Clemson Tigers Win From Gordon.

In opening the football season this year, with the first game on campus, the Tigers defeated the Gordon team by a final score of 26 to 0. Notwithstanding the fact that the game was rather one-sided, it abounded in good plays by both teams, and kept the large crowd that thronged the sidelines in a state of excitement. White for Clemson was decidedly the star of the game, while for their brilliant tackles and gains Hydrick, Robbs, Connelly and Pinckney, also deserve special mention. Considering the short time that the men have been in training, and the fact that the continuous rains made outdoor work almost impossible for the greater part of last week, the whole team acquitted itself admirably, and reflected much credit upon the training of Coach Williams. The visitors played hard, straight football, but not one time during the game did there seem to be any possibility of their scoring. Coach Cunningham, with the Gordon squad, expressed himself as being well pleased with the work of Capt. McWhorter, Trash and Nicholson. They played gritty ball through the entire game. May the Georgians have the best of luck in their remaining games.

The game in detail:

When Referee Gantt blew his whistle at 1:30, Clemson kicked off thirty-five yards to Hay, who advanced the ball three yards. Yellow gaining two yards through the line, Gordon fumbled the ball, recovered and gained another through the line. Then from an on-side kick Stevens secured the ball, and carried it back to Gordon's four yard line. Captain Robbs gained two yards through the line, and Gandy carried the pig skin over the first, tackle over tackle, three minutes and ten seconds after the kick off.

White missed goal.

McWhorter for Gordon kicked off thirty-five yards to Connelly who advanced twenty yards. White carried the ball over end for thirty yards in one of the prettiest runs of the game. Walker gained two yards through line, and Britt three more over tackle. Gordon off side, and penalized five yards. Clemson first down. White gained nine yards through line, Robbs four and Gandy three. White then went for fifteen yards, after which Gordon took time out. Next play Capt. Robbs through line for touchdown.

After receiving the kick off, and taking three yards over tackle Gordon fumbled the ball and recovered it, after which Carry gained four yards. Gordon attempted to work forward pass, but missed and was penalized accordingly. Ball went over to Clemson on Nicholson's kicking it ten yards out of bounds. Walker had gained two yards, and Brit two more, when Clemson lost ball on a fumble.

Nicholson punted twenty yards, and recovered ball on a fumble. Failing to gain, Gordon kicked again to Connelly, who advanced ten yards through a crowded field. Walker gained two yards, and Clemson unsuccessful in forward pass was penalized. Bates relieves Stevens, whose shoulder was hurt in this play.

Robbs kicked fifty-five yards, and Gordon makes no advance. Nicholson punted twenty yards to White, who advanced the ball ten yards—White then went fifteen yards for touch-down. Robbs punted out, and Connelly fumbled. No goal.

McWhorter for Gordon kicked forty yards to Connelly, who advanced ten yards. Robbs punted forty yards. McWhorter gained eight yards over end and Carry gained one through the line. Nicholson punted thirty yards to White, who advanced ten yards. Robbs punted fifty yards to Nicholson, who advanced fifteen yards, ending the first half with the ball on Gordon's thirty-five yard line.

Score: Clemson 16, Gordon 0.

Second half:

Gordon kicked off to Gandy who advanced ten yards. Gandy fumbled and Connelly recovered the ball. Receiving a kick of thirty yards from Connelly, Gordon advanced ten yards. Minnehan gained one yard through line, Nicholson punted twenty yards to Connelly who advanced ten yards.
White gained eight yards through line. Gandy failed to gain; Hydrick took eight yards over tackle, and Robbs broke through center eight more. Boykin went through Gordon's line for touch down. Robbs punted out to Connelly who fumbled. No goal. Seven minutes time of play. Pinckney relieved Connelly, and Epps, Hanckel. Gordon kicked off thirty yards. Hydrick received the ball and advanced it ten yards. White gained two yards through line. Robbs punted thirty-five yards. No advance. McWhorter made two yards through line, and Hay failed to gain around end, when Hydrick broke through for a pretty tackle. Nicholson punted thirty yards to Pinckney, who fumbled and recovered the ball. Wordward, White. Pinckney made seven yards around end. Gilmer gained three yards over tackle. Again, Pinckney made seven yards around end. From a fumble, Wordward recovered the ball, and Robbs kicked forty-five yards. Hydrick recovered the ball for a touchdown. Robbs failed to kick goal.

