The first stage attraction of the year at Clemson was Saturday night, October 7th, when the Clemson Minstrels Comedy Company, under the management of Hubert T. Prosser, put on a high class performance, rarely equaled by local talent. The show was a success in every particular, and the exceptional ability of the troupe was noted throughout the performance.

The company is composed of Prosser, Ross, Byars, Rentz, Lazar, Hood, Bunker, and Culver, and will play at some of the near towns during the year. The proceeds go to the Annual, Taps '12.

The business manager of the annual has arranged to have some of the very best operas for the people at Clemson, this winter; and it is hoped that everybody on the Hill and every cadet will show appreciation and come out to them.

The Clemson-Auburn Game

After seeing the big husky bunch from Auburn, no one was surprised when they beat us 29-0. However, a surprise did come in when they did not beat us worse than that.

Auburn's line averaged something over 190 pounds, and their back field was very nearly as heavy; while Clemson's team averages only about 160 pounds.

Auburn had several men who were all-southern, and one of their men had made all-southern in two positions on the team. Besides, they had Major, an old Clemson man, who is one of the best punters in the South.

But with all their weight and reputation for being fine players, Auburn played a very unscientific game. All of their gains, and, in fact, all of the downs when they had the ball, were played by hammering our line. In other words, they relied entirely to their weight to gain.

With all of these disadvantages to labor under, our team made an excellent showing. And as one of Auburn's players said, if a Clemson man was taking the ball and you tackled him, you had to hold him or he would get away and make a touchdown before you could get off of the ground. All of this only goes to prove that Clemson has such a speedy team this year that they almost make up for their deficiency in weight by their speed.

Bissell was the star of the game, for although he was virtually “knocked out” in the early part of the game, still he continued to play and succeeded in making the most telling gains that Clemson made.

In fact, the whole team starred, for they put up a very game though losing fight. Below is the lineup of the two teams:

THE STUDENT PRESS ASSOCIATION

Since its organization, Clemson has had many enemies throughout the state. Many ways have been tried to get the actual facts to the people in order to counteract the work of the college's enemies. Probably no one has been productive of so much good as the method of the Student Press Association.

This association was organized for the purpose of giving to the people of the state through the papers information regarding the activities of the college and experiment station. It has about 50 numbers, having a correspondent for every paper in the state, with a few exceptions when former correspondents are not in school this session. These vacancies will be filled as soon as possible.

The work of the association has been so systematized that each number has very little work to do in compiling the general budget. Each correspondent is expected to add to this general budget. Any news that will be of interest locally. These articles are sent out every two weeks.

The officers of the association are: J. M. Workman, President; O. F. McCrary, Vice President; F. W. iRsher, Secretary.

Imbibe the Clemson spirit.

The Fair, Columbia—oh, yes! We are anticipating another grand week there this year.

Don't break those resolutions that you recently made when your mother gave you that farewell kiss of love and expectation.

What you get out of college life is going to be directly proportional to what you put into it. This being true, many men's college experiences are lacking; for they do not put enough into their college days to receive the full returns from them. A good plan is to start now and give some of your time and interest to all those things which go to make a full college man.

Don't think because you can't play varsity ball or run or jump that there is no part in college athletics for you. There is a part in athletics for every man. The man on the sideline is as much an essential part of the game as are the players. Without players, there would be no game; and without spectators, there would be no game. 'Tis college spirit and the love for pure clean sport that fosters all branches of college athletics. Is there a man in college who hasn't got some college spirit and who hasn't got an appreciation of manly sport? If you have these things, your place is one the athletic field, either as a player or as one to encourage and help your team by the proper manifestation of college spirit. Don't lie up in barracks every afternoon during practice period, and when a game is on the campus; but go out on the field and show the teams that you are interested in them and in the work they do.

The general plan of The Tiger for this issue, was carried out in the first edition. As you have seen from this, it is our purpose to print The Tiger in the same form as last year, to run eight pages on the same grade of paper, and to continue to publish it weekly. We had hoped to be able to run a twelve page paper each week; but, at the present, we feel that the support that The Tiger receives will not justify us in this either financially or in the extra work that it would require to get out a paper of that size. We intend this year, if possible, to have The Tiger printed regularly, and hope to be able to deliver it to you at a definite time each week. The general college, literary society, and Y. M. C. A. news will be given a good place in the paper, and athletics will be fully treated. With two busy, hustling athletic editors, we hope to give a full account of every game, whether played on or off the campus, and also to give general notes on athletics, from time to time. Any improvements will be added as they are suggested to us or as we can think of them. This work is done for the experience and honor we get from it, and all realize that more work we do for it the more of each we get. Every member of the staff is deeply interested in the success of The Tiger for 1911-'12, and has dreams of a grand year for it. Won't you take an interest in your publication also?

