Report on Finances of Clemson College Athletic Association for the College Year 1907-1908.

In this third report on finance of the Athletic Association, it is readily seen that the Association underwent a severe loss from March to June, caused by the adverse conditions under which it was forced to work. For the last few years, through the careful arrangement of Football schedules, the Association has increased its yearly earnings gradually; reaching its climax in February last, having $1,782.97 in its treasury, only to drop to less than $200.00 in June. The breakage fees donated by the students, however, allowed us to enter the past Football season with $611.96 in the treasury. It has been the desire of the Association to make itself self-supporting, and the only donations which have been asked for during the past few years have been the breakage fees which the students have generously contributed, though experience has taught us that this is a variable quantity, and cannot be counted on with any degree of certainty.

The only other source of revenue, leaving out the intercollegiate games, is the membership fee to the Association, which is $.10 per annum, and which entitles the student to participate in each and every branch of sport entered into by the College, either inter-collegiate or class. As has been stated previously, this not only gives the student many times the value of the initiation fee, but also gives him the satisfaction which every student should derive in being a member of his Athletic Association—in having a voice in its meetings, and the satisfaction of seeing its affairs administered wisely. This is one of the defects in the Association, and it is hoped that the students will realize this and leave out the financial consideration, entirely, and for the sake of college spirit, will manifest that interest which will make all athletics at Clemson more successful.

The baseball and track seasons which are still in front of us, should, with the proper support, pay their expenses. As many of these games as possible are arranged on the campus for the entertainment of the student body, and it is only made possible to play a large number of them here by the students’ patronage. It seems that with our usual successful teams which generally draw well, and with this support from the entire corps, that we should be able to maintain a good financial standing in the future.

Columbian Society.

In view of the recent holidays, which brought such a happy relaxation from the strenuous duties of college life, it would naturally be supposed that the first meeting of the Society would be somewhat on the order of the proverbial Monday morning's lesson. It was almost a surprise under these conditions when one or two members on duty came up with as good speeches as have been delivered in the Society this session. Furthermore, the other speeches came up to the usual standard showing that the members are back at their guns as zealous and ambitious as ever.

Among the New Year resolutions that are not to be broken, let us include one to the effect that we will not have a single dull and uninteresting meeting from now until June.

Among the speeches deserving special mention were the oration of C. P. Middleton and the debate of II- S. Johnson. Mr. Middleton departed slightly from the regular scope of the oration and gave to the Society a most interesting and enjoyable dissertation upon Shakespeare, with numerous extracts from his works. Mr. Johnson's debate on the negative of the query: Resolved, That the jury system should be abolished, was a clear, concise, logical piece of argument, and was delivered in a manner that might well be noted by men trying to improve their delivery.

We were glad to have five more men to join our Society at this meeting—this is starting the ball to rolling right, fellow members, and let us keep up the good work.

The Society decided at this meeting to adopt a pin to be worn as a badge by the members. This is a step that should have been taken when the Society was first organized, and a long-felt want is therefore being filled. A committee was appointed to get samples from which the Society can pick a good pin that will be worn through life with pride by the members of the dear old Columbian.

Palmetto Literary Society.

The Palmetto Society is fortunate in that all of the members returned from home after the Christmas holidays, with pleasant memories, new ideas, new resolutions, and with a renewed interest in college life. The new interest was strikingly evidenced at the first meeting for the new year by a good attendance, and a lively interest in the "declaimers." By the many expressions of interest in the contest, and the absorbing annual celebration, one could safely predict a year of brilliant work. At this meeting, Messrs. Barnett, O'Bryan, Stokes, Goodwin and Floyd ably contested for the honor of representing the Society, as declaimers in the annual celebration which takes place on February 22nd. Though all of them did well, it was decided by the judges, Professors Bradley and Daniel, and Mr. Prevost, that Messrs. Goodwin and Stokes should have the honor.

Mr. L. G. Richardson, an old Palmetto man, of the Class of '08, was present and made us a nice talk. Since graduation, Mr. Richardson has travelled about considerably, and being of an observing nature, has collected a great amount of information on various topics, some of which he talked about, among them was Clemson's reputation in the country. His discourse along this line was interesting as well as inspiring.

The Calhoun.

