Clemson's Crack Track Team.

Coach Shaughnessy Talks on Base Ball Season and the Tiger Team.

By beating Newberry college in the final game of the season, the Varsity baseball team finished with a record that should be considered successful, when all things are considered. In college baseball, a team, to become a champion, must have a star pitcher. Clemson, this season, started without the prospects of a single twirler of known ability; but everybody showed fine spirit, and a host of candidates came out and tried for the position. Among them, "Bing" Farmer, showed himself of varsity calibre. Although only 16 years of age, this youngster exhibited the coolness and nerve of a veteran, and pitched excellent ball from the start.

However, the schedule was a hard one, and Farmer could not pitch every day; and, in his absence, the team lacked the confidence that steadied them, while he worked in the box. By accident, in the last few weeks, it was discovered that Tom Robertson could pitch; and the popular captain elect for the next season, by his brilliant victories over Newberry and Trinity, showed that he was entitled to be classed with the great La Fitte, as one of the greatest all around ball players in the South.

Captain Bissell was a tower of strength behind the bat, but at the beginning of the state championship series he was compelled to re-

Tigers Batted Cline All Over the Lot

Clemson 7, Newberry 1.

At this game, the Clemson cadets had the pleasure of seeing Tom Robertson win the first game that he has pitched on the campus. Just recently, Tom has developed into a twirler, whose curves are swift and puzzling. The game Saturday proves this statement; he allowed only three hits and struck out nine of the Newberry fellows, who have won second place in state college ball by their hard hitting.

Capt. Bissell, who has been sick a great part of the season, was back in the game, and played in his usual brilliant style. His splen-

Details of the game

Cabaniss, the first man up, got a hit to left field, but was thrown out going to second on Boozer's bunt. Crouch struck out. Scurry got to first on an error. Ruff came up next, but failed to connect with Robertson's bewildering spit-balls, making the third out. "Browny." Clemson's fast little base runner, was first up and got to first on the short stop's error. Lee struck out; Robertson followed, getting a hit in left field. Lykes drove one to center, seeing "Browny." LeFar Bissell flew out to short stop. Barksdale hit to the third baseman forcing a runner out at third.

SECOND INNING.

Wicker gets his base on four balls, Habernicht bunts and Robertson throws Wicker out at second. Black fanned. Cline followed with a bunt, but failed to outrun it to first.

Clemson at the bat—Tite Bisseil got a base on balls; Wylie got a next hit to left field; Coles came up next, but was cut out on strikes. "Browny" came to the bat again, and got to first on a bunt, but Wylie was thrown out at second. Lee got to first on balls, making three men on bases, but Clemson failed to score. Robertson, who was unhit, flew out to second, making the third man down.

THIRD INNING.

Cabaniss got to first on a bunt, and stole second. Boozer struck out, and Crouch was thrown out at first. Scurry popped it to second base. Ruff knocked a fly to Lykes in right field, who ran in and touched first base before Crouch could return to the bag. This double play was the feature of the game, and is the only instance on record where a fielder made a double.

"Browny" out ran his bunt to first, and Lee walked. Robertson not a sacrifice. Lykes came to the bat, and got a hit just over second, but "Browny" was thrown out at second. The second baseman made a wild throw, and Lee scored. T. Bissell drove the ball down the third base line, and scored Lykes. Barksdale, who was up next, also got a hit, making the third hit in this inning. T. Bissell sacrificed. Score: Clemson 2, Newberry, 0.

SEVENTH INNING.

In this inning no player on either side got to first bag.

EIGHTH INNING.

Cline was retired to the bench on three strikes. Cabaniss got to first on a hit. Robertson retired Boozer. Crouch went to first, and Cabaniss second on an error of Lee's. Scurry was thrown out at first. Lee struck out, but made it to first. Robertson fouled to the catcher; and Lykes was thrown out at first. L. Bissell got a hit in right field, and stole second in short order. The short stop errored, allowing Barksdale to make first; but L. Bissell was thrown out trying to come in home.