ATHLETICS

Football practice is now well under way. A large number of candidates are on the field each afternoon, and a great many of them are showing up well. As usual, the men are light; but make up a great deal for weight by their speed and grit.

The men for the training tables were selected a few days ago, and are now working hard for a regular seat at the varsity table.

Under the efficient work of Coach Dobson, all are fast rounding into shape; and, with another week of practice, will be ready to make it interesting for the great Auburn team which comes here on the 14th of October. There is a lot of good material on the field, and so many that seem to be evenly matched that Coach finds it quite a task to select the varsity men; however, he is daily adding one or two to his list by giving out a new blue sweater, which is the varsity sweater this year.

Fred Schroeder, one of last year's subs, came back last week, and is now showing all that he is a contender for one of the ends.

"Sam" Ezell, Clemson's plucky guard, who was injured in the game with Tech last Thanksgiving, has withdrawn from the game because his people object to his playing. It is a great misfortune for the team to lose "Sam."

For the past week, baseball practice among the Freshmen has progressed nicely. Thomas and Ezell, two of the varsity men, have been in charge of the baseball squad. Several of the men are showing up well already, and, judging from this, we expect to see a bunch of Freshmen on the field that will make good when real practice begins. There are several vacant positions on the baseball team, and it is up to each Freshman to do his best, and make the team, his first year in college.

THE CALHOUN SOCIETY

The exercises for September 29, were up to the usual standard. All of the men on duty, with the exception of one or two debaters, were present.

Mr. D. B. Hill delivered an excellent declamation. Mr. Hill always has something good for us, and is one of our hardest working men.

The essayist, Mr. Goldfinch, read us a carefully prepared essay.

Mr. Freeman, the orator, did not have time to memorize his oration, so he read us an interesting essay.

The query: Resolved, that co-education in the high schools is not desirable, was discussed with great interest. The affirmative was represented by Messrs. Lathrop and Ferebee, and the negative by Messrs. Small and Patrick. These men showed that they were capable of handling the subject, and there was a good deal of humor displayed on both sides. The negative seemed to have the best side of the argument, therefore the judges decided in their favor.

Eleven new members were initiated at this meeting, which goes to show that the old members are at work trying to get good men for our society. That's right fellow members, bring along all of the promising men that you can get, and help make the Calhoun the leading society.

THE PALMETTO SOCIETY

Had one formed an opinion from the inspiring new men who joined the Palmetto Society, and had he seen the extreme interest taken by the old men, he must believe that this year's work will—by far—be the best in the history of the society.

The regular program was entered upon, and the debate—Resolved, that suffrage should be taken from the negroes—was ably defended by Messrs. Ward, Heriot, and Turbeville on the affirmative, while Messrs. Jeffords, McLeod, and Workman held up the negative. Great applause was given each debater as he took his seat.

While the judges, Messrs. Zerbst, Hall, and Boggs, were out agreeing upon a decision, the society listened to the splendid declamations of Messrs. Haddon and Gilstrap.

And, after the reading of an excellent essay, by Mr. C. J. King on the resources of South Carolina, the judges announced the negative side as the winner.

THE COLUMBIAN SOCIETY

Our second meeting was a very interesting one. Mr. H. G. Parker read a short story full of wit and humor. He was followed by Mr. F. W. Risher, who delivered an excellent oration.

The query: Resolved that the trip to the State Fair does the Clemson cadet more harm than good, was ably discussed by Messrs. Pearce, G. H., Ezell, J. E., Youmans, C. P., and McCrery, O. F. The affirmative was in the hands of Ezell and Pearce, and these gentlemen certainly did good work. Mr. Youmans, and "Daddy" McCrery tried their best to convince the judges that there was only one side to the query—the negative side. There was a battle of words from both sides, and many strong points were brought out. After the battle had ended and the smoke cleared away, the judges were able to see clear enough to render their decision in favor of the affirmative.

Several new men were initiated. So far, the Columbian has secured more members than either of the other societies. May the Columbian always be able to maintain such a splendid record.

