   Clemson’s biomedical facility, in partnership with Greenville Hospital System, will have one floor at the Patewood Medical Campus in Greenville. The area will house several bioengineering faculty.

   Clemson’s Advancement Center will be an incubator for start up companies coming to Clemson.

   A distance electron microscope is being commissioned in May with the Medical University of South Carolina. Faculty members from MUSC will be able to send biological specimens to Clemson University via the microscope.

* TAB references refer to the Clemson University Board of Trustees Spring Quarterly Full Board Meeting Notebook on April 20, 2007 held at the Madren Center Executive Board Room in Clemson, South Carolina.

Dr. DiSabatino gave an overview of the new organizational model. The new model better integrates the whole student body into the total learning environment.

   Trustee McKissick asked what metrics would be used to measure success. Dr. DiSabatino explained that the measurements would include graduation and retention rates, program effectiveness, and learning outcomes for programs such as leadership, diversity, and communications.

b. Core Campus Precinct Plan
   Vice Chairman Britton praised Steven Lareau and Apurva Shah for the wonderful presentation they gave during the Student Affairs Committee meeting on the Core Campus Precinct Plan. Vice Chairman Britton asked if they would provide the Board with a condensed version of the presentation they showed during the committee meeting.

   Mr. Lareau explained that Clemson could provide a better social gathering place for students to interact with faculty and other students. Currently students utilize the library as a meeting place, the old student union, or the Hendrix Center. If more time permits, the students go home which reduces opportunity for interactions.

   The first of the multi-phased construction plan for the proposed Student Union (TAB W), includes dining facilities, post office, and housing. Phase II includes the new union, student commons, and retail dining. The student union proposal has a 400-person theater, study space, lounge space, coffee shops, Student Organizations’ office spaces, Student Government, and offices for the Division of Student Affairs. The Student Organization office space and office areas will house over 280 student organizations and provide copiers, workstations, tables.

   The new town square and retail area will create an area that students and faculty can interact with each other outside of classroom and office hour settings. A green space will be incorporated into the new design of the union allowing the sense of a town square feeling for all aspects of student life. Everything from Klugh Avenue to Cox Plaza will be raised and will create a view of the upper decks of Death Valley. The Student Union will integrate all aspects of student life and campus interests.

* TAB references refer to the Clemson University Board of Trustees Spring Quarterly Full Board Meeting Notebook on April 20, 2007 held at the Madren Center Executive Board Room in Clemson, South Carolina.

Vice Chairman Britton asked Dr. DiSabatino to comment on the need for the Health Center Expansion (TAB X). The current Health Center was built for a 6000 student body and we are now at a 17,000 student body. The needs and demands for the Health Center, specifically the Counseling Center, have grown dramatically.

* TAB references refer to the Clemson University Board of Trustees Spring Quarterly Full Board Meeting Notebook on April 20, 2007 held at the Madren Center Executive Board Room in Clemson, South Carolina.
During the ring ceremony held in Tillman Hall, BN Skardon, former professor, told the story of how his Clemson ring saved his life during World War I. All of his valuables were taken when he became a prisoner of war except for his Clemson ring which he hid. While in the POW camp he traded his ring for food from the Japanese. The food that he obtained sustained him until his rescue.

Report Card:
Dr. Debra Jackson handed out copies of the President’s Report Card to the Board of Trustees. President Barker read the Report Card Goals and the new metrics.

Reflections on Dimensions of Clemson:
President Barker commented on his recent 48 hours to illustrate the different dimensions that may define Clemson. He also reassured everyone that safety of our student is a top priority at Clemson. A candle light vigil was held in the amphitheater with over 3000 students and community members in attendance. After the vigil, a student from Virginia Tech sought out President Barker. The student, with tears in his eyes, thanked him for all the support that Clemson has shown to him and his Virginia Tech family. President Barker told that student he would bring his expression of appreciation to the Board of Trustees.

Chairman Hendrix stated that the Board feels more comfortable approving funds when they can see the progress that is being made and all the different measures in the President’s Report Card provide them with that information. He does not know of any other institution that has a document similar to President Barker’s Report Card.
