Ideally situated to serve you.

If distribution is part of the business you go back to after the game, check with Eastern. We offer you excellent facilities and service in two ideal locations: Greenville, South Carolina, and Jacksonville, Florida.

We’re your source for metered-to-any-formula fertilizer, too, from Plant Food Division plants near Greenville-Spartanburg, S. C., and Greensboro and Charlotte, N. C. Plants that are the most modern of their kind this side of the Mississippi.

You can find out more about Eastern by calling us at the number below. Or come see us at Donaldson Industrial Park. You’ll find we’re an experienced, hard-working team!

For the second consecutive year, Clemson's football programs were judged among the top five in America. The College Sports Information Directors of America appointed a committee of publications experts who rated the Clemson programs among the top four in the country in 1975, and the 1976 programs among the top five.

It was exactly four Saturdays ago when Clemson played before the Death Valley fans in the season opener against Maryland.

Since that time Charley Pell's Tigers have accomplished something that no other Clemson team since the 1957 gridders have been able to do. And that's win three consecutive games on the road.

That season, Frank Howard's squad whipped Virginia (20-6), South Carolina (13-0), and Rice (20-7) on its way to a 7-3 finish.

The '77 Tigers have also established another first. Not since 1960 has a Clemson football team been 3-1 after its first four outings. In that season the Tigers opened with consecutive wins over Wake Forest (28-7), Virginia Tech (13-7), and Virginia (21-7), before losing to Maryland.

Four weeks ago I said that the season opener was special. It had "a fine edge, a bit more glitter" than those other Saturdays.

Well, double that and you're talking about Homecoming. That very special weekend that all Clemson grads want to be involved with.

Tigerama is the most amazing, unbelievable, and enjoyable event that I, personally, have ever witnessed. It's a production staged by the finest group of individuals I have ever been associated with — the students of Clemson University.

Yet Tigerama is just a part of Homecoming at Clemson. The displays, the floats, the Homecoming Court, the pep rally, and the excitement throughout the entire campus.

Add to that the two-day Clemson Soccer Invitational and you have a three-day Clemson weekend that is simply unforgettable.

Today's game marks the 17th meeting between the Clemson Tigers and Virginia's Cavaliers, and the very first for Charley Pell and Dick Bestwick as head coaches at the respective schools.

The Cavaliers operate basically from the "I," although they have used some surprise wishbone formations this fall.

Senior Billy Harris is the leading Cav rusher with 152 yards on 36 carries, and soph Paul Izlar follows with 127 yards on 42 carries. Izlar owns Virginia's lone TD.

Frosh Bryan Shumock has hit 16 of 33 passes for 118 yards, and his favorite target has been fellow yearling Greg Taylor with five catches for 37 yards.

Defensively, Virginia returned 10 starters from '76, and only two seniors are among the first 11 Cav defenders. Keep your eyes on #91, Tony Blount, the left linebacker, a pre-season All-ACC choice.

Overall, the Cavs are young, as only seven seniors are among the first 22, and they're gaining experience each Saturday.

Virginia held N. C. State's potent offense to just 14 points, and West Virginia ranked 17th nationally prior to a loss to Penn State, to just 13 last week.

Pell compares Virginia to "a rattlesnake in a woodpile," looking for its first win of '77.

Soph Lester Brown is Clemson's top ground gainer with 53 rushes for 245 yards and 3 TDs. "Rubber Duck" as he is called by his teammates, gained 134 yards against Georgia Tech.

Junior Warren Ratchford, who has a "heart as big as a washtub" according to Pell, has rushed 32 times for 207 yards. "Rat" gained 97 yards on 10 carries against Virginia Tech, including a 68-yard TD scamper.

Steve Fuller has completed 27 of 59 passes for 494 yards and 3 TDs, with fleet Jerry Butler the top receiver with 302 yards and 1 TD on 16 catches.

But without that front wall of people like Joe Bostic, Lacy Brumley, Steve Kenney, Jeff Bostic, and Jimmy Weeks, the Tiger offensive would not have been able to amass 1274 yards to date.

The Tiger defense was truly outstanding against the Gobblers, holding VPI without a first down until 11:08 in the second period.

Randy Scott, Mark Heniford, Bubba Brown, and Jonathan Brooks have been the top tacklers through four games, and the secondary has picked off eight opponent passes, topped by Steve Ryan's three.

Jerry Arp
Program Editor

1. Lester Brown sets sail toward 134-yard day vs. Georgia Tech. 2. Warren Ratchford netted 97 yards vs. Hokies. 3. Offensive line members take a break. 4. Defensive standouts in '77 have included Randy Scott (35), Mark Heniford (98), Jonathan Brooks (84), Bubba Brown (47), and Jim Stuckey (83).

THE CLEMSON UNIVERSITY
presents

"At the Hop" meant Rat Hop and the Jungaleers at Clemson during the Fifties.
"Tiger Rag" was the favorite of the Tiger Band.

By Kelly Durham
Department of Public Relations

Clemson University's Tiger Band will perform music from the fifties to highlight Homecoming festivities scheduled for halftime today.

A rousing pre-game program will help set the stage for the football excitement to come as the band plays "Sock It To 'Em" and Clemson's light song "Tiger Rag" before the opening kickoff. The pre-game program continues with the Clemson University Chorus singing the National Anthem and the Clemson Alma Mater, accompanied by the Tiger Band under the direction of marching band director Dr. Bruce Cook.

Although the accent is on rock and roll, the Tiger Band makes its halftime entrance to the tune of Chuck Mangione's "El Gato Triste." This Spanish piece highlights the percussion unit as the band marches in to the beat of claves, cowbells and maracas.

Next, Spanish strains give way to rock and roll as the Tiger Band moves into a medley of '50s favorites from the motion picture "American Graffiti."

While the band plays such tunes as "At the Hop," "See You In September," "You're Sixteen," "Sixteen Candles" and "Rock Around the Clock," its 158 members move in a continuous kaleidoscopic pattern featuring the flag corps. Displaying new flags for the first time at home, this group adds color to complement the musical portion of the show.

