APRIL FOOL
THE JOKE WAS ON THE BOYS

There are but few people in the entire State that have not heard of the escapade at Clemson on the day of fools; but by believing all that is said through the columns of the newspapers, people who do not know the circumstances at Clemson, are in many cases misinformed.

As is natural, the feeling that existed in barracks on the evening of March 31 was one in which nearly all shared, and which sought for its satisfaction a few April fool pranks, which in themselves would have been harmless and not indicative of a spirit of insubordination. Upon the first appearance of disorder, a guard of eight or ten officers was put on, and with the exceptions of the exploding of a few torpedoes, the night passed away quietly and gave way to the dazzling sunbeams of morning which made diamonds of the dewdrops on an unmolested campus. The cadets, except the guards, were smiling bright, and happy and everything pointed towards a day of work and not of confusion. Reveille, police inspection and breakfast followed each other in rapid succession; but, when notice was announced of a joint meeting of the Junior, Sophomore, Freshman and Preparatory classes, the countenances of the Seniors fell as they realized the thoughtlessness and danger of any demonstration. At the sounding of the regular call for early morning drill, about 310 members of the lower classes, under chosen

TECH WINS BOTH
TIGERS BEATEN BY CLOSE SCORE.

The Clemson team arrived in Atlanta on Thursday night and registered at the Aragon Hotel. On Friday the game with the Georgia School of Technology was lost by the score of 4 to 2, and the one on Saturday by the score of 5 to 4. The games were close and interesting and are given below in detail.

The game was interesting from start to finish, there being only one hit and no runs till the eighth inning. Errors were few.

The scoring for Tech was done in the eighth, when a bunch of hits and a few errors, let four Tech men gallop across the plate.

Game in detail:

FIRST INNING.
Neither team was able to score for the first three innings. Clemson was first at bat and Coles, Kirby and Bissell went out in short order. Hits 0; runs 0.

McClure for Tech walked, but was thrown out at second when Hightower knocked a grounder to the infield, reaching first. Pitts

CELEBRATION.

Friday evening, March 27, the 14th annual celebration of the Calhoun Literary Society was held in the College Chapel. The exercises under the skillful management of Mr. W. M. Rosborough, the presiding officer, came off very smoothly and without hitch. Promptly at eight o'clock, the speakers were marshalled in to the strains of the band under the control of Mr. Peterson.

The presiding officer, after a few words of welcome, announced as the first speakers of the evening, the declaimers:

Mr. J. C. Harrison of Colleton; subject, “The Vindication of South Carolina,” and Mr. J. S. H. Clarkson of Richland; subject, “Wild Olive Wreath.” Both declamations were well made and did credit to the men who spoke them.

Next came the orators. Mr. T. C. Heyward of Beaufort; subject, “The Spirit of the Age,” and Mr. J. C. Littlejohn of Union; subject, “My Individual Responsibility.”

Mr. Heyward, with remarkable clearness of speech, vividly pictured the mad march of the world today towards materialism, and appealed to the men of today, and especially the Southern man, to push back the great onward rush of commercialism. Mr. Littlejohn’s oration was a very forceful one and commanded the attention of every thinking man in the audience before him.

The subject of the query for debate for the night was “Resolved that the United States should re-

CLASSES

Senior Class

The Class Committee which was appointed several months ago to select and submit some invitations, made a report a few days ago and submitted their choice, an invitation bound in purple undress kid with the College seal in gold on front. The program appears on front page and the class officers and roll on second and third pages. It is by far the prettiest invitation ever gotten out at Clemson, and the design reflects much credit on the members of the Committee.

The proof sheets of the “Caps” of ’08 have been returned and the management of the annual hopes to have the annual out by May 15th.

The Board of Editors have worked hard to make this the best annual ever published at Clemson and the proof shows that if not the best it is one of the best.

The Seniors are beginning to practice baseball in anticipation of a Senior-Faculty game May 1st. There is good material in the Class and with enough practice they should be able to defeat the Faculty by a large score.

A large number of the Seniors expect to go to the Inter-collegiate Oratorical Contest in the latter part of April, and a large number are also planning to attend the Musical Festivals at Greenville and Spartanburg.

Freshman

No doubt by the time this issue of the Tiger reaches the eye of the reader, the majority of the Freshman class will have reached home, sweet home. While most of us regret the incident which caused us to leave, we realize that it is too late to remedy the wrong that has been done and we resign ourselves to our fate, and take our punishment like men.

