THE MID-WINTER GERMAN

On Friday evening, February the fourth, the German Club gave its annual Midwinter German in the Agricultural Hall.

At half past eight o'clock the assembled couples marched into the dance hall for the Grand March, which was followed by five German figures gracefully led by the president of the club, Cadet Woodward Allen and Miss Katherine Furman. A few extras were danced until eleven o'clock, when a delicious salad course was served. After refreshments, card dances were enjoyed for the remainder of the evening.

The hall was tastefully decorated with pot plants, streamers of red and white crepe paper, and hearts, beautifully portraying the spirit of St. Valentine. Comstock's Orchestra furnished delightful music for the occasion.

The following couples were present: Cadet Woodward Allen with Miss Katherine Furman, of Clemson, Cadet W. A. Robinson with Miss Fannie Harris, of Abbeville, Cadet R. H. Walker with Miss Dits Ramsey, of Toecoa, Ga., Cadet W. R. LaMotte with Miss Bessie Burton, of Newberry, Cadet J. B. Keith with Miss Lena Waddell, of Greenville, Cadet E. L. Summer with Miss Bug Norris, of Greenville, Cadet E. A. Sompayrac with Miss Leila Doyle, of Calhoun, Cadet E. A. McCreary with Miss Ruth Barry, of Atlanta, Ga., Cadet P. L. Bissell with Miss Floride Calhoun, of Clemson, Cadet E. H. Pinckney with Miss Lucia Yates, of Camden, Cadet M. Coles with Miss Annie Rodger, of Greenwood, Cadet A. S. Lachicotte with Miss Tallulah Crowther, of Clemson, Cadet M. S. Lawton with Miss Sadie Farmer, of Allendale, Cadet L. A. Coleman with Miss Neila Sloan, of Clemson, Cadet W. H. Hanckel with Miss Sarah Furman, of Clemson, Cadet B. B. Harris with Miss Mary Lewis, of Clemson, Cadet E. N. Sitton with Miss Eunice Russell, of Anderson, Prof. D. B. Earle with Miss Virginia Norris, of Greenville, Prof. D. H.

Henry with Miss Katherine Cox, of Atlanta, Ga., Prof. Z. P. Lewis with Miss Lydia Fuller, of Fort Leavenworth, Kans., Mr. J. C. Littlejohn with Miss Mary Fuller, of Fort Leavenworth, Kans., Hill, N. W. Arthur, D. C. Boykin, S. M. Brown, of Pendleton. Stags: Cadets A. McDavid, J. L. Hill, N. W. Arthur, D. C. Beaty, A. S. Bedell, J. W. Blackwell, B. D. Boykin, S. M. Brown, L. S. David, N. O. Head, J. E. Kirby, A. P. Lewis, W. E. Stokes, L. P. Tobin, R. S. Wolfe and L. F. Wolfe. Professors, J. W. Gantt and P. C. Burch. Messrs. Clarkson Russell, J. W. Gantt, B. H. Rawls, Heyward Mahon, T. B. Reeves, and G. W. Keitt. Chaperones: Prof. and Mrs. W. M. Riggs, Capt. and Mrs. M. B. Stokes, Prof. and Mrs. R. E. Lee, Mrs. J. N. Harper, Prof. and Mrs. A. B. Bryan, Prof. and Mrs. M. E. Bradley, Mrs. C. M. Furman, Mrs. Winslow Sloan, Mr. and Mrs. Whit Livingston.

CLEMSON DRAMATIC CLUB

A HIGHLY ENTERTAINING PLAY LISTENED TO BY THE STUDENTS.

On February 22nd, the Clemson Dramatic Club gave a very successful entertainment in chapel. The members of the club have been practicing for some time; consequently everyone was looking forward for the first appearance to be a success, and they were not disappointed. The actors were carefully chosen, and each one was suitable to the part he was to perform. With such efficient men as Prof. Lewis as director, and Mr. Crum as manager, there could be no doubt but that the play would be well carried out. Miss Cofer also rendered valuable assistance by giving aid in the rehearsals. It has been thought for a long time that local talent in this line was not wanting at Clemson, but now it is known to be here. Local talent is always more entertaining than that of those you know nothing whatever of their individuality. To get up such a play consumes much time, and those who have participated in it deserve credit for their enthusiasm in the work.