NINTH INNING.

In this inning, Tom gave the first man up his base on balls. The next man knocked a fly to Lykes. Habernicht also walked. Black struck out, and Cline bunted, forcing Ruff out at third.

'07 ANNUAL.

Send in your subscription today. In case all remittances are not in by the 11th, it will be necessary for some of the staff to remain here several days after college closes. It will be greatly appreciated if you will remit today.

THE COLUMBIAN SOCIETY.

The Literary Society diplomas will be delivered on the 10th of June, by Mr. H. C. Pillman, a member of the class of 1903. Mr. Pillman was a prominent member of the Columbian Society.

The Columbian will be represented on the Chronicle staff next year by Mosser, D. N. Harris, F. J. Crider, and C. A. McLendon. Mr. Harris was the efficient cartoonist on the staff of '06-'07, Mr. McLendon will be promoted from assistant manager to business manager, and Mr. Crider will hold a place in the literary department.

A resolution has been adopted by all the societies that the locals be eliminated from the magazine, leaving that field entirely to the Tiger, which, it seems, has come to stay.

On Friday night, May 31st, the society was entertained by a number of more or less humorous and high-flown speeches by the departing seniors. There may be poets and orators in the class of '07.
A RESUME OF TRACK.

A Good Team and a Successful Season.

Perhaps the most significant feature of this college athletic season has been the surprising growth of track athletics. From a quite subordinate feature, track work has risen and has established itself most firmly in the ranks of Clemson's important sports; and all in one short season. This aim has been made not only here, but everywhere in the South; more attention and interest have been accorded this new branch of intercollegiate contest. It is new only with us, however; for the events contested on track and field are the oldest and most natural of all forms of sport. Primitive man could jump and run and put great weights. The ancient Greeks established the Olympian games, which have been revived in our day.

The feeling of vigor and power which Spring puts into all living things, shows itself in a healthy boy by a desire to get out and "do something." It will be fortunate for the boy—and generally for the community—if this desire can be directed into some legitimate channel. Where 600 boys experience this desire at one and the same time, the most natural thing in the world is to put them on a cinder track and let them run off the extra vigor. With the great majority, it soon effervesces; and, as the squad comes out, day after day, it becomes smaller; and, sooner than the wish of the boy and of the community, it will be gone.

Every preparation is being made for the exciting meet with North Carolina, to be held this year at the intercollegiate meet held at Athens, Ga. A combination of events lost us the exciting meet with North Carolina, contested on our own grounds. In order to schedule the meets at all, Manager Taylor was obliged to give South Carolina the Saturday before Field Day, and North Carolina the one following. Owing to the great interest taken in Field Day this year, the men worked harder than they should have done, and were consequently made not only here, but everywhere in the South; more attention and interest have been accorded this new branch of intercollegiate contest. It is new only with us, however; for the events contested on track and field are the oldest and most natural of all forms of sport. Primitive man could jump and run and put great weights. The ancient Greeks established the Olympian games, which have been revived in our day.

The season of 1908 should be a very successful commencement in Clemson's history.

The speakers are all well known men. Rev. Mr. Smart is a native Carolinian, who is now pastor of the First Methodist church at Charlottesville, Virginia.

Mr. B. H. Rawls is a Clemson graduate, who is now connected with the Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D. C.

Dr. Kirkland, who will address the graduating class, is a man of unusual strength. He is chancellor of Vanderbilt University.

On June 10th, the shops and laboratories will be open for inspection. This is a very interesting feature of the commencement, and is always enjoyed by the visitors. On the afternoon of the 10th, there will be a review of the corps and a dress parade. At this time, the companies will also contest for the flag. Becoming the possessor of the flag, is the aim of each company, and competition will be close. D company won last year.

Besides the regular program, there will be much interest to the visitor.

PROGRAM.

Sunday, June 9—11:30 a. m.—Baccalaureate sermon, Rev. R. D. Smart, D. D.

8:30 p. m.—Closing exercises, Y. M. C. A.

