JUNIORS AND FRESH BATTLE TO A STANDSTILL

Fresh show up a trifle the better but unable to win. Walker, Major, Littlejohn, Durant and Reaves play best ball for Fresh, while Brown, Emerson and Stender star for Juniors.

The first Class game of the season was pulled off last Saturday when the Juniors and Fresh met each other. A muddy field was responsible for much fumbling and other different conditions the score might read otherwise. Fumbles by the Fresh gave the Juniors both of their touchdowns, "Jock" Stender being the fast man each time to recover the ball and cross the goal line.

At the end of the first half it looked like a sure victory for the "rats" but, in the second and third quarters, the Juniors came back strong and never lost an opportunity to pick up a fumbled ball.

From start to finish, it was a close exciting game, and Saturday's battle still fails to throw any light on Championship dope. Both teams are strengthening up weak places shown in the contest, and another hard fought game may be expected when the tie is played off.

In the first quarter, the Fresh kicked off to Juniors in lower end of field, and, after a series of fumbles by both sides, the ball rested on Junior's one yard line in their possession. The Freshmen blocked the kick out and Jones recovered ball and crossed line for first touchdown, but failed to kick goal. Again in the second quarter, Walker intercepted a forward pass to Stender, and a few minutes later Durant went through line for second touchdown. Fresh again failed to kick goal.

The Juniors end of the scoring began in the third quarter when Stender fell on a punt behind the Fresh goal line. In the last few minutes of play Stender recovered another fumble in his own territory and ran the length of the field for a touchdown tying up the game, 12 and 12.

The lineup of the two teams was as follows:

Freshmen	Position	Juniors
Jones	R. E.	Stender
Littlejohn	R. T.	Thornton, Jervey
Webb	R. G.	Oetzel
Brandon	C.	Harvey
Suggs	L. G.	DesChamps
Mayes	L. T.	Carson
Harmon	L. E.	Robertson
Reaves	Q. B.	Brown
Walker	L. H.	Emerson
Major	R. H.	Barksdale
Durant	F. B.	Gilmore

Referee: Coach Dobson; Umpire: Coles; Linemen: Brictol and Gee. 10 minute quarters.

To the Tenth Annual Interstate Convention of the Carolina Young Men's Christian Association, Mr. F. H. McDonald was sent as a delegate from Clemson. Mr. Sweeney, General Secretary, also attended the Convention. The meeting was held in Greensboro, N. C., Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Jan. 24, 25, and 26, 1913.

With Captain Erwin out of the game, Clemson piles up 43 points to visitors 16.

In a one sided game of basket-ball played here last Saturday Clemson easily defeated Wofford. The Methodists never had a look in, and during the first half, scored but one point, while the purple and gold got away with 24. In the second, they managed to add 15 more against Clemson's 19, but not once was the home team in danger.

The game was void of any features, save the clean passing, machine-like team work, and accurate shooting of the Tigers. "Little Zook" Erwin at Forward again led in field goals having ten to his credit. Caughman came second with five and Ward third with four. Evans took Provost's place at forward in the second half. Clemson's work throughout was of the best.

The lineup and score are given below:

THE CLEMSON AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

On last Saturday evening, The Clemson Agricultural Society held a most interesting meeting in the Palmetto Literary Society Hall. Cadet F. H. Lathrop gave an excellent talk on the "Rice Weevil", more commonly called the "corn" weevil. Mr. Lathrop has been working on the "corn" weevil problem for some time in connection with the Entomology Department, and he showed that he is well up on the subject. Cadet F. Hodges read a well prepared paper on "Liming of Soils". The meeting was then thrown open for free discussion of the subjects of the evening. Every man present seemed to be interested, especially while the application of lime was being discussed by the house.

The Society was glad to have as visitors, Rev. Mr. Mills, and a number of Juniors and One Year men. The Society is young, but it has already proved a success. Every member seems to be willing to do his part toward making the meetings interesting.

When you are at Anderson, Greenville, or any place where we have advertisers, don't fail to look them up. Boys, patronize our advertisers, and when you do so, mention "The Tiger".

When we began "The Tiger" last fall we resolved to do all in our power to give the student body the best paper they ever had. We in return expected the support of the entire corps by subscribing for "The Tiger". Did we get the support? Yes. From about one-half of the student body, and we heartily thank them for their support. But where are the rest of the student body? Reading "The Tiger" over their neighbor's shoulder? That is the only explanation of the state of affairs.

It is the duty of every student to support the paper, put out for their benefit. Do you realize the amount of work it takes to put out a paper of this sort? Do you realize the amount of time put in, that we could have put in elsewhere? Think it over, and then subscribe for "The Tiger" for the remainder of the year. Only 50cts. Don't knock your own paper. Support it.

