MEETING OF TRUSTEES.

IMPORTANT MATTERS DECIDED.

On March 19, the Board of Trustees held a regular meeting up here which resulted in several important changes both in our faculty line-up and in the management of the experiment station.

After due consideration, these wise arbiters of Clemson's destinies awoke to the fact that the regular class-room work, combined with the large amount of work to be done at the experiment station, was by far too much to be done properly by the members of the faculty, who are connected with the Agricultural Department. They passed acts which have for their purpose the complete separation of the college from the experiment station. Heretofore, many of our Agricultural professors would have as much as twenty hours per week theoretical or class-room work, and, in addition, so much work at the experiment station that he was crowded for time at any time. This will now be avoided, and both the college and the station will be benefited, and also the coast experimental station, near Summerville, S. C.

Mr. J. E. Wannamaker, chairman of the committee on the coast work, is empowered with authority to go ahead and not only arrange the site of the station, but have the farm drained and the needed houses built.

Another important result of the meeting was the election of several members of the faculty to their respective positions. Among these were: Professor D. O. Nurse, Assistant Professor of Animal Husbandry; Dr. F. H. H. Calloun, Professor of Geology and Miner-

INTER-SOCIETY CONTEST.

DELEGATES TO GREENWOOD.

On the evening of March 20, the inter-society contest, for the purpose of selecting a speaker to represent Clemson at the State Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Contest in Greenwood, was held in the chapel.

There was a large and appreciative audience, consisting of both students and faculty, present; and the efforts of the speakers were met with hearty applause. The speeches were all excellent—in fact as good as any that have ever been delivered upon the chapel rostrum, and better than most that have been delivered there. For nearly an hour, the audience was held spell-bound by forensic flights of oratory, bewitching in their beauty and convincing in their logic. All three contestants delivered very creditable speeches, and it was indeed a difficult matter for the judges to decide who should represent Clemson at Greenwood. The cadet brass band skillfully rendered some appropriate pieces during the intermissions between speeches. Since the arrival of Mr. Peterson, the band has developed into a very creditable musical organization.

Mr. S. E. Bailes, of the Palmetto Literary Society was the presiding officer. In a few well-chosen sentences, he welcomed the audience to the contest, in behalf of the three societies that he represented. He explained the object of the contest, stating that the successful contestant would have the honor of representing Clemson at the Inter-Collegiate contest in Greenwood. He stated that contrary to the usual custom a gold medal would be awarded to the successful

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN PRACTICE

As a result of the change which has placed the Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament in the spring instead of the fall, the tennis players appointed a committee at a recent meeting to arrange a tournament for the selection of men to represent the college. Considering the lack of training of the team sent to the last Tournament, the showing which they made was so satisfactory as to promise a good chance of success for the team that is to be sent this time. The three men who make up the team will be chosen from the winners of the tournament, one for the singles and two for the doubles.

A lack of courts would have made it almost impossible to have played off all the matches, if the Y. M. C. A. had not offered theirs.

The prompt response of the applicants has made it possible to get all of the arrangements made and to get two of the sets of doubles played off. By getting in one set every afternoon and three or four on Saturdays, the committee hopes to have the tournament finished by May 1st.

Every tennis player and lover of athletics should lend his aid to make this tournament a yearly event, and should place this report on the high plane which it deserves.

Mr. W. A. Robinson has just returned from Greenville, where he attended the spring term of court as a witness.

Vice president of the class, Mr. L. A. Coleman, has recently made his debut as a ladysman.

The committee appointed some time before Christmas to look into the matter of getting class rings made, have secured prices and samples from several well known manufacturers, and the only thing to be done now is to bring the matter before the class and get a decision as to choice of design and price. It was decided, last year, not to get the class rings until nearly commencement, as it is a hard matter to tell, until the last exams, have passed, whether or not one will graduate. The class agreed with the '07 class that a standard design should be established and the same one be used by each class. For this reason, the ring will be essentially the same as the one used by the class of '07.

Mr. W. K. Tavel, who plays the cornet in the Band, has accepted an offer, from the management of the Glenn Springs Hotel, to manage the orchestra there this summer. Mr. Tavel is an accomplished musician and will doubtless fill the position very satisfactorily. Mr. McDavid, who is in the Band, has also been secured for the summer.