In case we are expelled, our classmates who did not go with us on the 1st. must not think of leaving College. Do not let such an idea enter your minds, fellows. We would not have you leave on our account for anything. You must take into consideration that practically your whole future depends on the training that you are now receiving, so don’t let our going influence you an atom and do not take any rash step. Do not do anything unless you know positively that it is right or in other words “be sure you are right, then go ahead.”

It gives us great pain to leave Clemson, as it has been our home for the past several months; and we have formed friendships that we value very highly. In all probability we shall separate to meet no more, but it cannot be helped—we have disregarded the rules of the institution and we must suffer the consequences.

“Skin” Allen, by the manly stand that he has taken, has won the respect, and admiration of the entire corps. After he had been dismissed, he advised those who did not join us on the 1st, not to leave for their homes as most of them had decided to do. In case we were dismissed, but to remain, and work always for the welfare of our beloved College. Very few men can be found who would have acted as he did.

I thank you sincerely for electing me your reporter for the Tiger. I certainly consider it a great honor. I have endeavored to do my best, and I can only hope that my work has been satisfactory. With this, I suppose, I have penned my last column for the Freshman Class. Farewell.

Ask Mapps why he powders his face before he goes to work.

“BETSY HAMILTON.”

On the evening of March the twenty-eighth, Mrs. James Moore, as Betsy Hamilton, gave a delightful humorous recital in the Columbian Literary Society Hall. Mrs. Moore, who is very widely known as one of America’s best elocutionists, proved her real worth, and substantially her reputation in the recital. The recital was humorous throughout and was of such a nature as to produce a hearty laugh from the sternest. As an impersonator of southern characters, she is undoubtedly without an equal, and her sketches of country life in our dear Southland in ante-bellum days, are as true to nature as the winds that blow and the rains that fall. To those who are acquainted with the ideas and speech of the negroes, the recital was especially interesting, as her dialect was an exact reproduction of that of the slaves of our fathers.

Mrs. Moore’s recital was composed of absolutely original work, and this fact goes to substantiate her reputation as a good writer.

Mrs. Moore is the guest of her daughter Mrs. W. M. Riggs, and it was only good fortune that the management of the ’08 annual procured her for this performance. They are to be congratulated not only upon the neat little sum of the coin of the realm that was laid by; but also upon being the means by which the comparatively large audience of cadets and people of the hill were given an opportunity to hear such a delightful recital.

In addition to her impersonations and other humorous dialect stories, Mrs. Moore recited an unpublished poem by Captain John Moore of Alabama, entitled “Out in the Snow,” which is one of the best and truest memoranda of conditions existing during the Civil War.

personability, Mr. Littlejohn made an excellent presiding officer, we felt that he always had the interest of the Society at heart.

The newly installed president made a few remarks to the Society in appreciation of the honor conferred upon him. We are looking to him to assist the Society to do good work in the few days before commencement.

The regular exercises came up to their usual standing. The debate was handled well and was very much enjoyed by all.

Mr. C. T. Rice, who made an extemporaneous speech, presented an earnest plea for more men to write articles for the College publication.

The pleasure of the evening was shared with the work of the Calhouns and congratulated us on our exercises. Visitors can always feel welcome to join us at any time.

The Society feels very much the loss of the Junior members. We deplore their leaving; but wish them every success.

On account of the absence of the President, Mr. E. L. Martin filled the chair and conducted the exercises of the Columbian on Friday evening. When the roll was called there was only a very few who did not respond, showing that the recent irregularities in college work effected very slightly the attendance of the meeting, which is indeed gratifying.

The declaimers of the evening, Messrs. C. F. Middleton and W. H. Phillips seemed at their best, and commanded the closest attention of the house. Both of these men are excellent workers, and we predict for them a bright future in Society work.
addressed the student body and faculty on Sunday evening, March 29. The meeting was one of the best attended of the year, the chapel being filled. Dr. Verner told of his work in the dark continent and its influence on the commercial and scientific development of the continent. His address was thoroughly appreciated because of the authority with which he spoke. It is one of the privileges of college education, to hear the men who are making nations, leading international movements and having a world perspective. And our Association has been conspicuously successful this year in getting such men for the Sunday night meetings.

We secured another treat on Sunday night April 5, when Mr. Geo. C. Hood spoke to an overflow house on the call of foreign field men.

