Color Death Valley Greene on Saturday

Even though Clemson is famous for its orange clad fans at Death Valley, green, or should we say Greene, might be the most prevalent hue on September 2.

Nealon Greene is the number-one quarterback for the Clemson Tigers heading into opening day. His second year as the Clemson starter.

Western Carolina's starting quarterback is Chad Greene, a senior from Yidknville, NC who passed for 1900 yards and 15 touchdowns last season.

Clemson's Greene was the starter in five games last year, more than any other 1994 Tiger QB. The native of Yonkers, NY completed 74 percent of his passes last year, second best ever for a Clemson freshman, and threw his first 12 passes without an interception, a record for any Tiger signal caller at the beginning of his career.

Greene has been solid in the preseason, completing 12-24 for 135 yards and two TDs in the two scrimmages in Memorial Stadium. Last spring he completed over 65 percent of his passes in scrimmages. Tommy West will be happy with 12 performances this year like the one he had at North Carolina in 1994 when he completed 9-12 passes in leading the Tigers to a 28-17 win over the 12th ranked Tar Heels.

Western Carolina's Greene is a model student-athlete, carrying a 3.58 GPA in accounting. He was a CoSIDA Academic All-District choice last year and a member of the league's academic all-star team. He showed his abilities in a victory over UT-Chattanooga last year when he completed 11-12 passes for 173 yards and three scores. He threw for 242 yards and four touchdowns against VMI a year ago.

This is the second time in the last three years that there has been an odd name similarity on opening day. In 1993 Clemson opened with UNLV and both teams had starters named Jason Davis. In fact, they faced each other in the game's big play. Clemson's Jason Davis, a wide receiver, beat UNLV's Jason Davis, a defensive back, on a 40-yard pass play that led to a key touchdown in Clemson's 24-14 win.

Clemson vs. Western Carolina

Clemson holds a 4-0 lead in the series against Western Carolina. The four victories all took place between 1980 and 1987 and the Tiger victory margin has increased with each game.

The closest Western Carolina has come to defeating Clemson took place in 1980 when the Tigers escaped with a 17-10 victory. Edgar Pickett and Chuck McSwain each scored on one-yard plunges to carry the Tigers to victory. Pickett's TD run came after Chuck Rose blocked a punt and took over at the Western Carolina 29. McSwain's TD culminated a 99-yard drive in the fourth period.

Brendon Crite was Clemson's top rusher with 88 yards, and Clemson gained 278 yards rushing as a team. Western placekicker Dean Biasucci, who has gone on to an NFL career, booted a 40-yarder in the final minute of play to bring the Catamounts to within seven points, but Willie Underwood recovered the ensuing onside kick and the Tigers ran out the clock.

The Tigers won two years later by a 21-10 score at Clemson, then the Tigers took a 44-10 victory in 1983. The last time the two teams met was in 1987, and Clemson came out on top, 43-0. Rodney Williams completed 9-12 passes for 154 yards, one of his top passing days as a Tiger. Five of the completions went to Gary Cooper for 122 yards.

Joe Henderson rushed for 80 yards and a score, while Terry Allen had 75 yards rushing and two scores. Wesley McCadden also had two touchdowns as Clemson jumped out to a 30-0 advantage at halftime. Michael Dean Perry had six tackles, including 1.5 sacks to lead the defense.

Clemson has not lost to a Southern Conference school since the Tigers left that league to join the ACC in 1953. Clemson was a charter member of the Southern Conference and won the league title under Frank Howard in 1940 and 1948.

The Tigers have won 30 in a row over Southern Conference teams, since a 6-0 loss at Southern Methodist in 1952. Clemson has won 39 in a row over teams currently in the Southern Conference. Clemson has not lost to a current Southern Conference team since October 9, 1943 when the Tigers lost to VMI in Roanoke, VA by a 12-7 count.

Clemson last lost at home to a team currently in the Southern Conference on November 26, 1936 when Furman beat the Tigers 12-0. Clemson has won 39 straight home games over Southern Conference schools dating back to a 1951 loss to Wake Forest. Clemson's last win over a Southern Conference team took place last year, a 27-6 win over Furman and Clemson graduate Bobby Johnson.

The last nine Southern Conference teams to play Clemson have failed to score a touchdown. Clemson did not yield a touchdown to a team from the Southern Conference since 1984 when a Sparky Woods led Appalachian State team lost to the Tigers, 40-7.

Johnny Sowell scored on a nine-yard TD run from Rodney Williams with 3:50 to go in the third period. Since then, Southern Conference schools have gone 37 quarters without a TD against Clemson. There have been just four field goals scored against Clemson by Southern Conference schools since 1984.

The closest a Southern Conference team has come to beating Clemson since the Tigers moved to the ACC in 1953 is two points. In 1973 Clemson snuck past The Citadel, 14-12 at Death Valley. Three years later Clemson beat the same team, 10-7. Those are the only two occasions since 1953 that a Southern Conference team has come within a touchdown of the Tigers.

Dawkins Leads Defense

Clemson has ranked in the top 20 in the nation in scoring defense each of the last two years. One of the common denominators on that starting unit has been Brian Dawkins, a second-team preseason All-America safety according to Athlon Magazine.

Dawkins has started each of the last 23 Clemson games and has played in 34 straight over the last three years. He has registered 162 career tackles, 13 pass deflections and five interceptions over this time. The native of Jacksonville, FL is noted for his hitting ability. Just ask Florida State, where he had 15 tackles last year, fourth highest ever for a Clemson defensive back, in helping the Tigers hold the Seminoles to a season low 17 points.

Dawkins and Marvin Cross are returning ACC players on defense for 1995, but only Dawkins will be in action on opening day. Cross, a defensive end, injured a knee during pre season drills and will miss at least the first three games. He is Clemson's leading returning tackler in the defensive line. But, the Tigers do have experience returning upfront in Warren Forney, Carlos Curry, and Lamarick Simpson, all players in their fourth season with the program.

The secondary is also experienced, led by Dawkins, and junior cornerback Dexter McCleon. The latter did not play baseball last spring, but put all his efforts into the Clemson football program. He has shown a steady improvement and is on the verge of an all-star season.

Greene hopes to be Clemson's first healthy quarterback for the course of a season since 1991. He is one of two starting quarterbacks named Greene in today's game.
Sapp Makes Move to Defense

The Clemson linebacker position was wiped out by the graduation of four superb players, Tim Jones, Michael Barber, Darrell Stephens and Wardell Rouse. All have made NFL rosters with the exception of Jones, who suffered a knee injury in training camp.

Although Clemson does not have a returning starter at linebacker, Tommy West does have a player at linebacker who has been a starter before...at quarterback. Patrick Sapp, now at 6-4 and 255 pounds, has been at a new position during the Spring and Fall camps, leading the team in sacks in stadium scrimmages over this time period.

Sapp had his moments as Clemson's starting quarterback, including a 12-22 for 205 yards and two touchdowns performance in a 40-7 victory over 18th ranked North Carolina in 1992, and the winning TD pass to Terry Smith in the 1993 Peach Bowl. He is the only quarterback in Clemson history to record three consecutive games of at least 200 yards of total offense, and is one of just two Tigers to have at least four 200-yard passing games in a career.

Sapp will try to become just the fifth Clemson player to serve as a starter over the course of a season on either side of the ball over the course of his career. Since the two-platoon system went into effect in 1969, Bobby Johnson, now the coach at Furman, Don Kelley, Steve Gibbs and Jeff Wells have been a starter for an entire season on offense one year and on defense another.

Sapp, Andye McCrorey, sophomore Mond Wilson, junior Tony DeSue and freshmen Anthony Simmons and Chris Jones, will all be out to help Clemson fans forget the 1994 fousome that was a prime reason Clemson ranked 17th in the nation in scoring defense and 14th in rushing defense.

McCrorey is a graduate student who has never started a game at Clemson, while Wilson has been the top tackle in the preseason scrimmages and is one of the leaders of a group of nine freshman linebackers signed by West last February.

Western Carolina Scouting Report

Sixth-year head coach Steve Hodgin has brought the Western Carolina program to a new level of consistency. The Catamounts have had three straight winning seasons, and the Western Carolina program has not put four in a row together since 1976-79 when Bob Waters guided the program.

Hodgin's offense is led by Chad Greene, the signal caller we referred to earlier. But, he has many weapons to lean on, including backcourt David Patton, a 5-10 senior who pulled in 32 passes for 564 yards and six scores last year. Wes Greene is the top returner and is a consensus preseason I-AA All-American according to the Sporting News.

On defense, Derek Summers is the leader. He accumulated 45 tackles, including five sacks and eight tackles for loss, in 1994, a season in which he won second-team All-Southern Conference acclaim. Cornerback Donnell Brison had 45 tackles last year and led the Southern Conference in pass deflections with 14.

Herrin Faces Alma Mater, Son

September 2 will be a special day for Clemson Assistant Coach Les Herrin. Not only will he be coaching against his alma mater, he will be coaching against his son. Deke Herrin is a flanker on the Western Carolina team and a former standout at Daniel High in Clemson. The red-shirt freshman has spent most of his youth in Clemson, including the National Championship 1981 season when his dad was in his first year as a coach of Clemson's linebackers.

Les played at Western Carolina between 1969-71 and he was the captain of the Chanticleers as a senior. He earn the team MVP that year and the MVP of the defense as a junior. He is now in his 10th season at Clemson. He has coached such notable Tiger players as Jeff Davis, Johnny Rembert, Chester McClellon and Brenton Buckner. All had or are still having standout NFL careers.

There are actually a couple of other coaching connections in today's game. Mark Spier, Western Carolina's defensive line coach, was a student assistant coach at Clemson between 1986-89 and once coached at nearby Seneca High School. Current Catamounts assistant coach Tom Bodine is the brother of former Clemson All-American Rob Bodine. Tom had 453 tackles for his career at WCU that ended last year, an all-time record. Rob is the co-holder of the Clemson single season mark for tackles for loss.

Soccer Season Opens Tonight

While Clemson's football team opens this afternoon, both Clemson soccer programs also open this weekend. Tonight at 7:00 PM at Riggs Field, the Lady Tigers will play host to UNC-Greensboro. Coach Tracey Leone's team is ranked in the top 20 in the nation and is looking for a second straight NCAA bid. The Lady Tigers will meet defending NCAA Champion North Carolina on Friday night at 7:00 PM at Riggs Field.

The Men's soccer team, under first-year coach Trevor Adair, will open its season Sunday afternoon at Riggs Field against South Carolina at 2:00 PM. The Tigers, ranked as high as number-two in the nation by some preseason polls, are led by Wolfe Harris, the nation's top scorer in 1994.

Clemson's volleyball team opens its season on the road this weekend at the Colorado State Invitational, but Jolene Hoover's team will be at home Tuesday night at 7:00 PM against DePaul.

Hardee's
By Tim Bourret

Even though Clemson's football heritage is in its 100th year, it does not take long to determine the most significant accomplishment in the program's history—the 1981 National Championship. And, along the same lines, it does not take long to single out the most significant team leader of that great accomplishment—Jeff Davis.

When reviewing Davis's contributions to Clemson athletics in terms of leadership, citizenship, athletic records and awards, it is no surprise that he is being honored today as he joins former teammates Steve Fuller, Banks McFadden and Frank Howard in the Clemson Ring of Honor.

Induction in the Ring of Honor at Clemson Memorial Stadium is the highest honor a Clemson football player can receive. The honoree must have made a significant contribution to the heritage of Clemson football on a national basis from an individual and team standpoint. The honoree also must be a college graduate and must already be a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame.

"Jeff Davis made many landmark contributions to Clemson athletics," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson, a member of the 11-person Ring of Honor Committee. "His on-the-field records are significant, but his intangible effects as a leader are even more significant. We tend to compare all captains in any sport to Jeff Davis as far as leadership is concerned."

The native of Greensboro, NC, who now lives in Tampa, FL, registered a Clemson record 175 tackles in leading a 1981 defense that set a school record for turnovers forced (41) in a season. He still holds the Clemson career record for caused fumbles (10) and recovered fumbles (8), and the single game record for tackles (24) against North Carolina in 1980.

He played 40 games for Clemson between 1978-81 and had 469 career tackles, 16 passes broken up, 18 tackles for loss, four sacks and four interceptions. He started all 35 games for the Tigers between 1979-81. He was a model of consistency, having registered at least double figures in tackles in 22 of his last 23 games. He still holds the school record for consecutive double figure tackle games (19). The only game he missed in that time period was the 1980 Western Carolina game (ironically, today's opponent), when he played just six plays due to an injury. Overall, he had 30 double figure tackle games in his 40-game career and led the Clemson team in tackles 25 times.

"It is hard to express my feelings on being inducted into the Clemson Ring of Honor," said Davis last July when the announcement was made. "This honor should be spread among my coaches and teammates and all of Clemson who had an impact on my life during my career. No one receives an honor like this without help. I want to thank the Lord for giving me the ability and the opportunity to come to Clemson."

