1-1-1941

Inflation of Prices

Strom Thurmond

Follow this and additional works at: https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom

Materials in this collection may be protected by copyright law (Title 17, U.S. code). Use of these materials beyond the exceptions provided for in the Fair Use and Educational Use clauses of the U.S. Copyright Law may violate federal law.

For additional rights information, please contact Kirstin O'Keefe (kokeefe [at] clemson [dot] edu)

For additional information about the collections, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

Recommended Citation
Thurmond, Strom, "Inflation of Prices" (1941). Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100. 155.
https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom/155

For additional information about the collection, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Manuscript Collections at TigerPrints. It has been accepted for inclusion in Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100 by an authorized administrator of TigerPrints. For more information, please contact kokeefe@clemson.edu.
MEMORANDUM FOR MR. BRIM RYKARD:

The high cost of living problem seems epitomized to me by a letter I received yesterday. Enclosed in this letter was a check from a Columbia restaurant for a ham sandwich. The man who sent me this check had paid $1.25 for the ham sandwich alone. Multiply this ham sandwich by the hundreds of articles and services a person must pay for and you have inflation. The problem is one of combating inflation.

Farmers are making some money now. Because of inflation, however, they are not making as much as they should. Their profit is cut by increased production costs.

The wage earner in South Carolina is in an absolutely critical situation. Only those who earn a great many times the average annual South Carolina income can maintain their former standards of living, and they can only do this by reducing their savings.

The outcome of further inflation would be disastrous. We in South Carolina experienced the agonies of inflation in 1865.

Unless prices come down forthwith, the United States Government should take positive action to bring them down.