

S & A Gove. File.

It is with profound regret that I have heard of the death of Dr. LeGrand Guerry, Second. This surgeon has made great contributions to medicine and surgery in the fifty years since he completed medical school. As a practicing surgeon, he had gained a superb reputation throughout the South; from the publication of his surgical researches, his name had become known throughout the nation. Of a family notable in South Carolina history, he was a man of wide enthusiasms and culture. Like so many men who have dedicated their lives to the assistance of the human race, his closeness to illness and death led him to increased devotion to Christianity. His death, although it occurred at the advanced age of 74, has been a great loss to the State of South Carolina.