Mr. Hood is an '07 graduate from Amherst College, and is traveling with the Student Volunteer movement building up the missionary interests of colleges. Altho' Mr. Hood came at a most inopportune time still he has been able to accomplish much. He has endeared himself to all who were fortunate enough to meet him by his sympathy and wise counsel. He saw the situation at a glance and was at once a useful friend. We hope Mr. Hood can visit us again after we settle down.

TIGERS LAMBAST CLINTON.

The baseball team of the Presbyterian College of South Carolina met defeat here on Saturday, the 28th, by a score of 7 to 2. The game was rather slow; but, it being the first game of the season, was nevertheless interesting. The campus was flocked with visitors, mostly our female fans.

The game began promptly at 4 o'clock with the following men participating:

Clemson
Benefits 1f
McCarter, Eugene Lachicotte, Baxter
McGrew, Walter
Cochran 2b
Wylie 4
Coles 12b
Henderson, Crisp
Godman 68
Copeland
Farrar
Watdrop, Lachicotte, Baxter, Wood.

The first inning ended with the score 1-0 in Clemson's favor. Clinton failed to score again next inning while the Clemson players touched Shaw for two hits, three runs and a number of stolen bases. Then Corbett for Clinton pasted the sphere to center field for a clean hit, which scored one of the McCarter brothers. In the third, Clemson took another spring in the tally column. Kirby hit for one base, Cochran hit over second, Kirby scored, Cochran went to third, when Power fumbled Bissell's slow one. Pat Wylie hit over third, scoring Cochran. Bissell outed between home and third. Wylie scored when second fumbled Baxter's bunt.

The rest of the game passed off slowly, with a few interesting features sandwiched between errors, hits, and strikeouts.

The Clemson team easily showed their superiority over the Presbyterian team, however; and with the bright prospects already mentioned, makes us feel that the baseball team of 1908 will be the best ever.

Coach Lynch says, "The game was pretty fair."

Coach Robertson says, "We have a line on the players now."

Capt. Lee says, "The game might have been better."

Everybody else says, "Keep it up boys, we are with you."

THE 1908 CONVENTION OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA COLLEGE PRESS-ASSOCIATION

The recent convention of the South Carolina College Press Association held at Spartanburg, was in every way a marked success. The two colleges, Wofford and Converse, seemed untiring in their efforts to make the perfect enjoyment of the visiting delegates complete. It is entirely needless to say that these exertions amply accomplished the desired end; and when, on the evening of the twenty-eighth the convention adjourned, there was not one delegate present who did not regret that the good times were over.

The details of the convention are given below.

On Friday the twenty-seventh, at 11:30 a.m. the meeting was called to order in the Preston Society hall of Wofford College by President Willis. The object of this meeting, while pertaining to business matters, was more of a social nature. After an informal session, during which the various delegates became acquainted with one another, the amendments to the constitution were discussed and passed upon. However, before the business was attended to, Dr. Snyder of Wofford, made to the visiting delegates a very appropriate address of welcome. After a session of about two hours the convention adjourned till the afternoon.

The afternoon session was held in one of the society halls of Converse college. At this meeting, the business carried over from the morning was attended to. Several new amendments were passed. When all the business had been attended to, the meeting adjourned.

In the Converse college parlors at eight-thirty in the evening the staff of the concert gave a reception to the delegates. This reception was, beyond all doubt, one of the most delightful events of the convention. The young ladies of Converse exerted themselves to the utmost to make this occasion one of the most enjoyable; and well did they succeed. So well were the representatives of the various college magazines entertained that nobody took notice of the flight of time, and everyone regretted that it was impossible to command the hands of the clock to stop. This reception was more than a credit to the concert staff or the college; and Spartanburg is certainly to be congratulated on being the home of Converse College.

On the morning of the twenty-eighth the meeting was convened at Wofford. At this meeting, papers of the various delegates were read. Miss Furman of Winthrop read a splendid paper in which she gave some valuable suggestions to the literary editors of the magazines.

