Noted Players to Visit Clemson.

An important engagement has been recently closed with the Coburn players for an appearance at Clemson College under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday, May 11th. For the past several seasons, the Coburn players have been first in prestige among the summer and open air players. The list of their engagements is impressive testimony of the effectiveness of their work. Among special events have been presentations on the lawn of the White House in Washington, D. C., on the invitation of Mrs. Taft, the Gloucester Pageant in honor of the president of the United States, and the Walpole Pageant in honor of the governor of New Hampshire. Among universities and colleges, they have appeared at Harvard, Yale, Columbia, Princeton, Brown, Pennsylvania, Bryn Mawr, Radcliffe, Smith, Mt. Holyoke, at the state universities of Virginia, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, Tennessee and many others. There are twenty-five people in the company, all of whom have had the advantage of long experience and careful training under the best of stage management. Altogether they are perhaps the foremost representatives of "a movement leading the drama back to its original beginnings in nature and the stage widened into the campus, field or forest."

Prominent in the company are Howard Kyle, Frank Peters, Albert Lang, Roydon Erlynne, Ivan Simpson, George Gaul, Helen Harrington, Dorothy Turner, Amelia Barleon and Mr. and Mrs. Coburn.

The Coburn players during their engagement will present Shakespeare’s comedy, "As You Like It."

Clemson Takes Two Games From Newberry.

The two games on the campus last Friday and Saturday were the most interesting games played here so far. Occasionally some bone head plays were pulled off by both teams; but the thing which marred the games most was the eternal kicking of the Newberry players, who kicked on nearly everything. Clemson outclassed Newberry in hitting, fielding and pitching. A large part of the credit for the winning of these games should go to Coach Dobson, who knows baseball, and who has taught some of it to the varsity bunch. We have the best team in the State, and Dobson is the man who made it what it is.

The feature of the first game was Ezell’s pitching and Tupper’s fielding. Boozer, for the visitors, also showed up well. Remarkably few errors were made considering the muddy and slippery condition of the field.

THE COLUMBIAN.

The society was called to order by the president, Mr. Harrison, and after conducting some business, he turned the chair over to the new president, Mr. M. W. Wall. Mr. Wall, on assuming the chair, spoke as follows:

"In my humble opinion, the one word, Support, should be the watchword of every body of students. Every student should come here prepared to support all the various activities of college life. One of the most important adjuncts to college is the literary society. A man of today who cannot express himself clearly and concisely on any occasion in public life can never become the useful citizen that he should become. The most important complement to a college course is furnished by the literary societies. Societies are important to the individual member, because they develop the power of argument and give social and intellectual pleasure by the peculiar intercourse they afford. We all heard often about 'the springtime of life,' and it would not be amiss for us to stop and realize that we are passing through that period now. Our lives are green—untouched by trouble and experience—and our earnest petition should be that these buds of life may blossom into flowers of usefulness. We should pray that, when the storms of trouble and sore experience shall have moulded our lives, they may be filled with the fragrance of love and the beauty of manhood."

The regular exercises were then taken up. Messrs. All and Graham ushered in the new quarter with their characteristic good declamations. Mr. Risher told us the news of the past week briefly and concisely. The debate was then called for, and we found Messrs. Parker, Hall and Bethea lined up against Messrs. Cannon, Ulmer and Jenkins ready to discuss the query, "Resolved, That the United States Senators should be elected by popular vote." The house and the judges decided in favor of the negative.

Messrs. Ezell, J. F., and McCrary, O. F., two Juniors whose power in the society is readily recognized, made good and timely speeches urging the members to take hold of the new quarter with vim that is characteristic of a faithful Clemson student and of a loyal member of the society, so that when the end has come and the mantle of those now on duty will fall upon those coming, they may have a standard to work to which can be attuned only by might and main.

From now until June in behalf of the Columbians, we wish to extend to each and every student of the college to pay us a visit any or every Friday night, for your presence is worth something to us, and we feel sure that you will get something out of it. If you are not now a member of any society, it may help to show you where you can begin just in time to do those things expected of you by those who sent you here and by the state who is helping you to get an education and is expecting you to utilize every advantage that is offered here. Can we not count on your presence at our next meeting? Come one, come all; our doors are open.

"Oratory is a gift, not an acquirement," said the proud politician, as he sat down after an hour's harangue.

"I understand," said the matter-of-fact chairman. "We're not blamin' you. You done the best you could."—Detroit Evening Press.

EDITORIAL.