The highlight of this afternoon's Homecoming halftime is the presentation of the Homecoming Queen. Davis T. Moorhead, Alumni Association president, will present a bouquet of roses to the queen and welcome Tiger fans on behalf of the association. As the band performs Kelly Love's arrangement of the theme from the motion picture "The Way We Were" and an upbeat version of the popular Perry Como hit of 1950, "If," the newly crowned queen and her court will travel the circumference of the field on a float constructed by Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Jimmy Addison Recalls

Clemson has played Virginia 16 times, beginning with a 20-7 win in the initial series meeting in 1955, and the Tigers have been victorious in each of the grid battles between these two Atlantic Coast Conference members. Thrilling is one word that can best describe the past Tiger-Cavalier meetings, but none could ever match Clemson's 40-35 come-from-behind win over the Cavs in the 1966 season opener. Quarterback Jimmy Addison recalls that game in which he hit on 12 of 19 passes for 283 yards and three touchdowns, including a 75-yard bomb to Jacky Jackson with 3:49 to play that provided the winning margin.

When asked to recall some of the highlights of the season opening 1966 Clemson-Virginia game, a few moments of contemplation brought the realization that the passage of the last ten years has left little recollection of many details of the game. Yardage gained, number of plays run, passes attempted and completed, penalties, punting averages, time of ball control, first downs, weather conditions, how each team scored, and other salient details of the game are lost from memory. The few statistics remembered do put the nature of the game in perspective. The two teams combined for a total offense of approximately 1000 yards; we lost five fumbles, intercepted one pass, and punted only once; our defense shut out Bob Davis and the Cavaliers in the last quarter, and we came from the short end of a 35-18 score to win the game 40-35.

Although time has dulled my recollection of many details, vivid impressions remain of the atmosphere and events preceding, during the following game. A few weeks prior to the game, Coach Howard set the stage by announcing to a visiting entourage of ACC sportswriters that no Clemson football team had ever lost to Virginia and he was looking forward to the Tigers dining on "white meat" when the Cavaliers arrived in Death Valley. Coach Howard's words had a ring of truth when we went ahead by two touchdowns early in the second period on the strength of a punt return by Frank Liberatore, a TD pass to Phil Rogers and the running of Buddy Gore. The second and third quarters belonged solely to the Bob Davis-led Cavaliers; and, with the help of our fumbles, Virginia took a 35-18 lead. At this juncture, I am sure the words "white meat" began to taste very sour to Coach Howard; and I remember very distinctly that the offensive team's instructions from a more than mildly perturbed and red faced Coach Howard were to "Throw the ball, and throw it good." Although the reference in those instructions to a supreme being was not particularly prayerful or reverent in nature, the waters parted and Edgar McGee, Phil Rogers and Wayne Bell caught passes all over the field to bring us to a 35-33 deficit with about three minutes to play. Faced with a third down and short yardage on our own 25 yard line, we called a pass play which had resulted in several earlier completions to our split end, Wayne Bell. Wayne found an open spot between the linebackers, and the Virginia cornerback came from his deep position to cover the open receiver. Jacky Jackson, who had run from his tailback position down the left sideline, made a beautiful catch behind that cornerback and outran the safetyman to the end zone. Even then, the outcome remained in suspense until Phil Marion intercepted a deflected pass inside our 10 yard line with seconds remaining.

Although both teams made numerous mistakes, the game was certainly exciting and entertaining. As someone suggested on the sidelines during the fourth quarter, the University should have run everyone out of the stadium and made them pay to re-enter. By overcoming the 35-18 deficit in the space of 15 minutes by the stadium clock, feelings of anger, frustration and humiliation had been transformed by confidence, effort and teamwork into a giddy, light-headed elation which I will always remember.
The story of Clemson University — from its beginning as an idea in the mind of Thomas Green Clemson to its emergence as an important center of teaching, research and public service — is a story of unique purpose.

When the aging Mr. Clemson envisioned this institution that has flourished so well on his plantation lands, he was mindful of a special mission it would have, one he stated clearly.

In the bitter economic conditions of his time, Mr. Clemson saw the college he dreamed of as the great hope for South Carolina farmers and the state's economic recovery. For only through the application of scientific education and technology to problem solving, he believed, could the people hope to attain a better quality of life.

In his wisdom and with an eye to the state's future needs, Mr. Clemson entrusted the Board of Trustees with the power to change the college's curricula to meet the changing needs of future generations.

Today, more than 84 years since that first class met in July 1893, the basic mission which Thomas Clemson stated — an institution to serve the people's needs — remains unchanged. But as these needs have changed and new technology comes of age, the University's programs have reflected these changing needs, as Thomas Clemson knew they must do.

Serving as Clemson's president for the past 19 years, Dr. Robert C. Edwards has set the pace for strong leadership and administrative direction during the university's greatest period of growth both in academic, physical expansion and in service to the State and its citizens.

More than 11,000 students pursue a wealth of academic programs in the university's nine colleges and graduate school. Colleges are agricultural sciences, architecture, education, engineering, forest and recreation resources, industrial management and textile science, liberal arts, nursing and sciences.

In terms of academic excellence, the quality of students entering Clemson is high and they are well prepared. In the 1976 freshman class 61 per cent graduated in the top 20 per cent of their high school class.

As a land-grant university, Clemson has statewide responsibilities in teaching, research and public service programs which are not available from any other source in the state.

And one of Clemson's major distinctions is the fact that the General Assembly has seen fit to assign the responsibility to Clemson of several state regulatory and consumer protection programs that are elsewhere handled by governmental agencies.

Like the changing needs of the state and nation, Clemson's physical facilities have grown to serve these requirements. On the campus proper of 600 acres rise academic buildings, student housing, service facilities and equipment valued at $125 million.

