Shorty Schilletter to Captain Team of 1914

Clemson Loses Last Game to Tech

With the Georgia team playing classiest game of the season, the Clemson Tigers went down in defeat on "Turkey Day" at "Tech Flats." Do not think for a moment that the men representing us in Atlanta did not play a hard game, for they did. Every man played as if his life depended upon the result, and they tried their hardest to bring glory to Clemson. Apart from the score they did; for, from start to finish they scrapped as only Tigers can. The only trouble lay in the fact that they could not get together, on the other hand, Heisman's aggregation worked like a wonderful machine, stocked with trick plays and beautiful end runs.

Clemson received a severe blow at the first. Captain Cook, of Tech, won the toss and elected to kick off. Clemson received the kick and brought the ball back eighteen yards. On the next play Tech captured the oval on a fumble. This made it Tech's ball in Clemson's territory. Tech hit our line three times for gains of two, one, and one yards, respectively; making a total of four yards in three trials. Prospects brightened for Clemson, but on the next play Tech executed a beautiful trick play, boxing our end, (Continued on Page Five.)

Shorty Schilletter

It was with a great deal of delight that those who attended the mass meeting just before Thanksgiving, heard "Shorty" Schilletter express his intention of returning to Clemson next year. And as a result there was not much surprise expressed at the action of the team of 1913 in electing him to lead the fortunes of the team of 1914.

All of us who know "Shorty" for the jolly good fellow that he is, and of his three years hard consistent work on varsity, and of his and "Big Shorty's" love for the college and athletics especially, can appreciate his return to us and congratulate ourselves and the college upon having him captain for next year. With "Shorty" at the helm and Coach Williams and Major back, we would have a right to expect great things next year without going deeper into the subject. But with Gandy, Webb, Logan, Caugh-man and James mentioned in All-Southern line-ups, and all of these men except Gandy coming back—we can forget our defeat of Thanksgiving day and be confident that the outlook of the future for Clemson is a bright one—and that we shall have more than one All-Southern man next year.

Clemson Has All-Southern Star

The 1913 football season is a thing of the past and now serves us all as food for either pleasant or bitter recollection. All-Southern teams, galore, are being given out by prominent southern coaches, and even "The Tiger" with the assistance of such great men as Donohue and Heisman would like to present one to its readers.

But, being Tigers, we just can't see any other teams work with any great degree of appreciation, so possibly we had better just depend largely on our able assistants' judgment.

After having seen the Auburn three center men play and having followed in the papers that team through a series of glorious victories to the S. I. A. A. championship, without reading ever, that their opponents made consecutive gains through the line, we can't help but agree with Coach Donohue when he gives Pitts, at center, and Thigpen and Lockwood at guards, first choice for All-Southern.

At the tackle position, we have a choice who, even though our assistants had thought differently, would have gotten the vote of every one of our readers—that man is "Shorty" Schilletter. "Shorty" has finished his third (Continued on Page Five.)
FURMAN SWAMPS “C” TEAM.

“C” Team journeyed over to Greenville Thanksgiving morning with high hopes of winning the last game of the season, and on the kick-off at 3:45 p.m., they romped down the field with a great deal of confidence. In about five minutes when Furman had marched down the field some considerable distance and had executed a beautiful forward pass for a touch-down, things didn’t look so bright, at least for the supporters on the sidelines. The Tigers never stopped fighting, but throughout the game there appeared that lack of team play, which was to have been expected when it was known that the team as a unit had never played together before. Several times the Tigers began a march down the field only to be held for downs before they were in striking distance of Furman’s goal. Kicking was resorted to frequently during the first part of the game and in most instances Furman excelled.

DuRant was the most consistent gainer for the Tigers. Reeves made a few pretty runs, but was usually cut down before he could get started.

For Furman, Mobley was the shining star, repeatedly plowing through the Clemson line for good gains. In fact, the whole team played a good game, their interference being exceptionally fine, and the ends covering punts in fine style.

Two of the six touch-downs were the result of intercepted forward passes and one the result of a recovered punt within 5 yards of “C” team’s goal.

Furman’s strength was somewhat surprising and the final score 40 to 0, was certainly not expected.