Mr. W. C. Crum, as Richard Comfort, took leading part in the play; while Mr. R. S. Wolfe, as Mrs. Comfort, did well in that capacity. Mr. H. C. Twiggs, as George Merrigale, had quite an appropriate assumed name, and made a creditable showing. Mr. F. R. Baker, as Uncle Alexander Meander, and Mr. D. B. Clayton, as Mrs. Meander, both played their parts well, but Mr. Baker is to be especially complimented upon his good show as the 'old man.' Mr. A. Grier, as Mrs. Meander's maid, always showed up well when "her" time came. Mr. C. H. Trott, as Harris, the butler, was the source of much merriment each time he appeared upon the stage. He played his part as if he had been on the stage for years. McWhorter's specialties were also amusing. So enjoyable had been the evening that every one was loath to leave when the curtain fell upon the last act.

The entertainment was got out for the benefit of the 1910 Taps. The manager intends to present his show at some of the neighboring towns, and we predict for these places a very enjoyable evening.

JUNIORS STILL UNABLE TO SCORE

NIMS AND KANGETTER WORK FOR FRESHMAN, BUT ACCOMPLISHED NOTHING.

Tuesday afternoon of last week, for the second time this year, the Junior and the Freshman football teams tried their power on the field by playing a game, which resulted in no score for either side. From start to finish, the game was unusually exciting, for one of its sort, as good plays made by both teams, abounded all through the game. Both teams, however, lost two or three good plays on account of the muddy, slippery ground. Several times the Freshman came near scoring; and several times the Juniors worked themselves out of close places.

The whole Junior team played well; the back field did especially good work in getting off punts, while the line did all in its power to keep the Freshman bunch in front of it. The team played together. Henderson and Sherard however, deserve mention above the others for level head work all through the game.

Nims' punting and live hitting, for the Freshmen, puts his team ahead of Juniors. He made one flying catch, which within itself would have been enough to class him as the best player on the field. A number of times Nims made spectacular plays, and had he been in the best physical condition he would have made the anxious to-be-winners feel his playing more than he did. The Freshmen's captain, Kangetter, is also worthy of note on account of his aggressive playing at left half.

Freshman Try Field Goal.

About the middle of the second half, Coles, the Freshman quarter back, when on the 25 yard line, made a beautiful attempt at a field goal. He got the kick off all right, but the ball sailed about six inches out from and over the top of the pole.

The coaches, White, for the Juniors, and Hydrick for the Freshmen, were so anxious to see the tie played off that they were not much concerned about an intermission.

Brief Detailed Account.

Juniors win the toss up, and on the first go round drop the pigskin into Kantgetter's arms. Freshmen have a few mixup plays, and Nims punts. The higher class gets the ball on gaining nothing through Fresh line, calls on quarterback to relieve them of the embarrassment by a punt. Kantgetter receives punt, and after a short gain through line Nims kicks 45 yards and out of bounds.

Juniors' ball; and Freshman do good work in breaking up plays. On returning to themselves the Juniors make two or three gains, and the 1911 rooters raised sand on the side line. Freshman get ball; Nims punts; Sherard receives punts and is downed in tracks. Ball goes to Freshman, and Coles makes a short kick which was recovered by a Freshman. Nims takes 9 yards through line, followed by 2 more. Freshman on side lines manage to get courage enough to yell. Juniors get hold of the ball, and are soon forced to punt. End first half 0-0.

Second Half.

Freshman kick off; Juniors try several tricks, but all fail. Freshmen block kick and recover ball. Nims takes 3 yards around end, and on next play scores short kick. Juniors get ball and on the second play Boone breaks for touchdown; but a Freshman downs him before he crosses the line. Ball goes to Freshmen, and soon after Nims punts again. Juniors get ball and run a few good signals and cause the Freshmen to retreat. The Juniors were now going on for a touchdown. Enthusiasm on side line running high. Within 25 yards of goal and playing hard. Time up and game ends with no score.