Centerpieces of the campus — and symbols of Clemson's heritage — are Tillman Hall with its clock tower and Fort Hill, the stately antebellum mansion of John C. Calhoun and later his son-in-law, Thomas Clemson.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Bill McLellan

Only the third man to own the title of Athletic Director at Clemson over the past 46 years, Bill McLellan was elevated to his present position February 4, 1971, following what had been more than a decade of service to the University's athletic organization.

A native of Hamer, S. C., the 45-year old McLellan graduated from Dillon High School and entered Clemson where he earned a pair of football letters, and was a member of the Tigers' 1952 Gator Bowl team.

He joined the athletic staff May 1, 1958 from Clemson's Department of Agricultural Economics and Seed Certification where he had spent one year as assistant agronomist and two years as assistant economist.

Although carrying the title of Assistant Business Manager, McLellan has been credited with handling the majority of the department's athletic business and operation long before his appointment into his present role.

In 1966, McLellan was named Assistant Athletic Director, and two years later was appointed Associate Athletic Director.

During his reign as Athletic Director, Clemson's athletic program has experienced a major upheaval.

The Tigers can boast of the finest athletic facilities in not only the Atlantic Coast Conference, but in the South as well.

The modern and spacious Jervey Athletic Center is one of the most complete facilities in America, and this complex serves as the home for Clemson's 18 sports — 12 men's and six women's.

The basketball Tigers play before packed crowds in attractive Littlejohn Coliseum, and many of the Clemson games are televised on either regional or national networks.

And the football Tigers, after averaging better than 44,000 at home last fall, will be playing in a remodeled Memorial Stadium in 78 that will have some 53,000 permanent seats.

But conference titles and All-American honors have come to other sports as well, and McLellan's direction has given Clemson a program that was ranked 20th in the nation in overall excellence in 1975-76. Moreover, the basketball, fencing, and tennis teams enjoyed top 20 ranking in 1976-77, and the baseball and soccer teams both boasted of the nation's top rank at some point during their respective campaigns.

McLellan earned a B.S. degree from Clemson in agronomy in '54, and a master's in agricultural economics in '56. He is married to the former Ann Rogers of Fork, S. C. They have four children —

Suzy, a senior at Winthrop; Bill, a sophomore at Spartanburg Methodist College; Cliff, a freshman at Tennessee Tech; and Arch Anna, a sophomore at Pendleton High School.

Born in Albertville, Ala., the 36-year old Pell is in his second year on the Tiger staff, having served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator during the 1976 campaign.

Pell played but one year of high school football, but went on the University of Alabama where he was a three-year letterman for the Crimson Tide.

At a light 180 pounds, Pell was a two-way starter as an offensive guard and defensive tackle, and played in the Orange, Sugar, and Bluebonnet Bowls during his career.

In his junior season, ’61, Alabama won the National Championship.

Pell entered the coaching profession as a graduate assistant to his former tutor, Paul “Bear” Bryant in ’64.

Charlie Bradshaw hired the young Pell as defensive line coach at the University of Kentucky where the latter spent the next four years, from ’65 through ’68.

Pell’s first taste of head coaching came in December of ’68 when he was selected to rebuild the Jacksonville, Ala., State University grid program.

During the next five seasons, ’69 through ’73, Pell built aggressive defensive teams that garnered a five-year mark of 33-13-1, including a 30-7-1 ledger his last four campaigns.

His 1970 JSU team was 10-0 which included a 21-7 win over Florida A&M in the Orange Blossom Classic, and was ranked second in the nation. His ’72 team finished 10th nationally, and his ’73 squad ranked fourth.

In ’70, he was conference, district, area, and state of Alabama Coach of the Year, and runner-up for national coaching honors. He earned the state accolade again in ’73.

He joined VPI’s staff as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator in 1974, and remained there until coming to Clemson.

Pell took a defensive unit that ranked 128th nationally prior to his arrival and molded it into one that finished the ’75 season as 29th toughest against scoring.

Pell earned his B.S. degree in business administration from Alabama in ’64. He is married to the former Ward Noel of Lexington, Ky., and they have a son — Carrick (7).

CLEAR UP YOUR FUTURE IN THE 2-YEAR AFROTC PROGRAM.

What's up after college? That question is enough to get a lot of young people down. Air Force ROTC college graduates have that worry, too. But their immediate future (and longer if they choose) is much more secure. As a commissioned officer, there's a good job....Travel. Graduate level education. Promotions. Financial security. And really, lots more.

If you have two academic years remaining, there's a great 2-year AFROTC program still available to you. Look into the details. We think you'll be pleasantly surprised. And pleasantly rewarded.

Willie Jordan
A junior from Griffin, Ga., majoring in administrative management, Willie is a Cadet Sergeant. Teammates call Willie "The Handyman" because of his versatility. As a freshman he led the Tigers in total offense as a quarterback, then was a starting safety in the secondary last fall. He's now a flanker.

Ogden Hansford
Ogden's a junior from Macon, Ga., and a Cadet Sergeant in Clemson's Army ROTC program. He's majoring in industrial education. Ogden has been a standout in the Clemson secondary since enrolling at Tigertown.

Congratulations!

1. Chris Daggitt became the first swimming All-American at Clemson University, as well as the first woman athlete at Tigertown to earn that honor. A product of Dayton, O., Chris posted a 4:35.0 in the women's AIAW Nationals at Providence, R. I., her freshman year last winter. She set six individual school records for the Lady Tiger Swimmers in '77. 2. Tiger wrestling coach Wade Schalles was the only American grappler to win a gold medal in the World University Games in Bulgaria the last week of August. A 163-pound wrestler, he pinned a Canadian in 20 seconds, decisioned a Yugoslavian opponent who was disqualified for stalling, pinned an East German in 90 seconds, then had his toughest challenger from Bulgaria whom he whipped 16-6. Schalles won the gold medal the next day by pinning his Russian opponent in 31 seconds. For his achievements, the coaches and officials at the World Games selected Schalles as the World's Greatest Wrestler. 3. Coach Annie Tribble guided the Clemson women's basketball team to a 22-9 won-lost ledger last winter, and to a berth in the Regional AIAW Tournament in what was her initial year at the Lady Tiger helm. The former Anderson JC coach led the Trojan women to three consecutive National Jucos titles prior to coming to Tigertown. And for her efforts with Clemson last winter, she was selected as Kellogg's Coach of the Year for the state of South Carolina. 4. Clemson sophomore Cindy McDowell, who was Miss Southern 500 in 1976, won both the Miss Bikini Wahine title at the Sun Fun Festival in Myrtle Beach and the swimsuit competition in the Miss South Carolina pageant in 1977. A horticulture major, Cindy is a jayvee cheerleader for the Tigers.