On receiving the ball from Gordon's kick off, Pinckney advanced ten yards. Woodward gained five yards over end. Robb's kicked thirty-five yards, and Gordon advanced the ball ten yards. Hay was thrown for a loss of five yards. Nicholson punted thirty yards to Woodward, who advanced eight yards.

College Night.

Last Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, the student body, members of the faculty, and people of the "Hill" assembled in chapel to take part in College Night. The object of the occasion was to bring before the students, especially the new ones, the various phases of college life, such as the literary societies, athletics, Y. M. C. A., etc. The voluntary attendance of nearly the entire corps shows that the boys have an interest in the different departments of the College.

The exercises were opened with several College songs and yells. Mr. Noel L. Provost, who is beginning his second year as general secretary, presided over the meeting. After introductory remarks, Mr. Provost introduced the first speaker of the evening, Dr. P. H. Mell, whose subject was, "College Life." Dr. Mell very forcibly pictured what true college life is, and very much aided the boys to see more in those two words than they have ever seen before. He took his seat amid a vigorous applause.

The next speaker was one who never fails to entertain a Clemson audience—and any other for that matter—Prof. D. W. Daniel. He spoke of the opportunities and possibilities of those who take an active part in society work. Although only given five minutes of time, he gave some excellent thoughts which were permeated with a sense of humor from beginning to end.

Rev. L. E. Hubard, the Episcopal minister, in his usual forcible and eloquent style, presented the subject of "Churches." To say the least, he held the boys' attention from beginning to end, and did much to contribute to the moral and spiritual welfare of the corps.

Prof. W. M. Riggs next presented the athletic Association, and urged the boys to give their support to this important organization. Following Prof. Riggs, Dr. F. H. H. Calhoun spoke on a branch of the Athletic Association—Track. Dr. Calhoun said he would have more to say on this subject next spring. Amid a storm of applause, Coach C. R. Williams was next introduced, and spoke upon the topic that lies nearest to every loyal College man at this season of the year—football. He stated that he was well pleased with the condition of the team, and the prospect of putting out a winning team this year was good. Coach Williams holds the esteem of everyone connected with the College, and will show his ability as a coach as soon as some of the games are played.

The last, but by no means the least, important topic was the Y. M. C. A., which was discussed by Mr. Provost. The speaker clearly and distinctly showed the students the advantage and benefit of being loyal to the Y. M. C. A. This organization has brighter prospects than it has ever had since its establishment at Clemson.

The speaking being concluded the audience then retired to the porch in front of the chapel where the ladies of the campus served ice cream and cake.
to the students and friends present. It is useless to say that this part of the program was very much enjoyed by all. Our thanks are due to the Y. M.

C. A., which furnished the cream, the ladies who served it, and the faculty and friends for their presence. Every one then returned to barracks, highly pleased with the College spirit that had been evidenced, and with a feeling that “College Night” had been a grand success.

Conclusion of Mac’s Opening Address to the Rats.

“And now my brethren, after having vehemently and forcibly presented thirty-two invincible, insurmountable, and inflexible reasons why you should join this society, I reiterate my first question, How can you afford to remain an indifferent student? What are you going to do when in time of trouble your country calls upon you to sway the multitude as if by magic with your oratory. As I now hold you spell bound by my oratorical eloquence, even so you may, by taking the present speaker as an example, hold some audience—some time, somewhere, in the same breathless suspense.
History records Demosthenes as a great speaker;
history records Cicero as a great speaker; but my brethren neither Demosthenes nor Cicero were ever such speakers as this society puts forth to the world. The fame of Demosthenes will die, the fame of Cicero will die, but the fame of the speaker before you this evening will last from everlasting to everlasting. Come join this society and make a speaker whose name shall be heralded down through the corridors of time from generation to generation. Oh! how long will you remain in that lethargical condition? The doors of the society are now opened, come right up and give me your hand if you desire to become a member, and by so doing you will receive inspiration which will make you speak as never man spoke before. It takes no effort on your part—none whatever. As soon as you become a member of this society, you will receive inspiration spontaneously. Come right on brethren. Price only two dollars.”

Lyceum Course.

