Clemson-Tennessee Game.

On the morning of November 15, Coach "Stein" Stone, with his "Tiger" team, left for Knoxville, Tenn., to decide in a game on the following day with the University eleven, which of the two teams were to be victors in a battle over the "Pig Skin" oval. The trip, as a whole, was by far the best of the season, even ahead of the Nashville trip. The rivalry between the two institutions is such that causes much interest and enthusiasm. Though rivalry is keen between the two institutions, we always anticipate the meeting of the two teams with great pleasure, for well do we know, that while the game will be hard-fought it will at the same time be a clean, sportsman-like game. Such spirit not only shows the sentiments of the team, but the faculty and student body at large.

On this trip the much read of "Land of the Sky," and the notable scenery along the French Broad River, were the principal scenes of interest. And truly, they are well worth seeing and easily up to what is claimed for them.

The team arrived in Knoxville at 9 o'clock Friday night all safe and sound, and repaired to the Colonial Hotel for the night. The following morning found Mother Earth mantled in a three-inch blanket of snow, but later in the day the sun shown out, thus permitting the game to be played.

After raking, rolling and scraping away the snow, and draining the water from the field, it was at least put in a condition for swimming, and promptly at three o'clock in the afternoon the whistle blew for the opening of the game.

Owing to the muddy, sloppy condition of the field and the extreme cold of the wintry weather, the game was devoid of spectacular playing, costly fumbles and mud diving being substituted instead. But notwithstanding this handicap, the game was interesting, and at times, sensational. With both Captains out of the game and on the side line, it was a pretty sight to watch them prancing up and down the field, when the whistle blew and ready to go.

Leach at one time imagined that he was ordered on Twelve Years of Football at Clemson.

This is Clemson's 13th season in football, and it will probably be the most disastrous in her history, so far as victories go. The causes of failure to maintain our usual high standard are too well known to everybody of the corps to need explanation here. Suffice it to say, that seldom can a football player be made efficient in one year's training. Clemson will be strong next season, and will again come into her own—the defects of this season should make for victories in the next.

It may be interesting to the student body to review the record that Clemson has made in the twelve seasons prior to the present one.

Beginning on a field only one-half the size of the regulation gridiron—the level space in front of Barracks No. 2—and with men, only one of whom had ever seen a football, Clemson took from the beginning a commanding position in South Carolina, and the fifth season found her the athletic peer of any College in the South. In the twelve years under consideration, Clemson has played 68 games, scored 1,270 points, to 380 points by opponents; won 44 games, lost 17, and tied 7. Our intercollegiate games cover six States, in four of which we have won more games than we have lost, and in the other two, we have an even break, having won and lost an equal number.

The writer of this article has witnessed every one of the games below recorded.

Every College has its ups and downs, but the foregoing data of Clemson's football history will show that we have no right to complain, but every right to congratulate ourselves on what has been accomplished.

If the team this season can be imbued with more of that "do-or-die spirit" which has characterized the greatest of Clemson's teams in the past, we may yet make this season a substantial success by defeating Tech on Thanksgiving Day. As yet, the team has not shown enough of this spirit. It is too easily depressed by adversity, and too willing to admit defeat. This defect is, in a measure, characteristic of inexperienced players, but it must be corrected if we are to have success. That spirit which fights to the last, with dash and courage, whatever the score against us may be, is the spirit that will win games, or if it does not win, will yet bring credit to the College in defeat. This spirit was shown in the V. P. I. and Vanderbilt games, but it was lacking in both the Georgia and Davidson games, and its lack was, in a measure, the team; mentally, it is much above the average, its principle need is that unconquerable courage and dash necessary to success.

W. M. Riggs, 'Pres. C. A. C. A. A.

Clemson-Tech Game.

Before a crowd of about 8,000 people, the Yellow Jackets defeated the Tigers on Thanksgiving Day, at Ponce de Leon Park, by a score of 30 to 6. The crowd was largely Tech supporters, but the purple and orange was much in evidence. The weather was ideal from the standpoint of the spectators, but too warm for the players. The game was keen and spirited, but the best of feeling prevailed on both sides. Several of the players on both sides received some injuries, but none were very serious. Clemson was somewhat handicapped from the fact that Robbins, Coles, and White, Clemson's strongest three, have been nursing injuries, and have not had the practice they should have had. From the beginning it was seen that Tech was stronger, faster, and more experienced than the Tigers. It was freely expressed that Tech played fifty per cent better ball in the game against Clemson, than any previous games.