The Danny Ford Family

In his first year as assistant head coach of the Tigers, Danny met Deborah Anderson of Attalla, Ala., while he was a standout prep athlete at Gadsden High School, and she was a cheerleader at rival Etowah HS. Deborah's priority comes as a mother for her lovely daughters, although she does find time to bake bread and raise plants.

Jennifer was born while Danny was coaching at his alma mater — Alabama — and after he had earned his master's degree there in special education.

After two seasons at Bama, the Fords spent three years in Blacksburg, Va., where Danny served Virginia Tech as offensive coordinator.

"We enjoyed the snowy winters in Blacksburg," recalls Deborah, "especially the sledding and ice skating.

"We were also close to Busch Gardens in Williamsburg, and were able to take the girls there.

"Jennifer and Ashleigh are both 'daddy's girls,' and Jennifer always tells people that her daddy is 'a football teacher.' Danny's time with the girls is limited, but he makes that time count. It's quality time."

The Jimmye Laycock Family

Jimmye and Ginnie Laycock returned to Tigertown in 1977, a place where they first set up housekeeping.

The couple began dating while both were students at William & Mary when Jimmye was a sophomore quarterback/defensive back and Ginnie was a freshman.

A native of Baltimore, Ginnie Klemkowski was president of Delta Delta Delta Sorority and among her many honors as an undergraduate were a membership in Phi Beta Kappa and recognition among Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Jimmye graduated from William & Mary in '70 and coached one season at Newport News High School where he tutored an All-American running back named Jo Jo Bethea.

Ginnie earned her degree in psychology in '71 and entered graduate school at George Peabody College in Nashville, while Jimmye was entering grad school at Clemson.

Two years later they were married and served as dorm counselors at Clemson while Jimmye was completing work on his master's.

They moved to Charleston where Ginnie taught part-time in the public school system and at The Citadel, where Jimmye was coaching.

After two years in the port city Jimmye accepted a coaching position at Memphis State University.

Ginnie used this opportunity to work on her doctorate in special education which she completed in August. While at MSU, she co-authored a book.

Ginnie is presently teaching in Clemson's Department of Education.

YOU'VE GOT TO BE GOOD TO MAKE OUR LINE-UP.

So it is with our team. You've got to be good to make it on Hardee's menu.
Check out our line-up. It's the best line-up in town.

HARDEE'S BIG TWIN™
It's awesome.

HARDEE'S ROAST BEEF
A powerfully big sandwich, heavily recruited from the west. Sliced thin, piled high, with your choice of tangy sauces, it's one big beautiful sandwich.

HARDEE'S FRENCH FRIES
The golden boys of our line-up.
They come in two sizes, big and bigger.

HARDEE'S BIG DELUXE™
With all the makings of greatness.
A quarter pound of charbroiled beef with all the fixin's.

HARDEE'S SHAKES
They're rich, like the best of the pros.

For the second year in a row, Clemson University’s overall athletic program ranked among the nation’s top 25.

The Tigers finished in a 20th place tie with Wisconsin in 1976.

Clemson fell one spot to number 21 in 1977 in the poll which includes over 130 colleges and universities which compete in the NCAA’s major division.

Two of the Tigers’ squads, baseball and soccer, held the nation’s number one ranking at one point in the ‘77 season.

Bill Wilhelm’s baseballers advanced to the College World Series for the second year in a row and finished fifth in America.

Dr. I. M. Ibrahim’s booters held the nation’s top spot at the end of the ‘77 regular season, won the NCAA Southern Regionals, and moved on to the NCAA Championships in Philadelphia.

Clemson’s basketball Tigers under second-year coach Bill Foster raced to a 22-6 finish and were ranked among the nation’s top 20 in both wire service polls as well as Grandstand’s Fabulous 15 for much of the 76-77 season. The Tiger cagers reached the 10th spot in the AP rating at one juncture of the campaign.

In Bob Boettner’s first season as Clemson’s swimming coach, the Tigers went from seventh to second place in the Atlantic Coast Conference Championships.

Charlie Poteat’s fencers finished among the nation’s top 20 teams at the NCAA Championships at Notre Dame, led by Steve Renshaw who is considered a prime candidate for a berth in the 1980 Moscow Olympics.

Sam Colson had three tracksters to shine in ‘77 as Dean Matthews won the ACC Cross Country title, and Stew Ralph and Mike Columbus scored in the NCAA Meet in the javelin and discus, respectively.

With immense pride, we present a trim and timely new edition of Chevrolet's personal luxury car: The Third Generation Monte Carlo. Although thoroughly redesigned, today's Monte Carlo retains the unique personality of Monte Carlos past. You see it dramatically reflected in the stately stance and sculptured sides. The new interior is a virtual "Driver's Suite"—with sumptuous cloths and carpets, tall windows, an impressive new instrument panel, and special Monte Carlo "touches" throughout.

Available enhancements include a new roof with removable tinted-glass panels. The Third Generation Monte Carlo. Drive it soon. We think you'll be impressed.
"Tigerama," the 21st edition of which was seen in Death Valley last night by thousands of students, alumni, and other homecoming revelers, is Clemson tradition now, but it wasn't always.

The all-student production is the brainchild of Joe Sherman, who directed alumni and public relations in 1957 when Tigerama made its debut. The variety show was patterned after the University of Florida's student production, "Gator Growl," and brought to Clemson by Sherman who had been in public relations at Florida.

