YOUTH DAY
FOR SAFETY -- CONVENIENCE COMFORT AND ECONOMY

You board and leave your Trailways bus right in the heart of town—so simple and convenient for business or shopping trips. And what comfortable travel in these new buses! Air-suspension “springs” . . . tinted glass . . . deep, reclining seats . . . rest rooms . . . cooled, constantly conditioned air. Trailways drivers are unexcelled in their record for safety . . . noted for their courtesy. Next time, go Trailways, and you’ll see why it’s known as the “Route of Southern Hospitality.”

EMERGENCIES

In any emergency of any nature, come to the right side door of the press box (as you face press box), or contact any usher on duty. First aid stations are on either side of field beneath stands with trained personnel on duty. Telephones are located at the northeast, northwest, southeast, and southwest ticket booths.

RESTROOMS

Ladies' and men's restrooms are located beneath the stands and can be reached by exit from any portal. There are 4 ladies' and 4 men's restrooms on each side of the stadium and one each under the new west stands.

CONCESSION STANDS

Concession stands are located underneath each side of the stadium and west end stands and can be reached by exit from any portal. The stands handle soft drinks, sandwiches, cigarettes, popcorn, peanuts, candy, etc. Vendors also sell these items in the stands.

IN LEAVING

In leaving the stadium, please give utmost heed to the directions from officers on duty. New parking lots and exit roads have been added this year for your convenience. Please cooperate with traffic officers. Cars will be cleared from parking lots as quickly as possible.

Welcome to Clemson

It is my pleasure to officially extend the known hospitality of Clemson.

We want you to enjoy not only this high-test football game between old athletic foes, but also the wholesome camaraderie you find in this extraordinary stadium of 'good seats only'.

Clemson today is a college in name, but a university in makeup. It is large enough to serve and to share, yet small enough to be personal and friendly. It is an historic place, embodied by lovely old acres and imposing new buildings. But, too, it is a vital place; stimulating, challenging and satisfying—permeated by a spirit of learning and finding.

We think, with some prejudice, that Clemson is a wonderful place to live, to work, and—as we are sure you will agree this afternoon—to play. We hope, too, you will come to feel it is a good place to visit and will plan to be with us often.

About The Coach...

The 1963 season marks Frank Howard's 33rd on the Clemson staff and his 24th as head coach. Clemson and Howard have grown together — both physically and in prominence. The Tigers have become known nationally under his guidance.

Howard’s Tigers have played in six major post-season bowl games — more than any other team in the Atlantic Coast Conference — and the Tigers also have the best bowl record of any ACC team with four wins and three losses.

In the 10 years of conference competition, Howard has guided the Tigers to an overall 63-36-1 mark, second only to Duke. Against league foes only, the Tigers are 36-16-1 going into the 1963 season.

Of the 581 games Clemson has played since it’s first team, Howard has seen 310 of these — 225 as head coach and 85 as line coach.

The Century Club...

Fourteen coaches who are at major football institutions (as classified by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau) have now won 100 or more games in their careers. No coach joined the “Century Club” last season but there are three possible members this year. Buff Donelli of Columbia and R. L. Blackman of Dartmouth have each won 93 games and Frank Camp of Louisville has 92 triumphs. Coach Frank Howard of Clemson ranks sixth in the nation for the most wins in a career. Listed below are the “Century Club” members.

Sports lovers of the world, unite...let's all go Wildcat-ing!

Face it—if you're the rocking chair, watch-it-on-TV type, forget the wild, wild '64 Buick Wildcat. But if you like your action furious and first-hand, Wildcat is for you! You can bark your signals to a regular 325 hp V-8 formation, or really take to the air with a 340* or 360* hp passar. Three scat-back transmissions add to your fun: 3-speed synchromesh; 4-speed synchro stick shift on the floor*, or Buick's new trigger-quick Super Turbine 400 automatic* (very sparing with gas, too!). Four new models: 4-dr. hardtop; 2-dr. sport coupe; 4-dr. sedan; convertible. Give one a workout; see why we say ...

Howard's Record
Games: 22  Won: 14  Lost: 8  Tied: 0  Pts.: 407  Opp.: 301
Button down the hatch, granny, this could be another one of those games. Clemson and Wake Forest have cooked up some pretty nifty concoctions in their 30 years of gridiron rivalry. And even though Clemson has held the upper hand in the last 15 years, there have been some mighty close ones.

The series actually got started in 1933 when Jim Weaver, presently Atlantic Coast Conference commissioner, was head man of the Deacons and Jess Neely was keeping watch over the Tigers.