The line up:

Tech
Emerson E. Coles, Stevens
Green L. T. Gilmer
McPhaul L. G. Fleming
Moore Cochran
Patterson Wickman, Odom
McDowell R. T. Hydrick
Duncan Horton, Hankey
Roberis Q. B. White

The field; and, before anyone knew, he was in the melee, only to be brought back to the side line by Coach Lever.

The first few minutes of play showed the lack of older heads on the Tiger team, but the plucky little players from Carolina soon recovered from their stage fright, and held the veteran team from Tennessee down to a close score, only allowing them one touchdown. This being scored in fifteen minutes of play, Baker carrying it over on a line plunge. McCollum kicked an easy goal. Score, Tennessee 6, Clemson 0. This, however, put an end to Tennessee's scoring.

In the second half, a decided change had taken place the Clemsonites had taken on the "win-or-die in the attempt" spirit, and played like real demons, continually throwing the Volunteers for losses.

McFadden scored the only touchdown for Clemson in the second half, by recovering a fumbled ball behind Tennessee's goal line. White failed to kick goal. Half ended with ball in Tennessee's possession in center of field. Final score, Clemson 5, Tennessee 6.

The line-up as follows:

TEENESSEE POSITION CLEMSON
Roger Left End Horton
Brown Left Tackle Gilmer
Franklin Left Guard Fleming
Shannon Centre Cochran
Dougherty Right Guard Odorn
Walker & Weisenberg Right Tackle Hydrick
Johnson Right End Hankle
L. H. Weiser Quarter White
Perry Left Half McFadden
Baker Right Half Lokey
Roberts Full Back Boykin

Referee, Tichenor of Auburn; umpire, Dwyre of Pennsylvania; lineman, Green of Baker Himel. Time of halves 20 minutes.

Perry and McCollum were stars for the Tennessee eleven. While McFadden, Fleming, and Hydrick starred for the Carolinians.

We were very sorry not to have Prof. Riggs accompany the team on this trip, this being the second game in the history of the College that he has been unable to attend. Dr. F. F. H. Calhoun went in his stead, and it is to him that we credit the "Good Luck" 6 men.

Junior Johnson: "Fellows, let me tell you, I met the fairest of the fair in Columbia."

Soph. L.: "Brunette or Blonde?"

Junior Johnson: "Oh, silly, a female."

Junior Byrd (seeing a closed carriage going down the street of Columbus, O.): "Look yonder, Summers, at those five living people riding in a hearse."

Junior Johnson (high official in Y. M. C. A.): "I'm going to knock down a chicken if I get a chance."

Thornhill: "Willie, what are you going to bid on at the stock sale?"
Clemson-Davidson Game.

The Clemson and Davidson scrubs played a game on the campus on November 14th, and the Tigers came out victorious by a score of 5 to 0.

The game was well worth seeing, for it was a good one. Neither team had the advantage in the first half. But in the second half, the ball was kept in Davidson’s territory most of the time. Not until the last minute of play did the Tiger cubs make the touchdown, when Connolly kicked onside and Jones fell on the ball just one yard behind Davidson’s goal line.

Connolly, Jones, Bates, and Clement punted star ball for Clemson, while Erwin, Fairley, and Crawford proved Davidson’s stars.

TEEMS KICKS OFF.