When the announcement was made that Davis would be inducted into the Ring of Honor, he would not single anyone out at Clemson, but he did tell a story of how former legendary trainer Herman McGee, who worked at Clemson for nearly 40 years, had an impact on his life as a freshman. "I had an ankle injury my freshman year and I was struggling," said Davis. "I had never been injured before. He was there to encourage me, to get off the training table and do what I could. He told me to smile so the world would smile back at me. I have always remembered that." This story of McGee's positive impact on young Clemson athletes is not unique. McGee died at the end of Davis's freshman year, but Davis remembered McGee's maxims and kept improving.

For his accomplishments in 1981, Davis was named the MVP of the ACC, just the third defensive player in league history to win the award. He concluded the season in grand style with a 14-tackle performance in the 22-15 Orange Bowl win over Nebraska that clinched the National Championship for the Tigers, Clemson's first national championship in any sport. Davis was named the Defensive MVP of the contest.

At the conclusion of the season, Davis was named a first-team All-American by United Press, the Football Coaches Association, the Football Writers Association, the Walter Camp Foundation and the Football News. He was named the Lineman of the Year by the Atlanta Touchdown Club.

Davis has many fond memories of Clemson's National Championship season. "We had purpose. We took everything one game at a time and did not get caught up in the chase for the National Championship. When we started the season, the championship was not a (realistic) goal. We were just coming off a 6-5 season in 1980 in which we all thought we could have done much better."

"Beating Georgia early in the season was certainly a big game, a respect game for us because Georgia had won the National Championship the year before and they had Herschel Walker, who everyone was talking about for the Heisman Trophy (Marcus Allen of USC won the award that year). That game brought us into the polls, but we didn't really think about winning the national championship until we beat North Carolina in Chapel Hill."

That was truly a landmark game in ACC history, not just Clemson history. Clemson entered the contest ranked number-two in the nation, while the Tar Heels were undefeated and ranked eighth. It is still the only ACC game in history that pitted a pair of top 10 teams. The Tigers were victorious 10-8, thanks in part to Davis and his 15 tackles, including 10 first hits. His film grade that day from then linebacker coach and cur-current Clemson offensive line coach Les Herrin was an 88 percent.

"Jeff Davis was not going to let the 1980 season repeat itself," said Herrin, the only current member of the Clemson coaching staff with a Clemson National Championship Ring. "He made himself a great player with hard work because he did not have the great physical tools. His teammates saw this work ethic and they respected him."

After clinching the ACC title with a win over Maryland and the state championship with a convincing victory at South Carolina, Davis and his Clemson teammates prepared to meet fourth-ranked Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl, a game that would determine the National Championship.

"We just knew we were going to win that night," reflects Davis, who was nicknamed The Judge by then assistant sports information director Kim Kelly. "I think the first quarter of the game was the key because they fumbled and William Devane recovered. That led to a score and that was something we had been doing all year, forcing turnovers and taking over the game. That just told us that this game was not going to be any different than any of the others."

When a desperation Husker pass was deflected away by Andy Headen, Clemson had claimed its first national championship in any sport. "It was an unbelievable feeling. Winning the national championship becomes a part of your life, you carry it with you every where you go.

"I think the most important aspect of that team was that we cared about each other. I think the seniors were respected by the rest of the team and that was important from a leadership point of view."

Perry Tuttle, Davis's roommate for four years and also an All-American on Clemson's 1981 National Championship team, recalls that season and Davis's passion for the game. "When we were in the room at night he would talk about the defense and what it was going to do until I fell asleep," said Tuttle, who now has his own sports marketing firm in Charlotte.

"As the season went on we just started dreaming about what could happen with this team and as we went along everything started to come true."

Davis also credits the Clemson coaches that year for the team's success.
"The coaches had a strong commitment to win. I give a lot of credit to Danny Ford. He played a big part in the team's and my success at Clemson. He saw something in me and believed that I could be a leader. He pushed me to be a leader, and I thank him for that."

Ford has fond memories of one of the significant players who helped him to become the youngest coach (33) in college football history to win the National Championship. "Jeff Davis got hurt early in his career and people got down on him. But, he proved over time that he could work through the pain. He became a player we used as an example to other players as the years went on. He was not that big, not that fast, but he became a great hitter, a great player and certainly great leader. When he spoke to the team, everyone listened."

Davis was a fif-th round draft choice of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1982, but proved the NFL scouts wrong by posting impressive numbers in a six-year NFL career. The inside linebacker played in 83 games, 72 as a starter between 1982-87. He led Tampa Bay in tackles three of the six years, including a career high 165 stops in 1984, and served as the team captain for four seasons. He still ranks third in Bucs history in career tackles with 662 and is fourth in carried tumbles with 11.

Davis has been just as successful in life after football. In addition to his employment as the used car manager of Reeves Import Motor Cars in Tampa, FL, he is also is his second year as pastor of Covenant Worship Church in Tampa. He and his wife Joni graduated from Clemson on the same day in 1984 and they are the parents of four daughters. That immediate family and many others from his native Greensboro, NC, are expected to join Davis for today's ceremony.

"One of my main goals in life is to touch the lives of other people and touch them in a positive way. Any time you receive an award like this it means you've been surrounded by great people.
I want to thank all the people at Clemson, because no one receives an honor like this without help. I am proud to say I am a Clemson graduate and that I represented the University. Hopefully I have had as positive an impact on them as they have had on me."

Today, we all look forward to seeing Jeff Davis reach one of those goals, as he receives the greatest honor accorded to a Clemson football player.

1995 CLEMSON FOOTBALL
The More Things Change, The More Things Look Like...

Dodge Neon Sport Coupe

It's a new personality for a car that had plenty to begin with. Say hello to the other Dodge Neon.

Dodge Stratus

We questioned everything. Which will explain why this car is so full of answers.

Dodge Avenger

It's the kind of car that could get by on looks alone. We made sure it'll never have to.

1995 Dodge Viper RT/10

We used a ten-cylinder, 400 hp engine to bring the American roadster back up to speed.

Dodge Intrepid

Its cab-forward design changed everything. Including the very architecture of the American sedan.

Dodge Grand Caravan

We thought of everything. No wonder it's just as original as the original.

Dodge Ram Club Cab

First we changed the rules about what you should expect from a truck. Then we stretched them.

The name fits.
The Clemson family has a new leader. President Constantine “Deno” Curris became the school’s 13th president on May 22, 1995.

“More than any other university with which I have been familiar, there is a deep affection for this university and for its heritage,” says Dr. Curris.

“That affection was an important quality that led me into the process when I was asked to be a candidate.

“I have become a believer in ‘learning by osmosis,’ gaining a sense of place by becoming a part.

“I am most eager to absorb the Clemson atmosphere by strolling the grounds, walking through offices, visiting classrooms.”

One of Dr. Curris’ hobbies is gardening, growing traditional vegetables, and he has spent his career helping universities grow and prosper as well.

Before arriving at the Clemson University campus, he was president of the University of Northern Iowa for 11 years. During his tenure, Northern Iowa was the only university in Iowa to experience enrollment growth. And, with one exception, the school’s state appropriation also increased every year. The U.S. News and World Report cited UNI in 1993 as one of the best educational values among public universities. Its campus has also been ranked as the safest in the nation.

Curris assumed the Presidency of Northern Iowa in August, 1983. He became only the seventh chief executive in the school’s history. At Northern Iowa, he led the school in raising admission standards and implementing a more rigorous comprehensive general education program. He expanded Northern Iowa’s reputation as an institution for teacher education, gaining national recognition for programs in business, fine arts, humanities, natural sciences, and social and behavioral sciences.

He oversaw the development of international exchange programs and cutting-edge technological efforts such as centers for waste reduction, plastics technology, small business development, applied research in metal casting, and recycling and reuse technology transfer. Curris was also the driving force behind a $25 million private fund raising drive to build a performing arts center and fund endowed chairs and professorships.

Curris also directed the completion of extensive campus improvements and building renovations.

Dr. Curris’ philosophy, supported by hard work, accounts for much of his success, the belief in constant improvement—gradual sometimes, but consistent.

“The real work of a university is building quality in incremental steps,” he said. “Building the quality of the experience for students, both in education and career opportunities.”

Prior to assuming the Northern Iowa presidency, Curris served 10 years as president of Murray State in Kentucky. The university’s 130,000 square-foot student center is named the Curris Center in his honor.

Curris received a bachelor’s degree, magna cum laude in political science from Kentucky in 1962; a master’s degree in political science and public administration from Illinois in 1965, and his doctorate in higher education from Kentucky in 1967.

He currently serves as chairman-elect and director of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and is involved in a number of other professional and civic organizations.

Curris was born November 13, 1940, in Lexington, KY. He is married to Jo Hern Curris, a tax attorney. They are the parents of a son, Robert Page, and a daughter, Elena.

“What has really struck us at Clemson, is the immense loyalty that we have sensed among the Clemson family. The affection and pride that people have for the University permeates every conversation.”

Tommy West, was named head coach of the Clemson Tigers on November 29, 1993. Less than a month later he already had a bowl victory on his ledger, a 14-13 triumph in the Peach Bowl, Clemson’s sixth bowl victory in the last eight years.

In his first full season, West guided the Tigers to a 5-6 record, and it was a season that showed week-by-week improvement. The ‘94 club, which featured the youngest Clemson offensive unit in 50 years, finished with a number-one ranking in turnover margin, a landmark ranking in Clemson football history. The Tigers were ranked as high as 21st in the USA Today poll, and finished the season with three wins in its last four outings, including a decisive conquest of #12 North Carolina in Chapel Hill.

West’s defense ranked 14th in the nation against the run and 17th in scoring defense. The aggressive unit forced 29 turnovers and was one of the most reliable in the nation inside the redzone.

West also recruited one of the most impressive and productive freshman classes in Clemson history. Eighteen freshmen lettered in 1994, most for a Clemson rookie class since the 1940s. At times, the Tigers started seven freshmen on offense, including five first-year freshmen at the “skill positions.” Last winter, he and his staff recruited a top 20 class according to most recruiting services.

West was a mainstay of a Clemson coaching staff that led the Tigers to a 69-20-4 record and six Associated Press Top 20 finishes between 1982-89.

During West's first tour of duty with the Tigers as an outside linebacker coach, Clemson played in five bowl games (winning four) and claimed four ACC Championships, including three in a row from 1986-88.

Clemson had a 44-10-1 record against ACC competition during his era on the Tiger staff, an 81 percent winning mark. Additionally, five of those Clemson teams ranked in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense and scoring defense, and three ranked in the top two in the nation in total defense.

Clemson’s 1989 defense ranked fifth in the nation in total defense, rushing defense and scoring defense and West’s outside linebackers had a lot to do with that success. His top four outside linebackers that year all played in the NFL in 1994.

Levon Kirkland (Pittsburgh Steelers), Wayne Simmons (Green Bay Packers) and John Johnson (Cincinnati Bengals) were starters in 1994 in the NFL, and Ashley Sheppard (Minnesota Vikings) was a top reserve. Simmons was a first-round draft pick, Kirkland and Johnson second-round selections and Sheppard was a fourth-round choice. In addition to the four players listed above, Andy Headen (New York Giants) and Terence Mack (St. Louis Cardinals) are former Tigers West helped guide to an NFL career.

West began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Tennessee (his alma mater) in 1977. He coached one year of high school football at White County High in Sparta, TN in 1978, then became an assistant at Mississippi in 1979. For the landmark wins in school history, a 33-31 win over #1 ranked Marshall. He concluded the regular season with a 45-42 victory over Furman. Ironically, his first regular season game as Clemson coach was a victory over Furman.

With his debut in the Peach Bowl, West became the sixth coach in NCAA history to make his debut with a program in a bowl game. However, he was just the second coach in history to make his debut in a bowl game without previously coaching his new team as an assistant coach earlier in the season.

West earned three letters in his four-year career at Tennessee (1972-75). The Vols played in three bowl games and were ranked in a final Top 20 in three seasons. He was the co-captain of Tennessee’s 1975 football team and played in the Blue-Gray All-Star game that same year.

He began his college career as a running back, but saw most of his playing time as a tight end. He caught 37 passes for 575 yards in his career with the Vols, including 16 passes for 233 yards as a senior. As a junior he caught an 81-yd. pass from Condredge Holloway, still the longest non-scoring play in Tennessee history. He earned a bachelor’s degree from Tennessee in 1976 and was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers that same year.

West played two years (1974-75) of baseball at Tennessee and had a career batting average of .305. He hit .367 in 1975 and was named All-SEC Eastern Division. Rick Honeycutt, now with the Oakland A’s, was West’s teammate on that 1975 Tennessee team that finished 32-16.

West was a multi-sport standout in high school. He was an outfielde in baseball, a guard in basketball and a running back in football. In 1972 he was named a High School All-American in football and was a fifth-round draft choice in baseball by the Chicago Cubs. Willie Randolph, who went on to an All-Star career with the New York Yankees, was one of 77 future Major League players drafted after West in the regular phase of the June 1972 draft. He played his prep football at Gainesville High in Gainesville, GA for Coach Bobby Gruhn. He was an all-state back as a junior and was also named to the All-Southern team.