Acting in the name of the Clemson Alumni Association, Sherman proposed Tigerama in name and in format to the Clemson Chapter of Blue Key, a national honor fraternity. He invited Blue Key to become the coordinating agency of Tigerama and to work with the student body in the actual production of the show.

Blue Key accepted the invitation and has produced the show throughout its history with vital technical assistance provided by student radio station WSBF.

The National Council of the Clemson Alumni Association agreed to back the program until it became self-supporting. Although Tigerama lost over $5,000 during the first three years, it eventually got on its feet as attendance grew by leaps and bounds.

It has done so well in fact, that a $10,000 Tigerama Scholarship Fund was established in 1976 — a gift to the university from student organizations that sponsor the event. The endowment came from net gate receipts of Tigerama productions of recent years.

The first Tigerama scholarship of $600 was awarded this semester to Charles H. Johnson, agricultural economics major from Alcolu. Recipients are rising seniors who have demonstrated outstanding qualities of leadership and a genuine interest in the enrichment of campus student life.

It probably didn't occur to most folks in that first Tigerama audience on Friday evening, November 8, 1957, but in addition to the juggling act and fire-eater, they witnessed the birth of a Clemson tradition. Today homecoming just wouldn't be complete without the razzle-dazzle of Tigerama on the eve of the homecoming football game.

Thousands anticipate the annual event where, for an evening, Clemson Memorial Stadium is changed from a football stadium to a theater under the stars where crowds applaud not the accomplishments of athletes, but student perfection of another kind.

Organizations from all segments of the university participate in producing Tigerama. Tiger Band plays; the Pershing Rifles drill team performs; and fraternities, sororities and other groups entertain with comedy skits — after weeks of rehearsals — and sponsor beautiful Miss Homecoming hopefuls.

WSBF personnel spend countless hours taping sound tracks for the variety acts and setting up sound equipment to assure the audience of good acoustics. WSBF has become such an important force in Tigerama that they now share top billing with Blue Key as organizers of the event.

Tigerama climaxes with the fireworks grand finale, one of the largest in the state. Traffic stops for miles around to watch skies aglow with aerial displays.

Tigerama, a true success story. It's Clemson tradition.
ARA-Slater's philosophy is a unique, systematic approach designed to achieve our most important goal: STUDENT SATISFACTION. This concept is a result of our experience with millions of students. We have the flexibility to understand your needs and the capability to satisfy them.

At Clemson, ARA demonstrates practical, new methods for providing nourishing, well-balanced meals to athletes, students and staff. Our corporate and regional specialists give ARA's dining service manager expert advice in planning menus, purchasing goods, controlling waste, utilizing labor. The support of this team effort is carried out daily in Schilletter Hall and Harcombe Commons, and at the Clemson House Buffeteria. It is our desire to serve students what they want and to accommodate them by providing this same efficient service for special events or festive holiday meals.

We're here to provide the type of service that will benefit the entire school and community. THAT'S WHAT WE THINK A DINING SERVICE IS ALL ABOUT.
My Most Memorable Moment in Football...

CHARLEY PELL, Clemson: "It is difficult to select just one. Playing on the 1961 Alabama National Championship team... beating Oklahoma 17-0 in the Orange Bowl... Bud Wilkins' last game as a coach... or the 1970 win by our Jacksonville, Ala., State team over Florida A&M in the Orange Bowl Classic. But the one game that stands out was in 1975 when I was on the staff at Virginia Tech. Our players worked hard in the spring, yet lacked that confidence that it takes to win when things just aren’t right. But when emotions are right, then I believe that any team can whip another team. After a 1-2 start on the season, we journeyed to Auburn where we were solid underdogs. For the first time since we, as coaches, had been at VPI, we went into the dressing room at halftime with the lead. The players really felt they were on the verge of something great. With 1:15 left in the game, and Auburn at our 2-yard line, we held them on four plays, actually throwing them back three yards, and held on to win by 23-16. As a coach, seeing a player finally picking that plum is what football is all about. I’ve never seen a emotion so great as that day, and we went on to an 8-3 finish."

BO REIN, N.C. State: "I’ve been associated with many football upsets, but the one that sticks most vividly in my mind is our 12-7 win over Penn State in 1974. Our defense played extremely well that day and the crowd reaction to their performance was tremendous. We got great team effort and great individual play from everyone. I remember Johnny Evans’ punting (49 1/2 average) and his 63-yarder that got us out of an early hole, and the fact that it was our first win ever over Penn State. But most of all, I remember the running of Stan Priftis. That afternoon, he personified what second effort really is, and he demonstrated what is meant when a coach talks about guts and hard-nosed football. He was called on in all the crucial situations and delivered every time. It seemed as if he were on a one-man crusade. On his touchdown run, he was knocked out in the end zone. He dragged tacklers half the length of the field. That is a true example of how a football player should approach the game."

JERRY CLAIBORNE, Maryland: "I have had many memorable moments during my career and it is difficult to select one particular instance. In coaching, the success of your career is determined by your won-loss record, but it should be determined by the success of your players after graduation. It is always a memorable moment when you best a team that you consider superior. Since we are in a field where winning generates a great deal of excitement, there are two events I would have to rate as my most memorable. One was when the final second ticked off in the 1975 Gator Bowl. We had upset Florida, 13-0, for my first bowl win as coach and the second time we defeated the Gators in the same year. The victory enabled me to have my first undefeated season as a head coach. The reaction of the staff and players after the game and in the locker room after we received a bid to the Cotton Bowl was very meaningful to me. An undefeated season and a bid to a major bowl were always two of my major goals as a coach, and I was able to achieve both at that moment."

