to the fact that marks for work that had been made up were not handed in promptly to the office. The records of students in the office were incomplete because of failure of instructors to hand in all of the marks. The question mark on the report should be accompanied by some explanatory note to show what it means.

The President stated he thought we ought to classify the students as regular, regular with conditions, and irregular; the first two classes to include all rules are in line for a degree. He asked that the question of conditioned students and the rules for their promotion be discussed at a later meeting and called upon the examination committee to give it careful consideration in the mean time.

On motion of Mr. Daniel the faculty adjourned at 6:17.