GYM. TEAM DOING HARD WORK

MEN WHO ARE SEEKING PLACES ON TRACK TEAM SHOW GREAT INTEREST.

Under the direction of Dr. Calhoun, who has been very successful in coaching the gymnasium and track teams, the men who are especially fond of this branch of athletics are undergoing hard work, prior to the opening of track season. Almost every afternoon, the gymnasium is crowded with boys. Some engage in wrestling, while others exercise themselves on the apparatus, such as horizontal bars, parallel bars, flying rings, etc. The frequency and difficulty of their work only demonstrates the fact that if the men expect to do anything on the field, they must get themselves in the right shape before going out.

All the men seem to realize this truth, however, as they are holding back neither energy nor anything else that would keep them from getting in proper condition. It would be almost impossible to go out with stiff joints, and make any of the teams. The boys are exceedingly enthusiastic over their work; and it can be well said that some of this same gym. team will fill the now existing vacancies in other athletic teams.

THE MYSTERIOUS ZANTON

On Saturday night, Feb. 5th, Prof. Zanton highly entertained a large audience in chapel. Some of his feats were quite remarkable in being performed without the audience's seeing how they were done. The performer selected a committee of twelve to see that there was no trick in what he did; but the tricks were there, still every one was unable to discover them.

After selecting his committee, Prof. Zanton had two of them to securely tie him in a chair and tie his hands at same time. Then he had the curtain dropped, and soon his hands were free, bells were ringing, chairs were being whirled in the air—commotion in general reigned within. Yet, when the curtain was drawn, the tying committee found him just as he had been tied, with no change in the knots whatever. One of the committeemen was put in the inclosure with him, and when this gentleman made his appearance, he was found to be coatless, but he had received several additions, in the shape of bells, ropes, strings, etc., being tied to him. In the wind up, the two gentlemen had exchanged coats, and still the man in the chair was found just as he had been put in there.

The next feature of the program was the mind reading. Prof. Zanton was remarkable in this, at least he made that impression upon most of the audience. If there was any flaw anywhere, no one has been able to detect it until yet, not even the choice committee he selected.

Prof. Zanton gave his entertainment for the 1910 Taps. It is to be hoped that the business manager will succeed in securing many more successful entertainments.

EDITORIAL

Have you realized that two thirds of the College year has gone? Then why not make the last third the best yet.

Examinations will soon be here in full force. Many students and professors too, look upon them as a nuisance; others think examinations are the only fair test of finding out what a student knows about a subject. There is room for good argument on both sides, yet, since we have examinations, we should put aside our personal feelings on the matter, and get the best out of them. Many a student fails on his examinations simply because he does not like them. They certainly serve as a good review of the subject passed over as well as enabling the student to distinguish between the important and the unimportant. Of course, examinations are a source of much anxiety to the negligent student; while to those who study regularly, they are not looked upon as being so monstrous. Now, since we have them, let's get some benefit therefrom.

Baseball season is here once again. We hope to see a large number of applicants out for practice. To pick a good team a coach must have a large number to pick from. And especially is it necessary for lower classmen to try out. Whether you make the team or not, you will show that you have the right spirit, but do not stop with one effort. Your practice this year may be the means of your securing a position on the team the following season.

Then, if you do not feel disposed to play ball, there is track work just as interesting. Every year, there are men going out of these places, and some one must be ready to take up the work as their successors. Because of the efficiency of her coach and the faithfulness of her students, Clemson succeeded last year in putting out a team that was not beaten in a single meet. Well might any college be proud of such a team. We have the men here, and there is no reason why just such a team cannot win the championship again this year.