CHUCK MILLS, Wake Forest: "Two moments stand as most memorable... at least, with the passage of time they remain most vivid and they are at the opposite ends of the spectrum—vivid despair and ethereal excitement. The first was the tragedy that befell our Wichita State football team when they crashed on their way to play at Utah State. It was oppressive frustration. We all felt so helpless; so completely useless yet wanted to do so much but the nothing that could be done. It was at that time, more than any other, that I realized we are all brothers. The other moment was at Olympic Stadium in Tokyo in 1974, standing there with an American university football team to play a team of Japanese university players; to see young men, unable to speak a common language, through football, communicate and have affection for each other... hear our National Anthem and see our flag raised."

MIKE McGE, Duke: "Since returning to Duke as head coach in 1971 there have been many memorable games. During my first year we upset No. 9 ranked Stanford on the West Coast, 9-3, without the services of our top running back, Steve Jones, who was back in Durham with an injury. That was an important win as was our shutout of Georgia Tech, 9-0, in 1974 when the Yellow Jackets were one of the top offensive teams in the nation. However, the most recent game that comes to mind is last year’s win at Tennessee. In front of the largest home crowd in Tennessee history (82,687) we upset the Volunteers, 21-19, in the season opener. I think I’ll always remember that victory.

BILL DOOLEY, North Carolina: "I’ve certainly had a lot of memorable moments in my football career. In fact, it’s tough just to pick out one. I think anytime you win a championship or participate in a bowl game, it’s a very special experience. I guess the two moments which first come to mind would be the immediate excitement after our 38-0 win over Duke in 1971 and our 28-24 victory over Florida in 1972. The win over Duke capped an undefeated ACC season and gave Carolina its first outright conference championship. That was certainly a great thrill. The win over Florida the following year was a fitting finish to a 10-1 season. We came from behind to win the game in the closing moments as we had done throughout the year. Not many major college football teams go 10-1 these days so that was really a tremendous accomplishment."

DICK BESTWICK, Virginia: "My most memorable moment in football would have to be my first win at Virginia after taking over as head coach. Memorable not so much as a victory that broke the nation’s longest losing streak, but because of the emotional impact our players and coaches suffered through that Saturday. I learned early that morning that Kevin Bowie, one of our best players, was murdered the previous evening while visiting his grandparents in Washington, D.C. He had been given permission to make the visit when an injury suffered the previous week ruled him out of the Wake Forest game. The decision was made not to tell the team until after the game. When we fell behind a good Wake Forest team by 14-0 early, it looked as though we were going to lose. Then, following with the tragedy that befell Kevin. A last-minute touchdown pass gave us an 18-17 upset victory, and sent the players’ emotions as high as I ever witnessed. This only to have them reach the depths of despair in the next moment when I told them of Kevin’s untimely death. Football, as in the game of life, is one of changing emotions."

Bill Wilhelm's Clemson baseball team is gunning for the school's third straight trip to Omaha, Neb., and the College World Series in 1978.

But the veteran coach who has directed his Tigers to 20 consecutive winning seasons in as many years as head mentor at Clemson, must find replacements for a quartet of All-Atlantic Coast Conference performers from last year's 42-10 team.

Gone are second baseman Bill Wingo (.333), catcher Bill Foley (.315, 14 HR, 51 RBI), leftfielder Dave Caldwell (.284), and righthanded pitcher Ron Musselman (12-2).

The four stalwarts all inked professional contracts during the summer, with Caldwell and Foley passing up their final year with the Tigers to do so.

However, Wilhelm has the nucleus for another outstanding diamond team, centered around five regulars from '77, plus the duo who split time as the Tigers' designated hitter.

Simons paced the Tigers in hitting with a hot .376 mark on his way to All-ACC accolades, and Weems was second in batting at .340.

Pete Peltz (.329) was the Tigs' third baseman last spring, but he could get a shot in the outfield, depending on frosh Todd Freeman's (Easley, S. C.) progress.

Robert Bonnette drove in 51 runs and hit .324 as an All-ACC shortstop, and his keystone partner could come from soph Gene Wisniewski (.286).

Steve Nilsson (249) has been Clemson's regular first baseman for two years, although Alan Hoover (.227) has played that spot along with rotating as the team's designated hitter with catcher Bill Schroeder (.272).

The pitching staff is still a question, but the top four returnees look like righthanders Tom Qualters (6-0), Mike Sullivan (3-1), and Dave Woessner (5-2), and southpaw Brian Snyder (4-1). Qualters, Sullivan and Snyder experienced arm troubles and missed the CWS action, and their recovery will determine much of the Tigers' fate in 1979.

Wilhelm is counting on immediate mound help from freshman righthanders Mike Brown (Vienna, Va.) and Bobby Kenyon (Massapequa Park, N. Y.), and southpaw Howard Guard from The Community College of Baltimore.

Along with Freeman, the Tigers got frosh first baseman Paul Brusger (Northport, N. Y.) and Juco transfers Steve Youngman, an outfielder from Brookdale CC, the same school that sent All-American Denny Walling and Peltz to Clemson, and David Buffamoyer, a catcher from Anderson JC.

During the fiscal year of 1976-77, Clemson’s IPTAY Club experienced its finest year. For the thirteenth consecutive year contributions exceeded those of the previous twelve month period. IPTAY President George Poole, Jr. and his staff, along with the more than 400 IPTAY Representatives, led the organization to a record setting year. An increase of almost twelve percent above last year’s contributions was realized and the organization achieved one hundred and seven percent of its projected goal.

The Athletic Department is offering a magnificent limited edition that will prove to be a collector's item. Only 1500 signed and numbered prints are available. Each has been personally inspected by the artist and bears a small tiger paw emblem with handwritten date of issue.

Artist Cheryl Crawford Nute encompasses a sensitive portrayal of realism with an uncompromising gaze that cannot be forgotten. The craftsmanship of this reproduction is superb and should be included in the collections of inspired Clemson supporters and print collectors alike.

Chickasaw Point is a 1,200-acre community on Lake Hartwell, one of the biggest and best fishing lakes in the country. If you buy a homesite or a home at Chickasaw Point, you can enjoy swimming, boating, tennis, a country club atmosphere and a rolling, hill-country golf course that's one of the most challenging in the Southeast.

