1-8-1955

Remarks on CBS Capitol Cloakroom about states rights

Strom Thurmond

Follow this and additional works at: https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom

Materials in this collection may be protected by copyright law (Title 17, U.S. code). Use of these materials beyond the exceptions provided for in the Fair Use and Educational Use clauses of the U.S. Copyright Law may violate federal law.

For additional rights information, please contact Kirstin O'Keefe (kokeefe [at] clemson [dot] edu)

For additional information about the collections, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

Recommended Citation

Thurmond, Strom, "Remarks on CBS Capitol Cloakroom about states rights" (1955). Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100. 1233.
https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom/1233

For additional information about the collection, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Manuscript Collections at TigerPrints. It has been accepted for inclusion in Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100 by an authorized administrator of TigerPrints. For more information, please contact kokeefe@clemson.edu.
States Rights is one field in which we need no federal legislation. On the contrary, in order to permit more state rights we need far less federal legislation and federal delving into the rights reserved to the states by the Constitution. Legislation here is not the answer at all, but rather a return to the original concepts embodied in the Constitution.

Year after year, states rights have been reduced as the federal government has become more powerful and centralized as it encroached upon the rights of the states. This encroachment is one of the greatest threats to our traditional American way of life.

I have studied this problem of federal encroachment for many years. It is a threat to the foundations of American democracy because it is a violation of a fundamental provision of the Constitution.