Since Lent has begun, the usual few social functions, such as dances, to which the cadets have access, have been discontinued. The last formal Senior dance which was scheduled for March 6, but was postponed on account of Examinations, will be given some time during the latter part of April or the first of May. The exact date has not been decided as yet.

The work on theses has been taken up in earnest and will fill in all the spare time and vacant hours from now until June. Doubtless some interesting scientific facts will be developed during this time, especially by the Agriculture lists, whose subjects deal entirely with conditions in this state. and turned-up rousers, and left on flying visits to the home folks—at least, we suppose it was the home folks—on Friday, the thirteenth after examinations. Despite the evil omen of the date, all these enterprises were seemingly prosperous.

Calhoun's birthday also offered a welcome respite from work at a time when no student feels like working; that is, just after a week of exams. It is literally true that on Wednesday the 18th, the woods were full of Freshmen—hot, happy, free Freshmen.

The beginning of the third term of the college year marks the date when the Agricultural Freshmen must lay aside the plane and take up the sledge. Some of the brawny, sooty, embryo blacksmiths find the work much to their liking; but there are others who bid fair to form a real "anvil chorus," they having already begun to "knock" the work, the forgés, the tools, and everything within easy reach. Cut it, fellows. Don't knock anything but the hot iron, and don't hit that so very hard. In short, strike while the iron is hot; work while there is yet time. This term represents the home stretch. You have covered two-thirds of the track, and your goal is the Sophomore Class. We know it is hot running in hot weather, but the prize is worth striving for. No matter if you have "dunked" already; a race is often won at the tape line. Don't let the other fellow put you down and out; keep a-going.

Since the return of Mr. N. E. Byrd, the chance for the Naval Academy appointment falls to the first alternate, Mr. C. V. Fairey. It is not positive as yet whether Mr. Fairey will be able to avail himself of this opportunity, but should he decide to do so, then here's luck to him.

In an accident on the ball grounds on Saturday 21st, Mr. J. F. Sherard sustained a very painful injury in the thigh. We hope Mr. Sherard will soon be back at his position on the field, with a sound pair of pins under him.

All of our track and baseball men are showing up well. But from the large number of men in this class, it certainly seems as if there would be more men who could fill useful positions in these two departments of athletics. Track athletics especially need encouragement at Clemson, and the men who are to lead the runners in the races of the next two or three years are now in the Freshman Class.

The Columbian

The meeting of the Columbian on Friday evening was fully up to the usual standard. Those on duty showed that they had given their subjects careful study, which added greatly to the impressiveness of their speeches and the effectiveness of their argument in the debate.

Mr. J. B. Keith, the declaimer, by his splendid delivery and wonderful mastery of expression, commanded the closest attention of the houses seem to find "The Fate of the American Indian." The house was on the tiptoe of expectancy when the orator of the evening, Mr. W. H. Scott, arose. Nor were they disappointed. He had chosen for his subject "The Race Problem," and the superb manner in which it was handled was, indeed, a credit to himself and to the Society.

After the oration followed the debate and the Query, "Resolved, That the action of the Legislature in not repealing the Lien Law was beneficial to the State," was ably discussed by the following gentlemen: Aff. Messrs. J. H. Barre, W. J. Roach, and D. W. Watkins; Neg. Messrs. F. B. Wise, F. H. Baxley and C. J. Hayden. Both sides of the question were well discussed. But the negative succeeded in convincing the judges that they had a little better of the argument, which was confirmed by a vote of the house.

The matter of electing a man to represent the Columbia Society in the Annual Contest for the Trustee's Medal was brought before the Society for discussion, and Mr. F. J. Crider was elected as the Columbian's representative, with Mr. S. J. Ezell as alternate.

After disposing of a few other business matters, the Society adjourned to meet again on 27th inst.

The Palmetto

The exercises on last Friday evening, while brief, still they came up to the usual standard. The query for the night was, resolved—That William Jennings Bryan should be our next president. On the affirmative were Messrs. Evans, Floyd and Friday, on the negative, Messrs. Jeter, Cromer and Saun-
MASS MEETING IN CHAPEL.

On Thursday evening, March 19, there was a mass meeting in chapel for the purpose of awakening some enthusiasm in the corps concerning the baseball season, which opens on the 28th. Chief Rooter Fike made a short talk in which he thanked the boys who were present for coming and charitably passed over the exceptional number of members of the varsity who were absent through no fault of their own. He declared that the three hundred members of the corps would be the best in the South. He emphasized the need of developing our many industries and made their state the greatest in little things.