Born Thomas Cleveland West on July 31, 1954, he is married to the former Lindsay Watkins of Forest City, NC. The couple has one son, Turner, 7.
Les Herrin

Assistant Head Coach/Tackles and Tight Ends

The Clemson football program has seen a lot success during Les Herrin's tenure as an assistant coach. In 1981, Herrin arrived at Clemson as a linebacker coach, and the Tigers won the National Championship that season. In his first year of duty with the Tigers (1981-84), Clemson had a 37-6-2 record.

After a brief stint away from Clemson at East Carolina (1985-87) and North Carolina (1988), Herrin returned to the Tiger program in 1989 as defensive line coach. In 1989, Clemson ranked fifth in the nation in scoring, rushing, and total defense. The team followed that performance with a number-one ranking in total defense in 1990, as well as second in scoring and rushing defense.

Herrin has coached several players who have had successful NFL careers. He coached 1981 ACC MVP Jeff Davis, who went on to be captain of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and enters the Clemson Ring of Honor this year. He also tutored 1989 All-Pro Freddie Trotter (New England Patriots), who was a linebacker under Herrin's watchful eye in 1981 and 1982. West Virginia All-American and NFL rookie Brentson Buckner, also benefited from Herrin's teaching.

Miles Aldridge

Co-Defensive Coordinator/Outside Linebackers

Miles Aldridge has been affiliated with five Clemson defenses that have ranked in the top 20 in the nation in scoring and rushing defense. He first came to Clemson in 1985 as an inside linebacker coach. From 1986 thru 1988 the Tigers were ranked in the top 20 in all defensive categories, including a number-one ranking in 1989. His second year of duty at Clemson began last year and the Tigers ranked 17th in the nation in scoring defense and 14th in rushing defense.

Clemson won three consecutive ACC titles during Aldridge's first year at Clemson, 1986-87-88, and was ranked in the final AP top 20 in 1986-87-88-89. In his years at Clemson the Tigers have won five bowl games, including victories over Penn State and Oklahoma in consecutive Citrus Bowl games in the late 1980s.

Aldridge has coached several players who have gone on to have successful pro careers. Three linebacks have gone on to the NFL. Air Force Townsend (Mississippi), who was a defensive lineman with the Los Angeles Raiders last year, and Pittsburgh Steelers 1994 rookie Brentson Buckner, also benefited from Herrin's teaching.

Ellis Johnson

Co-Defensive Coordinator/Defensive Line

Ellis Johnson is in his first season as a co-defensive coordinator, his first season as defensive line coach, but his second year on the Clemson staff. As outside linebacker coach last year he was a significant reason Clemson ranked in the top 20 in the nation in scoring defense and held three ACC teams, including Florida State, to their season low in terms of scoring.

Johnson is in his second year at Clemson, but is no stranger to the area. He attended The Citadel, but he grew up a Clemson fan. He has coached in the state at The Citadel as a graduate assistant, at Gaffney High as an assistant coach and at Spartanburg High as an assistant coach and head coach. His most successful stint in coaching so far took place in Alabama. In 1992 Johnson served an assistant coach at Alabama. The Crimson Tide experienced a perfect season and defeated Miami (FL) in the Sugar Bowl to win the National Championship. He is one of two Tiger assistant coaches on this year's staff with a National Championship ring. Les Herrin, a member of Clemson's 1981 staff, is the other.

Johnson was a part of four outstanding defenses at Alabama. During his tenure (1990-93), Alabama ranked in the top five in the nation in total defense and pass defense three times. The 1992 Alabama defense led the nation in total defense and rushing defense and ranked second nationally in passing defense and scoring defense.
Clyde Christensen
Co-Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

An All-American quarterback in junior college, Clyde Christensen came to Clemson after two years at Maryland. He knows the ACC well as he also played for the University of North Carolina in 1977 and 1978.

At Maryland he coached quarterbacks John Kaleo and Scott Dinnon. Kaleo ranked second in the nation in total offense as a senior, while Milanovich ranked fourth nationally in that category in 1993. Last year the Clemson team ranked first in the nation in turnover margin and committed just 12 turnovers all season.

Christensen's offense at Maryland was explosive, as the Terps ranked fourth in the country in 1992 with an average of 466 yards per game, and 16th in 1993 when they averaged 440 yards per game. The Terps also ranked second in the country in passing offense in 1992 and third in passing offense in 1993.

While Christensen is in just his second year as a coach at Clemson, he has known Clemson head coach Tommy West for over 15 years. The two were graduate assistant coaches together at Mississippi in 1979. He is only 37-years-old, but already has college experience at Mississippi, East Tennessee State, Temple, East Carolina, Holy Cross, South Carolina and Maryland.

Christensen was a part of two successful teams at North Carolina, as the Tar Heels played in the 1977 Liberty Bowl and the 1978 Peach Bowl during his career.

Rick Stockstill
Co-Offensive Coordinator/Wide Receivers

Rick Stockstill has been around successful programs and record setting offenses his entire coaching career. In his first year as quarterback coach at Clemson (1989), the Tigers set a school record for completion percentage (60%). The Tigers led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense for the 1991 season, and Clemson gained the second most yards in school history in the process.

Stockstill also tutored productive offenses at Central Florida and Bethune-Cookman in his early years as a football coach. As a player, he was the starting quarterback for Florida State. He guided the Seminoles to a pair of Orange Bowl appearances, a pair of top 10 rankings, and was the team captain in 1981.

It is no surprise that Stockstill has moved up the coaching ladder so swiftly because he is the product of an athletic family. His father has been head coach at Fernandina Beach High School in Florida for many years. His brother, Jeff, was a starting wide receiver for the Tigers in 1982, a reserve on the National Championship team of 1981.

Stockstill is in his seventh year with the Clemson program and the Tigers have been bowl games in four of the six previous seasons. He joins Les Herrin and Whitey Jordan as the only assistant coaches in Clemson history to serve under three different head coaches.

Richard Bisaccia
Running Backs/Special Teams/Recruiting Coordinator

Richard Bisaccia is a stickler for detail and one of the details he works on in practice with his players every day is holding on to the football. He taught this aspect better than any assistant coach in the country last year because the Tigers lost just two fumbles, fewest in the nation and an all-time Clemson record.

Bisaccia, a Winkers, NY native, learned how to hold onto the football as a four-year starter and team captain at Yankton College. He was a free agent with the Philadelphia Stars of the USFL after his college career.

While the 1983 Spring season saw the end of his playing career, the 1983 fall was the beginning of his coaching career. He was named the offensive coordinator at Wayne State in Nebraska his first year out of college and he has been in college coaching ever since.

Unlike many Division I full-time assistant coaches, Bisaccia has not made a lot of moves. He spent five seasons at Wayne State, then six seasons at South Carolina. He has experience coaching on defense and offense, but will concentrate on the running backs position at Clemson.

In addition to Bisaccia's changes on the gridiron the last year, he had a family addition. In August of 1994 his wife Jeanne gave birth to their first son, Richard Oakley, and fourth child.

Charlie Harbison
Defensive Backs

First-year Clemson coach Charlie Harbison has more experience at the professional level than any other current Tiger mentor. Harbison was a starter at strong safety with the New Orleans and Boston Breakers of the USFL in 1983-84 and also signed a free agent contract with the Buffalo Bills in 1982, 1985 and 1986.

Harbison also coached on the pro level with the Raleigh-Durham Skyhawks of the World League of American Football, with the Charlotte Barons of the MLFS and with the Charlotte Rage of the Arena Football League. He has coached wide receivers, linebackers and defensive backs in his career, but has by far his most experience as a secondary coach.

He will be Clemson's defensive backs coach in 1995, his second consecutive year as a Division I secondary coach.

In addition to his Division I experience, Harbison also has had significant success at the NAIA level. His Gardner Webb team of 1992 had a 12-2 record and played in the NAIA Championship game.

Reggie Herring
Inside Linebackers

Reggie Herring is another example of an outstanding former player who has gone on to become an outstanding coach. A teammate of Rick Stockstill at Florida State, Herring left his own mark with the Seminole program as a player.

Herring was captain of the 1980 Orange Bowl team and earned AP All-America honors in 1980. The Seminoles played in the Orange Bowl and ranked in the top 10 in the nation his junior and senior seasons, and he was recently inducted into the Florida State Hall of Fame. He was a three-year starter at Florida State and the Seminoles played in three bowls during his four year career. Florida State also had three double-figure victory seasons during his career.

Like many of Clemson's assistant coaches in 1995, Herring has a diverse experience. He has been a part of successful programs at Oklahoma State, Auburn, TCU and now Clemson. He was defensive coordinator at TCU prior to coming to Clemson.

Herring has not made plans over the Christmas holidays for quite some time. He has been a part of college football as a player and coach since 1977. In those 18 seasons he has been to 13 bowl games, 10 as a coach and three as a player.

John Latina
Centers and Guards

John Latina has been an offensive coach for a Division I program every year since 1979. He had quite a task last year in that he coached Clemson's entire offensive line. This year he will handle the centers and guards, a change that should allow him to spend more time with fewer players.

Latina showed his expertise as a teacher last year as Clemson's youngest offensive line in 20 years improved over the course of the season, leading to victories in three of the last four games.

The Virginia Tech graduate, who once played against Clemson as an offensive guard (1978), has worked at Virginia Tech, Pittsburgh, Temple and Kansas State. During his career he has worked with Dan Marino, who led the Panthers to a 9-3 ledger and the Cotton Bowl in 1982. Paul Palmer, one of the top rushers in NCAA history with Temple, was also a member of Latina's offense in the 1980s.

Over the five years he was with the program, Kansas State's team in general and offense in particular, showed as much improvement as any in the country. In Latina's second season at Kansas State as offensive line coach and running game coordinator, the Wildcats set a school record for total offense with 4,231 yards. Kansas State advanced to a bowl game in 1992, just the second bowl appearance in school history.

Clemson Sports Notes For 1994-95

* Clemson was one of just four schools in the nation to have its football, men's basketball and baseball teams rank in the top 25 of the USA Today polls at one time or another during the season. Clemson was ranked as high as 22nd in football, 18th in men's basketball and number-one in baseball. Five programs ended the year ranked in the top 20 in the nation.

* Five Clemson athletic teams were chosen for NCAA Tournaments, including three Spring Sports. The Baseball team was chosen for the ninth straight year, while the men's tennis team was chosen for the 14th time during Chuck Kriese's 20 years. The golf team advanced to the NCAA national tournament for the 14th consecutive year. The women's soccer and volleyball teams were also chosen for NCAA play.

Duane Ross won Clemson's only National Championship, winning the Outdoor NCAA 110 hurdles. Bob Pollock coached the men's outdoor and indoor track teams to Top 15 finishes.

Academic Achievements

* Clemson had two first-team Academic All-Americans, one in baseball and one in football. Ed Glenn was a first-team CFA All-America football player. He graduated with a 3.9 GPA in Biology and will attend Vanderbilt Med School. Junior third baseman Paul Galloway became Clemson's first first-team Academic All-American in baseball in 1995. He was also first-team All-East Regional and All-ACC Tournament for his play on the field. He has had six consecutive 4.0 semesters.

* Clemson athletes won three of the most prestigious awards granted by the Atlantic Coast Conference. Javelin thrower Jodie Phillips won the Marie James Award, which is given to a female athlete for outstanding achievement in academics and athletics. Glenn won the Weaver Award for outstanding achievement in academics and athletics, and also won the Jim Tatum Award as the top student-athlete football player in the ACC.

* The women's tennis team posted a 3.64 team GPA in the Spring semester, the highest team GPA for a semester in Clemson history. Six of the eight members of the team made the dean's list, including four with a perfect 4.0.

* All Clemson student-athletes combined for a 2.55 GPA in the Spring semester, the highest one-semester GPA in eight years. A record 20 student-athletes were on the President's List (4.0 GPA), and a record 53 were on the Dean's List for the Spring semester of 1994-95.

Coaching Accomplishments

* Women's soccer coach Tracey Leone was named Southeast Regional Coach of the Year. She led the Lady Tigers to a number-13 final ranking in the ISAA poll and 15th in the final Soccer America poll.

* Baseball Coach Jack Leggett was named ACC Coach of the Year for the second straight year. He became just the third coach in ACC history to win coach of the year honors in his first two years in the league. All three coaches who have done this are from Clemson. The others are current Clemson men's track coach Bob Pollock and former Clemson football coach Charlie Pell.

* Jolene Hoover was named ACC Volleyball Coach of the Year as she took the Lady Tigers to the NCAA Tournament for the second straight year.

* Chuck Kriese became the ACC's all-time winningest men's tennis coach with a 7-0 win over Virginia Tech on February 4. He now has 439 career victories in his 20 years as head coach.

* Larry Penley set a Clemson record for taking a team to 12 straight NCAA Tournaments and won his third straight NCAA Regional championship.

SEASON TICKET HOLDERS/OTHER VISITORS: Season ticket holders and other visitors to the stadium are requested to enter Gates 1, 5, 9, 11, or 13. Persons with top deck tickets must enter the stadium via the ramps which are located behind the North and South stands. Ramp entrances are adjacent to Gates 1 and 13 on the South side and Gates 5 and 9 on the North side.