"What are you going to do?" This is a question which every Senior has brought to his attention either in oral or written form very nearly every day. Few of the large class can answer the question definitely, for it has been found that a job is not always hunting the man to fill it, as a college man usually thinks during his earlier college career. The question would possibly be more applicable to the average Senior if worded, "What are you going to have the opportunity of doing?" Most members are only awaiting an opportunity to accept a position, provided it furnish a reasonable support and is suited to the qualifications of the men. Quite a number of the class, realizing that there are many things that have not been emphasized in the course, are utilizing the spare time in becoming acquainted with such things as they deem most important. Much more could have been accomplished had this method been adopted earlier, but much is yet to be gained in the few remaining weeks by the eager and energetic worker.

It has been intimated by a few that the editor's pen has portrayed a few phases of student life at Clemson that should not be made public in this way. These insinuations have come from men who would in no wise defend the practices which have been condemned in this way. The idea is that these matters should be kept within the barrack's walls. But if there are prevalent practices which are so mean and low as to need smothering, every right thinking man should lend his aid towards smothering till they are lifeless. Instead of keeping quiet about these things, we should lend our aid towards stamping them out; and the best possible way is to attack the perpetrators of these deeds and expose them. People who are acquainted with Clemson know that these things happen, and instead of injuring ourselves by bringing these things to notice, we are showing to the outside world that the student body has men who do not sanction questionable practices.

LIEUTENANT GOV. SMITH ADDRESSES Y. M. C. A.

Introducing Lieutenant Governor Chas. A. Smith to the Y. M. C. A. audience last Sunday night, President Riggs said: "For such a man as Mr. Smith to lay aside his business affairs and come as far as he has to address you at this time, means not only that he has your welfare at heart, but that he has at heart the best interests of the young manhood of the whole state." And well indeed, did Mr. Smith's remarks prove this true. Using as his subject, "The Choice of Ways," he proceeded to show how a young man, making this momentous decision as to the way in which to fashion his character, affects not only his immediate life, but the lives of the entire community, the state, in which he lives.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

The young farmer who cuts out agricultural education from his life programme will see his mistake by and by. Who ever met a graduate of a good farm college who wishes he had kept at work instead of taking a course of special study and training?

Prof. Fairchilu of the University of Missouri says that in England one man in five takes part in athletics, and in America only one man in fifty.

Junior Jeter (looking over the program at the recital given by the C. C. girls): "What is meant by the accompanist?"

Sam Ezell: "Oh, that's the chaperone."

Rat Bailey: "Say, Moore, let's go out to the experience station and see the engine that runs the perfectural motion."

Rat Bailey wants to know if it is a skipping crime to break barracks.
When we sit down in our leisure moments and think how rapidly the wheel of time is whirling us irresistibly toward commencement, how short the four years of college life now seem, and how much like a dream they have been—now that they are nearly o'er—how many changes have been wrought by time which have so vitally influenced our destinies. Though all unaware of it at the time, we are brought to a stern realization of the shortness of our existence, and the great necessity of making the most of every opportunity, however small and insignificant. Then we realize that life has been well compared to a river in its winding course to the sea. Many times it may pass places very similar but never, after it has passed a place, does it pass the identical place again. So we are having opportunities presented to us daily, which, if we fail to grasp, will be gone forever. No doubt, when we were "rats" at Clemson, everyone of us had hid away in the innermost and most sacred recesses of the art gallery of the mind a picture of our ideal of a "true blue" Senior, in all his dignity and wisdom. Now, if we dare invade these hidden recesses of the mind, gently draw back the curtain which hides from view our ideal, and compare our ideal of "frathood" years to things as they really are, we can, to a limited degree, determine whether or not we have, in our college career, nearly attained to the height of our ambition.

Every now and then comes the answer to a member of our class to the all important question, the question of the work they are going to pursue, as soon as they finish college. This answer will, in many cases, fix the destiny of many men. Within the last few weeks, several of our members have accepted positions, while others are still "on the fence" as to what they will do. Among the electrics, Messrs. Milling, J. C., Furtick, G. C., Lawrence, B. F., and Hardin, L. H., have accepted positions with the General Electric Company.

On last Friday evening Dr. and Mrs. R. N. Brackett, with Miss Helen Brackett, delightfully entertained at puzzle games in honor of the Tiger staff. Among those present, the Senior members were Messrs. Freeman, Altman, Dukes, Fant, Harrison and Deason. There were two tables, places at which being drawn for. After the games, Mr. B. H. Deason made the lucky cut for the prize, a beautiful stick pin. Mr. R. W. Freeman made the lucky cut for the "booby prize." At the close of the evening, dainty refreshments were served.

