Preparing For Saturday Morning Inspection—And Then He Was Ignited!
REVEILLE

Friends, I have something to tell you.
It's not a secret, you know;
It's about going to reveille in rainy weather,
And sometimes in the snow.

Sometimes when you are thru studying,
And have written the one you idolize,
You go to bed dreaming of reveille,
And that ten minutes of setting-up exercises.

The bell rings at six-thirty;
You are as tired as can be;
So you sleep peacefully thru it;
Result: same old two and three.

If you beat out on the first sergeant,
There's still the colonel to doubt.
He'll walk right in on you,
And calmly say "Turn out."

If you decide to take the exercise,
Even if it is cold weather.
You'll hear the colonel gruffly say,
"Together, together, together."

THE RIFLE CLUB

"Less talk and more work" seems to be the motto of the Rifle Club since Thanksgiving. Practice has been frequent and very encouraging indeed. The practice has been confined to in-door gallery range, in preparation for the coming intercollegiate contests. The contests, ten or more, will be held soon after the holidays. The shooting is to be done on the respective ranges of the colleges. The winner of the greatest number of intercollegiate contests or matches will receive the championship trophy for the U. S. with a silver medal for each member on the winning team. The trophy was won in 1912 by Mass Agri. Coll. The team will consist of the five best shots. Those who have shown ability are: Patrick, C. S. Herbert, W. W., Berley, J. A., DuVernet, E. P., Stribing, F. D., Turbeville, A. C., Byrd, E. M., Robison, R., Haigler, J. P., and Hyman, W. H.

After the in-door contest, the club intends to do some long range work, and will hold its annual membership contest at that time presenting to the best shot in the club a bronze medal. This medal was won last year by Anderson, H. W. At the same, the members will try for qualification as marksman, sharp-shooter, and expert.

This phase of the military department deserves the encouragement and support of the college corps. The dues and fees are very small indeed, and as a good shot is never out-of-place, this is an ideal arrangement to develop one's ability as a marksman.
THE SENIOR PRIVATE'S DREAM.

Last evening I was talking
With a senior by the way,
When he told me of a dream he had,
I think 'twas Thanksgiving Day:

While snoozing in his room,
This vision came to view,
For he saw an angel enter,
Dressed in garments white and new.

Said the angel, "I'm from Heaven,
The Lord just sent me down
To bring you up to glory,
And put on you a golden crown.

You've been faithful to your duty,
And walked extras every day,
You've attended formations regularly,
And a 'dead beat', nay, nay.

So we want you up in glory,
For you have labored hard,
And the good Lord is preparing
Your eternal just reward."

Then the angel and the senior
Started up towards the glory's gate,
But when passing close to Hades
The angel murmured "wait—
I've a place I wish to show you;
It's the hottest place in hell,
Where the one who punished you so,
in torment shall dwell."

And behold the senior saw there
Ex-commandants half a score,
And grabbing up a chair and fare,
He wished for nothing more

He desired to sit and watch them,
As they'd sizzle, singe and burn,
And his eyes would rest on colonels
Whichever way they'd turn.

Said the angel, "come on senior
There are pearly gates to see."
But the senior only muttered,
"This is Heaven enough for me."

Y. M. C. A.

Why is it we don't have more of you men out to our Y. M. C. A. meetings? Is it because you have no interest in the Y. M. C. A. or, is it because you haven't the time? It is absolutely necessary for your well being that you make a sacrifice to attend these meetings. You are supposed to give your support to an organization which you have joined. You gain a great deal of spiritual knowledge by attending these meetings. A good crowd was present last Sunday night to hear Mr. Hundley, but our hall should be full at each meeting.

Mr. Hundley brought out some very interesting thoughts under the two heads: (1) The century of the young man; (2) The young man of the century. "Never," he said, "were the prospects so bright for the young man, as they are to-day." He also said that a young man who was to make real success in life, must have a vision that calls one to something higher. "A vision," said he, "molds character, gives us courage, gives us patience, and helps us to meet the temptations of life."

Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS

The following named men have paid their dues to the Y. M. C. A. of Clemson College, and are entitled to all the privileges of members':

The Oratorical Contest is to be Held at Rock Hill

The South Carolina Intercollegiate Oratorical Association held its committee meeting at Rock Hill. Mr. R. W. Fant as committee chairman and Mr. T. F. Davis as treasurer of the association represented Clemson at the meeting.

The meeting was held at the Commercial Club at 11: A. M., Dec. the fifth. Mr. Rody, Mayor of Rock Hill, made a short talk, heartily welcoming the members of the association to the city. That part of Mr. Rody's talk which seemed to interest the members of the association most was when he said, "Gentlemen, Dr. Johnson, President of Winthrop College has thrown open the doors of Winthrop College to you, he said you can not only come out and talk to the girls; but if you want to you can marry them." As was very noticeable, the first part of the invitation was eagerly accepted; and as for the second part it will be some time before it will be known, but doubtless some will accept it.

The meeting was called to order by Vice-President Asbell. It was unanimous decided to hold the Oratorical Contest at Rock Hill on the last Friday in April. The following committee on decision was chosen: Senator Holke Smith of Georgia, Ex-Gov. John Gary Evans, I. M. Spears, of Darlington, A. L. Gaston of Chester, Gov. Joe Brown of Georgia, J. M. Douglass of Davidson College, H. L. Smith of Washington and Lee University, Judge J. C. Priesthard of Ashville, and Solicitor Bonham of Anderson.

The order in which the speakers speak are as follows: Erskine, Newberry, Carolina, Citadel, Furman, College of Charleston, Clinton, Wofford, and Clemson. After attending to other less important business the meeting adjourned.

The members of the association were royally entertained by both the people of Rock Hill and especially the girls of Winthrop College.

