3-25-1955

Death of the Honorable John W. Davis

Strom Thurmond

Follow this and additional works at: https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom

Materials in this collection may be protected by copyright law (Title 17, U.S. code). Use of these materials beyond the exceptions provided for in the Fair Use and Educational Use clauses of the U.S. Copyright Law may violate federal law.

For additional rights information, please contact Kirstin O'Keefe (kokeefe[at]clemson[dot]edu)

For additional information about the collections, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl[at]clemson[dot]edu

Recommended Citation
Thurmond, Strom, "Death of the Honorable John W. Davis" (1955). Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100. 1249.
https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom/1249

For additional information about the collection, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl[at]clemson[dot]edu

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Manuscript Collections at TigerPrints. It has been accepted for inclusion in Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100 by an authorized administrator of TigerPrints. For more information, please contact kokeefe@clemson.edu.
Americans who believe in the Constitution and in Constitutional Government have lost an outstanding advocate of these principles in the death of John W. Davis. Mr. Davis' record is too well known for me to cite in these few words. He was a great friend of many millions of Americans who never even knew him, because he defended and fought for the rights upon which personal liberty is based. His services to my state, without fee, in the school segregation case will stand as a monument to his integrity and ability.

Our country has lost a profound lawyer, an able statesman, and a true patriot.