The next paper was read by Miss Anne Gilleylen of Converse. This young lady gave us a good contrast between the literary and the other features of college life. Mr. Sheppard, of the University of South Carolina, in his paper gave some very good hints to the exchange editors, which, if carried out, would prove of lasting benefit to the magazines. The next subject, "How can the College Journal be made a Financial Success" was ably treated by our own representative, Mr. McLendon. Mr. McLendon's suggestions, if followed, would no doubt, obviate many of the difficulties that now confront the business managers. As Furman's representative was for some unaccountable reason absent, Mr. McLendon's paper was the last on the program. Professor Evans gave an interesting talk on the college magazine in general. Messrs. Pratt and Gonzales gave talks showing the advantage of having a college paper. The meeting then adjourned till the afternoon.

At this afternoon session the winners of the medals were announced. These were: Best poem and best essay, College of Charleston; best story, Wofford College. After this one or two amendments were passed. Then the places from which next year's officers are to come were appointed. These were:

- President, University of South Carolina; First Vice President, Clemson College; Second Vice-President, College of Charleston; Recording Secretary, College for Women; Corresponding Secretary, Columbia College; Treasurer, Converse College. After these appointments, the meeting adjourned.

Saturday evening a banquet at Bishop Bros. Cafe was enjoyed by the delegates. This banquet was one of the social events of the convention. The features of the evening were the toasts, which were ably given by the delegates who had been chosen for this occasion. Toastmaster Willis presided. The following toasts were given:

- "The Visiting Delegates", Miss Mattie Harney, Converse; "The Association", Mr. P. L. Geger, Newberry; "The College Girl of South Carolina," Mr. W. O. Pratt, Clemson; "The College Boy of South Carolina," Miss Sara Furman, Winthrop; "Our Successors," Mr. J. C. Sheppard Jr., University of S. C.; "Spartanburg," Miss Sallie McGee, Greenville Female College; "The Officers," Miss Corrine Barfield, College for Women; "What we have Accomplished," Miss Anne Gilleylen, Converse; "After it is Over," Mr. D. W. Neville, Presbyterian College of S. C., "We're Glad You Came," Mr. J. C. Hardin, Wofford College.

After the banquet, the convention of 1908 was declared at an end; and it was with a feeling of regret that the jolly times could not longer continue that the delegates left. Every representative felt that the convention of 1908 was the most successful ever held.

Wofford and Converse colleges well deserve the vote of thanks that was extended to them. It seems impossible that the entertainment given the delegates can ever be surpassed; and Spartanburg is justly proud of her two colleges.

The officers of the Association for 1908 were:

- President, Mr. J. Archie Willis, Wofford; First Vice-President, Mr. J. L. Dukes, J. L. Hydridck, J. A. Willis, L. K. Jennings, B. M. Allshow, W. B. Garret, J. C. Hardin, R. B. Hicks, R. A. Brown, and L. K. Breedon.

The delegates present were:

- Converse; Misses Mattie Harney, Margie Simpson, Margie McAllum, Sue More Lipscomb, Anne Gilleylen, Ernestine Clark, Celeste Blackwell, Adeline Johnstone, Julia Drake, Mary Anderson, Anne Wienges, Anna Chritletzberg, Beaumont Sims, Fannie Harris, Janie Thornton, and Edna Ellerbe.
- Erskine; Messrs. McCormick and White.
- Newberry; Messrs. Kester; Johnstone, Geiger, and Halfacre.
- Carolina; Messrs. Gonzales and Sheppard.
- Clinton; Mr. Neville.
- Winthrop; Misses Furman and Watkins.
- College for Women; Misses Barfield, Heyward, and Mattison.

G. F. C., Misses McGee, Pack, and Coleman.
Columbia College: Miss Epton.
Clemson College: Messrs. McLendon, Pratt, Crider, and Twiggs.

KLYPT.

At Harvard a special committee has been appointed to provide for the suitable reception of visiting athletic teams. Not a bad idea, and one that might well be adopted by other colleges. The time ought to have come when visiting teams could feel that they are guests of the college visited, and not strangers among enemies. It is easy to see a number of practical ways in which such a committee could be of real service, and could do much to bring about a better feeling between colleges having athletic relations with each other.

Three hundred out of a total of eight hundred students at Mississippi A. & M. College at Starksville quit on January 11 because the president declined to recognize their right to protest against the condition of the mess hall and quality of the food furnished. The entire senior class is among the number declared in rebellion.

Editorial

The opening game of the season, with Clinton, showed the Clemson team up in fine form. Every man played his position well, and showed the results of Coach Lynch’s excellent training system. Almost the full pitching staff and candidates for other positions were given a chance to show what could be expected of them in the games later in the season. All of the pitchers showed up well, and Clemson bids fair to have one of the strongest pitching staffs this season that she has had in years. Both the infield and outfield were on their mettle, and good team work was shown throughout the game.