WHO'S WHO AND WHY

BY E. T. PREVOST.

We have in our midst a king—a big king, a fat king, a jolly king, a French king; the latter being a fact which even his name—and you all know it—cannot hide. He has a kingdom all his own, and his vassals are many and loyal. His castle is an imposing structure, protected on three sides by high walls and on the fourth side by an abrupt precipice. Two fiery dragons, sometimes called commandants, are also in the near vicinity, and any luckless individual who treads on the forbidden ground, becomes the meat of these voracious monsters. The castle is equipped with dungeons, secret passages, hidden doors, barred windows, and all the usual accompaniments.

This king is continually at work for all of us, as who can doubt it who has ever seen the mess hall. A view here would convince even an epicurean that we could desire nothing more. Don't we have good substantial stools, evidently obtained from some traveling elephant show where there is great need for monumental pedestals on which the quadrupeds are to perform? Are we not supplied with at least two instruments per dozen men with which to attack the tempting "morsels" of bread placed before us? This makes each man's turn to get a bite come about once every ten minutes. Who wants more than ten minutes to whet his appetite? Let that man join the Grand Order of Fletcherizers. Our king also provides us with flat white slabs called plates, and other white slabs which have been left out in the sun till they warped into the shape of cups. These are used as stable foundations on which to imagine all sorts of delicious, delightful, delectable, and desirable edibles accumulated. The ceiling is mirror-like, so that, counting the reflection, the amount seen will coincide with that published in the college catalog. Fans placed along the walls help to keep down the temperature of those who, through the instrumentality of Jimmy, are being ignited. White-coated ministers of the king reside at each table, in order to inform those who desire some special dish that the menu does not contain that article today. The only charge against the cadets is that they so disfigure the steak that it can be used only six times before being sent to the renovator to be repolished. These few details are convincing proof that we, the subjects are well cared for by our king.

This benevolent gentleman is always on hand in case of an emergency; such as snake bites, etc., in fact, anything which sounds like "keg" or "bottle" will draw his attention immediately. However, his cheerful laugh and ready tongue proclaim him a friend of everybody, and anyone who is not loyal to our king is a traitor.

Wanted, to find a means of detection—
But one requiring the least exertion—
And cause the rascal to make an assertion
Who stole my hat at text book inspection.

Professor Shanklin.

CLEMSON "C" CLUB NEWS

The Clemson College "C" Club had its first of a series of social gatherings, Friday night, January 24th, in the form of a banquet. Shorty had used his culinary powers to advantage, and the spread was heartily enjoyed.

A short business session was held in which a copy of the circular letter which is to be sent to all old block "C" men was read. Several amendments, to be acted on by the athletic association, were brought up and approved; also, a letter concerning the size, prices and colors of blankets to be awarded "C" men.

On Saturday night, Jan. 25th, the "C" club held the first of its series of high class moving picture shows. A large crowd attended, and all were very much pleased with the show. Three pictures were shown, "The Runaways", "The Unlucky Creditors," and "Before the War". The next show will be held Saturday night, Feb. 1st, when three excellent pictures will be shown.

Music was furnished during the show by Clemson's Moving Picture Orchestra. This orchestra will be in attendance at all the future shows.

From an old Chronicle.

Listen, listen! Yonder's — — —!
Cried the chicken thief in fright.
Too late now! Look, look, he's seen us!
Isn't this an awful plight?

From the window just above them
Came the loud deep voice, "Who's there?"
But the students never shuddered
He had taught them not to fear

"Speak! I tell you, speak! ye villains!
Else I'll shoot, I'll shoot you down!"
But the two young thieves below him
Uttered not a single sound.

In his hand he raised a pistol,
Sighted, fired, missed his mark.
Then another shot was fired;
But this shot came from the dark.

High into the air his hands went,
"Hold a moment," cried he, "hold!
Is there honor not among you
That you'd shoot a man so old?

Though I let you steal my chickens,
This is where I draw the line,
If you'll fight, then let's fight fairly,
Mine are blanks. Pray, what are thine?"

"There's some mistake, or seems to be,
Within this verse I read to thee.
There's Jonah, the whale, and the good Lord, too;
But, just what did each one of them do?
Now, maybe the whale swallowed the man;
But that's not laid down in the plan;
And, maybe the man swallowed the whale,
But not so stated in this tale.
We might discuss it a year or more
Without getting farther than we've been before.
While we don't know who the swallowing did,
Or how far down the swallowed one slid,
This one thing certainly stands out clear,
There was some swallowing done, somewhere."

SOME CLASS.

