1-1-1947

Death of Dr. LeGrand Guerry, Second

Strom Thurmond

Follow this and additional works at: https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom

Materials in this collection may be protected by copyright law (Title 17, U.S. code). Use of these materials beyond the exceptions provided for in the Fair Use and Educational Use clauses of the U.S. Copyright Law may violate federal law.

For additional rights information, please contact Kirstin O'Keefe (kokeefe [at] clemson [dot] edu)

For additional information about the collections, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

Recommended Citation
Thurmond, Strom, "Death of Dr. LeGrand Guerry, Second" (1947). Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100. 151.
https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom/151

For additional information about the collection, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Manuscript Collections at TigerPrints. It has been accepted for inclusion in Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100 by an authorized administrator of TigerPrints. For more information, please contact kokeefe@clemson.edu.
It is with profound regret that I have heard of the death of Dr. LeGrand Guerry, Second. This surgeon has made great contributions to medicine and surgery in the fifty years since he completed medical school. As a practicing surgeon, he had gained a superb reputation throughout the South; from the publication of his surgical researches, his name had become known throughout the nation. Of a family notable in South Carolina history, he was a man of wide enthusiasms and culture. Like so many men who have dedicated their lives to the assistance of the human race, his closeness to illness and death led him to increased devotion to Christianity. His death, although it occurred at the advanced age of 74, has been a great loss to the State of South Carolina.