Coach Lynch has the right idea in coaching a baseball team. He keeps a comparatively large squad on the field, and no man knows whether he has made good or not. If a player does not come up to the standard, another is put in his place. Thus by constantly keeping a man alive to the fact that he must play hard to keep his position, he does his best and does not feel a tendency to shirk, as is sometimes the case with men who know that they have no opposition.

The spirit in which the boys, who were dismissed for going to Pendleton on the first of April, took their punishment showed that they were men of the first water. They realized that they had done wrong, and they took their punishment with uniform manliness that is seldom found in such a large body of men. The juniors set an example of gentlemanly conduct, and the other classes showed that they were made of the same stuff. There was no spirit of resentment shown by the dismissed men, and they received the announcement of their punishment quietly, with no indication of the spirit of rowdism because of their release from the regulations of the College. Our sincere good wishes go with the men who were dismissed, and we hope that the unfortunate affair of April 1 will not discourage them, but will in- instill in them the determination to complete their education that was so rudely cut off.

It is seldom that students have the opportunity to hear a man of such wide experience as Doctor Verner. He delivered one of the most interesting and instructive lectures that we have ever heard at Clemson, and many hazy ideas of the dark continent were cleared up by his lucid descriptions of life and customs there. Dr. Verner’s lecture was of added interest because of the fact that he is a native South Carolinian, born a little more than a mile from Clemson College. We tender a vote of thanks to the Y. M. C. A. for the treat they gave us in securing Dr. Verner to lecture here. The attendance of the students and faculty was gratifying.
Mr. Bomar, representing the Bomar-Crigler Clothing Company of Spartanburg, S. C., paid Clemson a short business visit sometime ago.

Gus Keasler, an old Clemson Tiger, visited us sometime ago, and while here took in the Clemson-Clinton game on the 28th.

Mr. J. E. Cheatham who graduated at Clemson, captain in 1901, paid his alma mater a visit recently.

Mr. R. H. Fike, who is busying himself in preparation for taking up the "Cherry" industry immediately upon graduation.

Mr. J. A. Dusenbury of Abbeville, S. C., visited Clemson recently on business.

Miss Bug Norris of Greenville, S. C, is visiting friends on the Campus.

Mr. Littlejohn of Jonesville, S. C, visited his son, Cadet J. C. Littlejohn of the Senior Class a few days ago.

Mr. Osborn, the agent of the Kahn Tailoring Company of Louisville, Ky., visited Clemson and took several orders on the 21st. At the same time we were also honored by a visit by Mr. Bell, the salesman for Reese & Bolt Company of Anderson, and Seligman of Anderson, was showing his samples. Clemson Cadets surely ought to be well dressed if opportunities for buying count anything.

The many friends of our librarian, Miss Trescott, are glad to see her out again after her few days of sickness.

Mr. J. W. Reid paid his son Cadet J. C. Reid a visit recently.

Mr. W. A. Brazeale, an old Clemson man, visited the College recently and expressed himself as being very favorably surprised at the progress of the College since 1898.

The first game of the Tigers was played on the campus on March 28th with the team from the Presbyterian College of South Carolina at Clinton. The game was considered more of a practice game than one of real consequence, and its result, 7 to 2 in favor of Clemson, was very satisfying to Coach Lynch considering the fact that not only five pitchers were used but scrub men in nearly every other position were given a try out.

Dr. Philip Verner, the scientist and noted explorer of Africa, while on his way back to the dark continent after a short visit to his old home in Pickens county, stopped over at Clemson, and while here gave a delightful lecture to the corps of Cadets and people of the hill. His subject embraced several of his African experiences and was not only very interesting, but was exceedingly instructive.

Mrs. James Moore of Alabama is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. M. Riggs. Mrs. Moore is a splendid dialect-speaker and impersonator and as "Betsy Hamilton" she gave a performance in the Columbian Literary Society Hall on the evening of March 28, that stands unexcelled by anything of its kind ever heard at Clemson.

Mr. B. B. Henry, representing the Henry Tailoring Company of Spartanburg, was in barracks some-time ago taking orders for tailor-made clothing.

Mrs. Twiggs of Spartanburg visited her son, H. C. Twiggs, of the Junior Class recently.