CALHOUN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Calhoun society held its regular meeting in the society hall last Friday night.

The society was called to order at 7:30 by the president, Mr. W. B. Wilkinson. Prayer was offered by the chaplain, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. The regular program was then taken up.

The first declamer, Mr. McIntosh, recited an interesting poem. The second declamer, S. A. Wilkinson, a new man in the society, gave us a surprisingly good and well delivered declamation. The orator was absent and the essayist was excused on account of his misunderstanding of the program.

The regular debate then began. The subject being: Resolved, That the present system of having school on Saturday is preferable to the old system. The affirmative was supported by Messrs. Campbell, Walker, and Medlock; the negative by Messrs. Thornton, Sloan, and Folger. The subject was well discussed by both sides. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative, and the house in favor of the negative.

The first extemporaneous speaker, Mr. Dunlap, gave an interesting talk on promptness. The second extemporaneous speaker, Mr. Moore, gave a good talk on “Force of Habit.”

A committee was appointed by the president to procure the congressional records which Prof. Furman presented to the society, and to arrange a place for these records to be kept.

The society was then adjourned by the president until the following Friday.

THE COLUMBIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The Columbia Literary Society held its regular meeting last Friday night.

The exercises were opened with an oration by Mr. E. M. Byrd.

The declaimers being absent, the president called on Mr. J. N. McBride and Mr. D. D. Tinsley to make extemporaneous talks and both responded. Mr. McBride appealed to the members of the society in behalf of the Chronicle, which he said was lacking in short stories and essays that the students could supply if they only would. Mr. Tinsley spoke on the subject brought up in debate.

The reader, Mr. J. T. Loadholt read to the society a good selection. The debate was then taken up, Query: Resolved; That, Sunday base ball should be universally prohibited. The affirmative was upheld by Messrs. C. W. Baker and H. H. Willis, while the negative was supported by Messrs. J. F. Harrison and W. E. Blake. The judges decided in favor of the negative and the house did also.

The following volunteered for the preliminary declaimer’s contest: Messrs. J. Miley; G. M. Armstrong, G. R. Briggs, F. L. Bunker, T. M. Ferguson, H. H. Willis, W. E. Blake, and C. G. Harris. This contest will be held in the society hall at the first meeting after Christmas.

THE PALMETTO LITERARY SOCIETY

The Palmetto Literary Society held its regular weekly meeting on Nov. 28.

The exercises were opened by a debate: Query: Resolved, “That the good that Clemson cadets derive from the fair trip is greater than the evil.”

The affirmative was ably supported by Messrs. H. E. Gaines, H. H. Dukes, and T. E. Goodman, while the negative was defended by Messrs. S. C. Striblin, J. W. Sanders, and V. P. Corbett. The judges, Messrs. Murray, Hoffman, and Usher rendered their decision in favor of the negative.

Mr. H. D. Barker rendered a well chosen and excellently prepared oration on “Force of Habits.”

Mr. F. W. Atkinson then read the society a very instructive essay on “Corn.”

As there was no further business the society adjourned.

WELL, WE BUSTED

And the scrubs got beat even worse—we almost wonder what reasons we had for expressing our thanks on Thursday, Nov. 27. One of them may have been that our maxim, “Beat Tech or Bust” was meant to be taken literally only.

With almost the entire team off-color—the laurels go to “Hop” Gandy and “Jo” Parker. These two men, playing in their last games for Clemson played the best ball of their careers.

We can’t explain it—everybody unites in saying that its one of the best teams that Clemson ever boasted of—and yet we get the worst beating that Tech ever put over on us.

In both the games at Atlanta and at Furman, Clemson started badly by fumbling.

There’s one consolation—if only one—and that is that Clemson men showed that kind of college spirit that will make Clemson come to the front some day.

It was the opinion of those in the grand stand at Atlanta that the Clemson rooting was superior in both volume and quality to that of Tech—even with Clemson losing.

The handful of men who were at Greenville out rooted Furman with the scrubs getting beat 40 to 0.

Fellows this kind of spirit will tell—its a victory in itself—so lets forget the loss of our Thanksgiving games and look forward to the future.

