111 Tiger Baseball
Clemson moves into a new era this year as Jack Leggett replaces Bill Wilhelm as head coach of the Tigers. Wilhelm served the Tigers with unparalleled distinction for 36 years. Leggett has experience as a Division I head coach, as he took Western Carolina to the NCAA Tournament many times. He will welcome back an outstanding nucleus from last year's ACC Championship team.

112 Billy O'Dell
Billy O'Dell was an original member of the Clemson athletic Hall of Fame. He was a standout hurler on Clemson's first ACC Championship baseball team in 1954. Just four years later he was the MVP of the Major League All-Star Game in Baltimore as a member of the home team. Bob Bradley reviews the accomplishments of the man featured on today's ticket.

Final Home Game for Tiger Seniors

This will be the final home game for Clemson's 25 seniors. This group has competed with distinction in Death Valley over the last four years. This senior group has a 21-3-1 record at home over the last four years, an 86% winning percentage. One more win will give the group 22 home wins in four years, the second highest total for a class in Clemson history. Only the senior group of 1990 has more wins in Death Valley. As that group had a 23-3 record in four years at home.

In terms of winning percentage, this group is sixth best in Clemson history as far as home games are concerned. Given a minimum of 15 home games in a four-year period, the seniors of 1981 (William Perry, Mike Eppley, etc.) were 22-1-2 at home in four years, a 92 percent mark. The 1991 seniors won 88 percent, while the 1983 seniors won 89 percent of their home games.

The 1993 seniors have had a pair of top-20 seasons, won a bowl game, won an ACC championship, gained six wins over ranked teams and won a total of 30 games. If Clemson can defeat Virginia it would give the class seven wins over ranked teams, which would tie for sixth best in Clemson history.

The class includes the school's all-time leading pass receiver. Terry Smith, and number-three-ranked quarterback-back-sack man in school history in Brentson Buckner. Stacy Seegers ranks as one of Clemson's all-time line men with 197 knockdown blocks and a second-team AP All-America selection in 1992. The group also has a 2,000-yard rusher in Rodney Blunt. This is the first Clemson class to have both a 2,000-yard rusher and 2,000-yard receiver.

This year's seniors include: Nick Bimsky, C, Straughters, OH; Rodney Blunt, RB, Pensacola, FL; Brentson Buckner, DT, Columbus, GA; Greg Burk, OG, Lawton, OK; Darren Calhoun, LB, McCormick, SC; Jason Davis, WR, Pensacola, FL; Steve Densho, TE, Huntsville, AL; Andre Hewitt, OT, Dayton, OH; Greg Hood, RB, Anderson, SC; Brent LeJeune, OT, Lake Charles, LA; Todd Locarco, DE, Summerville, SC; Chris Lovelace, OT, Apex, NC.

Virginia Update

Virginia enters the game with Clemson with a 7-2 record, including 5-2 in the ACC. The Cavs are coming off a 21-9 win over Wake Forest, a game in which Virginia used a balanced offense to defeat the Demon Deacons for the 10th straight year. Jerod Washington gained 119 yards and two touchdowns in the second half and had 148 for the game to pace Virginia. The Cavs had 241 yards rushing and 218 passing. Symon Willis is the top rated passer in the ACC, but he did throw four interceptions in Virginia's first seven possessions of the game, allowing the Deacons to take a 9-7 lead at halftime.

Washington is the team leader in rushing for the sea son with 644 yards and a 5.3 yards per rush average. Charles Way is the top touchdown scorer with seven and he has contributed 449 yards on the ground. Kevin Brooks is the second leading rusher with 518 yards and six TDs. The Cavs are averaging 211 yards per game on the ground and 226 in the air, the most balanced off ense in the ACC this side of Florida State.

Willis has completed 63.5 percent of his passes for over 2,000 yards and 17 scores. He has been sacked only seven times all season. His favorite receiver is Patrick Jefferis, a wide out who has 32 catches for 580 yards and six scores. Larry Holmes has 24 catches, while tight end Aaron Mundy has 20 catches for 303 yards. Mundy is ranked among the top 10 tight ends in ACC history in terms of receptions and reception yards.

The defense is led by Mike Frederick, a defensive end who has 57 total tackles; 14 are for loss and seven are sacks. Randy Neal is the top tackler with 102 stops. The linebacker also has seven passes broken up.

Clemson with Only 10 Turnovers in 9 Games

One of the most successful statistics for the Clemson offense has been the turnover area. Clemson ranks in the top 10 in the nation in turnover margin with just 10 turnovers committed and 20 turnovers forced. The offense has actually committed just nine turnovers in nine games, as a Clemson punt return man lost a fumble early in the season.

The Clemson record for the fewest turnovers per game over the course of the season is six, set in 1940 when the Tigers had just eight turnovers in nine games. The 1989 Tigers had just 13 turnovers in 12 games, an average of 1.08 turnovers per game. The 1938 Clemson team had just 10 turnovers in nine games, an average of 1.11 per game, the same figure as this year's team. So, this Clemson team is on a pace to have the third fewest turnovers per game in Clemson history.

The Tigers have now gone four straight games without a lost fumble. A Patrick Samp interception at North Carolina last week is the only turnover since October 16. Clemson went 18 straight games without a turnover at one stretch and Clemson running backs have just four lost fumbles this year. Derrick Witherspoon, the team's top rusher, has not had a lost fumble this year. Clemson has had just one turnover since going to the Flexbone offense.

Rouse Ties Clemson Record

Warrell Rouse recorded three quarterback sacks and four total tackles behind the line of scrimmage in Clem son's shutout of Maryland. The Terps had the number two passing team in the nation entering the game and Clemson kept Maryland out of the endzone. That off ense had 20 points and 450 yards against Florida State last week. Rouse had nine tackles overall and three sacks against Maryland.

Rouse tied the Clemson record for sacks in a game in the Maryland win. It was the seventh time a Clemson player had recorded three sacks in a game, but Rouse became the first lineman to do it. The other Tigers who have had three sacks in a game are Michael Dean Perry (twice), Jon Stuckey, Steve Durham, Chester McClodgton and current teammate Brenton Buckner.

Clemson had seven sacks for 27 yards as a team against Maryland. It was the 13th time in Clemson history that the Tigers had at least seven sacks as a team in a single game. Rouse now has 52 tackles for the season, fifth best on the Clemson team. He is second on the club in tackles for loss with eight.

Witherspoon Leading Rusher

Clemson running back Derrick Witherspoon had a career high 172 yards rushing and 193 yards in all-purpose running in the victory over Maryland. It was the top running game for a Clemson back since Ronald Williams ran for 185 yards against Virginia in 1991, and the top single-game performance by an ACC running back this year.

Witherspoon scored two touchdowns for the first time in his career. one on an 89-yard run. The 89-yard run was the longest run from scrimmage in the 52-year history of Death Valley. The fourth quarter touchdown also tied for the third-longest run in Clemson history.

Witherspoon had an 81-yard run as a freshman against Appalachian State in 1990 and that still ranks in the tie for the eighth longest run in Clemson history. With erspoon is the only player in Clemson history with two runs of 80 yards or more. He now has 467 yards in 91 attempts this year, a 5.1 average.

Clemson's 1993 seniors are looking for their 22nd win in Death Valley. The record is 23, held by the 1990 seniors.
Humphrey Leads Secondary
Sophomore cornerback Andre Humphrey leads all Tiger DBs in tackles this season with 58, the thirdewest total on the defense. Humphrey also ranks in a tie for first on the club and is the top five in the All-passes broken up with seven. Humphrey leads the squad in kickoff returns with 23 for a 23-yard average and he ranks second in the league in punt returns with a 12-yard average. The Wilmington, NC, native had a good all-around game in the win over Maryland. While in for the 70 plays from scrimmage, he tallied nine tackles, turned two punts, had a 31-yard kickoff return, and intercepted the first pass of his career, returning it 39 yards to set up a Clemson score. He had 100 yards in all at-purpose running of Carolina.

Jones Leads Tigers in Tackles
Junior linebacker Tim Jones continues to have an all-star campaign in 1993, leading the Tigers with 76 tackles for the season. Jones was the leading tackler in the win over Maryland with 12, and has now led the team in tackles in three games this season and seven games in the last two years. The Rock Hill, SC, native was also the team's leading tackler in 1992 with 89 stops and now has 187 for his career. He has averaged 8.5 tackles per game over the last two years.

Clemson-Virginia Series
Clemson holds a 30-1-1 record in the all-time series with Virginia dating back to Bob Dobie's 20-7 win in 1952.

Clemson won the first 29 games of the series before the Cavaliers downed Clemson 20-7 at Virginia in 1990. That Clemson team won on the seventh straight game and in the top 10 in the nation. The two have a 1-1-1 record against each other the last three seasons.

The teams played each other in the last meeting before the two teams in Death Valley, and Clemson won last year 29-28, so the last two meetings have been about as close as they can get. Virginia has never beaten Clemson in Death Valley and obviously the closest they have come took place in 1991 when the two teams played to a tie.

Last Year: Clemson 29, Virginia 28
Clemson recorded its greatest come-from-behind vic-ty in history in last year's win over the Cavaliers. Virginia took a 20-lead in the first 28 minutes behind four touchdown passes by Bobby Goodman. But, led by quarterback Louis Scott, Clemson scored the last 29 points of the game to record the victory.

Solomon got the comeback started with a 64-yard touchdown run just 1:53 before halftime. The Tigers scored two more TDs in the third period, one on a one-yard run by Rudy Harris and one on a 53-yard run by Rodney Bunt. Harris came back with a 27-yard run to cut Clemson's lead to 7-2 early in the fourth quarter.

Wayne搞好 the 32-

The comeback was the greatest in Clemson history and was just three points off the national record, held by Maryland against Miami in 1984. Virginia entered the game ranked 10th in the nation and it was just the third road win in a top 10 team in Clemson history. Clemson scored 402 yards rushing as Bunt and Solomon both went over 100 yards and Harris picked up 6. Terry

Kirby, now with the Miami Dolphins, led the Cavaliers with 132 yards.

Death Valley to Play Host to NFL
Clemson will play host to the Carolina Panthers for the 1995 football season. The Panthers were awarded an expansion franchise on October 26. Earlier this year Jerry Richardson, the owner of the Panthers, announced plans to construct a new stadium in Charlotte that could play its home games at Memorial Stadium in in 1995 and that could play its home games at Memorial Stadium in in 1995.

Clemson is the 10th on-campus college facility that will be used as the home for an NFL or AFL franchise over the course of a season. Here is a list (alphabetically by franchise) of on-campus facilities that have been used by professional franchises.

1993 Tiger Football
Last year, ARA served thousands of meals to people away from home. College students, hospital staffs, industrial personnel. Why, right here in Clemson, ARA serves over 15,000 breakfasts, lunches and dinners to students, parents and faculty daily.

But you may not know our full story. ARA chooses only the freshest and most wholesome ingredients. Bright, crisp vegetables. Ripe, firm fruits. The choicest meats and dairy products. Ingredients that are chopped, steamed, broiled, baked and blended into luscious menus. For banquets or birthdays. Cocktail parties or tailgate feasts. In your home or in one of our private dining rooms in the Clemson House. No matter what your special occasion, ARA can fill the bill of fare.

So the next time your calendar is marked with a red letter day... call ARA for that special service.

By now the entire world (including Perry Tuttle) knows Terry Smith became Clemson's career pass-reception leader last Saturday in Chapel Hill. While everyone has been following his statistics this year in his pursuit of that splendid record, it was a mature decision made four years ago that has allowed him to reach this landmark accomplishment today.

"Just before the 1989 season began Coach (Danny) Ford told me I was good enough to play as a first-year freshman," said Smith. "I had come to Clemson in the summer to take some courses and work in the weight room. So, by the time August practice started I was as ready as I could be.

"Coach Ford said I would play in most of the games, but he could not say how much or how many passes I would catch because there were some veteran receivers returning. So, I decided to redshirt the season. When he told me I was good enough to play at this level, that was enough for me. That gave me the confidence I needed."

That decision in 1989 was a tipoff that Terry Smith would be something special. Nine out of 10 athletes never want to redshirt because the thought of just going to practice every day with no games to look forward to at the end of the week is a bleak existence to most rookies who were superstars in high school. Smith was a high school All-American at Clemson Daniel, but he was smart enough to know that a year on the scout team would pay off in the long run.

