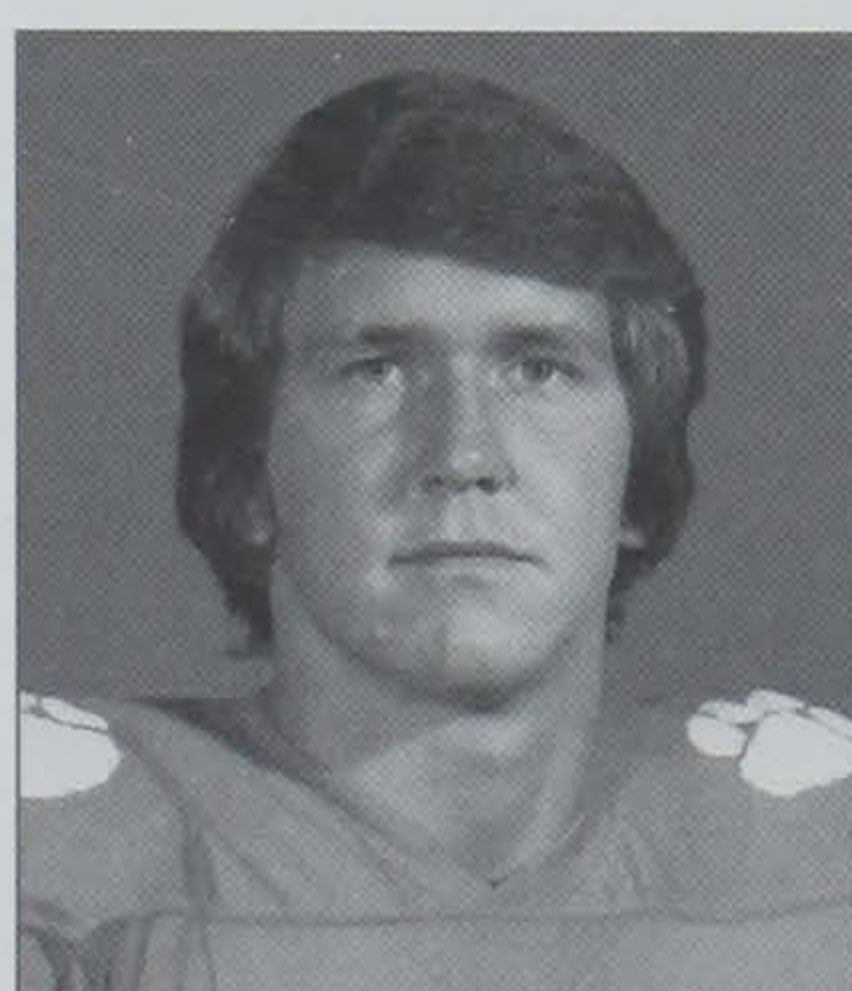

The nature and organization of the ceremony will be determined from a meeting between the honoree, the athletic director, the committee chair and the head coach of the sport involved.

September 30, 1896—A small crowd gathered in one of the barrack's rooms and discussed the advisability of organizing a football association and to devise some means of getting a coach. The organization known as the Clemson College Football Association was perfected and the following officers elected: President F.G. Tompkins, Secretary and Treasurer C.W. Gentry, Manager T.R. Vogel, Temporary Captain R.G. Hamilton. A committee of three was appointed to consult professor Riggs as to management of a football team and to ask his aid as coach.

October 5, 1896—Practice began on the Clemson College campus on a 50x200 foot field in front of the college.

October 28, 1896—Clemson played its first inter-collegiate football game, defeating Furman, 14-6, at Greenville, SC. This was the first time that many of the Clemson players had seen a full-sized football gridiron.

November 21, 1896—Clemson defeated Wofford by the score of 16-0. When the team arrived back on campus that night, the cadet corp along with faculty members led the team around in a buggy led by a torchlight procession and proceeded to go all over the campus. With this win, Clemson claimed the state championship.

November 10, 1897—Clemson defeated South Carolina for the first time and won the school's second state championship. A total of 2,000 spectators witnessed the 18-6 victory. Clemson took an early 4-0 lead when South Carolina's Lee Hagood fumbled on the Gamecock's 31-yard line and Clemson's W. T. Brock caught the fumbled ball in the air and raced 30 yards for a touchdown.

November 10, 1899—The football association stood on a very weak financial basis. The organization could not even afford to hire a coach. W.M. Riggs agreed to coach the Tigers for free.

December 8, 1899—John Heisman was hired as head coach.

October 22, 1900—The Tigers defeated Wofford, 21-0. Actually, Clemson scored many more points, but a pre-game agreement between the teams stated that every point Clemson scored after the first four touchdowns would not count. No one could keep an accurate count after Clemson scored its first 21 points after six minutes into the game elapsed. All touchdowns Clemson made were called back and the ball given to Wofford deep in Clemson territory on such penalties as running over a Wofford tackler.

November 29, 1900—Clemson's 35-0 win over Alabama allowed Heisman's team to finish the season undefeated with a 6-0 record. This was Clemson's first undefeated team and was the only team to win all of the games in a season until the 1948 squad went 11-0.

October 5, 1901—Clemson opened the season with a 122-0 win over Guilford, the most points scored in Clemson history. The Tigers averaged 30 yards per play and a touchdown every minute and 26 seconds. The first half lasted 20 minutes while the second half lasted only 10 minutes. Legend has it that every man on the Clemson team scored a touchdown in this game.

October 30, 1902—Col. Charles S. Roller Jr., who was football coach of Furman, was the only referee for the Clemson-USC game. Bronco Armstrong, a famous Yale player and official, was to be the umpire but was in a railroad wreck on the way down and it was impossible for him to get to the game in time. Not a single penalty was called in the game. A riot between Clemson and USC fans broke out the night after the game. Officials at both colleges called off the football series between the two schools. Clemson and USC did not meet again in football until 1909.

November 27, 1902—Clemson played in the snow for the first time in a game against Tennessee. The Tigers won the game, 11-0, and claimed the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association crown.

October 10, 1903—Clemson 29, Georgia 0—First 10 minutes of the game, Clemson fumbled the ball three times. After the game, the Georgia team made a deal with the Clemson team. They would give the Clemson team a bushel of apples for every point Clemson would defeat Tech above the score Clemson made against Georgia. The score turned out to be Clemson 73, Georgia Tech 0. Apples were plentiful around Clemson that winter—44 bushels.

October 17, 1903—Clemson defeated Georgia Tech 73-0. Clemson rushed the ball 55 times for 615 yards, still a school record, while Tech ran the ball 35 times and collected 28 yards. The second half was shortened to 15 minutes.

October 28, 1903—The Tigers defeated N.C. State 24-0 in Columbia, SC at the fairgrounds. One incident that delayed the game's start was the fact that the sideline spectators in their eagerness to see each play crowded in front of the grandstand and on the field. Twenty minute halves were played owing to the fact that the field had to be given to the racing association at 12:45 p.m. Even these short halves could not be played out and the time limit was up when 16 minutes of the second half had been played. Heisman married Evelyn Barksdale in Columbia after the game.

November 26, 1903—One day after Tech's deadline for its offer had expired, Heisman wired Georgia Tech's president Lyman Hall, that he would accept the institute's offer of $2,250 per year plus 30 percent of net receipts to coach its athletic teams.

September 30, 1904—Clemson began practice under new Head Coach Shack Shealy, who was at one time a great football player. He played varsity ball six years, four at Clemson and two at Iowa State. He is still the only Clemson graduate to coach the Tiger football team.

November 11, 1905—The Clemson-Auburn game was called on account of darkness. Clemson won, 6-0.

November 29, 1906—Clemson's first forward pass occurred in a 10-0 win over Georgia Tech. Powell Lykes dropped back to kick, but instead made a forward pass of 30 yards to George Warren.

September 28, 1907—The cadets of Clemson College braved wind and rain at Bowman Field to witness the Tigers in their earliest season opener to date. Clemson met Gordon Military Academy from Georgia on a muddy field. Clemson was playing under new Coach Frank Shaughnessy, a former Notre Dame star who to this day holds the Notre Dame record for the longest run.

November 4-9, 1907—Clemson played three games within a week's time. Clemson lost to Auburn 12-0 on November 4, and lost to Georgia in Augusta, GA on November 7. The Tigers barely made it back in time to play Davidson at Clemson on November 9, and lost 10-6.

April 1, 1908—Tiger football hopes of the 1908 season were shattered on this day, not by what happened in spring practice, but what 300 students did as a college prank on April Fool's Day. The cadets were expelled for removing a Civil War cannon from the town square of Pendleton, four miles down the road from campus, and bringing the cannon back to Clemson. Many of the football stars, as well as many future star players, were among those who were expelled.

Clemson had a 19-8-2 record on Bowman Field between 1898-1914. Tailgating of the era was done with horse and buggy.

Oct. 9, 1915—The Tigers traveled to Knoxville, where they won fame by defeating the defending conference champion Tennessee, 3-0. Bill Harris drop-kicked a 20-yard field goal for the only score of the game in the fourth quarter. Tennessee was the defending champion of the S.I.A.A.

October 13, 1917—Clemson downed Furman 38-0, as the Tigers' Stumpy Banks scored five touchdowns, a record that still stands today.

November 16, 1918—The University of South Carolina athletic authorities provided the use of their stadium to Clemson and the Citadel for their annual game. South Carolina was playing at Furman that day and the field was not going to be used by the Gamecocks. The reason the game was played at Columbia instead of Charleston or Clemson was that the military officials from both Clemson and The Citadel would not allow players to be absent from any military duties due to athletic events. Since the game was played in Columbia both the Clemson and Citadel cadets and football teams would be able to make the trip to Columbia and return to duty on time. Clemson's John O'Dell scored for the game's only tally as the Tigers won the game, 7-0. Both teams made it back to their campuses before their passes expired.

December 27, 1926—Josh Cody was named head football coach at Clemson.

September 19, 1928—Clemson began this season with new uniforms. The Tigers wore a brilliant orange jersey for the first time, with black composition cloth stripes on the front with purple numbers.

December, 1928—O.K. Pressley, a center, was named third-team All-American by the Newspaper Enterprise Association. He was Clemson's first All-American in any sport.

May 6, 1929—Josh Cody, Clemson head coach, was presented with a new automobile that afternoon as a gift from alumni, faculty, students, and friends of the college. A special collection was taken up to purchase the new Buick. The presentation ceremony was staged in front of Tillman Hall.

October 17, 1930—Maxcey Welch scored five touchdowns (all rushing) in Clemson's 75-0 win over Newberry. Welch and Stumpy Banks are the co-holders of that Clemson touchdown scoring record.

March 13, 1930—Josh Cody signed a new contract to stay at Clemson through the 1932 season.

November 26, 1930—Josh Cody announced that the Furman game the next day will be his final as head coach of the Tigers.

November 27, 1930—Clemson defeated Furman 12-7 at Furman to conclude the Tigers third straight eight-win season, the only eight-win seasons in Clemson history between 1896-1930. The 1930 Tigers concluded the season with an 8-2 record and posted four shutouts. In fact, only Tennessee and Florida scored over a touchdown against the Tigers in this season.

November 29, 1930—The Tiger student newspaper published an extra edition about Coach Cody, hoping to convince him to remain as head coach.

Cody had become a popular mentor because of his overall record 29-11-1 record, including a perfect 4-0 record against South Carolina, the only coach in Clemson history to have a perfect ledger against the Gamecocks.

January 2, 1931—After reconsidering his decision for over a month, Cody made his resignation final.

January 17, 1931—Jess Neely was named head football coach at Clemson. He is the second consecutive Vanderbilt graduate to coach the Tigers. Cody had been a 1917 graduate of Vandy and Neely was a member of the class of 1923. In fact, eight of the nine Clemson head football coaches between 1931-98 were graduates of current SEC schools.

October 16, 1931—Clemson suffered a surprising 6-0 loss against The Citadel in a game played in Florence. After the game, Neely, Captain Frank Jervy and others met in a car outside the stadium to discuss ways Clemson could help its football program get back on track. The meeting started the ball rolling towards the establishment of the IPTAY Foundation. Clemson would score just three touchdowns and win just one game during the 1931 season.

October 14, 1933—Clemson played at George Washington in a 0-0 tie. This was the first time Clemson had ever played under the lights. Fans followed the game on a grid graph in Tillman Hall at the Clemson chapel. A grid graph was an electrical machine that was marked off like a football field. Lights were so arranged on the graph that every possible play was flashed on the board. The lineups of both teams were written on the sides and the man carrying the ball on each play had a light flashed by his name. Another light representing the runner moved along the board in the same direction and for the same distance as the runner.

August 20, 1934—IPTAY, the nation's first scholarship fundraising organization, was founded. Dr. Rupert Fike, a cancer specialist from Atlanta and Clemson class of 1908, wrote Jess Neely a letter documenting the formation of the organization.

"Last night we had a little meeting out at my house and organized the IPTAY Club," Fike wrote. "The purpose (of IPTAY) shall be to provide financial support to the athletic department at Clemson and to assist in every other way possible to regain for Clemson the high athletic standing which rightfully belongs to her."

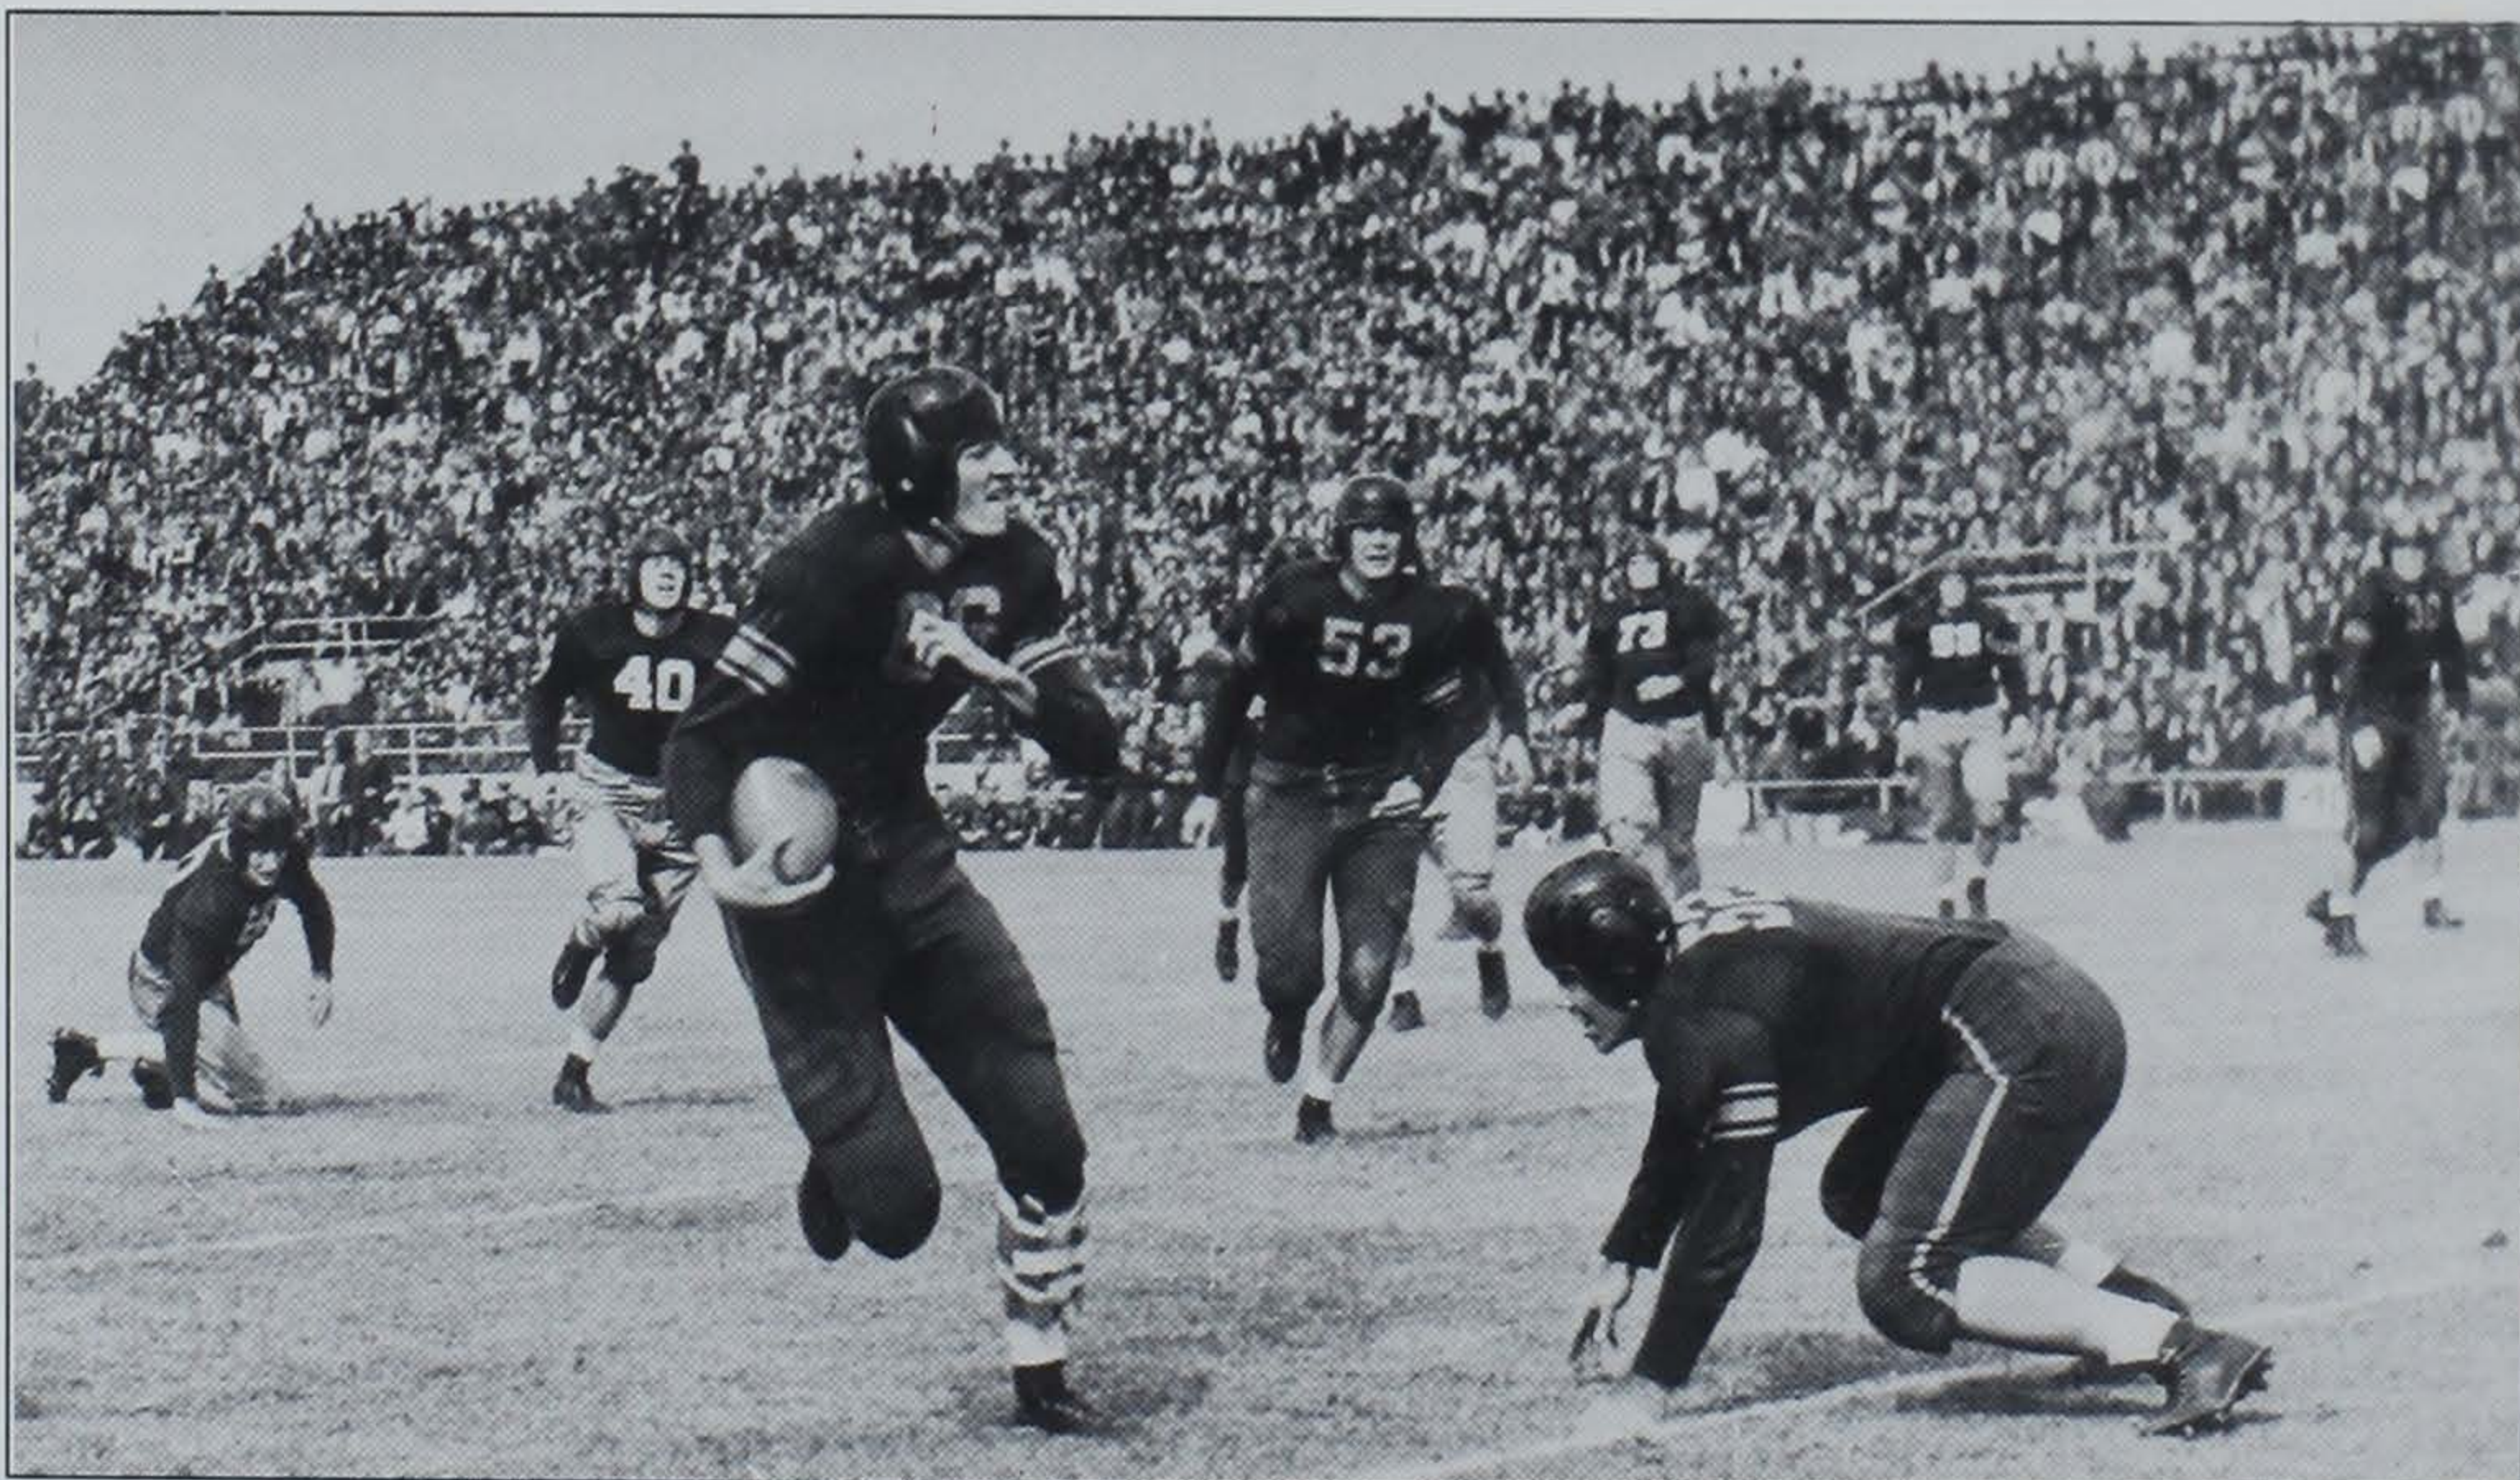

The organization was first established as a secret organization and initial membership dues were set at $10 a year. Many had suggested that $50 be the minimum donation, but Fike's foresight thought it would be best to get as many Clemson supporters involved as possible, so he established the $10 minimum.

The excitement about the organization carried over into the 1934 season and the Tigers ran to their first winning season since 1930. Clemson had gone 0-5-1 against Furman and South Carolina in those years, then defeated both teams in 1934.

November 19, 1935—Clemson held its first night football practice. Two powerful floodlights were installed at the practice fields. The Clemson coaches wanted more practice time with the players and that was the reason the lights were brought in. The extra practice did not pay off however, as Clemson lost its final game that year to Furman, 8-6.

November 17, 1937—Clemson defeated Florida in Gainesville by a 10-9 score. Don Willis scored Clemson's only TD of the game on a one-yard run that culminated a 65-yard drive on Clemson's opening possession. Later Clemson gave up a safety and a touchdown, so Florida led 9-7 heading into the fourth period. But, the Tigers drove 60 yards late in the game and Ben Pearson booted a 27-yard field goal to win the game.

At the time, it gave Clemson a 4-4 record in 1937, but it proved to be a program builder, much as Clemson's win over South Carolina in 1980 did. The Tigers posted to a 22-2-2 record over a 26-game period that started with that win at Florida. Clemson's only losses in that 26-game period were to Tennessee in 1938 and Tulane in 1939. Tennessee ended the 1938 season with a 10-0 record and ranked second in the nation, while Tulane ended the 1939 season with an 8-0-1 mark and fifth in the country.

Banks McFadden was named the nation's most versatile athlete in 1939. Above he gains yardage in a victory over South Carolina.

November 5, 1938—Clemson scored with big plays in a win over George Washington, 27-0. The Tigers scored three touchdowns on plays of at least 65 yards, the only time in history Clemson has had scoring plays of that distance in the same game. Banks McFadden ran 70 yards for a score on the first Clemson play from scrimmage. Later, Shad Bryant scored on a 65-yard punt return and on a 65-yard run off a lateral. George Washington actually had more first downs, 15-13, yet lost by 27 points.

September 23, 1939—Banks McFadden ran 90 yards for a touchdown in Clemson's 18-0 win over Presbyterian. It is still the longest run in Clemson history. McFadden had a career high 173 yards in 15 attempts on this day.

September 30, 1939—Clemson suffered its only loss of the season to a revenge minded Tulane eleven. The Tigers had beaten the Green Wave the previous year by a 13-10 score. This season, however, Tulane defeated Clemson 7-6. Despite the loss, it was a game that brought acclaim to Clemson for its ability to play so close with the team that would end the year ranked fifth in the nation. McFadden was all over the field on this day, throwing for Clemson's only touchdown and defending enemy passes from the secondary. His punting kept Tulane bottled up in their own territory. He had 12 punts for 504 yards, including a record six punts of at least 50 yards. Unfortunately he was involved in what proved to be the deciding play of the game as his extra point attempt after Clemson's only touchdown was blocked.

October 19, 1939—Clemson outgained South Carolina 402-90 in a 27-0 thrashing of the Gamecocks. Banks McFadden threw for 85 yards and rushed for 76 in just 14 attempts.

October 26, 1939—Clemson showed it was a deep enough team to win without All-American Banks McFadden, who missed the Navy game with an injury. Shad Bryant had a 40-yard run for a score in Clemson's 15-7 win at Annapolis.

November 3, 1939—Clemson won in the Washington DC area for the second straight week, defeating George Washington on the road, 13-6. Bryant had 127 yards on the ground and scored Clemson's only touchdown. The game was played on a Friday evening.

November 11, 1939—McFadden completed just four passes against Wake Forest, but three were to Joe Blalock for 105 yards, the first 100-yard receiving game in Clemson history. It was the final home game for McFadden and the rest of the Tiger seniors.

November 18, 1939—Clemson won away from home for the fourth straight time, a 21-6 win over Southwestern University. McFadden and George Floyd combined for 126 yards rushing on just 10 rushes.

November 25, 1939—Clemson concluded its 8-1 regular season with a 14-3 victory over Furman. Shad Bryant ran for 94 yards and gained 75 more in punt returns. McFadden scored two touchdowns and had 10 punts for a 42-yard average, intercepted a pass and completed a pass.

November 13, 1939—Clemson was ranked in the Associated Press poll for the first time. The Tigers soundly defeated Wake Forest 20-7 to run their record to 6-1 and that led to the ranking. Clemson had 33 poll points on that November 13 ranking and one first-place vote out of the 85 votes in the poll that week. Clemson remained ranked in the top 20 over the next three weeks and each week Clemson had exactly one first-place vote. However, in the final poll that year, even though Clemson had run the table to finish 8-1 in the regular season, that individual failed to vote Clemson number-one, as the Tigers did not have a first-place vote in the December 11 poll, which was the final poll that year.

December 8, 1939—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Cotton Bowl. It is Clemson's first postseason bowl game appearance. Clemson did meet Cumberland in a postseason "Championship of the South" game in 1903, but it was not considered an established bowl.

December 11, 1939—Clemson ranked 12th in the final poll by the Associated Press, Clemson's first appearance in a final season AP poll. The Tigers had 112 poll points, just behind Boston College, who had 120.5 poll points for 11th place. Clemson would defeat Boston College in the Cotton Bowl, but the AP did not have a poll after the bowls. In fact, for whatever the reason, the AP did not have a final poll after the bowls until after the 1968 season. Thus, Clemson actually would have had a much higher ranking by today's standards if there would have been a poll in January of 1940.

December 15, 1939—Banks McFadden was named a first-team All-American by Associated Press and a third-team selection by United Press International. He was the first Clemson player honored by the AP. Later that year he was named the Nation's Most Versatile Athlete for 1939. Earlier in the year he had led Clemson to the 1939 Southern Conference Championship in basketball, still the only postseason championship in Clemson history.

January 1, 1940—In Clemson's first bowl appearance, it defeated Boston College 6-3. Charlie Timmons scored the game's lone touchdown from two yards out and rushed for 115 yards. Banks McFadden keyed the defense with four pass deflection of Boston College passes and he also averaged 43 yards per punt. Boston College drove to the Clemson eight with three minutes left, but Shad Bryant and McFadden knocked away third and fourth-down passes to save the day for the Tigers.

"Clemson is every bit as good as they were cracked up to be," said Boston College Coach Frank Leahy, still the second winningest coach in college football history on a percentage basis. "We lost to a great team, one of the best I have ever seen. I have the satisfaction of knowing that while we were beaten, the game wasn't lost on a fluke."

January 10, 1940—Jess Neely resigned as athletic director and football coach to accept the head football coaching job at Rice University. Neely had inherited a $47,000 deficit when he arrived in 1931 and earned Clemson $100,000 during his tenure and left Clemson with $57,000 in the treasury. His overall record at Clemson was 43-35-7. He would be inducted into the college football Hall of Fame in 1971.

January 11, 1940—Frank Howard was named head football coach. At the Athletic Council meeting that day, Howard was nominated for the position by Professor Sam Rhodes, a council member. When a call for a second was asked, Howard, standing in the back of the room, said: "I second the nomination." It is perhaps the only recorded time in history a coach has seconded his own nomination for head coach.

July 25, 1940—Banks McFadden accepted a bid to play in the College All-Star game against the Green Bay Packers on August 29. He scored one of the two touchdowns for the College All-Stars.

September 1, 1940—Banks McFadden signed a one-year contract to play with the Brooklyn Dodgers professional football team. He led the NFL in yards per carry in that 1940 season, but did not like the bright lights of New York and returned to Clemson.

September 21, 1940—In Frank Howard's first game as head coach, Clemson scored on the first offensive play as George Floyd reversed around left end and raced 18 yards untouched for a Clemson touchdown. The Tigers went on to a 38-0 win over Presbyterian.

October 12, 1940—Clemson shutout Wake Forest 39-0 in Clemson's second game of the season at Riggs Field. It was Clemson's third shutout in the first four games of the Howard era. It was the last home game of the season for the Tigers, who would go on to win the Southern Conference title even though seven of the nine games were on the road.

October 24, 1940—Frank Howard won his first game as head coach in the rivalry with South Carolina. The Tigers were victorious 21-13 thanks to five interceptions by the Clemson defense. Howard coached in 30 Clemson-South Carolina games. Incredible as it may seem, both Clemson and South Carolina scored exactly 411 total points in those 30 games.

October 28, 1940—It didn't take Howard long to get the Tigers into the nation's top 10. With the 5-0 start the Tigers earned 136 poll points and ranked number-10 in the nation, Clemson's first top 10 ranking in the AP poll. Two writers ranked Clemson number-one.

November 23, 1940—Clemson won the Southern Conference football title with a 13-7 victory over Furman. Ed Maness led the way for the Tigers with 136 yards rushing in 18 attempts. It was the first of eight conference championships for the Tigers under Frank Howard.

October 6, 1941—Work began on Memorial Stadium. The chore of cleaning, digging and leveling the site as well as cutting large trees and clearing underbrush was supervised by Frank Howard. A pipe was also installed for drainage under the field.

October 11, 1941—Clemson defeated Boston College at Fenway Park, 26-13. Joe Blalock scored two touchdowns as Clemson overcame a 6-0 deficit after the first period. BC outgained Clemson 363-281, but Clemson came away with the victory.

October 23, 1941—Booty Payne became the first Clemson player to pass for over 200 yards in an 18-14 loss to South Carolina. He completed 9-16 passes for 202 yards in the contest. It was one of just three 200-yard passing games by a Tiger in the decade of the 1940s.

November 15, 1941—Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 29-0, in the last game at Riggs Field.

November 22, 1941—The Tigers put on the greatest rushing defense exhibition in the first 100 years of Clemson history, holding Furman to -21 yards rushing in a 34-6 victory in Greenville. Charlie Timmons scored three touchdowns and added four extra points in his final game as a Tiger. The 22 points scored rank sixth best in Clemson history for a single game by an individual. But, Timmons was not the leading rusher in the game as teammate Sid Tinsley picked up 127 yards on just seven attempts.

September 19, 1942—Clemson Memorial Stadium opened, and the Tigers ran down the hill for the first time. Butch Butler gained 192 yards, as the Tigers opened the new stadium in front of 5,500 with a 32-13 win over Presbyterian. It was the most yards rushing by a Tiger in the decade of the 1940s. High school students were admitted for 25 cents, while servicemen were allowed in for 50 cents.

September 25, 1943—World War II took virtually all of Clemson's veteran players and the Tigers started nine first-year freshmen at the 11 positions in a 13-12 loss to Presbyterian. Clemson had just a 2-6 record this season with no one older than a sophomore playing in a game as the armed services took Clemson's entire junior and senior classes.