Some years ago a movement was started for the erection of an Alumni Hall at Clemson; but, on account of the financial panic a couple of years ago, there has been very little done or said about this laudable undertaking. The peculiar situation of the college, if for no other reasons, makes the erection of such a building almost imperative. When an alumnus visits Clemson, there is practically no place for him to go where he feels entirely at home. If this hall is built, it will promote a closer feeling among the alumni, as well as bind each one of them closer to the college. It would be the occasion for many of the old students to re-visit Clemson, and see just what progress the college is making year by year. Here could be held an annual banquet, where all the graduates from the different classes could assemble, and become acquainted with each other. Good games could be installed and the members of one class could compete with those of another.

The time for action has come. All that is needed is for some energetic Alumnus to take hold of the matter and push it along. Once the movement is started, all will join in to support the good cause. Who will be the one to take the lead? Such a building would be a valuable addition to the campus; would show the right spirit in the Alumni; and would be a great aid to the college itself. Then, this praiseworthy undertaking should not be allowed to go unnoticed, but should be pushed to completion.

Classes

Senior Class.

The question you hear the Senior asking now is, "What are you going to take as a subject for your thesis?" The work of a thesis from now until June will be one of the many things that will keep us busy. We now have two terms' examinations and a thesis between us and our diploma.

The measles is no respecter of persons, for it has carried several Seniors to bed along with the others. Some of the Seniors are up again, some are still in bed, but we hope that no more will get sick.

Mr. Higgins went to Greenville several days ago on business for the 1910 Taps. He was successful in getting his advertisements, and also enjoyed a short stay at his home on his way back to college.

Mr. J. N. Carothers has gone to Rock Hill to represent our Sunday school at the Sunday school convention being held there. As Mr. Carothers' home is in Rock Hill, he will have a very pleasant trip.

One of the Seniors, who answers to the name Claude, received a letter from Chicora a few days ago due four cents. The receiver says the letter was worth ten dollars to him, so he didn't mind borrowing four cents to get it out of the post office.

In a recent meeting of the Senior class several things were attended to. The co-operative committee was elected, and consists of Messrs. Allen, Twiggs, Coleman, Britt and Inman. The president of our class brought up the matter of a football coach for next year. He explained that it would take more money to bring Mr. Williams than the association was able to pay. After some discussion the president called for subscriptions from the class. We really surprised our own selves when we added the pledges, and found that we had raised over one hundred and fifty dollars. A committee was appointed to present the matter to the other classes to see if enough could be raised to bring coach Williams back. We certainly hope to see him coach our team next year; for we all believe that under his leadership, Clemson will be able to again occupy the position she has always held.

Junior Class.

Class football is yet an unsettled matter, as we have neither won nor lost a game; but we have put up some good fights against both Sophomores and Freshman. This is certainly very promising for next year's varsity, for it shows that there is some good material on each of the class teams. The braves who have been supporting our colors so well are as follows: Boone, Crawford, Garrett, Gilmore, Goodman, Haskell, Henderson, Harrison, Jenkins, Jeter, Lindler, Milling, Riley, Schroder, Sherard and Wyndham. All these men have done work deserving of praise. We have yet to play the Freshmen; then the winning team will play the Sophomores. Boys, we must drink from the cup.

The Junior Dancing club gave an informal dance Saturday evening, February 5th. There was a very large attendance, and ladies were in abundance. Everyone seemed to enjoy the night to the fullest extent: for instance, ask "Monk" Wyndham.

Mr. J. A. Dew paid a flying visit to the city of Greenville a few days since.

Mr. B. H. Deason was called home recently on account of the illness of his brother. We hope that the illness is not very serious, and that Mr. Deason will soon be among us again.

Messrs. Britt, Garrett and Parker are now on the sick list. Everyone will be glad to see these men back at their classes soon.

Mr. J. S. Knox made a call in Central a few Sundays ago. He seems to be very much interested in that section just now. Mr. Knox is known to be a lover of girls; however, no one suspected this to be Mr. Knox's motive in visiting Central.

Mr. F. F. Parker visited in Greenville a few days ago.

The 1911 Annual staff met a few nights ago and selected Messrs. Connelley, W. R. and Fizer, J. R., for class photographers. They also added Messrs. Deason, B. H. and Henderson, W. N., to the literary department.