Then in 1937 none other than Douglas Clyde (Peahead) Walker strode on the Baptist flats and took up a vigil that was to last 14 years. To hear the soft spoken Walker tell it, you’d think that he ran Neely to Texas and brought in Frank Howard “so I could win a few.”

Truth of the matter is that Neely defeated Walker the three years the teams met, and Howard was to take Walker in their first two meetings.

Here Howard says Peahead started “recruiting pro players” and “using other unethical tactics” and the Deacons went on a spree that was to see six straight victories for Wake Forest.

Walker countered that “Howard was just lucky in those first two games and it was me and not his alumni that nearly ran him out of coaching. I gave ole Howard some pretty good lessons in coaching during the war.”

Howard and Walker met three times immediately after the post-war period with the Tigers winning in 1948 and 1950 and the Deacons in 1949.

“When we humiliated Peahead 13-12 in 1950,” Howard recalls, “you could hear the roll being called for him. His hair had turned white and the best offer he could find was from a wealthy friend named Hickman at Yale. It is my understanding that Herman paid Peahead’s salary out of his own pocket just to keep him off the streets.”

Beginning with that triumph in 1950 when the Tigers were headed for the Orange Bowl, Clemson was to capture the next 10 in a row. The Wake famine was broken in 1961 when Billy Hildebrand, in his second year as Deacon coach, grabbed a 17-13 victory.

There has always been plenty of scoring in these Tiger-Deacon games. In only two games has there been just one TD. So watch out scoreboard!

One of the beauties of college football has been that, like the English language, the stock market, or the mind of a co-ed, it is subject to constant change.

Sometimes these changes evoke criticism and confusion, as did the radical revision of the substitution rule made last January, but in the end the game keeps on growing and expanding and becoming more exciting to players and spectators alike.

What you are seeing every Saturday afternoon of the 1963 season is the effort of the coaches to come to terms with the new substitution rule and deploy their manpower for maximum effect.

Briefly, the new rule is this: either team can substitute freely on second or third down or on first down earned on a drive if, in all cases, the game clock is stopped. No more than two players can enter the game for a fourth down play or one on which the ball has just changed hands.

This stern restriction on substituting on fourth down or on a play on which the ball changes hands, of course, means that there is a real risk of being compelled to take the offense with a defensive team and vice versa. Even before the season started everyone, starting with Coach Paul Dietzel of Army who more or less originated the style, agreed this doomed the three platoon system consisting of a first or two-way team, and two others, one defensive, one offensive.

The restrictions of the new rule obviously mean players must be coached in both offensive and defensive skills. Undoubtedly substitutes will flow in and out of the game but under controlled conditions. For one thing, that phrase, "if the clock is stopped", is all important. Teams do not like to throw away a precious time out in order to make substitutions. That is why other means are being employed—an incomplete pass or a running play that goes out of bounds.

Probably the net result of all this is something that might be termed unlimited limited substitutions. Or maybe limited unlimited substitutions. Substitutions aplenty, yes. Restrictions aplenty, yes.

Ever since the "iron man" days of football when it was a matter of pride to finish a game with the same 11 men who started it, or as close thereto as could be achieved within the limits of human strength, a great debate has raged in college circles as to whether substitutions (a) favored the team that was deep and rich in manpower or (b) were desirable simply because they permitted more boys to take part in a game. The weight of evidence now seems to rest with (b). After all, college football is intended to provide recreation for young athletes as well as paunchy spectators, and the more of both classes engaged in the enterprise the better.

Of course there is no denying that what every coach wants is wave on wave of large, fleet, aggressive, tough, intelligent, young men each weighing 250 pounds or more and running the 100 yards in :09.5. That's the dream, anyway. The reality is what you are seeing, and is considerably below the ideal. That being the case it makes a lot of sense from the viewpoint of sportsmanship to have, back of the really few men who are big, tough and fast, some frail and skinny youngsters who only get into the game in specialized situations—to throw the right pass, make the important field goal, or break away for a brief but dazzling run. The new rules give them the opportunity.

It is to these and to all the others who range in size and strength between runts and the behemoths that the rules committee addressed itself. If everything proves out this could be one of the best changes that have ever been made in the rules book.

However, it is wise to keep in mind that what we have been discussing here are the techniques of football, not the fundamentals. The fundamentals still remain: vigorous bodily contact, a courageous heart, the ability to fit individual daring into a team framework, and the discipline that comes from playing to win but being able to accept defeat like a gentleman.