The next man that says, “We’ll look at these scores, compare ‘em,” Just soak him one. Foot ball dope has received nothing but set backs the whole year. For instance, there’s the Army-Navy game, Carlisle-Pittsburgh, Porters, Citadel, Vanderbilt-Sewanee, Clemson-Tech. But! what’s the use?

Beginning this week every man should get busy on his studies. We have a period of athletic rest from now until Christmas and no matter how far we may be behind on our term’s work, good hard earnest application will put us in shape for exams.

LOCALS

On Friday evening Miss Anne Porcher entertained at cards in honor of Miss Cleveland, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. McColl. Miss Cleveland was awarded the prize, having made the highest score. Those invited were Misses Bradford, Cleveland, Martin, Messrs. Aull, Pearce, Keitt, and Martin.

On Saturday afternoon Miss Helen Bradford entertained the Bridge Club.

Mrs. H. W. Barre has issued invitations to a bridge party on Friday evening and also to one on Saturday Afternoon.

Among those on the campus spending Thanksgiving in Atlanta were: Dr. and Mrs. Calhoun, Mr. and Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Williams, Dr. Riggs, Prof. Routen, Col. Cummins, Misses Sloans, Murray, Cleveland, Crowther; Messrs. Seal, Morrison and Crother.

WHAT OTHERS ARE DOING AND SAYING

Band Men at Tech May Receive “T.”

The student body at Tech are agitating the question of giving the college letter to the members of the band, as in athletics. The band has been put on the same basis as the athletic teams, and its members must have an equally high class standing. The question seems to be; does the band man sacrifice enough to his college to deserve the college letter. The Technique thinks that he does, and favors rewarding the men in this way.

1914 Foot Ball Captains

Robinson of Auburn, Paddock of Georgia, and McCollum of Sewanee have been chosen as captains of their respective teams for 1914. These have all been stars the past season and will be heard from next fall.

Vanderbilt receives Million Dollar Gift

Vanderbilt University has recently received a gift of a million dollars from Carnegie. This money is to be used entirely for the benefit of the medical department. Plans are under way for the upbuilding of one of the greatest medical schools in the entire country. A new chair, pathology, has been added to the department.

The authorities at Cornell are having trouble with Greek letter fraternities. Many prominent students failed to come back this year because the fraternities were not recognized. Among these were several foot ball players.

“College spirit does not consist in betting your last dollar on your team. The man who gets on the side lines and yells himself speechless when he has no money up on the outcome, has infinitely more college spirit than he who does the same and has money up. The former is nerved entirely by an unselfish love for his school, while the latter is yelling for his money far more than for his team.”—The Florida Alligator.
and making a gain of eighteen yards. Cook took the ball over for the first touch-down. Goal was kicked.

Not-withstanding this the Tigers kept on fighting, but the tricks played could not be solved in time. A few minutes later Montague, on a double forward pass, crossed the goal line for the second touch-down, the goal again being kicked.

This was enough to take the heart out of the strongest team, but the Tigers never gave up. They kept on fighting. In the second quarter the fight grew stronger. On a series of end runs and forward passes Tech managed to get the ball on Clemson's thirty yard line. From here a forward pass was shot to Montague who took it to Clemson's six yard line. After a failure at Clemson's line Fielder carried the ball around left end for a touchdown. The goal was kicked.

In the second half Webb made two or three beautiful end runs of twenty-five yards. In both of his runs he broke away from numbers of Yellow Jackets. James and Logan came in for their share and made some pretty end runs. The work of the line was splendid, but the fleet-footed Fielder got away for two more touch-downs. In the last part of the fourth quarter Clemson carried the ball to within striking distance of Tech's goal. Twice they carried it over, but were pushed and pulled back. The game ended with the ball to within twenty yards of Tech's six inch line. One of the features of the game was the loyal support rendered by the little band of Clemson supporters that followed the team to Atlanta. Their support is worthy of the highest praise. Not one of them ever gave up. After the game, headed by their band, they marched to the Alumni headquarters, where they gave cheers for the whole team and the best coach in the South, Williams. Thus ended a good season for Clemson and one which has plainly shown that Clemson is well on her way back to the high standard of football of which she is thoroughly capable and once boasted.