Sophomore Class.

The Sophomore Dancing School gave its first dance on last Friday night. The long-looked-forward-to pleasure of dancing with the ladies came at last, and was only marred by the absence of some of the ladies invited, caused by the inclement weather. Of course, the disappointment of some of the would-be partners was keen, but we hope it will be made up to them at the next dance.

Those who enjoyed the evening as guests were: Captain and Mrs. Stokes, Professor and Mrs. Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Bradley, and the Misses Norris, Rast, Crowther and Harris; while the delighted hosts were Messrs. Redfern, Wheeler, Evans, Blackwell, Adams, Anderson, Hartley, Hayden, Becker, Haynsworth, Brown, Johnson, Fant, LaMotte, Gage, Lawton, Gandy, Mellette, Merritt, Sompayrac and Willoughby.

We hoped to be able to say in this issue that we had defeated the Freshmen in football, but circumstances allow us to still look forward to that triumph. For in our recent game with the Freshman, one or two of them were seriously hurt, so that the game was stopped. By our next issue, we hope to announce a victory over the Freshman, and a more decided victory over the Juniors.

Mr. C. H. Dixon has spent the past week-end in Greenville, having his eyes treated. We may say also, that Mr. Dixon finds the two Greenville College views very restful to his eyes.

Mr. R. D. Caldwell has returned from Atlanta, where he has been undergoing eye treatment.

Quite a number of us are in the hospital at present with measles.

M. Pennel has spent the past week at home, recuperating after a recent sickness.

We are very glad to see Mr. Kennerly and Mr. Mitchel out again after their extended visit to the hospital.

Sophomore Therril (in surveying): "Professor, how would you know if you were below sea level?"

Professor Sweeney: "Mr. Therril, would you know if you were under water?"

Sophomore Gilstrap: "Professor, will the star fish bite you?"

Societies

Calhoun Literary Society.

February 11 will probably be remembered longer as the date of the snowstorm, than as the occasion of the smallest house called to order in the Calhoun Society hall during the current session. After several Seniors had been excused to prepare for an examination, there remained about thirty-five men in the hall. Out of that number, a president, an essayist, a reader, and five debaters reported for duty. Mr. Freeman was asked to act in the capacity of secretary; and Mr. McKeown was directed to assume the air of a critic. Mr. Crawford filled a vacant seat on the negative settee.

A carefully prepared and instructive essay on the development of Southern Architecture was read by Mr. Salley. A recently initiated member, Mr. Fant, read with spirit Adams' speech in favor of the Declaration of Independence.

The right of a father to deed his children without the consent of their mother was discussed judicially and unemotionally—so much so, that both judges and members were forced to agree that the present law need not be repealed, as recommended by the affirmative reformers.

It was decided at this meeting to hold the preliminary declaimer's contest on the evening of February 21.

The sympathy of the Society goes out to Mr. Deason, who was called to the bedside of his brother.

Palmetto Society

On the evening of Feb. 4th, the Palmetto Literary Society was called to order for the last time by its "old" president, Mr. W. D. Barnett. That being the appointed night for the installation of the officers for the third term, they arranged themselves around the rostrum, and took the customary oath of office.

Mr. W. A. Barnett, the new president, delivered an excellent inaugural address, after which he conducted the regular exercises of the evening.

On account of the absence of one of the debaters,

Mr. Clinkseales volunteered to fill the vacancy. The debate was very good indeed, and to use the expression, is showed that each debater "had the brass to chew the rag for every point that could be brought out of it."

Mr. Kangetter, one of the new members, read an excellent essay, which made some of us older members feel as if we should take a back seat, and give way to the coming essayist, or either put more spirit into our own efforts.

Mr. Stribbling and Mr. Farris each delivered a good declamation, which stands as a proof of the benefit of their society training.

The following committees were appointed by the president: Auditing committee, Messrs. Farris, Epps and Ridgill; committee on appeals, Messrs. Rast, Heriot and Hall; committee on amendments and new laws, Messrs. Garrett, Folk and Stribbling; committee on queries, Messrs. Workman, Stanton and Stokes; committee on credentials, Messrs. Yates, Gilmore and Turbeville.