The superficial rules of this very basic game may change but not the game itself.
These nine football managers have a multitude of duties to perform before, during and after a game. They are the unsung heroes of a football team. Kneeling left to right are Dan Goodwin, George Trakas, John Godfrey, George Phillips and Charles Cleaninger. Standing, left to right, are Bruce Lanier, Eddie Strom, head manager Jim Rhinehardt and Carroll Foster.

You'll be hearing that chant more and more—now that Tiparillos have arrived. And arrived they have. In all the right places. With all the right people.

The new Tiparillo has a neat, trim shape. It looks young and debonair. And its pearly, pliable tip pays more than lip service to your smoking pleasure.

And never before such mildness! The most careful blending of choicest imported tobaccos has seen to that. So, too, has the exclusive, veinless Ultra Cigar Wrapper* that burns so evenly and smoothly it insures complete mildness.

You can even see the mildness. The suspiciously whiter ash is visible evidence. Smoker's proof. Here is flavor you don't have to inhale to enjoy.

"Cigars...cigarettes...?" Who knows, maybe someday it will be just "Tiparillos!"

Why don't you ask for one today?

Tiparillos are on sale at this stadium.
"Educational Value of Physical Fitness"

by JUSTICE BYRON R. WHITE

defined and immediate challenge. Games resemble life in capsule form, and the participant quickly learns that his performance depends upon the development of strength, stamina, self-discipline and a sure and steady judgment.

Unfortunately, our educational system does not expose all boys and girls to such experiences. Many youngsters have little opportunity to develop strong, efficient bodies, or to engage in activities which would help them to discover and develop the resources of physical, mental and moral strength which lie hidden in all of us. In many school sports and physical activity programs, the best facilities, topflight instruction and enthusiastic public support are reserved for those who need them least—the skilled athletes.

The result has been a steady decline in the physical fitness of all but our most athletic children. When 200,000 pupils in five states were given physical fitness tests in 1961, nearly one-third of them failed to meet minimum standards for strength, agility and flexibility. In a recent comparison of fitness tests results from Japan, Nationalist China, Okinawa and the United States, American boys and girls ranked last in strength and endurance.

This situation constitutes a serious threat to the continued growth and freedom of America. A nation is merely the sum of all its citizens, and its strength, vigor and vitality can be no greater than ours. Fortunately, there is a way to solve this problem. Through the efforts of the President and his Council on Physical Fitness, a program has been developed which already is improving the health and physical fitness of many of our children. I strongly urge you to see that your school offers such a program.

The program has the support of 19 leading medical and educational organizations, and it is not expensive in terms of time, money or staff. It calls for periodic health appraisals for all pupils, a screening process for identifying physically underdeveloped children, at least 15 minutes of vigorous physical activity each day for all boys and girls, and regular achievement tests to measure progress and to provide incentive. You, your schools and your community can afford such a program, and your youngsters and your country cannot afford to be without it.

From my first high school game for Wellington, Colorado, more than 30 years ago to my final game with the Detroit Lions in 1941, football played an important role in my life. It was responsible for much that I enjoyed and did at the University of Colorado, and it enabled me to get an education in law at Yale. I have more reason than most people to love the game and to appreciate its values.

Because of this, I am always disappointed when people express surprise when they find former football players occupying responsible positions in public life. They seem to think it incongruous that a person once noted primarily for his ability on the playing field should later aspire to a significant role in real life. I am sure this thinking arises out of serious misapprehension.

Sports and other forms of vigorous physical activity provide educational experiences which cannot be duplicated in the classroom. They are an uncompromising laboratory in which we must think and act quickly and efficiently under pressure, and they force us to meet our own inadequacies face to face—and to do something about them—as nothing else does.

In any athletic activity, we are thrown upon our own resources to succeed or fail in the face
Clemson Varsity Coaching Staff...

It’s Different Here!

Are college football games everywhere pretty much the same? — the crowds — the bands — the cheers? Sure there’s a similarity — but it’s different here! Each game has its own distinctive flavor — spirit — tradition. So it is with uniforms we manufacture. Into them go many intangibles of experience and skill. This is why an increasing number of Units are scoring with “Uniforms of Distinction” by

College football, which entertains millions of the nation's sports fans each fall, plays a vital part in the success of the United States Olympic teams every four years.

It raises more money for the United States Olympic Committee than any other sport and will be in the forefront again this fall in the fund raising campaigns for the team which Uncle Sam will send to the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has a quota of $350,000 to raise for the 1964 games. Most of it will be raised at college football games.