October 19, 1944—First rain at a Clemson-USC game since 1896. Despite the conditions, Sid Tinsley rushed for 146 yards in 22 carries to lead the Tigers to a 20-13 victory.

September 22, 1945—Fourteen Clemson backs netted 516 yards in a 76-0 win over Presbyterian. Freshman Bobby Gage led the Tigers with 144 yards, including 88 on a touchdown run, the longest run from scrimmage by a Tiger in the decade of the 1940s. The Tigers had 11 rushing touchdowns in the game, still a Clemson record.

October 24, 1946—The Clemson vs. South Carolina game was played under unusual circumstances. Counterfeit tickets had been printed and 10,000 more people than the capacity showed up for the game. Fans stormed the gates and stood on the sidelines, even on the field at the opposite end of the field when the game action was taking place. Coach Howard recalls fans standing next to him on the sideline telling him what plays to run. South Carolina won on this bizarre day, 26-14.

September 24, 1947—Clemson flew to Boston College on an Eastern Airline DC-4. This marked the first time that a state football team had flown to a football game. The quicker traveling did not help, however as Boston College defeated the Tigers, 32-22.

When Death Valley opened in 1942 it had just 20,000 seats. Today crowds approaching 85,000 fill the facility.

November 8, 1947—Clemson began a 15-game winning streak, the longest in school history, with a win over Furman, 35-7.

November 22, 1947—Bobby Gage ran for 141 yards and passed for 233 as he led Clemson to a 34-18 win over Auburn. Gage threw four touchdown passes and had 374 yards total offense to his credit, both still Clemson records. Hank Walker was Gage's favorite receiver as he pulled in 10 passes for 148 yards. It is still the second most receptions in a single game in Clemson history and the yardage total is the sixth best. It was the first time in Clemson history and one of just six times overall that the Tigers have had a 100-yard rusher, a 100-yard receiver and a 200-yard passer in the same game. The Clemson defense was also outstanding, holding Auburn to -9 yards rushing.

June 1, 1948—Frank Gillespie was named the Southern Conference athlete of the year. Gillespie played football, basketball and baseball during the academic year and was the first Clemson athlete to be named a conference athlete of the year.

September 25, 1948—Clemson defeated Presbyterian 53-0 in the first night game at Clemson. Clemson also defeated N.C. State, 6-0, in a home night game the following week.

October 2, 1948—Gage continued his All-America triple threat season by returning a punt 90 yards for a touchdown in Clemson's 6-0 win over N.C. State at Death Valley. To this day it is still the longest punt return in the history of the stadium by a Clemson player.

October 21, 1948—A 14th-ranked Clemson team defeated South Carolina 13-7 in Columbia. Captain Phil Prince was the hero for the Tigers as he blocked a South Carolina punt with just 4:15 left in the contest. Oscar Thompson recovered it at the 11 and ran it in for a touchdown, giving Clemson the 13-7 lead.

November 6, 1948—Bobby Gage put on the most efficient passing exhibition in Clemson history in a 41-0 win over Furman. He completed 9-11 passes for 245 yards and two touchdowns. His efficiency rating of 310.7 is still a Clemson record for a minimum of 10 attempts. He averaged an incredible 22 yards per attempt, a record by far in Clemson history. The defense was just as effective, holding the Paladins to -12 yards in total offense, still the best total defense effort in Clemson history for a single game.

November 22, 1948—The Tigers were ranked number-nine in the AP poll, their highest ranking in history. Eight voters ranked Clemson number-one in the nation.

November 27, 1948—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Gator Bowl after it beat Auburn 7-6 in a hard fought game played in Mobile, AL. It was Clemson's first bowl bid since the 1939 season. Ray Mathews scored on a one-yard run with just 6:35 left to give Clemson its only lead of the game.

November 29, 1948—Clemson ranked 11th in the final AP poll. Again Clemson suffered from not having a poll after the bowl games. Clemson won another regular season game, then defeated Missouri in the Gator Bowl to close a perfect season. But, these wins were not reflected in the final ranking. The AP did not have a post-bowl poll until 1968.

December 4, 1948—Clemson closed out its perfect regular season with a 20-0 win over The Citadel in a game played in Charleston. The December 4 date is the second latest regular season game in Clemson history. The 11th ranked Tigers did not allow The Citadel to make a first down in the game, the only recorded time in Clemson history that the Tigers did not allow a first down. The Bulldogs also failed to complete a pass in the contest.

The victory was Clemson's sixth road win of the year, a record that still stands for road wins in a season. Only two Clemson teams have had a perfect road record since 1948 and that was the 1981 National Championship team and the 1995 Tigers.

December 6, 1948—Frank Howard was named Southern Conference Coach of the Year, his first of three Coach of the Year selections in his career.

January 1, 1949—The Tigers won the Gator Bowl by a 24-23 score over Missouri. Fred Cone scored two first-quarter touchdowns for the Tigers as Clemson raced to a 14-0 lead. After Missouri tied the game, Gage threw a nine-yard scoring pass to John Poulos, a play that completed a 80-yard drive. Jack Miller's 32-yard field goal in the fourth quarter proved to be the winning margin. Missouri would score a late touchdown to come within 24-23. But that was the final score. You could not go for two points in those days, so Missouri did not have the opportunity to tie the score after their touchdown that took place with less than five minutes left. Both teams had exactly 298 yards of total offense in the game.

Clemson closed the season with a perfect 11-0 record, the only team in college football with 11 wins that year and one of just three with a perfect record. Notre Dame and Michigan were both 9-0-0 that season, but did not play in a bowl game.

November 26, 1949—Clemson closed out the decade of the 1940s with a 20-20 tie against Auburn in Mobile, AL. Clemson had just a 4-4-2 record but closed 2-0-1 over the last three games, giving the program momentum heading into the 1950 season.

September 30, 1950—Clemson defeated Missouri 34-0 in the second game of the season. The Tigers of Columbia, MO had been ranked in the preseason top 20. Three Clemson backs rushed for at least 100 yards for the Tigers, the second straight game Frank Howard had three 100-yard rushers in the same game. It has happened just four total times in Clemson history.

October 7, 1950—Clemson recorded its third straight shutout to open the season with a 27-0 win over N.C. State in a home night game. Wyndie Windham again led the Clemson defense in tackles in this game and according to legend knocked out N.C. State players on three consecutive plays in this game.

October 28, 1950—Clemson defeated Wake Forest in Winston-Salem in a battle of top 20 teams, 13-12. Clemson lineman Bob Patton blocked the extra point in the final minute to preserve the victory for Clemson. It is the only time in Clemson history that a Tiger has blocked a kick on the last play of the game to give Clemson a victory.

November 28, 1950—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Orange Bowl.

January 1, 1951—Clemson appeared in the Orange Bowl for the first time and squeaked out a 15-14 win over Miami to complete an undefeated season. Sterling Smith's tackle of Frank Smith in the end zone gave Clemson a safety with under six minutes left in the game and the Tigers the victory. Don Wade also had two interceptions in the contest for the Tigers. It is Clemson's second undefeated season in the last three years for Frank Howard's Tigers.

November 27, 1951—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Gator Bowl. This was done against the wishes of the Southern Conference, who had made a rule its members could not go to a bowl game. Clemson and Maryland (who also accepted a bowl bid) were given sanctions. The two teams are told they will not be allowed to play any other conference teams in 1952. This resulted in teams leaving the Southern Conference and forming the ACC.

November 8, 1952—Don King, making his first and only career start at tailback, rushed for 234 yards on 33 carries in Clemson's 12-12 tie at Fordham. The performance is still a record for a Clemson freshman and still stands as the third highest single game total in Clemson history. King was substituting for an injured Clemson tailback and returned to quarterback the next week. He never played tailback again.

May 8, 1953—Clemson joined the Atlantic Coast Conference.

October 31, 1953—Clemson won its first ACC game in history, 18-0 over Wake Forest in a contest played at Clemson.

September 18, 1954—Clemson Head Cheerleader George Bennett fired a cannon after each Tiger score. The cannon was purchased by Bennett's father and the tradition is still carried out today.

October 9, 1954—Clemson upset 14th ranked Florida in Jacksonville, 14-7.

November 16, 1956—Vice President Richard Nixon was in attendance at the Clemson-Miami football game on this date. Surrounded by security from various agencies, a loud explosion sounded and alarmed the body guard along with the Vice President. To everyone's relief, it was discovered that it was just the cannon fired off by a Clemson cheerleader when Clemson kicked off. The eighth-ranked Hurricanes defeated the Tigers 21-0 in the game played at Miami, FL.

November 24, 1956—Clemson defeated Virginia 7-0 at Clemson to clinch the Tigers first ever ACC Championship.

December 1, 1956—Clemson clinched an Orange Bowl berth with a 28-7 win over Furman at Clemson.

January 1, 1957—Colorado defeated Clemson 27-21 in an exciting Orange Bowl in Miami. Clemson had trailed 20-0 at the half and Frank Howard threatened to resign at halftime. But, the Tigers came back to take a 21-20 lead in fourth period, only to see the Buffalos score late to win the game.

March 25, 1957—It was announced that Clemson and South Carolina would play at Clemson on November 12, 1960 ending the 61-year-old state classic, Big Thursday.

September 20, 1958—Clemson ran down the hill on a rug for the first time. The rug was officially given to Clemson on this date before the Clemson-Virginia game by W.W.Pate, Sr., president of Wunda Weave Company. It measured 104 feet long and was 13 feet wide. Also at this game, Clemson's first expansion of Memorial Stadium was used for the first time. Memorial Stadium was expanded from 20,000 to 38,000 seats.

September 27, 1958—Clemson defeated North Carolina, 26-21, as Frank Howard picked up his 100th collegiate coaching win. Doug Cline scored on a two-yard run with 2:52 left to give Clemson the victory. It was one of four times in 1958 that Clemson scored a touchdown in the last quarter to win the game. Also the scoreboard at the east end of the stadium was used for the first time. The scoreboard had an added feature, as the Tiger above the scoreboard still wags his tail after each Clemson touchdown.

October 6, 1958—Clemson was ranked eighth in the country, the highest ranking in Clemson history, at that time.

October 11, 1958—Clemson kept its top 10 ranking alive with a 12-7 win at Vanderbilt. Harvey White scored the game winner on a three-yard run with three seconds left to win the game. It is the latest game-winning touchdown in Clemson history.

November 19, 1958—Clemson defeated N.C. State 13-6 and won its second ACC title in three years.

November 29, 1958—Clemson accepted a Sugar Bowl bid to face the number-one team in the nation, LSU.

December 24, 1958—It was announced that Clemson would take the rug the Tigers used to run down the hill with them to the Sugar Bowl. The rug weighed 527 pounds.

December 27, 1958—Clemson announced it would wear navy blue jerseys with wide numerals front and back. Orange helmets with a white stripe from back to front in the center would also be worn to give a contrasting color for the nationwide television coverage of the game.

January 1, 1959—Number-one ranked LSU and Heisman Trophy winner Billy Cannon defeated Clemson 7-0 in the Sugar Bowl. Cannon, a halfback, threw a touchdown pass to give LSU and Paul Dietzel the national championship clinching victory. It was the first time Clemson had ever played the number-one team.

September 19, 1959—Clemson defeated North Carolina in Chapel Hill, 20-18 in a battle of top 20 teams. The Tar Heels were ranked 12th in the preseason poll.

October 22, 1959—Clemson won the last Big Thursday game by defeating South Carolina, 27-0. Harvey White was on target all day, hitting 9-10 passes for 162 yards and two scores. Clemson fans tore down the steel goal posts, which were set in concrete, following the game.

November 21, 1959—Clemson defeated Wake Forest 33-31 for Clemson's second ACC title in a row. George Usry scored on a one-yard run with 4:24 to go to give Clemson the triumph.

December 19, 1959—Clemson defeated TCU in the Bluebonnet Bowl, 23-7. The Horned Frogs, led by All-American and future Dallas Cowboy Bob Lilly, were ranked seventh in the nation entering the game. The victory is also the 300th in Clemson history.

October 1, 1960—The west stands were used for the first time, as Clemson defeated Virginia Tech, 13-7.

October 8, 1960—Clemson defeated Virginia 21-7 and used special pants for rain protection in this game. After the contest Clemson sent the pants to Greenville and allowed Furman to use the pants for a game that night against William and Mary. Furman Head Coach Bob King said, "after those big Clemson boys got out of them some of our guys had a hard time making them stay up and we had to tape the legs of the pants for several players." The pants beat two teams from Virginia on the same day.

November 12, 1960—Clemson defeated South Carolina, 12-2, in the first ever appearance for South Carolina at Clemson.

November 11, 1961—A team resembling Clemson entered the field prior to the meeting with South Carolina. They did a few serious calisthenics and then started dancing to band music. The team was actually members of the Sigma Nu Fraternity of South Carolina. Clemson students entered the field and worked some of the imposters over. Finally state police brought order to the field.

October 13, 1962—Hal Davis raced 98 yards with a kickoff return for a touchdown against Georgia, the last time a Tiger would return a kickoff for a score for 25 years.

November 17, 1962—Clemson upset Maryland as Rodney Rogers kicked a 23-yard field goal with 84 seconds left in the game.

November 24, 1962—Clemson defeated South Carolina seven days later as Rogers kicked a 24-yard field goal with 1:31 left. The Clemson Tigers wore blue jerseys in this game, the ones that were used in the Sugar Bowl game. Clemson claimed the 20-17 victory when South Carolina quarterback Dan Reeves was sacked deep in Clemson territory on the last play of the game.

October 12, 1963—Clemson and Georgia tied 7-7, but the main item of interest was the strange weather. A hail storm hit at 2:50 p.m. and caused temperatures to plummet from 84 degrees to 57 degrees in 45 minutes. Almost an inch of hail poured in a 20-minute period and the game was delayed. Clemson blocked two field goal attempts to preserve the tie.

November 23, 1963—The South Carolina-Clemson game was postponed due to the death of President John F. Kennedy.

November 28, 1963—Clemson defeated South Carolina on Thanksgiving Day, 24-20. It was the fifth win in a row for the Tigers to close the season.

November 6, 1965—Two Clemson single game records were established in a 17-13 loss at North Carolina. Thomas Ray became the first Tiger to throw for 300 yards in a game when he completed 21-43 passes for 323 yards. His star receiver, Phil Rogers, caught 11-129 to set the single game reception record.

September 24, 1966—First game in which Howard's Rock was present at Death Valley. Clemson downed Virginia, 40-35 in one of the most exciting games in the history of the facility and adding to the legend of Howard's Rock. Clemson trailed 35-17 with just over a quarter remaining in the game, but rode the passing of Jimmy Addison to keep its perfect record alive against Virginia. Addison was 12-19 for 283 yards and three touchdowns, including a 74-yarder to Jackie Jackson with 3:49 remaining that proved to be the game-winner. His passing efficiency in that game is still a Clemson standard, for a minimum of 15 attempts.

October 22, 1966—Clemson traveled to Los Angeles to play Southern Cal for the first time. This was the longest trip for a Clemson football team at the time. The Trojans, who won the PAC-Eight that year, won the Rose Bowl and defeated Clemson 30-0. Clemson visited Universal Studios prior to the game and had their photos taken with many of the television stars of the era.

November 12, 1966—Frank Howard won his 150th game and clinched at least a tie for the ACC title with a 14-10 win over Maryland. Clemson won the ACC outright the next week with a 6-1 record. Clemson was 0-3 outside the league in 1966, and all three of the games were against top 10 teams (Georgia Tech, Alabama and Southern Cal).

November 26, 1966—Clemson downed South Carolina to win the ACC, 35-10. A key touchdown in the game was scored by Tiger offensive lineman Harry Olszewski, who picked up a mid-air fumble and ran 12 yards for a touchdown. No Clemson offensive lineman has scored since.

September 23, 1967—Clemson started the tradition of rubbing Howard's Rock when running down the hill. Clemson responded with a 23-6 win over Wake Forest.

October 28, 1967—Alabama and Bear Bryant came to Clemson to face Frank Howard's Tigers before a sellout crowd at Clemson. Bryant's team won the close game, 13-10.

November 18, 1967—Clemson painted its shoes orange for the N.C.State game and the Tigers upset the 10th-ranked Wolfpack, 14-6. Clemson clinched a tie for the ACC championship with the victory, the sixth and final ACC title of Frank Howard's celebrated career. The Tigers had to get the orange paint from eight stores in the area. N.C. State's defense had worn white shoes all season and that was the reason for the ploy.

November 25, 1967—Clemson beat South Carolina 23-12 to claim the ACC Championship. Buddy Gore broke the ACC single season rushing record with 1,045 yards and finished the season eighth in the nation in rushing.

September 28, 1968—Richie Luzzi returned a missed Georgia field goal try 108 yards (100 officially) for a Clemson touchdown, the longest play in Clemson history.

October 25, 1969—Danny Ford was one of the Alabama captains for the Clemson-Alabama game at Clemson. Bob Hope was in town for a homecoming show that night. Bear Bryant's team defeated Clemson, 38-13. Clemson lost by a sizeable margin, but moved the ball consistently. In fact, Clemson had a 200-yard passer, 100-yard rusher and 100-yard receiver for just the fourth time in its history, yet lost by 25 points.

November 1, 1969—Frank Howard won his last game as a Clemson coach in Death Valley with a 40-0 win over Maryland. It is still Clemson's largest margin of victory against the Terps.

December 10, 1969—Coach Frank Howard resigned from football coaching duties, but remained in the capacity of athletic director. Howard had first come to Clemson in 1931 as an assistant under Jess Neely.

December 17, 1969—Hootie Ingram was named head football coach.

July 21, 1970—Clemson announced the use of a new logo - THE TIGER PAW. With the aid of Henderson Advertising Agency, the Tiger paw became the new trademark of Clemson athletics.

October 31, 1970—Don Kelley had the greatest return game in ACC history when he gained 223 yards on interception and punt returns in a 23-11 Clemson victory. He had a record 167 yards in punt returns, including an 85-yarder for a touchdown, and also had a 56-yard interception return.

October 9, 1971—Hootie Ingram gained his only win over a ranked team as Clemson coach when the Tigers defeat Duke 3-0 in a defensive struggle at the Oyster Bowl in Norfolk, VA. Duke was ranked 14th in the nation entering the contest.

November 27, 1971—Eddie Seigler became the first Clemson kicker in history to boot a field goal of at least 50 yards. His 52-yarder was important in the 17-7 Clemson win over South Carolina.

December 5, 1972—Hootie Ingram resigned as Clemson football coach, and Red Parker was named as his replacement.

September 28, 1974—Georgia Tech made its first appearance in history at Clemson. For years Clemson had always gone to Atlanta for the series. Clemson won the contest, 21-17.

October 5, 1974—Clemson defeated Georgia in Death Valley, 28-24, giving Clemson wins over Georgia and Georgia Tech in the same season for the first time since 1914.

November 16, 1974—The Playing surface of Memorial Stadium was named Frank Howard Field. This day also featured the longest play in Clemson history, a 97-yard touchdown pass from Mark Fellers to Craig Brantley. Clemson defeated Virginia, 28-9.

November 23, 1974—Clemson defeated South Carolina, 39-21 to close a perfect 6-0 season in Death Valley. Ken Callicutt had 197 yards rushing and 55 more receiving to key the Clemson attack. It was a Clemson record for all-purpose rushing at the time. South Carolina players wore two different color helmets in the game as the Gamecock seniors wore black helmets and the rest of the team wore white. Willie Anderson had 21 tackles from his middle guard position, still a Clemson record for an interior lineman. He was named Sports Illustrated National Player of the Week.

November 21, 1976—Clemson scrimmaged before the game at an adjacent practice field and warmed up there until game time before a 28-9 upset of South Carolina.

December 1, 1976—Charlie Pell was named head football coach.

September 17, 1977—Clemson defeated Georgia 7-6 and this marked the first time that Clemson had won in Athens since 1914.

November 12, 1977—Fifth ranked Notre Dame, led by quarterback Joe Montana and 25 other players who would eventually play in the NFL, defeated Clemson in Death Valley 21-17. It was the closest game for the Irish in the last nine games of the season. Notre Dame won the national championship that year. A total of 38 players who participated in this game went on to play in the National Football League. The list included both quarterbacks, Montana and Steve Fuller, who both won Super Bowl Championships.

November 19, 1977—A 20-yard pass from Steve Fuller to Jerry Butler with just 49 seconds to play enabled Clemson to squeeze past South Carolina 31-27. The Tigers had led 24-0, then South Carolina came back to take a 27-24 lead prior to the final Clemson drive. The win earned the Tigers a trip to the Gator Bowl.

September 16, 1978—Clemson won its 100th game in Death Valley with a 58-3 win over the Citadel. Steve Fuller was a perfect 9-9 passing in the contest, an all-time Clemson record for consecutive completions at the time. Clemson was a record 15-17 passing in the contest and set a school record for team passing efficiency.

November 18, 1978—Clemson clinched the ACC championship with a thrilling victory over Maryland in College Park. Steve Fuller hit touchdown passes December 10, 1978—It was announced that Danny Ford would be the Tigers' coach in the Gator Bowl game.

December 29, 1978—Clemson defeated Ohio State 17-15 at the Gator Bowl in Danny Ford's first game as head coach, and Woody Hayes' final game at Ohio State. The winning touchdown was scored by freshman Cliff Austin. He would score another important touchdown three years later against Nebraska. Charlie Bauman made the key play with an interception of an Art Schlichter pass at the Clemson 24 with just two minutes left. He ran the return out of bounds on the Ohio State sideline and was punched by Hayes.

May 3, 1979—All-American Jerry Butler became the fifth pick of the 1979 NFL draft when he was chosen by the Buffalo Bills. This was the highest ball inside the North Carolina five with a chance to win, but Taylor sacked quarterback Homer Jordan on third down. Obed Ariri, who led the nation in field goals in 1980 with 23, booted a 27-yarder in the first half to become the NCAA's career field goal leader. The Tar Heels were victorious 24-19, Clemson's last home loss for four seasons.

November 22, 1980—Clemson defeated 14th ranked South Carolina 27-6 in a contest that gave the Tigers momentum heading into the 1981 season. Willie Underwood played the game of his life with two interceptions for 101 yards, including one for a 37-yard touchdown. Underwood entered the game, the 47th of his career, without an interception. He was named Sports Illustrated National Defensive Player of the Week. Clemson kept South Carolina Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers out of the endzone.

September 19, 1981—Clemson forced nine Georgia turnovers, most ever by a Clemson opponent, in handing Herschel Walker his only regular season loss as a Bulldog, 13-3. The Bulldogs were the defending national champions and ranked fourth in the nation entering the contest. It is the highest ranked win for the Tigers in the history of Death Valley.

October 31, 1981—Clemson had 756 total offensive yards against Wake Forest in an 82-24 win. The Tigers set 21 school, stadium and conference records in the contest that remains the highest scoring game in ACC history. The Tigers scored 49 points in the first half, then scored on the first possession of the second half. Clemson's final touchdown was scored on a 72-yard run by Craig Crawford, his first carry as a Tiger and the longest touchdown play in Clemson history for a player on his first play. Clemson was 12-12 on third-down conversions and scored 12 touchdowns on the day. The Tigers had a record 536 yards rushing and averaged 8.7 yards per play.

November 7, 1981—Clemson stopped North Carolina, 10-8, in Chapel Hill in the first battle of top 10 teams in ACC football history. Jeff Bryant recovered a fumble in the last two minutes of the game on a North Carolina lateral. Bryant was the only player who realized the play was a lateral.

November 14, 1981—Clemson claimed the ACC championship with a 21-7 win over Maryland. Homer Jordan completed 20-29 passes for 270 yards in the contest. At the time it was the most completions in a game for a Tiger quarterback in a Clemson victory.

November 21, 1981—Clemson finished the regular season with a perfect 11-0 record with 29-13 win over South Carolina. It was Clemson's first perfect regular season since 1948.

November 30, 1981—Clemson was ranked No. 1 by AP, for the first time. Clemson moved to the number-one ranking when Penn State whipped Pittsburgh and quarterback Dan Marino, 48-14.

January 1, 1982—Clemson claimed its first National Championship with a 22-15 win over Nebraska in the 48th annual Orange Bowl Classic. One of the Clemson touchdowns was scored by Cliff Austin, who had been trapped in an elevator for two hours at the Clemson hotel earlier in the day.

Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers never scored against Clemson in his four years at South Carolina. The Tigers 27-6 victory in 1980 jumpstarted Clemson to a National Championship in 1981.

of 87 yards to Jerry Butler and 62 yards to Dwight Clark. The game also included a 98-yard run by Maryland's Steve Atkins, the longest run in history against the Tigers.

November 25, 1978—Clemson fans used the south upper deck for the first time in Clemson's 41-23 win over South Carolina. At the time it was the largest crowd ever to see a game from Philadelphia to Birmingham. Clemson had three backs gain over 100 yards rushing in the game for the first time since 1950. The victory also clinched Clemson's first 10-win season since 1948.

November 28, 1978—Steve Fuller finished tied for sixth place in the Heisman Trophy voting with Ted Brown of N.C. State, and he received 19 first-place votes.

December 4, 1978—Charlie Pell resigned as Clemson coach.

December 5, 1978—Danny Ford, offensive line coach for the Tigers, was named as Pell's replacement. He became the head coach at age 30, the youngest Division I head coach in the nation.

selection of a Clemson player since the 1939 season when Banks McFadden was the #3 selection of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

September 22, 1979—Clemson won its 400th game in history with a 12-7 victory over Georgia.

November 16, 1979—Clemson won at Notre Dame behind Obed Ariri's three field goals, 16-10. The Irish had taken a 10-0 lead in the first half, but Ariri's field goals and a 26-yard touchdown run by quarterback Billy Lott proved to be the difference. It was just the third time in the last 40 years that Notre Dame's seniors lost their final home game. Eight days later Ariri kicked the only goal for the Clemson soccer team in an NCAA tournament victory over South Carolina.

October 11, 1980—Obed Ariri booted a 52-yard field goal with six seconds left to give Clemson a 27-24 victory at Virginia. Clemson had trailed by two touchdowns entering the fourth quarter and this is the greatest fourth-quarter comeback in Clemson history. Ariri's boot is also the longest field goal to win a game in Clemson history.

November 8, 1980—Jeff Davis had a school record 24 tackles vs. North Carolina in a head-to-head battle with Lawrence Taylor. The Tigers had the January 4, 1982—The issue of Sports Illustrated featured Clemson receiver Perry Tuttle celebrating after his touchdown catch in the Orange Bowl. It was the first time and still only time a Clemson athlete has appeared on the cover of Sports Illustrated while a Clemson student.

October 16, 1982—Cliff Austin broke the Clemson record for most rushing yards in a game with 260 in a rout of Duke.

November 27, 1982—Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 21-17 at the Mirage Bowl, in Tokyo, Japan, and also sewed up its second straight ACC title.

January 1, 1983—Terry Kinard was named National Defensive Player of the Year by CBS Sports. He was presented the award during halftime of the Cotton Bowl by CBS announcer Lindsey Nelson. Kinard had led Clemson to a 9-1-1 record, led the team in tackles and interceptions.

April 26, 1983—A record 10 Clemson players were chosen in the NFL draft. The group was led by Terry Kinard, who was the #10 pick of the entire draft by the New York Giants.

September 3, 1983—The north upper deck was used for the first time in a victory over Western Carolina, bringing the capacity to over 80,000.

November 12, 1983—3,000 Clemson students arrived at Death Valley at 7:00 a.m. to blow up 363,729 balloons. The 80,000 fans released the balloons as the team ran down the hill. On the field, Mike Eppley was outstanding with three touchdown passes, and Kevin Mack rushed for 186 yards in his final game in Death Valley. He scored his final touchdown with just one shoe on, as he had lost it during his 56-yard run for a score. Clemson downed the Top 20 Maryland team and Boomer Esiason, 52-27.

November 19, 1983—Clemson closed the 1983 season with a 22-13 win over South Carolina in Columbia. The game gave the Tigers a 30-2-2 record for over the last three years, the top record in college football.

September 8, 1984—Clemson defeated Virginia in Charlottesville 55-0. Virginia ended the year 8-4 and went to a bowl game. It is the largest margin of victory in Clemson history over a team that went to a bowl game. Mike Eppley led the way, hitting 8-14 passes for 172 yards and a pair of scores. The Tigers advanced to number-two in the nation with the victory.

September 22, 1984—Georgia defeated Clemson in Athens, 26-23 on a 60-yard field goal by Kevin Butler with 11 seconds left. Clemson, who had a 20-6 lead at halftime, ran the ensuing kickoff back to Georgia territory and a personal foul was thrown against the Bulldogs after the tackle. But, after a long debate, officials ruled the game had ended when the foul was committed and Donald Igwebuike, who led the nation in field goal percentage in 1984 (17-18) was denied an opportunity to tie the game from 42 yards away.

November 10, 1984—Clemson defeated Virginia Tech 17-10 in the greatest matchup of defensive linemen in Death Valley history. Clemson featured All-American William Perry and Virginia Tech featured Outland Trophy winner and future All-Pro Bruce Smith. Clemson also had freshman Michael Dean Perry, who went on to earn six Pro Bowl selections.

September 14, 1985—David Treadwell showed a forshadowing of things to come with a 36-yard field goal on the last play of the game to give Clemson a 20-17 victory at Virginia Tech in the season opener. Perry Williams had a Clemson record five pass deflections in this game.

September 21, 1985—Clemson and Georgia met in the first nationally televised (CBS) football game from Clemson. The Bulldogs won the game 20-13 thanks to a fourth quarter fumble recovery by offensive lineman Peter Anderson. No opposing offensive lineman has scored a touchdown in a game since.

November 23, 1985—Clemson defeated South Carolina 24-17, and accepted a bid to the Independence Bowl.

September 20, 1986—Clemson defeated Georgia 31-28, as David Treadwell kicked a 46-yard field goal with no time left on the clock. Athens, GA native Norman Haynes led Clemson in tackles with 14, while Terrance Flagler led the offense with nearly 200 all-purpose running yards.

November 1, 1986—Terrance Flagler scored four touchdowns, two receiving and two rushing and gained 274 all-purpose running yards in Clemson's 28-20 win at Wake Forest. He had an 88-yard run in the contest, the longest of his career. The all-purpose running total is still a Clemson record for an individual.

November 15, 1986—Clemson tied Maryland 17-17 to win the ACC championship, as Treadwell kicked a 20-yard field goal with two seconds left. Both Clemson coach Danny Ford and Maryland coach Bobby Ross, coached the game from the press box due to suspensions imposed by the ACC.

December 27, 1986—Clemson won the Gator Bowl championship with a 27-21 decision over Stanford. Clemson scored all 27 points in the first half, then held on as Brad Muster led a furious Stanford comeback.

January 3, 1987—Clemson was ranked 17th in the nation in the final AP poll, its first final Top 20 ranking since 1983.

September 19, 1987—David Treadwell booted a 21-yard field goal with two seconds left to beat Georgia on national TV, 21-20.

September 26, 1987—Clemson had not returned a punt or kickoff for a touchdown in 17 years, then had one of each in a 33-12 win over Georgia Tech. Donnell Woolford scored on a 78-yard punt return and Joe Henderson on a 95-yard kickoff return. Clemson had gone 999 punt and kickoff returns without a touchdown prior to Joe Henderson's score.

January 1, 1988—Clemson gained 499 yards total offense in handing Penn State its worst Bowl game defeat, 35-10, in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Rodney Williams was named the player of the game as he threw for 214 yards. Terry Allen rushed for 105 and Keith Jennings caught seven passes for 110, giving Clemson a 200-yard passer, 100-yard rusher and 100-yard receiver in the same game for the first time since 1969. Clemson was ranked 10th in the final UPI poll after the victory.

September 17, 1988—Florida State defeated Clemson 24-21 in the "Puntrookie Game" at Death Valley. It was the first battle of top 10 teams in the history of Death Valley. Clemson had Florida State deep in its own territory late in the fourth quarter with the score tied at 21 when Florida State coach Bobby Bowden ran an intricate fake punt play that resulted in Leroy Butler streaking 78 yards to the Clemson three. FSU booted a field goal to win the game.

November 12, 1988—Clemson clinched an ACC record-tying third straight ACC title with a 49-25 win at Maryland. Clemson scored 28 points in the fourth period on just nine offensive plays.

November 19, 1988—Clemson gained revenge for a loss at South Carolina in 1987 with a 29-10 victory over the Gamecocks at Clemson. Rodney Clemson won the national title in 1981. A 13-3 victory over defending champion Georgia early in that season was a big reason. Clemson forced a record nine Bulldog turnovers in that game.

Williams was masterful in running the Clemson offense in his final home game. Williams would end his career with 32 wins as the starting quarterback, still a record for a Tiger quarterback.

January 2, 1989—Clemson became the first ACC team to defeat Oklahoma in a 13-6 Florida Citrus Bowl victory. Clemson held the Oklahoma offense without a touchdown for just the second time in the decade of the eighties. Clemson closed the season with a #9 ranking and became the only school in the nation to win a conference title, a bowl game and rank in the final Top 20 for three straight years.

September 9, 1989—Clemson earned a landmark victory at Florida State, 34-23. The Tigers jumped out to a 21-0 lead behind a 73-yard interception return by Wayne Simmons and a 73-yard touchdown run by Terry Allen. The victory moved Clemson to number-seven in the AP poll and it was the last loss of the season for Florida State, who eventually ended the season ranked third in the nation.

November 18, 1989—Clemson slaughtered South Carolina 45-0, the largest margin of victory for Clemson in the series in 89 years. Clemson outgained the Gamecocks 466-155, and picked up 355 yards rushing. Clemson's fifth-ranked defense forced five turnovers. Terry Allen rushed for 89 yards in the first half, then suffered a knee injury just before halftime and never carried the ball for the Tigers again.

December 30, 1989—The Tigers defeated West Virginia 27-7 in the Gator Bowl. It was Clemson's fourth straight bowl victory and the fourth straight year Clemson concluded the season ranked in the national top 20. The Tigers held West Virginia to just 119 yards passing and forced Heisman Trophy runner up Major Harris into three fumbles. Chester McGlockton sacked Harris in the endzone and recovered the ball for a touchdown.

January 18, 1990—Danny Ford resigned as head coach after 11 full seasons. He finished his career tied for first in ACC history in career victories with 96 and he was second in winning percentage. He had a 96-29-4 overall record and 76 percent winning mark. He was the third winningest active coach in the nation at the time of his resignation.

January 21, 1990—Ken Hatfield became Clemson's 22nd head coach. Hatfield had been the head coach at Arkansas since 1984 and took his alma mater to bowl games each of his six seasons.

September 1, 1990—Clemson defeated Long Beach State 59-0 in the first game of the Ken Hatfield era. Clemson scored two touchdowns via return, one on an interception return by Arlington Nunn and one on a kickoff return by Doug Thomas. The 49ers were coached by NFL legend George Allen, who was making a comeback as a coach. Unfortunately, the venerable coach who led that team to a 6-5 record, died at the end of the season from pneumonia.