On December 11th, the Calhoun suspended the regular exercises in order to decide upon affairs pertaining to the Oratorical Contest. The president called for volunteers and two of our best speakers, Messrs. Keitt and Reeves responded to the call. The time for the preliminary was left to be decided between the volunteers. We wish for each of the gentlemen great success. We hope to see one of these two on the rostrum of the Waller Hall in Greenwood.

On account of examinations, we had no meeting on the 18th.

In the meeting of the ninth of this month, Mr. Keitt gave us an excellent oration on "How to Study." Mr. Crawford gave us a good essay on "The Textile Industry." The debate was very interesting indeed, Resolved: That newspapers do more than any other agency in moulding public opinion.

We were very glad to have with us two Clemson graduates, Mr. Watson and Mr. Richardson.

Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Willis, of the International committee, was with us two days recently. While here, he met nearly every committee in the association. He told of what other institutions were doing, and how they were progressing. He spoke very highly of our work here. Nearly three hundred heard Mr. Willis speak in the Y. M. C. A. hall. He is a good speaker, and has a strong voice.

Capt. Minus made an instructive and interesting talk on the Philippines. The hall was not large enough for the crowds. This is the first lecture on such a subject that we have had. It is expected that Capt. Minus will speak again soon.

Mr. Provost, our secretary, spent the holidays with the different boys he knew most intimately. He enjoyed the Southern hospitality of our people to the utmost.

Don't let your interest in basketball or tennis drop. Keep upon your athletics.

The faculty contributed two hundred dollars to the association. When men give from ten to twenty-five dollars to the association, you can get an idea of their judgment of the Y. M. C. A.

An appropriation was made for furnishing the secretary's office. The furniture will be gotten right away and the room refitted.

At the regular business meeting last month, most encouraging reports were received. The work along all lines is progressing, and the association is in a very flourishing condition.

We will not be satisfied till we get all men in Bible study. We have nearly four hundred, but we want the others also. A canvass has been planned, and some one has said, we'll either get everyone in Bible class or run him crazy. You'd better join; it may save you a trip to Columbia.

At the last executive meeting, the social committee received direct and urgent instructions concerning their work. They were told to have a banquet in the near future.

Senior Class.

The ring committee which has been appointed for some time are now in communication with J. F. Newman, who made the '08 rings, and hope to have them here by the beginning of the third term. It will be remembered that the '08 rings were not delivered to some Seniors until after Commencement; but by the committees's being at work now, they will be delivered in ample time before graduation.

Mr. Wheeler, from Greenville, who is the photographer from the 1909 Annual arrived last Tuesday. The individual pictures of the Senior Class were first made, and then the numerous college organizations and club pictures were taken. Mr. Wheeler will be remembered as the photographer for the 1907 Annual; the pictures of which were spoken of very highly. Judging from the number of pictures that were made, the 1909 Annual promised to be one of the most attractive Annuals ever published by the corps of Cadets.

We are glad to see Messrs. Boone, Kelly, and Fulmer once more in our midst. It is hoped that more of the old '09 men will return at the beginning of the third term.

Mr. J. C. Pridmore went to Anderson last week for the purpose of attending to Y. M. C. A. business.

Several Seniors spent a very pleasant evening last Saturday at the home of Capt. J. C. Minus.

Sees. 1 and 10 of the Senior Agricultural class were very thoughtfully entertained on Monday evening, January 4th, at the home of Prof. Barrow.

We don't want our subscribers to The Tiger to forget that the $1 subscription was due Nov. 1, 1908.

Freshman Class.

We have all returned from the Christmas holidays and are ready to start to work for about five long months. Our vacation seems as if it were years ago as soon as we hit Clemson again, but vivid recollection of the turkey and fruit cake remain with us yet.

We have received several additions to the class along with some of the members of the "Pendleton Guards", who left last April and who have come back to finish their work.

Not many of the fellows failed to get back on the second, but some who ate a little more turkey than others, were forced to remain over until Sunday or Monday, and they had to get papers from the Doctor to show that they were unable to come Saturday.

It won't be long before the class football games start, and all of the fellows in the Freshman class, big or little, want to come out and try for a place on the team, whether he thinks he can play or not. We had Horton, McFadden, and Wichman on the 'Varsity and we ought to be able to get up a pretty good team with these men as coaches.