This concluded the evening's session and the society adjourned.

On the evening of Feb. 11th, the society was called to order by the vice-president, and the regular exercises were carried out.

The debate was more of an appeal to the judges than it was a debate, but most of the debaters were new members, and of course, we could not expect much from their first attempt. The judges saw fit to give the laurels to the negative; perhaps it was because the negative side won the debate, or it might have been because the judges were so tender-hearted that they could not resist the personal appeals of those who represented the negative side of the debate.

Mr. D. C. Beaty surprised us with an inspiring oration, and Mr. W. N. Henderson followed with an essay.

There were several visitors in the hall, and of course, we could not adjourn until we had heard "the good news which they had brought us."

The last act was a roll call, which ended the drama; and then the curtains fell.

We do not like to be considered as being pessimistic, but it seems that there is not nearly so much interest taken in Sunday School and Y. M. C. A. work at present as has been taken in the past. The attendance at Sunday school is by no means what it ought to be. At least, one half of the students should be present every Sunday morning; but as it is not more than one-sixth are in regular attendance. The teachers certainly do their part. They meet their classes regularly and willingly with well prepared lessons, and do all in their power to keep up interest. Then, the fault must be with the students themselves. The ones who do attend regularly should make some effort to get others to come out. A college man is supposed to have some information concerning the Bible, and here at Clemson there is practically no place to get this information, unless it be in the Sunday school or some department of the Y. M. C. A.

At the regular Sunday evening meetings of the Y. M. C. A. the hall should be crowded, but instead there has been a gradual diminution in numbers until the attendance is entirely too small. Fellows, the trustees are helping you by appropriating funds for this work; the faculty members are contributing liberally; the alumni have seen the great need of this work, and are giving the Y. M. C. A. their hearty support, so there remains nothing to be done except the co-operation of the students in carrying out this important work. After having so much done for our own welfare, is it not time that we were showing our appreciation by giving each meeting a full attendance? The secretary and officers have tried to do their part, and have given much time to Y. M. C. A. work. Now, as the newly elected cabinet goes into office, let each and every one of us rally to the cause, and give them our support, even if this support only be regular attendance, it will be very encouraging. Instead of letting our ranks grow thinner as the session draws to a close, let us replenish them, and make the last better than the first.

Y. M. C. A.

Recently, Mr. Warner, who has been a missionary in Brazil for several years, was here, and gave an excellent address on the conditions and opportunities for missionaries in Brazil. Mr. Warner reminded us of the immense size of the territory, and also of the wealth of the country. As he said, few countries possess so vast an amount of wealth in so many different investments. We are always glad to have such men as Mr. Warner with us, and feel sure that his visit was one of great benefit to us.

REV. MR. McCAUL.

At one of our recent Sunday evening services we were very fortunate in having as our speaker

Rev. Mr. McCaul. Being connected with the boys, as Mr. McCaul is, he is familiar with the temptations which they are subjected to. Being thus situated, his address was one of very great benefit to the boys.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The annual election of Y. M. C. A. officers was held in the Y. M. C. A. hall last Sunday night. The following men were selected as officers for the coming year: Pres. E. N. Sitton; Vice-Pres., L. B. Altman; Secretary, A. G. Small; and Treasurer, O. O. Dukes. With such men as these in charge of the work, there is no reason why this should not be the most prosperous year of the Y. M. C. A. in the history of Clemson.

PRAYER MEETING.

One of the students will be selected to conduct the Wednesday evening prayer meeting each week. L. W. Summers will conduct the services for this week. It is hoped that those who are selected will do their utmost to make the meetings successful.

By the Way.

"Do you know, young man," said the lawyer, with forbidding sternness, "that when I was your age I was receiving only two dollars per week?"

"No, sir, I didn't know it," said the boy. Then after a moment's reflection, he added, quite respectfully, "But then, sir, perhaps you weren't worth any more."—Harper's Weekly.

Somewhat Cheaper.