October 13, 1990—Eventual national champion Georgia Tech defeated Clemson 21-19 in Atlanta. Clemson rushed for over 300 yards in the game, yet lost to Bobby Ross's team. Chris Gardocki's 60-yard field goal attempt to win the game was just a couple of yards short.

January 1, 1991—Clemson shut out Illinois 30-0 in its first Hall of Fame Bowl appearance. It was Clemson's largest margin of victory in a bowl game. The win elevated Clemson to #9 in the final AP poll and gave Clemson a Top 10 ranking in Ken Hatfield's first year. He was the first ACC coach ever to take a team to a Top 10 ranking in his first year. It was a record 40th win for Clemson's seniors.

October 26, 1991—Clemson wore purple jerseys for the first time since the 1930s in a 29-19 victory over 10th-ranked (USA Today) N.C. State. The 18th-ranked (AP) Tigers were led by freshman Nelson Welch, who kicked a Clemson record five field goals. Clemson scored its first touchdown on a fake field goal as Rudy Harris ran three yards for a score.

November 16, 1991—The Tigers clinched their 12th ACC Championship, first under Ken Hatfield, with a 40-7 win over Maryland at Death Valley. DeChane Cameron was 13-23 for 213 yards in leading Clemson to victory in his final home game.

November 23, 1991—DeChane Cameron gained 322 yards of total offense, 206 passing and 116 rushing to lead Clemson to a 41-23 win at South Carolina. Clemson also had a 100-yard receiver in the game, giving Clemson a 200-yard passer, 100-yard rusher and 100-yard receiver (Terry Smith) in the same game for just the fifth time in Clemson history.

November 30, 1991—Clemson ran its overseas record to 2-0 with a 33-21 win over Duke in the Coca Cola Bowl in Tokyo, Japan. Clemson had to score 26 points in the fourth period to register the victory. It was Ken Hatfield's 100th win as a college coach.

September 12, 1992—Florida State defeated Clemson 24-20 in the first night game at Clemson since 1956. The contest was televised by ESPN. Clemson had taken a 20-17 lead in the fourth period on a touchdown pass to Terry Smith. The Seminoles led by quarterback Charlie Ward, scored the winning TD in the two final minutes.

October 10, 1992—Clemson overcame a 28-0 deficit to defeat Virginia in Charlottesville 29-28. Nelson Welch kicked a 32-yard field goal with 52 seconds left to cap the comeback. Quarterback Louis Solomon came off the the bench with the score 28-0 and led the comeback. His 64-yard scoring run just before the half changed the course of the game. The victory over the 10th-ranked Cavaliers was just the third in Clemson history over a top-10 team on the road.

November 7, 1992—Clemson soundly defeated #18 North Carolina 40-7 at Death Valley, the largest margin of victory for the Tigers over a top 20 team in history. Freshman Patrick Sapp hit 13-23 passes for 205 yards, while Rodney Blunt scored three TDs in leading the Clemson offense. The Tigers controlled the clock for a record 42:58.

September 4, 1993—Clemson opened the 1993 season with a defeat of UNLV in the first meeting between the two teams. Sophomore quarterback Patrick Sapp posted the sixth-highest passing efficiency mark in Clemson history (235.0) in the game, throwing two touchdown strikes in the 24-14 Tiger victory. But most of the strikes were coming from above, as the game was delayed 17 minutes in the fourth quarter due to lightning. Both teams and most fans cleared the field.

November 24, 1993—Coach Ken Hatfield and Clemson University announced a separation, ending Hatfield's four-year career as head coach. Hatfield was 32-13-1 at Clemson and his .707 winning percentage was third in ACC history when he departed.

November 29, 1993—Tommy West was named Clemson's 23rd head coach and took over the Clemson team heading for the Peach Bowl. West, who spent the 1993 regular season as head coach at UT Chattanooga, became the sixth coach in Division I history to make his head coaching debut for a school in a bowl game and the second coach to ever become head coach for a bowl game after not serving as an assistant at that school during the regular season.

December 31, 1993—The Tigers scored the latest touchdown to gain victory in a game since 1958, as Patrick Sapp connected with Terry Smith with 0:20 remaining to defeat Kentucky, 14-13, in the Peach Bowl. West experienced his fifth consecutive bowl victory with Clemson, as the Tigers won four straight bowl games during his years as an assistant (1986-89).

September 3, 1994—For the first time ever, Clemson faced a team coached by a Clemson graduate. Bobby Johnson, an academic All-ACC defensive back for the Tigers and a 1973 Clemson graduate, brought his Furman Paladins to Death Valley. Clemson came away with a 27-6 win. Clemson inducted Frank Howard, Steve Fuller, and Banks McFadden into the Ring of Honor prior to the game.

September 17, 1994—Clemson and Virginia met in the 1,000th ACC football game in history. Virginia won 9-6. Clemson's Andre Carter had three takeaways in the game, just the sixth Tiger in history to do that.

October 15, 1994—Nelson Welch became the ACC's career field goal leader with a 47-yarder in the third quarter at Duke. It gave Welch 61 career field goals, breaking the record of 60 held by Jess Atkinson, Scott Sisson, and Obed Ariri.

October 29, 1994—Louis Solomon set an all-time Clemson quarterback rushing record with 159 yards rushing to lead Clemson to a 24-8 win over Wake Forest at Death Valley. He broke Mike O'Cain's record of 140 yards rushing from the QB position against N.C. State in 1976.

November 5, 1994—Nelson Welch became Clemson's career scoring leader with five field goals and a PAT in Clemson's 28-17 upset of 12th-ranked North Carolina in Chapel Hill. Clemson's defense held UNC to 11 yards rushing. Clemson started an all first-year freshman backfield.

May 15, 1995—The Banks McFadden building was dedicated. The facility is the home of Clemson football administration and with all the top of the line in facilities for players and coaches.

August 12, 1995—The Carolina Panthers and the Denver Broncos played the first professional game in the history of Death Valley. The Panthers won the exhibition game over the John Elway led Broncos.

September 17, 1995—The Carolina Panthers met the St. Louis Rams in the first regular season NFL game in Death Valley. It was the first of eight regular season games for the expansion Panthers at Clemson Memorial Stadium.

October 7, 1995—Clemson wore "turn back the clock" uniforms for the Clemson-Georgia game at Death Valley. The uniforms were replicas of those worn by the 1939 Clemson team that went to the Cotton Bowl, the first bowl appearance in Clemson history. Georgia won the thrilling game, 19-17, but that would be Clemson's final regular season loss of 1995. Leomont Evans had 18 tackles in the contest, most ever by a Clemson defensive back.

October 21, 1995—For the first time in Clemson history the Tigers executed a "Hail Mary Pass" on the last play of a half. Louis Solomon's heave into the endzone from 33 yards out was tipped by Tony Horne and caught by Antwuan Wyatt as the horn sounded ending the first half. Clemson went on to a 17-0 victory, its third straight shutout of the Maryland Terps.

November 4, 1995—Clemson raised its record in orange pants to 29-6 with a pivotal 17-10 victory over North Carolina in Death Valley. Twin brothers Peter and Andy Ford both had interceptions for the Tigers, the first time in ACC history that twin brothers had interceptions in the same game.

November 11, 1995—Two all-time Clemson records were set on the same day in Clemson's 34-17 victory over Duke. Raymond Priester gained 263 yards rushing to break Cliff Austin's Clemson single game rushing mark. All-American Brian Dawkins had three interceptions in the first quarter to set a quarter record and tie the single game mark for interceptions. The game was played in a driving rainstorm in the first half and brilliant sunshine in the second half.

November 18, 1995—Clemson outscored South Carolina 21-0 in the fourth period to defeat South Carolina in Columbia, 38-17. It was Clemson's fourth straight win in Columbia. The victory clinched a bid to the Gator Bowl for the Tigers.

December 10, 1995—The defending Super Bowl Champion San Francisco 49ers defeated the Carolina Panthers at Death Valley. Jerry Rice caught one touchdown pass from Steve Young in the contest that attracted over 75,000 fans.

December 15, 1995—Tiger linebacker Anthony Simmons was named UPI National Freshman of the Year, the first defensive player in the history of the award. Simmons led Clemson in tackles in 1995 with 150, 46 more than any other freshman in school history.

January 28, 1996—Clemson legend Frank Howard, the school's head football coach between 1940-69 passed away at his home in Clemson. Howard, who still had come to his office in the Jervy Athletic Center a month prior to his death, died on the same day as his former teammate and Alabama legend Bear Bryant, 14 years later.

September 7, 1996—Clemson's Centennial team was honored at halftime of the Clemson vs. Furman game. The Tigers wore their "Turn back the Clock" uniforms for this game, a 19-3 Clemson victory. Clemson had a school record 12 sacks in the win.

November 2, 1996—Clemson held Maryland without a touchdown for the fourth straight year in a 35-3 Tiger victory. Anthony Simmons keyed the Clemson defense that had eight sacks with 15 tackles for loss. Maryland has not scored a touchdown against Clemson since 1992.

November 9, 1996—The Tigers upset 15th ranked Virginia 24-16 in Charlottesville. Clemson had two players rush for over 120 yards in the contest as Kelton Dunnican had a career high 123 yards and Raymond Priester had 122. It was the second time in four years that Clemson had defeated a ranked Virginia team on the road.

December 28, 1996—Raymond Priester became Clemson's career and single season rushing leader in a 10-7 loss to LSU in the Peach Bowl. Priester gained 151 yards rushing in 25 attempts, giving him 1,345 yards for the season and 3010 for his career. He broke his own single season record and broke Kenny Flowers career record in the performance.

September 13, 1997—Matt Padgett kicked a 20-yard field goal with 19 seconds left to give Clemson a 19-17 victory over NC State in Raleigh. Nealon Greene became the first quarterback in school history to have consecutive 250-yard passing games. The senior also had 76 yards rushing and the 336 yards total offense were the second most in Clemson history.

September 20, 1997—Clemson's Tony Horne and Florida State's Peter Warrick put on the greatest individual all-purpose running show in the history of Death Valley. Horne had 10 receptions for 131 yards and had 267 yards of all-purpose running, while Warrick had a 90-yard punt return and an 80-yard touchdown reception in gaining 372 yards of all-purpose running as Florida State defeated Clemson 35-28.

October 4, 1997—Nealon Greene tied a Clemson record for touchdown passes with four, in a 39-7 rout of UTEP. He completed three of the scoring passes to Tony Horne, and that also tied a Clemson single game record.

November 8, 1997—Rahim Abdullah returned an interception 63 yards for a touchdown, clinching a 29-20 Clemson victory in overtime over Duke. It was the first overtime game in Clemson history, the first in ACC history involving two league teams.

November 22, 1997—Clemson earned its third straight bowl bid with a 47-21 victory over South Carolina in Columbia. It was Clemson's fifth straight victory in Columbia over the Gamecocks. Antwan Edwards was the star for Clemson with two interceptions, including one that he returned for a touchdown. The 47 points were the most by the Tigers against South Carolina since 1900.

December 8, 1997—Anthony Simmons was named first-team AP All-American, his third straight year on one of the top three teams. He became Clemson's second three-time All-American in history with the selection.

Sept. 19, 1998—Antwan Edwards became the first Clemson player in history to have two runs of at least 80 yards in the same game. The All-America defensive back had a 93-yard fumble return for a touchdown, longest in Clemson history, and an 85-yard kickoff return in a 20-18 loss at Virginia. It was Clemson's first ever loss on September 19th after eight straight wins.

October 31, 1998—In a 46-39 loss to NC State, quarterback Brandon Streeter set the Clemson single game passing yardage (329) and completion (27) record. He threw three touchdown passes in the fourth quarter. For the first time ever, Clemson had two 100-yard receivers in the same game. Brian Wofford had 9-128 and a touchdown, while classmate Mal Lawyer had 8-100 and two touchdown receptions. Clemson could not overcome the performance of Torry Holt, who had 11-225 and four touchdown catches.

November 12, 1998—Clemson played host to its first ever ESPN home Thursday night game, a 24-21 loss to a top 25 Georgia Tech team. Tech scored the winning touchdown with just one minute remaining.

November 18, 1998—It was announced that the South Carolina game of November 21 would be Tommy West's final game as Clemson Head Coach.

November 21, 1998—Clemson defeated South Carolina 28-19 in Tommy West's final game as Clemson coach. The victory, played before a crowd of 84,423, ended a seven game winning streak for the road team in the series, tied for the longest streak of its kind in NCAA history. A highlight of the contest was a 48-yard interception return for a touchdown by Clemson outside linebacker Howard Bartley, who came back to letter as a senior after two torn ACL operations. Clemson fans tore down the goalpost after the game, just the second time in the history of Death Valley that the goalposts came down after a Tiger victory. Coach West, his wife Lindsey and son Turner were carried off the field at the conclusion of the game.

December 2, 1998—Tommy Bowden was named Clemson Head Football Coach.

A name synonymous with not only the early years of Clemson football but the collegiate game is John Heisman.

A stern disciplinarian, he expected his players to be of high character and performance both on the football field and in the classroom.

Heisman coached the Tigers in 1900-1903 and was responsible for putting the Clemson name among the annals of the great early collegiate teams.

Heisman was brought to Clemson by a professor and later University President, Walter Riggs. In the spring of 1894, Riggs was a graduate manager for the Auburn football team, and he was responsible for finding a coach for the 1895 season. Riggs wrote to Carl Williams of Pennsylvania, captain of the 1894 team, asking him to suggest a suitable coach. He replied recommending J.W. Heisman, an ex-Penn player, and his coach at Oberlin a few years earlier.

After several weeks, Riggs finally found Heisman in Texas, where he was engaged in raising tomatoes. Having sunk about all of his capital into the tomato venture, he was glad to go back to his old love of football and he readily went to coach at Auburn for $500.00 a year. Riggs later was hired as a professor at Clemson and he hired Heisman at Clemson in 1900. (Riggs started the Clemson football program in 1896 and was head coach in 1896 and 1899).

Heisman began his coaching career at Oberlin in 1892 and lasted 36 years in the profession. His career included positions at Akron, Auburn, Clemson, Georgia Tech, Penn, Washington and Jefferson, and Rice University. He had an overall career record of 185 wins, 70 losses, and 17 ties.

He invented the hidden ball trick, the handoff, the double lateral, and the "flea flicker." He pioneered the forward pass, and originated the center snap and the word "hike" (previously the center used to roll the ball on the ground to the quarterback).

Heisman took Clemson to a 19-3-2 record in his four seasons. His .833 winning percentage is still the best in Clemson history. He was also the Clemson baseball coach between 1901-1904.

Clemson was a powerhouse during his tenure and was a most feared opponent. His secret was that he depended on smart, quick players rather than large size and brawn.

William Heisman, a nephew of John Heisman, often told a story on how his famous uncle stressed academics.

"I remember a story Coach Heisman used to tell me about this famous football player he confronted in the locker room before a big game. My uncle came busting through the door and went over to this guy and said, "You can't play today because you haven't got your grades up to par." The player looked up at my uncle and said, "Coach, don't you know that the sportswriters call this toe on my right foot the million-dollar toe?" My uncle snapped back right quick and said, "What good is it if you only have a fifteen-cent head?"

Another favorite Heisman story was the speech he used to make before a season began. Heisman would face his recruits holding a football. "What is it?" he would sharply ask. Then he would tell his players, "a football is a prolate spheroid, an elongated sphere—in which the outer leather casing is drawn up tightly over a somewhat smaller rubber tubing." Then after a long pause he would say, "better to have died as a small boy than to fumble this football."

Heisman broke down football into these percentages: talent 25%; mentality 20%; aggressiveness 20%; speed 20%; and weight 15%. He considered coaching as being a master-commanding, even dictatorial. "He has no time to say 'please' or 'mister', and he must be occasionally severe, arbitrary, and something of a czar."

On November 29, 1900, Clemson defeated Alabama 35-0, which allowed Heisman's team to finish the season undefeated with a 6-0 record. This was Clemson's first undefeated team and was the only team to win all of its games in a season until the 1948 squad went 11-0. The Tigers only allowed two touchdowns the entire 1900 season.

Clemson opened the 1901 season with a 122-0 win over Guilford. The Tigers averaged 30 yards per play and a touchdown every minute and 26 seconds. The first half lasted 20 minutes, while the second half lasted only 10 minutes. Legend has it that every man on the Clemson team scored a touchdown in this game.

In his third season, on November 27, 1902, Clemson played in the snow for the first time in a game against Tennessee. The Tigers won the game, 11-0, and claimed the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association crown. (This early conference that had several southern colleges and universities as members).

In his final season in 1903, Clemson defeated Georgia Tech 73-0 on October 17. Clemson rushed the ball 55 times for 615 yards, while Tech ran the ball 35 times and collected 28 yards. The second half was shortened to 15 minutes.

On November 24, 1903 Clemson participated in its "First Bowl Game". Clemson and Cumberland met on this date for the Championship of the South. The contract for the game was drawn up just two weeks before the game was to be played. Cumberland who had earlier defeated Auburn, Alabama, and Vanderbilt was considered to be champion of the southern states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, and Kentucky. Clemson was considered to be the best team in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. The game was played on a neutral site, Montgomery, AL. Cumberland and Clemson fought to an 11-11 tie. In this game, John Maxwell scored as a result of a 100-yard kickoff return. After the news came back to Clemson that the game ended in a tie, the students and the local townspeople built a bonfire and paraded around the campus.

John Heisman's 19-3-2 record is still the best in Clemson history on a percentage basis. The man who is honored each year with the awarding of the Heisman Trophy holds the distinction of building the early foundation of Clemson's football tradition.

Perhaps one of Clemson's most beloved coaches was Jess Neely.

Neely's influence and inspiration is still present today as the IPTAY Scholarship Club was founded during his coaching tenure. IPTAY is the lifeblood of the Clemson Athletic Department. It provides funds for athletic scholarships and capital improvements.

Thousands of athletes have benefitted through the IPTAY Scholarship fund since its inception in 1934. That first year of IPTAY, Neely and his staff convinced 160 people to pay $10.00 a year to Clemson, for a grand total of $1,600 (not bad during the middle of the great depression.)

Neely was head coach at Clemson from 1931 through 1939 and spent the next 26 years at Rice University in Houston.

Neely coached Clemson to its first bowl game, the 1940 Cotton Bowl, where the Tigers capped a 9-1-0 season by beating Boston College, 6-3. Clemson ended the season ranked 12th in the final Associated Press poll, its first top 20 season in history. Boston College was ranked 11th going into the game and it was Clemson's first win over a top 20 team in its history. The team featured the play of Banks McFadden Clemson's first Associated Press All-American. Clemson had a 43-35-7 record during Neely's tenure.

Neely coached Rice to four Southwest Conference Championships and six bowl appearances, the last being a trip to the Bluebonnet Bowl in 1961.

During 40 years of college coaching he compiled a record of 207-99-14. Neely is 12th in college football history in victories by a Division I-A coach heading into the 1999 season. For his accomplishments, he was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1971.

Neely graduated from Vanderbilt in 1924, after lettering three years in football and serving as captain of the 1922 team. He coached a year of high school football before returning to his alma mater to obtain a law degree. But he never practiced.

He coached four years at Southwestern College in Clarksville, TN and then went to the University of Alabama in 1928. It was there that he met Frank Howard. Neely brought Howard to Clemson as line coach in 1931. Howard replaced him in 1940 and remained as head coach for 30 years. In 1967, Neely returned to his alma mater as athletic director. He officially retired in 1971, but continued to coach golf at Vanderbilt until 1981, when he moved back to Texas.

"If I didn't look in the mirror every day, I wouldn't know how old I am," Neely once said. "Working with the boys makes you feel young, I feel that in athletics the boys learn a sense of loyalty and sacrifice and values they don't learn anywhere else.

"They learn to compete and that is what life is all about—it's competition.

"If they make good in football, chances are they'll be successful elsewhere. I like to see that those boys make something of themselves. That is my reward.

"The boys go to college to study and get that degree. Playing football is a side activity. When fellows go to a school first to play football they get an entirely wrong sense of values.

"And when you start them off with the wrong sense, it isn't difficult for them to go astray."

"He was a cool, southern gentlemen, but he worked us like dogs. The workouts were always twice as hard as the games," said Dick Maegle. "There were no superstars, no victory that was better than all the other victories. To him football was a team game and we were all team players." Maegle was the player tackled in a famous episode in the 1954 Cotton Bowl, when frustrated Tommy Lewis of Alabama came off the bench to stop a certain touchdown. Rice won that game, 28-6.

Neely died at the age of 85 in 1983, but his landmark accomplishments in the 1930s at Clemson contributed significantly to Clemson's outstanding football tradition.

1999 Clemson Tiger Football

Usually when one gets out of the spotlight, his accomplishments soon fade and gather dust in some far off corner in the basement or attic.

But not Banks McFadden.

Now 80 and living in retirement, Banks looks back with many fond memories and Clemson fans remember him as probably the greatest natural athlete ever to play for the Tigers.

Although he brought great pride to Clemson with his athletic ability, and later with his coaching, McFadden says, "working with the athletes and working for the people whom we had here at Clemson...it's been a tremendous life. It's something I'll never regret and I couldn't have asked for things to be better."

For some of you in the 'Pepsi Generation' who might not have read your Clemson athletic history too well, let us do a little refreshing on the one called "Bonnie Banks."

- ☆ Was named All-American in both basketball (1938-39) and football (1939) the same calendar year.
- ☆ Was voted the nation's most versatile athlete (1938-39).
- ☆ Led Clemson to its first conference basketball championship (1939).
- ☆ Led Clemson to its first bowl game and victory (1940 Cotton).
- ☆ Won three events in the State Track Meet in one afternoon, setting records in all three of them. Earlier in the same year placed first in five events in a dual meet, scoring 25 points while the opposing team's total score was 28 points.
- ☆ Was Clemson's first 1st round draft choice (1939 Brooklyn Dodgers).
- ☆ Tied for the longest rushing play in Clemson history (90 yards vs. Presbyterian, 1939).
- ☆ Has the most punts for over 50 yards in a game (six vs. Tulane, 1939) and in a season (22 on 65 punts in 1939).
- ☆ Held Clemson punting record (43.5) for 40 years (1939 to 1979).
- ☆ First Clemson player invited to participate in the College All-Star game in Chicago.
- ☆ Charter member in the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame.
- ☆ Charter member in the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame.
- ☆ Only Clemson player ever chosen for the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame.
- ☆ Highest NFL draft pick in Clemson history (#3 in entire 1940 draft).

That's 15 of his more noteworthy accomplishments, and it wouldn't take too long to dig out twice that many more. But those listed should be enough for the average sports buff to be impressed.

Banks played one year (1940) of pro football with the old Brooklyn Dodgers and led the NFL in yards per carry, but he didn't care at all for the big city life. Grass felt better under his feet than pavement so he returned 'home' and joined the coaching staff of Coach Frank Howard.

Banks coached the defensive backs for one year (1941) before joining the Army Air Corps and spending four years in North Africa and Italy. He was discharged as a colonel. He recalls that "after the war, everything began to blossom out" as far as college football was concerned.

One thing that 'blossomed out' was his marriage to "Aggie" Rigsby of Manning. As it appears sometimes with former athletes, former backs produce girls and he and "Aggie" had four of them—Patsy, Lil, Marcia and Jan. And the grand kids—there are nine of them—five boys and four girls. The McFaddens celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently.

McFadden came back to Clemson after his service and was again the secondary coach, this time for four years (1946-49), and then took over as head freshman football coach for five years before returning to coach defensive backs in 1955, a spot he held until Howard retired following the '69 season.

Besides his football coaching years, McFadden also put in a stint as varsity track coach, freshman basketball coach and was for 10 years the varsity basketball coach. Then after Howard resigned as football coach in 1969, McFadden took over the university's intramural department, which he directed for 15 years.

Asked if he had any favorites, McFadden said: "Fred Cone was a very steady player. But I'm not so sure that Joel Wells wasn't the best all around football player that I had the opportunity to work with as a varsity coach. He was one of the best defensive players we had and a mighty fine offensive player. For somebody who could go both ways, Wells stood out.

"When I was in high school, colleges could do almost anything they wanted to as far as recruiting went," McFadden remembers. "Schools didn't have much (scholarship) money to give away, but they did go out and look at people and try to talk them into coming (to Clemson), paying their own way (or what is called a walk-on today.) But there wasn't very much recruiting until '35 or '36. But I believe there were 25 or 30 on my freshman team (1936) who were getting aid." (Note: The Clemson IPTAY Club was founded in 1934).

The Great Falls, SC native came to Clemson in a 6-3 frame and a skinny 165 pounds. Howard, an assistant coach at the time, said that if McFadden had drank a can of tomato juice, they could have used him as a thermometer.

"I can remember the first time I saw him on the practice field," Howard recalled. "He looked like one of those whooping cranes. I thought sure as the devil that Coach (Jess) Neely had made a mistake giving this boy a scholarship. But he proved me wrong."

Clemson had required military when McFadden was playing, but he believes that was a plus. "We were so much a team then, and that's still there. But now the rules allow two different teams (offense and defense) and it causes so much more work. Our people were so close, as are the alumni of Clemson. Our team was just like the student body was then—a very close-knit bunch of people.

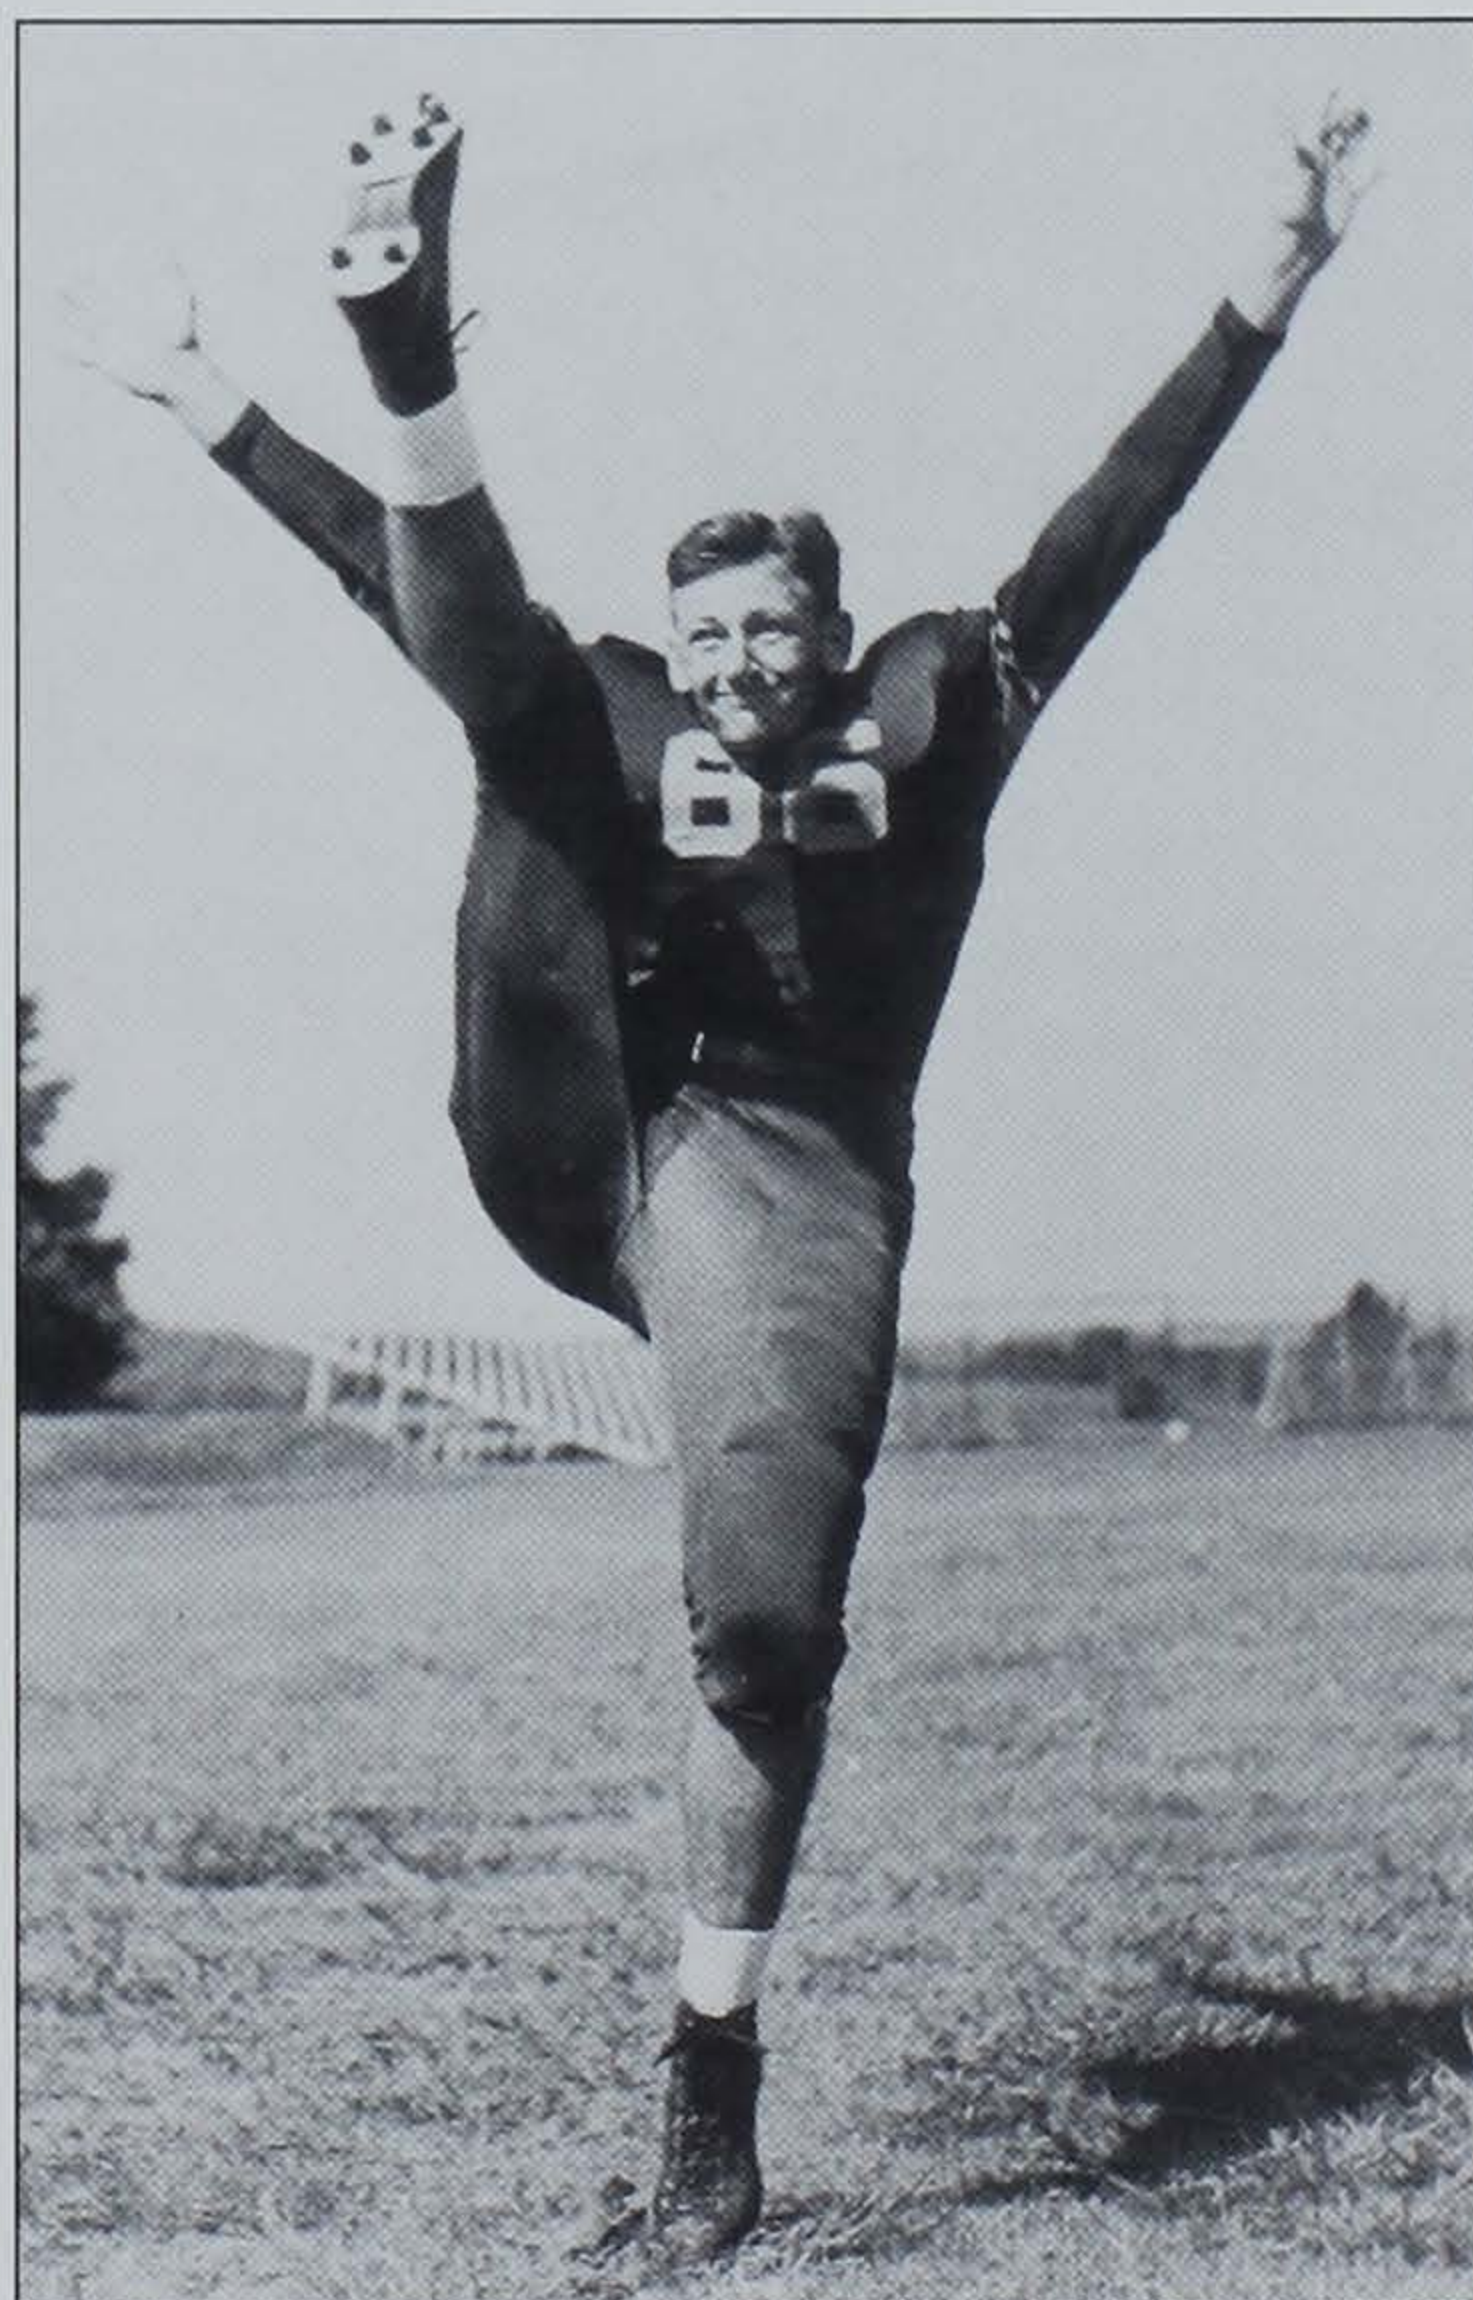

McFadden believes he, "came to Clemson at the right time. I was blessed to have some athletic ability," he recalled. "We had great coaches, had great individuals playing (with me), but we were all playing as a team."