Teems kicked off 30 yards, and the Davidson player was downed in his tracks. Fairley hit the line for 4 yards, and Erwin made it 6 more. Erwin made 4 yards on a straight line play. Crawford gained 2 yards around left end. Erwin made 4 yards over right guard. Erwin lost 1 yard around Bates’s end. Crawford fumbled, and was forced to punt. He booted 30 yards out of bounds. Woodward made 4 yards and Harris, T., 2 more through the line. Connolly punted 35 yards to Crawford, and Clement made a fly tackle. Woodward made 5 yards through center. Woodward held for downs, and the scrubs got the ball. Davidson then held Clemson for downs, and secured possession of the ball. Davidson could not gain, so Crawford punted 30 yards. Connolly and Woodward made 2 yards each, and Connolly punted 25 yards. Crawford made 5 yards around right end. Erwin gained 2 yards and Davis 3 yards through the line. Davidson penalized 15 yards for Crawford not running 5 yards outside of center. Davidson kicked onside and recovered, when T. Harris fumbled. Crawford tried to run around right end, but lost 3 yards on a beauty tackle by Woodward. Crawford punted 40 yards to Connolly, who advanced 6 yards. T. Harris made 6 yards and later 3 more through center. A. L. Harris made it down. T. Harris lost 1 yard, and Connolly punted 40 yards. Crawford lost 4 yards around left end, Jones tackling through the line. Mann relieved Wallace at this stage. Crawford punted 30 yards to T. Harris. Connolly punted 35 yards. Ball is now on Davidson’s 20 yard line. Crawford punted 30 yards, and Davidson recovered when Connolly fumbled the punt. Davidson fumbled on the next play, and a Clemson man fell on the ball. Clemson failed to gain, so Connolly punted 25 yards out of bounds. On an outside kick, Davidson got the ball. Davidson attempted the outside kick again, but T. Harris fell on the ball. Connolly punted 25 yards, and Crawford tackled in his tracks by Bates.

The half ended with ball in Davidson’s possession on her own 40 yard line. Score, Clemson 0, Davidson 0.

SECOND HALF.

Crawford kicked off 45 yards, and Connolly returned the punt 35 yards. Davidson could not gain, and Crawford punted 30 yards to Connolly, who advanced 5 yards. T. Harris hit center for 6 yards. Davidson penalized 5 yards for offside play. Woodward made 5 yards around right end. T. Harris gained 6 yards through center. Gandy made 3 yards on a cross tackle play. Connolly made 4 yards on a run around right end. A. L. Harris failed to gain, and it is Davidson’s ball. Bates tackled Crawford for a 3 yard loss. Crawford punted 25 yards to Connolly. Woodward lost 2 yards and Connolly lost 8 more when he dropped the pass to punt. Woodward penalized 15 yards for Cosby’s illegal use of hands. Woodward made 7, A. L. Harris 2, and T. Harris 2 on straight line plays. Erwin threw Connolly for a 3 yard loss on a quarter back run. T. Harris kicked onside and Davidson got the ball.

Calvert took Teems’s place, as the latter received an injury to his neck. Erwin made 3 yards on a delayed pass. Davis made 4 yards over center. Crawford punted 20 yards to T. Harris. Clemson recovered on onside kick. Woodward made 5 yards through center, and made 3 more on the same play. Connolly recovered a free fumble, and it is first down. Walker took T. Harris’s place.

Connolly punted 35 yards to Crawford. Ball now on Davidson’s 5 yard line. Crawford punted 30 yards to Connolly. Woodward made 4 yards. Walker failed to gain. Connolly punted 25 yards, Crawford advancing 5 yards. Crawford punted 15 yards to Connolly. Davidson kicked onside for 20 yards, and Jones fell on oval for a touch-down with only forty seconds to play. Walker punted out to Connolly, who heeled the catch, but missed goal. Score, Clemson Scrubs 5, Davidson Scrubs 0.

The Clemson Varsity.

Ye Varsity, what would our College life be
Were it not for such players, such workers, so free?
In truth, 'twould be one long wearisome pull,
Each mind would grow weary, each faculty dull.

To classes you'd go with the solemnest looks,
Delving and plowing your brain in books,
With Physics and "Trig", Analytics and "Scrip."
'Till you looked like a chicken addicted to "pip."

'Tis you that adds life, vim, and zest to the place,
That brings a proud look and a smile to each face;
'Tis you who holds up the proud fame of the past,
And our loyalty's true, our friendship is fast.

We're the proudest of men when we witness your game;
To us 'tis no matter if it snows or it rains,
We admire your skill, we give praise to your pluck,
We yell ourselves hoarse when you through the line "buck."

You go in the game with your body and soul,
Caring not if the day be unseemingly cold;
And there's many a hard knock and many a roll,
Before the pigskin is shoved past the enemy's goal.