HANDICAPPED: Special entrances have been provided at Gates 1, 5 and 13 for the handicapped.

WILL-CALL: Will-call tickets can be picked up at the ticket office at Gate 9.

PASS-OUT HAND STAMPS: Pass-out hand stamps will be available at Gate 1, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13 and the top decks. Any person leaving the stadium other than with a team pass must have his or her hands stamped, as well as admittance stub, to be readmitted to the stadium.

Gates 4, 6 and 8 are closed prior to the games and are opened for exit purposes only.

EMERGENCIES: First Aid stations are located at the following places: South side—Under Section J; North Side—Under Section T; North Top Deck—Under Section K; South Top Deck—Under Section E.

Trained nurses are on hand during each game. Should a doctor be needed, ask any usher, who knows the seat location of doctors. Ambulances are located at Gates 1, 5, 8, and 13.

TELEPHONE: Pay telephones are located at the stadium ticket offices at Gates 1, 5, 9, 13, top decks.

PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM: The public address system is intended primarily for spectators' information concerning the game. Please do not request the use of the public address system to make social contacts.

RESTROOMS: Ladies' and men's restrooms are located between the stands and can be reached by exit from any portal.

LOST & FOUND: If any article is lost or found, please report it to the Gate 1 or Gate 10 information booths.

CONCESSION STANDS: Concession stands are located beneath all stands and can be reached from any portal.

EMERGENCY CALLS: Emergency calls are received in the Security Booth. The emergency number is (803) 656-2999.

PROHIBITED ITEMS: The following items are prohibited in Memorial Stadium: umbrellas, folding chairs, chaise lounges, food and beverage containers of any type, alcoholic beverages, thermos jugs, and ice chests.

NOTICE: Solicitation for any purpose is prohibited at an athletic contest in Clemson Memorial Stadium.

THE CLEMSON UNIVERSITY ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT REQUESTS "NO SMOKING" IN THE SEATING AREAS OF MEMORIAL STADIUM. THANK YOU FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION OF THIS REQUEST.

Hosts of this year's most exciting conference action.

For a winning conference, trade show, banquet or meeting, make the handoff to Palmetto Expo Center. We're set to tackle special events of any size or scope. Our starting lineup includes 420,000 square feet of meeting and exhibit space, an outdoor courtyard, and banquet seating and service for up to 2,500 people. To set your game plan in motion, we field special teams for catering, light and sound, and event staging. For conference action, Palmetto Expo Center is an odds-on favorite.

Textile Hall Corporation is the proud donor of the Textile Bowl Trophy, presented each year to the winner of the Clemson-North Carolina State game in honor of the textile graduates of these two fine universities.

Saluting 100 years of Tiger Football.

A record 83 Clemson student-athletes were named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll for the 1994-95 academic year. To earn a spot on the team, an athlete must maintain a 3.0 (B average) for the entire academic year. The 83 student-athletes break the previous high of 66 set during the 1987-98 academic year. The league began the program in 1957.

Nine Clemson athletes made the team for the third time in their careers. The list of three-time selections includes Jorge Anaya (men's swimming), Daniel Aron (men's swimming), Jan Barrett (women's tennis), Chris Eatough (men's soccer), Meredith Ford (women's track), Paul Galloway (baseball), Andye McCrorey (football), Megan McEnery (volleyball) and Jodie Phillips (women's track).

Here is the list of Clemson ACC Academic Honor Roll student-athletes for the 1994-95 academic year:

The legend of Death Valley continues in 1995 as 16 football games will be played on its surface. Clemson will play its normal six regular season contests, while the Carolina Panthers will play in the facility 10 times, two preseason contests and eight regular season games.

What does the NFL’s presence mean in 1995? If the stadium is good enough for the Carolina Panthers, it must be quite a facility. In fact, minimal changes have been made to make it ready for the Panthers and the National Football League.

This outstanding stadium that has kept pace with the changing world of college football has seen the Tigers run up a 53-year record of 184-67-7, including a 26-5-1 ledger over the last five seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 73.0 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don’t ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That’s all you’ll ever need."

Instead of following Coach Neely’s advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crew went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger Football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40’s, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. “About 40 people and I laid sod on the field,” he says. “After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.”

“I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more weeks’ pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons.”

Howard says that on the first day of the first game in the stadium, “the gates were hung at 1:00 pm and we played at 2:00 pm.” But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, “Green Grass” section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 81,473 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as “Death Valley.” It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. Teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

Clemson has ranked in the Top 15 in the nation in attendance for 13 straight years.

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 18 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and is the first facility in the nation originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes, and consolidates a variety of academic services for their use.

The Vickery Hall facility and staff ranks among the best in the nation and joined Boston College as the only two programs of its kind to become certified in 1995.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete's total experience a rewarding one, even after he or she enters the professional world.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment - giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We're very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Vickery Hall is located in the mainstream of east campus, behind Jordan Hall at the top of Bryan Mall. The main entrance to the building is a 1,570-square foot reception/office area, comprised of five advisers' offices, two graduate student offices, and a conference room. Also located on the bottom floor is the office of Bill D'Andrea, the director of Clemson's student-athlete enrichment program.

Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center's staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. In addition to the director, the staff also consists of six full-time advisers, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

The building also boasts a 175-seat auditorium to be used for classes, team meetings, review sessions, and seminars. The various speakers and lecturers who come to work with Clemson student-athletes as part of the student-enrichment program also use this facility.

Another area of the main floor, the computer resources area, consists of a general computer tutoring room and a computer science tutoring room. The computer room contains 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses. The 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor comprises the majority of the center. This area contains 28 tutorial rooms, including a large 65-seat study room and nine 20-seat study rooms, which are designed as classrooms with freestanding desks. There are 10 classrooms located on the first floor.

The facility has paid dividends. In the spring semester of 1995, Clemson student-athletes recorded a 2.55 GPA, highest on record. Eighty-three student-athletes made the ACC Academic Honor Roll in 1994-95, an all-time record. Records were also eclipsed in terms of dean's list athletes. It is also a reason a record four Tiger football players are graduate students in 1995.

Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program

The Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program is one of the most important programs provided by the staff of Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide student-athletes with job searching skills and strategies, internships, practicum experience as well as summer employment. These programs are designed to address specific career opportunities through a program that uses each year to gain information on the student-athlete.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center and the Athletic Department, former Tiger growler James Earle is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with The Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athlete with a job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Long Term Career Assistance Program, also coordinated by Earle, will be coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and will focus on resume writing and interview techniques so that each student-athlete will be competitive and aggressive when dealing with companies who visit the Clemson campus.

Personal Growth Program

Another aspect of Clemson University's commitment to help student-athletes reach their potential in all areas of their life - academically, athletically, and socially, is the personal growth program. This program is one of the many purposes of Vickery Hall. This particular area of student development is designed to enhance and support the lives of student-athletes during their enrollment in college as well as in their life experiences after graduation.

Ginty Porter, the Development Coordinator, and Vickery Hall staff realize that student-athletes have more obligations than a regular college student. The personal growth program seeks to eliminate some of the stresses of adjustment to the higher level of academics and athletics. It is the group's special task to assist the student-athlete by creating a finely tuned balance of all areas to ensure success in obtaining a Clemson University degree, by supporting successful athletic practice and competition, enhancing personal growth, and helping with the transition to life after college.

The facilities at Vickery Hall helped Warren Forney earn his undergrad degree in 3 1/2 years.

Death Valley. The name speaks for itself. If you want to play in this house, you better have the reputation to back it up. TORO's 640 Series Sprinkler has been the number one choice for athletic sports fields for more than a decade. That's a reputation built on MVP performances.

If you want that kind of durability, match TORO quality products with certified contractors like Environmental Landscaping...a winning team that can handle the toughest conditions.
When Cost and Coverage are on your team...

Put Bell Atlantic NYNEX Mobile on your team for two simple reasons ... Cost and Coverage!
With our Carolinas SuperSystem you can call all over the region at your low home rates. From Clemson to Columbia to Charlotte to Greenville — and lots of other places as well — you've got over 30,000 square miles of coverage from a team with the experience to get the job done!

You can't lose!

And when you add all the business services, over 200 cell sites and the chain of Communications Stores throughout the Carolinas, it's easy to see who the winner in cellular service is — Bell Atlantic NYNEX Mobile.
Almost Perfect

Eastman Chemical Company has developed on-time delivery into an art. 98% of the time, we hit our marks right on cue. And with product quality so consistent, problems are the rare exception. Maybe that’s why 70% of our customers rate us their #1 supplier.

But we’re not happy with almost perfect. At Eastman, continuous improvement is one way we create value for our customers.

So we keep working at it. That attitude helped us become the first major chemical company to win the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award. And we appreciated the ovations.

But until every customer receives every shipment on time every time, we will keep striving for the perfect performance.

Let your friends at Eastman demonstrate the art of service and quality. Call 800-EASTMAN.
South Carolina is the center of our world.

In the heart of South Carolina, we're setting standards of environmental excellence whose value reaches far beyond the state-of-the-future technology, to community involvement and to an unyielding obligation to preserve and protect our natural resources. And they extend to the 4,600 people in 26 states and seven Canadian provinces whose dedication is the core of Laidlaw Environmental Services. So while South Carolina may be the site of our North American headquarters, it's really more than just a location. It's the center of our whole world.

ACC TV EXPOSURE ON THE RISE —

A Supreme Court ruling in 1984 provided the impetus for the dramatic growth of college football on television we have witnessed over the last decade.

Prior to 1984, the NCAA Television Plan was relatively simple and stringent. Some history is in order. Beginning in 1938, the University of Pennsylvania televised one of its home games. As far as is known, there were then six television sets in Philadelphia, and all were turned to the game. From 1940 through 1950, all of Pennsylvania's home games were televised.

In 1951, a three-person NCAA committee concluded, "television threatens to seriously harm the nation's overall athletic and physical education system," emphasizing that, "the television problem is truly a national one and requires collective action by the colleges."

The result: a TV Plan for the next 30 years which essentially provided that only one game per week could be telecast in each area of the country, with a single team appearing a maximum of three times during a season.

The 1984 Supreme Court ruling would dramatically change the playing field, however, declaring, "that by curtailing output and blunting the ability of member institutions to respond to consumer preference, the NCAA has restricted rather than enhanced the place of intercollegiate athletics in the Nation's Life."

Thus unharnessed, consumer demand for college football continues to grow at record levels, and promises to do so into the 21st century. In other words, multiple networks were free to televise multiple games each weekend.

Couch Potatoes weren't the only ones to benefit from the 1984 Supreme Court ruling. ACC Football programs, eager for regional and national exposure of the type which had permanently vaulted ACC basketball to the head of the class some years earlier, began to air weekly on television sets throughout the Southeast and beyond. Appearances for all members of the conference began to increase, and by 1996 each ACC institution can expect 50% or more of its season schedule to be televised.

Starting in 1996 the ACC will have one game on ABC and one game on ESPN (ESPN or ESPN-2) and one game on Jefferson Pilot every week. When the SEC and Big East signed a contract with CBS, that reduced the number of conferences available to regional games on ABC. In 1995 ABC has the rights to all college games with the exception of Notre Dame home games, which are televised by NBC.

"The 1996 season will be a big plus for the ACC football fan," said ACC Assistant Commissioner Rick Chryst. "Almost every weekend there will be three games on live television involving ACC teams. A school like Clemson could have six to eight of its games televised. It can only help ACC schools in terms of recruiting and exposure."

The Selection Process

With increased consumer demand for college football on television has come a corresponding complexity in the determination of game starting times. No longer is it possible to set one fixed kickoff time for an entire home season. Instead, a standard framework has been structured whereby each ACC institution has the opportunity to "play its way on" to regional and national television appearances. It is within that framework by which game starting times are established. This year, games have been announced through September 23. After that, games are announced 12 days prior to the date, but some dates are announced just six days ahead.

Before detailing exactly how and when ACC games are selected for television, the following glossary should assist you in solving the "Prime Time Puzzle."

ABC: The long-time home of college football, ABC holds the broadcast network rights to the CFA television package in 1995.

CFA: The College Football Association, formed in 1977, has been administering a national football television plan since 1984. Current conference members in the CFA Plan include the ACC, Big East, Big Ten, Southeastern, Southwest and Western Athletic, as well as certain independents. (The Big Ten and Pacific 10 conferences have a separate national television package with ABC and Notre Dame has its own package with NBC.) The CFA Plan will no longer be in effect in 1996.

ESPN: Presently carried in 65 million homes, ESPN holds the national cable rights to the CFA television plan. In addition to its successful Thursday night package (8:00 P.M.), ESPN telecasts a weekly Saturday night prime-time game at 7:30 p.m.