The declaimer, Mr. Kimbrell, with rare dramatic skill, pictured a fire in Chicago. Mr. Kimbrell, with rare dramatic skill, pictured a fire in Chicago. The essayist, Mr. Thornhill paid a glowing tribute to Timrod. Mr. Sessions then delivered an oration in which he advised all college men to leave their native state. He says that year after year college men are educated by the state, then they leave for foreign fields of work. He enumerated and discussed the many infant industries in South Carolina that need developing. He declares that college men should stay within their state’s borders: assume charge of these many industries and make their state the greatest in the Union.

STUDENT KILLED PLAYING BASEBALL.

A very unusual accident occurred at Auburn several days ago, when a baseball player was killed while sliding bases. This was an unfortunate circumstance that would not occur one time in a thousand, and, indeed, the natural concern was with the Auburn student body by the sad happening which will in no way detract from the team’s success. Clemson’s connection with Auburn have always been very pleasant, and we are sure that we voice the sentiment of the entire Clemson student body when we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

The following clipping from The Atlanta Journal explains some of the circumstances of the unfortunate affair:

Montgomery, Ala., March 19.—S. H. Smith, a student at the Alabama Polytechnic, was fatally hurt last afternoon while playing ball on the grounds at Auburn. A ball thrown to second base as the catcher struck him on the back of the head. He fell as if hit with a hammer, and died last night with hemorrhage of the brain. The body of Smith went through the city today under escort of company to Bessemer, his home.

"Every Christian college man would like to have three questions answered for him: 1. How may I come to know more thoroughly the great realities of the Christian Religion? Is Christianity real, or is it a mysterious something not to be understood? (2) How can these realities be brought to bear on the practical problems of college life—how increase the efficiency of our Association? (3) Where can I serve the world best and most efficiently—or what is my life calling?"

"The Southern Student Conference of the Young Men's Christian Association attempts to answer these most difficult questions. It also attempts to answer many minor questions and give men a broader outlook on college life than can be gotten in any other single gathering in the South.

"High up in the mountains of North Carolina, at the foot of Mount Mitchell, Greybeard and the Craggies, fifteen miles east of Asheville, on the Sauselbury division of the Southern Railway, are the hotels of the Mountain Retreat Association (R. R. Station, Black Mountain, N. C.). These three hotels, with grounds and equipment, have been leased for the use of the Conference. The overhanging mountains, the crystal waters of a branch of the Swannanoa River, and the bracing mountain air, furnish the natural conditions for an ideal conference."

The above paragraphs, taken from a pamphlet issued by the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, give in brief the object and the location of the Southern Student Conference. There will be accommodations for four hundred men, and Clemson students will be of the largest individual delegation in South this year. We had the second largest delegation last year—21 delegates—and the almost phenomenal growth of our Association this year has been largely due to the training and the inspiration that our delegates received at the Conference last summer. The Conference meets this year from June 12—21 inclusive, and Clemson should send at least fifty pick-ed men. If this is done, there will be such a revolution in the moral and religious life of the student body at Clemson next year as will make the heart of every true Clemson man thrill with pride and make glad the heart of our able and popular secretary, Mr. Legate, who has done so much for the establishment of our already splendid organization.

It is with sincere regret that the Association received the announce-ment from Mr. Legate that he will not remain with us any longer than this session. He will go to either Harvard or Princeton to pursue his studies. During the three years that he has been at Clemson, he has built up one of the best Young Men's Christian Associations in the whole Southland, and many of the sweetest recollections in the future lives of many Clemson students will be of the many helpful suggestions and examples of Christian living given them by this genial and versatile friend of young college men.

The following delegates from the Clemson College Sunday School will attend the State Sunday School Convention to be held at Union on April 1—3 inclusive: Professors Keitt, Bryan, and Morrison, and Mr. Lezate, and Cadets Lewis, S. term examinations, we begin the final term of the session. Our work during this term will largely determine our promotion to a higher class, and in the case of the Seniors, successful completion of the college course. So, let us begin well, and strive to do better work than we have ever done before. Every man who expects to graduate in June should try to make this term's work the most successful of his college course. Do not feel that a mere pass mark is the desired goal—we should get accustomed to doing our best in everything that we undertake, and when we meet the stern realities of life, we shall be better prepared to cope with them, work with a will during these remaining months of the session, and put off play until the long-expected vacation.