As you keep "hiking" onward, advancing the ball,
We shake the old stand as though it would fall;
Then at a pretty play made round the end,
We send up a cheer like a legion of men.

Just to see the ends go, so fleetly, so fast,
Advancing the ball from a well thrown "pass."
Just to see you go bucking through tackle and guard,
Hitting 'em low and hitting 'em hard!

Then give us a good, true guided "drop kick."
And we'll make this old air seem actually thick;
And as you the goal draw near by a nice little "fake,"
We'll shake the old stand as if it would break.

When you make us a touchdown and roll up the score,
We will send up a yell, giving roar after roar.
Oh, when you kick goal and make a point more,
We send up a shout more loud than before.

Then when I grow old, when enfeebled I'll be,
Oft will I think of this great victory.
'Twill quite cheer me up and I'll never get "blue."
As I think of your "bucking" the line through and through.

And when I am dead and shall walk as a ghost,
Still I'll think of the ball carried back of the post.
And long after you're dead and laid away cold,
Your soul will be longing to defend the old goal;
And the first thing I'll do when I come into heaven,
Will be to ask St. Peter for the "Clemson Eleven."

Thanksgiving over, the next thing to look forward to is Christmas. But my! my! that awful monster that stands between us and that day.

Coach "Bob" Williams has gone upon the field with a rush; and, from all indications, he is going to make the fur fly.

Although U. of Tennessee scored the most points by the narrowest margin possible, the game was a grand triumph for Clemson; for she went into it under the greatest disadvantages imaginable.

With the closing of the football season, comes the sad realization that the time, when our noble Coach Stone shall have to leave us, is at hand. During his comparatively short stay among us, we have learned to love him; for we have found in him the stuff of which real men are made.

The football season is drawing to a close. While we haven't been as successful in winning games as we have been in some previous years, we are none the less proud of our noble eleven; for no player, no matter where he was from, when he went up against a "Clemson Tiger," could say that he was not in the arena with a knight worthy of his steel.

Fellows, among the many things we need to do, is to organize a dramatic club. With only a little work we could get out a dramatic club of which we could be deserving of proud. There is no reason whatever why we shouldn't get busy and work up a good, snappy dramatic club, which would be of untold pleasure and benefit. We can find any number of boys who are only too willing to sacrifice the little time and work that it would require to get out a good dramatic club.

True, the varsity deserves great credit—far more than they receive; I fear—for their unselfish sacrifice of time and energy; but to no less degree do the faithful scrubs deserve credit; for they, knowing that they could not make the team and, therefore, could receive but little of the football hero's glory, stayed out and worked hard and faithfully for the simple reason that they realized how essential they were in putting out a good varsity. How many of us would have worked so hard and selflessly as the scrubs have to do, is to organize a dramatic club. With only a little work we could get out a dramatic club of which we could be deserving of proud. There is no reason whatever why we shouldn't get busy and work up a good, snappy dramatic club, which would be of untold pleasure and benefit. We can find any number of boys who are only too willing to sacrifice the little time and work that it would require to get out a good dramatic club.

There has never been at Clemson College anything of like character that will have such a vast and far-reaching benefit as the social gatherings the good people of "the hill" have arranged for the entertainment of the cadets. Heretofore the social relation between the students and the faculty has been sadly lacking; and the members of the faculty and their families, desiring to come in contact socially with all the boys in barracks, are sacrificing much time, labor, and means for this end. Being socially isolated as we are, we shall receive an incalculable amount of benefit and pleasure from these gatherings. The students are very desirous of intimately knowing all the people on "the hill," and we flatter ourselves by believing that they desire to know the students. There is no better way in which to bring this condition about than the social gatherings. At this time we have had one entertainment, and no one present could fail to see the pleasure every one obtained from it.

