On Saturday evening, the German Club gave one of the most delightful informal dances of the season. A large number of the visitors who attended the Senior dance on Friday evening were present. Among those who enjoyed the evening were:

Cadet R. H. Walker, with Miss Fannie Harris of Abbeville; Cadet J. W. Blackwell, with Miss Sarah Furman of Clemson College; Cadet J. A. Bates, with Miss Leize Stribling of Pendleton; Cadet D. C. Beaty, with Miss Elsie Thompson of Greenville; Cadet P. L. Bissell, with Miss Naida Westervelt of Greenville; Cadet M. Coles, with Miss Annie Mal Ramsey of North Augusta; Cadet M. Coles, with Miss Annie Mal Ramsey of North Augusta; Cadet M.

Clemson, above all other colleges, has always lacked a system of correspondence by which the people of the State might know of our happenings. It is no doubt due to the fact that we have heretofore had no such system, that we are so frequently misunderstood over the State. A dozen or more enthusiastic students met last Tuesday evening to discuss this subject; and, as a result of this meeting, we now have organized a Student's Press Association. It is the purpose of the association to reach, weekly, every county's representative paper with the news from Clemson. This will be accomplished through the members—each writing weekly to his respective home paper. Every man,
The following officers have been elected:

President, J. M. Workman.
Vice-President A. H. Lachicotte.
Secretary and Treasurer, C. B. Paris.

The following men were appointed to draw up certain rules for the government of the association: R. W. Freeman, J. A. Goodwin, and C. B. Paris.

Those named below have already contracted for the counties which follow their names, but in many cases there happens to be more than one paper to the county; so there are places for more names, even in the counties named below:

Risher, P. W., Colleton.
Freeman, R. W., Darlington.
Goodwin, J. A., Greenville.
McCrary, O. F., Greenville.
Johnson, T. S., Florence.
Workman, J. M., Sumter.
Lachicotte, A. H., Georgetown.
Small, A. G., Horry.
Bouson, F. W., Charleston.
Causey, R. G., Charleston.
Aycock, R. G., Clarendon.
Paris, C. E., York.

THE COMPETITIVE TARGET PRACTICE.

Since the institution of target practice in connection with the other military duties here, quite a lively interest has been taken. But not until last Saturday afternoon, when the four men with the highest averages from each company were lined up against each other, was there ever seen such rivalry.

There was a present of five dollars as first prize for the company making the highest average; and a second prize of two dollars for the second highest county score; and an individual prize of one dollar for the highest individual score.

The contest was interesting, each company trying to rival the other. When the count was made, it was found that "L" Co., commanded by Henderson, W. M., was in the lead, he having won first prize with a score of 176 points. "E" Co., commanded by Schrader, F. E., had the second highest score, and won second prize with 170 points. Some of the other companies had good scores, but no prizes were given them.

The individual prize was won by All, F. H., his score being 47 out of 50, almost a perfect score. Since the contest, many of the boys have been heard to express themselves as intending to take more interest in the practice.

"May I print a kiss upon your lips?"
And she nodded her sweet permission.
So we went to press, and I rather guess
We printed a full edition.

"But one edition is not enough,"
She said with a charming pout,
So again in the press the forms were placed,
And we got several extras out.

—Exchange.

Rat Salters called at the cadet exchange for a ticket to the "Creation" Band.
Among the best speakers the Y. M. C. A. has had this year, is Rev. Edward S. Reaves, of Honea Path, South Carolina. He addressed the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday night. His subject was “Seen by the Unseen.” He based his able address upon that portion of the one hundred and thirty-ninth Psalm, which proves so conclusively that we are ever under the eye of the all-seeing God. His address throughout was a continuous stream of convicting proof of all that his subject implied. We feel that this was among the very best addresses that we have had during the year.

We were very glad to have with us last Sunday evening several of the ladies of the “Hill,” who assisted us in our song service. We thank them very kindly for their assistance, especially Mrs. Gardener and Mrs. Harper, who honored us very highly by singing a very beautiful duet.

Our General Secretary, Mr. Robt. L. Sweeney, and Messrs. Rabo and Provenst, as representatives of the student body, who have been away for the past few days attending a student volunteer conference, which was held at Winthrop College, have returned, and report a very pleasant time.

A SELF-FEED MAN.

A real joke was sprung by a student of the Western Reserve University last week. This student suffers from the stigma of obesity; it appears that even professors do not love a fat man. After a particularly unsuccessful recitation in English, the professor said:

“Alas, Mr. Blank! You are better fed than taught.”

“That’s right, professor,” sighed the youth, subsiding heavily; “you teach me—I feed myself.”—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A SOPHOMORE’S PROPOSAL.

