I'm delighted to publish the following title changes this quarter. It's always a good thing to see colleagues moving onward and upward.

Rachel Becker, for one, has moved effective August 1 from serving as the electronic/continuing resources librarian at the University of Wisconsin – Parkside Library to become the electronic resources management librarian for the University of Wisconsin – Madison.

Rachel may now be reached at rachel.becker@wisc.edu.

Bethany Greene, formerly a Carolina academic library associate and colleague of mine in the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill's E-Resources & Serials Management Department has taken a position as electronic resources management librarian at the Duke University Libraries.

And, Christine Radcliff will be promoted from assistant librarian to associate librarian at Texas A&M University-Kingsville effective September 1.

Congratulations everyone!