When He Knew What the Y. M. C. A. Stands For

A Rat came into the Y. M. C. A. office at the first of the year, and made a statement something like this: "I paid a man fifty cents the other night for the first quarter's dues to the Y. M. C. A., but I have thought it over and don't think I am the right kind of a man to join the Y. M. C. A.; so if I can, I should like to have the money refunded." The question was asked, "What kind of a man do you think one should be if he is a member of the Y. M. C. A.?" "I do not know, but I think he would be looked upon as a very earnest man, and I think he would never do anything wrong—that is, the other cadets would expect him to be a good deal better than those who were not members. I am a member of the church and a Christian, but I am not very active."

"Here's the question: Are you the kind of a man that would like to see other fellows try to live the best they know how? Are you interested in having things done for the good of the other fellows, and are you interested in helping the other fellows do what they can to create a higher moral atmosphere about the College? The members of the Y. M. C. A. do not set themselves up as being better than their fellow-students, they are not expected to go around with faces as long as the proverbial Government mule, or to maintain a continuously holier-than-you attitude toward their fellows. They are simply a band of men who say, by their becoming members of the Y. M. C. A., that they want to see those things done in the College which will make for better living both here and through life. They are expected to try to discourage those things which are harmful either to the interest of the individual or to the College as a whole. The Y. M. C. A. doesn't want a membership composed of long-haired men and mollycoddles. It wants strong, virile men, men who stand for something. If you are that kind of a man, and wish to help us here, we shall be glad to have you join with us."

"I didn't know that was what the Y. M. C. A. was for," said the Rat, "Certainly I'll join, and I would just as soon pay the balance of my dues now. How much is it?"

"SMILE"

Don't give up when things go wrong.
Put on a bright face, fill your heart with a song.
Remember that others have met trouble in the way.
So why let a trifle cast gloom o'er the day?
The troubles will soon pass and the sun will shine.
So why sit all day and o'er your troubles pine?
Then cheer up, my boy, put on a cheery smile,
It will do you good and is certainly worth while.

The vice-president, J. K. Boggs, called the society to order on account of President McLeod's being away from college.

As usual, the debate opened the exercises. Query: Resolved: "That Ex-Presidents should be pensioned."
The arguments were good on both sides; but the affirmative had a shade the better. The debaters showed that they had spent considerable time in the study of the question, thus, a very interesting debate, we had.

On the affirmative of the query, Messrs. H. D. Barker, J. D. Clark, and J. J. Murray were found to be good and forceful in argumentation; while Messrs. M. A. Davis, and R. H. Reaves found pleasure in defending the negative.

Under the head of election of members, Messrs. A. R. Boyd, and A. B. Usher were elected into the society. These are two juniors, and will make the society two excellent members.

The judges decided that the affirmative deserved the cup.

Next came two of the best orators the society has had in quite a while. Messrs. W. J. Hunter and A. H. Ward spoke on "Profits derived from Looking back on defects" and "The Value of a Purpose," respectively.

The society elected the following to represent her in the Annual Celebration on Fed. 22. Orators—Turbeville, A. C. and McLeod, W. G. Debaters—Haddon, T. C. and Hunter, M. D.

Master Jimmy Lewis Seal entertained eleven of his little gentlemen friends at his home last Monday, in honor of his tenth birthday. After playing games for some time, the guests were invited into the dining-room and served delightful refreshments of jello and whipped cream, fruits and candies. Those enjoying the afternoon were: Billie Long, John Dickson, Willie Blease, Nick Nicholson, Bonny Avinger, Edgar Derrick, Leander Carwile, Ed. Hunter, Dick Bunyan, Heine Schmitz, and Napoleon Bonepart Spooks.—Abbeville Medium.

Rat Smith wants to know if New Year comes on January 1st, like it did last year.
AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

The Agricultural Society met last Saturday night for the third time since it was organized. Owing to the absence of the secretary, the roll-call and reading of the minutes were omitted, and the speaker, Prof. Hutchinson, then addressed the society. His address was very timely, instructive, and of practical bearing to the near future of the senior. The society looks forward to having Prof. Hutchinson, with them again at an early date. A welcome visitor, Rev. Mills, then gave a few remarks, full of encouragement and helpfulness.

The next meeting of the society will be on the third Saturday night in January. An excellent program has been arranged. Two seniors, Pearce, G. H. and Hodges, F., will talk on live agricultural topics, followed by an open discussion by the house. An address by a professor of the Agricultural Department will follow.

Dams for and with Exams.

There are three classes of dams—those that hold, those that do not, and those that are held. The same is true of exams and damsels.

"Dams" are made to withhold pressure
"Dams" are made to hold with pressure.
"Damsels" are made to withhold pressure,
Or maids to hold with pressure.

The civil seniors say that "Hobo" is the man that puts the dam for exam; but that "Sam's" exam has one before it.

When a dam breaks it is sometimes "held" with an "I" instead of a "d". "Dams" are placed in streams where the pressure is great. "Damsels" also occur in streams where the pressure is great. "Dam" rhymes with exam very well; but a dam on exam verily is.

The poet scratched his head,
"There's nothing rhymes" he said.

"Exam, you say? Exam? Exam?"
Spoke up a college guy.
"Exam—O dam. Exam—O dam.
That's rhyme for you say I!"

Dam with a nation after it (damnation) is held without the "d". So is one with an exam after it. I. B. Dam is my name and if you don't like it I will chance it to U. B. Dam.

(Signed) I. B. Dam, dam specialist.

Shrank is the guy that put the "dent" in the ex-president.
Now who was the guy that put "fault" in the aspalt.
Many wise parents put their "son" in Clemson.
Wilson tied the "can" to the Republican.