Since the arrival of Coach Lynch, baseball has received a new impetus. Coach Lynch is a man of known ability in all things pertaining to the national game, and, if the members of the team will do their part, Clemson will make a baseball record this season that will gladden the hearts of its most enthusiastic fans. There is some good material on the diamond, which, with proper training, will develop into a fast and sure 'var.

A hard season is ahead of the team, and it will take a good bunch to play up to it with credit. We feel certain, however, that the team will make each and every opposing nine pay for what they get.

The Y. M. C. A. has all necessary apparatus for a basket ball team, and a court and the proper enthusiasm are the only things required to form a team. Let us wake up and do not let other colleges get ahead of us in anything. There is an ideal piece of ground behind the second barracks, which, with a little work, can be made into an excellent court.

What is the matter with a basket ball team at Clemson? Every college of any size in the country has a basket ball team, and we see no reason why Clemson should not have one. It is a very popular and interesting branch of athletics, and it is surprising that such little interest is taken in it here. Very little is known of the sport here, however, and it is to be hoped that Clemson will not much longer remain behind other institutions in this branch of sport.

Saturday night, March 14th, the seventh entertainment of the lyceum course was given in the chapel by the Broomell-Reed Concert company. The program was entirely musical and reading; but the instrument used, a harp, is one which we seldom have here, and, therefore, was novel.

The number was considered by all who attended as being one genuinely entertaining throughout. Miss Jeannette Turner Broomell, Reader and Impersonator, is one of the most attractive readers that has appeared before the Clemson audience. Her selections, "The First Pudding," and "The Last Day of School," were especially enjoyed. In the former, she described the labor involved in the young wife's first attempt at making a pudding; and her husband's seemingly ungrateful, yet queer, lack of appreciation of the too "richly browned" production. In the latter, many in the audience found a reminder of similar days in their past experience. The hesitating, timid little child, the confident little mess, and the stalwart young Demosthenes, as well as the "giggling" boy and girl, were all vividly presented. The charm of the reader lay not so much in the tone as in the impersonation. The characteristic mannerism of each type of individual presented was all strikingly reproduced.

The harpist and soprano, Miss Helen Beatrice Reed rendered several selections as harp solos, and sang several sweet songs to the accompaniment of the harp.

Clemson was very fortunate in having Rev. C. C. Herbert, of Camden, S. C., to conduct the chapel services March 22.

Professor T. G. Poats spent the second term examination week at his home in Virginia. He was called home on account of serious illness in his father’s family.

The mass meeting in the Memorial Hall on the evening of March 19 was very well attended, and as a result, we may expect cosmopolitan and systematic rooting.

Professor C. M. Furman, who spent the second term examination week in the “City by the Sea” returned to his home on the fifteenth after a very pleasant trip.

Mr. Sandy Houston paid Greenville, S. C., a short visit recently for the purpose of standing a civil service examination.

Mr. J. M. Gasque, of Marion, S. C., has accepted the position as bookkeeper in the commandant’s office, in the place made vacant by the resignation of Sarg’t. Fehan.

Mr. Wilson, the measuring agent of the Jacob Reed’s Sons Manufacturing company of Philadelphia, Pa., was on the campus several days taking measures for khaki uniforms.

Several of the cadets from nearby counties took advantage of the short leisure time immediately after the close of the second term examinations to visit their homes.

The Ananias Club celebrated the ninety-fifth anniversary of the birth of the great logician by a very appropriate and elaborate banquet in Seneca, S. C.

The Broome-Reed Concert company gave a delightful and well attended performance on the Lyceum Course on the evening of the fourteenth.

Sergeant Fehan who for some time has held the position of bookkeeper in the commandant’s office has resigned and gone to Washington, D. C.

Mr. Wyllis Taylor of the class ’05, who for several weeks has been doing civil engineering work on the campus, returned to his home in Greenville, S. C.

Mr. James Farmer of Anderson, S. C., paid his friends at Clemson a short visit recently. Mr. Farmer was formerly a member of the present senior class all of which were glad to welcome him back to Clemson.