Miss Bessie Rast of Greenville Female College, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. C. Tucker.

Mr. Sandy Houston visited Atlanta sometime ago and witnessed the Tech-Clemson games.

The Clemson-Clinton baseball game on March 28 was attended by several couples from Pendleton, Anderson, Greenville and Seneca.

The Calhoun Literary Society held its anniversary celebrations in the Memorial Hall on the evening of March 27.

Among those who attended the South Carolina State Sunday School Convention at Union, S. C. from March 30-April 5 were Professors Morrison and Keitt and Bryan; also cadets Lewis, Gee, Bailes, Ezell, Morgan, Pridmore, Hydrick, Roach, Kennedy. Professor Keitt, was President of the State Sunday School association.

Mr. H. Smith, representing the firm of Smith and Bristow of Greenville was a recent visitor of Clemson.

Several sad mothers and fathers were seen around the college just after and during the trial of those cadets in the April fool escapade.

On February first our Clemson Club of Schenectady held its annual meeting for election of officers and transaction of such other routine business as would come up. Officers were elected as follow:

T. S. Gandy '03, President.
V. Baker, '04, Vice-President.
W. A. Holland Jr., '03, Sec. and Treasurer.
P. G. Langley, '96, Chairman Social Committee.
P. H. Adams, '06, Chairman Finance Committee.
W. S. Baskin, '06, Chairman Sick Committee.

At this meeting the constitution... was completely revised and made over, doing away with the regular monthly meetings and providing only one regular business meeting annually, of course giving the president authority to call other meetings at his discretion. The section supplanting an annual banquet was also omitted, and the matter of entertainment left entirely to the social committee.

On Sunday morning, February twenty-second, the crowd met in White's studio to have a club photograph taken. Iky Savage was absent on account of illness and Billy Snead was kept away by the arrival at his house of a new member of the club in the shape of William, Jr.

Saturday evening, March fourteenth, we had a smoker and Dutch supper' and we were very much pleased to have with us the entire Pittsfield "bunch" consisting of G. R. and J. H. Barksdale, W. L. Schaeute, O. D. Wood, R. A. Easterling, J. B. Bailey, W. B. White, and M. L. Elder. There were no absences among the Schenectadians and a most enjoyable evening was spent in telling stories, reminiscences of experiences since leaving school and in singing again the old songs. Since the Pittsfielders felt obliged to return immediately to their home, the meeting was adjourned in time for them to catch the eleven o'clock car for Albany.

Plans are being made for a joint Pittsfield-Schenectady outing and baseball game, when we expect to repay the Auburn aggregation the drubbing which they gave us last fall. With the two Barksdales, Wood, Bailey and Schaeute added to our home talent we ought to muster a nine that can out-play any alumni team in the country. This occasion will probably come off in the early summer.

Any Clemson men at any time intending to come to Schenectady on business, to live, to visit, or for any purpose whatsoever will confer a favor upon the club by notifying W. S. Baskin, 629 Terrace Place, Schenectady, N. Y., chairman of the reception committee.

TECHS WIN BOTH.

FOURTH INNING.

Clemson’s first three men went out in short order. Hits 0; runs 0.

Davenport reached first on being hit by pitched ball. Buchanan sacrificed Davenport, Buchanan out. Pease walked. Luck and Pease were hit by pitcher. fractions Sandifer, but on an error Sandifer scored. Pease flied out to third. Luck knocked a hot grounder to third, Pease and Hightower scored, Roberts made the third out. Hits 0; runs 0.

FIFTH INNING.

Cochran flied out to right field. Lee went out from short to first. Brown knocked a pop fly to third. Hits 0; runs 0.

McClure went out from second to first. Hightower struck out. Tipps hit to pitcher, but reached first on Farmer's error. Pitts scored, Roberts made the third out. Hits 0; runs 0.
Wyley was caught off third. Hits, 2; runs, 2.

SECond GAMe.

The first two innings were uneventful. In the third the Tigers scored. Pitts, of Tech, was given a free pass by Waldrop. Chip Robert was hit by the pitcher. Davenport uncorked a neat sacrifice, advancing both men. Buchanan hit an easy one to Waldrop, who shot it to the catcher, who let it go by. On the error Pitts and Robert dashed across the plate. Buck was first to second, by Pease's hit to the pitcher, on the latter's error Pease was safe at first. Buck stole the third bag and on Wylie's wild throw to second went home. Luck grounded out, retiring the side.