Nearly every man who has been a member of the Columbian has distinguished himself in his chosen profession. Among the members are: Prof. Napier, D. B. Peurifoy, Jake Crider, Sam Ezell, F. H. All, N. E. Byrd, M. W. Wall, H. S. and J. E. Johnson, and others. Clemson was represented at Greenwood last year by a Columbian man, Mr. All. The Trustees' Medal has been won for two years in succession by Columbian men. It seems that this is 'nuf said for the Columbian.

Mr. D. B. Hill of the Palmetto society visited us. We are expecting Clemson to be well represented at the fair this fall. In some ways, the men who belong to literary societies can be of great assistance. We are all looking forward with pleasure to fair week.

Y. M. C. A.

To every cadet old and new the Y. M. C. A. extends a cordial welcome. The association is always ready to lend its aid to any who may need it. You need the Y. M. C. A. and the association needs you. If you do not understand the work of the association ask Bob Sweeney about it. He will be glad to assist you in every way possible.

It is the purpose of the association to bring to Clemson during this session speakers from all walks of life. Thus far we have had two addresses, one of them by a prominent lawyer and the other by Louis Bernhardt. In the near future the Y. M. C. A. hopes to have a railroad engineer as a speaker. This man has for years been intensely interested in association work and today he spends much of his spare time speaking to men.

Have you joined the Y. M. C. A.?

Many students ask what advantages they obtain by being members of the association. By joining the Y. M. C. A. you help to bring prominent speakers to the College. You help to maintain at the college a general secretary who is so willing to advise you when you need help. You become a student of one of the largest student organizations in the world; you obtain a card of membership good at any association in the world. Are not those good inducements?

Drop in to see Secretary Sweeney sometime. He is a jolly good fellow and he will be glad to see you.

Without a doubt, this is to be the greatest year in the history of the Clemson College Y. M. C. A. The interest manifested in Bible study and in mission study is above the average. The membership exceeds the four hundred mark; and, before the year closes, it is hoped that no fewer than five hundred men will have become members of the association.

Don't fail to hear the railroad engineer.

Perhaps there is no other college in the South that can boast of the membership in Bible study that Clemson can. So great a number of men wish to study the Bible that teachers are lacking to lead them. Twenty-three cadets have volunteered to lead, but we need twenty more. Won't you take a class? Three courses are offered this year; viz., “The Life of Christ,” “The Life of Paul,” and “Leaders of Israel.” If you are willing to teach one of these courses, see Secretary Sweeney, and he will give you men for a class. There is nothing greater that you can do in college life than to head a class of men in Bible study.

“Bible study for every man; every man for Bible study.”

What is the great problem of today? Robert L. Sweeney says that it is the condition of the southern negro. On Sunday night, Mr. Sweeney delivered a forceful address on negro life in the South dealing with our attitude towards the negro and the negro's relation to the white man. Shall we better the condition of the negro now or wait until we have to? Sixty-two men, under the leadership of prominent members of the faculty, are going to study this question. Can't you join them?

Who will get the Bible class baquet?

Young One.—It takes a lot of cheek to kiss a girl.

Wise One.—Quite true, but the girl generally furnishes the cheek.—Ex.

Dr. Calhoun.—Mr. Prosser, what would be the condition of the earth were it deprived of the atmosphere?

Prosser (after serious thinking).—Why, it would make it rather unhealthy.

The second informal dance of the college year, given on Saturday evening, September 30, by the Cotillion Club, was made very enjoyable by the presence of a large number of visiting young ladies. The additional half hour allowed for the informal dances this year is a great improvement over the old eleven o'clock rule—though, in this case, because of a sudden rain storm at eleven-thirty, it gave everyone a rather damp drive home.

Chaperons: Dr. and Mrs. Riggs, Captain and Mrs. Stokes, Dr. and Mrs. Brackett, Prof. and Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Furman, Miss Nellie Percher, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Shiver.

The Cotillion Club Informal Dance

The Cotillion Club has announced the following attractions as already fixed for this season:

- Dudley Buck Company: October 14
- The Hussars: December 9
- Leland Powers: December 16
- Le Brun Opera Company: January 13
- Geo. D. A. Abernathy: January 27
- Good Fellows Company: February 27

Other attractions have been secured, but the dates as yet have not been fixed. These will be announced later. This is a strong list of attractions, and no one in college should miss one of them.