Your property is protected by 24-hour security and established architectural covenants guarantee the quality of your environment.

Fifty private residences have already been built at Chickasaw Point, in a quiet, rural setting that's convenient to shopping, medical facilities and a major interstate highway.

The climate is mild, the cost of living reasonable. You can build now, for weekends and vacations, and look forward to year 'round living after retirement.

To reach Chickasaw Point, exit I-85 at the Fair Play, S.C. exit. Drive west on SC Highway 59, one mile to the village of Fair Play. Turn left and drive south on SC Highway 182, following signs to SC Scenic 11. Turn right, then take the first left to the Chickasaw Point entrance. For more information, you can write or call Chickasaw Point, P.O. Box 68, Fair Play, S.C. 29643, Tel: (803) 882-3800.

Obtain HUD property report from developer and read it before signing anything. HUD neither approves the merits of the offering nor the value of the property as an investment, if any.

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness
Where the Tigers play;
Here the sons of dear old Clemson,
Reign supreme alway.

CHORUS
Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tiger’s roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

Alumni Loyalty Fund—Many Things To Many People
They are doctors, lawyers, teachers, farmers, businesspersons, military strategists, public servants. They have a lot going for them. They have an opportunity to grow. And their roots are here on this campus. They are former students of this institution in the foothills of South Carolina.

Clemson University has been involved in providing one of this nation's most vital resources since 1893. Yet, the educational capabilities of Clemson continue to mount, and the University has a vibrant incentive to demonstrate its ability, and an objective yardstick to measure it.

As Clemson University continues its contribution to the development of this state, it remains an indispensable part of its future. Combine capacity, ability and opportunity and you conclude that potential is virtually unlimited.

It is, with your help. Graduates, former students and friends of Clemson are not only a source of pride for the University but a monumental strength in undergirding its educational programs with annual investments in the institution through the Clemson Alumni Loyalty Fund and other development opportunities at the University.

But greater challenges lie ahead. Knowledge has multiplied beyond comprehension; the domestic and world situations have become unwieldy and precarious. To make sure performance measures up to potential, Clemson University utilizes wisely and frugally every source of aid possible from all sectors of a free society — private citizens and foundations, business and industrial organizations, state and federal governments.

Now, more than ever before, Clemson needs you, your interest, and your investment in education. Now, more than ever before, won't you consider what you can do for Clemson?

Steve Godfrey, John Goodloe, and Mark Heniford all have something in common other than the fact that they are seniors on the Clemson Tiger football team. All three came to the University without a scholarship, and all have played a very big part of Tiger football.

A standout at Greenville’s J. L. Mann High School with current Tiger teammates Jimmy Wells and Jeff Mills, Godfrey entered Anderson Junior College following his ’73 graduation from Mann.

He earned an Associate of Arts degree in ’75, and entered Clemson that August. Yet Godfrey didn’t go out for football until the spring of ’76.

His play earned him a spot on the squad, and for two years he has been one of Clemson’s most valuable members of the specialty teams.

He was an all-district and all-state gridder at Thomas Dale High School in Chester, Va., so today’s game is sort of a homecoming battle in itself for the Tiger back.

Goodloe had spent most of his Clemson career with the Cub and specialty teams, and was making great strides during the spring practice session when a knee injury, which required corrective surgery, sidelined him for the remainder of the off-season workouts.

He has fully recovered from the setback and is making his usual fine contribution to the Clemson grid program.

Defensive end Mark Heniford is another Tiger senior with a Virginia tie, having spent one grid season at Fork Union Military Academy.

A Loris native, Heniford was a member of the Fork Union football team that posted a 10-1 record in ’73 on its way to the Virginia Military League championship.

Although just a 45-minute drive from Charlottesville, Home of the Cavaliers, Heniford returned to his native state and entered Clemson in January ’74.

He lettered as both a freshman and sophomore for the Tigers in a reserve capacity, then won a starting berth last fall.

Heniford came up with a big play in Clemson’s 7-6 win over Georgia in Athens when he slapped down a Bulldog pass inside the Tiger 10 to help preserve the Clemson victory.

By the way, one other thing that they all have in common is that all are majoring in administrative management.
Not only does Clemson University boast a proud and exciting athletic reputation, but the Tigers have sent many of their Orange-clad warriors into the professional ranks after completing their collegiate eligibility and earning their degree.

Currently, six ex-Tigers are playing professional football, all of whom are starters, and 11 others spent the 1977 season in professional baseball.

Additionally, Tree Rollins, Clemson's basketball All-American from last winter, was the Atlanta Hawks' first-round draft pick, and three of his Tiger teammates — Dave Brown, John Franken, and Jeff Reisinger — are playing professional basketball in Europe.

Charlie Waters is Clemson's veteran in the National Football League as an eight-year safety for the Dallas Cowboys.

A Pro Bowl player in '76, SPORTS ILLUSTRATED tabbed Waters and teammate Cliff Harris "the best pair of safeties in the league," and Cowboy mentor Tom Landry called the ex-Tiger "an excellent strong safety, probably the best in the league at the end of '76."

Bennie Cunningham is the starting tight end for the Pittsburgh Steelers, and is called "potentially an all-pro" by the Pitt brass.

Bob Swift and Jay Washington both start for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League.

A 14-year veteran and former standout fullback, Swift now plays center, where he was All-Canadian in '72 and '74.

Washington, in his fourth season, led the CFL in rushing last year with 1,227 yards, and scored 12 touchdowns.

Joey Walters is in his first season with the Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Bill Wilhelm has seen 35 of his former baseballers ink pro contracts during his 20 successful Clemson years. And 11 were still playing this past summer.
John Curtis is the lone ex-Tiger who spent the entire year in the majors, pitching with the San Francisco Giants. In his 10th year of professional baseball, Curtis drew both starting and relief action in '77. The southpaw spent time with the Boston Red Sox and the St. Louis Cardinals before moving to the Bay Area.