In the fifth inning, on a series of errors the Tigers sent two men across the plate. Tech was retired without a run.

In the seventh, neither side scored; but in the eighth Clemson managed to push a man across the plate.

In the ninth everything looked like Clemson. Two men for Tech got on bags, but not until there were two outs. A hot grounder to short, who threw wild to first did the bloody work. The Yellowjacket runner shot across like a flash, tying.

Both sides failed to score in the tenth, in the eleventh the first three men up for the Tigers went down. After two outs, Pitts was given a free pass by Farmer. The next man was hit by a pitched ball. Hightower did the work with a hot one to short, who threw wild to first, and Pitts came in on the error.

nine men of the Junior class were dismissed from college and one man suspended for the remainder of the session. At dinner Cadet T. S. Allen made a very eloquent and touching talk to the boys, and called upon them to stand up for the right, and work for the best interest of the college. He released the members of the under classes from their pledge to stand by the crowd and advised those who could to remain at the college and strive for its best interest.

Between their dismissal and the time of their departure for their homes, the behavior of the Juniors was the very best; through this, they showed themselves to be high-toned gentlemen in every respect.

The guilty members of the Sophomore, Freshman, and Preparatory classes were tried on the 6th and 7th; and on the morning of the 8th they were given their sentence of dismissal. On account of the confusion in barracks, and the extremely tiresome work on the part of the discipline committee, all classes were suspended on the 8th.

The 306 men that were dismissed went quietly to their homes, thinking themselves not criminals, but victims of a dangerous joke.

leaders, let out a yell and ran pell-mell across the campus, by all the officers on duty, and went down the road towards Pendleton, S. C. In the meantime, those members of the under classes who did not go, together with the members of the Senior class, and athletic teams, formed and had a short drill. Call to quarters was sounded, sentinels were posted in the halls, a close inspection of barracks was made. After the roll call, the cadets present took up their regular scheduled work.

The participants in the escapade marched a distance of four miles to Pendleton, S. C., at which town they spent the day. It was to be noted that the behavior of the cadets while in Pendleton was very quiet and gentlemanly, and anything but boisterous and unsoldierlike. The return about five o'clock, of the runaways, had been wired to several members of the corps that remained at the College and was looked for with a sense of curiosity by the cadets in barracks. At retreat, an hour after their return, every cadet showed up, and the only topics for discussion were “a big time in Pendleton,” and “what will be done with us.”

Since then the latter question has been under the process of the Discipline Committee, the result or final verdict is as yet unknown to us, and is the subject of unending speculations.

It might be added, that while in Pendleton, most of the boys signed a paper pledging themselves to stick to their classmates and comrades in this affair.

LATER DEVELOPMENT.

Following close upon the heels of the April Fool escapade, came the trial of those members of the Junior class that participated in the fun. All were put under arrest and called up one by one and questioned closely upon every detail pertaining to the escapade. On the morning of March 4, the regiment was formed and all participants in the Sophomore, Freshman and Preparatory classes were placed under arrest, and forty-linquish all claims on the Philippine possessions.” The affirmative was very ably represented by Mr. W. C. Pitts of Laurens, who advanced proof after proof that the possession of the islands was undesirable. But the convincing logic of Mr. G. W. Keitt of Pickens, who represented the negative, carried the hearts of the judges.

And after retiring for several minutes, Prof. Bradley, who was the spokesman for the judges—Professors Bradley and Poats, and Dr. P. H. Mell, after an appropriate introductory speech, announced that in “The Spirit of the Age,” the “Vindication of South Carolina” had been effected, and the Philippines had been retained. The successful contestants, to whom the medals were awarded are declaimer, J. C Harrison, orator, T. C Heywood; and debater, G. W. Keitt.

The exercises were fully up to the standard set by the previous Celebration of the two other societies, and reflect credit upon the society represented.

JACOB REED’S SONS

Make of “QUALITY” Uniforms

REED’S “Quality” Uniforms are designed and fashioned by skilled Military Tailors and made, throughout by competent workpeople. They are manufactured on our own premises in light, clean and airy work rooms under perfect sanitary conditions. These factors are important in the production of Uniforms of high character.

One of the most satisfactory departments in our Uniform business is that devoted to the outfitting of students of Military Schools and Colleges. The results we obtain are highly creditable and produce renewals of contracts year by year.