The Lyceum Course this year offers to everyone a season of enjoyment and instruction. No cadet at Clemson can afford to miss these lectures and entertainments if he desires to get the best out of his College course. Considerable effort is made by the committee to obtain the best lectures and concert companies of the entire country, and it is our duty as students to take advantage of these great opportunities, which are each year brought to us.
The following program is sufficient to warrant that the Course will be all that could be expected:

Victor’s Band, October 9.
Hinshaw Grand Opera Company, November 6.
Cluxton Musical Comedy Company, October 23.
Senator J. P. Dolliver, December or January.
The Italian Boys and Elbert Poland, Jan. 17.
Central Graded Concert Company, March 10.
DeWitt Miller, March 19.
It’s College life again.

It wasn’t that Gordon was weak, but that Clemson is strong. Watch. Clemson make many other teams feel her strength before the season is over. With the material we have on the field under our very efficient Coach, there is no reason why we should not have a winning team this year. Boys, give them your support.

This issue marks the beginning of the fourth year of the Tiger. This issue is also the first efforts of a new staff, not only a new staff, but one of inexperience. With this fact in view, we beg our readers not to be too harsh with their criticisms. During the preceding years, the paper has fulfilled the purpose for which it was instituted; that is to be representative of the entire corps, as well as all connected with the College. For any College publication to be a success, it must at the very least be supported by the student body. And why should not the Tiger have the support of the entire corps. Does it not represent the interest of every boy at College? Each student can see his class, his society, etc., written up in each issue.

If these various departments are not written up to suit each one, whose fault is it? Did not the class, the society, etc., of which he is a member elect the man to represent them? So either directly or indirectly, the influence of every one at College is made to bear upon the College publications. But, as is the case in every student body, there are so many whose influence is detrimental to these publications. They never fail to “kick” when an opportunity presents itself, and also many times without a just cause. No one has any patience with a person who is continually finding fault, and never does anything whatever to remedy the fault. If the Tiger is not what it should be is it the duty of every one to find fault—no, not by any means, but to lend a helping hand to overcome the fault. Many of the students think the Tiger is only for the benefit of the Senior class. But this is certainly an erroneous idea. Of course every Senior should feel more deeply interested—we pity those who do not—than the lower classmen. Then let us banish the prevalent idea that the staff is entirely responsible for the publishing of the Tiger, and let every one give his assistance and make the paper just what it should be.

“Is it worth while?” Every man who first enters College asks himself this question many, many times. When he becomes homesick, and everything seems to go wrong with him, he is often tempted to give up and go home. Yes, many a one gets despondent and quits, and then in a few—very few—years he sees his mistake. He then regrets so much that he did not have more of that desirable quality—persistence, or “stickability,” whichever you choose to call it. Without constant effort, few succeed; with it, few ever fail. Therefore it behooves every man to do his best. The very fact of a man’s coming to College expresses his desire to receive the better things of life. Whether he attains these higher spheres will depend almost entirely upon how diligently he applies himself. To be successful as a College man certainly does not mean simply to prepare the lessons daily assigned by the professor. However, this is the chief purpose of coming to College, but do not let it be the sole purpose. Give to each phase of College activity a portion of your time that is commensurate with each department. And when you have done this, surely your College life has been a success.

There has been circulated around the College and over the entire State the erroneous idea that there has been an enormous amount of hazing at Clemson this year. Such reports are absolutely without foundation, but however untrue they do not fail to create a false impression of the true conditions at the College. It is the consensus of opinion of all the old cadets that there has been less hazing this year than there has been in previous years. Such a report is usually started from a mere trifle, which increases in magnitude at a fearful rate as it passes from one to another, until by the time it has encompassed the State, it has been “evolutionized” from a mere incident to a deed of the most outrageous and brutal character. Some people have an idea that it is better to try to tear down an institution than to assist in building it up. Clemson has her share of “knockers,” but so far they have succeeded only in raising her higher and higher in the scale of popularity and greater achievements.

There has been some talk of establishing a dramatic club at Clemson. Such an organization would do much to add to the pleasure and enjoyment as well as the enlightenment of the corps of cadets. The purpose of such a club should be to present some popular plays—either standard or original. Local talent is naturally more entertaining, other things being equal, than that of others whose individuality we do not know, and there is no doubt that each performance would be liberally patronized. Those who would take an active part in College dramatics would be especially benefited, in that they would have the opportunity of committing to memory some good plays, or better still the experience of producing an original one. Considering the talent that there is at Clemson, there is no reason why an entertaining original play could not be produced. But, if standard plays are presented, they should be good ones; for it is no harder to learn a good one than a poor one. And production could be very much added to by a careful selection of the men particularly suited for each part. Any movement toward the establishment of such a club would meet with much encouragement. Who will be the first to start and make a success of it?