“One of the dearest proposals which has been my good fortune to receive was yours, which came a few days since. You have used the titles of all the love ditties that have been composed in the last year, and I am lost for an appropriate answer. I am compelled to postpone my answer indefinitely. Until that time look upon me as your sincere friend.”—L. E. L.

The cadet’s reply: “Kindly do not consider my proposal too seriously, for the mail that carried the proposal to you, carried copies of the same to three other girls.”—H.—Battalion.

An Intimate Acquaintance.

The following good story is going the rounds:

A pompous person applied to Mr. Bennett for a job as editorial writer.

“What are your qualifications?” asked the editorial writer.

“I know all the literary men of England,” replied the applicant.

“H’m,” said Bennett, “you must know Dickens, then.”

“I was a reporter with Dickens.”

“And Thackeray?”

“I helped Thackeray with his Book of Snobs.”

“And Tennyson?”

“I have broken many a pipe with Tennyson.”

“And George Eliot?”

“I roomed with him.”—Trinity Chronicle.

With the close of the football season, comes the practice for baseball. It is gratifying to the college in general and especially to the Athletic Association to see such a large number of students out every afternoon, trying for positions on the team. It will be much easier to get up a good team when everyone is showing such a lively interest in the choice and success of this part of our athletics than if only a few should manifest this interest. All indications point to a successful baseball season; for, with such a large number of men on the field, Coach Dobson will certainly be able to select a team which, by his efficient coaching, will give our opposing teams something to fear.

Manager Keith has practically completed the baseball schedule for the season. Quite a large number of games will be played on the campus. This means that there must be considerable college spirit developed, or the team will be at a disadvantage. Fellows, get together and arouse some enthusiastic college spirit, and show the team that the corps is backing them. With such backing, the team will know that they have interested onlookers.

Track practice has also begun. Dr. Calhoun is now beginning to get his men ready to do some good work on track. Of all phases of athletics at Clemson, none has been more successful than track. This success is undoubtedly greatly due to the efficient and untiring work of Dr. Calhoun. The prospects of the track team, this year, are very bright; and doubtless we shall be able to hold up our past record.

John Milling says they neglected to have saucers at the Senior dance to cool coffee in.

SOCIAL ITEMS.

Miss Lucia Gates, of Camden, South Carolina, is the guest of Miss Sara Furman.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Erwin Rudd and Master Edwin Erwin Rudd, Jr., of Springfield, Mass., spent last week with their mother, Mrs. N. B. Rudd, of Clemson.

Mrs. Mary Query, of Pineville, North Carolina, is the guest of Miss Brackett.

Miss Lusile Sloan, of Anderson, S. C., spent several days last week with Mrs. Winslow Sloan.

Miss Fannie Harris, of Abbeville, S. C., visited Mrs. M. E. Bradley, last week.

Mrs. Harry Smith, of Richmond, Va., is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. M. Riggs.

Mr. R. L. Sweeney spent several days in Rock Hill recently, attending the Y. M. C. A. conference at Winthrop College.

On Tuesday evening, Dr. and Mrs. Calhoun had as their guests at tea, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erwin Rudd, and Mrs. N. B. Rudd.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Poats gave a delightful dinner on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erwin Rudd, and Mrs. N. B. Rudd. Those who enjoyed the delightful evening were: Dr. and Mrs. F. H. H. Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erwin Rudd, Mrs. N. B. Rudd, and Mrs. W. M. Riggs.

The Thursday Club held a most enjoyable meeting last week at the residence of Mrs. L. E. Hubbard.

Mrs. W. M. Riggs was the hostess at a most enjoyable Euchre party on Saturday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erwin Rudd. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. Shanklin, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Smith, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. N. B. Rudd, Mrs. A. B. Bryan, Mr, and Mrs. B. H. Johnston, Dr. Crampton, and Dr. and Mrs. F. H. H. Calhoun.

PURLOINED JOKE.

A lady of ebony complexion was being tried before a South Carolina justice of the peace, charged with excessive cruelty to her child. The evidence was conclusively against her; but, before passing sentence, the judge asked her if she had anything to say.

"Kin Ah ask yo’ honah a question?” she replied.

"Yes,” answered the judge; “go ahead.”

"Well, then, yo’ honah,” she asked, with the air of giving him a poser, “Ah’d like to ask yo’ whether yo’ ever was over the pafflickly wuthless culled chile?”—Battalion.

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C.
We are at a loss for suitable expressions to describe the truly wonderful body of men of the Third Section. This section, though small in number, looms large when it comes to quality. It has representative men in the military, literary and athletic departments of our college who will, some day, carve their names high and deep in the Hall of Fame, as they have already burned them into the hearts of their many friends and acquaintances.