ALL-SOUTHERN STAR

year of consistent play on the Tiger team. He was last year recommended for an all-southern guard—and having been shifted to tackle, this year played the type of ball that made him the choice of two of the South's greatest coaches, for this position and the choice of his team mates for captain of the Tiger team of 1914.

When there is a man so good that he is given a place by two different coaches, and his work so much appreciated that he is given a position that he does not play regularly, over those who do, he must be made of all-southern calibre. So to Dutton of L. S. U. goes the other tackle. This man seems to be a model athlete, and we can more fully appreciate him and his strength when we know that he won from Turbeville in the discus and hammer throws at last year's S. I. A. A. meet.

At the ends, the consensus of opinion seems to point toward E. Brown of Vanderbilt and Robison of Auburn; so there seems to be no need of any great amount of discussion.

In the picking of men for the backfield positions, though we follow closely in the steps of the high moguls, we can't help but think of the great good these men have done their colleges and universities in other branches of sport.

First we give the position of quarter to Paddock of the University of Georgia, as most, seem to want to do. This man's work has been a feature of all the games that Georgia has participated in—and he seems to be well on the way toward making one of the South's greatest backs.

At full back we have a galaxy of stars, but to us one seems to stand out in front of the others and to scintillate with a bright glowing radiance. A closer investigation shows this star to be the head of one "Red" Harris of Auburn. Though frail of body as compared to some of those great full backs from whom he has been chosen, anyone who has followed Auburn at all closely can testify to the frequency with which he has read "Harris goes, six, eight, ten yards through the line." of Auburn's opponent. Allow us to say in passing that "Red" is one of the best college outfielders in the South, and that his value to Auburn, who has had rather more than her share of such men, can hardly be estimated.

Next and last we come to the half backs. Here again, though our choice may not agree with that of many, we feel that we just couldn't offer any other. This college year, the South loses two of its greatest athletic stars. Both of these men have been of incalculable value to their colleges—they have been on both foot ball and base ball All-southern teams before—they have never been known to quit they have been marked for their quiet gentlemanly behavior on the playing field in both victory and defeat—and their names will always be treasured in the annals of their alma maters, and the feats of stars to be will be compared with theirs, and we fear found wanting. These men are "Kirk" Newell of Auburn and "Bob" McWhorter of Georgia.

We have not thought it necessary to bring in the names of the many other likely contestants for each position, both on account of the fact that most of us have read other write-ups of their work—and on account of space. The privilege of making up All-southern teams is not monopolized by any certain group of people. So if you don't happen to like this pick, just sit down and make yourself out one.

WOFFORD TO HAVE INTER-COLLEGIATE FOOTBALL

After having presented to the trustees of the colleges as has been their custom for the last few years, a petition asking that Varsity football be reinstated at Wofford, the students are now celebrating over its having been granted to them.

Wofford has not had any other than class football since 1901, but up until that time she had out a varsity team that always ranked with the best in the State. The students are apparently great lovers of the game, as is evidenced by the large numbers in attendance at the Clemson-Carolina game each year at the fair and the spirited manner in which they back their class teams.

Upon Wofford's entering the game, the number of colleges playing football in the State is increased to eight, the others being Newberry, Clinton, Furman Clemson, Charleston, Citadel and U. of S. C. B. M. I. also gets out a varsity team, and with all these colleges represented the football standard of South Carolina is obliged to become rapidly higher. Congratulations to Wofford—may she get out a good team for the season of 1914.

LYCEUM ATTRACTION.

The entertainment given in chapel Saturday evening by "The Schumann Quintette" was by far the best of its kind that has been at Clemson this year.

Every member of this company was a gifted musician, as was shown by the class of music they played, and the effective manner in which they rendered it.

Classical music is usually appreciated very little by most people, but this was a notable exception, for the large audience was held almost spellbound from beginning to end.

It is a rare opportunity that we have of hearing such music as this, and the members of the Lyceum committee should be congratulated in having such a company of musicians come to Clemson.