"I knew the scout team would go against the first-team in practice all the time. I figured I would get better by going up against the first-team defensive backs than I would facing the second and third team. Getting used to Dexter Davis and James Lott instead of some substitute covering me would train me for the future."

Smith has proven to be a prophet. Instead of playing just a few snaps a game as a first-year freshman in 1989 behind Gary Cooper and Rodney Fletcher, he moved his freshman year to 1990 and caught 34 passes for 480 yards, a record for a Tiger freshman in both categories. Trading out a 10-reception season for a 34-reception season has him at 153 receptions heading into today's game with Virginia and knocking at the front door of Perry Tuttle's reception yardage record.

Even though Smith received confidence from his pre-season performance in 1989, he still had to do it on the field. The turning point of his Clemson career came in Memorial Stadium, but not the one in Clemson. In the third game of the 1990 season, Smith set a Clemson freshman receiving record in an 18-17 victory over Maryland in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium. He had nine catches that day for 84 yards and his possession receiving was a key in Clemson's victory.

"I remember walking off the field with Doug Thomas after that game," said Smith, who will be making his 41st start as a Tiger this afternoon, an all-time Clemson record for a receiver. "A reporter came up to us and said 'Well there is the best receiving tandem in the ACC.' That made me feel like I had made it, that I could play at this level.

"When I first decided to come to Clemson a lot of people said I would be a bench warmer. Football players from Daniel had not been very successful playing for Clemson (a tradition that has since changed because Daniel is now one of the top programs in the state).

"So when I had that game against Maryland and that sportswriter said that to me after the game it meant a lot." That sportswriter might prove to be a soothsayer as Thomas is currently in the NFL and Smith should join him next season. How many 1990 ACC teams had two future NFL starting wide receivers?

Smith signals his position among Clemson's all-time leading receivers.

Smith's freshman year was successful, but his sophomore year brought his level to another notch. He was an All-ACC performer with 52 receptions for 829 yards. He teamed with DeChane Cameron to become the top passing combination in the ACC. Smith led the league in reception yardage and most importantly showed his big-play capabilities.

"At first I was a possession receiver, I rarely went deep. Doug Thomas was the speed guy in 1990. But, in 1991 I showed I could catch the deep pass. The 1991 season was very satisfying because we won the ACC Championship. That was one of my goals when I came to Clemson, to get a championship ring."

Another game, against Maryland, proved memorable for Smith, this time it was in Clemson Memorial Stadium. "I would have to say that the 1991 Maryland game is the most memorable for me because it clinched the ACC championship and because I felt I made a contribution. The offense was really moving at the end of that season and it was just a fun day in Death Valley. Clemson defeated the Terps to clinch at least a tie for the title, as Smith had four receptions for a season high 120 yards and a touchdown. Of course if he breaks the yardage record today, that might jump ahead of that Maryland game.

The 1991 season was also significant for Smith because it was the year Sports Illustrated gave him some, at the time, surprising national recognition. In a November issue it listed the top NFL draft prospects and the list included underclassmen who would be eligible for the 1992 draft. Smith's name was among first-round choices.

"At the time there was a senior receiver from Penn State named Terry Smith and there was some thought that they made a mistake because I was only a sophomore at the time. But they meant me. It gave me confidence, but I knew I was not ready to go pro." As you can see, mature, well-thought-out decisions are a recurring theme with any story on Terry Smith.

Smith decided to put the pros on hold and come back for the 1992 season. He again had a banner year with 38 receptions for nearly 600 yards. He had another great game against Maryland with nine catches for 126 yards, but this time the Tigers were defeated. Once again the decision to turn pro was something Smith had to face.

"I decided to come back for two reasons. First, I wanted to get my degree, that is very important. No one in my family has gotten a college degree and that is something I will achieve in December. You can play pro football for a few years, but you will use the degree for the rest of your life. Pro football is something that you do and is a way to make a living, but a college degree really means something.

"Secondly, I did not want to leave Clemson after a losing season. I have been around Clemson football for a long time and I want to bring the program back to where it should be."

While Smith discussed his pro option with many people, his parents certainly had the biggest input. They have been following his career since he was a kid. His father, Terry Smith, Sr., was a former star high school quarterback at Easley High, the first black quarterback in the school's history.

"My parents certainly wanted me to stay at Clemson and get the degree. It has been the big priority with them all along. They always told me that should be my first priority and not to let anything get in the way because that degree would last a lifetime.

"My father is probably my biggest critic, but he is constructive. He is also my biggest fan. He has always told me to keep the same drive I had when I first came to Clemson, the drive to reach the first team. If you keep that same attitude you continue to improve. He has also taught me never to take anything for granted, don't let anything slip away."

Smith's credit hours and receiving totals have continued to rise in this his senior year. He has 22 receptions for 569 yards and his 20-yard average leads the ACC. Only three players in Clemson history have had at least 20 receptions and over a 20-yard average in a season and no one has done it with over 30 catches. (The others are Glenn Smith, who had a 22.6 average on 22 receptions in 1950, and Craig Brantley, who had a 21.6 average for 22 receptions in 1975.) He has risen to the top 10 in ACC history in both receptions and yardage and today finds himself at the edge of the career reception yardage mark in his final home game.

"This is a special day for Terry Smith," said Head Coach Ken Hatfield. "To grow up in Clemson and have so many of his close friends and relatives see him play his entire career here is something few college football players can experience at this level. Now it is his final home game and to set the Clemson yardage record in his final home game would certainly be special.

"Terry Smith is a perfect example of everything you want in a college football player. He is going to get his degree in December, he has been so successful on the field, and he takes coaching so well. He has been a joy to have at Clemson.

Despite being double-teamed for four years, Smith has racked up some outstanding numbers.

"He will move on to the NFL, there is no doubt. He is one of the top receivers in the country. He has everything it takes, leaping ability, size, deceptive speed and he is aggressive. He goes after the ball, he doesn't wait for it to come to him. He has made so many big catches, whether it be on the long pass or a five-yard out play that he has turned into a big gain."

Another individual who feels Smith will move on to a spot in the NFL next year is the man who could see his yardage record go by the boards today. Perry Tuttle played in the NFL and Canada after an All-America career at Clemson that culminated with his touchdown reception against Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, a key play in Clemson's drive to the National Championship.

"Terry fits in with what the pro scouts are looking for in receivers in the 1990s. He is big and strong, can take the punishment over the middle, yet has the speed and ability to make a long play out of a short pass. He also has the ability to do other things like punt returns and kickoff returns. The receiver of the 1990s is going to have to be an all-purpose, tough player."

"When I was coming out in 1981 the pro scouts were looking for the sleek wide receivers who could fly down the sideline. Today you almost have to be part tight end in addition to having the speed."

"The other thing I have observed about Terry is his ability to be coached. He takes coaching well, you don't have to tell him something five times. Pro scouts see that and it is important to them because the systems are different and more complicated in pro football."

Tuttle also had some comments about Smith eclipsing his mark. "Since I am back in Clemson the record is on my mind a little more than if I was in another state. It is also different because I know Terry Smith. He is an outstanding young man and he deserves it. I will be at the Virginia game, it is going to be a special weekend for me anyway because Homer (Jordan) is going into the Hall of Fame. If Terry gets the yardage record I will shake his hand, present him the ball, whatever. Looking back, I wish Jerry Butler could have been here that day in 1981 when I broke his record." Butler was playing for the Buffalo Bills and couldn't attend.

Smith has followed his father's advice and pursued this season with the same fervor he did when he was trying to make the first-team in 1990. But, he did have a smile on his face when the Carolina Panthers were awarded an NFL franchise.

"It would be great to play in Death Valley again, whether it be with the Panthers or with another NFL team," said Smith recently. "This stadium is so special to me. I've been coming here since I was a kid. I was even on the cleanup crew when I was little. To play in an NFL game here would really be something."

Playing in the NFL has certainly been in the back of Smith's mind. It will move to the forefront in January. With his academics behind him come January he will have the luxury of concentrating fully on the next stage of his life. It will be a big adjustment for him, especially considering he has never lived outside of Clemson.

"I am sure I will get homesick at the beginning, but I know I will get through it. I've been here a long time. I still remember waving to the Clemson team as they went by when I was at Morrison Elementary School. Now I am on the bus looking back at those kids."

"There comes a time when you have to move on. It would be great to play for Carolina and be close to my family, but I just want to go to a team that needs wide receivers. I think I am ready to get away."

We are sure Smith will make that adjustment. After all, he's been making mature decisions for a long time.

Terry Smith has been a Clemson fan since he was a youngster. Here are his top five favorite Clemson players of all-time:

1. Homer Jordan—"I'll never forget watching his performance in the 1982 Orange Bowl."
2. Perry Tuttle—"He played my position and now I am chasing his record."
3. William Perry—"Everyone loved the Fridge."
4. Cliff Austin—"He could glide."
5. Terry Allen—"I never got an appreciation for how tough he was until I practiced with him in 1989."

CLEMSON TIGERS
Clemson University President Max Lennon's ambition is to be president of the nation's top Technologically-oriented land grant university. And he doesn't plan to leave campus to achieve that goal. Because that's the vision Lennon has for Clemson: not to be "one of the best," but to be better at what it does than any other school.

To achieve the vision, Lennon has brought the business world's concepts of total quality management and strategic planning to the academic arena. He hopes these concepts will help reduce bureaucracy, increase involvement of students, faculty and staff in the management of the university, increase diversity, and create an atmosphere of a community of scholars.

"The vision statement that has emerged from the strategic planning process—to become the nation's leading Technologically-oriented land-grant university—sets a challenging course for this institution's development: to become the best in our league," he has said.

It is this commitment to excellence that has enabled Lennon to lead Clemson to new heights during his seven years as president. The Lennon presidency has seen the completion of the most successful campaign in the university's, and the state's, history; unprecedented growth in research, topping $100 million in annual expenditures last year; and an ongoing program of campus revitalization that balances the university's desire for Technological excellence, cultural awareness, and historic preservation.

Lennon came to Clemson from Ohio State University, where he had been president for Agriculture administration and executive dean for agriculture, home economics and natural resources. He also served on the Ohio State Faculty Senate and co-chaired the Governor's Commission on Agriculture.

Previously, he had served as dean of the College of Agriculture at Ohio State, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Missouri, and as associate dean and director of research in the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University.

Lennon is a native of Columbus County, N.C., and earned his bachelor's degree and doctorate from N.C. State University, where he began his teaching career.

The Clemson president has been active in a number of state and national organizations. He is one of 13 university presidents and chancellors appointed to a nationwide committee to study the role of public service at land-grant and other public institutions.

The Outreach Futures Committee, a product of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, is charged with rethinking the concept of Extension-type activities at public colleges and universities.

"The traditional Extension model has been enormously effective at increasing agricultural productivity and rural development in this country, and now we need to modernize traditional programs and to look at harnessing that same type of energy to focus on other community and educational needs, such as health, Natural resource management, and K-12 education," Lennon said. "Clemson is recognized as a national leader in developing a new outreach model through programs in local leadership development, community-based education and creative programming for young people and their families."

In addition to the Outreach committee post, Lennon serves on the organization's Commission on Veterinary Medicine and is a member of the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment's Advisory Council. He is also a member of the Council of Presidents, the S.C. Research Authority Board, the Chamber of Commerce Board, the National Dropout Prevention Fund Board, the Farm Foundation Board, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics and the SACS Executive Council. Other Board appointments include First Union, Delta Woodside and Duke Power.

In 1991, he received the Thomas Green Clemson Medalion, the highest public honor given by the university. Lennon is married to Ruth Carter Lennon. This past year, they joined an elite group of people who can call themselves "Clemson Parents" when both children, Daniel Ray and Robin, received degrees from the university.
Hatfield played on a national championship team in college, served as an assistant coach for five top-20 teams and has been the head coach for seven top-20 clubs.

During his career, Ken Hatfield has shown his ability to win, regardless of the conference, the competition, or the program. He is one of only three active coaches to lead three different programs to top-20 seasons and is the only active Division I coach to gain 10-win seasons at three different schools. He has also ranked among the nation’s elite in terms of overall winning percentage over the last decade, as his .750 winning percentage over the last 10 years ranks sixth among active coaches who have coached at Division I schools in each year of that time frame. His last 10 teams have competed in nine bowl games and he has produced seven top-20 clubs in the last decade.