"Is it so, that you used to call regularly on that girl?"

"Yes; she always sang a song to me that I loved."

"Why didn't you marry her?"

"I found I could buy the song for fifty cents."

Telling The Truth.

Mother: "There were two apples in the cupboard Tommy, and now there is only one. How's that?"

Tommy (who sees no way of escape): "Well, ma, it was so dark in there I didn't see the others!"—Judge.

Tiger Locals

Miss Katherine Furman, who is attending Brenau College, is spending a few days on the campus visiting her parents, Prof. and Mrs. C. M. Furman. While here, Miss Furman attended the German club dance.

Mr. F. M. Dwight, a graduate of the class of '08, spent a few days on campus recently.

"Pig" Pegues is enjoying a few days rest in the hospital, where he is convalescing from an attack of the measles.

Miss Yates, of Camden, S. C., spent a few days on campus visiting her friend, Miss Sarah Furman. She also attended the German club dance.

Miss Fannie Harris, of Abbeville, recently visited Mrs. M. E. Bradley.

At present, there is quite an epidemic of measles in college. Most of the cases are slight, and the boys are resting well.

The annual celebration of the Columbian Literary Society has been postponed on account of the illness of one of the orators, Mr. N. E. Byrd.

Miss Bessie Rast is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. C. Tucker.

Miss Cox, of Atlanta, is spending sometime with Mrs. A. B. Bryan.

Quite a number of the students of the University of South Carolina honored Clemson with their presence during the visit of the Legislature.

Dr. L. C. Martin, the Clemson druggist, recently paid a visit to his home in Easley.

"Dock" Reeves spent a day at Clemson last week. We understand that he is making quite a success in the real estate business in Greenville.

No doubt it will be pleasing to the many friends of cadet J. M. Ridgill to learn that he secured a good position as a census official. Mr. Ridgill secured this position through a competitive examination.

Quite a number of the cadets amused themselves during the recent snow by coasting and rabbit hunting.

Mr. G. H. Mahon, Jr., of Greenville, came over to the German dance.

Dr. J. S. Stribling, of Seneca, made a flying trip to Clemson last week in his fine touring car.

During the football game between the Freshman and Sophomore teams, cadet Joe Douthit of the former team suffered a broken leg. We are glad to know that he is doing nicely.

Ask Corporals Bacot and David if their squads were "all in" at Taps.

Soph. Lawton (at chem. Lab.):—Prof. if you add Bach to this solution, you'll get a percipitate.

Prof. H:—No sir, No sir, you will get p-r-e-e-i-p-i-t-a-t-e.

THE RETURN.

When Johnnie went to school
He rigidly conformed to rule.

At first he joined a college frat,
And lost an arm and leg in that.

And then he made the Delta Phis,
Who gouged out one of Johnnie's eyes.

A "rush" that launched the college year
Deprived him of a useful ear.

He was so good, and glad to please,
That Johnnie made the team with ease.

He left a hand at Cleveland, O.,
A knee-cap at St. Louis, Mo.;

His sternum cracked at Baltimore—
Interred his nose at Portland, Ore.

At every contest, win or yield,
He left a portion on the field.

Thus gradually he was bereft,
Till little of the boy was left.

We got his baggage home by rail—
The rest of Johnnie came by mail.

—Buffalo News.

"What do you think now, Bobbie?" asked his mother as she boxed his ears.

"I don't think," replied the boy. "My train of thought have been delayed by a hot box."—Ex.

He: "Are they well matched?"

She: "I should say so. He is a vegetarian, and she is a grass widow."—Ex.

He rose up on his feet to tell
What gravitation is.

He would have told about as much
If he had never "riz."

In sitting down he missed the chair,
And in his prone position
He rubbed his injured seat and said
He knew the definition.

Turn failure into victory;
Don't let your courage fade;
And if you get a lemon
Just make the lemon aid.

We clip the following from a country weekly for the benefit of those who doubt the power of the press.

"Owing to the overcrowded condition of our columns, a number of births and deaths are unavoidably postponed until next issue.—Ex.