On last Wednesday, Messrs. B. W. Gettys and G. T. Cassels went to Greenville to stand a civil service examination. On account of the illness and death of his brother, Mr. R. H. Walker was called to his home for several days last week. We extend our deepest sympathy to him in his loss.

The Senior textile men who inspected the mills of Anderson and Greenville last week were: Messrs. Crawford, Garner, Knight, McCreary, Alford, Epps, Fizer, Garrett and Sitton.

Our men played well in their part in the game with the Furman nine last Friday. Among those who engaged in the game were Messrs. Connelly, Schroder, McCown. Messrs. Jenkins and Lachicotte were to have composed the battery for Clemson on Saturday, but it rained, so there was no game. Manager Keith, ex-Captain J. E. Kirby and others accompanied the team.

Mr. L. C. Haskell was called home last week on account of the death of his grandmother.

"Monk" Dew spent the greater part of last week away from the college on state work.

Mr. W. C. Garrett was so unfortunate a few days ago as to have his right hand seriously injured while operating some of the textile machinery.

The textile men in our class, accompanied by Prof. Doggett, visited Anderson and Greenville on last Thursday and Friday, where they inspected the cotton mills at those places. On Friday afternoon they attended the baseball game in Greenville between Clemson and Furman. The following are the men who went on this trip: Adams, T. C., Adams, H. A., Goldsmith, Hardy, Latimer, Miller, Tompkins, Workman, Wakefield and Yates.

Two of our men have recently been taken from the rank of Junior Private and promoted to be sergeants. The men who have had this honor thrust upon them are Messrs. D. L. Latimer and H. C. Jennings.

Mr. J. H. Hayden has returned to college, after spending a few days at his home.

The preparations for the "Hop" in June are being made. The committees in charge of the various parts have been appointed. Mr. O. B. Brodie is manager of the "Hop" with Mr. J. W. Blackwell as assistant.

Messrs. Bates and Rivers spent Friday and Saturday in Greenville as members of the baseball team. Bates caught the game against Furman Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles A. Alexander, of Washington, Ga., is the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. R. C. Calhoun.

On Wednesday afternoon there was a musical at the residence of Mrs. J. N. Harper for the benefit of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The music was furnished by those ladies on the campus who play or sing. The program was very enjoyable.

Mr. Ed Calhoun is visiting his mother and sisters at Clemson and will be here for several days so that he may attend the marriage of his sister, Miss Rosa Calhoun, on Wednesday, April 12th.

Miss Carey Calhoun has returned home after spending several days in Abbeville, where she attended the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Ed Calhoun.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. D. W. Daniel gave a delightful reception in honor of Mrs. Willis. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. Daniel. In the hall Mrs. M. Ray Powers served delicious fruit punch. From the hall the ladies passed into the dining room. Here they were furnished with hard boiled eggs and lace, chiffon and other such finery as is used for trimming ladies' hats. Each lady took one of the eggs and painted a face on it with the water-colors which were on the table, after which she took her choice of the material given and made the prettiest Easter bonnet she could think of for her egg. Mr. Daniel and Mr. Burr Johnstone were the judges of the prettiest bonnet and face. While they were making their decision the ladies enjoyed the delicious ice cream and cake which was served by Mrs. Daniel, Mrs. Powers and Mrs. Shanklin. The judges decided that the first prize should go to Mrs. Powers, and the consolation to Mrs. Harry Smith. The members of the Thursday Club and some of the other ladies of Clemson were the guests at this reception.

Friday afternoon Miss Morrison gave a linen shower for Miss Rosa Calhoun. Among those who were invited were: Misses Margaret and Etta Sadler, Helen and May Bradford, Floride, Ida and Carey Calhoun, Nola and Janey Sloan, Sara Furman; Mesdames R. C. Shiver, B. Freeman, M. E. Bradley, A. B. Gardner, and S. B. Earle. The game of the evening was hearts dice, and the prize was won by Mrs. Harry Smith. After this delightful refreshments were served. Many beautiful handmade presents were showered upon Miss Calhoun on this occasion.

Friday night at 8 o'clock, Miss Brackett entertained the Tiger staff and reporters.

Mr. W. M. Roseborough, of the class of 1908, spent several days on campus during the past week.

Mr. J. C. Covington, of the class of 1909, was at Clemson for a few hours Sunday.

Miss Margaret Morrison spent the week-end with her parents here, but has now returned to her work in Seneca.

Lieutenant Governor Smith was the guest of President and Mrs. Riggs on Saturday and Sunday, and addressed the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday evening.

One evening last week Mrs. A. M. Redfern gave a delightful course dinner in honor of Mr. S. W. Evans.