Monday, June 10—11 a. m.—Literary society exercises; S. H. Sherard, Calhoun society; B. D. Carter, Columbian society; G. W. Speer, Jr., Palmetto society.

With this issue, the present Tiger staff goes out. There has been much to hinder and little to aid in the prosecution of the work. Journalism takes time; much more than the average student has to devote to it. Then, too, a college newspaper was a new thing to most of us, and our efforts were necessarily those of the inexperienced. The consequence has been, the college paper has fallen far short of our expectations.

Notwithstanding, there has been something to encourage. A patronage, co-operation, and an interest far beyond our earlier dreams have made the work one of gratification and pleasure.

We have become thoroughly convinced that there is a place at Clemson for a newspaper. The Clemson circle is big enough. Clemson is an institution around which an enterprise and an activity of no mean import centers.

With Clemson’s enlargement next year, and with the Tiger well under way, there is no reason why the Tiger should not become what is contemplated in a college paper.

To those who come into charge next year, we tender our greetings and good wishes.

CLASS OF ’07.
The class of ’07 consists of seventy-three men. This is the largest class in the history of the college. Of this number, twenty-eight have taken the Agriculture course; fifteen have studied Civil Engineering; one has devoted himself to the Textile Industry; and the remaining thirty have pursued the course in Electrical Engineering.

This body of men, who have trod together the rugged road which leads up from the Freshman exhibition to graduation, have come to know one another; and common aims and interests have drawn them close together with cords of affection—cords so strong that they will be hard to break.

These men, who have trod a common way for four years, are about to separate. And as we stand on parting ground, we are filled with thoughts of past and future; retrospection and anticipation well up within us. Recalling our successes and failures, and looking out across the hills of life into the beautiful fields of promise, we can but believe that the class of ’07 has in it men who will impress themselves in certain spheres of life’s activity.

Seventy-three young men. Seventy-three men trained for the better accomplishment of life’s tasks. May each one aim high and consider himself capable of great things.

Class and Society News.

'07 INTERESTS.

The ladies of the campus, on the evening of May 17th, gave a dance in Agriculture Hall, in honor of the Senior Class. This was without question the most enjoyable dance of the entire college year, and its pleasures were due, in large measure, to the use of the dainty dance cards that were issued to the guests just before the grand march. Quite an innovation, these cards: for no one had ever before thought a card dance possible here at Clemson. Our hostesses are credited with showing us how very effective such programs may be, even in our small community. Mrs. Shiver, Mrs. Calhoun, and Mrs. Chambless served refreshings fruit from a charmingly beaded corner, while in the main hallway, Mrs. Lewis and Miss Nellie Porcher dealt refreshments more substantial and equally as satisfying.

The music, furnished by the college band under direction of Chief Musician W. L. Schachte, was of the excellent quality that has helped give the Clemson dances such an enviable reputation.

The guests included Miss Mamie Gaston, Blackburg, with F. M. Furtick; Miss Annie Shanklin, Easley, with H. F. Lykes; Miss Willie Cherry, Seneca, with A. S. Heyward; Miss Helen Boggs, Pickens, with B. D. Carter; Miss Sillene Jones, Anderson, with L. S. Horton; Miss Pauline Kelly, G. F. C., with S. R. Rhodes; Miss Helen Bradford, Campus, with H. C. Crum; Miss Lizzie Stribling, Pendleton, with E. V. Garrett; Miss Alice Stribling, Pendleton, with T. N. Bristow; Miss Nela Slean, Campus, with R. A. Easterling; Miss Julia Guyton, Anderson, with C. W. Mack; Miss Tallulah Crowther, Campus, with L. Howle; Miss Dorothy Smith, Knoxville, with G. D. Sanders; Miss Floride Calhoun, Campus, with O. H. Bissell.

The long expected class rings have at last been delivered, and are now the pride of all the Seniors. All are congratulating the members of the committee on their wise selection—the fact that this design has been adopted as a standard is certainly proof of its tastefulness.