We find two captains, Messrs. Henderson and Boone; one first lieutenant, Mr. C. S. Lykes; one second lieutenant, Mr. L. C. Harrison; and three of the tried and true "Senior Privates," Messrs. Haskell, Stokes and Strickley.

These men have not given their entire time to the study of chemistry and other sciences, and to high attainments in military glory, but have been active in literary work, as well. Mr. Boone, L. D., is president of the grand old Calhoun Society, and business manager of the Chronicle; a position of no mean importance. Mr. W. N. Henderson is ex-president of the Palmetto Society, a member of the literary staff of the Chronicle, and of "1911 Taps." Mr. L. C. Harrison is president of the Columbian Literary Society, and society reporter for "The Tiger." Messrs. Stokes and Stickley have won for themselves enviable fame as declaimers, orators, etc., while Mr. L. C. Haskell, in debates with his classmates, was never known to let the other fellow have the last word. Several of these men have proved themselves to be made of the right "stuff" when it comes to football and track.

On Thursday, February 17th, a number of the agricultural Seniors went to Anderson with Prof. J. M. Napier, of the Agricultural Department, to go through the plants of the Anderson Phosphate and Oil Company and the Peoples' Oil Mill, and have each process of manufacture of commercial fertilizers and cotton seed meal and oil thoroughly explained. Those who took advantage of this opportunity were Messrs. Altman, Beaty, Chapman, Deason, Dew, Freeman, Jenkins, E. S., Jeter, Keith, Salley, Sanders, Wolfe, Wall, Lindler, All, Britt, Dukes, Goodwin, Boone, Henderson, Stokes, Lykes, and Haynesworth, and special day cadet, Boggs. The greatest courtesy possible was shown the men by the company officials who devoted much of their valuable time to minute descriptions of the various processes. The trip was one of much pleasure and profit to all who went.

Quite a number of the Seniors made high scores in the shooting contest given by Captain Stokes on the parade ground on Saturday, February 18. Mr. F. H. All, of the staff, made 47 points out of a possible 50, and was awarded the prize for the highest individual score. Captain Henderson's company won the prize for the highest company score, and Mr. Lykes' company received second prize.

Messrs. Chapman, Altman, Dukes, Knight and Deason attended the concert given by the Music and Expression Departments of Chicora College on last Friday night, February 17th, at Liberty.

On Friday night, February 17th, the Senior Dancing Club gave its annual mid-winter dance. This dance, without doubt, surpassed all the formal dances given this season. The hall was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being red and white. The decorations were of valentine design. Around on the walls, at short intervals, were large, red hearts, while between these were placed many smaller ones. In the center, overhead, hung in a large hoop, in the center of which dangled a large heart and around the edges were statues of Dan Cupid. Miss Anna M. Ramsey, of North Augusta, and Mr. Ralph H. Walker, president of the club, led the German. Delightful music was rendered by the Clemson Orchestra.

The couples present were:
Mr. W. R. Connely, with Miss Emma McClure, of Union; Mr. Hardin, with Miss Nellie Guyton, of Anderson; Mr. M. W. Wall, with Miss Pearl Richardson, of Westminster; Mr. P. L. Bissell, with Miss Nadie Westervelt of Greenville; Mr. M. W. Arthur, with Miss Lucy Yates, of Camden; Mr. Ralph H. Walker, with Miss Annie M. Ramsey, of North Augusta; Mr. W. M. Haynesworth, with Miss Mabel Ramsey, of Toccoa; Mr. R. G. Stevens, with Miss Lella Doyle, of Calhoun; Mr. L. P. Tobin, with Miss Ramsey, of Toccoa; Mr. L. T. Wyndham, with Miss Jessie Brown, of Anderson; Mr. J. E. Kirby, with Miss Leiza Stribling, of Pendleton; Mr. J. C. Minuing, with Miss Lella Stribling, of Pendleton; Mr. F. H. All, with Miss McPhail, of Pendleton; Mr. H. M. Woodward, with Miss Gallie Rhodes, of Augusta; Mr. J. K. Lawton, with Miss Helen Brackett, of Clemson; Mr. L. C. McLure, with Miss Mary Query, of Pineville, N. C.; Mr. F. E. Schroder, with Miss Sarah Furman, of Clemson; Mr. Joseph E. Jenkins, with Miss Patrick, of Anderson; Mr. Jas. B. Keith, with Miss Mamie Samuels, of Greenville; Mr. J. W. Harrison, with Miss Helen Fant, of Talla; Mr. C. R. Gilham, with Miss Sue Barton, of Greenville; Mr. Rice, with Miss Harris, of Abbeville; Mr. W. H. Hanckel, with Miss Susie Lewis, of Clemson; Mr. D. C. Beatty, with Miss Elsie Thompson, of Greenville; Mr. M. H. Epps, with Miss Lucile Sloan, of Anderson; Mr. W. E. Stokes, with Miss Cora Garner, of Central; Mr. J. L. Gilmore, with Miss Frances Haynes, of Abbeville; Mr. T. (Continued on Page 8.)