Of all of the honors he received as an athlete, being voted the most valuable player of the 1939 football team was his highest. "To me, when your teammates vote you something," he beams, "then you feel pretty good. That award meant more than anything else (to me)."

This is one athlete where a one-page story in a football guide does not do that person justice...just about enough room for the tip of the iceberg. But if one could use just one word to describe 'Great' (as Howard called him), it would have to be 'competitor,' for he was just that.

And one more thing that the 'Pepsi Generation' can soak in—McFadden is the only Clemson athlete to have both his football jersey and basketball jersey numbers retired. In 1995, the Banks McFadden Building at Jervy Athletic Center was dedicated in his honor.

There hasn't been another like him down the pike.

McFadden was an All-American in football and basketball.

An era at Clemson University ended June 30, 1974, when Frank Howard officially retired from the payroll.

Another era ended January 28, 1996, when Howard died at the age of 86 and forever silenced a voice that had been synonymous with Clemson for nearly 65 years. He was the school's best known ambassador.

Although he retired from all official duties in 1974, he never quit coming to the office and he never stopped representing Clemson in a manner which continued to win friends for the place that was so dear to his heart.

Howard retired from coaching December 10, 1969, after 39 years on the Clemson coaching staff, 30 of which were as head coach. He was also athletic director during this time and he kept this position until February 4, 1971, when he was named assistant to the vice president at the university, the post he held when the mandatory retirement age of 65 rolled around.

Shortly after his retirement the Clemson Board of Trustees named the playing surface of Memorial Stadium as "Frank Howard Field" in honor of his long service to the university. It was only the third time that a building or installation had been named by the trustees for a living person. Over the years, Howard was inducted into the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame and the Clemson Hall of Fame (charter member in both), as well as the Helms Athletic Hall of Fame and the State of Alabama Hall of Fame. On December 5, 1989 he joined an elite group in the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame. The ceremonies took place in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. He joined former Clemson mentors John Heisman and Jess Neely in the membership.

Howard was also honored in December, 1981, when he was inducted into the Orange Bowl Hall of Honor, along with former Alabama coach, Paul "Bear" Bryant, and Tommy McDonald, a former Oklahoma star. In the summer of 1990 he was inducted into the Gator Bowl Hall of Fame.

Howard stepped onto the rolling hills of Clemson in 1931 fresh from the varsity football ranks at the University of Alabama where he was a first stringer on Wallace Wade's 1930 team that drubbed Washington State, 24-0, in the 1931 Rose Bowl. Howard was known as the "Little Giant" of the Tide's "Herd of Red Elephants."

The bald veteran came to his first coaching post under Jess Neely as a line tutor. "At least that was my title," Howard recalls. "Actually, I also coached track, was ticket manager, recruited players and had charge of football equipment. In my spare time I cut grass, lined tennis courts and operated the canteen while the regular man was out to lunch." Howard was not only track coach from 1931-39, but served as baseball coach in 1943 and his 12-3 record that year is still among the best percentages for a season in Clemson history.

Howard held the line coaching post until Neely went to Rice University as head coach in 1940. When the Clemson Athletic Council met to name a successor to Neely, Prof. Sam Rhodes, a council member, nominated Howard to be the new head coach. Howard, standing in the back of the room listening to the discussion, said: "I second the nomination." He got the job and never left. When he retired as head coach following the 1969 season, he was the nation's dean of coaches, having been a head football coach at a major institution longer than anyone else in the United States. When he retired, he was one of five active coaches with 150 or more victories.

While line coach in 1939, the Tigers' record (8-1) was good enough to merit a trip to Dallas where Clemson met undefeated Boston College under the late Frank Leahy in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. The 1948 mark of 10-0 carried Clemson to the 1949 Gator Bowl and two years later, a 9-0-1 record sent the Tigers to Miami's Orange Bowl (1950). The Country Gentlemen were champions on their first three bowl ventures.

Boston College fell, 6-3, Missouri was nipped in the Gator, 24-23 (Howard said this is the best football game he ever witnessed), and Miami felt the Tiger claws, 15-14. The total point spread in these three bowl wins was five points.

The Gator Bowl beckoned the Tigers again in January, 1952, and by being conference champions in 1956, Clemson played in the '57 Orange Bowl classic again. Miami downed Clemson, 14-0 in the second Gator Bowl trip and Colorado led Clemson, 20-0, then trailed 21-20, before finally defeating the Tigers, 27-21, in the second Orange Bowl. The Tigers then played in the 1959 Sugar Bowl and held No. 1-ranked Louisiana State to a standstill before losing, 7-0.

The invitation to play in the first Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston in December, 1959, was the eighth bowl that Howard had been a part of either as a player, assistant coach or head coach. It was the seventh bowl trip for a Clemson team and the sixth in 12 years. Howard says that Clemson's 23-7 triumph over seventh-ranked Texas Christian in the Bluebonnet Bowl was the best performance he had ever witnessed by a Clemson team. Clemson was the first school to play in two bowls in the same calendar year.

Clemson and South Carolina formerly played at the State Fair in Columbia (1896 thru 1959) on the third Thursday in October in a game billed as "Big Thursday." In 1960, the teams started playing on a home and home basis. But after the final game in 1959, Howard could not resist blowing Big Thursday a goodbye kiss.

The Tigers' victory over TCU was their fourth success in seven post-season appearances. In all seven Clemson was the established underdog.

Howard served on the coaching staff of the Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, AL, in 1941, 1952, 1959, and 1966; was on the East staff of the annual East-West Game in San Francisco, CA, in December, 1960, and again in December, 1962; and was named coach of the South squad in Miami's 1961 and 1969 North-South game. He coached in the 1970 Hula Bowl, which was his ninth postseason all-star game. While still in active coaching Howard served as one of the rules committee members for a period of three years.

A single wing expert for 22 seasons (including nine as a line coach), Howard changed to the T-formation and its many variations in 1953. Still another major change in the offense was installed in 1965 with the "I" and pro-type set. In his 13 seasons as head coach using the single wing, Clemson won 69, lost 47 and tied 7. In 12 years of "T" teams, the Tigers won 71, lost 47 and tied 4. While using the "I" in his last five years of coaching, Clemson recorded a 25-24-1 record.

In his 30 years of coaching Howard won 165, lost 118 and tied 12. That victory total is still among the top 40 coaches in the history of the game.

In addition to heading up the Clemson football program, Howard also had the job of directing Clemson's entire athletic program, and at the same time, raising all the required scholarship funds. The athletic department was always on a sound financial footing under the guidance of Howard.

The year 1958 was a red letter one for Howard. During halftime of the Spring Game, Howard, his staff and secretaries were given an appreciation day. Howard received a 1958 car while other staff members were presented gifts. That summer Howard and three members of his staff were given a trip to Europe by the Department of Defense to conduct clinics for the Armed Forces in Germany.

Then came the football season and the Tigers presented Howard an 8-2 season, which led to the Sugar Bowl invitation. One of these 1958 wins was the 100th of Howard's coaching career. That came against the late Jim Tatum of North Carolina, a coach Howard had never beaten. And, the Tigers had to come from behind three times to win, 26-21.

Howard was named Southern Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 1948. In 1959 he was named Atlantic Coast Conference Coach-of-the-Year and was accorded the honor again in 1966. His teams won ACC championships six times (1956-58-59-65-66-67) in the first 15 years of the conference. The Tigers were co-champions in 1965. He guided Clemson to the Southern Conference crown in 1940 and 1948.

Howard was born at Barlow Bend, AL (three wagon greasin's from Mobile), March 25, 1909. He spent his early days on the farm playing mostly cow pasture baseball because there were not enough boys around the community for a football team. Howard says he left Barlow Bend walking barefoot on a barbed wire fence with a wildcat under each arm.

He graduated from Murphy High School in Mobile where he played football, baseball and basketball and served as president of both the junior and senior classes.

After finishing at Murphy, Howard entered the University of Alabama on an academic scholarship provided by the Birmingham News in the fall of 1927, and the 185 pounder played reserve guard his sophomore year. During his junior year he started every game but two, as an ankle injury sidelined him for the two games he missed. Again his senior year he was a regular.

Howard was president of the freshman class at Alabama, was member of Blue Key and president of the "A" Club.

After coming to Clemson, he married the former Anna Tribble of Anderson, SC, (who died May 15, 1996) on August 23, 1933. They were the parents of a daughter, Alice (Mrs. Robert McClure of Gastonia, NC) and a son, Jimmy, of Pendleton. The Howards had three grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Jimmy followed in his dad's footsteps as a football player, only at a different position. The son was regular fullback on the local high school (Daniel) team for three years and was a halfback-fullback for three years on the Clemson varsity. Jimmy gained over 1,400 yards his senior year in high school and scored over 100 points. He graduated from Clemson in June, 1964 with honors, and earned his masters degree in horticulture from Clemson in 1967. He retired as district entomologist with the Plant Pest Regulatory Service at Clemson.

great demand both as a banquet speaker and a clinic lecturer. Few states have escaped his homespun oratory, which brought the house down on many occasions.

After his retirement, Howard was active in other endeavors. He served as state chairman of the South Carolina Heart Fund drive, was roasted several times on behalf of the Multiple Sclerosis Society, and was active in selling the Kickoff Publication out of Knoxville, TN.

Howard kept his hands in football as he served as the chief recruiter for the Gray squad in the annual Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, AL. The Blue squad recruiter was Don Faurot, who opposed Howard in the 1949 Gator Bowl.

Howard has also been inducted into the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame in San Francisco, CA., is an honorary member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, and is a member of the Hall of Fame of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. Clemson University also honored Howard once more with the presentation of the Clemson Medallion, which is the highest public honor bestowed by the university to a living person who exemplifies the dedication and foresight of its founders. He was a charter member of Clemson's Ring of Honor at Memorial Stadium in 1994.

Fred Cone is living proof that recruiting services and all their accompanying hype aren't what they are cracked up to be. Cone was inducted into Clemson's Football Ring of Honor in the Fall of 1997, just the fourth Clemson football player in history to receive the honor.

But, he came to Clemson without having played a down of high school football. It is perhaps the most unusual story concerning an athlete's journey to Clemson. Cone was visiting his sister at Biloxi, MS, far from the haunts of his hometown, an obscure place called Pineapple, AL.

Unbeknown to Clemson Head Coach Frank Howard, Cone's sister lived next door to Howard's sister, Hazel, in Biloxi. On years when Clemson would play Tulane in New Orleans, Howard would send Hazel a pair of tickets. "One year she sent the two tickets back," Howard remembered, "and said she'd like to have four tickets because she wanted to take the next door neighbor to the game."

That was in 1946, Cone's senior year in high school. After Cone graduated, Hazel wrote him a letter. "Brother, I have you a good football player, but he's never played football."

Howard recalled that he had told the Clemson registrar to save him 40 beds in the barracks and that he would turn in that many names on September 1st.

"When Hazel wrote me about Fred Cone, I had 39 names on that list. So I just wrote 'Fred Cone' in as the 40th name. And that's how I got probably the best, if not the best, football player I ever had."

Cone graduated from Moore Academy in Pineapple and came to Clemson in 1947 as a freshman, but first-year players were not eligible to play then. It was probably best for Cone because he had not played high school football. He needed a year to get acclimated. When Cone became eligible for the varsity in '48, the football program took on a different air.

In the second game of his career, against N.C. State, Cone had the first of his eight 100-yard career rushing games, leading Clemson to an important victory. He was Clemson's top rusher (635 yards and seven TDs) that season, a regular season that saw Clemson compile a perfect 10-0 record and an invitation to the Gator Bowl against Missouri.

Clemson ended up on the long end of a 24-23 game. Cone rushed for 72 yards and scored twice in the first quarter, but it was his effort on a fourth-down play that was the difference in the game.

Clemson held a one-point lead and faced a fourth-and-three at the Mizzou 45. It was either gamble for a first down, or punt and give Missouri another chance to score. As Howard would say later: "We hadn't stopped them all day so I took my chance with a running play."

Cone hit a stone wall at left tackle, but kept digging and slid off a little more to the outside, found a little wiggling room and mustered six yards and a first down at the Missouri 35. Clemson retained possession those few remaining minutes and ran out the clock. Years later Howard said it was the most memorable play of his 30-year career.

Despite a down year in '49, Cone gained more yards (703) rushing and scored more touchdowns (9) than his sophomore year. But, 1950 was to bring about another, undefeated season.

After the expected win over Presbyterian to start the season, Clemson faced pre-season No. 17 Missouri on the road. Cone gained 111 yards in 21 attempts, one of three Tigers over the 100-yard mark that day.

In '50, Clemson scored 50 points in three games, but Cone saved his best until his last regular season game against Auburn.

Rumor had it that if Clemson scored over a certain number of points on Auburn that the Orange Bowl bid was in its pocket. The South Carolina Tigers took the Alabama Tigers, 41-0. Cone gained 163 yards, two shy of a five-yard average, and scored three touchdowns on the ground, and one on a 28-yard reception.

Icing on the cake this time came against Miami in the Orange Bowl. Although Sterling Smith's tackle of Frank Smith in the end zone for a safety brought a 15-14 victory Clemson's way, Cone gained 81 yards on the ground, scored once, punted four times and returned one kickoff. It put a great climax on Cone's career.

The 1948-50 era is the only time in Clemson history that has seen the Tigers record two undefeated seasons in a three-year period. Cone and Ray Mathews were the only common denominators in the starting lineup on those two teams.

Cone's senior season numbers, 845 yards rushing and 15 touchdowns, were school records at the time. He also set career records for rushing yards (2183) and touchdowns (31).

A seven-year hitch with the Green Bay Packers was so impressive that he was inducted into their Hall of Fame in 1974. One year he led the NFL in field goals. He was also a member of the Dallas Cowboys in their first year of existence in 1960. Later he returned to Clemson as its chief recruiter for 10 years beginning in 1961.

After Cone completed his Clemson career, Howard was still stumped as to how his sister could predict that her neighbor's brother would be such an outstanding football player. "He just looked so athletic jumping off of that diving board," Hazel said without skipping a beat.

Cone sparked Clemson to a pair of undefeated seasons.

Every once in awhile a truly well-rounded individual comes along. Steve Fuller was a scholar, an athlete, and a fine representative of his community. That combination made him one of the most decorated athletes in Clemson history and the reason he was inducted into the Clemson Ring of Honor in 1994. He was also the first Clemson football player in history to have his jersey number (4) retired.

Fuller, a native of Spartanburg, South Carolina, graduated high school with a perfect 4.0 grade point average in a class of more than 800, crowning him class valedictorian. He had offers to go pro in baseball out of high school and had a basketball scholarship offer at North Carolina.

Right away Steve produced a preview of what Clemson fans should expect from him over the course of the next four years. He was named ACC Rookie-of-the-Week in his first collegiate game, gaining 194 yards of total offense against Tulane. During his sophomore year, Steve gained further recognition by being named ACC Back-of-the-Week after the Tennessee game and by being named to the All-ACC Academic Team.

Fuller demonstrated exceptional leadership during his junior and senior years, both on and off the field. Highlights on the field include leading the ACC in total offense for both years and being selected twice as the ACC Player-of-the-Year, the only two-time selection in Clemson history.

Equally impressive were the team accomplishments, as Fuller quarterbacked Clemson to two consecutive Gator Bowls, Clemson's first bowl appearances in 18 years. In 1978 Clemson posted an 11-1 record and ranked sixth in the final AP poll, then the highest final national ranking in Clemson history.

Fuller earned the Gator Bowl MVP Award his senior year (1978). He was the South Carolina Amateur Athlete-of-the-Year during his junior season. The Atlanta Touchdown Club named Fuller the Back-of-the-Year in the South in 1978 and he was also named the South Carolina Player-of-the-Year his junior and senior years.

At the conclusion of his senior season he was also an AP third-team All-American. Another great athletic feat for Steve Fuller included finishing sixth in the Heisman Trophy balloting, the highest finish for a Clemson athlete in history. Likewise, he set several Clemson records. It's no wonder he was a first round draft pick (23rd selection) by the Kansas City Chiefs.

He played 10 years in the NFL and won a Super Bowl Championship ring with the 1985 Chicago Bears.

Off the field, Fuller illustrated his joint dedication to academics and community service. He was named to the All-ACC Academic Team for three years and twice named Academic All-American, including a first-team selection his senior year.

Fuller is one of just two football players in Clemson history to be named an on-field All-American and Academic All-American in the same year. He majored in history (pre-law), which was not an easy route to take, and maintained a 3.93 grade point average. His push for excellence earned him an NCAA postgraduate scholarship, the Jim Weaver Award from the ACC, and one of the NCAA's Top Five Awards. He delivered the acceptance response for himself and the four other winners.

He was also presented the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame Scholar Athlete Award, a double that no Clemson player has duplicated since. Extracurricular activities included being a member of the Blue Key, Mortor Board, Tiger Brotherhood, Block "C" Club, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Beta Kappa, and Phi Kappa Phi.

Steve Fuller's honors may have collected dust once he left Clemson, but his fame did not. In 1979, he became the first football player and the second athlete in Clemson history to have his jersey (#4) retired. He also became a member of the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame and the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame. In September 1994, Fuller was inducted into Clemson's Ring of Honor along with coach Frank Howard and all-purpose back Banks McFadden.

Now, Clemson has bestowed another honor upon Steve Fuller. On April 6, 1996, the Clemson Centennial Team was announced and Fuller was the starting quarterback for this team. He left behind a legacy that few can dare to touch. No doubt, Steve Fuller remains one of the greatest student-athletes in Clemson history, regardless of sport.

Fuller became the first football player in Clemson history to have his jersey retired. He was inducted into the Clemson Ring of Honor in 1994.

1999 Clemson Tiger Football

Even though Clemson's football heritage is 100-years-old, it does not take long to determine the most significant accomplishment in the program's history—the 1981 National Championship. And, along the same lines, it does not take long to single out the most significant team leader of that great accomplishment—Jeff Davis.

When examining Davis's contributions to Clemson athletics in terms of leadership, citizenship and athletic records and awards, it is no surprise that he became the fourth member of the Clemson Ring of Honor prior to the opener of the 1995 season.

The native of Greensboro, NC registered a then Clemson record 175 tackles in leading a 1981 defense that set a school record for turnovers forced (41) in a season. He still holds the Clemson career record for caused fumbles (10) and recovered fumbles (8), and the single game record for tackles (24) against North Carolina in 1980.

He played 40 games for Clemson between 1978-81 and had 469 career tackles, 16 passes broken up, 18 tackles for loss, four sacks and four interceptions. He started all 35 games for the Tigers between 1979-81. He was a model of consistency, having registered at least double figures in tackles in 22 of his last 23 games. Overall, he had 30 double figure tackle games in his 40-game career and led the Clemson team in tackles 25 times.

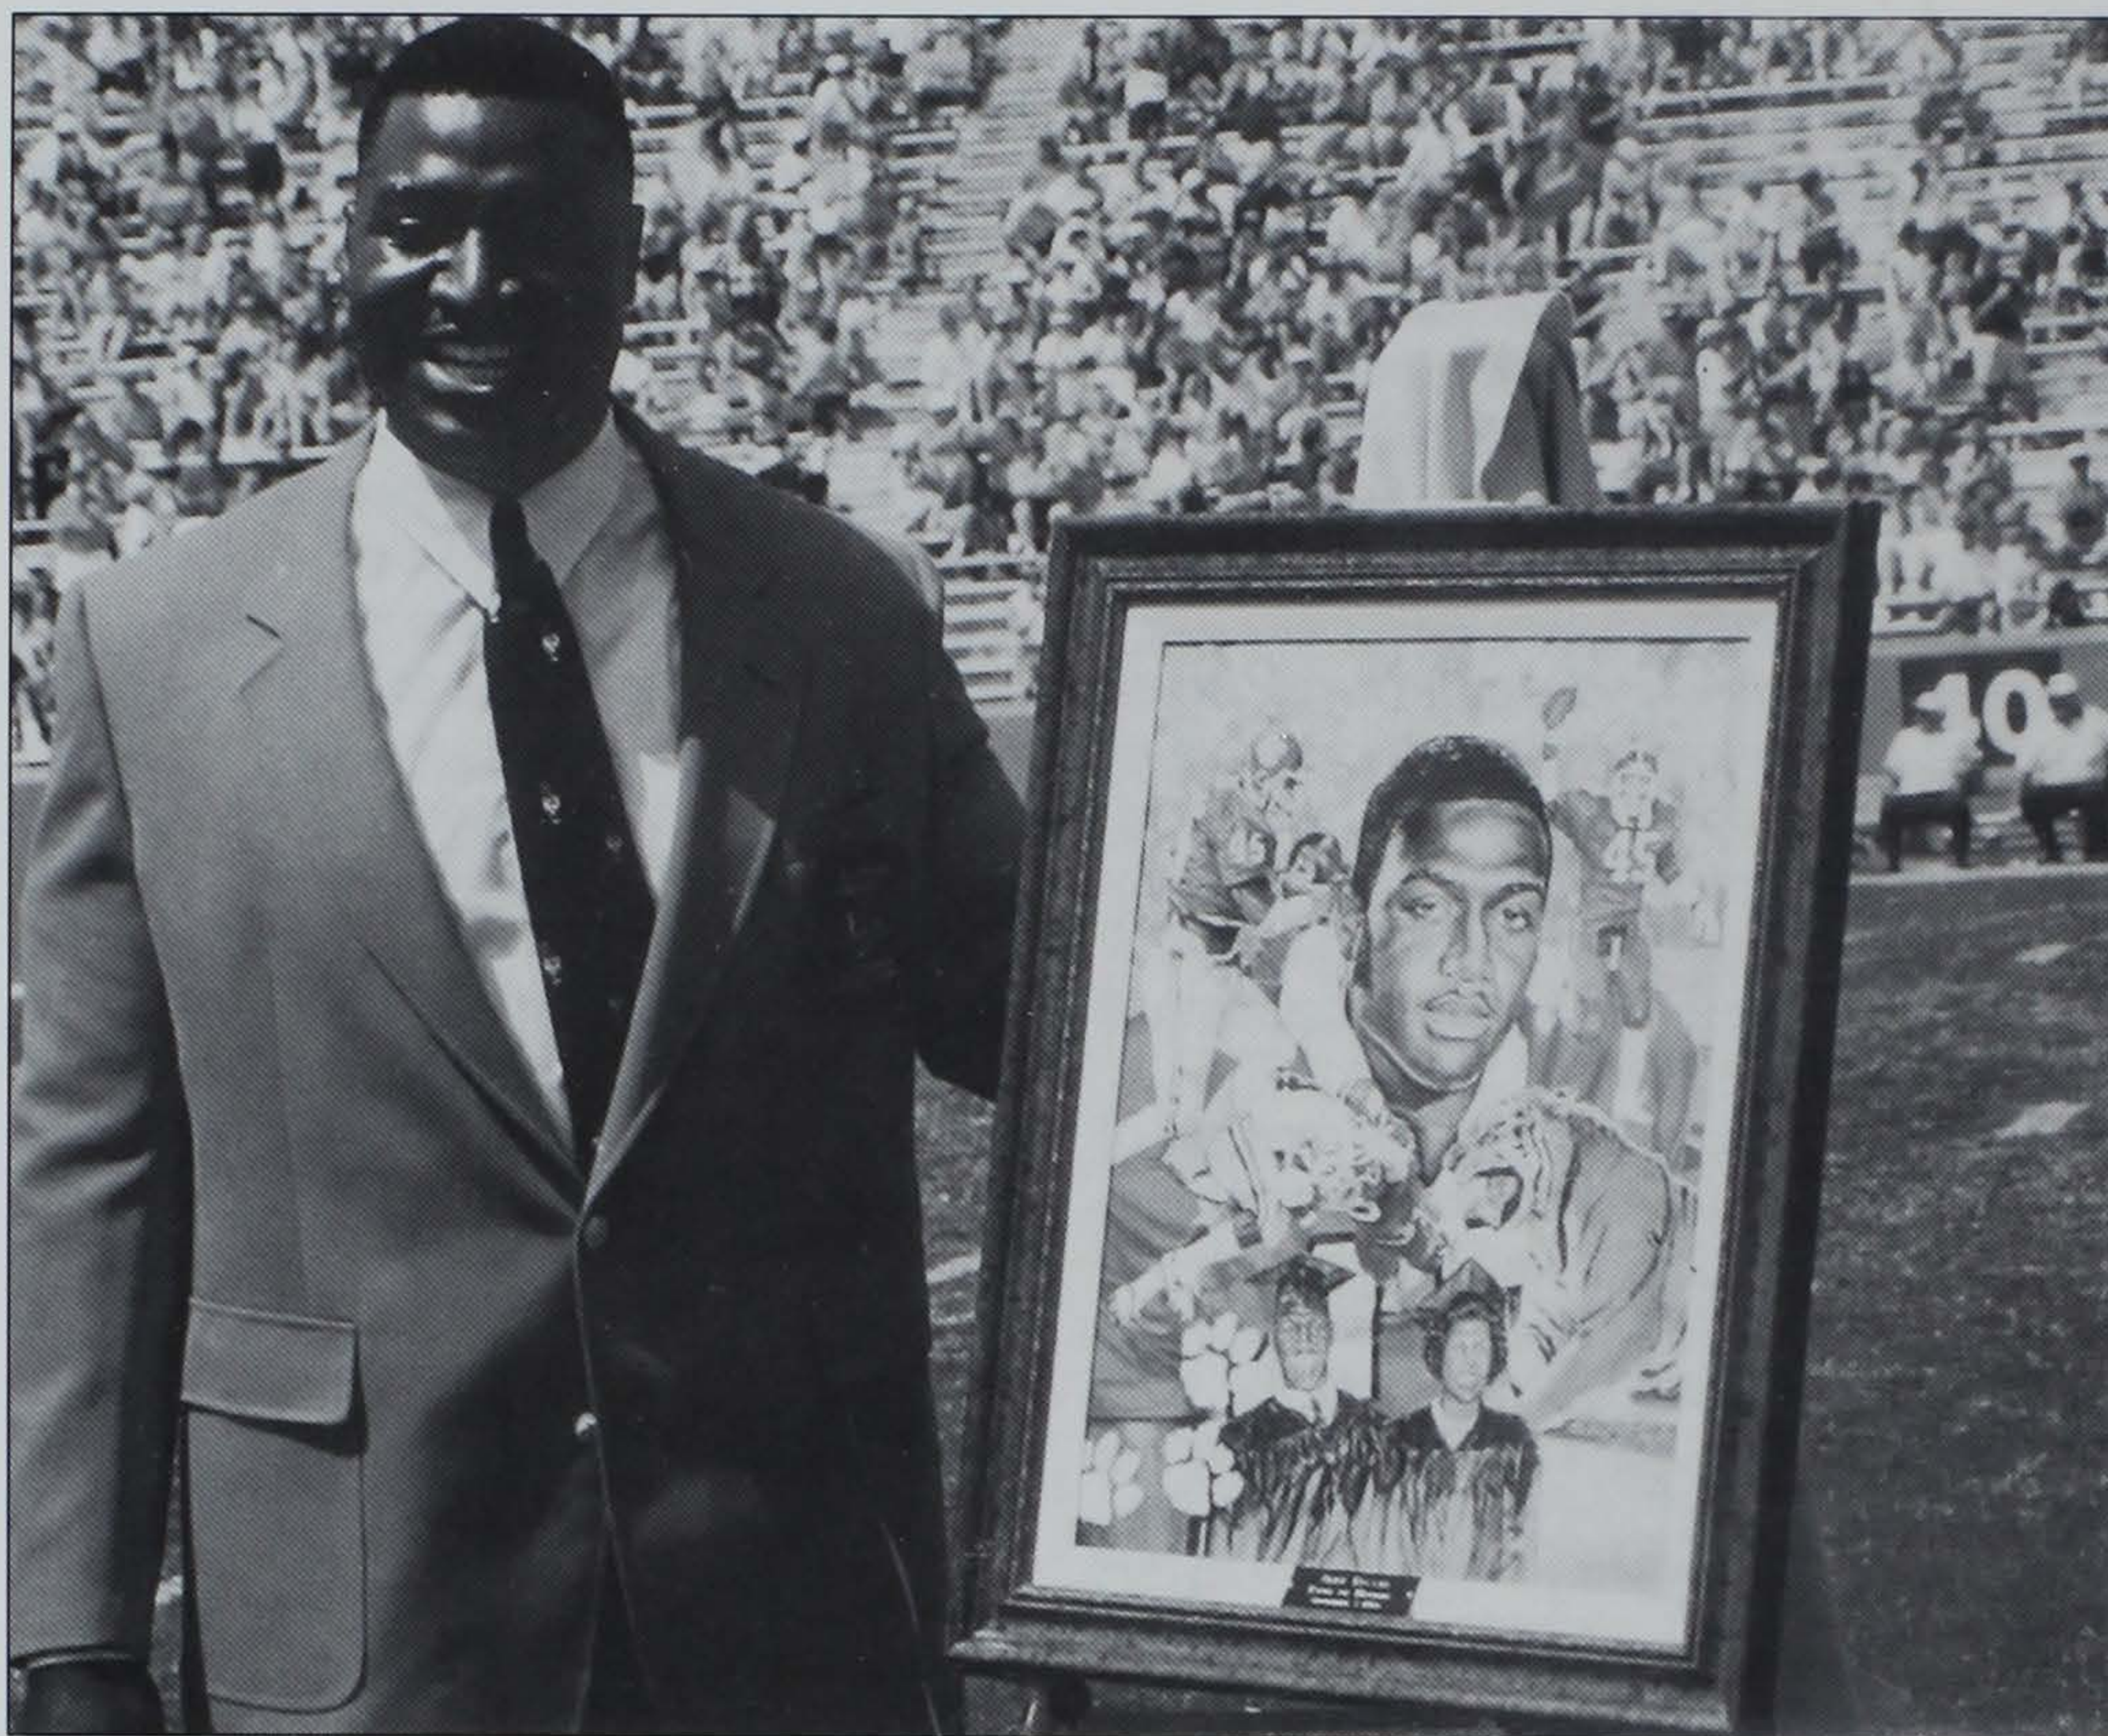

"It is hard to express my feelings on being inducted into the Clemson Ring of Honor," said Davis. "This honor should be spread among my coaches and teammates and all of Clemson who had an impact on my life during my career. No one receives an honor like this without help. I want to thank the good Lord for giving me the ability and the opportunity to come to Clemson."

For his accomplishments in 1981, Davis was named the MVP of the ACC, just the third defensive player in league history to win the award. He concluded the season in grand style with a 14-tackle performance in the 22-15 Orange Bowl win over Nebraska that clinched the National Championship for the Tigers, Clemson's first national championship in any sport. Davis was named the Defensive MVP of the contest.

At the conclusion of the season, Davis was named a first-team All-American by United Press, the Football Coaches Association, the Football Writers Association, the Walter Camp Foundation and the Football News. He was named the Lineman-of-the-Year by the Atlanta Touchdown Club.

"We had purpose. We took everything one game at a time and did not get caught up in the chase for the National Championship. When we started the season, the championship was not a (realistic) goal. We were just coming off a 6-5 season in 1980 in which we all thought we could have done much better."

After clinching the ACC title with a win over Maryland and the state championship with a convincing victory at South Carolina, Davis and his Clemson teammates prepared to meet fourth-ranked Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl, a game that would determine the National Championship.

Davis became the fourth member of the Clemson Ring of Honor during ceremonies prior to the 1995 Western Carolina game.

"We just knew we were going to win that night," reflects Davis, who was nicknamed The Judge by then assistant sports information director Kim Kelly. "I think the first possession of the game was the key because they fumbled and William Devane recovered. That led to a score and that was something we had been doing all year, forcing turnovers and taking over the game. That just told us that this game was not going to be any different than any of the others."

Perry Tuttle, Davis's roommate for four years and also an All-American on Clemson's 1981 National Championship team, recalls that season and Davis's passion for the game. "When we were in the room at night he would talk about the defense and what it was going to do until I fell asleep," said Tuttle. "As the season went on we just started dreaming about what could happen with this team and as we went along everything started to come true."

Davis was a fifth-round draft choice of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1982, but proved the NFL scouts wrong by posting impressive numbers in a six-year NFL career. The inside linebacker played in 83 games, 72 as a starter between 1982-87. He led Tampa Bay in tackles three of the six years, including a career high 165 stops in 1984, and served as the team captain for four seasons. He still ranks third in Bucs history in career tackles with 662 and is fourth in caused fumbles with 11.

Davis has been just as successful in life after football. This past spring he returned to Clemson as field director of the Call Me Mister Program within the Department of Education, Health and Human Development. He is also a pastor, having served as pastor of Covenant

Worship Church in Tampa, FL from 1995-98. He and his wife Joni graduated from Clemson on the same day in 1984 and they are the parents of four daughters and twin boys, who were born in June of 1995.

"One of my main goals in life is to touch the lives of other people and touch them in a positive way. Any time you receive an award like this it means you've been surrounded by great people. I want to thank all the people at Clemson, because no one receives an honor like this without help. I am proud to say I am a Clemson graduate and that I represented the University. Hopefully I have had as positive an impact on them as they have had on me."

JEFF DAVIS' ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- First-Team All-American by UPI, Football Coaches, Football Writers, Football News, Walter Camp, 1981
- First linebacker in Clemson history to be named consensus first-team All-American
- Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, 1981
- Captain of Clemson National Championship team, 1981
- First-team All-ACC, 1981
- Played in East-West Shrine Bowl and Japan Bowl, 1981
- Had 30 career double-figure tackle games
- Led Clemson in tackles in 25 different games between 1979-81
- Still holds Clemson single game tackle record with 24 against UNC, 1980
- #3 in Clemson history in career tackles (469)
- #3 in Tampa Bay Bucs history in career tackles (662)

TEAM ORIGIN

Six members of Clemson's 1981 National Champion team and five members of the Tigers 1940 Cotton Bowl Champions were selected in a vote by fans to the Clemson Centennial Football team. The team was announced Saturday, April 6, 1996 by John Seketa, Coordinator of the school's Centennial Celebration of Football.

"We received a great response," said Seketa. "The fans took this seriously by reviewing Clemson's successful tradition of football and they chose an outstanding team. We decided to select a one-platoon and a two-platoon team because we wanted to have a representation dating back many years. The team has 21 All-Americans. Everyone on this team made a significant contribution to the heritage of Clemson football."