When Hatfield took over the Clemson program prior to the 1990 season, he was faced with the challenge of continuing the tradition of excellence set in the eighties (only Nebraska and Miami had fewer losses in that time frame than Clemson). Hatfield has met the challenge, posting a 24-10-1 mark for the Tigers in his first three seasons, two top-20 finishes and the 1991 ACC Championship. The 1991 team was the first Tiger team since 1982 to have just one loss in regular season play.

The victory over Illinois in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl made Hatfield the first Clemson coach to win 10 games in his first year and his .833 winning percentage was the best for a first-year Clemson coach since 1900 when John Heisman was 6-0. The 1990 season included six wins over teams with winning records. Only national champion Georgia Tech had more.

Hatfield was just the eighth coach in the last 13 years to take a team to a top-10 AP final ranking in his first year with the program.

But Hatfield’s impressive debut at Clemson was no big surprise to those who have followed his career. He has enjoyed success throughout his involvement with the sport of football, as a player and coach.

As a player, he helped Arkansas face every challenge in 1964, when the Razorbacks had an 11-0 season and won the national title. As an assistant coach at Tennessee and Florida, he molded countless players into top-notch athletes who competed for Southeastern Conference titles, played in seven bowl games in a 10-year period, and ranked in the final top 20 five times. As a head coach, he took a dormant Air Force program to a number-13 national ranking and a pair of bowl wins. He continued to meet the challenges at Arkansas, his alma mater, guiding the Razorbacks to back-to-back Southwest Conference titles, something that had not been done at Arkansas since Hatfield was a player.

Hatfield has had five 10-win seasons in his career and has accomplished that task at three different schools. He is the only active coach and one of just two in the history of the game (Dan Devine is the other) to have taken three different schools to a 10-win season.

Hatfield has an overall record of 105-59-3 (.638), but he has won 75 percent of his games over the last 10 seasons (91-29-2). At Arkansas, he posted a record of 55-17-1 over six seasons, a .780 winning percentage. That percentage is second best in Southwest Conference history as only Darrell Royal (Texas 1957-76) had a better percentage.

The native of Helena, Arkansas, played in two bowl games with the Razorbacks, coached in seven post-season games as an assistant and the 1992 Citrus Bowl marked the 10th in which he has been the head coach. Seven times he has coached a team to a top-20 final ranking in the AP poll, and he played on two other top 15 teams.

Hatfield-coached clubs have excelled offensively and defensively, but they have been particularly successful in rushing offense and defense. Each of his last 11 teams have finished in the top 20 nationally in rushing offense, including eight top-10 finishes. This includes last year’s team, which averaged 257 yards a game and ranked sixth nationally.

Two of his last four Arkansas teams finished in the top three in the country in turnover margin, including his 1988 team that was first in the nation (Clemson was second that same year). Defensively, his clubs have finished in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense six of the last seven years. The Tigers were ranked first in the nation in total defense, second in rushing defense, and second in scoring defense at the end of the 1990 regular season.

Clemson ranked first in the nation in rushing defense and fourth in total defense in the 1991 season.

1993 Tiger Football
Hatfield has coached in four major conferences and with independent schools, giving him a diverse background in the finer points of the game. It is one reason he was named the third best teaching coach in college football by Inside Sports magazine in 1990.

Hatfield began his coaching career immediately after graduation. In the fall of 1965, he served as an assistant coach at Helena-West Helena High School in Arkansas. In 1966, he moved to West Point, where he served as freshman coach for two seasons.

After the two-year stint at Army, he served as an assistant coach at Tennessee for three years (1968-70). The Volunteers went to post-season bowls all three seasons (including two major bowls), won a conference title and ranked in the final top 20 of the AP poll all three seasons, including a number-four ranking in 1970.

In 1971, Hatfield began a seven-year stint at the University of Florida, spending four seasons as a defensive backfield coach and three as an offensive backfield mentor. Florida played in four bowl games during his career in Gainesville and two more Gator teams finished in the AP top 20, including the 1974 team that played Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl.

Hatfield became offensive coordinator at the Air Force Academy under current New England Patriots Head Coach Bill Parcells in 1978. A year later, Parcells was wooed to the New York Giants and Hatfield became the Falcons' head coach. The Air Force program had not had a winning season since 1973. But by his fourth season, Hatfield had an eight-game winner, led Air Force to its first-ever victory over Notre Dame, and had taken the Falcons to a post-season bowl for the first time since 1971.

In 1983, Hatfield was named national Coach-of-the-Year by the Football Coaches Association (Bobby Dodd Award) after leading Air Force to a 10-2 season that included wins over Notre Dame, Navy and a bowl victory over Mississippi. It was the Academy's first-ever win over Notre Dame in South Bend.

The next year, Hatfield succeeded Lou Holtz at Arkansas, where he would take his alma mater to five wins in six seasons, six bowl appearances and four final top-15 rankings. His 1985 club finished with a 10-2 mark and number-12 national ranking, the Razorbacks' first top-20 finish since 1982. Four times the Razorbacks rallied from fourth quarter deficits to gain victories.

The 1986 campaign was another year of success with highlight victories over a nationally ranked Texas A&M club and the Razorbacks' first win in 20 years at Texas. Arkansas advanced to the Orange Bowl and finished 15th in the final AP poll.

Arkansas won the 1988 and 1989 Southwest Conference Championship. He was named Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 1988 as he took the Razorbacks to the league title and a 10-0 start. Miami (FL) defeated Arkansas 18-16 in the Orange Bowl to stop the streak. Seven players off the 1988 club (all recruited by Hatfield) were drafted by the NFL, an Arkansas single draft record.

After the 1989 team's 10-2 ledger and second straight SWC championship, Hatfield was named Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Decade by the Houston Post. Included in the victories was a triumph over a top-15 Houston team and Heisman Trophy winner Andre Ware.

Hatfield played for three years at Arkansas (1962-64) and he was a starter on the National Championship team of 1964. A defensive back by trade, he earned his fame as the nation's top punt returner in 1963 and 1964. He also finished as the runner-up as a sophomore and is still the only college football player to finish in the top two in the nation in punt returns three straight seasons.

An accounting major who earned his diploma in the spring of 1965, Hatfield was an Academic All-American in 1964 and was the recipient of the Swartz Award, presented annually to the top student-athlete at Arkansas. The 1964 All-SWC selection was inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame in 1989. He is married to the former Sandy Wright of Kennett, Missouri.
Eric attends a Homework Center – a place that helps him when Mom and Dad can’t. And when he works especially hard, he can win wonderful prizes – like tickets to a Clemson home game that he might otherwise never get to see.

Hundreds of Homework Centers across the nation focus on keeping struggling students from becoming dropouts. In actuality, they’re doing a lot more than that. Many hardworking students are bringing their grades up from F’s to A’s, and in one South Carolina elementary school expulsions declined from 38 to 4 after the centers opened.

Duke Power is proud to help support such an important and effective program. We invite you to help too. Simply donate football or basketball season tickets you’re unable to use or purchase extra tickets to contribute to the Homework Centers for use as prizes. Send them at least two weeks before game day to: John Geer, Duke Power Company, P.O. Box 1745, Clemson, SC 29633.

If you do, you’ll be helping students like Eric tackle the books today so that tomorrow they can tackle the world.

Here's Your Chance To Make A World Of Difference.

When it comes to the environment, one person can make a difference — and Earth Academy can show you how. Programs on recycling and reducing household hazardous waste are just the beginning of this free public service that more than 70,000 students and adults have already enjoyed. So if you'd like a presentation for your classroom, club or civic group, call your Earth Academy headquarters at 1-800-845-1019.
In 1992-93 Clemson had seven of its athletic teams finish in the Top 20, while three Clemson athletes won four National Championships. Clemson had 24 first, second or third-team All-Americans in 1992-93, just three away from the most in Clemson history.

Clemson teams laid claims to three ACC Championships in 1992-93 with the men’s track program claiming two of those titles and the baseball team taking the third. Ten Clemson teams advanced to postseason play during the 1992-93 academic year and NCAA postseason team bids were received by four teams.

The spring sports enjoyed the most success as three of the four men’s spring sports teams finished in the top 20. Golf finished fourth, men’s outdoor track finished 10th, and baseball finished 16th. The women’s tennis squad posted a number-12 national ranking.

The highest national finish was posted by the men’s indoor track squad as the Tigers finished second for the second straight year. Three of Clemson’s four national championship performances came from the men’s track program and head coach Bob Pollock was named the ACC Coach-of-the-Year for indoor and outdoor track.

The Tiger golf team finished fourth nationally and all five Clemson golfers who competed at NCAA’s were named honorable mention All-American or better. Baseball claimed Clemson’s third ACC Championship of the 1992-93 year and advanced to the NCAA Mid-Atlantic Regional. The wrestling team had its highest finish ever with a number-13 final ranking, while Sam Henson captured the National Championship at the 118-pound weight class. The men’s soccer squad finished the season with a number-19 national ranking.

The women’s basketball team made its sixth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. Women’s tennis coach Andy Johnston was named the ACC Women’s Tennis Coach-of-the-Year after leading his squad to its highest national finish since 1986. Women’s outdoor track boasted six All-America performances.

Clemson teams were also a rousing success in the classroom in 1992-93, with a record 122 student-athletes making a 3.0 or better. Hurdler Anthony Knight was Clemson’s top all-around student-athlete in 1992-93, winning the ACC’s Jim Weaver Award and received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship. Soccer goalie Jaro Zawislan, a second-team All-South selection in soccer, was named a second-team ISAA All-America Academic selection.

The ACC is the only conference in the country to have each of its schools play in at least one bowl game in the last four years. The ACC has had 18 total bowl invitations over the last four years.

Georgia Tech, with a 17-8 (.680) postsea-son mark, is number-one among Division I-A teams in bowl winning percentage. The Yellow Jackets lead a list of three ACC teams that rank in the top seven all-time bowl teams. Florida State is sixth with a 12-7-2 (.619) record and Clemson is seventh at 11-7 (.611).

Two ACC Schools, Clemson and Florida State, rank among the top 11 teams in the nation as far as winning percentage over the last 10 years. The same two schools are also ranked in the top 11 in the nation in terms of years ranked in the final AP Top 20 over the last 13 years.

The nine ACC schools who take the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 288 first- or second-team gridiron All-Americans and 45 first-team academic All-Americans. ACC schools have had 1,233 players selected in the annual professional draft, including 75 first-round selections.

Seven times in the past 13 years an ACC member school has claimed the CFA Academic Achievement Award, which is awarded to a CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team. The ACC had 29 players selected in the 1992 NFL draft, including four first-round selections. The first-round picks were Marvin Jones of Florida State by the New York Jets, Dave Brown of Duke by the New York Giants, Wayne Simmons of Clemson by the Green Bay Packers and Thomas Smith of North Carolina by the Buffalo Bills. The 29 selections ranked as the fourth highest total in ACC history.

Florida State led all ACC schools with six players drafted, while Clemson was second with five.

Four ACC teams are guaranteed of appearing in postseason bowls this year. Two ACC teams are committed to the 1993 Football Bowl Coalition. The league champion is guaranteed a spot in one of four Tier One Bowls, the Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta, and a second team will be available for the Tier Two Bowls, the Gator and the John Hancock. For the second year of a three-year contract, the ACC is committed to sending a third team to the Peach Bowl. The ACC begins a two-year deal to have a fourth league team compete against a Big Ten team, also a number-four team, in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

The 1992 season marked the fourth straight year that the ACC had at least four teams in bowl games and the 21st straight year that at least two teams have appeared in postseason play.

The 1992 season was the fifth time in six years that at least one ACC team was ranked in the Top 10 of the wire services. At least two ACC teams have been listed in the final AP poll every year since 1985.

The ACC was a balanced league in 1992, as for the first time in the 40-year history of the league, six teams had at least four league wins. Seven of the nine ACC teams were ranked in either the AP or USA Today polls during the course of the season and seven of the nine teams had at least one win over a top 25 team. Eight of the nine ACC schools were represented on the first-team all-conference team.

