3-7-1957

Statement on farmer protection under the Fair Labor Standards Act

Strom Thurmond

Follow this and additional works at: https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom

Materials in this collection may be protected by copyright law (Title 17, U.S. code). Use of these materials beyond the exceptions provided for in the Fair Use and Educational Use clauses of the U.S. Copyright Law may violate federal law.

For additional rights information, please contact Kirstin O'Keefe (kokeefe [at] clemson [dot] edu)

For additional information about the collections, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

Recommended Citation
https://tigerprints.clemson.edu/strom/1496

For additional information about the collection, please contact the Special Collections and Archives by phone at 864.656.3031 or via email at cuscl [at] clemson [dot] edu

This Press Release is brought to you for free and open access by the Manuscript Collections at TigerPrints. It has been accepted for inclusion in Strom Thurmond Collection, Mss100 by an authorized administrator of TigerPrints. For more information, please contact kokeefe@clemson.edu.
WASHINGTON--Senator Strom Thurmond has joined Senator Stennis of Mississippi as co-sponsor of a bill to give the farmer greater protection than he now has under definitions of the Fair Labor Standards Act. (Minimum wage law).

Since World War II, farm costs have risen 14 per cent; farm prices have dropped 6 per cent; and net income for farm operators is down 15 per cent.

On an average, farm prices have risen only 80 per cent as much as farm costs have risen.

Interpretation and application of the law to farm activities by the Secretary of Labor have worked hardships on the farmers.

The bill redefines "agriculture," "the area of production," and the term "first processing" as applied to agricultural commodities.

Under the new definitions, farmers employing workers in the area of production for first processing of commodities would be exempt from the minimum wage law. The definitions bring up to date terms of the law which was enacted in 1938.

- END -