The first to come, The Dudley Buck Company, is composed of five artists, four ladies and one gentleman. This company will present "A Musical Review," which will consist of grand opera selections, special songs in costumes, duets and trios, sacred numbers, and Southern melodies with banjo and guitar accompaniment. The Hussars will come on December 9; and, one week later Leland Powers will give one of his recitals, presenting some of the best of the drama in a pure, cleansing, inspiring form.

Soon after Christmas, The Le Brun Grand Opera Company, two of which are ladies, will give one of its great concerts. In February, a rare treat will be furnished the lyceum goers by the Good Fellows Singers. This company has a cast of five, three of whom are ladies.

The other attractions for which dates have not as yet been fixed are equally as good, and every member of the lyceum this year may be assured of much of both pleasure and profit from it.

Professor Cox of Furman University Addresses the Y. M. C. A.

On Sunday night, Professor H. T. Cox of Furman University, addressed the members of the Y. M. C. A. in the College Chapel. Many men remembered the address by Professor Cox during last session, and a good crowd was in the chapel to hear him. After delivering greetings from the Furman Y. M. C. A. and from the Furman base-ball team, which Professor Cox said had rather win from the Clemson team than from any other team that they have ever played, the Furman professor then delivered a strong lecture. These words, "Where there is no vision, the people perish," taken from Proverbs, served as a basis for his remarks. Dr. Wiley and Senator La Follette were used as illustrations of men who had had visions, and who were now realizing the things they had dreamed of. The talk was a strong appeal to higher thinking and better living.
At last we have reached the turning point. We no longer look upon our “dip” as a far-off invisible object; for we can now get a glimpse of it in the distance.

We are sorry to learn of the men, who have dropped from our ranks during the past year. In ’09, we, a class of two hundred and twenty-five, began our college career; but since then one hundred and forty-one have dropped out, leaving us with a class of eighty-four.

Let us now get down to hard work, and put a stop to this dropping out of our men; so that on the morning of June 13th, 1913, each one of us will be able to grasp in his hand, that long wished and hard-worked for thing, commonly called a “sheep skin.”

And when a cadet we cease to be,
May each of us say, we are alumni.

Though our class is exceedingly small, it is well represented upon the athletic field. We have many men who are wearers of the “C,” and without a doubt there will be several more when the year is over.

At a meeting of our class, last week, its officers were elected Mr. E. T. Provost, ex-president, presided over the meeting until our president to be, Mr. R. A. Alexander, was elected; then the meeting was turned over to him. Each and every one of us heartily thank Mr. Provost for the faithful service, which he rendered us during our Sophomore year. The class could not have chosen a more able man for president, than Mr. Alexander. We all feel sure that he will give his best service to the class.

The class again showed its wisdom in choosing officers, when it elected Mr. McLeod as vice president. The officers that were elected are: Mr. W. G. McLeod, Vice President; Mr. H. A. Hagood, Secretary and Treasurer; Mr. S. W. Rabb, Poet; Mr. R. Robinson, Historian; and, R. W. Pant, Tiger Reporter.

The class committee is composed of the following men: W. O. Singler, J. N. Todd, W. B. Britt, and E. T. Provost.

After the class meeting, a meeting of the Junior Dancing Club was called. Mr. Kangeter, the former secretary and treasurer, presided over the meeting. By a unanimous vote, Mr. Kangeter was elected president. He is without a doubt the most competent man for the office, and with the assistance of the members of the organization, we expect to have a successful dancing club.

The officers of the club are: Mr. J. H. Kangeter, President; Mr. L. R. Blackmon, Vice President; and, Mr. W. E. Morrison, Secretary and Treasurer.

SOPHOMORE

The Freshman class of last year has, we rejoice to say, succumbed before the inevitable march of time, and on Saturday, in its last meeting, laid aside without regret all that pertained to the past, and cheerfully took on its new role, organizing into the Sophomore class of 1911, and elected the following officers:

J. F. Scruggs, President; J. W. Erwin, Vice President; R. S. Hood, Secretary and Treasurer; D. E. Hydrick, Historian; H. R. Stender, Poet; F. H. McDonald, Tiger Reporter. The following committee was elected to serve as class representatives to the president of the college: J. Y. Scruggs, Chairman; Hood, R. S., Carson, T. L., Barron, B. P., Lewis, A. P.

After the election of officers, the main feature of the meet-