The ACC boasted an all-time high 11 players who were named first- or second-team All-American in 1992. Clemson is second in the ACC as far as all-time All-America selections with 45.

The ACC was 23-8-1 (.735) against outside competition in 1992, the second best mark in league history. The record is .770 in 1990. In the decade of the 1990s the ACC is 85-31-3 for a .727 non-conference record. The ACC is 13-13 against AP Top 25 non-conference teams in the decade of the 1990s.

For the second year in a row the ACC drew more than 2 million fans. Clemson led the way with a 76,789 figure, the 17th straight year Clemson has led the league in attendance.

The ACC was one of the top scoring and total offense leagues in the nation in 1992. Six of the nine schools ranked in the top 50 in total offense and seven ranked in the top 50 in scoring offense.

Defensively, the ACC had six of the top 45 teams in the nation in scoring defense. Six of the nine schools had at least 30 sacks in 1992.

Traditions are something that don’t happen overnight, they evolve over a number of years. One tradition at Clemson that is going strong and heading into its 60th year is IPTAY. The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, is known throughout the country for its faithful and generous contributions by its supporters. A recent USA Today article called IPTAY the best-known organization of its kind in the nation. The article noted that at a time when college athletics costs are rising IPTAY continues to lead the way in supporting athletic scholarships at Clemson. IPTAY plays a major role in insuring that all 18 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships allowed by the NCAA.

Thanks in part to IPTAY’s contributions, the 1992-93 academic year proved to be another banner one for Clemson athletics. Seven of the 18 athletic teams finished the year in the top 20 of their respective sports. Twenty-four Clemson student-athletes were named All-Americans. There were three ACC Championship teams during the year from Clemson (men’s indoor track, men’s outdoor track and baseball) with 56 Tiger athletes earning ACC honors. Three Tigers also won four individual national championships during the year, as Michael Green won the 55 and 100 meters and Wesley Russell won the 400 meters indoors for the men’s track program, and Sam Henson won the 118-pound wrestling championship. That total marked the most ever in a single sports year at Clemson.

Tiger athletes also excelled in the classroom during the 1992-93 academic year, with 122 student-athletes earning a 3.0 or better for the spring semester. Clemson’s Anthony Knight, a hurdler for the track squad, was named a recipient of a $5,000 NCAA PostGraduate scholarship, one of the highest academic honors given by the NCAA. He also received the ACC’s Jim Weaver Award earlier in the year, another postgraduate scholarship that is one of the conference’s highest academic accolades.

The success of the Clemson athletic program comes during a time when the integrity and accountability of the academic progress of student-athletes is receiving national attention. IPTAY has been a large part of that success by being committed to the student-athlete. IPTAY is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most successful athletic fundraising organizations in America. IPTAY was the first athletic fundraising organization in the country to top the two, three, four, and five-million dollar marks in annual donations.

In 1934, Dr. Rupert Fike founded IPTAY with a very simple purpose in mind: IPTAY provides funds for athletic scholarships. Since 1934 IPTAY has certainly met Fike’s goal, providing scholarships for over 5,000 student-athletes, trainers, and managers.

IPTAY currently provides the funds for tutorial programs staffed by trained academic advisors, assisted by graduate and undergraduate students. This support is intended to ins-

ALL-PRO CENTER

When you're calling the plays for an important conference, tradeshow, banquet or meeting, you need a center who understands your signals and is ready to respond. That's why meeting planners all across the country make their calls to Palmetto Expo Center. With more than 400,000 square feet of meeting and exhibit space, 8,000 square feet of pre-function and registration area, a 3,500-square-foot outdoor courtyard, and 2,500 well-lit parking spaces on site, Palmetto Expo Center is set to tackle events of practically any size and scope. It's a snap to stage and service virtually every aspect of your event because our lineup includes a fully equipped catering kitchen, banquet seating and service for up to 2,500 people, sophisticated light and sound systems, and a staff that's trained to make the handoff smoothly with no fumbles or penalties.

Textile Hall Corporation is the proud donor of the Textile Bowl Trophy, presented each year to the winner of the Clemson-North Carolina State game in honor of the textile graduates of these two fine universities.

When you're making your game plan, put the all-pro center on your team.

ATTENTION ALL HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS

NCAA rules require you to be certified by the NCAA Clearinghouse before you can enroll as a student-athlete. You must follow these steps:

1. Obtain a Clearinghouse “Student-Release Form” from your guidance office.
2. Complete the “Form” and send the white part to the Clearinghouse in the envelope provided, along with $18 for processing. On the form you should check “Option 1”, authorizing any institution to request information about you. In the alternative you may mark the codes of up to five institutions (Clemson’s code is 3842). In that case, only those you mark will get your information.
3. Give the yellow and pink copies of the form to your guidance counselor at your high school. If you have attended more than one high school, make photocopies of the yellow and pink sheets and send them to your previous high school(s).
4. Your guidance counselor will use the yellow part of the “form” to send your current transcript and 48-H form. The guidance counselor will keep the pink copy to send your final transcript after you graduate.
5. When you register for the SAT or ACT test you must have the scores sent at that time to the Clearinghouse, even if you don’t send them to any of the schools recruiting you. You must mark 9999 in the section on “college code choices” when you sign up. If you don’t, it will cost more to have it sent later. Remember, each time you take the test, you must mark 9999 as well as any institutional codes.

If you do not follow these steps you will not be eligible to enroll as an athlete at any NCAA Division I, I AA or II school.

If you cannot afford the $18 processing fee, your guidance counselor may apply for a fee waiver for you.

Should you have any questions concerning the Clearinghouse, you may call the Compliance Services Office at Clemson University at (803) 656-1580, or the Clearinghouse at (319) 337-1492.

Hall of Fame

by Sam Blackman

Hall of Fame Day personifies the Clemson Athletics Family. On this day every year, former teammates, coaches, fans, alumni, and friends of Clemson can take great pride in the recognition of former Tiger greats. It is a time to reflect on, not only the inductees and their honors, but the teammates and the coaches of this special group and the contributions they made in the lives of the inductees and Clemson University.

As some of the inductees stated, "when I go I take my teammates and coaches with me." What a meaningful and family-oriented response!

The six people being honored today include: Bobby Conrad, Homer Jordan, Tina Krebs, Wayne Mass, Bill McLellan, and Gene Moore.

Bobby Conrad played basketball at Clemson in 1976-80. During this time, he was named to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference Academic team for three seasons (1978, 1979, 1980). He is regarded as one of the top all-around student-athletes in Clemson history. Conrad was also the recipient of the Norris Award as Clemson's outstanding all-around student (1980) and winner of the Jim Weaver Award as the Atlantic Coast Conference's outstanding student-athlete (1980). He was an NCAA Post Graduate Scholarship Winner in 1980, a third-team Academic All-American that same year, and a fifth-team Academic All-American in 1979. The highlight of his athletic career took place in 1979-80 when he quarterbacked the Clemson basketball team to the NCAA West Regional Finals, the farthest a Clemson team has advanced in NCAA Tournament play. Conrad finished his Clemson career in second place for most assists (402) and steals (141).

"This is a tremendous honor for me and my family," said Conrad, who is now the Chief of the Criminal Division of the U.S. Attorney Office for Western North Carolina.

"My most memorable moment as a Clemson athlete was the time we beat Duke when they were ranked number-one in 1980 in Littlejohn Coliseum. I went 8-8 from the free throw line in the overtime period. When we won, the fans ran on the court and cut down the nets. Another memorable moment was advancing to the Final Eight (NCAA tourney) my senior season. No one thought we could get to within one step of the Final Four."

Homer Jordan is best remembered for leading Clemson to the Orange Bowl victory over Nebraska and the school's first football national championship in 1981. He is the only quarterback to post a 12-0 record as a starter.

Jordan was named MVP of the 1982 Orange Bowl. He was also honored by being named the 1981 National Championship Team MVP and being named All-ACC that season. He finished his career second in Clemson history in total offensive yardage and completion percentage. He was also ranked 12th in the nation in passing in 1981.

"The most memorable moment I had at Clemson would have to be winning the national championship and the Orange Bowl," said Jordan from his Athens, GA home. Jordan was near exhaustion at the conclusion of that night as he ran and passed for nearly 200 yards.

"It has always been my dream to play at a major college and later play professionally. Clemson, with its great athletic and academic departments, created many opportunities for me in sports and now in life. I own a business in Athens, GA involving international business development and setting up businesses and distribution centers. My experience at Clemson prepared me well."

Tina Krebs is the most nationally decorated women's track athlete in Clemson history. She won the NCAA Indoor Track Championship in the 1,000-yard run (1983), 1500-meter run (1985), and the one-mile run (1986) and remains the only athlete in Clemson history to win a National Championship in three different years.

She was also named All-ACC in cross country for three years (1982, 1983, 1984). Krebs was an ACC Champion in outdoor track in the 800-meter run for four straight years, (1983, 1984, 1985, 1986), the first female track athlete in ACC history to win an event four years in a row. She was also an eight-time All-American in indoor track, outdoor track and cross country.

Krebs was also a standout in the classroom having been named a 1986 second-team Academic All-American. She was the 1986 Frank Howard...
Wayne Mass was a lineman in the days of Buddy Gore, Jimmy Addison, and Harry Olszewski. Mass was a first-team All-American in 1966 and was the recipient of the Jacobs Blocking Trophy for the ACC and state of South Carolina that season. He was a fourth-round draft pick of the Chicago Bears in 1968 and played in two college all-star games—the 1968 Hula Bowl and the 1967 East-West Shrine Game. He was also named to the All-ACC football squads in 1966 and 1967 and was a prime reason Clemson won the ACC titles in 1965, 1966 and 1967.

"The most memorable thing about Clemson to me is the people," said Wayne Mass. "My coaches, Frank Howard, Don Wade, and Whitey Jordan all meant a lot to me. Coach Howard was very supportive to me and wanted me to get a degree. He cared about the academics as much or more than the athletic part. Frank Howard cared about an athlete as an individual—he worked with me. "Bob Bradley (Sports Information Director) was very effective in publicizing me and helped me make All-American. I have a lot of fond memories at Clemson, but the wonderful people is what I remember the most.

"The award is truly the result of my teammates and coaches. They share this honor with me. Teammates such as Harry Olszewski, Jimmy Addison, Buddy Gore were standouts in this period. We had an outstanding group of people on our team. I also have to pay tribute to the people in the Agriculture Economics department for their help and support in my academic career."

Mass is now involved in commercial real estate in Chicago, IL.

Bill McLellan has served in many capacities since he first entered Clemson in 1950. He lettered in football in 1952, 1953 and participated in the 1952 Gator Bowl as a player. He was the Athletic Department Business Manager between 1958-66 and was an assistant football coach between 1958-69.

He also had an Assistant Athletic Director position between 1966-71 before he was named athletic director in 1971, a position he held until 1985. McLellan is remembered for organizing the facility improvements and the growth of IPTAY. During his tenure both upper decks of Memorial Stadium were added, and the baseball, track, soccer, swimming and tennis facilities also underwent drastic improvements. IPTAY also grew into the number-one fundraising organization in America.

"I enjoyed my 35-year association with Clemson University. And today I am continuing to do work in the athletic administration field (Athletic Director at Southern Mississippi). Not too many people can say they actually enjoy going to work everyday.

"Being an athletic director presents challenges daily. During my tenure, we underwent many changes with the increased financial support of IPTAY, adding sports, and becoming self-sustaining. I enjoyed working with Bob Edwards and Frank Howard. The Most memorable moments for me involved working with young people and making the wonderful friendships that have continued today."

Gene Moore was a football and baseball standout in the late 40s. He lettered in football in 1947-49 and baseball in 1946-49. He was a two-year starter in 1948 and 1949 on the gridiron and was chosen for the Senior Bowl All-Star Game in 1950. He was also the center for the unit that kicked the winning field goal against Missouri in the 1949 Gator Bowl that Clemson won 24-23. The 1948 team went undefeated with an 11-0 record, and finished 11th in the final Associated Press poll and Moore's play at center was a key reason for that outstanding record. In baseball, he led the team in total bases in 1948, and in triples for both the 1948 and 1949 seasons.