We will strike Geometry and Botany this next term, and they will be pretty hard, as most of us have never studied either of them before; but if we start in at the first they will not prove so difficult.

Junior Class.

After spending a very pleasant vacation at home, the boys have returned to college with a determination to do some good work during the remainder of the session. It is true that some of them were somewhat blue over having to leave their friends so early, but they have brightened up by this time.

At a class meeting held just before Christmas, the following members of the 1910 Annual staff were elected: Editor-in-Chief, N. E. Byrd; Business Manager, T. R. Salley; Assistant Business Managers, J. T. Stephenson and J. L. Hill; Advertising Manager, W. Allen; Chief of Literary Department, W. J. Marshall; Assistants on Literary Department, C. F. Inman and L. W. Summers; Chief of Art Department, J. C. Reed; Assistants on Art Department, H. D. Plenge and M. W. Beecher; on 1909 Annual Staff, N. E. Byrd. With the foregoing men at the head of the various departments, we feel sure that they will

EDITORIAL

Well, it’s over.

“What did Santa Claus bring you?” is a common expression.

The long looked for 1909 looks good, to some of us at least.

We hope everybody had a genuinely good time during the Christmas holidays.

Let us endeavor to keep our new year’s resolution, and leave the year 1909 as a noble record in our life histories.

The ladies on “the hill” who add so much to the chapel services by their much appreciated singing, have the boys’ heartiest thanks. We certainly appreciate the efforts of the kind ladies who so unselfishly help us in our services. Only a unique congregation like ours can appreciate the perfect sublimeness of singing by good lady singers.

It is quite natural for everybody to wish to be able to say that he is first in any pursuit he may chance to follow. It makes no difference of what nature the pursuit may be; if he is a gambler, he wants to be on the top round, etc. Then let us undertake high, noble, elevating things, and strive to be superb. Since it is within our power, we should not be satisfied with anything except first place in any of our college activities. We should make it our special effort to have the best athletic teams, Y. M. C. A., Sunday school, Literary societies, College publications, etc., in the South, at least. Why take any other place when we can hold with ease the foremost place in all of the college activities?

The season for class football is here; and now is the accepted time for us to develop material that will be of use to us in after years. As it is almost impossible for any man to begin his athletic career on “Varsity or even scrub, everyone who has any athletic aspirations whatever, should go out and begin on his class team. We know that there is plenty of good material that can be developed only through the class teams. Especially should the underclassmen, who have more than one year at college yet, come out. Class teams, besides affording much amusement and exercise, are very essential factors in maintaining a good, regular college ‘Varsity. Then let us “get busy,” and encourage those boys who have in them the making of good players to come out and try for class teams.

Of course we want to win; but whether we win or whether we lose, we want to be able to present a creditable showing at the State Oratorical contest. We want to endeavor to hold Clemson’s standard as high as possible, and to strive to prevent the standard’s being lowered in the least. We know to do this means work, and no little of it. You men, who are natural orators, get busy on some up to date subject. You literary society men, you know who the best speakers are, encourage them to do their best. Of course any of the societies would be justly proud to have the college representative; but it doesn’t make any particular difference which society he is from: when he goes to Greenwood, he is a Clemson man, and not a member of any particular society. Let us see that we have the best representative possible, and that he does the best possible.

The Ladies Commonwealth Orchestra gave a most enjoyable recital in chapel last Saturday night. This was one of the best on the Lyceum course this year.

The Prep., Soph., Fresh, and Junior Classes, are out practicing for “Class Football” games. It is to be hoped that some good material will be developed for next year.

produce an Annual that will do credit to the class and the College.

Mr. G. A. Burton returned to College just before the Christmas holidays, and became a member of our class.

Mr. E. L. Sumner was confined to the hospital for a day or two during examinations.

The class is glad to receive the following men, who returned at the beginning of the second term: L. C. Boone, F. R. Gandy, T. Fulmer, and S. O. Kelly.

Every Junior should belong to a literary Society. No phase of college work is more important than this; so do not deprive yourself of this opportunity by merely saying that you will become a member later.

Class football season is now here. We have elected the following men: Manager, W. P. White; Coach, Fitzer.

Messrs. J. D. and K. B. Shuler were a few days late on their Christmas leave of absence on account of the death of their sister.