Not only at Clemson College, but anywhere we may chance to be, we find that it seems to be and to have been the prevalent, but erroneous, opinion among many men that anything belonging to the State comes from an inexhaustible source, and that its destruction is of little or no concern to anybody. If you who are so unfortunate as to be of that opinion will consider for a moment, you will see the total absurdity of such a thought. Nothing comes to us spontaneously, everything has to come from somewhere by some means. Take for an instance the property provided for our necessary comforts and conveniences. Now, if you carelessly and wilfully destroy this property, you may be the instigator of the suffering of hundreds of men. Besides your moral duty, your lawful duty forbids your being guilty of such conduct. The property that you may destroy here comes largely through the sweat of the brow of the farmers of South Carolina. And every man who has ploughed the lands of South Carolina knows quite well that ploughing does not afford so much pleasure that he cares to see the result of it uselessly, foolishly, and wilfully destroyed. Let every one of us take it home, and consider what low, unappreciating beings we must be to be guilty of such ignoble conduct.
THE TIGER

A Day Off,

At the request of Prof. Nourse, instructor in Animal Industry, all the Agricultural Seniors, and the "animal" Juniors, were allowed to attend the stock sale at Woodburn Stock Farm, November 10.

This farm is near Pendleton, Anderson County, and for a number of years there has been bred a very fine herd of Jersey cattle, which has taken premiums at every fair at which they have been exhibited. The managers, however, decided to discontinue the business, and for that reason offered for sale their herd, comprising over seventy-five head, among them a number of imported animals.

At a sale of this kind, one could not help but learn the fact that fine cattle can be raised at the same cost that "scrubs" can, and why the intelligent farmers of the State still continue in their old course is a problem yet to be solved. The best animal sold brought six hundred dollars, and yet, if the average farmer thought that he could sell a herd of six or eight animals for the same price, he would be thinking that he was making a success of the business.

The sale began at ten o'clock, and lasted throughout the day, the only interruption being dinner hour—and that was one well spent.

Late in the afternoon, the cadets took their leave, and were soon on their way rejoicing, all feeling that they had had a very pleasant, as well as a profitable, day at the sale.

The Oxygen Tooth Powder

(U. S. Patent granted May 17, 1904, Oct. 17, 1905.)
(English and Canadian Patents granted.)

Calox is a revolution in Tooth Powders. It has properties which no other powder possesses and it does work which no other dentifrice can do.

Calox depends for its effects upon the presence of Nature's purifier—oxygen. It is a product which the dental profession has long sought—a powder which is not only a mechanical cleanser, but a reliable and efficient antiseptic and germicide, a powder which will not only cleanse the teeth, but will also sterilize the mouth, thus preventing dental decay arising from the acid-producing bacteria, and protecting the system from danger of attack by germs of infectious diseases, which so frequently gain access through the mouth.

CALOX cleanses the teeth, keeps them white, or whitens them if discolored, prevents decay, relieves sensitiveness, heals and hardens the gums, neutralizes acid, destroys infectious germs, removes all odors and keeps the whole mouth clean.

CALOX is the only dentifrice that will actually remove discolorations and whitens the teeth without injury to their structure. It is the only dentifrice that will prevent decay because it destroys the germs that cause decay. It is the only dentifrice that will deodorize the mouth, because the oxygen it contains oxidizes all food particles, removes deposits from the teeth, tongue and mucous surfaces and destroys organisms that give rise to fermentation and decay.

Senior Class.

On Friday November 13th, our President, Mr. Clark called a meeting of the Senior Class for the purpose of discussing the possibility of giving a dance in honor of the Misses Fuller, the attractive Campus visitors. The question received the hearty approval of the entire class, with the result that a committee of three were appointed to get the hall in readiness.

After the reception of ‘‘A’’ and ‘‘B’’ Companies was over, at 9 o’clock, the ladies were escorted to the Hall which was decorated in a simple and very attractive way. The dancing began immediately, and lasted until twelve o’clock, when every one felt that a very pleasant evening was spent. The College band is to be complimented on the excellent music rendered.

On Saturday evening after the Senior dance an informal dance was given by the Junior Dancing Club, to which several Seniors were invited. This invitation was highly appreciated by the Seniors, and all who attended spent a very pleasant evening.

A very pleasant social was given the members of ‘‘A’’ and ‘‘B’’ Companies on last Friday evening. The efforts of the ladies of the Hill in trying to establish a more friendly feeling between the Professors and Cadets, are especially appreciated by the Seniors. Every member of the Senior Class should make it his duty and pleasure to see that every lower classman spends a pleasant evening, and that the social is a success in every respect.

The Agricultural Seniors, who are taking the course in Animal Industry, have recently organized what is known as ‘‘The Clemson College Veterinary Science Club.’’ Mr. D. W. Watkins was elected President, and Mr. F. Fleming Vice-President.