"This is certainly a great honor. First though, no one goes in the Clemson Hall of Fame alone. This is a tribute to my teammates and coaches just as much as it is to me. Defeating Missouri in the 1948 Gator Bowl is probably my most memorable moment. But, just being a part of the Clemson family has been memorable."
The art of banking in the state of South Carolina

Carolina First has elevated the business of banking to an art. Exhibiting exceptional skill in providing the outstanding services of a larger bank, with the personalized attention only a hometown bank can offer. This philosophy, our unique way of conducting business, has been instrumental in our statewide growth. But we're not just growing for the sake of growth. We understand the mania of big bank mergers and its detrimental effect on our state. So, we're making available our proven philosophy to more people and businesses statewide. And we've taken prudent steps to assure that this successful strategy remains consistent branch to branch, hometown to hometown, across the Palmetto state. We're committed to serving the state, and serving it well. We're an integral part of South Carolina, bringing state-of-the-art banking to the entire state and helping make South Carolina a better place to live and do business for us all.

1993 Tiger Football

by Brenda Rabon

A few weeks ago, Clemson President Max Lennon received a letter from a New Jersey family who brought their son to visit the Clemson campus. They were extremely impressed with the campus, but even more so with an athletic department employee.

“Martha Garrison, the receptionist in the Jervey Athletic Center, treated us like royalty and really went out of her way to help us. She informed the assistant baseball coach that my son was interested in baseball. She is very proud of Clemson University and a terrific goodwill ambassador. Our visit to Clemson and the kind treatment and hospitality afforded us was very much appreciated.”

First impressions are always important, and fortunately the Clemson Athletic Department has Martha Garrison as receptionist to make good impressions. She has welcomed visitors, friends, alumni, and fans to Jervey Athletic Center for many years. Her warm smile and cheerful voice give people an impressive introduction to Clemson University. Later this year, Garrison will be retiring after 27 years of service to the Clemson University Athletic Department.

Garrison has been a loyal athletic department employee since 1966 when she began working in the Clemson ticket office. She was later moved to Jervey Athletic Center as receptionist when the building opened in 1973. When she was asked about taking the receptionist job, she remembers, “I didn’t know whether to quit then, or wait until after my first day so they could fire me. I thought I was too shy. But I have enjoyed every minute of it and I didn’t think I would say that when I started. I was scared to death.”

Bob Bradley, sports information director emeritus, describes Garrison as an asset to the Clemson Athletic Department.

“When visitors walk into the lobby of Jervey Athletic Center, they receive their first impression of the athletic department from Martha. Even if she doesn’t know them, she treats them all alike. She will give anyone a tour who requests it. She goes very much out of her way to make a good impression on people. She has a talent that will always be remembered by all who visit the campus. She is really a goodwill ambassador.”

Garrison answers an average of 450 calls a day, but has had as many as 600. She connects the callers to 13 lines and 87 extensions. On every call, she smiles before picking up the receiver, and says in a most pleasant voice, “Thank you for calling Jervey Athletic Center.” She even brings holiday cheer to the callers. At Christmas you can hear her say “Merry Christmas from the Clemson Tigers.” She makes each caller feel that their call is most appreciated. Even if a caller has the wrong number, she goes the extra step and looks up the number for them. People call and ask her all kinds of trivial questions about Clemson. If she cannot answer the question, she knows who can.

A smile is always on her face and that is an admirable quality considering some of the callers she receives. Sometimes people are having a bad day and she has to deal with some bad moods. It takes a special person like Garrison to be able to handle the job with such grace. She says she does this by always keeping an upbeat attitude.

“This has been a rewarding job, something I have enjoyed because of all the wonderful people I have met and friends I have made. We have had some great student-athletes come through Clemson since I have been here.”

Garrison often listens to the everyday problems from the athletes and tries to give them an insight or a different perspective. To some she has been like a second mom. You can see that by the number of former athletes who come by to see her on football weekends.

Jaro Zawislan, an Academic All-American starting goalkeeper on Clemson’s nationally ranked soccer team, describes Garrison as modest and humble, but a perfect person for the job.

“It can be raining or thundering outside, or it can be your worst day ever, but when you come inside Jervey, it is like there is sunshine sitting behind the desk. Mrs. Garrison always has a smile. I always stop to talk and share my feelings. She is one of the nicest people I’ve ever met, and she is naturally that way. I feel like one of her sons.”

In 1979, the Tiger Brotherhood awarded Garrison with the Mother-of-the-Year Award. “I asked them if they had the right Martha Garrison. I was overwhelmed to be selected for such an honor.”

Garrison feels honored to have met so many wonderful people along the way. Friendships have been made that will last a lifetime. Many of these friendships have been made on the mornings of home football games in Jervey when she greets people as they visit the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame and athletic department.

Garrison has watched many wonderful things happen before her eyes while at Clemson. A coach’s son took his first steps at Garrison’s desk. One coach’s daughter brought by a friend that was visiting and introduced Garrison to her as her best friend. These are some of the memories she will always treasure as she retires.

Family is extremely important to Garrison. She and her husband, Glenn, have two children, Steve and Kathy. They are two of 28 Garrison family members who have graduated from Clemson dating back to 1916. She has four grandchildren, whom she adores, ranging from ages 7 to 13.

As you can see, the entire Garrison family is dedicated to Clemson University. Later this year Clemson will be losing a valuable employee. The thoughtfulness and dedication she has shown to countless others over the years will be sorely missed. Heartfelt thanks go out to Martha Garrison for her 27 years of quality service to Clemson University as a goodwill ambassador.

Garrison has been the initial contact between the public and Clemson athletics for over 20 years.

Naturally Fresh®
Mexican Dip

1 can refried beans
1/2 packet of taco seasoning
1 ripe avocado
3 tablespoons Naturally Fresh Picante Salsa
1/2 cup sliced black olives
1 tomato, diced
Naturally Fresh Sour Cream & Herb Dressing
Shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Spread one can refried beans over a 13 x 9 pan. Add 1/2 packet of taco seasoning and stir into beans. Respread. In a small bowl mash 1 ripe avocado until smooth. Add Naturally Fresh Picante Salsa and spread over bean mixture. Next layer with sliced black olives and diced fresh tomatoes. Top with Naturally Fresh Sour Cream & Herb Dressing to cover well. Add shredded Monterey Jack cheese. Serve chilled or bake on low temperature until cheese is melted. Makes a great tailgating dip!

The Clemson University Athletic Department provides the following for your safety and emergency medical needs:
1. Advanced cardiac life-support stations in four locations (North stands, Upper North deck, South stands, Upper South deck). These units are staffed with skilled care nurses, physicians, cardiologists, internists, paramedics, and EMTs.
2. Mobile units of EMTs and paramedics are strategically located throughout the entire stadium.
3. Ambulances with life-support equipment are available in North stand and South stand areas and have prearranged routes for evacuation to local hospitals.

Learn to recognize these personnel and facilities.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE:
Please step back and give the organized EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system. If you have basic or advanced training in specific life-support methods, make your qualifications known and offer your help. Untrained personnel can frequently be more harmful than helpful.

Most emergencies occurring at the stadium result from pre-existing medical conditions. Bring your medical identification card or wear medical identification jewelry. Moderation is the key with dress, food, beverage intake, and physical exertion. The two most frequent medical problems at football games are allergic reactions to insect stings and heart attacks.

INSECT STINGS:
Common at outdoor events. Treat immediately with ice and seek medical advice. If allergic, carry a kit from your physician with you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A HEART ATTACK:
The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but the usual warning signs are:

1. Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest lasting for two minutes or more.
2. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms, or back.
3. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea, and/or shortness of breath.

EXPECT A DENIAL
Frequently heart attack victims deny they are having a heart attack. The event is frightening or they don’t want the embarrassment of a false alarm. Therefore, they delay getting help by ignoring their symptoms or rationalizing, “It’s just indigestion.”

Find out what’s really wrong. Prompt response can dramatically increase chances of survival and recovery.

New therapies have been developed that can minimize heart damage and save lives if treatment begins within the first few hours of symptom onset. “Time is muscle.” Get help or get to a hospital immediately.

YOUR TICKET TO THE AWAY GAMES — THE ACC TELEVISION NETWORK.

When the Tigers aren’t home, catch every pass of ACC Football action on the EXXON ACC Game of the Week, airing Saturdays at 12:00 noon on your ACC Network station.
Clemson has won over 72 percent of its games in Death Valley.

In the first 51 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 174-64-7, including a 16-2-1 ledger over the last three seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 72.5 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 52-13.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

There are many stories about the stadium, including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through. I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 west end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. Teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Athletic Director Bobby Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features that make it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house.

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. Another unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

If Memorial Stadium is expanded again and the capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

1993 Tiger Football

71
We feel that at the end of the day a Clemson tiger has earned his stripes.

...or his plaids, solids or geometrics.

West Point-Pepperell, Inc. (including its subsidiary: J.P. Stevens & Co., Inc.), with annual sales of $1.5 billion, is the nation’s leading producer of both bedroom and bath textile products and accessories, in addition to being a major producer, through its Mar-mac Division, of knit goods for the apparel industry. Its consumer products are marketed under the well-known brand names as MARTEX, TURA, LADY PEPPERELL, STEVENS, and VELLUX, and under licensed designer labels including COLLIER CAMPBELL, EILEEN WEST, RALPH LAUREN, SANDERSON, GLORIA VANDERBILT, LIBERTY OF LONDON and SESAME STREET.

The Lady Tigers
Clemson's youth movement made big strides last season.

Having started three newcomers, two sophomores, and only one senior last season, Head Coach Andy Johnston's Lady Tigers became one of the most surprising teams in the country winning 20 matches against just six setbacks. But the biggest stride of all was Clemson's move in the polls. After being ranked 25th in the preseason poll, the Lady Tigers were ranked 12th in the final listing, the biggest jump from the preseason to the final poll by any school in the nation. Once more, the Tigers finished second in the ACC and advanced to the final 16 of the NCAA tournament.

With five of the six starters back, Johnston foresees another successful season. He also has even tougher goals for his team this season.

"This season, it is very important that we keep the enthusiasm and keep focused on obtaining even tougher objectives. I think this team will keep its concentration. We had a good year, as we finished 12th in the country and won 20 matches. We are looking to build on that success, and finishing in the top eight is a very realistic goal for this team. Other goals we have set are to win the conference and have two all-Americans."

"We also have a good doubles team in (Shannon) King and (Janice) Durden returning. We should have outstanding doubles teams this season and we must find the right blend in the singles lineup. We lost our number-three player Amy Young to graduation. Our players must improve and be willing to step forward and challenge for the top spots in the lineup."

The five returning starters include Boba Tzevetkova, Janice Durden, Shannon King, Emma Peetz, and Jan Barrett.

King, an All-ACC performer, led the Tigers in singles play with a 30-7 record. Another All-ACC selection, Emma Peetz, had an excellent freshman year with a 28-4 mark. She set a school record for most consecutive singles wins last season with 25 straight wins.

Boba Tzevetkova participated in the NCAA singles tournament, while Janice Durden and Shannon King participated in the doubles segment.

Durden and King finished the year ranked fourteenth in the nation. This season they are ranked 9th in the preseason poll. The duo won the Atlantic Coast Conference number-one doubles flight last season and certainly should repeat in 1994.

"Tzevetkova is a talented player and is mentally tough. She played number-one singles for us last season and she did well at the top of our lineup again this year. Durden gained experience this past summer playing in satellite tournaments. She has a big time game and should be one of the top players in doubles nationally this season.

"King is a top performer and a great competitor. We look for her to have another great year this spring. Peetz did well last season. She should step up her game in some areas and contribute at a higher position in the lineup."

"Barrett made jumps in her game and gained a great deal of confidence. She has improved her game and is playing great tennis in the fall practices. Tzevetkova has worked hard and has made more improvement than any player in my coaching career.

"The most important thing is that we can't rest on our laurels or grow complacent. We have quality depth this season and we have the people who can come in and play and challenge for positions. It is going to be another interesting season."

Tiger Men
Adversity can be a stepping stone or a building block.

Head Coach Chuck Kriese feels as though last year's record of 9-20 will transform the 1993 team and be a springboard in the upswing of the Tigers' program. Kriese believes that many positive situations were derived from last year's team such as the inner core of the team was strengthened and experience was gained for many players as they participated at higher flights than expected. These two elements have Kriese excited about the upcoming season in 1994.