Here's a quick look at how the plan works:

"Special Date" Selections: Each fall the conference office, with approval of each school's athletic director, works with ABC and ESPN to establish certain "special date" TV games featuring ACC teams. This year, such games include ESPN Thursday night telecasts of Maryland @ Georgia Tech, UNC @ Louisville and Florida State @ Virginia. Also highlighted as special Thanksgiving weekend rivalries on ABC are Georgia Tech vs. Georgia on Thanksgiving Day and North Carolina @ N.C. State the following day.

September Selections: Throughout the spring and early summer ABC, ESPN and JP Sports evaluate the ACC schedule in an effort to create a strong and interesting television package as possible. By July 1, ABC and ESPN announce their programming for the first four weeks of the season. With that in place, JP Sports is able to finalize its picks for those weeks as well.

Twelve-Day Selections: As October and November arrive, conference races build to a climax and college football speeds toward New Year's Day. Hoping to showcase the excitement and bring YOU the best games each week, ABC, ESPN and JP Sports move to a 12-day selection. Each Monday by 4:00 p.m., ABC, ESPN and JP Sports choose game selections for Saturday of the following week.

Common Questions:

How are starting times determined?
To maximize exposure (of viewers) for each ACC institution, its student-athletes and the television networks, games are for the most part scheduled in three different time periods or "windows" as to not conflict each other-early afternoon, late afternoon and night. The ACC regional JP Sports game is always shown at 12 noon. Most ABC national games are at 3:30 p.m. and most ESPN games are shown at 7:30 or 8:00 p.m. at night.

Why Thursday games? Why 11:00 a.m. kickoffs?
Recently, ESPN has added a Thursday night game of the week, similar to NFL's Monday Night Football. This game has become more and more popular and now often produces ESPN's highest viewership. (Last year's Georgia Tech- Arizona game was one of the most widely watched college football games ever for the ACC on ESPN with 7 million+ viewers.) The lack of competition with other sports product on Thursday night makes this game a valuable franchise for ESPN and the ACC. Most ACC schools will be asked to appear once or twice on Thursday night over the next five years.

The 11:00 AM games are used during Holiday weekends and are dictated by competing sports product. By starting one hour earlier than the traditional games shown that same day, the networks hope to capture early viewers who will stay tuned if the game remains competitive.

What do ACC schools receive financially from television?
The ACC member institutions, competing for conference championships in 23 officially-sponsored sports, support athletics department budgets averaging approximately $17 million annually. Nearly 30% of athletic department revenue comes from television-related income, which is distributed in nine equal parts to the ACC member institutions. Television rights fees have become vital in providing academic and athletic opportunities for over 2500 ACC student-athletes each year.

1995 CLEMSON FOOTBALL
He's Never Taken An Extra Point For Granted.

If the game is close, maybe you'll slide to the edge of your seat as the kicker sets up for the extra point. Maybe.

But perhaps you don't realize just how important every point is to someone like Matthew.

Matthew knows everything there is to know about child abuse. He's seen it and he's felt it. He is an expert at hiding in the closet, under the bed and beneath the house. But for the first time in his life, Matthew is learning what it's like to be loved.

For every point Clemson scores this season, First Union will donate $25 to Helping Hands of Clemson, a non-profit organization of professionals and volunteers dedicated to helping and caring for a lot of children just like Matthew.

So, this year when you're cheering for the Tigers, cheer a little louder for Matthew. Everyone at First Union will be.

If you'd like to do more than stand on the sidelines, please contact Helping Hands of Clemson at 1-803-654-6154.
CHARLIE HARBISON

by Jessica Reo

In the over 126 years of football, there have been six football organizations for both players and coaches to gain experience: Arena Football, the World Football League, the NFL, the USFL, collegiate football, and high school football. In one assistant football coach, the Tigers have gained someone with experience in all of those areas.

Charlie Harbison is the new defensive backs coach for Clemson University. He joined the Tigers in July of this year and is ready for the 95 season to begin. But he can’t coach at Clemson without the knowledge gained from his past influencing his present. This coach has been involved in every aspect of the game in every venue of the game as either a coach or a player.

The Shelby, NC native again returns home to the Carolinas for work, but he has never felt more at ease here in spirit. “I’d like to stay in the Carolinas. That’s why I came back here from UTEP. I like the east coast, I like the Carolina’s and I feel that anywhere I live in the Carolina’s is like home,” says Harbison.

Harbison’s road to playing and coaching professionally began in college when he played football as a defensive back for Gardner-Webb, located in Boiling Springs, NC. He moved on to the professional ranks as a free agent with Buffalo Bills after college.

He was released from the Bills training camp in 1982, but not before he received the opportunity to see what professional football was all about, and not before he made some valuable connections and observations. “It was a big change for me because I played at a small school. I learned a lot at the Bills and that I could play the game. I loved it because that’s what I had been working for, to achieve that goal,” states Harbison.

His move to the USFL, a spring league, lasted a few years, as he played for the Boston Breakers and the New Orleans Breakers. That again was another beginning for Harbison, a place to make connections and learn more about the game. “I didn’t stay (with the Bills) because I was released, but the spring of ’83, I played for the USFL, the Boston Breakers. That was great. It gave me and guys like me the opportunity to play professional ball when there wasn’t room on the rosters of the NFL. It also provided jobs for coaches. Some of the coaches and players in the USFL are coaching in the NFL now.”

Since then he has coached for the Charlotte Barons (minor-league football system), the Raleigh-Durham Skyhawks (World League), the Carolina Cougars (Professional Spring Football League), and the Charlotte Rage (arena). With the exception of the Panthers, he is the only coach on record to have coached for all three Carolina professional football leagues. His college coaching career came to life when he returned to Gardner-Webb in 1992, moved to Texas El Paso for the ‘94 season, and now, has come to begin his career at Clemson. That’s quite a roster of teams!

One of the things that Harbison learned over his career is that there are both striking similarities and differences among all of the different leagues. “Professional ball players have an idea of the game. You have to teach them their responsibilities, technique. They tend to know their assignments, but as a college ball player, you have to teach them more in depth. In high school, some kids play both sides of the ball, but in college they have to focus on one position.”

“As a coach, in professional ball you’re dealing with men. They have more time and this is their livelihood. They are going to focus on it because this is how they make their living. In college, the first couple of years, the kids get caught up in the campus atmosphere. On the one hand, they are a student, but on the other hand they are an athlete. In professional ball, that’s all they do, play football.”

The last professional football coaching stint Harbison had was with the Charlotte Rage. In arena ball, the field is just 50-yards, as opposed to the traditional 100-yard spread in high school, college, world league, the USFL, and the NFL.

“Arena football, ‘the 50-yard war’, is a throwback to high school football,” says Harbison. “Guys play both sides of the ball. You have to find a different kind of player. You can’t find a one-dimensional player for that kind of team because he won’t fit into the system. The main difference I see between arena and traditional football is the amount of time spent on the field by the players.”

He has found the stadiums and arena’s dramatically different as well. “In traditional stadiums, you are away from the field where as in arena ball you are right there on the sidelines. If a ball tips a receivers hand, it goes into the stand, the fans keep the ball. If you get too close to the wall, and you get hit, you could be in the fans’ lap.”

“As a position coach, I stood in the box on the floor with the players. As the defensive coordinator, I stood on the field behind the offense when I called the defensive signals. If my defensive back got an interception, I either had to run the other way or jump the wall. That happened to me several times.”

All of these avenues to play football and coach football have been to the benefit of Harbison. They have given him the opportunity to play and coach at many different levels, to experience offense and defense, to gain an amazing knowledge of the game and how it is executed.

“For guys that like to stay active and keep football in their system, arena football is good because you can work a regular job and get a work release for the season. Everywhere I’ve coached and played, I’ve tried to be a sponge. I learned as much as I could from everybody I came in contact with. Then I put my personality into it.”

Harbison is putting his personality into the Clemson defense in 1995, not a difficult task because he is familiar with the Tiger tradition. “I think a lot of Clemson. I grew up reading about Clemson, seeing them on television. I wondered if I could play Division football. When I went to Buffalo, that’s when I knew I could play division I college football, because I played in camp with guys who were from some major schools.”

Clemson is one of those schools (Jerry Butler and Perry Tuttle were also Buffalo Bills in 1982), Clemson, as far as a football atmosphere, there is an electricity in the air. I came to one game and you look around and you can see the excitement in the air. People love football here.”

His philosophy on coaching is a little bit like his career. He has moved around a lot, but it’s all for a common goal; to learn and to achieve. Charlie Harbison and the Clemson football staff are working toward a winning season and the exciting atmosphere you can almost touch when you enter Death Valley in the fall.

College football season has returned to Clemson, South Carolina, and Charlie Harbison is ‘home’ again.

All For You!
Did You Know . . . ?

In the first two years, Clemson sent more officers to serve in World War II than any other institution except West Point and Texas A&M.

The first eye-witness account of the D-Day Invasion of Normandy was filed by a Clemson graduate.

A principal inventor of the famous World War II Jeep was a Clemson graduate, also.

During the war years the Clemson campus became a testing and training facility. The most famous soldier who passed this way—Henry Kissinger.

Six thousand Clemson men served in World War II, and they served with valor, bringing home dozens of Purple Hearts, Medals of Honor and Distinguished Service Medals — in all, documentation shows that Clemson men were awarded every type of medal the United States bestowed in World War II.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY
by Brett Sowell

Jeff Sauve wears many hats. When Sauve runs down the hill on to Frank Howard Field this afternoon he will be wearing his third different hat of 1995. Today's gear is a bit harder in texture than his first two hats because he is member of the Clemson Tiger and Utica Blue Sox baseball teams.

While he is best known for his baseball prowess at Clemson, he has been looking forward to strapping on his helmet and serving as Clemson's starting placekicker for quite some time. "Being the starting field goal kicker is something I've been anticipating for five years. I've kicked off for three years, but I am anxious to put some points on the board instead of trying to keep the opponent from scoring, which is what I did as a pitcher."

Sauve has spent his first four seasons at Clemson patiently waiting while Nelson Welch has been responsible for all the Tigers field goal and PAT responsibilities.

"I think having Nelson ahead of me has made me a better kicker. It was tough waiting on Nelson, but I realized the situation. He was doing a great job. He was an All-American, All-ACC, and he broke the ACC field goal record. That competition with Nelson will pay off this year."

Sauve's first hat of 1995 had him on a whirlwind tour with the Clemson baseball team. It was a long successful season, starting in February in Arlington, TX and ending in June at the College World Series in Omaha, NE. He had his most successful season yet as member of the Tiger pitching staff. He finished the 1995 campaign with a record of 5-0. Two of those wins came against top 25 opponents. He averaged almost a strikeout per inning pitched and had twice as many strikeouts as walks. He concluded his career fourth in Clemson history in games pitched and was third in strikeouts (151) and victories (18).

Sauve gained wins over Old Dominion, Georgia, Georgia Tech, North Carolina and Alabama. The victory over the Crimson Tide propelled the Tigers to Omaha for Clemson's first appearance in the College World Series since 1991. "I got the win in the regional over Alabama that sent us to Omaha. It was neat because I was with my parents earlier that day, and my dad said, 'wouldn't it be something if you could get the win in tonight's game.' It was also special for me because the regional took place at Clemson, so it was my last game at Tiger Field."

The Alabama game closed out a stellar performance by the right-hander in the regional. He pitched four innings in relief giving up no runs and no hits over two games. Along with the win over Alabama, he picked up a save versus Jacksonville two days earlier. Sauve seemed to save his "best stuff" for NCAA Tournament play off his career. He posted a 2.37 ERA in the NCAA, well below his career ERA of 4.00. The Clemson baseball team reached the NCAA Tournament for all four years of his career.

As big as going to the College World Series is, the win over Alabama is not his most fond memory. "I think the biggest memory of my college pitching career was against Florida State in 1994. I came in and pitched 4 1/3 innings, didn't give up any hits and recorded seven strikeouts." He led the Tigers to a 9-5 win that day over the second-ranked Seminoles.

After the 1995 Clemson season, Sauve was drafted in the 11th round of this year's Major League Baseball Amateur Draft by the Boston Red Sox. The Red Sox sent him to Utica, NY to play for the organization's short season A club.

Wearing the Blue Sox cap, Sauve would see such towns as Batavia and Watertown. NY. He had some success with the team. "I ended up pitching 15 innings in middle relief and had 17 strikeouts. It was not a lot of work, but it gave me a taste of professional baseball. Sauve's ERA was around 4.0 and he had a 1-1 record with one save in his short stint that was cut short by his commitment to return to Clemson for the football season."

Sometimes minor league players often complain of the living conditions and travel arrangements on the minor league level. This helps drive some players to make it to "The Show," but Sauve had no problem in Utica. "The travel arrangements were good actually, because we stayed in really nice hotels. That did surprise me a little bit because you always hear horror stories about minor league baseball's traveling conditions. We traveled on buses that were just as nice as the ones we had at Clemson. The only difference is that you play every single day. If you are five hours away and plays a 7:00 PM game you leave after that game at 11:00 PM and get home about four or five in the morning and play that next night. You have to take care of yourself and get the proper sleep."