The Palmetto Literary Society.

For the first time in the session 1909-1910, the old Palmetto Society was called to order by our new President, Mr. Robert E. Nickles. It being customary for the President to make a short address in which he names to the new cadets the many ways in which a literary society benefits a student, Mr. Nickles poured forth, in the choicest of English, not only an invitation to the new men to join the society, but a hearty welcome to those who did not see fit to return as visitors to our hall as often as they pleased to come.

Mr. H. C. Twiggs was the first orator of the session to open the eyes of his fellow-members with an oration, which showed the value of his past literary career and which almost made the new boys start from their seats to grasp the offered opportunity, hoping that they might ascend the plain of literature and some day be capable of taking the place of the present speaker.

Mr. G. T. Floyd was the next man to entertain the audience with an oration.

Everybody expected the session to be led off by an exceptionally good meeting; but the President saw fit to excuse the debaters; and, with the exception of Messrs. Twigs and Floyd, the other speakers were absent or excused.

The society was at ease a few minutes and the applications for membership were taken. And we are glad to say that next Friday night the old “Palmetto” will fall heir to more than a dozen promising young men.

Calhoun.

The first meeting of the Calhoun Literary Society for the session 1909-1910 was called to order on the evening of September 18th by Mr. A. A. McKeown, who entered upon his duties as President with admirable zeal. A creditable number of old members responded to roll-call; and they were accompanied by a good showing of new students, who seemed pleased and inspired by what they saw and heard.

In a stirring inaugural address, President McKeown outlined the great extent of college work, showed literary society work in its true importance, and urged upon those who were debating the question of becoming members to join without delay one of the three literary societies at Clemson.

No regular program was followed in the first meeting. Mr. D. B. Hill's declamation—a speech of Henry Grady's—held the attention of every one. Mr. B. H. Deacon and Mr. W. W. Foster acquitted themselves with credit in the field of oratory.

Eleven members were initiated, and two reinstated. Mr. A. M. Sally was unanimously chosen to represent the society on the "Tiger" staff.

Columbian Society.

In accordance with the custom of other societies, the Columbian held its first meeting Friday night, September 17, 1909. It was indeed a happy group that came together for this first meeting. After the usual opening ceremonies, the President, Mr. N. E. Byrd delivered his inaugural address. He extended a warm welcome to the new cadets and emphasized the three most important phases of college life, athletics, societies, and religious activities.

The orator of the occasion, Mr. J. N. Carothers, gave an excellent discourse on political conditions as they exist in America at the present time.

Mr. L. C. Harrison, as reporter of Current Events, held the audience spell bound as, in his characteristic style, he humorously commented on the notable events of the day. The deafening applause which his remarks brought forth was indeed merited.

Messrs. M. W. Wall and C. F. Middleton responded with excellent declamations. That of Mr. Middleton was indeed worthy of comment. Mr. H. S. Johnson voluntarily delivered a declamation which was indeed good.

An opportunity was then extended and seventeen men applied for membership.

After a few words of welcome to the new cadets by Messrs. Byrd, Harrison, and Johnson, the society adjourned with the resolve to adhere to the Constitution in all things, and to make this year count for society work.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. began its career this year under the most favorable conditions. Some plans had been adopted at the close of last session, so they were immediately put into execution. Mr. Noel L. Prevost, our General Secretary, and the membership committee sent out letters to all the new students stating just what the Y. M. C. A. at Clemson stood for. The consequence was that a number of the new students came fully decided to join the Y. M. C. A.

Another great aid to securing members was the selecting of two opposing sides to see which could obtain the most members. Two captains were elected, and they chose their men from the list of Bible class leaders. This contest lasted one week, during which time barracks were thoroughly canvassed, and some very effective work done. Each paid up membership counted five points and unpaid counted one point. The contest was very close from beginning to end, and much interest, especially on the closing night, was manifested.

At the close of the contest there were only twenty-five points difference between the two sides. Each member's name was posted on a bulletin board, and there appeared on this list 334 names.

On Sunday night, September 12, Rev. P. B. Wells, of Anderson, gave a very instructive and entertaining lecture in the chapel. His subject was, "Why we should study the Bible." Nearly the entire corps, as well as members of the faculty and friends, were present. There was some special music. Before the lecture, Prof. and Mrs. Riggs sang a duet, and immediately after Mrs. A. B. Gardner sang a solo.