When this issue of the Tiger reaches its readers, the members of the Senior Class will be on the eve of saying good bye to the college, and will soon be scattered through South Carolina and, in not a few other states, with no expectation of gathering again at Clemson, as the "Class of 1907"—not because we could not wish such a gathering, but because it can never be possible. Our stay at Clemson has been increasingly pleasant as its end has approached; and the grateful memories that we take with us will be all the stronger because of the many kindnesses of our friends on the Hill, who have given us pleasures ours, isolated as we are.

We now resign our place in these columns to the rising Senior Class. For our next appearance, that could not otherwise have been watched the Alumni department.

JUNIOR CLASS.

Only a few more days, now, and Clemson will close for the summer vacation. Many of us will have here with clear cards for Senior, that class which looks so great o lower classmen. The Tiger, Chronicle, and Annual have been turned over to the rising Seniors for better or worse; and, if one can judge by the records of '08 in the past, it is safe to predict that next session's publications will reach a higher standard than ever before. Every man, whether he is Senior or Freshman, if he has any literary ability, should make at least one contribution to the Chronicle during the session. Some of the idle hours of the summer vacation could be spent in writing something for the first issue, which usually has a light literary department.

Mrs. J. P. Lewis, Miss Nellie Porcher, Mrs. L. A. Klein, Mrs. F. S. Shiver, Mrs. Winslow Sloan, Mrs. M. B. Budd, Mrs. E. H. Clinkscales, Mrs. C. E. Chambless.
Several members of the class were recently elected members of the Glee club.

The Junior Dancing club gave their last informal dance on the after­noon of the 11th of May. Although the gymnasmum dance hall could not be obtained, an upper floor in the Agriculture hall made a good substitute. A number of the representatives of the State College Press association were present, in addition to the local social ring. Notwithstanding the fact that several very prominent members of the class were unavoidably detain­ed in the chapel, those present at the dance passed a delightful after­noon. The music was furnished by the cadet brass band.

The following were the ladies present: Misses Jean and Neil Sloan, Katherine Furman, Tallulah Crowther, Dorothy Smith, Helen Bradford, Helen Brackett, Margaret Doggett, of Clemson; Misses Johnstone and McMorris, of Con­verse; Misses McGee and Geer, of Greenville Female College; Misses Bulley and Wallace and Mattison, of College for Women; Misses Furman and Reynolds, of Winthrop.

Misses Jane H., Ricks, Harper, Clay, and Bryan were the chaper­ones of the occasion.

SOPHOMORE

We were disappointed on Field Day by our failure to win the beau­tiful trophy cup which Prof. Cai­houn had offered for the class that made the greatest number of points. It was quite an honor for the class which procured this trophy, and we were very anxious to have “09” engraved upon it. However, while we did not win the cup, we had the satisfaction of taking second place in the total scoring.

Those who did good work for us on this day were Ballew, who won two second places; L. Gardner, who won a second and two thirds; McLaurin, one second and one third; Fleming, one first; Prid­more, one second; Harris one first; Fuller, one third; and Spratt, one first. Several other men helped us considerably in the relay races.

As the close of this term draws near, we feel a twinge of sadness in our joy, as we think of so many of our classmates whom we shall not see again. A rather large num­ber, perhaps, will not return; but we shall be glad to see all those who do come back, and hope that our roll will not be very greatly de­creased. Let us return with the de­termination to do better work than ever before, and with the earnest desire to make a better record next year for our class than it has yet had.

FRESHMAN

As a rule, Freshmen have not had enough experience to make the different athletic teams nevertheless, we feel that we have furnished our share of athletics. To begin with football, we had “Doc” McFadden on varsity, with Piekney as a substitute. We all know that without a good scrub team, the practice of our college eleven could not produce the best results; so we feel that there is some honor in the fact that we have furnished a few hard-working scrubs. Among those who deserve mention are Wall, Cruz, Walker, and Wyman.

