Sec. F.R.
Rules Governing the Promotion and Classification of Students.

A student whose failures in the session do not exceed nine term hours may be promoted from the Freshman to the Sophomore class or from the Sophomore to the Junior class. Such a student shall be designated as a conditioned student. No student shall be allowed to enter the Senior class conditioned on any work.

A failure shall be a grade of less than 60 per cent on either the class or examination mark, or on both.

A term hour is one theoretical hour or two practical hours of work per week for a term.

These failures must be removed by the end of the year next after that in which they occur.

A student who fails on more than nine term hours in a session shall not be allowed a reexamination. Should his failures exceed six term hours in the first term, he shall, at once, be transferred to the next lower class. When the number of failures does not exceed nine term hours until the second or third term, he may continue with his class to the end of the session, but shall be required to take the work of the same class next year.

An applicant for the Freshman class, with only one failure, may be admitted to the class, provided, that this failure is a grade, not less than 40 per cent, and that the failure shall be removed by examination before the second term. Should he fail on the reexamination, he shall be put in the preparatory class.

An irregular student shall be one who is working for a degree but not taking the entire work of a class, or a student who has work in two classes, and who has no studies nor deficiencies below the Junior class, or a student who enters college with practical work to make up. The course of study for such a student shall not be given except upon the advice of the department in which the major studies are taken, and upon the approval of the faculty. The schedule of recitations for such a student shall be prepared, if practicable, by the committee on irregular students.

A special student shall be a man of mature age who desires to pursue some special line of study. He shall not be entitled to a degree nor shall he be required to discharge any military duty. The course of study for such a student shall not be given except upon the advice of the department in which the major studies are taken, and upon the approval of the faculty. The schedule of recitations shall be prepared by the head of the department in which the major studies are taken.

These rules shall be made effective at the beginning of the session 1905-06.

All acts of the faculty in conflict with these rules are hereby repealed.

The committee recommends that a printed copy of these rules shall be furnished each student upon matriculation.

Respectfully submitted,

March 17th, 1905.

Schedule for 2nd Term adopted with usual conditions.

PROPOSED REGULATIONS.

I. No student shall be admitted to the Freshman Class who fails on two or more entrance examinations, or who makes less than 40 per cent on any examination upon which he fails.

TURNO BACK TO LOWER CLASS.

II. (a) At the end of the first term, any student who shall have failed on nine or more term hours, (a term hour being one theoretical or two practical hours for a term), shall at once be put back into the next lower class.

(b) At the end of a session, any student who has failed on 16 or more term hours, as above defined, shall not be given the privilege of a re-examination, but shall be required to take the class over the next session.

RE-EXAMINATIONS.

III. Students who have failed in less than 16 term hours for a session shall be granted the privilege of a re-examination during the spring fire-day examination period in Sept. In the case of sessions, the re-examination shall be held during the week before Commencement.

PROMOTIONS.

IV. No student shall be promoted from the Freshmen to the Sophomore Class, or from the Sophomore to the Junior Class who after re-examination, is deficient on more than one theoretical, or two practical subjects, and no student shall be promoted to the Senior Class without any conditions.

NOTE.-The above regulations shall not be applied to failures caused by work not made up through no fault of the student.

The committee on examination reported that the applications for re-examinations were not acted on except the seniors, who were to take the examinations after their final examinations.

DEPARTMENT OF
and Electrical Engineering.

P. D. MILL, M. E., F. M., President.
Clemson College, S. C.

---REPORT---

the President & Faculty-of Clemson College,

Your committee appointed to inquire into the apparent lack of studiousness among the cadets begs to submit the following report:--

(1) The committee believes that one of the principle causes for lack of study is that the students do not fear the consequences of failure.

(2) The committee believes that the large number of failures is due in part to the admission of students to the Freshman Class who are improperly prepared or the work of that class, and to allowing students to go up into the Sophomore and Junior Classes in the engineering courses, who are poorly prepared for the mathemtical subjects of those classes.

(3) The committee, after careful investigation, that the time for study, considering only the two and one half hours in the evening and the hour and quarter in the morning, is sufficient for the proper preparation of at least three recitations of reasonable length per day; but since it seems to be impossible in all cases to distribute the work equally over the five days of the week, the committee respectfully recommend that each member of the faculty provide himself with the particular of his class or section, and on the basis of four ours total time for preparation for all classes, assign work and recitation.

(4) It is the decided opinion of the committee that the present curricula not require more work than the student is able to accomplish properly.

(5) It is the opinion of the committee that the present conditions in barracks are more favorable to study than they have been for several years past.

(A. & M. College of South Carolina.)

P. H. MELL, M. E., Ph. D., President.
Clemson College, S. C.

(6)..... In view of the belief that the amount of time available for study is ample, that the work required of the students is by no means excessive, and that the conditions in barracks are favorable to study, it is our belief that the responsibility for failure, and for lack of studiousness, rests primarily with the students themselves.

(7)..... In view of this conclusion the committee respectfully call attention of the faculty to pp 132 of the college regulations, which provides that any student who habitually neglects his studies shall be brought before the discipline committee and if found guilty of the charge, shall be dismissed, and that the committee is assured by the president and the commandant, that this regulation will be enforced in all cases brought to their attention by members of the faculty.

The Faculty granted Mr. Paul permission to raise the close mark of Cadet W. J. Ratineer from 58.7 to 60 on studying.

Cadets J. W. C. Kinney and C. K. Sanders were granted permission to change from the Electrical Engineering to Civil Engineering course, but not to change sections.

Upon vote of Faculty, Cadet A. B. Means was granted a re-examination on skating.

Mr. Riggs submitted the attached amendment to report of Committee on Irregular Students in Rules governing Promotion and Classification of Students.

Upon motion of Mr. Keith, the report was recommitted to Committee.

Faculty adjourned at 6:00 AM.