Sophomore class

Christmas is over. Now we have to try and settle down to hard study. We must start the new year and the new term well, and then keep it up. We can call ourselves one-third Juniors now. That sounds big, but we have a mighty big two-thirds more to go before we reach Junior. But we will get there all the same. (?)

All feel fine after our much enjoyed holidays; but we certainly hate to start work again. We must let the girls and the birds rest for a while now, and bother the old books some more. Our class will probably be larger now, because several of the "Pendleton Guards" are joining us this term. We are certainly Guards" are joining us this term. We are certainly soon come back; this old place would seem so much livelier then.

The class football will soon be starting, and we want every man to go out and try for the team. We want to win the championship this year, and will have to have the support of every man to be able to do so. Last year, you remember, we lost it to the Seniors in the last four seconds of play; but, now, that class has gone; so we should be able to win it this year.

Mr. Willis, the Southern Student Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., spent a few days with us last week, during which time he gave a lecture in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, on Bible study.

We were glad to see Mr. F. M. Stevenson, a ’08 man, a few days before Christmas. He is now with the Erie Railway.

Misses Brackett, Doggett, Furman and Morrison, spent the holidays at their respective homes.

Prof. and Mrs. Barrow entertained very delightfully, sections 1 and 1A Seniors last Monday night.

Mr. T. B. Reeves, business manager of the "Taps," spent several days after the holidays in Spartanburg, in the interest of the Annual.

Mr. L. G. Richardson, class ’08, spent a few days with us just after the holidays.

Mr. Wheeler, the "Annual Photographer," is here making picture of the various organizations and of the Seniors.

Quite a number of the old men, who left last April, have returned to resume their studies.

Messrs. W. W. Rosborough and W. W. Kirk, of the ’08 class, who are serving apprentice courses with the Railway Co., paid us a visit just before Christmas.

Our Professor of Steam Engineering, Mr. S. B. Earle, was married to Miss Sue Hall Sloan, of this place, on the 22nd of December.

Mr. H. K. Sanders, a member of the Senior Class remained at home several days after the holidays, attending to some business.

Mr. J. C. Pridmore went to Anderson Saturday where he attended to some business.
Class Football.

Now, fellows, is the opportunity to develop material for next season’s Varsity and Scrub teams. If all the men now trying for their respective teams will each bring out some big fellow who is spending his moments in idleness about the stores or in his room during the afternoon period for recreation, he will be doing a very, very great service for the future development of the college teams.

Usually there is just as good material in barrack which does not even try for class teams, as composes the Varsity squad; men, who, with one or two season’s training could be developed into great performers. So often have we seen good and valuable men developed by first making their class teams, this filling them with an ambition to become a member of the Varsity eleven. Men, don’t stand back. Come out and show your classmates that you have the proper spirit, even though your physical make-up does not permit of your playing. It is the man who tries hard that succeeds, and, too, it is he who appreciates his position. Likewise, it is his playing that his fellow students enjoy.

Your willingness, influence, and loyalty to class or college often times arouses others, besides lending encouragement to those already trying.

It is possible for a fellow to win a position on the first team without ever having played the game, but it is impossible for that same fellow to deliver the goods he is capable of delivering had he had one or more season’s practice. Experience is absolutely necessary to become an expert at the game or even play it intelligently. Since to know the game is to be a little better player, don’t forget then, that the training received in class ball will make a stronger scrub team, and, in turn, make the first team what it should be.

These class games are for the purpose of creating a desire in men to know the game and to furnish material for the next season’s squad, so fellows, if you ever have thought of trying for the team now is the time to begin. It is a great game and one that is wonderfully fascinating, and we feel safe in saying that once you become enthusiastic enough to try, you can at least, become a lover of the sport.

Lyceum Entertainmen.

On Saturday evening, January 9th, the Commonwealth Ladies’ Orchestra, of Boston, Mass., gave one of the most delightful entertainments ever given at Clemson College. It can be safely said that every one present, from the least to the greatest, had one continuous period of enjoyment from the start to the end of the program.

unwelcome end.

The program for the evening consisted of eleven selections, covering the entire field of classical and popular composition. Every selection was so perfectly rendered and so greatly enjoyed that it is difficult to tell which one really deserves the most credit. The program as a whole, was so perfectly and thoughtfully arranged that the interest and enthusiasm of the audience were easily kept up until the close. All were heartily cheered, and the soloists were encored again and again.