Centennial Team ballots were first distributed to fans at the 1995 Clemson- North Carolina game. They were also available through the Orange & White and at Coca Cola displays at area BiLo food stores.

Walter Riggs

WALTER RIGGS, 1896, 1899

Walter Riggs could easily be called the father of Clemson Football. He coached the football program at Clemson, not only because he had football experience, but he was also one of only two people on the Clemson campus to have ever seen a football game when the sport started in 1896. (The other person was Frank Thompkins who played in the backfield on Clemson's first team in 1896).

On September 30, 1896, a small crowd gathered in one of the barrack's rooms and the group discussed the feasibility of organizing a football association. A committee of three was appointed to consult Professor Riggs as to management of a football team and to ask his aid as coach.

When the Tigers traveled to Furman for their first game on October 31, 1896, it was the first time that many of the players had ever seen a full-sized regulation football field.

Riggs stepped down as football coach after the first season because the players wanted him to devote all of his time to being a professor in the engineering department.

Clemson athletics and Riggs, however, could not be split. Although not given the title, Riggs also was the equivalent of an athletic director, managing money and making contracts with other teams.

Riggs could easily be called a loyal man, as he answered the need of the Clemson football team again in 1899. The Clemson Athletic Association was low on money and could not afford to hire a coach. So Riggs once again answered the call of the school and became the coach of the 1899 team for free.

Riggs originally came to Clemson from Auburn. He graduated with top honors in 1892 with a B.S. degree in electrical and mechanical engineering. At Auburn, he was captain and catcher of the baseball team as well as the manager and left end of the football team. He also served as class president and was the director of the Glee Club.

Upon his graduation at Auburn, he was assistant to the president of the college until 1896, then he made his trek to Clemson.

Riggs later became president of Clemson on March 7, 1911 and in 1915, a new football stadium with other athletic facilities was named in his honor as Riggs Field. It is currently the home of the Tiger soccer team. In two years of coaching, Riggs guided the Tigers to a career record of 6-3.

W. M. WILLIAMS, 1897

Clemson's second coach, W.M. Williams, was a native of West Point, GA. He played at Auburn on the teams of '94, '95, and '96, under the coaching of John Heisman. He was considered the best blocking halfback in the south.

Williams led Clemson to the state championship and to a 2-2 season. During his time as coach, Clemson played two games in a matter of three days. Clemson was victorious over the Charlotte Y on October 23, but lost to North Carolina 28-0, on October 25.

JOHN PENTON, 1898

The Tigers' third coach, J.A. Penton of Alabama, was captain and starting guard on the University of Virginia teams of '93, '94, and '95. Penton also played fullback at Auburn in '97 under John Heisman's coaching. Under Penton, Clemson won 55-0 over Bingham in its first home game, as W.C. Forsythe kicked every point after touchdown (11). In his only season at Clemson, Penton guided Clemson to a 3-1 record and the state championship.

JOHN HEISMAN, 1900-1903

Probably one of the most famous football coaches in America, John Heisman, coached at Clemson from 1900 to 1903. Heisman turned Clemson from virtually an unknown college to a southern powerhouse at the turn of the century.

Heisman attended Brown University, taking the two-year law course offered at that time, and was a center on the football team. In the fall of 1889, he transferred to the University of Pennsylvania. He lettered in football at both schools and graduated from Pennsylvania in 1893.

In the spring of 1894, Walter Riggs was a graduate manager for the football team at Auburn. It fell on his shoulders to find a coach for the season of 1895. Riggs wrote to Carl Williams, the Pennsylvania captain of 1894, asking him to suggest a suitable coach. He replied recommending J.W. Heisman, an ex-Penn player, and his coach at Oberlin.

After several weeks, Riggs finally found Heisman in Texas, where he was engaged in raising tomatoes. Having sunk about all of his capital into the tomato venture, he was glad to go back to his old love and he readily went to coach at Auburn for $500.00 a year.

His coaching career began at Oberlin in 1892 and lasted 36 years. It included positions at Akron, Auburn, Clemson, Georgia Tech, Penn, Washington and Jefferson, and Rice University. He had an overall career record of 185 wins, 70 losses, and 17 ties.

John Heisman invented the hidden ball trick, the handoff, the double lateral, and the "flea flicker." He pioneered the forward pass, arguing that it would scatter the mob. Coach Heisman also originated the center snap and the word hike (previously the center used to roll the ball on the ground to the quarterback).

Heisman guided Clemson to its first "bowl game" in 1903, when Clemson and Cumberland met on November 26, for the championship of the South. Cumberland, who had earlier defeated Auburn, Alabama, and Vanderbilt, was considered to be champion of the southern states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, and Kentucky. The game was played on a neutral site, Montgomery, Al. Cumberland and Clemson fought to an 11-11 tie. After the news got back to Clemson that the game ended in a tie, the students and the local townspeople built a bonfire and paraded around the campus.

Overall, Heisman took Clemson to a 19-3-2 record in his four seasons. His .833 winning percentage is still the best in Clemson history. He was also the Clemson baseball coach in 1901-1904.

SHACK SHEALY, 1904

Shack Shealy holds the distinction of being the only Clemson player to have coached his alma mater. Shealy lettered at Clemson in 1896, 97, 98, and 99 and later played two years at Iowa State. Shealy was a four-year starter playing right guard, end, and in his senior year, he played in the backfield. Shealy only coached Clemson one year in 1904, and guided the Tigers to a 3-3-1 record overall, which included wins over Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee.

ED COCHEMS, 1905

Ed Cochems lettered at the University of Wisconsin in 1899, 1900, and 1901. Cochems was described as a great halfback or end on the strong Wisconsin teams at the turn of the century, including the undefeated team of 1901.

John Heisman

FORMER HEAD COACHES

During his playing career, he had a 100-yard kickoff return in a 35-0 win over Chicago in 1901, and had four touchdowns in a game against Notre Dame in 1900. After his playing days, he immediately went into coaching. He was the head coach of North Dakota in 1902 and 1903 and served briefly as an assistant with former teammate, Art Curtis at Wisconsin in 1904.

Cochems led Clemson to a 3-2-1 record overall, including wins over Georgia and Auburn. After his Clemson career, he was head coach and athletic director at St. Louis University in 1906. After the forward pass was legalized in 1906, Cochems did something with the pass at once in his first year at St. Louis, while other coaches stuck with the running game. He taught his players not to throw the ball end-over-end, but instead like a projectile - a spiral. He called this new weapon a projectile pass.

In 1906, St. Louis went undefeated rolling up 407 points while allowing its opponents only 11.

Historians credit Cochems as being the first coach to use and perfect the first legal pass in a game. The first studied refinements in throwing the ball, which led to the spiral, occurred in

Eddie Cochems

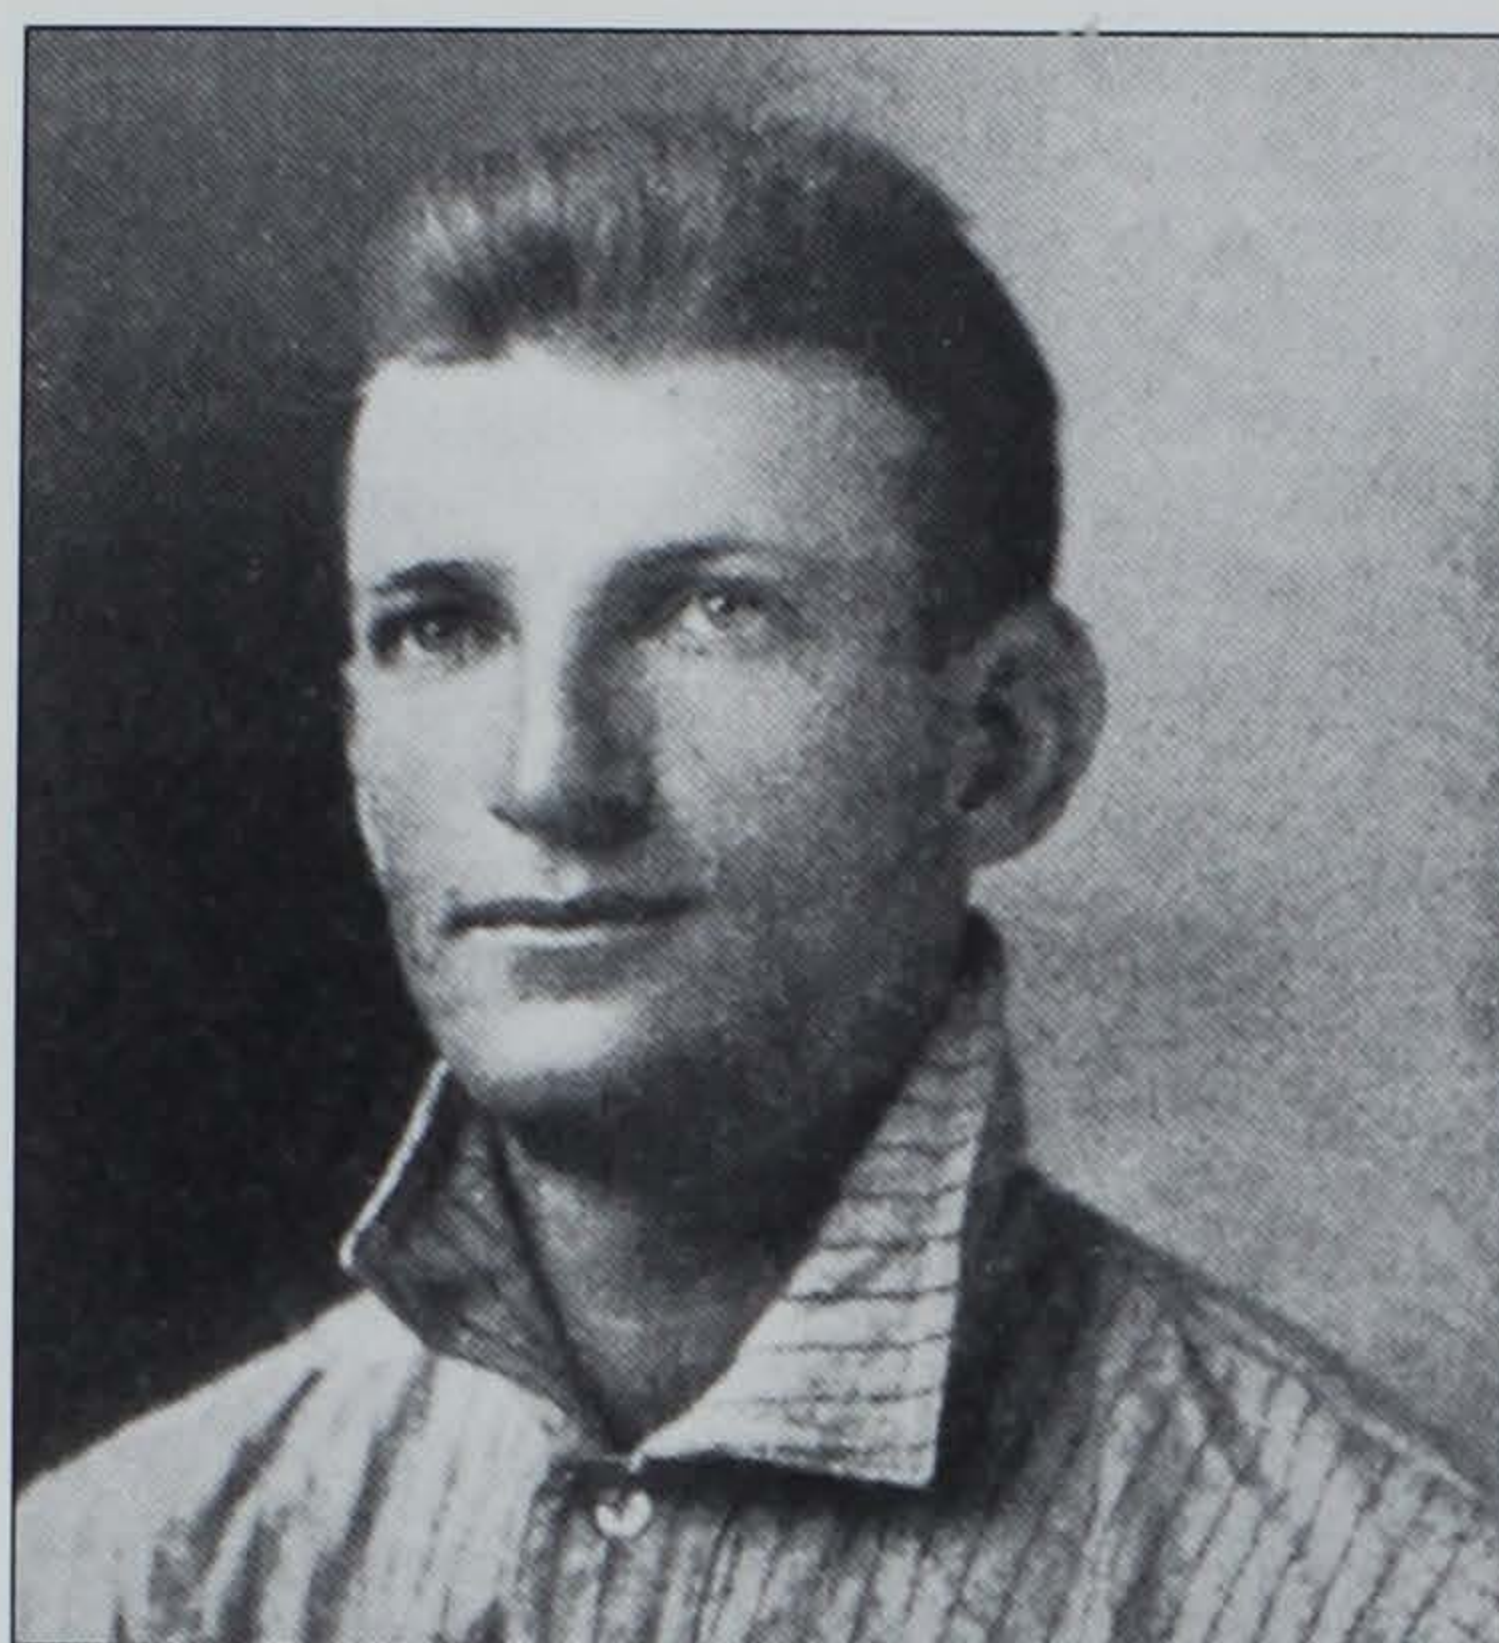

1906 under Cochems. Brad Robinson of St. Louis University threw the first forward pass to Jack Schneider in a game played Sept. 5, 1906 in Waukensha against Carroll College.

BOB WILLIAMS, 1906, 1909, 1913-1915

Bob Williams is probably the only coach in the country to have coached football at two schools that are involved in rivalry. Williams coached football at both Clemson and South Carolina. Before coming to Clemson, he coached at Davidson in 1905. He coached at South Carolina for two years and guided the Gamecocks to a 6-1 record in 1902 and an 8-2 slate in 1903.

During his South Carolina career, he administered the most unexpected defeat of Clemson, as he beat a heavily favored John Heisman team, 12-6 in 1902.

Williams served the Tigers as head coach a total of three terms 1906, 1909, and 1913-15. Between the years of 1915 and 1926, Williams practiced law in Roanoke, VA, and was the city's mayor.

Frank Dobson

One of the highlights of his Clemson career included leading the 1906 Tigers to an undefeated season (4-0-3), which included wins over Georgia, Auburn, Tennessee, and a Heisman-coached Georgia Tech team.

FRANK SHAUGHNESSY, 1907

Frank Shaughnessy was known for his ability as an administrator in sports as he served many positions, from a professional hockey coach to the commissioner of the International Baseball (Triple A) League.

A graduate in law at Notre Dame, he was captain of the baseball and football teams his junior and senior seasons. After his graduation in 1905, he coached baseball at Notre Dame. The summer before coming to Clemson he played for Ottawa of the Eastern League. That summer, he played left field and had a .352 batting average. He also played with Washington and the Philadelphia A's.

At Clemson he coached the baseball teams in 1907 and 1908, and was head football mentor in 1907, posting a 4-4 record.

During his lifetime, Shaughnessy made his name in baseball, but he took part in many other sports. Besides being a sports legend at Notre Dame, he managed the Ottawa Senators of a professional hockey league and coached football teams at Clemson, Washington and Lee and McGill University. He retired as the president of the International Baseball league.

During his football playing days, in a game against Kansas, Shaughnessy raced 107 yards for the only Irish touchdown as Kansas won, 24-5. Football fields were 110 yards back then and touchdowns were five points. This is still a Notre Dame record.

JOHN STONE, 1908

John Stone is one of three coaches to have graduated from Vanderbilt and later become a Clemson head football coach. At Vanderbilt, he was a member of the All-Southern Football team for four seasons. He was a big man for his time, standing 6'2". Clemson was 1-6 in 1908, but the Tigers lost many of their star players and substitutes from 1907 due to a college

FRANK DOBSON, 1910-12

Frank Dobson was a professional baseball player before coming to Clemson as he was the property of the Pittsburgh Nationals. Walter Riggs, President of the Clemson Athletic Association, thought it was unfair to keep shuffling coaches year after year. Riggs offered Dobson a three-year contract, which was the first contract offered and signed by a Clemson coach.

At Clemson, he coached football, basketball and baseball. He was Clemson's first basketball coach, leading Clemson to its only undefeated season in history in the inaugural season 1911-12, (4-0). In 1912-13, Clemson finished the basketball season with a 9-5 record. He was head baseball coach in 1911-1913.

WAYNE HART, 1916

Wayne Hart coached Clemson in 1916 and led Clemson to a 3-6 finish. Under Hart, the Tigers defeated state rivals Furman and South Carolina.

Hart played three years at tackle for Georgetown. He also played one year at George Washington. He was a member of the All-South Atlantic team for four years. He was also an assistant coach at Georgetown. In 1913, he coached the Washington Vigilants, a professional football team, and did not lose a game. The last two seasons before arriving at Clemson, he coached various sports at Technical High School in Washington, D. C.

EDWARD DONAHUE, 1917-20

Edward Donahue had to be one of the most organized men in the country. During the 1918-19 school year, Donahue was head coach of four Clemson sports: football, basketball, baseball, and track. During his four-year career at Clemson, he was basketball and baseball coach for two seasons, and head track coach for one season.

Donahue was an outstanding athlete at Washington and Lee as he played in the backfield on the football team and played catcher on the baseball team. Upon graduation, Donahue was an assistant coach in football and was the head coach in baseball and basketball.

E. J. STEWART, 1921-22

E. J. Stewart was head football coach for two years at Clemson, 1921-22. However, he coached more than one sport during his stay at Tigertown. In the spring of 1921, Stewart coached the baseball and track teams while conducting spring football practice. In the fall, Stewart's football team went 1-6-2, but he improved to a 5-4 slate in 1922. He went on to coach the track teams in 1922 and 1923.

Stewart played football, baseball, basketball and ran track at Western Reserve University in Ohio. Upon his graduation, he played, organized and served as head coach in Ohio of the Massillon, Ohio Professional football team.

He also coached at Nebraska and the University of Texas. At Nebraska, he led the Cornhuskers to a combined record of 11-4 in 1916-1917. They also won the Missouri Valley Conference title both seasons. After leaving the University of Nebraska, he entered the automobile business as President and Treasurer of the Stewart Motor Co. Because of the economic conditions at the time, he decided to go back into coaching.

BUD SAUNDERS, 1923-26

Bud Saunders graduated from Missouri in 1911, with a bachelors degree in Law. At Missouri, he played football and basketball. He wanted to play two other sports, but a conference rule at the time forbid an athlete from participating in more than two sports.

Saunders was football coach at Knox College before coming to Clemson. In football, Saunders coached for four seasons, 1923-1926. He also coached the basketball teams in 1924 and 1925. His best season in football came in 1923, as he led the Tigers to a 5-2-1 slate.

JOSH CODY, 1927-1930

Josh Cody, fondly known as "big man," will always be a favorite to Clemson fans. Cody, a big man in stature at 6-2, 220 pounds, led Clemson to victories over South Carolina for four straight years. He is the only coach in Clemson history who has been around more than two years who never lost a football game to South Carolina. He also defeated Furman three straight years. Cody had a 13-0-1 record in home games and had a 72 percent winning mark overall, fourth best in Clemson history.

After a 5-3-1 start in 1927, Cody guided Clemson to two 8-3 seasons in 1928 and 1929. On May 6, 1929, to show appreciation to Cody, he was presented with a new buick by the alumni, student body and faculty. This presentation took place in front of Tillman Hall.

In his final season, 1930, the Tigers finished with an 8-2 record. Cody also coached basketball at Clemson for five years and guided Clemson to a 16-9 slate in 1930. During the 1928-30 seasons, he guided Clemson to a 22-4 mark at home.

JESS NEELY, 1931-39

Clemson played in its first bowl game under Jess Neely in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. The Tigers, unknown at the time, became a household word after beating heavily-favored Boston College 6-3 in the Cotton Bowl Classic. Neely came to Clemson in 1931 and his recruitment of Banks McFadden brought Clemson to another level of competition. In 1938, Neely had Clemson at second place in the Southern Conference with a 7-1-1 record. In 1939, Banks McFadden became Clemson's first All-American, and the team concluded the season with a trip to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl. Neely left Clemson that spring and moved on to Rice, where he took that school to new heights. Neely is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

FRANK HOWARD, 1940-69

Frank Howard succeeded Jess Neely in 1940 when Neely moved on to Rice. Howard got the job when he seconded his own nomination during a meeting of the president and athletic council. Howard signed a one-year contract, then lost the document, and never had another in his 30 years as head coach.

Howard graduated from Alabama in 1931 where he was a football star lineman. He played in the 1930 Rose Bowl, then started his coaching career under Neely at Clemson in 1931, and was a part of a rebirth of Clemson football in the late 1930s. He was an assistant coach on Clemson's 1939 team that posted a 9-1 mark and beat Boston College 6-3 in the Tigers' first bowl game.

In 1940, he began his head coaching career with a bang as he won the Southern Conference championship, the first of eight conference titles Howard won in his coaching career.

Howard had his most successful season in 1948 when he took Clemson to an 11-0 record, the Tigers' first perfect season since 1900. The campaign included a Southern Conference championship, a Gator Bowl win over Missouri, and a number-11 final ranking. He nearly duplicated the feat in 1950 when he guided Clemson to a number-10 AP final ranking, a 9-0-1 finish and a 15-14 win over Miami (FL) in the Orange Bowl.

When he retired in 1969, Howard was the fifth winningest coach in the nation with 165 victories. He had 96 wins as an ACC coach, now tied for third in conference history, and he captured six (five outright and one co-championship) ACC titles, a record Bobby Bowden broke in 1998. His teams appeared in six bowl games, 63 of his players were drafted by the NFL and 37 played in the league.

Howard, a native of Barlow Bend, AL, had six Top 20 seasons, won eight conference titles (two Southern and six ACC), won an even 100 conference games and was a two-time ACC Coach-of-the-Year. He coached 25 academic All-ACC selections and five Academic All-Americans. Eleven of his players were chosen on-the-field All-Americans. Howard was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989.

HOOTIE INGRAM, 1970-1972

Hootie Ingram will be best remembered as the coach who made the Tiger Paw famous. Before his first year as head coach in the summer of 1970, Clemson introduced the Tiger Paw as the official logo of Clemson University's Athletic teams.

Ingram graduated from the University of Alabama in 1955. He also received his master's in school administration from Alabama and later became Crimson Tide athletic director.

The native of Tuscaloosa, AL was an All-Southeastern Conference defensive back for the Crimson Tide his senior year.

Ingram had his best year at Clemson during the 1971 campaign with a 5-6 overall record. He also finished second in the ACC with a 4-2 league mark in 1971.

RED PARKER, 1973-76

Red Parker coached at Clemson for four years. His 1974 team lived up to the theme "Excitement Galore, Clemson Football '74." It finished the season with a 7-4 record (6-0 at home), with wins over Georgia, Georgia Tech and South Carolina.

Before arriving at Clemson, Red Parker spent seven years at The Citadel from 1966 through 1972. During this time, he guided the Bulldogs to a fine 8-3 finish in 1971.

Parker earned a BA degree in Physical Education from Arkansas A&M in 1953. Prior to his graduation, he earned three letters each in football, basketball and track, as a running back-defensive back, second baseman-short-stop, and sprinter.

CHARLEY PELL, 1977-78

Charley Pell authored college football's Cinderella story in 1977.

The Albertville, AL product took a Clemson team that was 3-6-2 in 1976, and led the '77 Tigers to a sparkling 8-2-1 regular season mark and a berth in the Gator Bowl. It was Clemson's first final Top 20 season since 1959. He coached Clemson to a 10-1 regular season in 1978 before he left to become head coach at Florida. Clemson's 1978 team beat Ohio State in the Gator Bowl and finished sixth in the final AP poll in only his second year as head coach of Clemson.

He was a near unanimous choice as ACC Coach-of-the-Year in 1977 and 1978, the first coach, regardless of sport, to win ACC Coach-of-the-Year honors in each of his first two years. A two-way starter and three-year letterwinner at Alabama, Pell was a member of the Crimson Tide's 1961 National Championship team.

He came to Clemson in 1976 and served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator that year.

DANNY FORD, 1979-89

Danny Ford had an auspicious beginning to his head coaching career. He gained a 17-15 win over Ohio State in the 1978 Gator Bowl in a game shown on national television. The 30-year-old coach, youngest in Division I at the time, also defeated a college football legend in a contest that truly put Clemson football on the map as he beat Woody Hayes in the latter's last game. Ford had taken over the coaching reigns on December 10, 1978 when Charley Pell resigned to become head coach at Florida.

Ford kept things going in 1979 with wins over Georgia and Notre Dame and another trip to a bowl, this time the Peach Bowl. In 1981, he helped Clemson reach the summit of college football by winning the National Championship. His Tigers downed three top 10 teams during the course of the 12-0 season that concluded with a 22-15 victory over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. Ford was named National Coach-of-the-Year.

The victories continued in 1982 and 1983 as Clemson had consecutive 9-1-1 seasons. The Tigers finished in the top 12 in both seasons, and thus had a 30-2-2 record over a three-year period, best in the nation.

Clemson won three straight ACC titles under his guidance between 1986 and 1988. In 1989, Clemson registered a 10-2 season and top 12 national ranking, the fourth straight season Clemson finished in the final AP top 20. He closed his career with a 27-7 win over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl, his sixth bowl win in eight tries and his fourth in succession.

Ford was the third winningest active coach in the nation on a percentage basis at the end of the 1989 season. He finished with a 96-29-4 career ledger at Clemson and remains one of only two coaches in ACC history with over a 75 percent winning mark (min. four years). He finished with a 76 percent winning percentage and five ACC titles, second only to Frank Howard's six crowns.

The 1969 Alabama graduate is still the youngest coach to win the national title, as he was just 33-years-old when the Tigers shocked the college football world in 1981. He coached 71 first-team All ACC selections and 26 All-Americans. Forty-two of his former Tigers were drafted by the NFL, and he earned 18 wins over Associated Press top 20 teams during his career, more than any other Clemson coach. Additionally, nine of his former players won Super Bowl Championship rings. At one stretch his teams were ranked in the AP top 20 for 41 consecutive polls, a Clemson record.

Ford was an All-SEC selection and was also an All-SEC Academic choice at Alabama. He attended Alabama initially on a basketball/football scholarship but played only football after his freshman year. He played in three bowl games for Alabama. He served as head coach at Arkansas from 1994-97.

KEN HATFIELD, 1990-93

Ken Hatfield led the Tigers to a 32-13-1 record over his four year tenure, led the squad to three bowl appearances and an ACC Championship. With a victory over Illinois in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl, Hatfield became the first Clemson coach to win 10 games in his first year and his .833 winning percentage was the best for a first-year Clemson coach since 1900, when John Heisman was 6-0. That season included six wins over teams with winning records, more than any other team that year with the exception of National Champion Georgia Tech.

Hatfield was also just the eighth coach in the previous 13 years to take a team to a Top 10 AP final ranking in his first year with the program, as the Tigers finished the season ranked ninth in the AP poll. The Helena, AR, native would also lead the 1991 and 1993 teams to top 25-rankings. Clemson became the third school that Hatfield had coached to a Top-20 ranking, as his 1983 Air Force team ranked 15th and he led four Arkansas teams to top-20 rankings. Only six coaches in NCAA history have accomplished that feat.

Arkansas won back-to-back conference championships in 1988 and 1989 under Hatfield's guidance. He was named the Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Decade by the Houston Post.

Hatfield played for three years at Arkansas (1962-64) and was a starter on the National Championship team of 1964. A defensive back, he earned his fame as the nation's top punt returner in 1963 and 1964. He still ranks as the only college football player ever to finish in the top two in the nation in punt returns three straight seasons, as he finished second nationally in 1962. He is now the head coach at Rice University.

TOMMY WEST, 1994-98

Tommy West's five-year resume as Clemson head coach included four bowl appearances, 12 road wins, 86 school records, and unparalleled academic excellence. West took Clemson to three straight bowl games between 1995-97, just the second Clemson coach in history to take the Tigers to bowl games in three straight seasons.

Academically, 61 Clemson football players made the ACC academic honor roll in his last four years, twice as many as the best previous four-year total in Clemson history. Each of the three highest single year totals took place under West's watch and the team had a 20-year team best cumulative GPA entering the 1998 season.

West took over the Clemson program on November 29, 1993 and less than a month later had a bowl victory on his ledger. The former Tennessee tight end, succeeded Ken Hatfield, who left the school four days after a victory over South Carolina to end the 1993 season.

It was West's second tour of duty with Clemson. He had been a linebackers coach under Danny Ford between 1982-89. Clemson was 69-20-4 and had six AP top 20 finishes in that eight-year era.

West coached the Tigers in the 1993 Peach Bowl, a thrilling 14-13 victory over Kentucky. He became the first coach in college history to gain victory in the bowl game in his first game without having coached the team in any capacity earlier in the season.

West's best season was 1995, as Clemson finished the regular season with five straight wins by 17 points or more, and was invited to the Gator Bowl to face Syracuse. Clemson was ranked in the top 25 of every poll at the end of the 1995 regular season. That Clemson team was fourth in the nation in rushing.

Clemson made strong runs at the end of the 1996 and 1997 seasons. The 1996 season was highlighted by a victory at 15th ranked Virginia, and the 1997 season featured a 47-21 triumph at South Carolina, Clemson's highest point total against the Gamecocks since 1900.

West recruited some of the top players in Clemson history. The school ranked in the top 10 in the nation in NFL draftees in the 1998 and 1999 selection process and all 11 players were recruited by West. The list included three first-round defensive picks (Trevor Pryce, Anthony Simmons and Antwan Edwards). Clemson was the only school in the nation to have six defensive players drafted in 1999 and the only school to have a first-round defensive choice in 1997, 1998 and 1999.

The list of talented players to play for Clemson under West includes career passing leader Nealon Greene, career rushing leader Raymond Priester, single season reception leader Tony Horne and three-time All-America linebacker Anthony Simmons. He also coached All-America offensive lineman Jim Bundren.

The native of Gainesville, GA finished his career with a 31-28 record, and had four wins over top 25 teams.

Jess Neely's last Clemson team won eight games in the regular season with just one loss to Tulane. The 8-1 Tigers were rewarded with an invitation to play Boston College in the fourth Cotton Bowl, but Clemson first had to get permission from the Southern Conference, which they immediately granted. The 1939 season not only resulted in Clemson's first bowl appearance, but also the Tigers' first first-team All-American, Banks McFadden.

On the last play of the first quarter, Bru Trexler punted to BC's Charlie O'Rourke, who fielded the punt on the Clemson 40 and returned it to the 13. Two running plays lost 10 yards, but on third down Frank Davis gained six. Alex Lukachik then kicked a 34-yard field goal to put the Eagles up, 3-0.

Clemson's scoring drive began when McFadden returned an Eagle punt to the 33. Charlie Timmons rushed for 15 yards in two plays, and two plays after that, McFadden hit Wister Jackson with a 16-yard pass to the Eagle 20. Timmons ran the final 20 yards in three carries, but Shad Bryant missed the extra point.

Later in the period, a 51-yard punt by McFadden started Boston College at its 20. The Eagles fumbled on first down and Clemson's George Fritts recovered at the 24. The Tigers could do nothing with the gift, however, as Joe Blalock fumbled after a short pass.

The game turned into a defensive struggle in the second half, although Boston College did penetrate deep into Clemson territory on two occasions. The Eagles took the opening kickoff to the Clemson 19, but a holding penalty and an incomplete pass ended the threat and BC was forced to punt.

Late in the game, the Eagles drove to the Clemson 11, but Bryant and McFadden each broke up two passes and Clemson took over on downs.

McFadden effectively bottled up the Eagles other than those drives with his punting. His 44-yard average on 11 kicks, including two boots for 51 and 55 yards in the second half, prevented Boston College from getting good field position, and the Clemson defense made the 6-3 score stand.

Clemson opened the 1948 season with a 53-0 shutout of Presbyterian in the Tigers' first-ever night home game and they closed the regular season with a 20-0 blanking of The Citadel in the first game played at the Bulldogs' Johnson Hagood Stadium. In between, the Tigers shut out three more opponents and beat five others on the way to a 10-0 record, a ninth-place ranking in the polls, and an invitation to play Missouri in the fourth Gator Bowl.

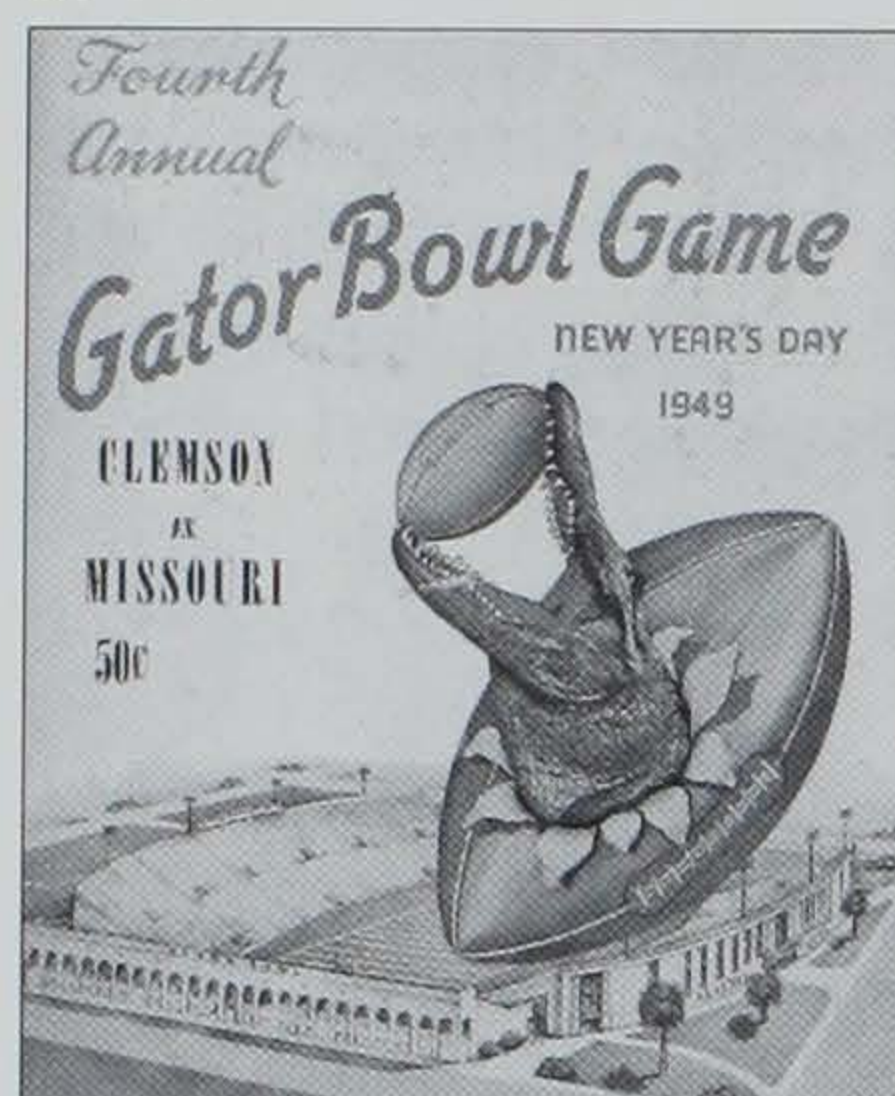

Clemson kicked off, but three plays later Missouri fumbled and Clemson's Bob Martin recovered at the 19. A pass interference call gave the Tigers the ball at the one, and Fred Cone scored from there. Jack Miller added the point after and Clemson led, 7-0.