Fund raising, of course, is not the only part the universities and colleges of the nation play in the success of the U.S.A. Olympic teams. They also furnish 25 per cent of the athletes—most of them in track and field, swimming, rowing and basketball. They are the four sports the U.S. usually dominates in these international games.

"Without our colleges and universities we just could not make it, financially or athletically," says Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee. "They play a most vital part in our picture."

He pointed out that our greatest performances in past Olympic games have come from our college stars. Like so many others, he is sorry football is not on the Olympic program.

"Football does so much for us I wish it could be represented in the games," said Wilson, "but so long as we are one of the few countries where football is played, that is not possible."

"So while the sport is not represented, it certainly makes its presence felt."

"This year the colleges will raise over $350,000 of the $2,000,000 we will need to send our team to Tokyo. And if they have done in the past is any indication, they will exceed that quota."

In 1956, for instance, the quota was $500,000 and $650,000 was raised. In 1960, the quota of $350,000 was exceeded.

Clarence (Biggie) Munn, athletic director at Michigan State and an outstanding football coach there before he moved up to athletic directorship, is the chairman of the NCAA fund raising committee. He succeeds Willis (Bill) Hunter of the University of Southern California, who was so successful in the past.

Most NCAA members suggest a voluntary contribution of 25 cents on each ticket, and Wilson says the fans have responded "wonderfully". Sometimes the colleges take up collections and the Rose Bowl football game, every year of the Olympic games, puts a special 50-cent charge on tickets and contributes it all to the U.S. Olympic fund.

While no official team standings—other than gold, silver and bronze medal winners—are kept, there is an unofficial point standing, which in the past games at Rome, had Russia beating out the U.S. for the team title.

But Wilson thinks we will have a stronger team in Tokyo, "thanks to our colleges."

"And thanks to them, too," he adds, "I am sure we will raise the over-all total of $2,000,000 which we will need to send our 1964 squad to Tokyo."

"I am sure, that as in the past two Olympics, college football again will lead the way in our NCAA fund raising campaign. I wish there were some way I could thank the thousands of football fans who contribute to the fund personally.

"Without their support, and without their athletes, our Olympic teams would be in a sorry state."

So the college football fans of the United States are not only viewing and supporting a great sport—they are contributing to many others.

TWO TICKETS TO GOOD FOOTBALL
free substitution rule returns ... with strings attached

by Charles W. Tucker, Jr.

In an effort to further liberalize the Intercollegiate Substitution Rule, the Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association has come up with a very original and unique rule which will undoubtedly require not only an explanation, but a little time before most of the spectators will understand it.

To put it briefly, the rule for this year concerning substitutions will be as follows: When the game clock is stopped during a period, either team may substitute as many players as they desire—except during fourth down and on first down when Team B has been designated as Team A, (in other words when the ball changes hands). On these two downs each team has what we may refer to as two "Wild Card" substitutions, which may be put in whether the game clock is running or not as long as they do not interfere with play.

At first glance one might think we were returning to unlimited substitutions, but actually this is not the case at all. Even though a new team can be sent in on time-outs during any down in the series, except fourth down and when the ball changes hands, the time-outs in each half have been reduced from five to four. Also, whereas last year either team could send in a "Wild Card" on every play, this year the two "Wild Cards" can only go in on fourth down or when the ball changes hands.

During an excess time-out granted while the clock is running, the team to whom the excess time-out was allowed may only replace the injured player or players. The opponents may replace any number of players at this time. However, if the time-out is granted prior to fourth down or prior to first down when Team B has been designated as Team A, neither team may replace more than two players in addition to the injured player or players. It will probably appear odd to the spectators to see a fourth down punting situation with Team A permitted to substitute only two players when they would probably like to put in an entire new team, and just as odd after Team B has received the kick and is awarded first down to be limited to two substitutes when they would probably like to put in an entire new offensive team. Nevertheless, the rule is very specific on these two downs and either team will be limited to a maximum of two substitutions. Under the new substitution rule it will not be necessary to check in substitutes as heretofore because the number of times a player has been in or out of the game will not affect his eligibility. This alone should speed up the game and keep it moving smoothly.

While there are the usual number of rewrites for the purpose of simplification and clarification, there are two other major changes which should be noted here.

AN OFFENSIVE PLAYER IN MOTION TOWARD THE BALL NOT PERMITTED TO CLIP IN AREA WHERE FORMERLY PERMITTED.