After the services in chapel, the entire barracks were canvassed, and every man given a chance to join a Bible class. The result was that four hundred expressed their desire to become a member of some class. Each boy was to decide for himself whose class he was to be in and also what course he would take. There are about 30 student leaders this year, and four courses, viz.: Life of Christ, by Murray; Life of Christ, by Bosworth; Life of Paul; and Leaders of Israel. The leaders who led Murray last year are requested to lead Bosworth this year; the last year Bosworth leaders are requested to lead the Life of Paul; the Paul leaders of last year should lead the book on the Old Testament. Leaders of Israel is a new book which takes the place of the Old Testament characters heretofore studied. The aim of the Association this year is to have more intensive Bible study rather than seek for larger numbers. Of course, every effort will be made to enroll every man in the barracks.

On last Sunday evening, Sept. 19, Dr. Fletcher, of Furman University, spoke in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. His subject was the "Boundary of Limitations." The fact that Dr. Fletcher was to speak was sufficient to bring a large number of he and as this was not the first time that this no speaker has been to Clemson. The Review Meetings Committee is to be congratulated on securing such excellent speakers.

Mr. Provost was at his post of duty before College opened, and since his arrival here has seen no moments of leisure. He never allows anything to lag around him. His room is always open, and the cadets are at liberty to use him as a bureau of information at all times.

The chairman of the committee that has charge of the athletic department of the Association expressed his intention of putting the tennis court in better condition as early as possible. The baseball court will not be fixed until farther on in the season. Athletics as a part of the Association should never be overlooked, for it helps to maintain an interest at all times in the Association.

Clemson should have and doubtless shall have her full quota of men at the State Inter-Collegiate Bible Institute, which meets at Wofford during the first part of October. Much good is to be derived from these institutes, because the best of speakers are always present, and can give ideas and plans which otherwise could not be obtained. Let Clemson select her best men, and have her complete delegation present.

Mr. J. E. Johnson, State Secretary for South Carolina, gave the Association a visit last week. Mr. Johnson was much pleased with the effective work that the Association had done so early in the session.
Classes

Senior Class.

Has the ambition of our rathehood been reached? Well, at least we are Seniors, but what is it to be a Senior? Viewed through the eyes of the majority of rats, it is almost impossible to tell how great it is. But look at a Senior through a Senior's eyes. He has lost its charms and is no longer the object of our ambition. Four or five years ago, Senior was almost our ideal of greatness, but now it is our idea of hard labor.

With only one exception the class of 1910 are back at College. Three of our members have, after careful consideration, decided to complete their course with the class of '11. As we had one man to come in, we are only three men weaker than we were at the close of last year. The Senior class now has thirty-two agriculturals, twenty-two electricals, nineteen civils, two textiles and one metallurgical. This gives seventy-six men to begin our career. At a recent meeting of the Senior class, our officers for this year were elected. Our last year's president, Wooward Allen, was again elected to hold the highest position the class could offer. Major F. R. Baker was elected as vice-president. For secretary and treasurer, Mr. N. E. Byrd was unanimously re-elected. Mr. C. F. Inman was next elected as critic. The other officers are Mr. H. C. Twiggs, poet; Mr. R. E. Nickels, lawyer; and Mr. W. A. Robinson, chaplain. These men are well suited for their respective positions, and with their leader ship and especially with Mr. Robinson as chaplain, we can see no reason why this class can not accomplish great things in the next nine months.

The Senior Dancing Club has been re-organized and the officers have been elected. Mr. L. L. Laronche was elected president, with Mr. J. L. Hill for vice president. Mr. W. P. White was elected secretary and treasurer. Mr. White's position is one that requires a great deal of work and we know he would appreciate it if we would all be willing to make it unnecessary for him to come to the club more than once after each dance. The club has already enjoyed one informal dance, and we hope to have others like it besides the two formal ones that we are allowed to give.

So far the Seniors have not been able to secure any privileges, but Capt. Stokes has expressed his willingness to do what he can for us. Capt. Stokes is interested in this class, so we feel sure that we will soon have what other Seniors have enjoyed.

Mr. J. J. Gantt, who was a member of our class last year, is now a Senior at A. and M. of North Carolina. We wish him much success.

