Educational Policy Committee Report – Ronnie Lee

Trustee Lee called on Bob Jones to present the Committee’s action items as a composite motion.

Action Items:

New Certificate: Sales Engineering Certificate – Provost Jones presented the proposed certificate. It is a collaborative initiative between the Departments of Marketing and Industrial Engineering. Given that many engineering graduates begin their careers in technical sales, it is important that they understand customers’ needs and can effectively communicate with customers. The certificate provides 6 credit-hours of marketing courses in professional selling and sales management to build and strengthen students’ communication skills, help them develop and communicate a value proposition, and help them build social intelligence to form relationships with customers. For the additional 3 credit-hours needed to complete the certificate, students may select from a variety of courses and/or a seminar class that focus on an overview of business for engineers, and exposure to professionals in sales engineering.

New Center: Risk Engineering and Systems Analytics Center – Provost Jones presented the proposed center. The purpose of the center is to establish a leading national resource for risk engineering. The overarching goal of the center is to integrate interdisciplinary research efforts in risk-related science and engineering to improve the understanding of risks linked to natural and man-made phenomena, mitigate their effects and to better prepare for, respond to, and recover from disasters. Risk engineering and analytics are employed by insurance and reinsurance companies as part of their strategic planning and execution. Analytical processes around risk engineering are data-driven and computationally intensive. However, utilizing advanced analytics and incorporating real-time information to design portfolios that target specific economic goals while satisfying constraints is still in its infancy.

Name Change: Clemson University Reading Recovery Training Center for SC to Clemson University Reading Recovery and Early Literacy Training Center for SC – Provost Jones presented the proposed name change. Reading Recovery remediates the bottom 20% of first graders. To support this effort, the Center recently established an early literacy virtual professional development library for K-2 teachers. The name change will reflect this new dimension.

Name Change: Food Science, BS to Food Science and Human Nutrition, BS – Provost Jones presented the proposed name change. This degree name change will more accurately represent the two concentrations that are part of the current curriculum. The department is in the process of strengthening the nutrition curriculum/concentration to maintain its accreditation with the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics. Over 50% of the current Food Science majors are completing the Nutrition concentration. Including the term “Nutrition” in the major name may enhance job opportunities for nutrition-related positions, internships, or advanced degree programs as companies or institutions often use electronic scanners to search key words in electronic application systems.

Trustee Lee moved to approve the new certificate, new center, and two name changes. The motion was approved unanimously.

Information Items:

Faculty Senate Report – Jim McCubbin provided an update.

Faculty Representative to the Board of Trustees Report – David Blakesley provided an update.

Finance and Facilities Committee Report – Bill Hendrix

Trustee Hendrix asked Brett Dalton to present the action item.

Action Item:

Approval Pre-Concept – Sirrine Hall Replacement – Mr. Dalton presented the request for pre-concept approval of a Sirrine Hall Replacement. The administration seeks approval to continue to evaluate and design a building to replace Sirrine Hall with an estimated cost of $120-130 million. The project will involve constructing a building to replace Sirrine Hall, built in 1938. Sirrine Hall has not had a significant renovation in 35 years. The antiquated academic facility no longer provides adequate space for long-term growth or modern instructional delivery methods. The College of Business and Behavioral Science is currently co-located with other academic programs in Sirrine Hall. The replacement facility will become the dedicated, recognizable home for all business and related disciplines within the CBBS, and it will provide space for the college’s administrative offices, outreach and research institutes. Specifically, the Sirrine Hall replacement will include a variety of classrooms and learning laboratories, faculty and administrative offices, study and gathering spaces, and common areas that will encourage greater collaboration among students, faculty, staff and business partners. The new facility will provide an enhanced interface between academics and industry, accommodate growth, and provide flexibility to adapt to advancements in technology and instructional methods. This project will also provide approximately 105,000 square feet of swing space in Sirrine Hall, which will allow for the systematic renovation of aging campus and academic facilities.

Trustee Hendrix moved to approve the pre-concept. The motion was approved unanimously.

Information Items:

Financial Update – Mr. Dalton provided an update on the overall financial health of the University.

Staff Senate Report – Matt Bundrick provided an update and introduced the new president, Tina White. Chairman Wilkins thanked him for his service.