What was it like in Utica, he did not forget the task ahead of him in the fall as placekicker for the Clemson football team. "When we had a home stand, I would get up and practice everyday we had a game. I tried not to miss a day the whole summer. There was a field near Utica college (where the Blue Sox all lived) with pit (for practice)"

"One of the guys who would go out and hold for me was Mike Jacobs, a pitcher for the Blue Sox, who played football and baseball at East Carolina. He was a holder there so it worked out perfect. He said any day you want to go out and kick just wake me up and I will go out and hold for you."

In the whirlwind of football drills, Sauve has been outstanding in distance and accuracy. "You never have to worry about Jeff Sauve's work habits, he is always in great shape," said Tommy West. "You can tell he has been working on his kicking in his spare time. We expect him to have an excellent year and continue our tradition of great kickers at Clemson. He is a fine leader, he wouldn't have been a co-captain of Jack Leggett's baseball team if he didn't have their respect."

Now with the 1995 football season almost set to get underway Sauve is focusing only on football and feels he knows what needs to be done to have a successful season. "To be a good kicker you need to be consistent. I know that I have a good holder and a good snapper, and that's a big part of the whole play more than a lot of people realize. Playing football is really what I came to school for athletically. I signed a scholarship to kick for Clemson and I feel this is what I do best. I've been excited for this year a real long time."

Sauve has played two sports for many years and is in fact the only active Clemson athlete with seven letters entering the 1995-96 academic year. Could he continue his dual sport role on the pro level? "One of my goals is to play both football and baseball at the professional level. I am just going to take it one game at a time and what happens, happens. If it doesn't happen I have baseball to go back to. Playing both sports has been a goal and I would definitely like to give it a shot."

Traditions are something that don’t happen overnight, they evolve over a number of years. One tradition at Clemson that is going strong and heading into its 61st year is IPTAY. The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, is known throughout the country for its faithful and generous contributions by its supporters. A recent USA Today article called IPTAY the best-known organization of its kind in the nation. The article noted that at a time when college athletic costs are rising IPTAY continues to lead the way in supporting athletic scholarships at Clemson. IPTAY plays a major role in ensuring that all 18 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships allowed by the NCAA.

IPTAY completed another record breaking year in 1994-95 when it went over the $5 million mark for the second straight year. The total number of members reached 19,000. The Tiger Club was introduced in 1993, giving Clemson fans from birth to age 22 a chance to become involved in Tiger athletics. That club is now approaching the 2,000 mark in terms of members.

Thanks to this support, Clemson enjoyed another banner year in 1994-95. Nine Clemson teams, including five spring sports, advanced to NCAA play. Clemson was one of four schools in the nation to have its football, basketball, and baseball teams ranked in the top 25 of the USA Today poll at one time or another. Clemson had four ACC Rookie-of-the-Year selections and 22 All-Americans.

IPTAY is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most successful athletic fundraising organizations in America. IPTAY was the first athletic fundraising organization in the country to top the two, three, four, and five-million dollar marks in annual donations. In 1934, Dr. Rupert Fike founded IPTAY with a very simple purpose in mind: IPTAY provides funds for athletic scholarships. Since 1934 IPTAY has certainly met Fike’s goal, providing scholarships for over 5,000 student-athletes, trainers, and managers.

IPTAY currently provides the funds for tutorial programs staffed by trained academic advisors, assisted by graduate and undergraduate students. This support is intended to ensure that all student-athletes are given the opportunity to earn their degree while participating in athletics.

IPTAY donors have also played an intricate role in the “Campaign for Clemson”, a long range fund-raising project of the University. The University’s original goal of 62 million dollars was surpassed with the next goal of 78 million also being surpassed in the campaign that ended on June 30, 1992. IPTAY provided three million dollars with ongoing opportunities for donors to be part of the Vickery Hall Academic Learning Center.

Vickery Hall, located on East Campus, is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. The building contains various-sized study and tutoring rooms used for individual study as well as small group instruction.

This building is a major reason Clemson student-athletes have a record 2.55 GPA in the Spring Semester of 1995. Additionally, 83 student-athletes made the ACC Academic Honor Roll, the highest figure in Clemson history. A record number of students also made the Dean’s List and the President’s List.

The generous support of loyal donors to IPTAY has allowed the organization to go beyond the funding of athletic scholarships by providing the financial basis for many of the unparalleled athletic facilities at Clemson.

Since 1978, IPTAY has provided the funding for $34 million of capital improvements in the area of athletics. These improvements include the expansion of the football stadium, the renovated baseball facility (Tiger Field), the outdoor track with new stadium facilities, the indoor tennis facility, the soccer stadium, the weight room, the new golf practice area, a new cross country course, the McFadden Building, and the IPTAY/Ticket office facility.

The facilities are among the best in the country, at least that must be the opinion of the NCAA. Over the last two years Clemson has played host to NCAA events in four different sports, including three in 1994-95.

IPTAY is also proud to provide the funding for Tiger Band. Each year IPTAY establishes financial support for travel, uniforms and equipment for this integral part of the Clemson athletic program.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. This scholarship endowment is funded by certain company gifts that are made as a result of employee contributions to IPTAY. In addition, the athletic department has made generous contributions to the endowment from athletic revenues.

The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson providing $2.3 million in funds, currently benefitting more than 60 students. IPTAY’s support extends to all of the student body.

The tremendous support of IPTAY is due, in large part, to the organizational makeup that allows donors to be as close to IPTAY as they are to their local IPTAY leadership. Each of South Carolina’s 46 counties has an IPTAY County chairman, and every county is allotted an IPTAY representative for every 35 donors.

One important way IPTAY keeps in touch with its membership is the annual Clemson Club meeting held in April and May of each year. These meetings, which feature different coaches and administrators are just one of the ways of making the local IPTAY members feel close to Clemson.

Clemson University will continue to be recognized and respected on the national level athletically and academically with the full support of IPTAY. IPTAY will continue to be successful because a loyal commitment to Clemson University is a way of life in the hearts of Clemson alumni and friends.

One of the factors in Dr. Deno Curris’ decision to come to Clemson was the consistent love of the school expressed by Clemson graduates and IPTAY members.

Tigers face South Carolina at Riggs Field Sunday at 2:00 p.m.

By Sam Blackman

The balancing act is coming to Clemson. This does not mean a high-wire act will be in Tigertown. Instead, the Tigers will be more balanced this season with a renewed emphasis on defense to compliment one of the most potent returning attacks in the collegiate game.

“We have a tremendous amount of talent returning this season as far as offensive weapons are concerned,” said first-year Head Coach Trevor Adair. “With Wolde Harris, Imaad Baba, and Miles Joseph up front we have an abundance of talent offensively, probably the best in the country. They are potent attackers, as they all bring a different dimension to the game.

“His trio represents goal scoring, creativity, speed, and depth that diminishes the opponent’s ability to key on one particular player. Offensively, we should be very explosive, but in the spring we concentrated on improving defensively.”

Clemson returns nine starters and 16 letterwinners from the 1994 team that finished with a 13-7-1 record, and advanced to the semifinals of the ACC Tournament.

“It is our objective this year to make sure our team attacks well, but it is just as important that we defend equally well,” said Adair. “If we can do that, I think this will increase this team’s ability to play more consistently and have a successful season. The key to the success of this team is that all our players can play both sides of the ball—not only go forward, but defend as well.

“We may play a 4-5-1 alignment. This does not mean we will attack less, but we may attack more from the back. We have good midfield players and that is where our strength will be. We may also play a 3-6-1 alignment. DEFensively we should be much improved.”

Clemson has two returning goalkeepers in Matt Jordan and John Cervantes. Jordan started all 21 games last season as a freshman and played 1,738 minutes. He posted 63 saves and allowed 27 goals, for a 1.40 goal against average. He has a wealth of international experience having played for the U-21 national team last spring. Cervantes, a rising senior, played 97 minutes in four games for the Tigers in 1994. For his career, Cervantes has played in 11 games and has not given up a goal.

“We have very capable goalkeepers with Jordan and Cervantes,” Adair said. “They have the abilities to lead Clemson defensively, and I was impressed with their play in the spring. Matt Jordan is coming off a great spring. He is a good shot stopper and is very quick and athletic. He picked up valuable experience playing with the Under 21 National Team this past spring.

The Tigers have quality depth in the back as seven defenders with starting experience return from last season—Daniel Care, Mark Kinch, Justin Rose, Jamaal Green, Sylvan Bednar, Chris Eatough, and Tony Williams.

Green, a senior, started 17 games for the Tigers last season, and for his career has appeared in 61 games, starting 57. In 1992, he was named to the Soccer America All-Freshman Team, and was named second-team All-ACC in 1992 and 1993.

Care, a junior, has started 40 of the 44 games the past two seasons. Care had two goals and four assists from his defensive position in 1994. Kinch returned to the lineup last season after red-shirting the 1993 season. After leading the team in assists with eight as a midfielder in 1992, he played back in 1994.

Rose and Williams were both freshmen starters in 1994. Rose started 17 games, while Williams started 20 contests last season. Bednar and Eatough are seniors with considerable experience, as both were starters in 1992 and 1993.

“After evaluating the team, I thought we needed to concentrate on our defense and this is the area we recruited heavily,” said Adair. “Our recruits shore up our team in the back and add excellent depth.”

Jeff Bilyk (Bayport, NY), Russell Kiefer (Westerville, OH) and Dana Quick (Rochester, NY) are three signees who will play as defenders or in a defensive midfield position. Bilyk played for St. John The Baptist High School in Bayport, NY. In 1993, his team only allowed four goals and was ranked number-one in the nation according to the USA Today poll.

Quick played two years at Brown under Adair. He was a member of the Under-20 National Team and was a three-time high school All-American. At Brown, he was a member of the All-Ivy team. Kiefer was named all-conference at Westerville High School on several occasions.

Clemson again could have one of the best midfields in the country in 1994. However, Clemson’s two starters lost from 1994 were midfielders—Nidal Baba and Rivers Guthrie, both All-ACC quality players.

“Losing Rivers and Nidal caused us to lose much strength and creativity. But, I was very impressed with the play of Craig Wenning and Imaad Baba in the midfield this past spring. Imaad will play more of an attacking role, while Craig will play mostly in a defensive midfielder. Tony Williams can also play on the right side. A left-sided midfield player is a hole we need to fill. Baba scored eight goals and contributed 11 assists in 1994.

“Danny Care could play either as a back or a midfielder. Care is an extremely steady player. He has a great mind for the game, and distributes the ball well. He will be looked to lead in the midfield.”

Miles Joseph, fifth on Clemson’s career assist list with 33, also returns for his senior season and is a possible All-American. He will have nine assists in 1994. He was named first-team All-ACC in 1994 and second-team All-American by Soccer News. Joseph was also a finalist for the Missouri Athletic Club National Player-of-the-Year award.

“I did not see Miles play in the spring because he was suffering from injuries. But, I know he brings a personality to the team and this is very important. He has raw speed and is a very technically sound player. He is versatile, as he can play forward or in the midfield.” Jeff Yenzer, who played striker his first two seasons, will be moved to midfield this season. Yenzer had two goals and two assists in 1994.

Clemson has the nation’s most prolific goal scorer in Wolde Harris to lead the list of strikers on the Clemson roster. In 1993, he was second in the nation for most goals scored, and in 1994 he led the nation in goal scoring with 26.

“Wolde is a force and he works tremendously hard. We are working to improve his vision and his ability to combine with other players. He is capable of playing off of people and even by himself.” Harris was named first-team All-American by Soccer News and was a finalist for the Hermann Award in 1994. Harris is sixth on the Clemson career list for most goals scored with 55, and he has achieved this total in just 38 games.

Jody DeBruin saw action in 13 games last season. He scored four goals and three assists for 11 points. Joining Harris and DeBruin up front will be John Wilson, a freshman from Seneca, SC.

Lady Tigers face North Carolina at Riggs Field September 8 at 7:00 p.m.

By Sam Blackman

The 1994 season proved to set a great precedent. With a 15-4-1 record and a NCAA appearance, to build upon, the 1995 season should have some other surprises in store for the nation’s best rookie program in 1994.

In addition to Clemson being the only first year program in the nation to make the NCAA Tournament, Carmie Landeen was named ACC Rookie-of-the-Year and All-South. Head Coach Tracey Leone was named South Region Coach-of-the-Year. The Lady Tigers finished the season ranked 13th nationally, the only first-year program ranked in the top 20, the first first-year program in Clemson history to do that.

“Last year was a very pleasant surprise,” said Head Coach Tracey Leone. “I think it would be wrong if you did not set your goals high and try to accomplish those things every year. We accomplished goals beyond many people’s expectations. It was a very good season last year, and we want to improve and build on it. We should be much improved in 1995, but we have many challenges ahead of us.”

Leone welcomes back eight starters and 17 letterwinners. “Our goals are similar to last year—we be as successful as we can in everything we do and play the best style of soccer we can. The most important thing is to show improvement, practice after practice and game after game. If that happens the other things will fall in place.

“I feel as though we will have a very good defense. We will be deeper and have more people to work with during the course of the season. Our defense will be very tight and our goalkeepers are more experienced. They did a great job for us and won many games for us last year.”