While we do not wish anyone to doubt Bob's varacity, we would advise everyone to remember that he is now a lawyer.

Considering the kind of young men that chaplains should be, our class decided not to re-elect Mr. Hill, but we were fortunate in our selection of Mr. Robinson to fill that position.

Mr. J. M. Wylie, commonly known as "Pat" has decided to finish his course here. He was at one time a member of the class of '09, but stayed out of College all last year. His year's vacation brought about a great change for he is married now.

Junior Class.

A large number of our classmates has, after spending vacation among friends, returned to resume work just beyond the half-mile mark in our College career. Let each of us hope that the latter half will be even more successful than the former has been. Although most of our classmates are here to greet us, there are a few familiar faces, such as Bing Farmer's, that we all regret not to have with us.

A class meeting was recently called for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. The following is the will of the class: B. B. Harris, president; R. H. Walker, vice president; J. B. Keith, secretary and treasurer; W. R. Connelly, historian; E. G. Davis, poet; P. L. Bissell, artist; G. D. Garner, representative on Chronicle Staff; R. W. Freeman, representative on Tiger Staff. It is believed that the class will have a successful year under the management of these officers.

The class Dancing Club has been organized with W. M. Haynesworth as president and J. E. Jenkins as secretary and treasurer. With these officers, the club has a very promising year before it. The first dance was given in the College gymnasium Friday evening, September the seventeenth.

We Juniors are proud of the fact that we are to be well represented on the foot-ball team—both varsity and scrub. With Gilmer, Hanckel, Walker, Connelly, Stevens, Woodward and others out for practice, there is no doubt but that our class will play an important part in this season’s line-up.

Sophomore Class.

After the pleasant summer vacation, we of the class of ‘12 are ready for a hard year’s work, determined that the year on our watch fobs shall never have to be changed. Yet the more we see of the Sophomore work, we realize that the path before us is far from easy; but we remember too, that “Success is the reward of the greatest service,” and remembering this, we are trying to get down to study and prepare for “white cards” to Junior.

It was very pleasant for us to come back to Clemson as “Old Boys” this year. How funny it did seem to see the “Rats” in the places we occupied last year! It really seemed more than three months since we were “Rats.”

At our class meeting a few days ago Mr. H. T. Prosser was elected President with Mr. H. W. Croer as Vice President, Mr. J. B. Ferguson, Secretary and Treasurer; Mr. F. L. Ross, Historian; Mr. G. W. Byars, Poet; and Mr. J. M. Workman, Reporter to “The Tiger.” As President of the dancing school, Mr. S. S. Abell was chosen, with Mr. A. P. Fant as Secretary and Treasurer.

At a meeting of the Class, the dancing school has been organized. It was unanimously decided that in order to put the school on a firm financial basis, an initiation fee of fifty cents would be charged. This is a small sum, but with the support of our large class, it should be ample. Arrangements are being made for lessons to begin as soon as possible, and it is hoped that the school will be well supported. Under the leaders we have and with the support of the Class, success is certain.

Fellows, stand up for your class in every way and let us make the Class of 1912 one to be proud of.

Death of an Alumnus.

It is with a deep sorrow, we publish the following clipping from "The State."

Thomas R. Phillips.
Springfield, Sept. 27.—With the first dawn of day this September morning, the spirit of Thomas R. Phillips left its earthly tabernacle.

Thomas Rutherford Phillips was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Phillips of this place. He was born June 24, 1881, and after attending the common schools of this place was graduated from Clemson College June, 1902. Having taken a high stand in electricity, he soon obtained a position with the Little Rock Railway and Electric company of Little Rock, Ark., which position he held until his health failed him nearly a year ago, at which time he went to Texas, seeking in vain its restoration. He came home last week and died today. He was a member of Little Rock lodge No. 29, Elks. On January 2, 1906, he married Miss Lucy Butler, of Little Rock, who, with his little daughter, Nancy Virginia, survives him. At an early age he connected himself with the Methodist Church of this place, and held his membership here until his death.

His family have been closely identified with this section for many years, and have always taken an active part in the educational and religious upbuilding of the town and community. He was a brother of Mrs. A. J. Thackston, of Orangeburg, Mrs. D. J. Wyatt Tarrant, of Magnolia, Sumter county, and Miss Colleen Phillips, who, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Phillips, live here.

He will be buried from the Methodist church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.