Science Clubs should be encouraged, especially in the Senior class; for in this way students become more interested in their subjects and consequently better work is accomplished. These Clubs should be organized in all the courses, and in this way students could gain much knowledge for which time cannot be given in the class room.

A few days ago, Mr. W. C. Pitts was off on permit for the purpose of doing some surveying of a school district near Cherry’s.

Mr. H. S. Rivers left College Thursday for his home, which is in Greenwood. This visit was for the purpose of having dental work done.

Mr. R. G. Gaston, who was once a member of our Class, and who is now with the Southern Railroad in Gaffney, was one of our visitors at the Senior dance.

Junior Class.

On Tuesday morning, November 10, Junior Agricultural Section, 2 went to the stock sale near Pendleton. Their intention was to buy some of the animals, and start a farm of their own; but their hopes were blighted when one fellow bid off a three-weeks’ old pig for 35 cents, and the whole section lacked five cents of having enough to back up the bid.

On last Saturday night, a very delightful informal dance was given by the Junior dancing school. A number of Seniors were present, and all enjoyed themselves very much. We have a good school now, but hope to have some new members soon.

During last week, Dr. and Mrs. R. N. Brackett delightfully entertained at their home each of the Agricultural sections. Dr. and Mrs. Brackett know how to make the boys have a good time, and everyone was reluctant to leave when the time for departure arrived.

The many friends of Mr. K. Easterling will regret to learn that he got his thumb severely mashed while working in the machine shop.

Mr. E. L. Sumner spent last Saturday and Sunday at Greenville. He says she gets better looking every day.

Mr. C. M. Robbs did not go with the team to Knoxville on account of injuries received in previous games, but spent the time with his parents at Gaffney, S. C.

Sophomore Class.

The Sophomore Dancing School had a dance on Friday, November 14. The dance was enjoyed by all present. The school is increasing in numbers, and the members are getting along nicely. The Clemson College Orchestra furnished music for every dance we have had. A meeting of the school was held in the President’s room, on November 19, to decide whether or not to have a dance on the night after Thanksgiving. It was finally decided not to have the dance then, because there was to be some kind of a reception that night, and some of the members might want to attend it. It was decided to put the dance off till some time in the near future, when it will be more convenient for everyone in the school.

In the Davidson-Clemson Scrub game on November 14, some of our class-mates showed up in fine style; if they keep the good work going, they will probably be on varsity squad before they graduate. During the game, one of our class-mates, J. L. Teem, had his neck badly wrenched. He had to hold his head crooked for a while, but now he is very nearly all right again.

Freshman Class.

Many of us, who can get off, will go home to help eat the Thanksgiving Turkey.

The Christmas holidays are but a few weeks off, and the dreadful exams, will come pling in on us before long.

Mr. J. B. Davis has returned from a visit to his home in Central.

We saw several of the "Pendleton Guards" for a few minutes as we passed through the towns enroute for the Fair, and we are glad to know that some of them are coming back for the second and third terms.

The Freshman Tigers who will leave here for the game with Tech are Horton and McFadden; these two men will play the game of their lives as will the whole team.

It will not be long before the Freshman Class will be getting up a football team to win the championship, from this year on until we become Seniors.

“Humph” Returns.

Freshman Shell wants to know who wrote Franklin’s Autobiography?

Rat Irby, speaking of a wedding, says his brother is to be pallbearer. (groomsman.)

Senior Spratt: “Graham, don’t you want to go to Seattle next summer?”

Senior Graham: “Go to see who?”

Rat Hanahan wants to know if there’s hot water in his refrigerator (radiator.)

Senior C.: “What are those closed carriages called?”

Senior Spratt: “Why telescopes, dummy.”

(In the hack of Junior ‘bulls’ on the way to the sale) Mary Johnson: It seems like ‘Reddy’ has grafting on the brain.”

Evans: “I wish he would graft some on mine.”

“Reddy” Barnett: “Oh, Evans, the stock would be entirely too small for the coin.”

Prof. Morrison: “Mr. Thornhill, what did they teach in Greece 3,000 years before Christ?”

Junior Thornhill: “English, Spelling, and South Carolina History.”