Under the clipping rule, which has been in effect for a good many years, clipping was not permitted anywhere on the field of play, except in a zone which was defined as the rectangular area centered on the middle linemen of the offensive team and extending four yards laterally in each direction and three yards longitudinally in each direction.

For the past several years there has been a growing complaint among the coaches as well as players of the punishment a defense received or a back-up received from the offensive wingback. The play was a very simple one, the offensive team would line up with the wingback a yard behind his line of scrimmage and five to ten yards outside of his offensive end. On a given cadence count, this wingback would start in motion toward the center just prior to the snap of the ball, and when the ball was snapped, the defensive end or back-up would cross the line of scrimmage in an effort to break up the play and the offensive wingback, who, by this time had built up a "head of steam," would let him have it either from the side or in the back. The side block is perfectly legal, but anywhere else on the field blocking an opponent in the back is construed as a clip and so penalized.

Officials were constantly berated by the coaches for not calling what looked like an obvious clip, but the officials were powerless to do anything about it because of the area in which clipping was permitted.

This year the Rules Committee has wisely seen fit to add the following sentence to the definition of the area in which clipping is permitted—"An offensive player, outside this area, in motion toward the ball when it is snapped is not permitted to clip in this area." This one sentence will now eliminate the possibility of a wingback hitting a defensive player from behind in that area and it will also eliminate many injuries inherent in this play.

BACKFIELD PLAYER IN POSITION TO TAKE HAND TO HAND SNAP FROM CENTER NOW ELIGIBLE TO RECEIVE FORWARD PASS.

In the past years a T-Quarterback, who was under the center in a position to take a hand to hand snap, was not an eligible pass receiver. He could lateral the ball to another back, go back and throw a pass, but he was ineligible to receive a forward pass himself.

In an important game last year, the T-Quarterback, after laterailing a ball to another back, proceeded down field into the opponent's end zone. In the confusion that ensued, the passer spotted the ball back to another back who had not realized that he was ineligible, threw the ball to him thereby scoring a touchdown which apparently was missed by the officials as well as players at the time. This is a very easy and understandable error to make and the Rules Committee has now decided that there is no reason why this player should not be eligible to receive a forward pass, and has changed the rule to read that "each player who is legally in his backfield is eligible to receive a forward pass."

Clemson Football Network . . .

The Clemson Football Network is celebrating its 10th year of broadcasting this season, and since its inception, has grown to be one of the largest collegiate networks in the nation.

The network, operated wholly by the athletic association, is dedicated to make available to all stations, Clemson football games at economical rates thus giving Tiger fans and other interested parties an opportunity to hear Clemson football when it is not possible to attend the games.

The network has been one of the most successful anywhere. During the 1961 season the network had over 500 station broadcasts, or an average of better than 50 stations per game—an all-time high. Feeds were made to stations in North Carolina, Georgia and South Carolina.

The same two familiar voices will again be on the network for the 1963 season. Jimmie Coggins will handle the play-by-play commentary while Ed Osborne will describe the pre-game warmup, give time out chatter and interview visiting scouts, sportswriters and other personalities in the press box during halftime.

Coggins, the dean of South Carolina sports broadcasters, is owner of Station WKDK in Newberry and is co-owner with Osborne of Station WBCU in Union and WAGS in Bishopville.

Coggins broke into radio 29 years ago with WSPA in Spartanburg. He also worked at WAIM in Anderson before going to Newberry in 1949. Prior to joining the network in 1954 he broadcast the Clemson games during the seasons of 1936-37-38-47-48-49. In 1950-51-52 he did the "Game of the Week" for Station WIS, Columbia.

Osborne served as director of both the Clemson News Bureau and the sports publicity office from 1947 through the spring of 1950. The Clemson graduate then got into radio work with WMSC in Columbia as sales representative and sports director. Since early 1953 he has been manager of WBCU.

Precision chemistry does it. It's the reason behind the widespread acceptance of Texize products for the textile industry... and the reason that Texize is able to produce the finest line of work-saving household products on the market today.

That's why textile people and homemakers alike say...

NOTHING WORKS LIKE A TEXIZE PRODUCT
Three ways to quarterback the most important drive of the day — your drive home

1. Don’t buck the line of traffic, stay in it. Fancy open field running doesn’t pay on the highway.

2. When dusk falls and your visibility is limited, slow down and turn on your lights. What you can’t see can hurt you.

3. Don’t try to beat the clock by speeding. Remember, when time runs out on the highway, everybody loses.