Miss Hannah Wilson, of Darlington, was the guest of Mrs. R. N. Brackett on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. J. J. Evans, of Bennettsville, brother of Mr. S. W. Evans, spent last Tuesday and Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Evans, of Cheraw, spent Tuesday and Wednesday at Clemson in order to attend the marriage of their

Miss Pearl Smith, of Liberty, S. C., spent several days with Miss Brackett this week.

Miss Maggie Connor, of Anderson, S. C., was the guest of Miss Eva Gasque on Tuesday night.

After the rehearsal at the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, the bridal party was delightfully entertained at the home of the bride.

In spite of the gloomy weather the wedding of Miss Rosa E. Calhoun and Mr. Samuel Wilds Evans passed off beautifully in every detail on Wednesday, April 12th, at high noon in the Fort Hill Presbyterian church. The church was attractively decorated in green and white. The rostrum and choir rail were banked with ferns and palms. Above the altar was a rope of cedar with a large white bow just in the center. Before the ceremony the organist, Miss Pearl Smith, played several selections from Chopin. Exactly at twelve the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march were sounded and the bridal party entered the church, the ushers, Messrs. T. S. Evans and R. C. Shiver, being first. They were followed by Miss Hannah Wilson and Mr. Hale Houston, the bridesmaid and groomsman. Next came Mrs. R. C. Shiver, the dame of honor, and after the maid of honor, Miss Carey Calhoun. The bride then entered on the arm of her brother, Mr. Ed Calhoun, and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. J. J. Evans. During the short, beautiful ceremony, which was performed by Rev. W. H. Mills, Hearts and Flowers was played very softly, and then as the last amen was said the organist changed swiftly from this to Mendelssohn's joyous march. Mr. and Mrs. Evans left on a Northbound train immediately after the ceremony. The bridesmaid and maid of honor were very attractive in white serge suits and large picture hats with gloves and shoes to match. The dame of honor's suit was of a lovely lavender shade which gave just the touch of color needed to complete the picture. The bride was handsomely gowned in a blue coat suit with hat, gloves and shoes to match. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Evans at Clemson wish them the most perfect happiness throughout their lives.

Yield not to flirtation,
For flirting is sin;
No sister will help you
Her brother to win.
Fight maidenly onward,
Dark passions subdue—
Don't wink at the boys, girls,
Till they wink at you.

When a fellow thinks he's beaten
And he's feeling down and out,
When he feels his courage oozing,
And his sand goes up the spout;
When he starts to feeling lonely,
And he gets to feeling blue.
That's the time you want to help him,
With "Hello, there! Howdy do!"

Prof.—"Why are you late again this morning?"
S.—"Well, you see, I slept late and only had ten minutes to dress in."
Prof.—"That's no excuse. I can dress easily in that time."
S.—"Perhaps so, but I wash."—Ex.

THE TIGER STAFF ENTERTAINED.

Not until last Friday evening did the "Tiger Staff and Reporters" really appreciate what it meant to be connected with such a periodical as "The Tiger." At this time the "Social Editor," Miss Brackett, delightfully entertained the staff and reporters from 8 to 10:30.

The first part of the evening was spent at "paper work," which proved very interesting. The crowd drew for tables, and when we were ready to begin our work we were given scissors, paper, crayons, paste brushes, and quite a set of articles that we were not so familiar with and set to work to see which crowd with the material given could make the best and most attractive picture. Needless to say, the work proved very interesting, but when we were told that Dr. Brackett was to be the judge of our productions, we set in with a vim to see who had the most mechanical ingenuity, as we well knew that the decision would be given to whom due.

When the decision was made it was in favor of table No. 1. Here the old log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born, together with the "stars and stripes" was made to seem almost real. So, of course, they were awarded the prize.

But out of the five who worked here, which one should have the prize? Mr. Deason seemed the lucky one or else made the lazy deal, so was awarded a very beautiful stick pin.

After the games were over, came what every Clemson boy especially is interested in—the refreshments. This consisted of fruit punch and cake, which was served by Dr. and Mrs. Brackett.

While we were thus feasting and having a real good time some one looked at the clock and found that our time had already elapsed. So with the necessary adieus, the staff and reporters returned to the barracks feeling that it was really worth while to be on the "Tiger" staff.

GERM THEORY EXTENDED.
(From an Exchange.)

Little Bessie was a scientists daughter, and when she was taken with the measles she heard a good deal about germs and microbes.

One evening some time after her recovery she heard her mother singing a lullaby to Baby Jack.

"Oh, mamma! you must not sing that," she cried. "You sang it to me when I had the measles, and there may be microbes in it.