Clemson returns three sophomore goalkeepers in Meredith McCullen, Suzanne Putnam, and Mandi Rieden. McCullen saw the most playing time in 1994, as she played in 18 games, started 16, had four shutouts, 91 saves and gave up just 17 goals. Putnam played in eight contests while gaining the starting nod in four. She played in 365 minutes and had eight saves. Rieden played in four games.

We are in great shape in this position—all three goalkeepers return for their sophomore seasons, and all three have shown improvement. Having one year of college experience under your belt is great for any player, especially goalkeepers.

Clemson has all four starters returning in the back and this area should be the deepest for the Lady Tigers. Angela Braham, Susan Treney, Beth Goetz, and Cheri Hooper all started for Clemson in the back in 1994.

“Braham is expected to compete for the sweeper or marking back positions this year. She did a great job as a marking back last season. She is very tough and she makes statements with her tackles. Hooper was a great back for us last season. She played a key role for us and in our success. Her play is always valued and her versatility is rare. Treney was a starter at sweeper. Her leadership and work ethic is outstanding.

Goetz is one of two seniors on the 1995 squad. She is great in the air which was a big key for us last year. She won several balls in the air that started many attacks last season.”

Another experienced player returning is Katie Barnett who saw action in 17 games last season. Christie Szyman saw action in the back and in the midfield last season and scored four goals and had four assists. She also scored two winning goals. Szyman was one of four players to start all 20 games for the Lady Tigers. Kim Wilbert will also be returning for the Lady Tigers.

Clemson has a versatile recruiting class coming to campus—players who can play either in the midfield or back positions. The Lady Tigers welcome twins Mandi and Mara Miller who come to campus from Stillwater, MN. “Mandi and Mara Miller are exceptionally versatile, they can play in the back or in the midfield. They are very athletic and skillful and their mentality is unbelievable. We are excited for them to join our program.”

“Tracey McCarron has excelled in every consistent players on the team. Ragan Calvert played both in the midfield and the back for the Lady Tigers last fall. Ragan is also a left sided player. She has a good work ethic and is very versatile. She plays very simple and does her job in a quiet way.”

Newcomers to the midfield include Sara Burkett, Lindsay Massengale, Sharon Pickering and perhaps the Miller twins. Burkett and Massengale along with the Miller twins and Pickering, were selected as four of the top 25 players in the country by USA Today. The twins and Pickering have made the ODP regional teams and also the national pool.

“Burkett is a national caliber player, although she did not participate in the ODP program. She is very skillful and an excellent play maker. Massengale will see time in the midfield or up front. She is a very fit player and has an incredible mentality for the game.”

Clemson had one of the nation’s premier freshmen in Carmie Landeen in 1994. She was named ACC Rookie-of-the-Year as she scored 24 goals and had nine assists.

Landeen started all 20 games last season and led the league in scoring (57 points) and goal scoring (24). The 24 goals scored tied for fourth best in the nation.

“Carmie is a big-time player. What she did is unheard of as a freshman. She is a serious impact player. Her ability to put the ball in the net was unbelievable as a freshman, and she is going to continue to improve because she has a great work ethic. She is quick and skillful and can turn on a dime.”

Clemson will be without the services of Sheri Bueter. Bueter injured her knee during the spring season. She scored nine goals and had 13 assists during the 1994 campaign. “We will miss Sheri a great deal. She will red-shirt, but we are thrilled to be able to coach her for another year.”

Other returnees include Julie Johnson, Lissa Mansberry, Mia Amalitano, and Angela Farace. Johnson scored, in a fresh role, 17 goals and 14 assists last year. Mansberry scored two goals and had four assists last fall. Farace and Amalitano bring a lot of intangibles to the team. Both players work hard and possess great attitudes.

Clemson’s signees in the striker position include Katie Baruth, Heather O’Dell, and Diana Akin.

“Katie Baruth was on the Western Regional team. She is an extremely technical player. Heather O’Dell shows a lot of promise. She is a very technical player who possesses good speed. Diana Akin is a fast player who can shoot with both feet and score from anywhere. She is very good at serving the ball and is dangerous in the attacking third.”

Overall, Leon and Lady Tiger fans are looking forward to the 1995 schedule, another challenging slate for the young program that plays in the best women’s soccer conference in the nation. “It is extremely exciting and we can’t rest on last year’s accomplishments. I think the players understand this. It is a new season, and we are in a new position. We can’t take anything for granted.”

Tracey Leone coached the Lady Tigers to an NCAA bid in the team’s first season. Clemson was the only first-year program to rank in the Final Top 20.

The McFadden Building

The Clemson Athletic Department continued its commitment to provide its student-athletes with the best facilities when it recently completed the Banks McFadden Building at the Jervey Athletic Center. The dedication of this 20,000-square-foot facility last April was the cornerstone of the Jervey Athletic Center renovation project that will be completed in 1996. It is designed to give all Clemson gridders the most modern and comfortable facilities in the nation.

The McFadden Building houses all the coaching offices and meeting rooms for Clemson's football team. The facility has meeting rooms for all nine position areas, so players are no longer forced to view film and discuss key strategy in a coach's cramped office. Each meeting room is equipped with "state of the art" video equipment.

There is also an auditorium that will hold as many as 180 people and is used for team meetings and press conferences. Additionally, there are private rooms for interviews with the media, a lounge, and even a pro scout facility that allows NFL representatives to view film of current Tigers in air-conditioned comfort.

The facility will also house a trophy and memorabilia area at its entrance. Much of the area will be devoted to Banks McFadden, the former Clemson All-American and coach who perhaps had as much an impact on Clemson athletic history as anyone.

The construction of the McFadden building is one of the final stages of the overall renovation of the Jervey Athletic Center. Last summer the Tiger football team came back to a new and expanded locker room with fresh paint, new carpeting, new lockers and more space. The training room was also expanded and a player lounge area, complete with video games and televisions, was constructed. By next year the weight room below the Jervey Athletic Center will be increased in size to an incredible 14,000 square feet from its already impressive 11,000 square feet.

"The completion of the McFadden building gives us outstanding facilities in every area," said Head Coach Tommy West. "We now have a stadium that is second to none as far as its appearance, tradition and ability to accommodate large crowds in a pleasant and unique setting. We have a new, modern and spacious locker room, team area and training facilities. And, the meeting and office areas are comfortable places to learn and work."
What we mean by putting South Carolina first.

We founded Carolina First because, well, because we felt we had to. • South Carolina's community banks were being bought up and run to serve absentee owners. • Being South Carolinians, we didn't care to do without a strong bank dedicated to our state's well-being. Being bankers, we created this bank. • If we understand South Carolina's needs, it's because they're the needs of our own friends and neighbors. We invest in South Carolina businesses because it's good business for all concerned. After all, when our home communities grow and prosper, we grow and prosper. And because we treat our customers as the individuals they are, their good feelings spark our own. • We'd treat any customer from anywhere this way. But by design – and in conscious contrast to the multi-state megabanks – our customers are South Carolinians. So are we. Is it any wonder we put South Carolina first?

*The ACC has had five bowl teams in each of the past two seasons and at least four bowl teams six years in a row.

*The ACC was the only conference to have five teams ranked in both the final AP and USA Today polls in 1994.

*The league had five teams with eight or more wins. Six teams, including Clemson, were ranked in the top 25 of both polls at one time or another in 1994.

*Five ACC Players, including Clemson's Ed Glenn, were named first-team Academic All-American, while five players were named first-team All-American.

*The ACC is the only conference to have all of its members play in at least one bowl game over the last six years.

*Nine times in the last 15 years an ACC member school has won the CFA Academic Achievement Award.

*Over the last 14 years the ACC and the Big Eight have captured more college football national championships than any other conference. Clemson won the title in 1981, Georgia Tech in 1990 and Florida State in 1993.

*The nine ACC schools that will take to the field this fall have produced 304 first or second-team gridiron All-Americans and 47 first-team Academic All-Americans. ACC teams have had 1,280 players selected in the annual NFL draft, including 81 first-round selections.

*Clemson and Florida State are two of just six teams nationally who have won at least 75 percent of their games in seven of the last nine years. Clemson and Florida State are two of just four teams to win at least six bowl games since 1986.

*For the fourth consecutive year the ACC drew more than 2.2 million fans. Over 51 home dates, ACC schools attracted 2,262,017 fans. ACC teams played to 88 percent of their stadium capacities. Clemson ranked 13th in the nation in average attendance, its 13th straight year in the top 15 in the nation in attendance.

*If success in postseason play is a barometer of excellence, the ACC is among the best leagues in the nation. The nine ACC teams have a combined 73-62-5 record in bowl games over the years, a .540 winning percentage. That is second only to the Pac-10's .550 success rate. Three ACC teams are among the top eight in NCAA history in terms of bowl winning percentage.

EMERGENCY SERVICES

The Clemson University Athletic Department provides the following for your safety and emergency medical needs:

1. Advanced cardiac life-support stations in four locations (North stands, upper North deck, South stands, Upper South deck). These units are staffed with skill-care nurses, physicians, cardiologists, internists, paramedics, and EMTs.
2. Mobile units of EMTs and paramedics are strategically located throughout the entire stadium.
3. Ambulances with life-support equipment are available in North stand and South stand areas and have prearranged routes for evacuation to local hospitals. Learn to recognize these personnel and facilities.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE:

Please step back and give the organized EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system. If you have basic or advanced training in specific life-support methods, make your qualifications known and offer your help. Untrained personnel can frequently be more harmful than helpful.

Most emergencies occurring at the stadium result from pre-existing medical conditions. Bring your medical identification card or wear medical identification jewelry. Moderation is the key with dress, food, beverage intake, and physical exertion. The two most frequent medical problems at football games are allergic reactions to insect stings and heart attacks.

INSECT STINGS:

Common at outdoor events. Treat immediately with ice and seek medical advice. If allergic, carry a kit from your physician with you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A HEART ATTACK:

The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but the usual warning signs are:

1. Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest lasting for two minutes or more.
2. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms, or back.
3. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea, and/or shortness of breath.

EXPECT A DENIAL

Frequently heart attack victims deny they are having a heart attack. The event is frightening or they don’t want the embarrassment of a false alarm. Therefore, they delay getting help by ignoring their symptoms or rationalizing, “It’s just indigestion.”

Find out what's really wrong. Prompt response can dramatically increase chances of survival and recovery.

New therapies have been developed that can minimize heart damage and save lives if treatment begins within the first few hours of symptom onset. “Time is muscle.” Get help or get to a hospital immediately.

THE STADIUM EMERGENCY PHONE NUMBER IS (803) 656-2999.
The Clemson Ring of Honor is in its second year of existence in Clemson Memorial Stadium. Last September 3, during ceremonies prior to the Clemson vs. Furman football game, Frank Howard, Steve Fuller and Banks McFadden were inducted.

The Ring of Honor is the highest honor a Clemson football player can receive. A recipient must first be a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame, receive at least an undergraduate degree, and make a significant contribution to the heritage of Clemson athletics. Honorees who played for Clemson will have their jersey retired.

Howard was Clemson's head coach between 1940-69 and he guided Clemson to eight conference championships, six bowl games and eight Top 25 seasons. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989 and is the second winningest coach in ACC history. He had 165 wins when he retired, most in ACC history.

McFadden was named the Nation's most versatile athlete in 1939. He was an All-American in football and basketball, the only Clemson athlete in history to do that. McFadden led Clemson to its first bowl bid ever, a 6-3 win over Boston College in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. He was the number-three pick of the 1940 NFL draft, the highest draft selection in Clemson history.

Fuller is the only football player in Clemson history to be chosen an All-American on the field and in the classroom. He was a first-team Academic All-American in 1977 and 1978 and was a third-team AP All-American in 1978. Fuller, who was ACC MVP on two occasions, is still Clemson's all-time leader in total offense. He was an NCAA Top Five Award winner in 1979, the only Clemson athlete to win the award.

Jeff Davis will be added to the Clemson Ring of Honor today. The Captain of Clemson's 1981 National Championship team was a first-team All-American that year when he led the Tigers in tackles with 175, the highest total in Clemson history. Davis was also named the MVP of the ACC and was the Defensive MVP of the Orange Bowl victory over Nebraska, the game that clinched the national championship for the Tigers.

Ring of Honor Guidelines

Purpose: The charge of the Ring of Honor committee is to bestow the highest athletic award presented by the Clemson Athletic Department on deserving candidates. The committee will examine the careers of candidates in all Clemson sports.

Nominations: Nominations are made by any member of IPTAY, a member of the faculty or a relative of a worthy nominee, and are accepted 30 days prior to the committee meeting. The committee will meet once every two years in the month of April to vote on the nominations.

Nominations will be made in the form of a letter with a complete list of accomplishments and submitted to the chair of the committee, who will retain an active file of nominations. Letters of support may also be submitted. All nominations will remain on file for a period of three voting committee meetings (five years). The Chair of the Committee will screen all nominations to make sure they meet eligibility requirements.