Ray Mathews recovered a Missouri fumble later in the quarter to give Clemson the ball at its 35. Mathews took the next play for 26 yards and five plays later Bobby Gage passed to Martin for 19 more. Cone scored for the second time from the one, and Miller's conversion gave the Southern Conference champs a 14-0 lead.

After a kickoff, Missouri launched an 80-yard drive to score its first touchdown. Harold Entsminger capped the 13-play march with a quarterback sneak from the two. Robertson Dawson added the seventh point.

Gage was intercepted on the next Clemson drive and Wilbur Volz returned the theft to the Missouri 46. Missouri kept the ball on the ground and Entsminger carried over from the one for the score. Dawson added his second point after and the game was tied up at 14.

Clemson took the second-half kickoff and used up six minutes of clock on the way to its third touchdown. Gage ran and passed for 19 yards on two separate plays and the Tigers scored on a flea-flicker pass from Cone to Gage to John Poulos in the end zone. Miller completed the 80-yard drive with his third PAT.

A Missouri punt rolled dead at the Clemson one, and after an incomplete pass, Gage threw a pass that hit the ground in the end zone and was ruled a safety. Clemson's lead was then cut to 21-16.

Clemson then launched an 11-play surge to the Missouri 12. With fourth-and-10, Miller kicked a 32-yard field goal that would prove to be the winning points.

Dave Ashley returned the kickoff to the Missouri 40, and seven plays later, halfback Richard Braznell passed to Kenneth Bounds for a 20-yard touchdown. Dawson added the point to bring Missouri within one point with five minutes left. (Two-point conversions were not a part of the game yet). Clemson took the kickoff and ran out the clock to preserve the win.

Clemson's bid for a repeat of the 1948 perfect season ended when the Tigers had to rely on the toe of Charlie Radcliff to tie South Carolina after three season-opening shutouts. Clemson regrouped, however, with a 13-12 win at Wake Forest and then won the remaining four games by convincing margins. The Tigers' 8-0-1 mark and second-place finish in the Southern Conference earned them a bid to play Miami, who was also undefeated at 9-0-1, in the 17th Orange Bowl.

After a scoreless first quarter, Clemson got on track with a 45-yard pass from Billy Hair to Bob Hudson that put the Tigers at the Miami one. Fred Cone capped the 76-yard drive on third down with a sweep for the score and Radcliff tacked on the extra point.

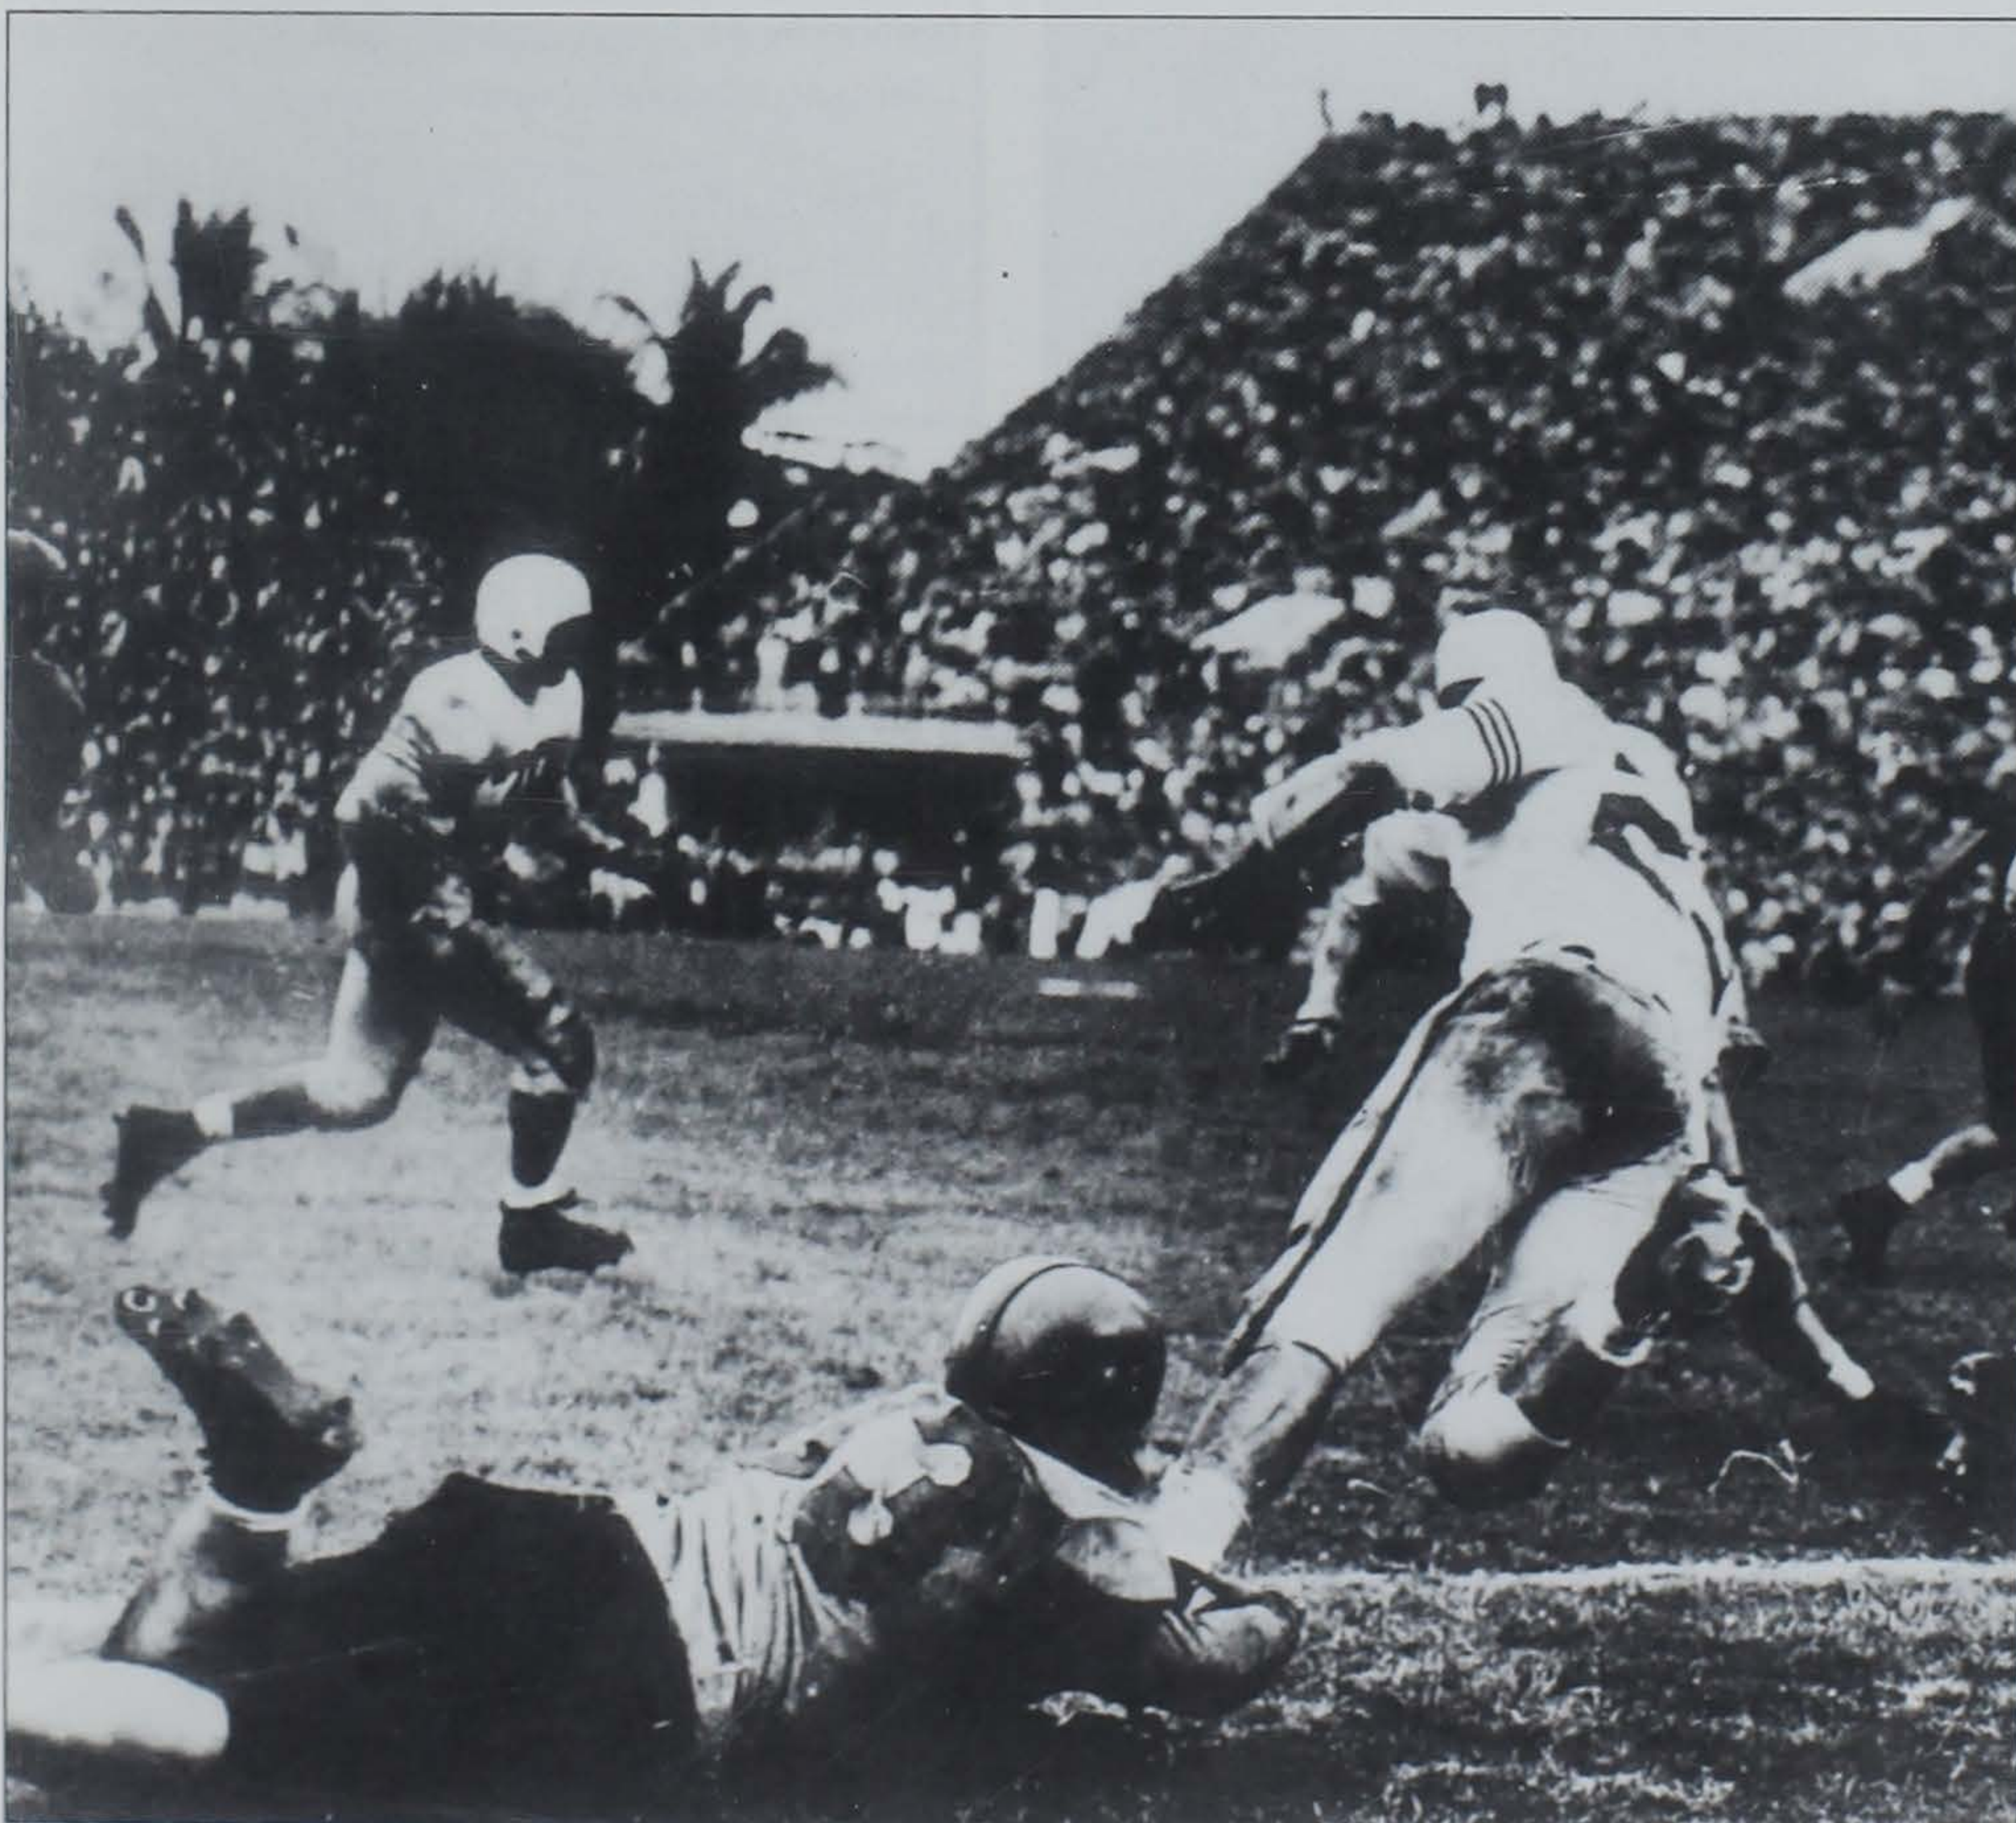

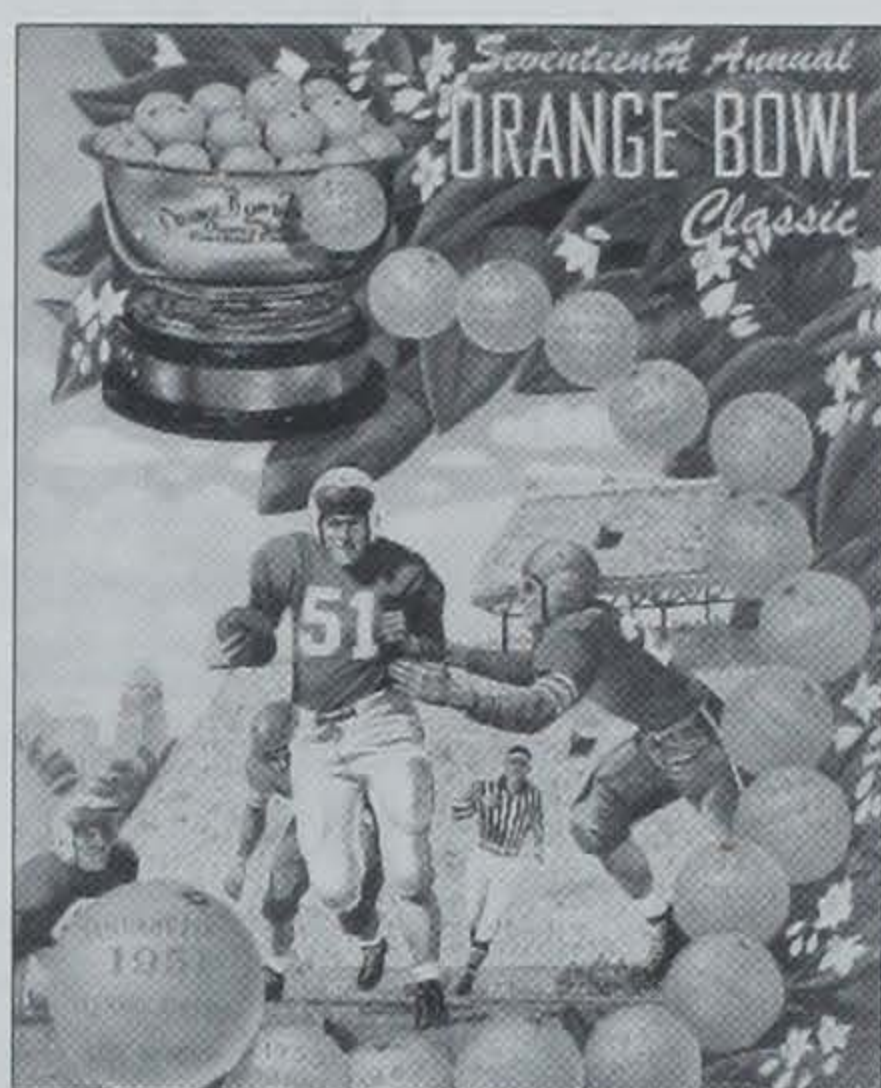

Clemson mounted a six-play, 70-yard drive in the third quarter. Hair threw a 31-yard pass to Ray Mathews, who, as the papers said, "made a circus catch with two men on his back," to move the Tigers to the Miami 28. Hair tossed a pass to Glenn Smith at the Miami seven and Smith scrambled in for the score. Radcliff's extra point try was blocked.

Miami caught fire two minutes later when Jack Delbello intercepted a pass in the Clemson end zone and returned it to the 40, and then a 10-yard penalty was assessed the Tigers for unnecessary roughness. On the next play, Frank Smith ran a reverse for 45 yards to move to the Clemson five. Harry Mallios took a pitch from quarterback Bob Schneidenbach in for the score and Gordon Watson added the conversion.

Miami went 95 yards in five plays for its second score. Ed Lutes caught a pass at midfield and rambled down to the Clemson 17 before he was stopped. On fourth down, Jack Hackett threw to Frank Smith for the score and Watson's point put Miami in the lead for the first time, 14-13.

Mallios' 80-yard punt return was called back and two clipping infractions and one unnecessary roughness penalty put Miami in a deep hole with six minutes left in the game. Frank Smith took a pitch-out from Hackett, but before Smith could get out of the end zone, Sterling Smith, a second-team defensive guard for Clemson, tripped him up for a safety, and Clemson led 15-14. Don Wade ended the last Miami threat with an interception, his second of the game, and Clemson ran out the clock for the win.

Clemson won the first three games of the 1951 season as well as the last four. In between, however, the Tigers dropped games to Pacific and South Carolina on the road. The Gator Bowl Committee invited Clemson with its 7-2 record to play Miami (FL) in a rematch of the 1951 Orange Bowl, but the Southern Conference had decided to ban its teams from any bowl competition that season. Clemson and Maryland accepted bowl bids anyway, and were prohibited from playing any other conference team except each other the next year.

The Tigers opened the game with a bang as Billy Hair took Elmer Tremont's kickoff and returned it 72 yards to the Miami 26, but Clemson could only make six yards in four downs and the Tigers turned the ball over.

After an exchange of punts, Miami mounted an 82-yard drive to score the game's first touchdown. The drive was highlighted by quarterback Jack Hackett's only two passes of the game - a 15-yarder to Frank McDonald and a 40-yard throw to Ed Lutes. Two plays later, fullback Harry Mallios took the pitch and ran 11 yards for the score. Tremont added the extra point and Miami led, 7-0.

Miami defensive back Jim Dooley intercepted the first of four passes to kill the Clemson drive at the Miami 15. Clemson got the ball back after a punt, but on fourth down, defensive end Leo Martin blocked Hair's punt at the Clemson 32. Mallios converted twice on fourth down to keep the drive going, and he scored from two yards out. Tremont converted again and Miami had all the points it needed.

The Clemson defense turned stingy in the second half, as the Tigers did not allow Miami to penetrate their 35 and the Hurricanes did not gain another first down. The Clemson offense moved well, but a fumble at the Miami 18 and three Dooley interceptions inside the 20 kept Clemson off the scoreboard as Miami handed the Tigers their first bowl loss in history.

Clemson claimed its first Atlantic Coast Conference championship in 1956 on the strength of a 4-0-1 league mark. The Tigers were 7-1-2 overall and were a surprise choice to participate in the 22nd Orange Bowl, as only three weeks before their selection, the Tigers had been shut out by Miami, 21-0, in the same stadium. Colorado, which was 7-

2-1 and the Big-Seven runnerup, was chosen as Clemson's opponent.

After a scoreless first quarter, Colorado got on track with a seven-play, 75-yard drive. The Buffaloes' catalyst was a 26-yard run by Bob Stransky that moved the ball to the Clemson 23. Four plays later, John "The Beast" Bayuk scored from the two. Ellwin Indorf added the point after.

Stransky intercepted an errant Charlie Bussey pass at the Clemson 46 and returned it to the 10 to spark Colorado's second score. Boyd Dowler, who later starred with the Packers, scored from six yards out two plays later. Howard Cook added the conversion and Colorado led 14-0.

Colorado's Frank Clarke partially blocked Horace Turbeville's punt on the next Clemson drive and the Buffaloes recovered on the Clemson 26. Cook then went wide right and scored on the next play, but he missed the extra point.

Clemson came out of the locker room and marched 69 yards in 15 plays to score on Joel Wells's three-yard run. Bussey's extra point try was good.

After a Colorado punt, Clemson moved to the 29 on Bob Spooner's two runs. Three plays later, Wells ran 58 yards on a counter trap off the belly series for the Tigers' second score. Bussey's point after made the score 20-14 Colorado.

Clemson recovered the ensuing onside kick, but the Tigers were forced to punt four plays later. Colorado then fumbled at its 11 and Tommy Sease recovered for the Tigers at the 10. Spooner, who had been the workhorse on the first scoring drive, carried the ball over from the one, and with Bussey's third extra point, Clemson led for the first time at 21-20, with 11:22 to go.

Although leading, Bussey attempted a second onside kick. Colorado recovered and marched 53 yards in eight plays to go ahead for good on Bayuk's one-yard plunge. Indorf kicked the extra point and the Buffaloes led, 27-21. The two teams traded turnovers, and Colorado ran out the clock.

Frank Howard's threatened resignation during intermission inspired Clemson's comeback in the second half.

"I told them I was going to resign if they didn't play better in the second half. I told them I didn't want to be associated with any team that played like they did in the first half."

When Howard met Dal Ward, Colorado's Head Coach, at midfield, Ward asked him what was the matter with his team. Howard replied "I just don't know."

Later Howard explained that the Tigers just refused to block in the first half, but in the second half they got down to business. He had words of praise for John Bayuk, Colorado's big fullback, and said he was as good as any fullback that Clemson had faced all year.

Bob Spooner scored an important fourth-quarter touchdown for the Tigers.

South Carolina, who had been shut out by Clemson the previous two years, scored 20 second half points to take a 26-6 win over Frank Howard's 1958 team. The only other blemish on the ACC Champions' 8-2 regular season record was a 13-0 loss at Georgia Tech. For their efforts, the Tigers were invited to play the nation's number-one team, Louisiana State, in the 25th Sugar Bowl.

LSU drove deep into Clemson territory three times in the first half, but two fumbles and a thwarted fake field goal killed the drives. Clemson could do no better, though, as none of its first six drives went past midfield.

Clemson moved to the LSU 27 on its first drive of the second half, but a fumble gave the ball back to the other set of Tigers.

On Clemson's next possession, however, LSU got the break it had been looking for. On fourth down, the ball slipped out of snapper Paul Snyder's hands and hit up-man Doug Cline in the leg and Duane Leopard recovered for LSU at the Clemson 11.

LSU picked up two yards on its first three tries, but on fourth down halfback Billy Cannon hit tight end Mickey Mangham in the corner of the end zone for the only score of the game. Cannon kicked the extra point and LSU led 7-0.

Clemson had one last chance late in the fourth quarter. The Tigers started at their 17 and 17 plays later were on the LSU 28, but Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was incomplete. LSU took over on downs and ran out the clock.

In his usual relaxed way, Coach Frank Howard of Clemson said he was pleased with his team.

"Hell! I think we'd have beat them if that boy had held onto that little screen pass," Howard said. "I was going for those two points and beat them."

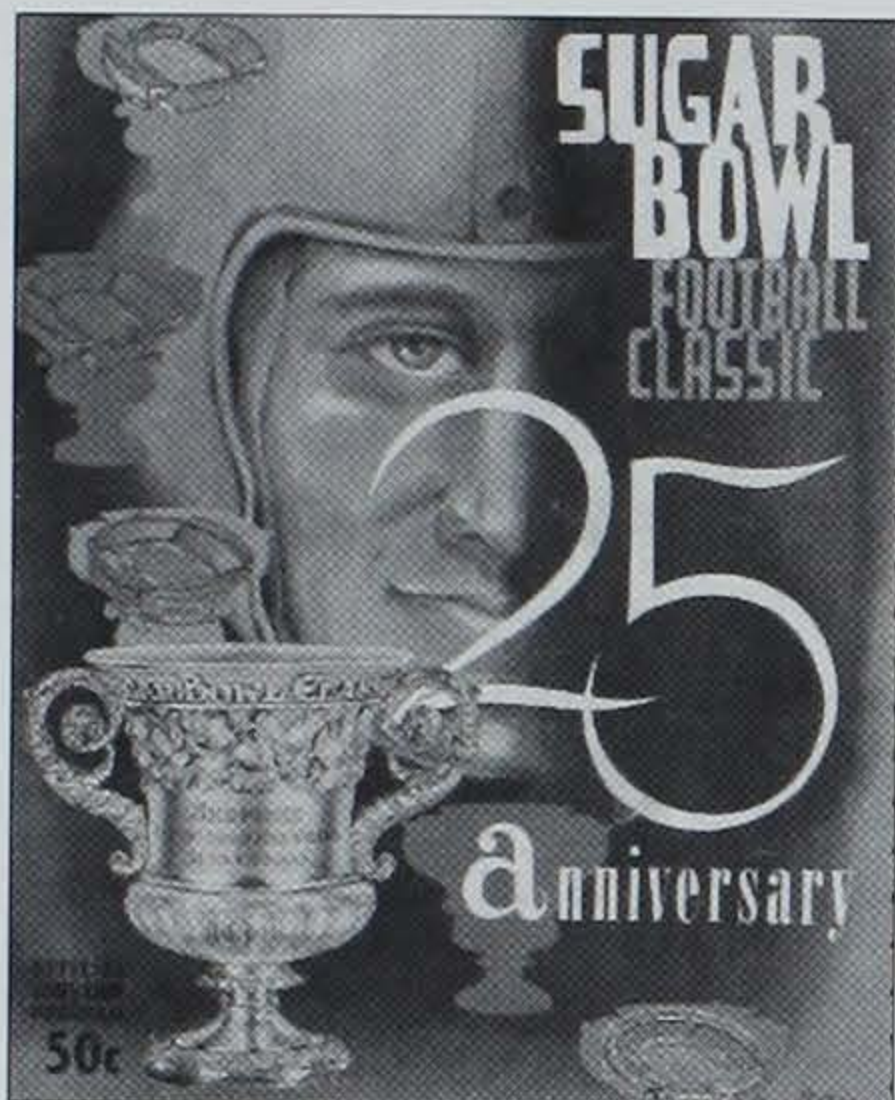

"I didn't think we would hold them to one touchdown, but I didn't think they would shut us out, either."

"LSU has a good team, they rate the No. 1 spot in the nation.

"Cannon is quite a boy. Deserves his All-American rating."

"It was a wonderful victory. They're just as fine when you win 'em, 7-0 as 30-0. I'm very happy that we won," said LSU Coach Paul Dietzel, who won the national championship at age 34.

"Clemson proved tougher than most people figured. But we knew we would have to play at our top peak to beat them. They were a good team."

The 1959 season was one of firsts, lasts, and other milestones. Clemson won the last "Big Thursday" game with archrival South Carolina, 27-0, one of five opponents the Tigers would whitewash, the second-highest shutout total in a Clemson season. The 9-2 team was Clemson's third ACC Championship unit, and Frank Howard's last bowl team. After the season-ending win over Furman, Clemson was invited to play Texas Christian in the inaugural Bluebonnet Bowl, which would be the Tigers' second post-season appearance in the calendar year of 1959. The 23-7 win over the Horned Frogs was Clemson's 300th football victory.

TIGER LEADERS

Lowndes Shingler was named the game's MVP for his all-around performance that included three rushes for 65 yards and 34 yards passing on 2-4 attempts. He had 51 yards in total offense over the last 12 minutes of the game and directed the Tigers to two scores.

Harvey White and Gary Barnes connected on the key play of the game, a 68-yard scoring pass with 10:22 to go that gave Clemson the lead for good in the fourth period.

Alternate quarterback Lowndes Shingler guided Clemson on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the TCU five, but the Tigers stalled. Lon Armstrong hit on a 22-yard field goal as the second quarter started, to put Clemson up, 3-0.

Not to be outdone, TCU second-stringer Donald George moved his team on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the Clemson end zone. The Horned Frogs scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 19-yard halfback pass from Jack Reding to Harry Moreland.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but Clemson did drive to the TCU 29 midway through the period. Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was just one yard short of the needed first down and TCU took over.

Clemson got pass-happy in the final 15 minutes and scored two touchdowns for a comfortable lead. With a third-and-18 situation at the Clemson 32, White threw to end Gary Barnes who caught the ball at midfield and sprinted in for a score. After an interception, Shingler threw to Tommy King coming

Clemson resurfaced in the national spotlight in 1977 after winning eight games and making its first bowl appearance in 18 years. First-year coach Charley Pell guided his team to a 7-6 win at Georgia, a near-upset of eventual National Champion Notre Dame at home, and had come within an extra point of claiming the ACC Championship. After Jerry Butler's twisting, diving catch in the end zone beat South Carolina, Clemson accepted the invitation to play defending National Champion Pittsburgh in the 33rd annual Gator Bowl.

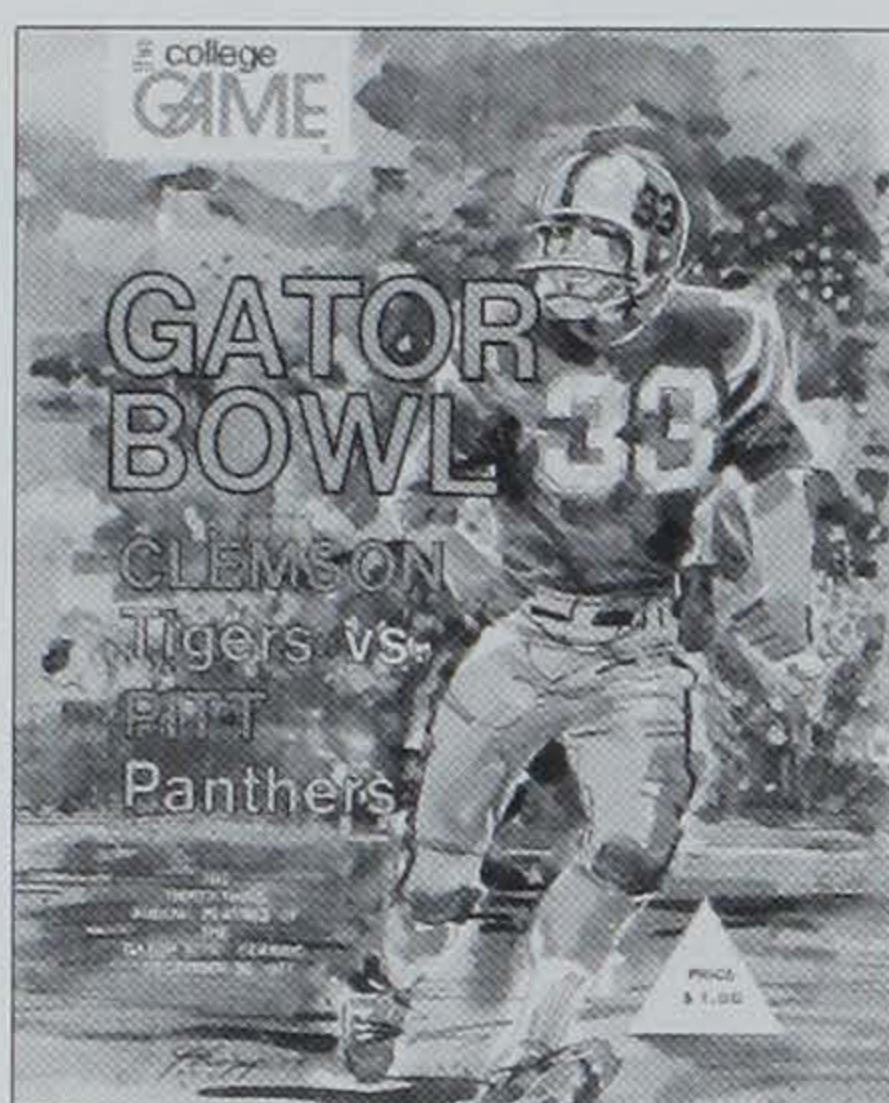

Clemson won the opening coin toss, but that was to be the only thing the Tigers would win that night as the Matt Cavanaugh-led Panthers scored six of the 12 times they had the ball, set seven Gator Bowl records, and handed the Tigers one of their 25 worst defeats in history with a 34-3 score.

Cavanaugh threw four touchdown passes (three to fullback Elliott Walker), passed for a Clemson opponent record 387 yards and accounted for 402 yards in total offense. Pitt set a Gator Bowl team record for passing yards and first downs, while Cavanaugh set the individual mark for passing yardage. If that was not enough, the Pitt defense stymied the Clemson offense all night by keeping Steve Fuller & Company bottled up or causing turnovers when the Tigers' offense did get on track.