Rusty Gerhardt (San Diego Padres) had an unusual year with Amarillo of the Texas League. In addition to pitching 133⅔ innings and posting a 5-9 won-lost ledger, he served as field manager of that club on more than one occasion.

Rick Rizzs, of the Amarillo Gold Sox Baseball Club, said, "Rusty is one of the most congenial persons I have ever met and is a tribute to Clemson University. He upholds the true standards of professionalism both on and off the field and is a real competitor. I wish we had more like him."

Steve Cline (San Francisco Giants) and Lin Hamilton (San Diego Padres), signed after the '74 season. Cline, a righthanded pitcher, was 4-6 with the Waterbury Giants with a 3.14 earned run average, whereas Hamilton, despite missing much of the year with a knee injury, played first base for Hawaii and hit .282 with 10 home runs and 43 RBI. Hawaii won the Western Division title in the Pacific Coast League.

Denny Walling earned All-America honors for the Tigs in '75 and was Oakland's first round choice in the June draft. He was traded to the Houston Astros last spring, and despite an injury which limited the outfielder to 29 games, he hit .348 for the Charleston, W. Va., Charles, had four home runs and 14 RBI.

Chuck Porter (California Angels) and Kurt Seibert (Chicago Cubs) both signed after the '76 campaign, and both played in the AA Texas League this summer.

Porter's El Paso team won the Western Division title, and the ex-Tiger righthander posted a 9-1 mound record, hurled three complete games and one shutout in 93⅓ innings, and had a 3.86 ERA.

Seibert was a .286 hitter at Midland with 86 runs scored and 33 RBI. He stole 22 bases in 30 attempts, and played 90 games at second base, as well as six each at short and third.

The quartet of signees from Wilhelm's '77 team was Dave Caldwell (Baltimore Orioles), Bill Foley (Milwaukee Brewers), Ron Musselman (Seattle Mariners), and Bill Wingo (Atlanta Braves).

Caldwell hit .284 in Charlotte in 33 games before breaking his arm in an automobile accident, and Foley hit the same figure in Newark's New York-Penn League with 42 RBI and 13 homeruns.

Musselman helped Bellingham, Wash., win the Northwest League championship with a 4-4 mound record, four complete games, 67 strikeouts in 70 innings, and a 4.63 ERA.

Wingo played in but 24 games for Greenwood's Braves and had a .135 batting average.

The faster it spins, the more you spend.

The purpose of that rotating disk on your electric meter is to measure the amount of power being used.
The more you're using, the faster it goes. And the higher your monthly bill will be.
Keep that in mind. And use electricity wisely.
Because whenever you waste power, you waste money.

"Clemson's my team — they always have been. I've been following Clemson since I can remember," says Aline Crews, a varsity cheerleader in her fourth and final season of revving up the thunderous crowd support that has made Death Valley both famous and fearsome. "I just had to be a part of the action. If they would suit me up I would go out there with the best of them. Being a cheerleader is the closest I can get to being directly involved."

School spirit like Aline's — the desire to be something more than a passive observer — isn't just a passing thing at Clemson. The famous Clemson spirit often begins before entering college and it lasts a lifetime. It's an important part of all activities at the University, but it is perhaps nowhere more evident than at sports events. Dedicated Clemson fans literally bring Memorial Stadium to life on football weekends, and a large measure of credit for this magic has to go to the 15-member varsity cheerleading squad. With cheering routines and acrobatics every bit as complex and well-practiced as the most exacting football play, these students are charged with stoking the fires of tradition of the rousing Tiger spirit that characterizes Clemson teams and the typical Clemson fan.

Heading this year's squad is George Langstaff, a senior mechanical engineering major from Kingsport, Tenn. The leadership George has given the squad is only one of the reasons Clemson cheerleaders were named one of the best squads in the nation at the National Cheerleaders Association camp this summer. While at camp the squad showed folks what Clemson spirit is all about by collecting three blue ribbons for excellence and one red ribbon for superior performance. And to cap it all off, they also returned home with the "spirit stick" — an extremely high honor given only to those who displayed the most outstanding spirit every day during the week-long camp.

Four cheerleaders on the squad were selected as counselors for their precision, motions, technique and ability to execute a cheer and stunt after seeing it for the first time. Alice Gorena, Joey Erwin, Randy Addison and Fulton Breen were all asked to participate in next year's camp as instructors. All of these accomplishments were achieved only through hours of hard work, numerous bumps and bruises from falls, and serious personal dedication by the cheerleaders. And their efforts pay off when they get those Saturday crowds on their feet and producing a roar that can be heard across the state line.

Terry Hall, whom you'll see firing the cannon today when the Tigers score, says: "The team can't win without the support of the crowd, because without that they have no one to play and fight for other than themselves." Clemson's cheerleaders are terrifically energetic, necessary and hard working contributors to the Clemson games. As Aline Crews puts it, they are indeed "a part of the action!"

Your business is production — and you're good at it. Yeargin is in the contract maintenance business — and we're good at it. That's why you profit by choosing Yeargin to be your partner in controlling maintenance costs — and getting the job done on time.

Our work ranges across many industries and processes — a strong factor as we organize your maintenance program. Together we will custom-tailor a contract maintenance program to your specific needs — and you can assign all or a part of your maintenance responsibility to Yeargin.

By choosing Yeargin for contract maintenance, you will profit from our thoroughly trained and experienced specialists in all the phases of facility maintenance — from routine preventive maintenance and repairs — to capital improvements.

Whether it's 1, 100, or 1,000 craftsmen you need, call on Yeargin. We have the P-R-I-D-E and experience in textiles, synthetic fibers, chemicals, metal fabrication, power generation, pulp & paper, pharmaceuticals, petro-chemical, steel, foundries, heavy assembly, machine tools, tire & rubber, glass, food processing, plastics, film, nuclear products, furniture, pollution control, and other industry installations to do your job well.

When you think maintenance, think Yeargin — and call us for a discussion of services available under contract.