On the baseball team, we were represented by Farmer, one of Clemson’s best pitchers; and Brown, who played in the field. McFadden, too, would have made the team if he had not indulged in too much summer ball. Henderson, of our class, played well on the scrub team.

It takes a lot of practice before a man can do much on the track. Although several Freshmen tried for the track team this season, only a few were successful. Those who competed in the different meets are Byrd, Walker, Bovkin, and Wyman. Byrd starred for us, being really a “third,” when he started across the track.

Perhaps it is not exactly a feeling of sadness that comes over us when we think of the close of this, our first year of real college life; but certainly we have some regrets when we think of leaving our many new friends, whom we have learned to like so well. However, the ma­jority of our class will return next year; so the separation will not be for long. Then, too, although few of us like to acknowledge it, a large number of our men are very much interested in the appoint­ment of corporals; and we wish June to come, on that account. More than one Freshman’s heart beats fast when he thinks of his possibility of his wearing the coveted chevrons.

CLEMSON DEFEATED FIRMAN

One of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a baseball game, in Greenville, was assembled on May 11th, to see old rivals meet in diamond contest. College colors, the purple and white of Furman, and the purple and blue of Clemson, were much in evidence. Everybody was in time for a pretty exhibition. But they were to be disappointed. Both teams lacked snap and ginger, and the game was characterized by gross errors by both teams. Had it not been for the fact that at times the score was a tie, and that at other times one team or the other had the advan­tage, giving the supporters of each team an opportunity, at times, to cheer, the game would have been devoid of interest.

Interest increased when, in the seventh inning, the score was a tie. With two men out for Clem­son, by timely hitting, and by Fur­man’s going up in the air, Clemson ran in three men, making the score 11 to 10.

Despite almost universal error­making, still the game had some features. Workman, for Furman, did good work on the firing line, and would perhaps have won his game had he received support. Robinson, for Clemson, was vigor­ously cheered when he reached first up and pulled down a difficult ball, losing no time in touching his man. Brown, for Clemson, did some pretty batting. Lyes for Clem­son, and Livingcomb, for Fur­man, were most reliable batters.

Score by innings:

1st—Furman....... 104 010 200— 8
2nd—Clemson....... 412 001 008—11
3rd—Batteries—Furman.... Workman
4th—Clemson, Robinson
5th—Farmer and Wylie.

When in Greenville and we will have a good time.
The leading topic for discussion in association circles these last days of school, is the Southern student conference. Our delegation will be the largest ever sent from the state of South Carolina. In fact, Clemson will send as many men to this conference as all the colleges in our state sent last year. There is a great forward movement in the Southern colleges, and we purpose to be in the van guard. One of the surest signs of this is the large and representative conference delegation which will number at least twenty.

Each year the conference awards a handsome pennant to the champion baseball team, another to the college who wins the greatest number of points in the track meet, and a third to the college which wins the debate contest. Clemson has already won two of these three awards.

The conference begins on April 30 and ends May 1. Our delegation will consist of at least twenty members, and we shall be represented in every department of the conference.

Clemson Wins Second.

tire from the game, through illness. L. Bissell was injured in the Carolina game, and O. H. Bissell was also sick. These mishaps were a serious drawback to the team; but the boys fought gamely, and always gave a good account of themselves.

On and off the field, the Clemson baseball team were a credit to their Alma Mater. It was a matter of universal comment, wherever the boys played, that never before had such a crowd of gentlemen visited the place. Above all other things, Clemson should be proud of her team for that record.

Prospects for a winning team next year are unusually high, although four good men will be lost. Capt. "Robertson, who will lead the team, is a wonderful all round ball player; and he will have L. Bissell, who was easily the star third sacker of the Southern colleges. "Benny" Lee at second; "Stricke" Coles at first; Brown, who will be one of the greatest outfielders Clemson has ever had; and "Bing" Farmer to help him. Pat Wiley, who caught several games this season, should be a capable successor to fill the shoes of Capt. Bissell.

The seniors had target practice last week. The practice was interesting. Several good records were made; though, with many, the object seemed to be to miss the ball’s eye.