Let it be said to the credit of the society, that the debates are getting to be the most important part of the program. Messrs. J. G. Harris, P. L. Ross, and E. F. Jossy contended that a special tax should be imposed upon automobiles; while Messrs. J. R. Crawford, W. W. Foster, and B. R. James argued that it was not advisable to impose such a tax. After the regular debate, the question was freely discussed by the house. Often, as was the case last Friday night, some of the most important points are brought out in the irregular debate. Both the house and the judges decided in favor of the negative.

As the president was absent, the vice-president, Mr. J. Riley, presided.

Mr. J. T. Crawford's declamation, "Woman Triumphant," was favorably received. He presented woman as the ideal. And, as the literary critic said in his report, she does not always measure up to Mr. Crawford's idealistic views, yet it is well for us to consider her as such, as it makes our own lives nobler and brighter.

The debate at this meeting was unusually lively—considering that practically all those on the debates were new men. The query was Resolved, That Monday Instead of Saturday, Should be Observed as Holiday at Clemson. The affirmative was represented by Messrs. Jeffords, Kimbrell, and Turbeville. The negative, by Messrs. Truluck, Turbeville, and Ward. The decision of the judges was in favor of the negative.

Of the orators and declaimers, Mr. T. C. Gentry was the only one present. He, however, did himself credit, and added much to the interest of the meeting by his fine declamation. Mr. J. K. Boggs read an interesting essay.

The visit of Messrs. Harrison, Fant, and Freeman, added greatly to the interest of the meeting. They all made short speeches on the different phases of society work, and gracefully complimented the Palmetto Society.

The exercises of the society for Saturday night were above their usual good standard. Besides having a full attendance, each member was well prepared, and the society was fortunate in having a number of visitors present from her sister societies.

Mr. Cannon opened the exercises by delivering an excellent declamation entitled "Life." Mr. Cannon presented many things that appealed exceedingly to the college men.

Mr. Jenkins, E. S., the second declaimer, rendered us a fine declamation in his characteristic good manner.

Mr. Risher, P. W., the reporter of current events, gave many interesting and live topics of the past week. The orator, Mr. Ezell, J. F., delivered a well written oration entitled “Duty.” He dwelt upon our duty to our college, and gave a conception of what the performance of duty really means.

The debate, query: Resolved “That Labor Unions Are Justifiable,” was ably discussed by the following: Affirmative: All, F. H., Ulmer, R. F., and Smith, J. G. Negative: Byrd, E. M., Ezell, W. D., and Youmans, C. P. Both sides fought stubbornly, and brought to light many interesting points; but both the house and the judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

The society was very fortunate in having Mr. Foster, W. W., and Hill, D. B., of the Calhoun Society, and Mr. Stribling, J. N., of the Palmetto Society, present for the exercises. Each responded with a short and helpful talk, with called upon by the president.

The exercises closed with an extemporaneous speech by Mr. Martin, J. M., who presented the great value of advertising in the industrial world today. Messrs. Wannamaker, J. N., and Baker, C. R., were elected members of the society.

Many of the members of our class took advantage of the holiday on the 22nd, and visited relatives and friends, and very dear friends away from the college.

Mr. M. L. Hamer has returned from his home at Bennettsville, where he was called several days ago on account of the illness of his father.

Mr. E. E. Hamlin spent the 22nd at his home in Anderson.

The picture of the cup winning Junior football team was made several days ago for the Annual.

With the coming of the bright spring days, comes the opening the baseball and track season. Our class is well represented on both the baseball and the track team. Several of our men will hold places already made on these teams, while others will win places for the first time.

The Veterinary Science section was delightfully entertained on last Wednesday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. N. Brackett. The evening was very pleasantly spent, and delightful refreshments were served. Dr. Brackett’s jokes were enjoyed very much. Mrs. Brackett’s entertaining abilities made the evening very pleasantly spent in her home.

Miss Helen Brackett and Miss Mary Query were present and added very much to the pleasure of the evening.

Prof. Hall: “Mr. Lykes, at what temperature will bacteria grow best?”

Rastus Lykes: “They have their optimum growth at 25 degrees, but they grow best at 43 degrees.”