Pitt was leading 17-0 when the Tigers began their only scoring drive early in the second quarter. Fuller mixed passes to Anthony King and Butler with runs by Ken Callicutt to move to the Pitt 32. The drive bogged down and Obed Ariri hit on a 49-yard field goal which set the Gator Bowl record for distance.

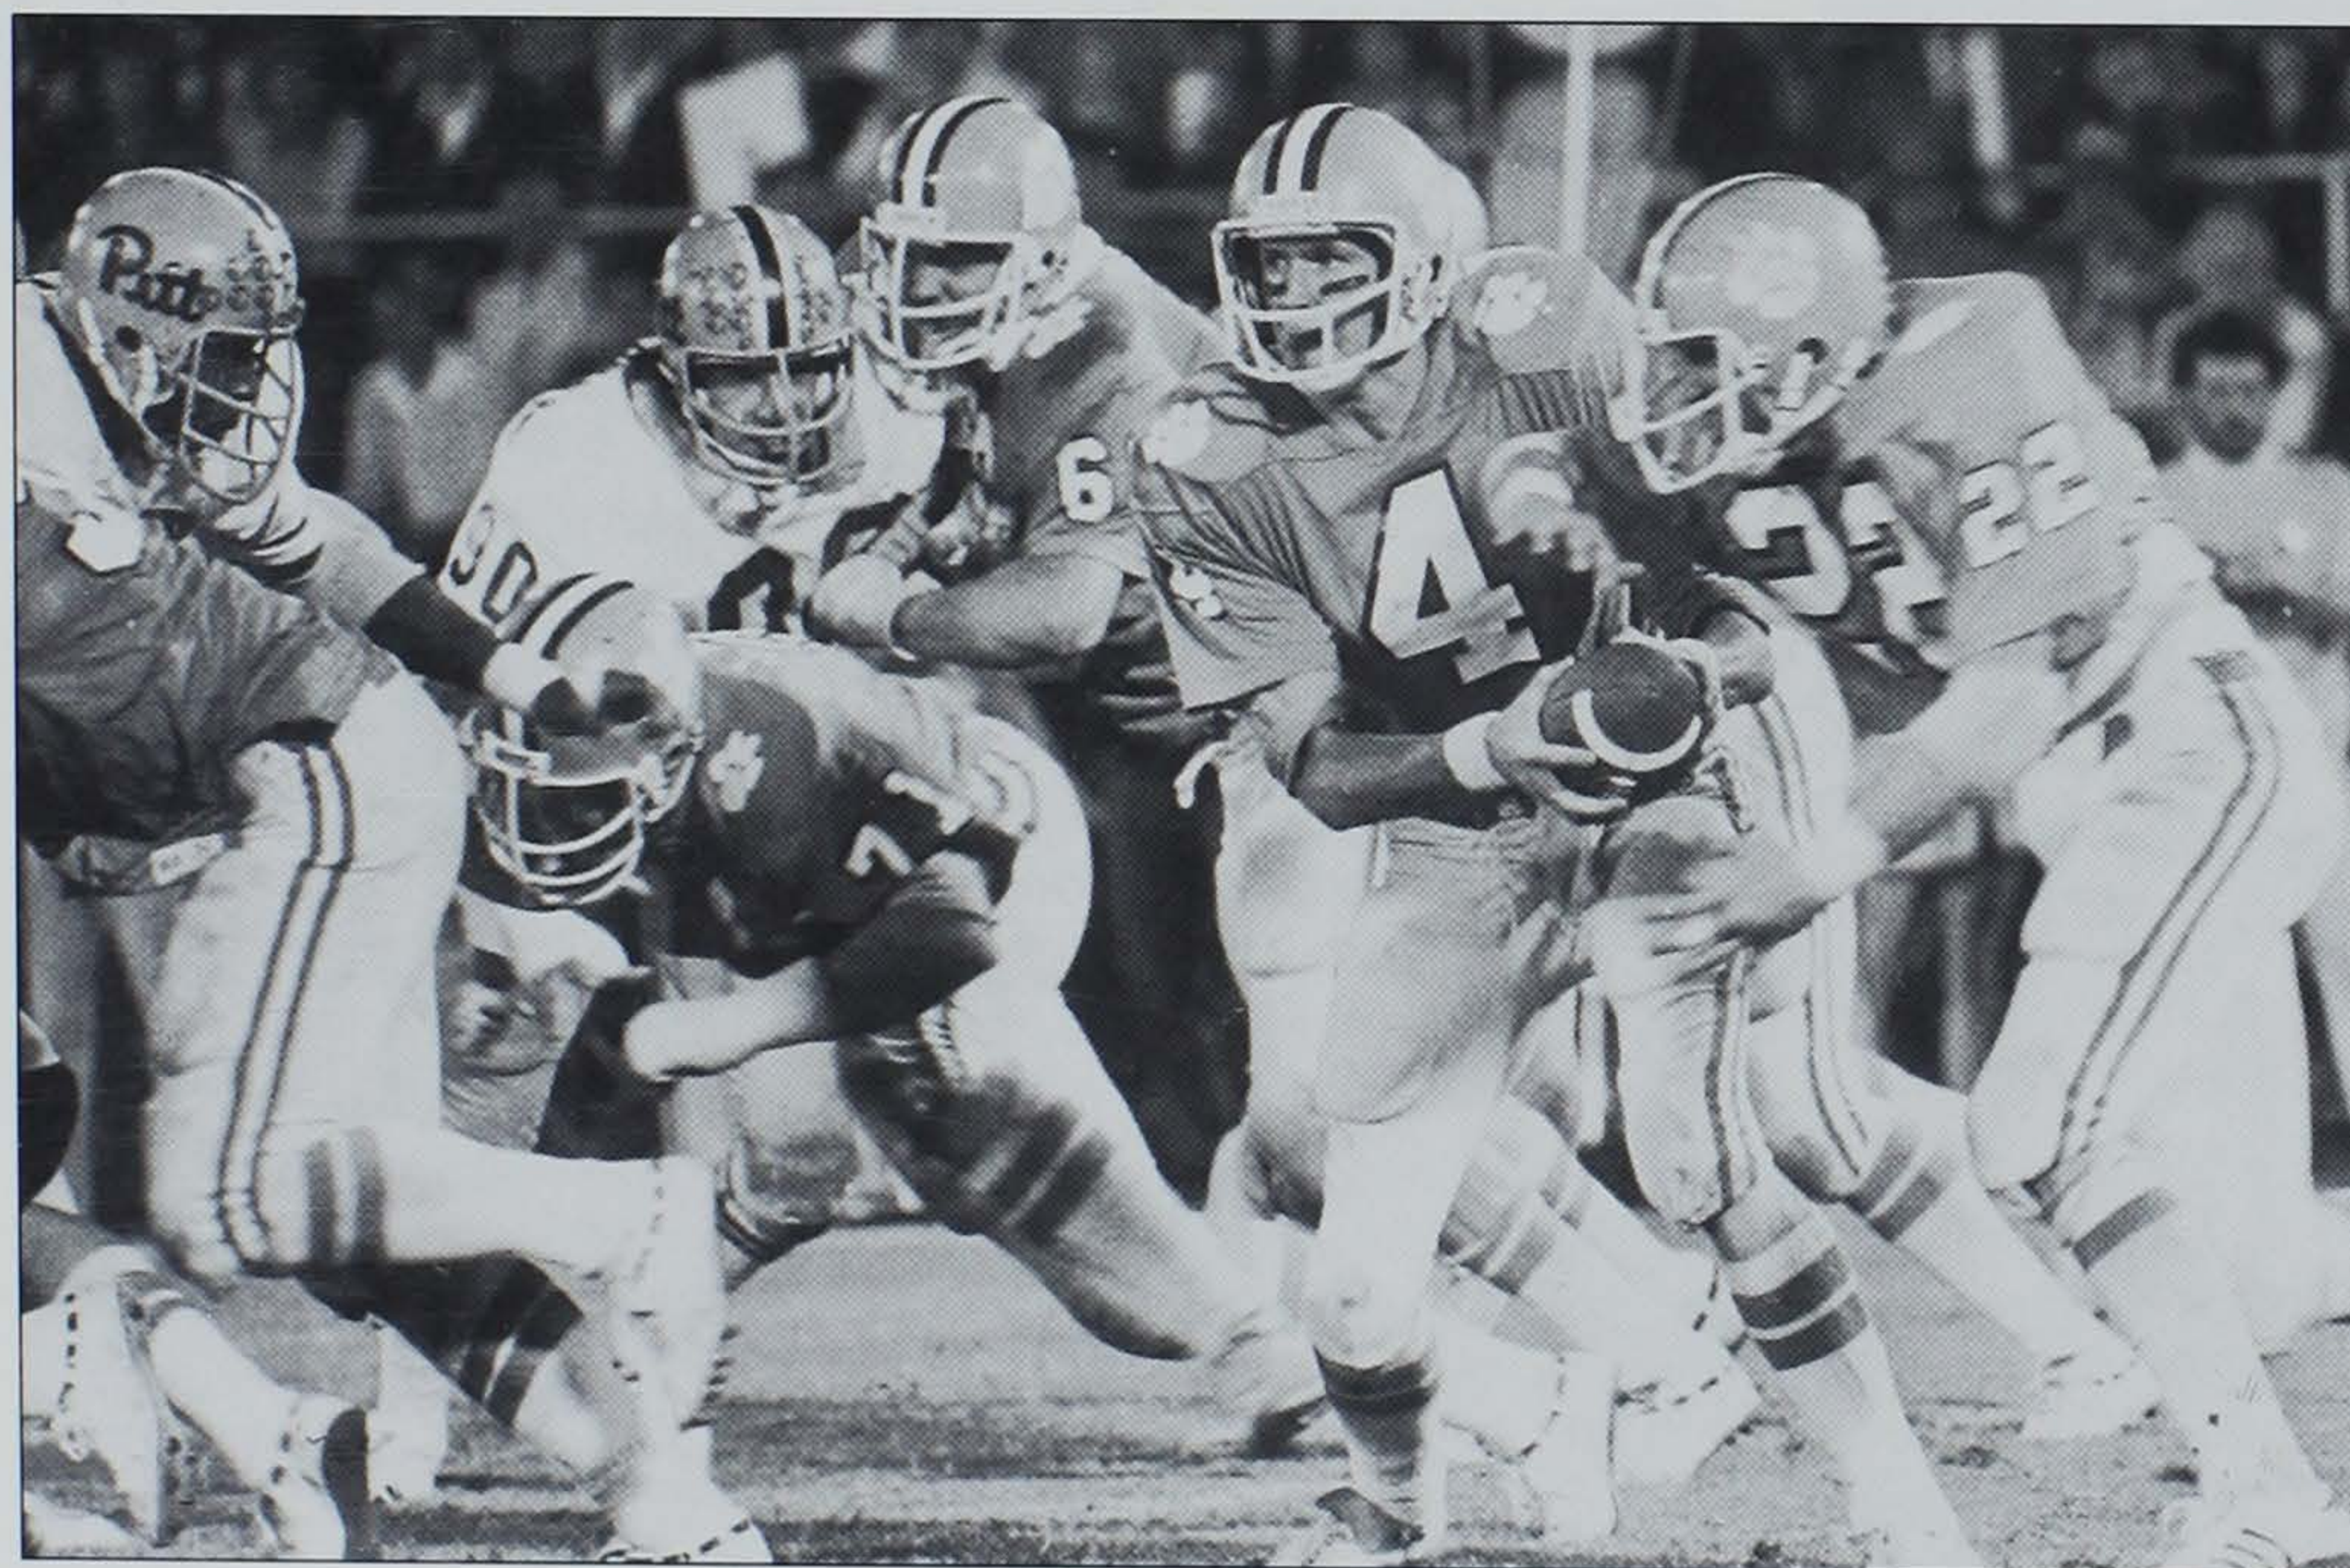

Although the Tigers were outclassed by Pittsburgh, the 1977 appearance in the Gator Bowl was the start of a new era of football pride for Clemson.

TIGER LEADERS

Jerry Butler was named Clemson's MVP by the media for his four receptions for 64 yards. He was the brightest spot for the Clemson offense, which gained 268 yards on the day, 158 passing.

Mark Heniford was a standout on defense for the Tigers with 13 tackles in his final game as a Tiger and it gave him 114 for the season, still a Clemson record for a defensive lineman.

Steve Fuller's 192 yards of total offense were not enough against defending National Champion Pittsburgh.

Ohio State 15

The Clemson team of 1978 was notable for many reasons, and not the least of which was a 17-15 victory over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. The '78 team won 11 games (eight by convincing margins), had the nation's longest winning streak after the bowl game, changed head coaches 19 days before the Gator Bowl, and ended the coaching career of Woody Hayes.

The first quarter of new Clemson coach Danny Ford's first game was scoreless, although Ohio State had been stopped at the Clemson one-yard line on a fourth-down play.

The second quarter was unusual in that there were four possessions in the stanza and each team scored twice. Ohio State drove to the Clemson nine on the passing of Art Schlichter, but the Buckeyes had to settle for Bob Atha's 27-yard field goal.

Clemson quarterback Steve Fuller engineered an impressive 80-yard, 15-play drive after the kickoff. Staying mostly on the ground, Fuller himself ran around left end from four yards out to give Clemson the lead. Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-3.

Schlichter duplicated Fuller's feat nine plays later, but Clemson right end Steve Gibbs blocked Vlade Janakiewski's extra point try, leaving Ohio State in the lead, 9-7.

Clemson got the ball back with 1:15 remaining in the quarter and Fuller passed his way to the Buckeye 30. With only five seconds left, Ariri hit a 47-yard field goal that gave the Tigers a 10-9 lead at halftime.

Clemson scored the only points of the third quarter as the running combination of Fuller, Marvin Sims, and Warren Ratchford ground out 83 yards in 18 plays. Cliff Austin went the final yard for the score, and Ariri's conversion gave Clemson a 17-9 cushion.

With 8:11 left in the game, Schlichter scored his second touchdown to bring Ohio State within two points. Jim Stuckey tackled Schlichter on a sweep to prevent the two-

Bubba Brown had 22 tackles against Ohio State, still the second highest single game figure in Clemson history.

TIGER LEADERS

Steve Fuller was a coach on the field for the Tigers as he either passed or ran with the ball on 37 of Clemson's 80 plays. He gained 161 yards of total offense and scored one of Clemson's two touchdowns.

Charlie Bauman provided the key defensive play of the game with an interception at the Clemson 24 with just two minutes left. Ohio State never got the ball back. It was the only interception of Bauman's four-year career.

point play, and Clemson still led at 17-15.

Ohio State mounted one final drive. Faced with third-and-five at the Clemson 24, an interception by second-team middle guard Charlie Bauman (the only theft of his four-year career) killed the drive. Bauman was run out-of-bounds on the Ohio State sideline, and Buckeye coach Woody Hayes swung at the Clemson player. Consecutive unsportsmanlike conduct penalties gave Clemson excellent field position, and Fuller was able to run out the clock, giving Clemson its first win over a Big Ten team.

Clemson made its third consecutive bowl appearance in 1979 after an 8-3 season. The year included a 19-10 win over Gator Bowl-bound North Carolina and a dramatic, come-from-behind 16-10 victory at Notre Dame. The 1979 season was also Danny Ford's first full campaign as head coach.

The Tigers got on the board first with an eight-play, 66-yard drive highlighted by Billy Lott's 27-yard pass to Lester Brown. Brown scored two plays later on a one-yard dive over the middle and Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-0 midway through the first period.

Baylor took the lead on two second-quarter touchdown passes from Mike Brannon to Bo Taylor and Robert Holt. Robert Bledsoe converted after both scores and the Southwest Conference representatives led 14-7 at intermission.

Clemson took the second half kickoff and a combination of runs by Lott, Brown, and Tracy Perry took the Tigers to the Baylor 22. The drive stalled there and Ariri's 40-yard field goal narrowed the margin to 14-10.

Quarterback Mickey Elam led Baylor on a 64-yard field goal drive after the kickoff, and he later threw a seven-yard touchdown to Raymond Cockrell to push the Bears' lead to 24-10.

Mike Singletary (future All-Pro with the Chicago Bears), led the Baylor defense with 20 tackles. He was a major reason Clemson gained a season low 67 yards rushing in 51 attempts.

Andy Headen began Clemson's furious comeback with a blocked punt that was recovered by James Robinson at the Baylor one. Chuck McSwain scored with 20 seconds left in the game and Lott passed to Jeff McCall for the two-point conversion. Headen recovered the ensuing onside kick, and Lott completed a 30-yard pass to Perry Tuttle to move the Tigers to the Baylor 33. An interception killed the winning touchdown drive, however, and Baylor ran out the remaining seconds for the win.

Lester Brown scored the game's first touchdown, his 32nd as a Tiger, eclipsing Fred Cone's career record of 31.

CLEMSON 22

After 86 years of playing football, Clemson claimed its first National Championship with a 22-15 win over perennial Big Eight power Nebraska in the 48th Orange Bowl. After a 13-3 win over 1980 National Champion Georgia at home, the Tigers worked their way to the number-one ranking in both wire service polls by season's end. The win over the Cornhuskers gave Clemson the national title and its third perfect season in history.

Nebraska took the kickoff, but three plays later, Tiger middle guard William Devane recovered a Mark

Mauer fumble at the Nebraska 33. Quarterback Homer Jordan drove Clemson to the Nebraska 24 before the drive stalled, and Donald Igwebuike drilled a 41-yard field goal to put the ACC Champions up, 3-0.

Nebraska came right back, however, as the Big Eight title holder drove 69 yards in eight plays to score on a 25-yard halfback pass from Mike Rozier to Anthony Steels. Kevin Seibel's extra point gave Nebraska the lead at 7-3 with 6:43 to go in the first quarter.

After an exchange of punts, the Clemson offense moved from the Nebraska 42 to the 21 to set up Igwebuike's second field goal. The 37-yard boot narrowed the score to 7-6.

A second-quarter Phil Bates fumble gave Clemson the ball at the Nebraska 27, and the running combination of Jordan, Kevin Mack, and Cliff Austin moved the ball to the Cornhusker two. Austin, who had been stuck in the hotel elevator for two hours earlier in the day, scampered in for the score that gave Clemson a lead it would not relinquish.

On its second possession of the second half, Clemson drove 75 yards in 12 plays to score its final touchdown of the night, a 13-yard pass from Jordan to All-American receiver Perry Tuttle in the corner of the end zone. For Tuttle, it was his eighth touchdown grab of the season, which set a school record. Bob Paulling's extra point put the Tigers ahead, 19-7.

TIGER LEADERS

Jeff Davis won defensive MVP honors for his 14 tackles and one fumble recovery. He was a major reason a Nebraska offense that featured future Heisman Award winner Mike Rozier and future NFL All-Pro Roger Craig, gained just 256 yards of total offense.

Homer Jordan won offensive MVP honors as he threw for 134 yards and was Clemson's second leading rusher with 46 yards. His running on Clemson's last possession allowed the Tigers to ice the game.

After Billy Davis's 47-yard punt return, Jordan moved the Tigers to the Nebraska 20, where Igwebuike kicked a 36-yard field goal, his third of the evening, to put Clemson ahead 22-7 with two-and-a-half minutes left in the third stanza.

Nebraska was down but not out, though. After a near-interception by Johnny Rembert, Mauer engineered an eight-play, 69-yard drive that was capped by a 26-yard run by Roger Craig. After a penalty, Craig ran in the two-point conversion from eight yards out to close the gap to 22-15 with nine minutes to play.

The Clemson defense shut down the Big Red on their final extended drive, then the offense held on to the ball for nearly five-and-a-half minutes to run down the clock to six seconds. Andy Headen deflected Mauer's desperation pass to preserve the win and the championship for Clemson.

Clemson met a Big 10 school for only the second time in history when it faced Minnesota in the Independence Bowl. It was an interesting matchup of teams that enjoyed moving the ball on the ground, as both clubs gained over 200 rushing yards in the contest. The team with the higher rushing total prevailed, a fact that was easily predictable, as the Gophers churned out 257 yards rushing in a 20-13 Minnesota win.

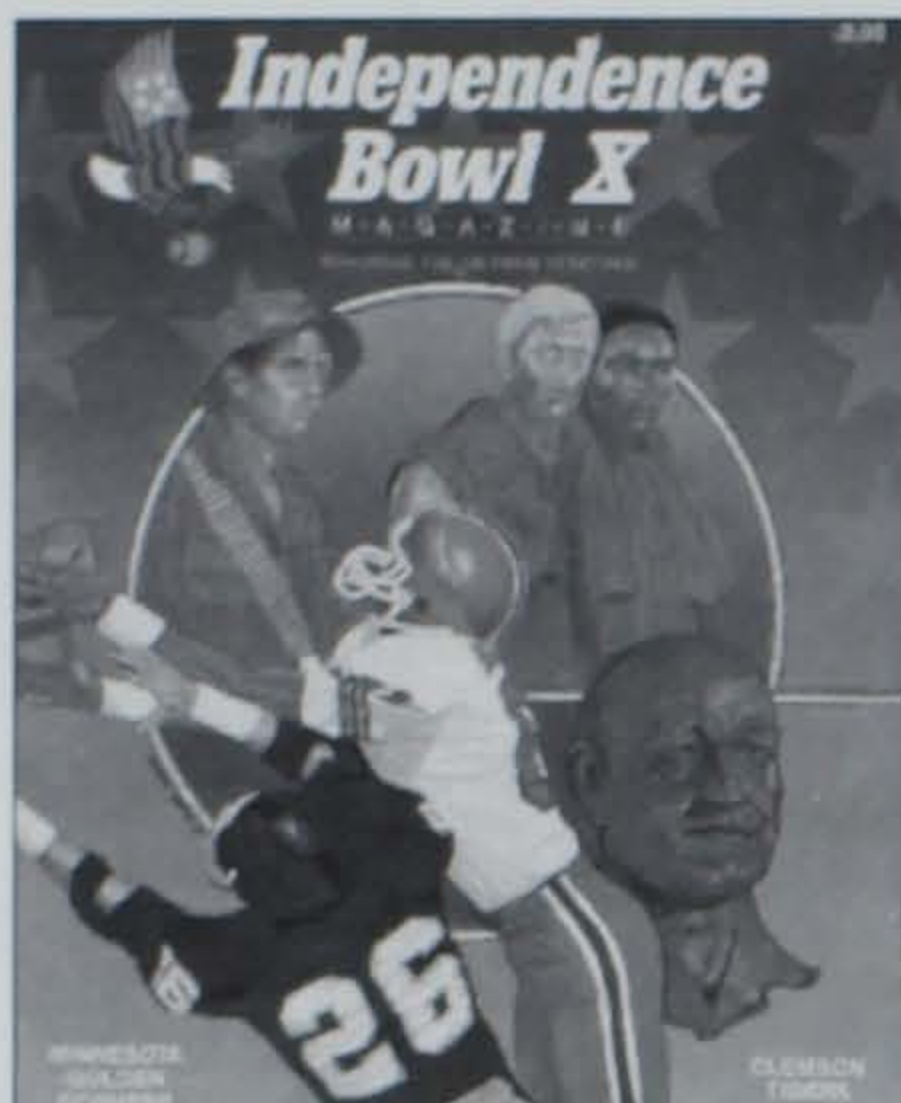

Clemson held a 13-10 lead heading into the fourth quarter, but for the fifth time in the last 13 games the Tigers could not hold the fourth-period lead. Valdez Baylor scored on a one-yard run with 4:56 left to give Minnesota a final ledger of 7-5. Clemson mounted a final drive in the last few minutes and advanced to the Minnesota 31, but a fourth-down pass for Ray Williams was overthrown.

Kenny Flowers had another outstanding day for the Tigers with a career high 148 yards, including a 32-yard run. It was his seventh 100-yard day of the year, his sixth century game in the last seven contests. Ray Williams caught five passes for 58 yards, while Terrance Roulhac had 63 yards in receptions and 90 yards in kickoff returns.

Another wide receiver, Keith Jennings, scored Clemson's only touchdown when he caught a three-yard pass from Stacey Driver in the third period.

Henry Walls led Clemson defensively with 13 tackles, while A.J. Johnson was outstanding in the secondary with seven stops. Dwayne Meadows established a career high with 13 stops from his defensive line position.

TIGER LEADERS

Kenny Flowers rushed for a career high 148 yards, his fifth straight 100-yard game, to key the Clemson offense that gained 211 yards on the ground.

Dwayne Meadows had 13 tackles and a quarterback sack to key the Clemson defensive line that allowed just a pair of Minnesota touchdowns.

Freshman Rodney Williams had 171 yards of total offense in the 1985 Independence Bowl.

Stanford 21

Christmas came two days late for the Tigers as they won their first bowl since the 1982 Orange Bowl. After a brilliant first half display of offense and defense, Clemson managed to hold off a second-half Stanford rally and go on to defeat the 17th-ranked Cardinal, 27-21. Before a Gator Bowl crowd of 80,104, the Tigers scored 27 unanswered points in the first half and appeared to be on the way to a rout. But the second half was a different ball game as Stanford came out strong and put up 21 unanswered points of its own.

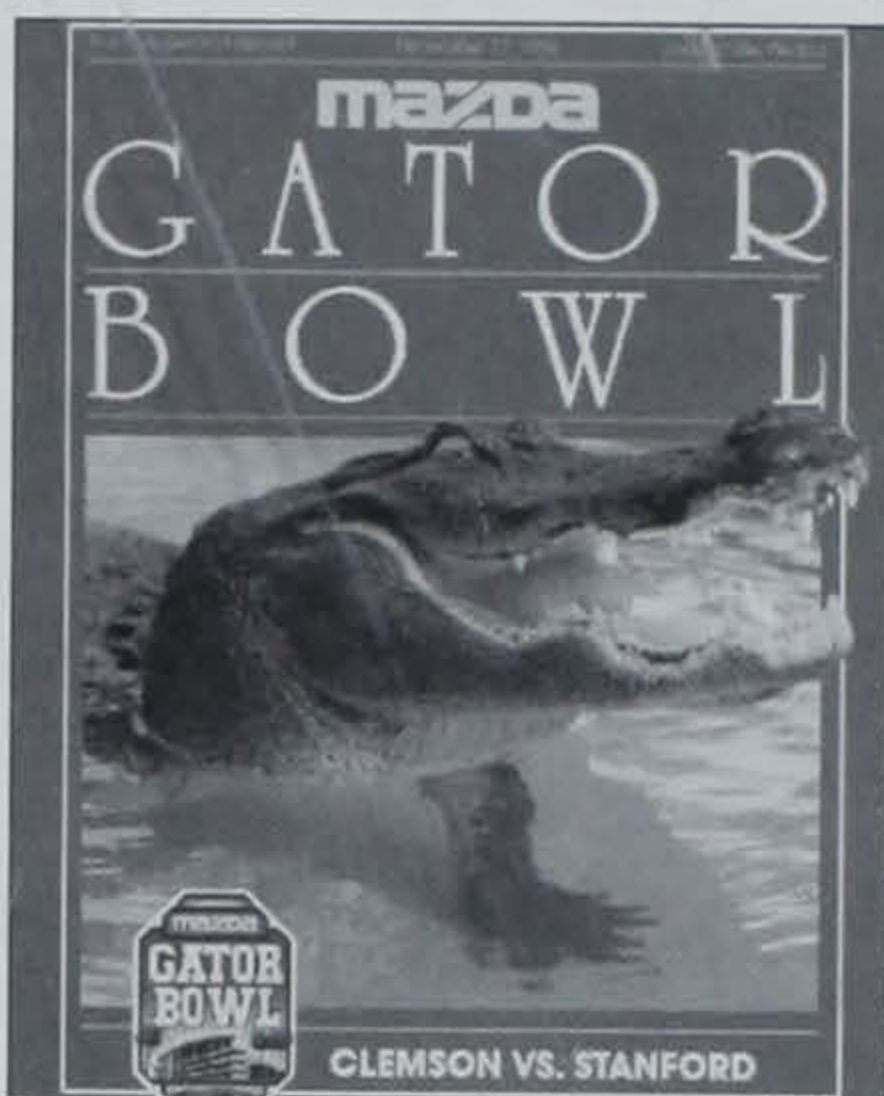

Gator Bowl MVP Rodney Williams completed 8 of 11 passes in the first half for the Tigers, but it was his execution of the option that helped Clemson gain a 27-0 half-time lead. After punting on their first possession, the Tigers scored on their next five. With the score 17-0 in the second quarter, Reggie Harris knocked the ball loose on a Stanford kickoff return and the Tigers recovered on Stanford's 16-yard line. Two plays later, Ray Williams took a reverse in for a 14 yard touchdown, his first of the season. David Treadwell added his longest field goal of the year (46) on Clemson's next possession, putting the Tigers up 27-0 at the intermission.

But the Cardinal came back from halftime a different team. Kodak All-American tailback Brad Muster rushed for a touchdown and caught two scoring passes while the Clemson offense came to a standstill. With 1:43 left to play in the game Clemson was forced to punt to the Cardinal with only a touchdown's lead. But the Tiger defense rose to the occasion, as Stanford gained only six yards on the next four downs. The offense fell on the ball to run the clock out and the Tigers emerged victorious.

Tailbacks Terrence Flagler and Kenny Flowers combined for 149 yards. Sophomore Ricardo Hooper led the receiving corps with two catches for 44 yards. Terrance Roulhac and Flagler each had three catches with 22 and 23 yards, respectively. Rodney Williams rushed 16 times for 18 yards and one touchdown.

Defensively, the Tigers were led by linebacker Henry Carter who recorded a career high 13 tackles. Gene Beasley added seven tackles and broke up two passes. The game also marked Michael Dean Perry's offensive debut, as he was put in as a blocking back on a goal-line situation in the first half.

Chris Lancaster scored the first of three first half touchdowns for the Tigers.

Penn State 10

Everything went the Tigers way in sunny Florida as Clemson soundly defeated Joe Paterno's Penn State team, 35-10. Rodney Williams was selected the Citrus Bowl's Most Valuable Player as he led the Tigers in a brilliant air attack that took the Nittany Lions by complete surprise, and complemented it with a solid ground game.

The win was Danny Ford's fourth bowl victory in only nine seasons as Clemson's head coach. It also marked Rodney Williams' second bowl victory in his three-year playing career at Clemson and the second consecutive year that he was named the MVP of a postseason bowl. In 1986, Williams won the honor as the Tigers defeated Stanford in the Gator Bowl.

Williams, who was also named the Offensive Player-of-the-Game, completed 14 of 24 passes for 214 yards. His primary target was wide receiver Keith Jennings who hauled in seven passes for 110 yards, his best career performance. Gary Cooper also had four receptions for 56 yards against Penn State.

The Tigers rushed for 285 yards against Penn State. Terry Allen was the leading rusher with 105 yards and one touchdown. Fullback Tracy Johnson ran for 88 yards and three touchdowns. Joe Henderson added 54 yards and another touchdown.

Defensively, Clemson was led by cornerback James Lott's eight tackles. Safety Richard Smith also had seven tackles and one pass broken up. Strong safety Gene Beasley and linebacker Doug Brewster both had six tackles. Linebacker Dorian Marable was selected the Citrus Bowl's Defensive Player-of-the-Game with his five tackles, including one for a loss. He also intercepted a pass in the endzone and returned it 46 yards in the third quarter.

TIGER LEADERS

For the second straight year, Rodney Williams was named the MVP of a bowl game. Against Joe Paterno's Penn State team, Williams connected on 15-24 passes for 214 yards. His passing was a key reason Clemson had nearly 500 yards total offense.

Dorian Marable won defensive MVP honors. The sophomore had five tackles, a tackle-for-loss, and a 46-yard interception return from the Clemson endzone that broke the spirit of the Nittany Lions.

Tracy Johnson scored a Clemson bowl record three touchdowns against Penn State. The 35-10 win remains the largest victory margin in a bowl game against a Joe Paterno coached team.

The Tigers rang in the New Year in fine fashion with a 13-6 victory over the Oklahoma Sooners, moving into the top-10 of the final AP poll for the first time since 1982 with a ninth-place ranking.

The victory also gave Danny Ford a victory over the winningest active coach in Division I, Barry Switzer. Ford defeated the top-three winningest active coaches this decade with wins over Switzer, Tom Osborne of Nebraska and Joe Paterno of Penn State.

Although the Tigers faced a wishbone offense for the first time since Ford became head coach, the Clemson defense came through with flying colors, holding the Sooners to only 116 yards, and zero touchdowns.

The first five series of the first quarter ended in punts for both teams. Late in the period, the Sooners drove down to the Clemson one-yardline, and the Tigers defense faced a first-and-goal situation. Outside linebacker Levon Kirkland stopped the ballcarrier for no gain on first down. On second down Jesse Hatcher sacked Jamelle Holieway at the 19. After an incomplete pass, the Sooners were forced to settle on a field goal and moved up 3-0.

Doug Brewster intercepted a Holieway pass early in the second quarter to set up the Tigers' first score, a 20-yard field goal by Chris Gardocki. With time running out in the first half, Gardocki put the Tigers up with another kick, this time a 46-yarder.

A Clemson fumble in the third quarter gave the Sooners the opportunity to take the lead, but the Clemson defense held and R.D. Lashar hit again from 30 yards. The Tigers responded on the next series, driving 80 yards in 15 plays for the game's only touchdown, as Terry Allen scored on a four-yard run. Allen, the game's Most Valuable Player, rushed for 25 yards and caught two passes for 17 yards on the drive.

Defensive MVP Jesse Hatcher caused and recovered a fumble on the Sooners' next drive, but the Sooners would have one more opportunity to score before the final horn sounded. After the Tigers punted, Oklahoma drove from its own 20 to the Clemson 14, as Holieway put the Tiger secondary to Terry Allen was the offensive MVP with 53 yards rushing and a career-high 47 yards receiving for 100 all-purpose yards in this defensive struggle. His four-yard touchdown run proved to be the game winner.

Jesse Hatcher was the defensive player of the game. He had nine tackles, a sack, two pass deflections and four quarterback pressures including one on the last play of the game that led to a thrilling pass deflection by Dexter Davis.

Donnell Woolford's work as a "monster man" on the Clemson defense was a key to Clemson holding the Sooners out of the endzone.

the test by putting the ball in the air. On the last play of the game, freshman Dexter Davis knocked down a pass in the endzone to seal the Tiger victory.

Terry Allen was named the Citrus Bowl MVP for his performance. Allen rushed for only 53 yards, his season low, but scored the game's only touchdown and caught four passes to lead all Clemson receivers. Bandit end Jesse Hatcher was named Defensive MVP for what was his best career performance as he racked up nine tackles, had two tackles for a loss of 33 yards, including an 18-yard sack, broke up two passes, caused and recovered a fumble, and had four quarterback pressures.

West Virginia 7

The Tigers closed out the 1989 season with a stylish victory over West Virginia and Heisman Trophy finalist Major Harris, as a dominant Clemson defense held the high-powered Mountaineer offense to only 237 yards in total offense. The win gave Clemson's senior class the ACC record for victories as they became the first class in conference history to record 38 wins and the first Clemson team ever to win four straight bowl games.