"The passion and the patience are the two ingredients we need to be successful—passion for the game and the patience to wait for the fruits of the labor," said Kriese. "It is like a bank, you get out what you put into practice and training. Both passion and patience are intact this year."

Clemson returns five starters off the 1993 team. Headlining the starters are Bas Wild who saw action at number-two singles and number-one doubles. Wild competed in the NCAA tournament in doubles play with George Lampert and the pair finished with a 20-11 record overall.

Tom Herb returns with a 20-24 singles record overall as he played at number-three singles. He also had a 27-15 mark in doubles play. Herb played at number-three singles and finished the year with a 4-4 mark in the ACC. Tom Herb and Richard Reyes compiled a 22-15 record overall at number-three doubles.

Frank Salazar, Mike Baker and Cris Robinson also return as starters.

Salazar finished the year with a 10-8 mark overall in doubles and played at number-four singles. Mike Baker started 20 matches as a freshman, while Richard Reyes started 15 dual matches in his rookie season. Robinson had an 18-22 record in singles play and a 15-15 mark in doubles.

Two red-shirted players also return to the squad. Senior Mike Williams returns after being red-shirted to gain maturity in his game, while junior Bryan Twente red-shirted after an elbow injury.

"We have everyone back in our 1993 lineup except George Lampert, our number-one singles player. We will be much better with the experience the younger guys gained by playing higher positions in the lineup last year."

"Freshmen Charly Rasheed and Mitch Sprengeleyer are off to a good start in fall practices and should push for a starting position this spring."

This past summer saw many of the Tigers gain valuable experience in various amateur tournaments. Cris Robinson was ranked second in the United States Amateur rankings. He won the Clay Court Amateur Championships, and Mike Baker won a doubles championship at the same tournament. Rasheed and Sprengeleyer won the interscholastic doubles championship.

"Good things did happen last year as we now have experience in lump taking. Last year was a necessary, but painful year. We were at the base level and got back to the fundamentals in training. The keys to our team will be the maturity level of our players and will they take on the roles to lead us back to where we need to be. We have youth and experience on our team and that is usually a winning combination."

Head Coach Chuck Kriese is only three wins shy of winning his 400th career match. He needs to win only 23 matches to become the Atlantic Coast Conference's winningest coach as far as total wins.

"If we don't win the conference, we will definitively be the most feared team in the conference. Our goal is to win the ACC and quickly regain our place as one of the best teams in the nation. Our training intensity is the best it has been in 10 years. The players have a mission to claim our place at the top in the ACC and region."

Nick Blinsky

Nick Blinsky, a native of Struthers, OH, has seen improvement in his career in many areas. In the weight room Blinsky has had notable improvements. When he arrived at Clemson in 1989 his bench press was 305 pounds, now he has increased his bench press to 360 pounds. On the leg sled Nick has seen a 120-pound improvement to 760 pounds. In the spring of 1993 Blinsky earned a 3.06 grade point average in his management major.

On the field during the 1990 season as a reserve offensive lineman he saw action in six plays against Long Beach State. In the following season of 1991 Blinsky saw action in five of Clemson’s contests at the center position. In the Temple game that year Nick was in for a career high six plays in the win over the Owls. He later played in three of the four next games including four snaps in the Citrus Bowl versus California. In 1992 he saw action in the Tigers’ win over North Carolina as he participated in three snaps. His 1993 season has been plagued by injury as he suffered a knee injury in a preseason scrimmage.

In high school Blinsky played on both sides of the ball, as he excelled on the offensive and defensive lines for Struthers High School. Also in high school Blinsky was conference shot put champion on Struthers track team in 1989.

Greg Burk

Greg Burk, a native of Lawton, OK is a Tiger who has seen action at fullback, tight end, and offensive guard over his career. In 1992 he saw action as a fullback, but this year he has moved to the position of offensive guard. He saw some time at tight end in 1991 and 1992. At his new position Burk has seen action in four of Clemson’s first eight games. In the UNLV game he was in for 23 snaps and had a couple of knockdown blocks. Burk participated in 21 plays during the Florida State game, had a winning grade and had a knockdown. In the Maryland victory he graded 75 percent for his 10 plays, his highest grade as an offensive lineman.

It was decided during the spring that Burk would move to offensive guard. He was clocked at 4.53 in the 40-yard dash, the best time among offensive linemen. In the 1992 season Burk saw action in four games as a full back and three games on Clemson’s special teams.

During his high school career Burk had 36 sacks on defense as a two-way player at Lawton High School. Also during his high school career Burk was chosen All-District, All-Midland team for three years. He was also a three-sport athlete who received three letters in football, one in wrestling, and one in baseball. At Lawton, Burk was a teammate with former Clemson and current Los Angeles Raider defensive back, James Trapp.

Chris Lovelace

Chris Lovelace holds the distinction of being the first football player ever to transfer to Clemson from nearby North Greenville Junior College in Tigerville, SC. In 1992 Chris, a reserve offensive guard, saw action in a career high 23 snaps in the Tigers’ win over UTC. He was also in on six plays in Clemson’s win over 18th-ranked North Carolina. During this season he participated in Clemson’s homecoming win over East Tennessee State.

At North Greenville, the Apex, NC native was a Junior College All-American according to JC Gridwire. He was ranked as the 11th best offensive guard prospect in the nation by Max Emfinger. The parks, recreation, and tourism management major was also a captain in 1991 for North Greenville under coach Mike Taylor.

Mark Owens

Mark Owens is the only walk-on defensive lineman to get into a game in each of the last three years. In 1993 the Fountain Inn, SC native is listed as a third-team middle guard and has participated in two games.

Owens joined the Tigers in August of 1990 and has worked extremely hard in the weight room. During Clemson’s 1992 win over UTC, he saw action in eight snaps. In the 1991 season opener versus Appalachian State, Owens participated in a season-high six plays. He saw action in three games that year and recorded one tackle. Mark has improved in the weight room as well since joining the Tigers in 1990. His 335-pound bench press mark has increased 60 pounds and his leg sled has increased 60 pounds as well.

The economics major played high school football at Hillcrest High School. He played for Wayne Baker and earned three varsity letters during his career.

Dustin Rash

Dustin Rash, a Mesa, AZ native, is Clemson’s second-team right offensive guard. He has seen action in five of the first nine games in 1993. In 1992, Rash saw action in two games and was in for 28 snaps. He was in for 19 plays in Clemson’s win over UTC and for seven plays versus North Carolina. Rash red-shirted the 1991 season but has been through three spring practices.

This season he has a career best 71 percent grade in the win over UNLV. He also graded 70 percent in the East Tennessee State game and had a knockdown block. He has a winning grade in four of his five games this year.

Dustin arrived at Clemson in January of 1991 after transferring from Mesa Junior College. In his first season at Mesa he not only played offensive guard, but was also a linebacker. He was chosen as a junior college All-American by Max Emfinger of the National High School Recruiting Guide.

In high school Rash received All-American honors from Scholastic Coach magazine during his senior year at Mountain View High School in Mesa. The management major also participated in the Arizona High School All-Star game.

Andre Hewitt

Hamperey by injuries most of his playing career, Andre Hewitt has only seen action in one of Clemson’s games this season. He might be the only Clemson football player in history to play one game over the course of the season, but start that contest and play nearly the entire contest.

Hewitt played 69 snaps against Florida State this year and graded 77 percent, one of the highest grades by a Tiger that day. But a dislocated kneecap in practice the following week has forced him to miss the last six games due to injury. He was finally physically able to play against North Carolina last week.

In 1992 at Clemson, Hewitt was in for 24 plays. He saw most of his action in the game versus UTC with 20 snaps. He was in for four snaps in the season opening victory versus Ball State. Andre made a lot of improvement in the 1993 spring practices and was termed, “the surprise of spring practice on the offense,” by Coach Hatfield. But the injury bug hit him again this year. He also has one of the best marks on the bench press, as Hewitt can lift 400 pounds. His 4.9 time in the 40-yard dash is also among the best among Tiger offensive linemen.

Hewitt is a junior college transfer who has battled knee problems since coming to Clemson in January of 1992. He transferred from Santa Monica Junior College where he was ranked 41st in Super Prep’s JUCO 100. At Santa Monica, Hewitt was also a member of Max Emfinger’s JUCO hot 120. In addition, Hewitt won all-state and all-region honors and was named Santa Monica’s Athlete-of-the-Year. He originally signed with Maryland out of Mt. Lebanon High School in Pittsburgh.

The mission of Vickery Hall is to function as a comprehensive support system to address the various transitional needs of student-athletes and, in turn, give each individual the opportunity to make the most out of his or her college experience.

Clemson University’s commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength-training facility, young men and women from all 18 of Clemson’s varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and is the first facility in the nation originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes, and consolidates a variety of academic services for their use.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete’s total experience a rewarding one, even after he or she enters the professional world.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment—giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We’re very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Given the time pressures of athletic participation and practice, student-athletes face a difficult balancing act in trying to perform well both on the playing field and in the classroom. With respect to this, Clemson’s Student-Athlete Enrichment Services (SAES) has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation over the last several years. The completion of Vickery Hall gives SAES an even greater opportunity to help student-athletes reach the short-term goal of graduation and the long-term goal of success in the world. The facility is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of the student-athlete.

Vickery Hall is located in the mainstream of east campus, behind Jordan Hall at the top of Bryan Mall. The main entrance to the building is a 1,570-square foot reception/office area, comprised of five advisors’ offices, two graduate student offices, and a conference room. Also located on the bottom floor is the office of Bill D’Andrea, the director of Clemson’s student-athlete enrichment program.

Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center’s staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. In addition to the director, the staff also consists of six full-time advisors, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

The building also boasts a 175-seat auditorium to be used for classes, team meetings, review sessions, and seminars. The various speakers and lecturers who come to work with Clemson student-athletes as part of the student-enrichment program also use this facility. The auditorium is equipped with a projection booth and state-of-the-art audio and video equipment and will be available to other campus groups when not in use by Student-Athletic Enrichment.

Another area of the main floor, the computer resources area, consists of a general computer tutoring room and a computer science tutoring room. The computer room contains 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses.

The 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor comprises the majority of the center. This area contains 11 classrooms and 28 tutorial rooms, including a large 65-seat study room and nine 20-seat study rooms, which are designed as classrooms with freestanding desks.

Computing Facilities

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to providing the student-athletes at Clemson with such equipment.

Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open six days a week, for 16 hours a day on Monday through Thursday.

The lab staff consists of mostly graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available.

Nelson Welch and Warren Forney use two of the 28 computers on hand in the Vickery Hall computer lab.
for tutoring of any Computer Science course as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers. Student-athletes may also arrange tutoring sessions outside normal lab hours any time during the school year.

Computers in the lab can reach many of the other machines on campus, including the NAS mainframe, and are, in turn, connected to a worldwide internetwork, allowing lab machines to access computing resources throughout the world. This also allows access to lab resources from computers throughout the world.

Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program

The Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program is one of the most important programs provided by the staff of Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide help in securing summer employment and to aid in meeting long-term career goals.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center and the Athletic Department, Bill D’Andrea is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with the Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athlete with a job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Long Term Career Assistance Program will be coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and will focus on resume writing and interview techniques so that each student-athlete will be competitive and aggressive when dealing with companies who visit the Clemson campus.

Personal Growth Program

Another aspect of Clemson University's commitment to help student-athletes reach their potential in all areas of their life—academically, athletically, and socially—is the recently implemented personal growth program. This program is one of the many purposes of Vickery Hall. This particular area of student development is designed to enhance and support the lives of student-athletes during their enrollment in college as well as in their life experiences after graduation. The Vickery Hall staff realizes that student-athletes have more obligations than a regular college student. The personal growth program seeks to eliminate some of the stresses of adjustment to the higher level of academics and athletics. It is the group’s special task to assist the student-athlete by creating a finely tuned balance of all areas to insure success in obtaining a Clemson University degree, by supporting successful athletic practice and competition, enhancing personal growth, and helping with the transition to life after college.

A series of personal growth programs will be offered to student-athletes throughout each semester. Some programs may accomplish their objectives in one session, while others may be ongoing throughout the academic year. Some of the personal growth programs are as follows:

Career Preparation:

The Career Preparation Plan is to encourage all student-athletes to think about life after sports and after graduation. Many sources of information will be available, from career testing to self-paced computer programs, and even with resume preparation and interview skills.