Although every one did exceptionally well, special mention should be made of Miss Nellie May Hoone, cornet soloist, and Mr. Lewis, leader and violinist. Both played with a harmony and purity of tone unexcelled by the best of artists. Their music was educational and elevating, yet delightful and entertaining to the greatest degree.

Everyone that attended the concert is loud and lavishing in his words of praise and commendation. It can be said with safety that the Commonwealth Ladies' Orchestra gave the best of satisfaction, and everyone will look forward with much pleasure to the time that they may be with us again. The Lyceum committee should be highly commended and thanked for securing for us the Commonwealth Ladies' Orchestra.

After the Holidays.

The long-looked for, much appreciated and much enjoyed Christmas holidays of the Clemson cadets began at 12 m. December 22nd, and came to an end at 6 p. m. January 2nd. The Christmas holidays, coming as they do, near the middle of the session and just after the hardest examinations, is always looked forward to by the cadets with a degree of pleasure excelled only by the pleasure derived from contemplation of the vacation after commencement. Christmas vacation is the oasis of college life. It comes to refresh, recuperate, and encourage the tired, discouraged and nerve-strained student, enabling him to take up his work for the remainder of the year with renewed courage and greater determination.

The trains coming to Calhoun and Cherrys Saturday evening were loaded to their fullest capacity with Clemson cadets, of whom some were pleasant and jolly as if glad to get back to work; some were melancholy, as if sorry to leave parents, sister and brother; some were sorry and glad too. Sorry, because they had to leave Her—not a sister, but glad when they thought of her last promise. All the evening, conveyances plying between Clemson and the station were busy bringing in the boys; and, by 6 p. m. o'clock, nearly the entire corps was in barracks. Some, of course, as always, did not come in until after the allotted time had expired.

By Monday morning, everybody—students and faculty, were ready to go to work. Some of our number did not return after Christmas, but their places were more than filled by other men coming in, swelling our ranks to considerably more than we had before Christmas. Among those recruits were some of the “Pendleton Guard,” and others were new men. It is hoped and believed that our ranks will not become thin at all; for we shall have recruits coming in during the entire year, taking the places of those who may happen to fall out of ranks.

The great machine of college work is in perfect motion now, and everything indicates a grand success for the remaining half of the college year. We hope that everything may work in perfect harmony, and make this year a memorable page in the history of the College.

A GREAT REVOLUTION IN DENTIFRICES

CALOX

The Oxygen Tooth Powder

(U.S. Patent granted May 17, 1904, Oct. 17, 1905.)

Calox is a revolution in Tooth Powders. It has properties which no other powder possesses and it does work which no other dentifrice can do.

CALOX depends for its effects upon the presence of Nature's purifier—oxygen. It is a product which the dental profession has long sought—a powder which is not only a mechanical cleanser, but a reliable and efficient antiseptic and germicide, a powder which will not only cleanse the teeth, but will also sterilize the mouth, thus preventing dental decay arising from the acid-producing bacteria, and protecting the system from danger of attack by germs of infectious diseases, which so frequently gain access through the mouth.

CALOX cleanses the teeth, keeps them white, or whitens them if discolored, prevents decay, relieves sensitiveness, heals and hardens the gums, neutralizes acid, destroys infectious germs, removes all odors and keeps the whole mouth clean.

CALOX is the only dentifrice that will actually remove discolorations and whitens the teeth without injuring their structure. It is the only dentifrice that will prevent decay because it destroys the germs that cause decay. It is the only dentifrice that will deodorize the mouth, because the oxygen it contains oxidizes all food particles, removes deposits from the teeth, tongue and mucous surfaces and destroys organisms that give rise to fermentation and decay.

The Armour Fertilizer Works,

Atlanta Georgia:

Gentlemen—The writer inspected fertilizers for Clemson College in this State four years ago and then became convinced that ARMOUR sold the best fertilizers both in ingredients used and certainly in the mechanical condition, that was being offered in this State, and consequently, when he took charge of his business, he pushed ARMOUR'S goods with results gratifying to himself and his customers.

Thanking you for your interest, we are,

Yours truly,
