5-5-1950

Sumter's Iris Festival and Sesquicentennial

Strom Thurmond

Follow this and additional works at: https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom

Materials in this collection may be protected by copyright law (Title 17, U.S. code). Use of these materials beyond the exceptions provided for in the Fair Use and Educational Use clauses of the U.S. Copyright Law may violate federal law.

For additional rights information, please contact Kirstin O'Keefe (kokeefe [at] clemson [dot] edu)

For additional information about the collections, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

Recommended Citation
Thurmond, Strom, "Sumter's Iris Festival and Sesquicentennial" (1950). Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100. 863.
https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom/863

For additional information about the collection, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Manuscript Collections at TigerPrints. It has been accepted for inclusion in Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100 by an authorized administrator of TigerPrints. For more information, please contact kokeefe@clemson.edu.
On behalf of the State of South Carolina, it gives me great pleasure to extend greetings and best wishes to the people of Sumter and their guests during the celebration of their Tenth Annual Iris Festival and Sumter's Sesqui-Centennial.

The keynote of Sumter's success during her 150 years, in becoming one of the leading cities in South Carolina and the home of the famous Iris Festival, is largely due to the progressive and industrious attitude of her people and their friendly hospitality.

It is with great pride and satisfaction that the people of South Carolina look to Sumter on this occasion, and I am sure that their heartfelt good will is with the people of Sumter during this celebration.