Nutrition and Eating Disorders:

Eating habits and proper diet are very important in maintaining a sound body and mind. The focus of this program revolves around presenting information so that student-athletes can analyze their own eating habits and carefully choose a balanced diet with enough calories to maintain good health.

Personal Finance:

Student-athletes on athletic scholarships are not allowed to have jobs during the academic year. Therefore, it is important to budget personal finances so they do not run out before the semester. This program not only discusses budgeting but also the responsible use of credit.

Stress Management:

All student-athletes face additional concerns during their college days than normal students. Many times these add stress to the everyday lives of student-athletes. The object of this program is to teach the student-athlete ways of identifying and handling personal stress so it does not interfere with the maintenance of good mental and physical health.

Interpersonal Communication:

Communication is necessary in all areas of life to improve happiness, instill contentment and enhance success. Programs dealing with interpersonal communication will involve improvement of listening skills, verbal skills and learning respect for the feelings and emotions of others.

Study Skills/Time Management:

These two topics are combined because a major part of developing good study skills involves having the time to delegate to studying. Objectives of this program are to expose student-athletes to different types of study techniques that are proven effective.

Motivation/Self-Esteeem:

The objective of this program is to improve the level of self-esteem for student-athletes to positively impact their productivity in all areas of campus life.

Clemson Football

THE TIP OF THE TALE!

Nothing can beat watching the Tigers play in Death Valley on a beautiful fall afternoon. But there’s even more to the Tiger Experience than football. Take some time while you’re here to enjoy all that Clemson has to offer!

The newest outdoor attraction on campus, the Class of ’43 Carillon Garden offers a peaceful contrast to the surrounding bustle of campus traffic and activity. A focal point in the walled garden is the Tillman bell monument inscribed with the names of the recipients of the Class of ’39 Faculty Award for Excellence. The physical beauty of the campus is one of the University’s greatest assets, and quiet spots such as the Carillon Garden emphasize that unique quality of Clemson life.

It’s hard to believe that the 1993 Tiger Football season is coming to an end. It seems as if the semester has just begun. For seniors, the past few years have passed in the blink of an eye and their college days are slowly coming to a close.

This is the last game senior band members will play for Tiger Band. They have put in countless hours over the years just to make sure that everyone had that unmissable Clemson spirit. Whether it was the First Friday parade, Spirit Day, Homecoming or just any exciting Tiger football game, the seniors’ experience led the other members as they made Frank Howard field explode with spirit.

Today, the Tiger Band would like to recognize their senior members for their dedication and leadership. It will be the last time they will play with Tiger Band in the stadium. This performance is one that will always have a special place in their memories.

Tiger Band graduating seniors are Ashley Lucas, Sara Weeks, Matt Brown, Denise Degnan, Shannon Cronshaw, Nicole Mason, Erika Huddy, Rich Challen, Drew Dowling, Mary Weinberger, Melissa Dempster, Amy Pearson, Harlee Muller, Debbie Johnson, Jerome Jackson, Michael Grant, Cindy Allen, Alan Davis, David Reese, Joseph Paddenburg, Carlito Estesquía, Glenn Reese, Eric DeWerth, Todd Jordan, Brent Shropshire, Patrick Brooks, Chad Dickert, Mark Dickson, and Chad Hawkins.

Dr. Mark Hosler, the director of the Tiger Band, said “the seniors’ dedication and effort over the past few years is very much appreciated. We hope to have a great performance for their last time in the stadium. It should prove to be an exciting time for them as they play ‘Tiger Rag’ for the last time.”

As Hall of Fame Day is celebrated during today’s game, the Tiger Band will perform their traditional pregame show including “Washington Post,” “God Bless America,” and “The Star-Spangled Banner.” The band will perform the Clemson University Alma Mater as the Tigers make their way around Memorial Stadium aboard the buses to the top of the hill. Two lines will then be formed as Tiger Band plays “Sock It To ‘Em.” The cannon will sound signaling the Tigers to run down the hill during “the most exciting 25 seconds in college football” as “Tiger Rag” is played.

As a tradition, the band will spell out in script “Tigers” during pregame festivities. Today, as a part of Hall of Fame Day, Larry Sloan of Greer, SC will dot the “i.”

The Tiger Band honors Sloan for his years of dedicated service to the Clemson University Tiger Band. He is a 1974 Clemson graduate and is presently the President and owner of Electrical Power Products, Inc. He is a founding member of the Clemson University Tiger Band Association, and he is also an IPTAY member, a President’s Club member, and the Incoming President of the Greenville-Clemson Club.

While a student at Clemson, Sloan was a trumpet player in the Tiger Band for five years, and today marks the first time that a former Tiger Band member has dotted the “i.”

Today, Sloan is accompanied by his wife, Cindy, and his two sons, Scott and Chris. Chris is a current Tiger Band member.

During halftime of today’s game, six new members will be added to the Clemson athletic Hall of Fame. Those six being honored are Gene Moore, Wayne Mass, Homer Jordan, Bobby Conrad, Tina Krebs and Bill McLellan. As a group, these Hall of Famers have had a profound effect on the heritage of Clemson athletics.

The halftime show is entitled “Artistry and Rhythm” featuring Big Band Music. It will consist of music by Stan Kenton, Buddy Rich, and others.

Tunes played will include “Artistry and Rhythm,” “Dancing Men” which will feature the drum line, and the finale of “When a Man Loves a Woman.” The performance will conclude with the band exiting the field in the traditional spelling “Clemson” and playing the “Song that Shakes the Southland...TIGER RAG!”

So the sun sets on another season in the valley, and for many it is the last, at least as an undergraduate. In keeping with another Tiger Band tradition, the Clemson University Alma Mater will be played one final time at the close of the game. True, it will be final, but the love of Clemson will continue to grow throughout the years. As they begin new chapters in their lives they have days of football and fellowship to look forward to, but this place they’ve called home for four (or more) years bids them farewell.

Until Tiger Band strikes up again, keep whistling the tune of “Tiger Rag” and thank them for another great season!

Who would have thought that the self-proclaimed "greatest receiver who ever lived" would end up devoting his career to coaching the defensive side of the ball? That's exactly what happened to Clemson defensive coordinator and secondary coach Bobby Johnson, who is now in his first year coaching at his alma mater.

Johnson began his football career as a wide receiver at Eau Claire High School in Columbia, SC. He was selected to play in the 1968 Shrine Bowl and then signed a scholarship to play football for Clemson.

"I came to Clemson as a receiver," he remembers with a smile. "For my first two years on varsity, I played wide receiver and then they decided to move me to defensive back. I just knew that they were moving the greatest receiver who ever lived to defensive back, but I'm glad they did because it got me interested in defense and helped me look at what I'm doing now."

After finishing his Clemson career at the defensive back position, Johnson worked for a year as a graduate assistant under Tiger coach Red Parker. He then went on to work in the textile industry in Greenville, SC, for a couple of years, but the lure of football was strong, so he asked Art Baker, the head coach at Furman, for help finding a high school coaching job.

"He told me to come to Furman and be a graduate assistant, so I could get my master's and get some experience," Johnson continues. "I lucked out after one year because the secondary coach left and I got the job."

Johnson's luck stretched into a 17-year stint at Furman, just 40 miles from the Clemson campus. During his tenure, the Patriots won eight Southern Conference titles, five while Johnson was the defensive coordinator. Eight times, the squad finished in the top-20 nationally and the 1988 team won the NCAA I-AA National Championship. That team's defense was ranked number-one in the country in scoring defense, second in overall defense. The Patriots led the Southern Conference in total defense for five years and led the conference in rushing defense for seven years.

Although he was only a hop, skip, and a jump away from the Clemson campus, Johnson didn't have much time to keep up with his former team during his years at Furman. "For years, we didn't have any off-weeks at Furman, so I mostly kept up with Clemson by reading the scores in the paper or sometimes seeing them on television. When we started having off-weeks, I came to some games, but after being around football all the time, I didn't want to be around it when I had an off-week."

"Sometimes Furman would play some of the same opponents Clemson had played and I would watch Clemson film. Furman played Clemson in 1979, 1988 and 1989 and it was fun coming back here as a coach. Furman wasn't expected to win any of those games, so I could play loose. We played well defensively."

Although Johnson was a busy winning title at Furman, much of the blood in the Johnson family was steadily running orange. Brother Johnny Johnson played baseball for the Tigers from 1968-70, and played the first home run in Tiger Stad.

The rest of the six siblings in the Johnson family remained steadfast Clemson fans while their brother Bobby was coaching down the road.

"Even though I was coaching at Furman, my brothers and sisters were the Furman fans," says Johnson. "Every once in a while, when Clemson was away, they would come to my games, but the rest of the time, they were at Clemson. On a typical home game, there are probably 18-20 members of my family tailgating and going to the game."

When Ken Hatfield came calling last winter, the Johnson siblings excitedly questioned their brother about his decision. "They didn't put any pressure on me, they just wanted to know, 'But did you call me a lot and say, 'What are you going to do? What's your decision?'"

Johnson had received several other coaching offers during his years at Furman, but never one that could lure him away from the school where he had enjoyed so much success. Although he had always had a soft spot for his alma mater, the decision to leave Furman was not an easy one.

"It was a battle trying to decide whether or not to leave," he recalls. "I felt that it would have to be a very special situation to get me to move. My wife had just gotten a good job, as Associate Director for Continuing Education at Furman. One thing that helped me make the decision was that I didn't have to actually move. We're still living in the same place, I just have a longer commute every morning and evening."

Johnson knew when he took the position at Clemson, that he was taking over a defense that boasted only one returning senior starter. He was also aware that his primary position, the defensive secondary, returned no starters, and a passel of sophomores and freshmen to take over the vacant slots.

"I knew that they were good players or they wouldn't be here," he says, "so that didn't even figure into my decision. It was a challenge to coach such a young group. They are so eager and I love the way my guys play. All of them have a lot of energy, they have great work habits, and they try to do what you tell them to do. That's all you can ask for as a coach."

One Clemson player who has particularly benefited from Johnson's instruction is corner Andre Humphrey. "I had to help Andre learn to think like a defensive back instead of a line- backer. He's got a linebacker mentality, but at cornerback, he's in a vulnerable position. If he tries to do too much, it will show up. He's really worked hard and he's doing a great job."

Humphrey admits that Johnson has helped him curb his linebacker tendencies. "I was too aggressive and at corner, I needed to be a lot cooler," says the feisty defensive back. "He's always stressed to me that I need to have controlled aggression and that has helped me a lot."

Johnson's players aren't the only ones who have to control their aggression. Johnson himself, a quiet, reserved figure off the field, has also been known to get pretty intense on the football field. "He's a totally different person when he goes on that field," says Humphrey. "When we're out in meetings, he explains things quietly and calmly, but when he's on the field, look out. When he's coaching out there, you can't help but get hyped up with him. And if you don't, he's going to stay on you all day long."

This arrangement is indeed a reciprocal one. Johnson says, "I'm pretty low-key in my office, but on the field, you ask your players to be intense and concentrate, so you have to do it too. I can't expect them to be aggressive if I'm just saying, 'Okay, you did that wrong, but don't worry about it.' I don't think that's the right approach to football."

Another one of Johnson's defensive backs, Dexter McCleon, went through the same thing his coach had gone through when he was moved from quarterback to defensive back before the 1993 season. Although he thought of himself as an offensive player, McCleon picked up his new position so quickly that by the fifth game of the season he had earned a starting position.

"Coach Johnson has taught me a lot," says McCleon. "Since this was my first time playing defensive back, I had to improve in all aspects. I'm still trying to learn everything, but he helped give me the confidence I needed to make the change to the new position."

Johnson only caught 18 passes in his Clemson career, so he really can't claim a "greatest receiver" title. But, the way the Clemson defense has been playing the last seven weeks he might at least get to coach the "most improved defense in Clemson history."

Johnson has spent countless hours teaching the youngest secondary in Clemson history.