Oh, how the years will come and pass;
And passing, mark on all a change!
'Tis thus we rose, 'till now a class
Of Juniors bold we stand, and claim
The place we've won in college rounds
As students we have met in fight
With hard exams and passed the bounds
Of frightened Fresh and Soph delight.

In athletics we make our claim
To many men in every line.
Just look adown the list of names,
And lo, the stars begin to shine!
There's Gandy, Lewis, Ezell, James,
Who make a mighty fighting crew,
But look! our list yet contains
Pressley, "Shorty", and others too.

Then let the coming year speed on,
E'en though full with exams and care.
At length when they have come and gone
We shall rise to a class more dear,
A class for which we aim and work,
And when to this we shall attain
We still will strive, nor duty shirk;
And all through life remain the same.

Professor W. C. Wagner, who has been assistant in Mechanical and Electrical engineering at Clemson since September, left, on last Wednesday, to take a position with the Government at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Professor Wagner is very popular at Clemson, and his absence will be felt in social and religious circles as well as in the college work. He is a man of pleasant bearing; and his live interest in everything at Clemson has won for him many warm friends who regret to see him go. Professor Wagner has won distinction in engineering circles; he graduated with honors in the engineering department at The University of Washington; the University relieved him of the last two years of engineering work in order that he might design several power plants for a commercial company out west. Professor Wagner also took the degree of M. M. E. at Cornell, and has worked for several well known engineering concerns. Before he entered upon his engineering education, he started to work with the Western Electric Company, and, within six months after he began work with them, he was raised to position of foreman of their shops with technical graduates under him as apprentices. He worked with Stone and Webster and a mining company near Seattle before he entered the profession of teaching. He was substitute for the Electric Department at the University of Washington during 1911-12 and came to Clemson to fill the position he had accepted as soon as he was relieved there.

Prof. Wagner will be succeeded by Prof. Rhodes, a former graduate of Furman and of Clemson, who comes highly recommended. He has been connected with the Engineering Department of the University of Wisconsin; and, after several years of experience with the large northern engineering concerns and several years of teaching he has decided to return to his native state and serve his Alma Mater.

SOCIALS.

Mrs. Dobson has returned from Carlisle, Indiana, where she spent Christmas with her parents.

The Thursday Club was entertained last week by Mrs. Dargan. Songs by Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Riggs and Mrs. Harper added very much to the pleasure of the afternoon.

Mr. Bramlett was the host Tuesday evening at a dinner party for the Chess Club. His guests were Dr. Redfern, Messrs. Furman, Harper, Somes, Wagner, Poats, Martin, Marshall, Gardner, Keitt, and Johnstone.

The Misses Murray very delightfully entertained their club on Wednesday morning. The members present were Mrs. Shiver, Misses Lena Hardin, Helen Brackett, Nela and Jeanie Sloan, Elizabeth Townes, and Sunie Sloan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wagner have gone to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where Mr. Wagner has accepted a position as manager of the electric plant of the post. Even though their residence here had been so short, the community gave them up with great reluctance.

Mrs. Johnstone again was the hostess on Saturday afternoon, at a euchre party. Those present were Mesdames Shields, Conradi, Mitchell, Littlejohn, Marshall, Gardiner, Howard and Earle, and Misses Margaret and Etta Sadler, Janie, Nela, and Sunie Sloan, Nena Martin, Helen Bradford, Helen Brackett, Floride Calhoun, Pauline Hughes, and Sarah and Katherine Furman.

Mrs. Gardiner made the top score, and won a dainty handkerchief bag.

The bridge players spent a very delightful afternoon on Friday as the guests of Mrs. Johnstone. Those who took part in the games were Mesdames Lewis, Furman, Hutchinson, Bryan Calhoun, Riggs, Freeman, Bradley, Brackett, Rudd, Sloan, Dargan, Shiver, Shanklin, Harper, Clinkscales, Powers and Hall, and Miss Sadler. After a comparison of the scores, Mrs. Sloan was found to be the most fortunate, and was awarded a handsome lunch cloth as the high prize. A dainty salad course was served.

Y. M. C. A.

Those who were present at our last meeting, listened with a great deal of pleasure to Prof. Wagner of the electrical department, as he pictured to us the Y. M. C. A. in the coal mines of the far Northwest. The eyes of those who heard him were opened to a necessity of missionary work in our own land. The miners are mostly foreigners; many of them know nothing of Christ, and have no education. Prof. Wagner told of the great work the Y. M. C. A. was doing among this lower class of people. He said that the Y. M. C. A. there had a double duty: to educate and to christianize.

Prof. Wagner comes to us from the state of Washington. We are very sorry indeed to hear that he is to leave.

The mid-week prayer meeting was led last Wednesday night by Mr. C. W. Ward. He spoke on the need of a better honor system.