WVU quarterback Major Harris came into the game ranked eighth nationally in total offense and ninth in passing efficiency but the Clemson defense, led by outside linebacker Levon Kirkland, enabled the shifty Harris to gain only 17 yards on the ground and 119 yards in the air on an 11-21 passing effort. Kirkland was named MVP for his efforts, as he had nine tackles, a five-yard sack, caused a key fumble, broke up a Mountaineer pass, and recorded three quarterback pressures.

The fourth quarter was all Clemson, as the Tigers moved the ball 47 yards on the ground to set up a four-yard Joe Henderson touchdown. Vince Taylor recovered a second Harris fumble and after a Clemson punt, freshman defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, the ACC sack leader, knocked the ball loose from Harris once again and fell on it in the endzone for a Tiger touchdown, upping the score to 24-7 in favor of Clemson. As the final seconds ticked off the clock, DeChane Cameron came in at quarterback for the Tigers and hit Rodney Fletcher over the middle for a 34-yard gain to set up a 24-yard Chris Gardocki field goal, putting the final score at 27-7.

Senior tailback Joe Henderson led the Tigers in rushing with 92 yards on 22 carries and one touchdown, while Chris Morocco, who was shaken up late in the game, gained 65 yards on 11 carries. Rodney Fletcher was the leading receiver as he pulled down three catches for 66 yards.

Chris Gardocki kept the Tigers in excellent field position as he posted a 46-yard average on four punts, including a long kick of 63 yards. Defensively, inside linebacker Doug Brewster led the team in tackles with 10, followed by Kirkland's nine and strong safety Arlington Nunn and inside linebacker Ed McDaniel, who had seven stops each.

TIGER LEADERS

Chris Morocco was his normal efficient self at quarterback, hitting 5-9 passes for 57 yards and rushing for 65 yards in 11 attempts. He left the final drive of the game with a concussion. Clemson gained 21 first downs and had just one turnover in the performance.

Sophomore Levon Kirkland had nine tackles, caused a fumble, registered a sack, and a pass deflection as he continually harassed Major Harris and the West Virginia defense. He was named the game's MVP.

Chester McGlockton's sack of Major Harris and fumble recovery for a touchdown iced Clemson's fourth straight bowl victory.

CLEMSON 30

After a separation of 22 years, two coaches found themselves once again on the same football field.

This time, however, they were on opposite sidelines. Ken Hatfield and John Mackovic, who had been graduate assistants together at Army in the 1960's, were reunited in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl.

The Clemson defense dominated the line by holding Illinois to 247 yards, 150 yards under their season average. The Clemson offense surprised the Illini defense with an unexpected aerial assault. Tiger quarterback and game MVP DeChane Cameron, who was less than a 50 percent passer in the regular season, completed 14 of 19 passes for a Hall of Fame Bowl record 73 percent.

Cameron's passing yardage totalled 141 yards and he completed TD passes to Doug Thomas and Howard Hall. It was the first TD reception for both players in their respective careers. Thomas caught five passes on the day for 57 yards, career highs for both categories for the senior in his last game as a Tiger.

Clemson took its opening possession 71 yards to the Illinois two where Chris Gardocki tapped in any easy three. After Illinois fumbled on its first offensive play of the game, Clemson scored a touchdown with a 14-yard pass from Cameron to Thomas. Clemson had not scored a passing touchdown in any of its four previous bowl victories.

In the second quarter, the Tigers would score two more touchdowns. The first was the result of a 17-yard Cameron pass to fullback Howard Hall. It was just the third TD pass to a Clemson fullback in the last 18 years. Clemson then put the contest out of reach just three plays later when Arlington Nunn scored on a 34-yard interception return. It was the senior's third TD on an interception return in 1990, a Clemson record.

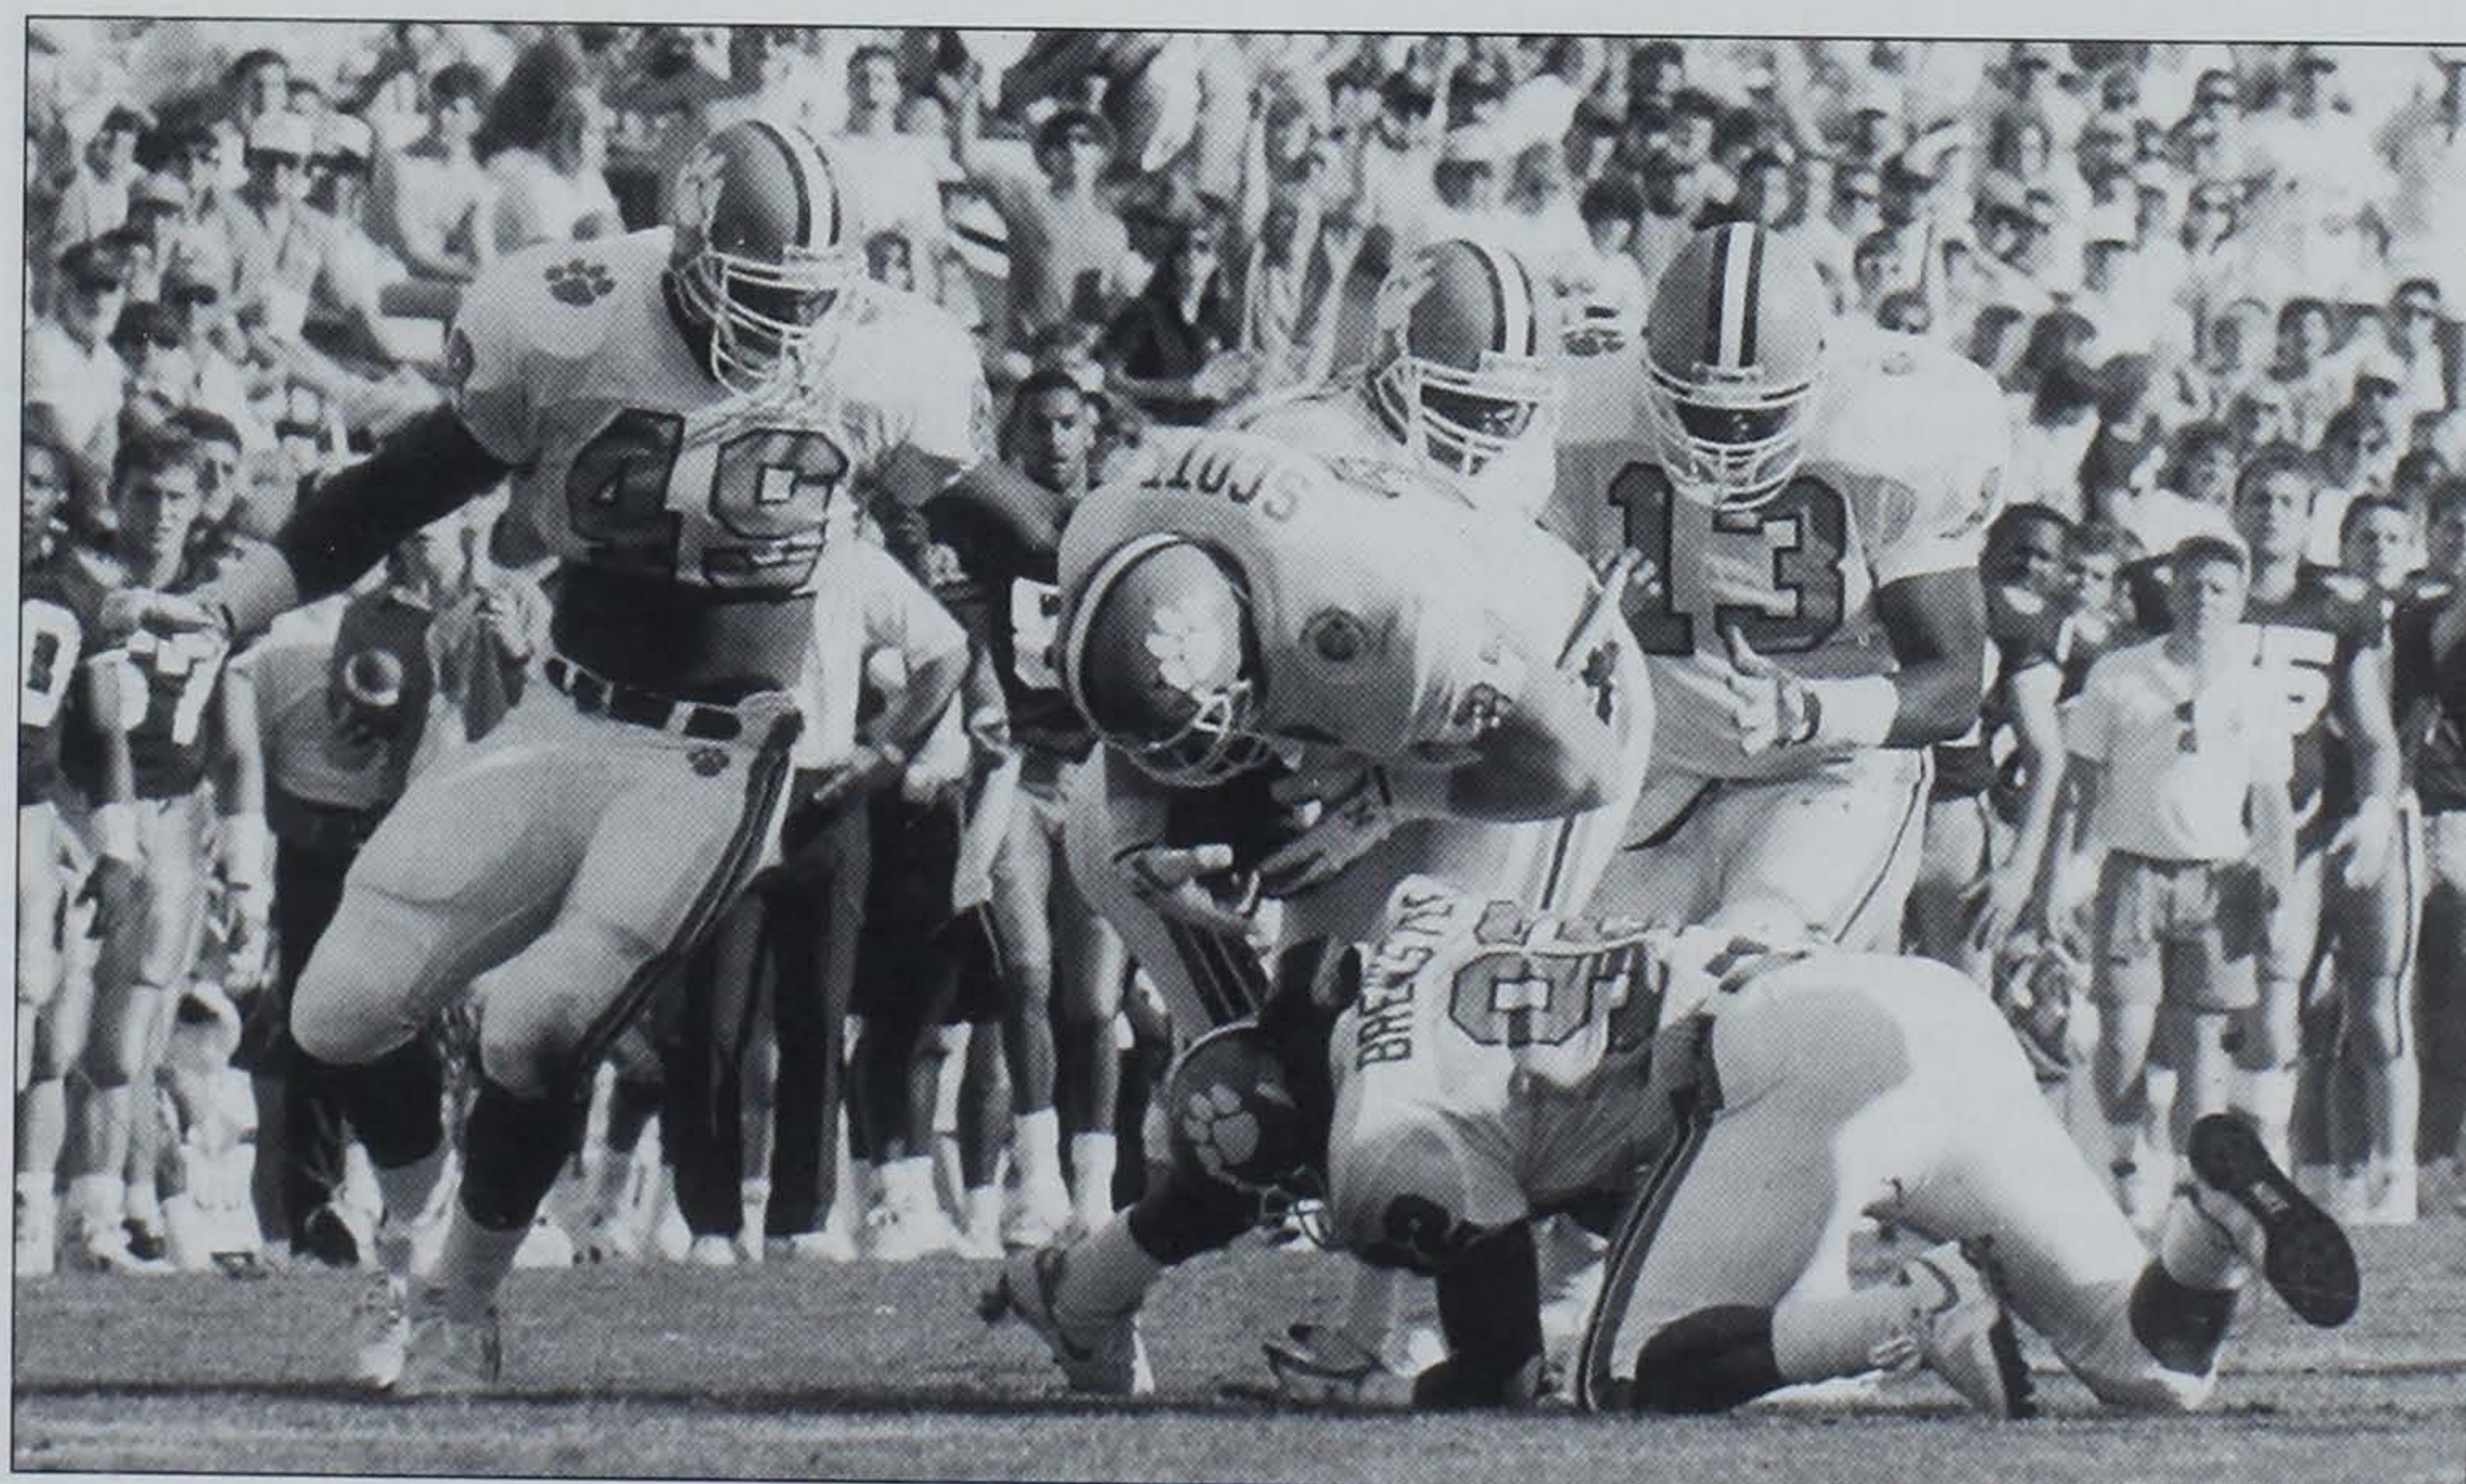

The Clemson defense continued to hold Illinois throughout the remainder of the game. John Johnson led the Tiger pass defense as he picked up two sacks to lead a Clemson point prevention unit that had six sacks on the day. Illinois reached the Clemson eight-yard line in the fourth quarter, but the Tiger defense forced a fumble and Ed McDaniel picked up the ball. Illinois had the ball in Clemson territory just three times all day.

The Clemson defense earned its third shutout of the year. This was the first shutout at a Hall of Fame Bowl game and Clemson's third bowl shutout in 17 bowl appearances. The 30-0 triumph was a Tiger record for victory margin in a bowl game.

TIGER LEADERS

DeChane Cameron was named game MVP as he connected on 14-19 passes for 141 yards and two scores. His performance set a record for completion percentage in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

John Johnson had seven tackles, including a pair of sacks to lead a Clemson defense that shutout Illinois and held John Mackovic's team to just 247 yards of total offense, 59 on the ground.

Clemson's defense, which featured eight starters who went on to NFL careers, held Illinois to 59 yards rushing and forced four turnovers.

Clemson's bowl game victory streak ended at five as the Tigers left the state of Florida with their first bowl loss since 1985, and their worst defeat since 1986, when the 14th-ranked Golden Bears of California defeated 13th-ranked Clemson 37-13 in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Also, for the first time since the 1988 season, the Clemson defense, which led the nation in rushing defense in 1991, allowed an opposing running back to rush for over 100 yards, as Cal's Russell White crossed the century mark with 103 yards.

The Golden Bears scored early and often in the first half, taking the opening kickoff 76 yards for a touchdown and adding a 31 yard field goal on their third possession. The Tigers were unable to gain a first down after the ensuing kickoff and were forced to punt. Although Chuck Lynch hit a 49-yard boot, California's Brian Treggs eluded the Tiger special forces unit and went the distance for a 72-yard touchdown. Clemson got on the boards for the first time with time running out in the first quarter as Nelson Welch connected on a 32-yard field goal on a drive highlighted by a 43-yard run by fullback Rudy Harris.

The highlight of the game for the Tigers came with just under five minutes remaining in the first half as quarterback DeChane Cameron broke loose for a 62-yard scoring romp. That play marked the longest run from scrimmage for a Clemson quarterback in 13 years, but also marked the only touchdown that Clemson would score that afternoon.

The only score for Clemson in the second half was a 36-yard field goal by Welch in the third period, while the Golden Bears would add a field goal and a touchdown on a 23-yard pass play. The Tiger defense managed to hold Cal scoreless through the fourth quarter, but Clemson could not put up any points, as they turned the ball over three times on interceptions and once on downs.

Two Tigers who were playing in their last game in Clemson uniform were named team MVPs in the loss. Defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, who had six tackles for the game, including three tackles for loss and one-and-a-half sacks, was named the Tigers' defensive MVP, while quarterback DeChane Cameron was named Clemson's Most Valuable Offensive Performer, after he scored Clemson's only touchdown and had 189 yards in total offense.

TIGER LEADERS

DeChane Cameron had 189 yards in total offense, including a 62-yard touchdown run that is the second longest touchdown run by a Clemson quarterback in history.

Chester McGlockton, playing in his final game at Clemson, had six tackles, including three tackles for loss and 1.5 sacks.

DeChane Cameron's 62-yard run was a highlight for the Tigers in the first half of the game.

Kentucky 13

Heading into the Peach Bowl contest with Kentucky, Clemson owned the seventh-best bowl winning percentage in college football history with a .611 mark. The Tigers upped that percentage in an exciting way with a 14-13 victory over Kentucky, putting Clemson's overall bowl record at 12-7. On the way to the victory, Tommy West became the first coach in NCAA history to win his first game for a school in a bowl game without serving as a coach in that program during the regular season.

West's first game as Tiger head coach did not lack for excitement, as Clemson sealed the victory with a 21-yard touchdown pass from Patrick Sapp to Terry Smith with 20-seconds remaining in the fourth quarter to give the Tigers a one-point victory. Smith led all Clemson receivers with four grabs for 56 yards for the contest.

Tim Jones recovered a first half fumble that gave Clemson momentum.

A tandem of running backs who hailed from Pensacola, FL, led the Clemson rushing attack, as starting tailback Rodney Blunt rushed for a season-high 58 yards on 15 carries to lead the team. But, it was red-shirt freshman Emory Smith who was named the Tigers' Offensive MVP, as he rambled for 45 yards from his fullback position, including a two-yard touchdown run. Smith also helped set up the winning score on a 57-yard pass reception late in the fourth quarter.

Kentucky took the opening kickoff and drove 79-yards to the Clemson one, before linebacker Mike Barber forced a fumble that was recovered by LB Tim Jones. Clemson took over at the two, and starting QB Dexter McCleon engineered a 98-yard scoring drive that culminated in a one-yard run by Emory Smith.

The Wildcats drove back down the field on their next possession, this time reaching the Clemson one again, where they decided to go for it on fourth down. The Clemson defense held once again, as defensive tackle Brentson Buckner stopped the UK ball carrier for no gain. Buckner was named the game's Defensive MVP after tallying a dozen tackles, including three tackles for loss, and pressured the Wildcat quarterback three times. Buckner became just the fourth Tiger defensive lineman in the last eight years to record at least a dozen tackles in a game.

The Tigers were forced to punt after taking over at the one and Kentucky got on the scoreboard with a 17-yard field goal by Nicky Nickles. The score heading into the half stood at 7-3.

Neither squad scored in the third quarter, and barely into the fourth period, Kentucky took the lead with a 46-yard touchdown drive. On Clemson's next possession, McCleon was intercepted by Kentucky's Willie Cannon, and the Wilcats upped their lead to 13-7 on a 43 yard scoring drive, culminating in another Nickles field goal, this one from 26-yards.

With time running down in the fourth quarter, QB Patrick Sapp came off the bench after playing sparingly in the first half. The two teams exchanged punts before the Tigers got the ball at their own 18 with 3:50 left. On the first play of the drive, Sapp threw a screen to Emory Smith for 57 yards. With under a minute left,

TIGER LEADERS

Emory Smith rushed for 45 yards and a touchdown and caught a key 57-yard pass on the final drive of the game to lead the Tiger offense.

Brentson Buckner was named defensive player of the game. He had a career high tying 12 tackles and three tackles for loss as Clemson held Kentucky to 293 yards of total offense and just one touchdown.

Clemson entered the 1996 Gator Bowl fresh off of five consecutive victories, including an emotional 38-17 win over arch-rival South Carolina. The Tigers had won six consecutive games away from Death Valley; but the streak ended there at the hands of Syracuse. The Orangemen handed Clemson its worst bowl defeat in its 20-game bowl history, 41-0.

In front of a rain-soaked crowd of mostly Tiger fans, freshman quarterback Donovan McNabb ran, passed, and beat the Tiger defense. McNabb, the MVP of the Gator Bowl, was unstoppable, as he threw three touchdowns for another. He completed 13 of 23 passes for 309 yards. Wide receiver Marvin Harrison was on the other end of many McNabb passes as he grabbed seven for 173 yards.

Malcolm Thomas scored less than two minutes into the contest on a one-yard run. On their next possession, McNabb led a 12-play, 62-yard drive that ended in a McNabb five-yard keeper for six. After a Kevin Abrams interception late in the first quarter, McNabb found Harrison wide open for a 38-yard touchdown reception.

In the second quarter, the Orangemen defense thwarted Clemson's best drive of the day. After Clemson had gone 53 yards on 11 plays down to Syracuse's six-yard-line, Clemson faced a crucial fourth-and-two situation. Down by 20 points, Clemson called a play action pass that was just out of the diving hands of tight end Lamont Hall.

The homecoming for Jacksonville natives and childhood teammates Brian Dawkins and Patrick Sapp was a bitter-sweet one, although Sapp did register a sack for a nine-yard loss. The Tigers, who entered the game with the nation's fourth best rushing attack could only manage 90 yards on 34 attempts. The Orangemen held Raymond Priester, the ACC's leading rusher, to just 36 yards on 15 carries.

Syracuse added two more touchdowns in the third quarter to put the game out of reach. After a 57 yard pass to Sir Mawn Wilson, Thomas ran two yards to the right for his second touchdown of the game. Thomas, a Jacksonville native, rushed for 71 yards on 14 carries. Each team traded prodigious third period punts, including a 73-yard effort by Sean Reali. The one bright spot for Clemson was senior punter Chris McNally, who averaged 49.3 yards on six punts. The Orangemen had their second one-play drive as McNabb hit Harrison over the middle for a 56-yard touchdown.

In the fourth quarter, Syracuse put the finishing touches on a brilliant performance as McNabb hit Kaseem Sinceno on third down in the right side of the end zone for a 15-yard touchdown reception. Syracuse ended the day 12 of 19 on third down and held the ball 10 minutes longer than the Tigers.

TIGER LEADERS

Peter Ford was named Clemson's MVP of the Gator Bowl. The junior had an interception, five tackles, and a pass deflection.

Chris McNally set a Clemson bowl game record with a 49.3 average on six punts.

Chris Jones and the Clemson defense had 13 tackles for loss against Syracuse.

Raymond Priester set a Clemson Bowl record for rushing yardage with 151 yards gained during the 1996 Peach Bowl. On the defensive side of the ball, Trevor Pryce had three tackles for loss and one sack in addition to a caused fumble. Even with these fine accomplishments, Clemson still fell to the LSU Tigers by a three-point margin, 10-7.

Nealon Greene opened the Peach Bowl scoring for Clemson on a three-yard run for a touchdown. Clemson attempted to tie the ball game with under two minutes left on the clock, but failed to do so when Matt Padgett's 52-yard field goal attempt was blocked. LSU ran out the clock.

In addition to Priester's outstanding game, contributions to the running attack were also made by Emory Smith, Kelton Dunnican, Brian Wofford and Nealon Greene. Smith had 9-40 rushing day.

Clemson's sole touchdown drive was 1:29 minutes long and consisted of only three runs. The outstanding field position was achieved on a fumble recovery by Harold Means following a sack and caused fumble by Trevor Pryce.

Defensively, Clemson had five players contribute to a combined nine tackles for losses. These tackles for losses combined for a total loss of fifty-three yards of LSU's offense.

LSU scored its only touchdown of the game during the second quarter when Kevin Faulk scored a three-yard rush to take the ball into the end zone. The extra point by Richey was good and the game was tied at seven all. LSU scored again during this quarter with a 22-yard field goal by Richey to gain the lead for good. There was no scoring in the second half as both defenses dominated.

Time of possession was fairly even throughout the game as LSU led with 30:15 minutes versus Clemson's 29:45 minutes. Not only was time of possession even in this game but also the total net yards gained (CU 258 - 287 LSU) and the average gain per play (4.2-4.5).

TIGER LEADERS

Raymond Priester rushed for 151 yards on 25 carries to break the Clemson career rushing record.

Trevor Pryce finished the game with six tackles. Included in those six were three tackles for loss and a sack that produced a fumble. The fumble gave the Tigers excellent field position and resulted in Clemson's only touchdown of the game.

Anthony Simmons was one of three NFL first-round draft picks who helped the Clemson defense hold LSU to just one touchdown.

Behind the strength of the Auburn defense, Dameyune Craig was able to rally his offense in the fourth quarter enroute to a come from behind 21-17 victory over the Clemson Tigers at the Georgia Dome. Auburn's offense managed to score 15 points on three consecutive scoring drives to overcome an 11-point deficit in the fourth quarter.

Clemson got on the board midway through the second quarter with the help of the first of many great special teams plays. Jaret Holmes' punt was blocked by Rod Gardner and returned 18 yards by Chad Speck for a touchdown.

Auburn would answer the Clemson scoring strike on its very next drive. Peach Bowl Offensive MVP Dameyune Craig led Auburn on a seven-play, 67-yard drive, which ended when Jaret Holmes converted on his second field goal of the first half from 24 yards out. The score reduced Clemson's lead to 7-6 with only four minutes left in the first half.

With 5:18 remaining in the third quarter, Clemson's special teams stepped up big again when Rahim Abdullah blocked Holmes' punt and Mal Lawyer recovered the ball on the two-yard line. From there, Clemson's Terry Witherspoon ran the ball in from two yards out on first and goal to give the Tigers a 14-6 lead.

Auburn was forced to punt from inside its own 10-yard line the following possession. Clemson's Tony Horne returned the punt 20 yards to the Auburn 26-yard line, giving the Tigers great field position. However, the Clemson offense failed to gain a first down and David Richardson connected on a 48-yard field goal which gave Clemson a 17-6 lead with 2:10 left in the third quarter.

Down 11 points, Auburn's Dameyune Craig began to rally his team. He led the Tigers on a 9-play, 72-yard drive on their very next possession. The Auburn drive was capped off with a miraculous 22-yard touchdown run by Craig. Despite failing to convert the two-point conversion, Craig's run was a turning point for the Auburn offense and reduced Clemson's lead to 17-12.

Clemson was forced to punt on its next possession, giving the ball back to an Auburn offense that was finally clicking. Craig and his Tigers drove 49 yards in two minutes and 22 seconds, resulting in a Rusty Williams 7-yard touchdown run. Once again, Auburn missed the two-point attempt but held the lead at 18-17.

Following an interception of a Nealon Greene pass, Auburn drove down to the Clemson 5-yard line and Holmes converted on a 22 yard field goal, giving the Auburn Tigers a 21-17 lead. Clemson's offense, which was held to only four first downs the entire game, turned the ball over to Auburn on their next possession when Greene's fourth and ten pass sailed over the head of wide receiver Mal Lawyer. Auburn would run the remaining 2:30 off the clock.

TIGER LEADERS

Anthony Simmons finished the contest with a game high 14 tackles. Four of those tackles were for loss and included two sacks.

Rahim Abdullah came up with Clemson's second punt block of the game against Auburn's Jaret Holmes in the third quarter. The ball was recovered on the Auburn two-yard line by Mal Lawyer and led to a Clemson touchdown.

Rahim Abdullah blocked a punt that led to a Clemson score. The sophomore was voted Clemson's team MVP for the game.

A PUNT WAS RETURNED FOR A TOUCHDOWN:

Clemson—39 yards by Tony Horne at South Carolina, Nov. 22, 1997 (Clemson 47, South Carolina 21).

Opponents—90 yards by Peter Warrick of Florida State at Death Valley, Sept. 20, 1997 (Florida St. 35, Clemson 28)

A KICKOFF WAS RETURNED FOR A TOUCHDOWN:

Clemson—98 yards by Doug Thomas vs. Maryland in Baltimore Memorial Stadium, Sept. 15, 1990 (Clemson 18, Maryland 17).

Opponents—78 yards by Leroy Gallman of Duke, Sept. 29, 1990 at Clemson (Clemson 26, Duke 7).

A PUNT WAS BLOCKED FOR A TOUCHDOWN:

Clemson—With the line of scrimmage at the Auburn 21, Rod Gardner blocked a Jaret Holmes punt. Chad Speck picked up the ball at the Auburn 18 and raced in for the touchdown, giving Clemson a 7-3 lead in the second quarter of the 1998 Peach Bowl (Auburn 21, Clemson 17).

Opponents—Jason Bostic of Georgia Tech blocked a Kevin Laird punt and the Yellow Jackets' Tavares Tillman grabbed it out of the air and ran 30 yards for a touchdown at Atlanta, GA on Sept. 27, 1997. It gave Tech a 17-7 lead in the third period (Georgia Tech 23, Clemson 20).

A SAFETY WAS SCORED:

Clemson—N.C. State kickoff return man Brian Williams downed the ball in the endzone after possessing the ball in the field of play at Death Valley on October 31, 1998 (N.C. State 46, Clemson 39)

Opponents—On Sept. 26, 1998, a Clemson offensive lineman was called for holding in the endzone on a passing play, resulting in a safety for Wake Forest (Wake Forest 29, Clemson 19).

A FUMBLE WAS RECOVERED FOR A TOUCHDOWN:

Clemson—Chris Jones recovered a high center snap in the endzone for a TD against Furman at Clemson on Sept. 5, 1998. It was the first fumble recovered in the endzone for a touchdown by a Clemson player in the decade of the 1990s (Clemson 33, Furman 0).

Opponents—Damien Covington of N.C. State recovered a Patrick Sapp fumble in the endzone in Raleigh on Oct. 24, 1992. The score came with 5:44 left and gave N.C. State a 20-6 lead. It was the first fumble recovery for a score by a Clemson opponent in seven years (N.C. State 20, Clemson 6).

A FUMBLE WAS RETURNED FOR A TOUCHDOWN:

Clemson—Damonte McKenzie caused Virginia's Tyree Foreman to lose the ball and Antwan Edwards scooped it up and sprinted 93 yards for a touchdown on Sept. 19, 1998 (Virginia 20, Clemson 18).

Opponent—Jason Perry recovered a Terry Witherspoon fumble and raced 36 yards for a touchdown at Clemson on Halloween, 1998 (N.C. State 46, Clemson 39).

AN INTERCEPTION WAS RETURNED FOR A TOUCHDOWN:

Clemson—On November 21, 1998, Howard Bartley intercepted an Anthony Wright pass on the second play of the second half and raced 48 yards for a touchdown. It was the only interception of his career (Clemson 28, South Carolina 19).

Opponents—Mark Makovec ran 36 yards with a Brandon Streeter pass at Clemson on Sept. 26, 1998. The touchdown gave Wake Forest a 10-7 lead on the way to a Demon Deacon victory (Wake Forest 29, Clemson 19).

FOUR OR MORE FIELD GOALS SCORED BY ANY PLAYER:

Clemson—David Richardson had field goals of 25, 22, 39 and 24 yards in Clemson's win over Furman at Clemson on Sept. 5, 1998 (Clemson 33, Furman 0).

Opponents—4 by Kevin Butler of Georgia at Athens, GA on Sept. 22, 1984. His fourth was from 60 yards out with 11 seconds left, longest ever against Clemson (Georgia 26, Clemson 23).

A PLAYER KICKED A 50-YARD FIELD GOAL:

Clemson—David Richardson kicked a 52 yard field goal with 1:23 left in the first half of Clemson's win at Wake Forest on Nov. 1, 1997 (Clemson 33, Wake Forest 16).

Opponents—Shayne Graham of Virginia Tech kicked a 53-yard field goal vs. Clemson on the last play of the first half at Death Valley on Sept. 12, 1998 (Virginia Tech 37, Clemson 0).

AN OFFENSIVE LINEMAN SCORED A TOUCHDOWN:

Clemson—Harry Olszewski, who was inducted into the State of South Carolina Hall of Fame in 1990, scored on a 12-yard run as an offensive guard after a fumbled snap fell in his arms against South Carolina at Clemson on Nov. 26, 1966 (Clemson 35, South Carolina 10).

Opponents—Center Peter Anderson of Georgia fell on the ball in end zone after a Lars Tate fumble. Play took place on Sept. 21, 1985 at Clemson (Georgia 20, Clemson 13).

A DEFENSIVE INTERIOR LINEMAN SCORED A TOUCHDOWN:

Clemson—Eric Bradford, a defensive tackle, ran nine yards with a fumble against Furman on Sept. 7, 1996. It was Clemson's first score of the season. It was just the second touchdown by a Clemson defensive lineman in 17 years (Clemson 19, Furman 3).

Opponents—Stan Dooley (DE) of Georgia recovered a blocked Dale Hatcher punt and ran two yards for a touchdown at Athens on Monday, Sept. 6, 1982 (Georgia 13, Clemson 7).

A PLAYER SCORED 4 TDS IN ONE GAME:

Clemson—Emory Smith scored four rushing touchdowns at Wake Forest on Sept. 16, 1995. He was the first Tiger in nine years to score four TDs in the same game. (Clemson 29, Wake Forest 14).

Opponents—Torry Holt caught four touchdown passes vs. Clemson at Death Valley on Oct. 31, 1998, Holt's scoring passes were from 85, 17, 41 and 9 yards. The final TD won the game with 37 seconds left (N.C. State 46, Clemson 39).