Tiger Baseball

by Chris Metzler

As the 1991 baseball season began, the New York Yankees were preparing for a repeat without Casey Stengel. During his time as head coach, Stengel won seven World Series. Following 12 seasons at the helm, Stengel stepped down leaving Ralph Houk to manage the team. With this change there were concerns that the team would falter, and that the new coach would not bring the winning pressure of the former coach. But Houk guided the Yankees to a World Championship in 1961 and 1962.

This season, Clemson is much like the 1961 New York Yankees as another very successful coach has stepped down, and his replacement hopes to continue the winning tradition. Long time Clemson coach Bill Wilhelm retired on July 3, 1993 after 36 seasons as the Tigers head baseball coach. During his tenure he won 1161 games, 11 Atlantic Coast Conference Championships, and took his team to the College World Series six times.

Coach Jack Leggett feels that taking over for a successful coach does not add any pressure to his first season as the Tigers' head coach. "I don't look at it as pressure at all. Every step of the way, in my 17 years of coaching, the only type of pressure that put on myself is self pressure to perform. I just work hard and do the right things. I have the confidence that this coaching staff can do well and continue this program in the direction it needs to be in, I don't look at it as anything but a positive."

After spending two seasons as the assistant coach under Wilhelm, Leggett has learned an approach that he will employ as head coach. "I think the biggest thing I took from Coach Wilhelm was to be as simple as possible in your approach, and not have too many things on the players' minds. Prepare the players in practice, and then let them go out and play the game. He always wanted them just to have fun on the field and make them work hard at practice."

Leggett began his coaching career in 1978 at Vermont at the age of 23. At that time he was the youngest NCAA coach in the nation. Prior to that he was coach of the club team so he was basically charged with jump starting the program. He had to do everything from recruiting to fund raising for his program without the help of any assistant coaches.

"At such a young age I had many responsibilities to handle by myself including organizing a budget, recruiting, organizing practice, arranging travel plans, raising money, and working with alumni. I think I was ahead of the game because I was around athletics at an early age. My dad was a coach and my brothers and I always played sports." In addition to his youth another thing that made his first head coaching job interesting was the fact that he had to share the office with the swimming coach, his father. Generally his father let him do what he thought best.

After spending five seasons at Vermont, he decided to move south to Western Carolina, where he was quite successful. "The move to Western Carolina was a good move for me. I was able to move to good weather and good competition. Our teams at Western Carolina were in the Southern Conference championship game eight of the nine years that I was there. The guys had good attitudes and were hard workers. They listened to what we tried to teach them, and they accepted the discipline that was needed to be a winner. During that stretch we had some good recruiting years and all the players believed in the program." In nine seasons at Western Carolina, Leggett led the Catamounts to a 302-229 record. His teams made five trips to the NCAA baseball Tournament (1985-89) while also winning the Southern Conference Tournament in each of those five seasons.

Then, in the summer of 1991 Leggett moved to Clemson University where he served as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator under Wilhelm. He held that position until this past summer when he was named the head coach.

As the head coach, Leggett will use the philosophy that he has developed over the years to guide the Tigers. "My experiences as a player and coach have come together to form what I think is a sound philosophy. I accept the fundamentals and stress that hard work pays off. If you work extremely hard on the 'quality happenings,' (like the bunt, the squeeze, and good base running) in practice, it makes you a much better team. My players will be totally prepared when they walk out on the field because of repetition in practice, especially when working on the fundamentals. Coach Wilhelm had a great amount of success with his style. Although I am a little different in my approach, the guys have responded very well to what we are trying to do here."

This year's team looks to be very strong in pitching with a combination of talented youth and cagey veterans. "Pitching could be our greatest strength this season. We have a dozen pitchers ready and able to pitch at this level, giving us more depth than we ever had. Andy Taulbee and Jason Dawsey are ready to step in and be effective starters and then we have several freshmen who will battle for the other three spots to the successful season."

In the outfield two football players will join the team in the spring and battle for playing time. "Dexter McLean and Andre Humphrey will join us in the spring. Dexter can an outstanding baseball player, he is capable of starting for us this spring. Andre Humphrey is also coming out for the team this season after wrestling last year. He was drafted coming out of high school as an outfielder but he has been away from it for a while and will need to work on his timing."

"We also have Shane Monahan who can be an outstanding player in this league if he continues to work hard. Last season he was a Freshman All-American following an outstanding season. Gary Burnham, who has some outstanding potential as a hitter, and Mike Hampton, who can play all the positions, will join Andre and Dexter as our outfielders this season."

The infield will consist of Dave Miller at first, Hoby Mork at second and Seth Brizek at short. Paul Galloway will be the third baseman, but Mork may see action there as Brian Schroeder pushes for time at second. "Dave swung the bat the best of any of our players in the fall. He really came on strong at the end of fall workouts and we hope he continues into the spring. Seth and Hoby could provide us with a very strong combination up the middle. Both are strong armed, quick and have good baseball instincts. We also have Brian Schroeder at second. If he continues to improve, we may move Hoby to third at times and put Brian in at second."

The catching duties will be handled by a duo of seniors in Andy Monin and Mike Eydenberg. "Both have a chance to be good players this year. They work well with each other and have handled the pitchers well in the fall. With Andy batting from the right and Mike from the left, we will be able to use both of them quite a bit this season."

Looking ahead to his first season at Clemson, and beyond, Leggett has set goals for the program under his guidance. "I think this season we can challenge again for the ACC title. Our goal at Clemson every season is to have a baseball program that is well respected by the staff, faculty, and administration, both athletically and academically. I want to have players who are well respected and that earn their degrees. I hope they all become productive members of their community. If those things happen, the wins and losses take care of themselves. I would also love to have the community rally behind these kids to fill up the stands. It would be great to have them wait in line to watch great competition. I want our fans to be excited and proud of Clemson Baseball."

Leggett is in his first year as Clemson's head coach, but it won't be his first year at Clemson, nor his first year as a Division I head coach.

1993 Tiger Football
by Bob Bradley

It's not unusual for an athlete to be on back-to-back conference championship teams. But it is unusual when the consecutive titles are in different conferences. That's what happened in 1953 and 1954 with the Clemson baseball team. As far as can be determined, there were 17 players who were on both of Bob Smith's squads.

The Tigers were members of the Southern Conference in '53 and their 11-6 mark was good enough to take home the crown. By '54 Clemson was a charter member of the Atlantic Coast Conference. This came about when Maryland and Clemson both accepted football bowl bids after the 1952 season and the presidents of the Southern Conference put the two schools on conference probation for a year for going against their wishes. My how times have changed.

In 1954, the ACC had a 'make-up rule' in baseball where all games had to be played regardless of why they were postponed. Clemson finished with an 8-4 league mark and the Terps were 6-4 with rained-out games with Duke and North Carolina State. Maryland officials telegraphed conference baseball committee chairman Frank Howard "conceding the championship to Clemson" and Howard declared his Tigers as champs.

There were several outstanding players on both of these championship teams. Around the infield in '54 were Dick Swetenburg at first, Roy Coker at second, Barry Crocker at short and Wymann Morris at third. Bill Barnett, Doug Kingsmore and Roger Gaines rounded the outfield and Bobby Morris did most of the catching.

Kingsmore led the team in runs scored (25), tied with Coker for hits (33), paced the team in home runs (10), total bases (66), runs batted in (27), batting (.371) and slugging (.742) and Coker had the lead in at bats (105), doubles (5) and triples (4).

But the showcase of this team was a junior lefthander named Billy O'Dell. This southpaw from Newberry won 19 games in three years when there were only 63 played in those three seasons.

Bobby Morris, who caught more O'Dell pitches than anyone else because he was also his battery mate in high school, American Legion, service, college and textile ball, recalls that O'Dell's bread-and-butter pitch was his fast ball.

"He had a good curve," Morris remembers. "His change-up wasn't all that great, but his fast ball would come in and rise, and batters would swing under the ball. He threw a good hard ball. He was hard to catch, never mind hit."

Morris caught two O'Dell no-hitters, one in high school against Clinton and one at Clemson against South Carolina. "I recall that Billy pitched a no-hitter on Tuesday against Clinton and came back and threw a one-hitter against Union two days later."

Morris was also behind the plate May 8, 1953, when O'Dell had his only collegiate no-hitter. He only struck out nine Gamecocks in this game and allowed four base runners, three by walks and one on his own error. Morris threw out three runners attempting to steal and one runner was left stranded. Only two balls were hit to the outfield.

That was the second time O'Dell had faced just one batter over regulation in a game. In high school, he struck out 28 in one game. Morris was his catcher in this one and was charged with a passed ball on one whiff that allowed the batter to reach safely.

O'Dell had a one-hitter and just one batter over regulation in a game. In high school, he struck out 28 in one game. Morris was his catcher in this one and was charged with a passed ball on one whiff that allowed the batter to reach safely.

O'Dell had a one-hitter against The Citadel just before no-hitting South Carolina and followed that gem with a two-hitter facing Furman. He had at least 15 games in which he struck out 10 or more batters, but his biggest night here took place during his freshman season (1952). The Tigers squared off against South Carolina in Orangeburg in a night game.

Billy started out by fanning the first five Gamecocks he faced. He also K'd the last quintet as well, and 11 in between for a total of 21. He struck out the side in the first, third, seventh and ninth, and as in high school, he fanned four in one inning when catcher Charles McLaurin was charged with an error on the third strike. That was one of three games where he allowed just four hits.

Swetenburg played with Billy two years at Clemson ('53 and '54). "From the standpoint of athletic ability, I always classified him like a cat out there on the mound. He could really move...very versatile...he was a great fielding pitcher. Nobody bunted on Billy and got on base. He had a great move to first and not many people stole bases on him."

Swetenburg remembered a game at Duke when Coach Smith received a glancing blow on the forehead from a bat that slipped out of a player's hand during batting practice as Smith was hitting fungo grounders to the infielders. Smith was carried to Duke Hospital where he was treated. "Before Leaving," Swetenburg said, "Smith appointed Billy as the coach for the game. Coach came back sometime during the game, but sat up in the stands."

After three seasons at Clemson O'Dell signed with the Baltimore Orioles and he also played with Milwaukee, San Francisco, Atlanta and Pittsburgh. He stayed in the Big Top for 13 years, registering 105 victories. And he performed as a 'two-way pitcher'—a starter and reliever—unheard of nowadays, and recorded 48 saves.

One of Billy's major league highlights came in 1958 just four years out of Clemson—when the Major League All-Star game was in his own ball park—the only one ever played in Memorial Stadium. Twenty-four at the time, O'Dell pitched three perfect innings and was named the game's most valuable player. He also played in the 1959 dream game and gave up his only All-Star hit in this one—a 240-foot home run to Junior Gilliam—in the Los Angeles Coliseum (which was used while Dodger Stadium was being completed).

The former Tiger All-American, who now only goes hunting and fishing on days that end in 'Y', says that Ted Williams was the toughest player he ever faced. "You talk about Ted Williams and then you talk about everybody else," Billy said. "He's the best hitter I've ever seen. He just hit the ball hard all the time. I've seen some more great ones, but Williams was just a cut above everybody."

Billy called the San Francisco loss in the seventh game of the 1962 World Series as his most disappointing one, although he wasn't the losing pitcher. "I pitched the last two innings," he remembers, "and if (Bobby) Richardson hadn't caught that line drive by (Willie) McCovey I would have been the winning pitcher. I don't believe anybody could have hit the ball any harder. Bobby just back-handed the ball and it was all over."

The Clemson baseball brochure lists the year-by-year pitching statistics in games appeared, games started, complete games, innings pitched, lowest earned run average, strikeouts, games won and shutouts. O'Dell is the leader in all of these categories in 1952, 1953 and 1954—except shutouts in 1952 when the team did not have one.

In Career stats, he is first in Clemson history in fewest hits per nine innings pitched (5.29), strikeouts per nine innings (12.29), earned run average (1.51—including an 0.79 his junior season) and strikeout-to-walk ratio (3.61 strikeouts for every walk issued). He is third in complete games (19), third in strikeouts (300) and second in career shutouts (five).

Swetenburg recently recalled that, "Billy always impressed me that once he warmed up he could basically tell Coach Smith if he was going to be good or bad...he knew...he had the feel."

Morris, his close friend and battery mate, might be the most qualified on O'Dell. "He's like a radio. Plug him in and he came on.

O'Dell still holds the Clemson single game strikeout record. He K'd 21 against South Carolina in 1952.