Col. A. G. Shanklin has gone to the state experiment station near Summerville, S. C., where he is employed in civil engineering work as relating to the laying out into plots, drainage, and boundary of this property.

On Calhoun’s birthday, which is observed as a holiday at Clemson, several of the cadets visited nearby towns and made merry to do honor to the Carolinian, and to vary the monotony of their life here.

The Board of trustees held a regular meeting at this place some time ago.

New uniforms for the members of the track team arrived a few days ago. Those members of the team that are the, possessors of the black “C” have their “C” conspicuously located in the breast on the diagonal orange and purple band across the front of the uniform.

In a recent society contest, the Columbian Society decided upon Mr. G. Warren to represent them in the inter-society contest, the winner of which not only represents Clemson at the oratorical contest in Greenwood, but also is the deserving owner of a $15 medal. The Palmetto Society chose Mr. W. O. Pratt of Greenwood, and the Calhoun Society chose Mr. T. C. Heyward of Beaufort.

Coach Lynch, who was employed by the Athletic Council to fill the unexpired time of Coach Shangnessy, arrived here several days ago, and is now busy every afternoon rounding out the baseball team and making of it practically a mechanical device, each part of which has its own part to play and may be depended upon to do that part.

Every afternoon all the tennis courts are filled with candidates aspiring to a position on the team which is to represent Clemson in the Inter-Collegiate Tournament to be held in Greenville, S. C., sometime in the latter part of April. This is one branch of athletics in which previous to this time very little interest has been shown, but from present appearances, and Track.

With the near approach of the first meet, Dr. Calhoun is getting his men in fine shape. From the large bunch of material that was brought out the first of the season, a number of good men have been developed. When the first try-out for the team was held, quite a number of men showed up in good form.

In the weights, McLaurin and Fleming held their own, but Tru-heck, Furtick, and White made a good show. For the pole vault, there are Handel, Harris and Furtick, with the addition of two new men, Tarbox and Stev-ens. Warren is holding his old position at the broad jump, but is being closely followed by Turner and Harris. Captain Spratt will no doubt hold his place at the high jump, but the work of Jacobs and Barnett is very encouraging. The old men for the high hurdles are Spratt, Riser, Rosborough and M{l}ston. They are showing up in good form and also the work of Hill, Hodzie, and Miller deserves mention.

Owing to the work being done to the track, the try-out for the dashes and distances will be held later. There are many good fast men out for the races, and the run for these places on the team will be close.

In addition, the Board appropriated $2,400 for religious purposes. Five hundred dollars of this is to be given to each of the four denominations (Baptist, Methodist, Episcopalian, and Presbyterian) as a recompense for their pastors' work in conducting the Sunday morning chapel service and pastoral work on the campus. The extra four hundred will be used in getting ministers of other denominations from a distance to visit the college and conduct the services occasionally.

Mr. Bailes introduced as the first speaker Mr. G. Warren, of College, the representative from The Columbian Literary Society. "Christian Manhood" was the subject of Mr. Warren's oration. He spoke with vigor, and his logic was clear and concise. His speech was excellent from a standpoint of composition, and his delivery was good.

Mr. T. C. Heyward, of Beaufort, the representative from the Calhoun Literary Society was the second orator of the evening. Mr. Heyward's oration, which had for its subject, "The Spirit of Materialism," was a speech that any college speaker should be proud of. His delivery was all that could be desired in an orator, and his use of language was unsurpassed.

Mr. W. O. Pratt, of Greenwood, the representative of The Palmetto Literary Society, was the third and last speaker. "The Spirit of the Volunteer" was the subject of his speech. Mr. Pratt's oration was unusually good from a rhetorical standpoint, and his treatment of the subject in hand was faultless.

The judges, Dr. Fletcher, of Furman University, Hon. J. J. McSwain, of Greenville, and Dr. P. H. Moll, of Clemson, at the conclusion of the speeches, retired to make their decision. After carefully considering the contest, the judges returned; and Dr. Fletcher was chosen to announce the decision. He made a short speech commending the orations of all of the contestants, and spoke of South Carolina's famous orators. He announced the successful contestant to be Mr. T. C. Heyward, with Mr. W. O. Pratt as a close second.

Mr. Heyward delivered an excellent oration, and if he does as well at Greenwood, we predict that any one will not find it an easy task to win the medal over him.