Eligibility: This committee will recognize individuals who have demonstrated consistent and unique national excellence in their sport during their Clemson career. Their accomplishments must be significant on an individual and team basis. Their statistical accomplishments must be noteworthy, but they should also have an outstanding record in terms of leadership. In general, they must have made a noteworthy contribution to the history of the Clemson Athletic Program.

Athletic accomplishments after their Clemson career are not a primary consideration in the nomination, but they must retain an unblemished record of citizenship after they leave Clemson.

A candidate must be a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame and must hold a baccalaureate degree from an accredited four-year University or college.

Financial contributions to Clemson University will not be a consideration when evaluating the candidates.

For a coach to be nominated he or she must be retired from coaching that sport at the college level.

Selection Process: Each member of the 11-person committee will cast one vote per sport. An honoree must obtain at least seven votes to be selected. There will be just one ballot. The committee does not have to select any honorees at its meeting. There shall be no more than one honoree in a sport for every two years.

Conferring: In the sport of football, the honoree will have his name, number, years participated and helmet enshrined in the Ring of Honor at Clemson Memorial Stadium. In the sport of basketball, the honoree's jersey will be hung from the rafters of Littlejohn Coliseum. In the sport of baseball a jersey replica will be hung from the fence of Doug Kingsmore Stadium. Other sports will establish appropriate sites at the home facility.

When a student-athlete is selected the person's jersey is honored, but the jersey number may be worn in the future. However, it is encouraged that the number be issued only when necessary. The ceremony will be determined from a meeting between the honoree, the athletic director, the committee chair and the head coach of the sport involved.

One of the most exciting years in the history of Clemson has finally arrived. Between the dates of August 12 and December 17, there are 16 “football weekends” for grid fans as the Clemson Tigers celebrate their 100th season and the NFL expansion Carolina Panthers play their inaugural season home games in Death Valley.

As Clemson Tiger Football celebrates “a rock-solid tradition in its 100th season,” a generator of spirit is present to enhance the spark of excitement in the hearts of Tiger fans everywhere. Clemson University’s own Tiger Band goes beyond the call of duty and meets this request.

Tiger Band will prepare for just as many games as the Clemson team. Six home contests and five road games are ahead of both the football players and Tiger Band. Clemson remains one of the few schools in the country that sends a band representation to every road game.

This fall marks Dr. Mark Hosler’s fourth season as the Marching Band Director. Before joining the ranks at Clemson, Dr. Hosler was Assistant Marching Band Director at his alma mater, Ohio State University. Much preparation goes into a marching band performance, and Dr. Hosler has been working this group in practice just about as hard as Coach Tommy West has been working the Tiger gridders in preparation for the 100th season of Clemson football.

Tiger Band highlights this weekend with a special touch of Clemson spirit as they present the traditional pregame show. Today, under the direction of Dr. Hosler, Tiger Band will make its traditional sideline entrance with the sound of the famous “Sock It To ‘Em/Tiger Rag.” Excitement begins to be felt by all fans as the air of Memorial Stadium becomes filled with Tiger spirit as another season of Tiger football dawns.

Pregame festivities continue with one of John Phillip Sousa’s most renowned marches, “Washington Post.” The colors are presented by the Clemson University Pershing Rifles Company C4. Everyone then stands and joins Tiger Band to honor America in singing “God Bless America.”

The invocation is delivered and the crowd is asked to join in the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of the National Anthem, which is conducted by Clemson University Director of Bands, Dr. Richard Goodstein. Tiger Band then invites all to join in the singing of the Clemson University Alma Mater.

As the band forms the traditional script “Tigers”, Michael Boone, Tiger Band Commander, dots the “i.” Boone is in his first year as the Tiger Band Commander, and his fourth year as a Tiger Band Member. A member of the percussion section, he is a native of Ladson, SC, a graduate of Stratford High School, and is majoring in mathematical sciences. He was voted to his new title by his peers last season.

Tiger Band then strikes up “Sock It To ‘Em/Tiger Rag” while marching to the east end of Memorial Stadium to form the tunnel for the players to run through as the greatest stadium entrance in college sports begins. The cannon booms, and led by a high-flying tiger paw flag, the Tigers charge down the hill to meet the Catamounts of Western Carolina.

Today’s halftime show is entitled, “The Best of the ‘80s.” It features #1 hits by some of the top artists of the decade. Music selections include, “Eye of the Tiger” by Survivor, “You Can Call Me Al” by Paul Simon, and Whitney Houston’s “The Greatest Love of All.”

The induction of Jeff Davis into the Clemson Ring of Honor will also take place during the halftime ceremonies. Davis, an All-American and ACC MVP on Clemson’s 1981 National Championship team, will become the fourth member of the Ring of Honor on the façade of Clemson Memorial Stadium. He joins Frank Howard, Banks McFadden and Steve Fuller, who were all inducted last year.

Tiger Band staff includes Dr. Mark Hosler, Tiger Band Director, Dr. Rick Goodstein, Director of Bands, Cheryl Hosler, Flag Line Instructor, and Hazel Cartee, Twirler Instructor.

Today as we begin another page in the history of Tiger football, Tiger Band continues a tradition of excellence in its performance on game day. It is an honor for Clemson University to be represented by such a dedicated group of individuals. This year Tiger Band welcomes over 80 new members to the ranks and wishes them good luck in their first performance in Death Valley. Today, let us also honor and thank Tiger Band for continuing the Clemson tradition of excellence.

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness
Where the Tigers play
Here the sons of dear old Clemson,
Regain supreme alway.

Chorus
Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tigers’ roar may echo
O’er the mountain height.

As a child, you were always encouraged to dream, whether it was to be like your hero or to reach a desired goal. Reaching those dreams seemed to pose the biggest obstacle, because of the dedication, devotion and drive they required. Some would fail in their attempts to reach their dreams, but from the looks of it, one person has persevered through the trials and realized a dream that has driven him since childhood.

Henry Guess, a 6-2, 208 senior wide receiver from Cordova, SC, has dreamt of playing football for the Clemson Tigers since he was a little like playing football with the guys around the neighborhood. "When I was growing up, Clemson was the team and when you mentioned the Clemson Tigers, everybody got excited and intimidated. When you heard Death Valley you got that chill down your spine, and that was something that I wanted to be a part of."

Guess visited Clemson as a junior in high school and immediately knew exactly where he was going to play his college football. "I came up for a game my junior year and met Danny Ford, and I thought I had met a superstar. I said to myself, this is the place where I'm going to play."

Coming from a small town like Cordova, the whereabouts are very difficult to explain, a dream to play football at a major Division one school is a dream for most people in the town. Since it is not the type of area overflowing with hot prospects, Guess was at a disadvantage in terms of publicity and attention from the media and coaches.

Henry's football career was almost a bad dream. His mother wouldn't let him play football until he was a sophomore at Edisto High School, which put a severe obstacle in Henry's hopes to play for the Tigers. "I guess she didn't want to see me get injured, but I was glad she allowed me to play football and ultimately realize my dream."

After a parental O.K., Guess went on to become a SuperPrep All-American during his senior season, being rated as the 10th best wide receiver in the preseason. He finished his senior season at Edisto High School with 26 receptions for 655 yards and five TDs, despite suffering a broken arm on two different occasions.

His injuries didn't deter the Clemson coaches in their recruiting efforts, however. Guess' speed coupled with his outstanding jumping abilities overshadowed his two arm injuries in the eyes of the coaches. Guess was an all-state performer in the 200-meter dash, long jump and high jump coming out of high school, so there was no mistake that he had tremendous athletic ability.

Guess was red-shirted his freshman season, gaining valuable learning experience from veteran receivers such as Terry Smith and Larry Ryans. However, Guess discovered that he wasn't living up to his coaches and his expectations. He battled through trying to find his own identity and focused on getting out of the shadows of the veterans. "I felt like I was trying to pattern myself after Terry Smith, because he was a player I looked up to. I lost my own style during my first three years. That's something that has driven me during the off-season, to recover my old style and start making an impact for my senior season."

Guess started to come out of the shadows during the 1994 season, appearing in all 11 games and making one start. His most productive game came against nationally ranked Florida State in Tallahassee, where he caught two passes for 22 yards. He finished jumping abilities enabled him to set a school record in the standing broad jump with a 139.5" mark, a record that most likely will stand for some time. In addition to his ability to defy gravity, Guess is one of the strongest receivers on the team, boasting a hefty 310-pound max on the bench press.

Clemson strength and conditioning coach Gary Wade, has always been impressed with Henry's positive attitude during workouts in the preseason and regular season. "Henry has always been a real focused player, and always come down to the weight room and tried to improve. During workouts, Henry has great explosiveness for a player his size, which is something you don't see all the time. He's got a tremendous frame for a wide receiver, he's bigger and more powerful looking than most other wide receivers, which is a credit to his hard work and dedication to improve in the weight room."

As one of the few seniors on the offensive side, Guess will be expected to offer advice and present a positive image for the incoming freshmen. "Most of what I try to tell the freshmen is to take their time and not rush anything, because that is where I made my mistake, trying to do too much too early. A lot of rookies make that mistake trying to grasp everything too fast. I'll tell them to settle down and work on getting into a rhythm and let the important aspects come to you."

Clemson co-offensive coordinator/wide receivers coach Rick Stockstill is Henry's position coach and has watched him mature and improve for over four years. "Henry has been a very dependable, hardworking player since he arrived here in 1991. He doesn't miss practice, works hard, is a conscientious player, who takes a lot of pride in himself as a football player and as a person off the field. Henry comes to practice ready to work everyday, and his work ethic is his way of demonstrating leadership."

Off the field, Guess is working towards realizing a dream in the classroom. As an industrial education major, he is working to earn a degree in May and trying to teach at the high school level. Guess has realized that putting his eggs into one basket won't cut it in the real world.

"As for my long term goals, I would like to play professional football, but if that doesn't work out, then I would like to teach and coach high school football. I'm trying to finish up my degree so I can have another option to choose from if a career in football doesn't work out."

That graduation day in May will not only be a dream come true for Henry, but for his family as well.

1995 CLEMSON FOOTBALL
By Tim Bourret

With all the attention on Cal Ripken and his pursuit of Lou Gehrig's Major League Baseball streak for consecutive games played, we thought it might be appropriate to list some Clemson football streaks. The list includes accomplishments in terms of games and statistical categories. They should provide some great trivia the next time you want to stump a friend who claims to be a college football expert.

Consecutive Games Played:

Consecutive Starts by Non-kicker:
45 by Jeb Flesch, OG, 1988-91
Note: Flesch did not start the first three games of 1988, then started the last 45 games of his career.

Consecutive By a Quarterback:
32 by Tommy Kendrick, 1969-71

Consecutive 100-yard Rushing Games:
5 by Kenny Flowers, 1985
Note: Streak covered last five games of 1985 season and included career high 148 yards against Minnesota in the Independence Bowl. But, that bowl game was Flowers's last 100-yard game, as he never reached the 100-yard mark as a senior.

Consecutive 100-yard Receiving Games:
3 by Charlie Waters, 1969
Note: Streak covered first three games of Waters senior year.

Consecutive 200-yard Passing Games:

Consecutive Games Scoring a Point:
35 by David Treadwell, 1985-87
Note: Treadwell scored in every game he played in his career. He missed the 1987 N.C. State game however, as Clemson did not attempt a kicking extra point, nor a field goal.

Consecutive Games Scoring a Touchdown:
9 by Lester Brown, 1978; 9 by Terry Allen, 1988-89
Note: Brown's streak was stopped by Ohio State in the Gator Bowl.

Consecutive Games Catching a TD Pass:
4 by K.D. Dunn, 1983
Note: Ironic that a tight end holds this record, because Clemson has historically not been a team that throws to the tight end.

Consecutive Games Throwing a Touchdown Pass:
6 by Mike Eppley, 1984
Note: Even though Dunn's streak took place in 1983, Eppley's TD pass streak was in 1984.

Consecutive Passes without an Interception:
122 by Rodney Williams, 1988

Consecutive Passes without an Interception at Start of a Career:
92 by Nealon Greene, 1994
Note: Greene did not throw an interception until the South Carolina game last year. In fact, that was the only turnover Clemson had with Greene under center all year.

Consecutive Completions:
9 by Steve Fuller vs. The Citadel, 1978
Note: Fuller was a perfect 9-9 for the game before going to the bench early in the third period in a 58-3 Clemson victory.

Consecutive Games Completing a Pass:
46 by Rodney Williams, 1985-88

Consecutive Games 200 Yards Total Offense:
3 by Patrick Sapp, 1992
Note: This might be the most unusual streak of all. Clemson's current outside linebacker did something Steve Fuller, Homer Jordan, Rodney Williams, Mike Eppley or Bobby Gage never accomplished as a Clemson signal caller. Sapp's streak took place against Wake Forest (211), North Carolina (227) and Maryland (283).

Consecutive Games Catching a Pass:
35 by Jerry Butler, 1976-78
Note: Streak covered every game over his last three years.

Consecutive Plays Rushing the Ball:
8 by Stacey Driver vs. Wake Forest, 1983

Consecutive Games Sacking the Quarterback:
5 by Chester McGlockton, 1989-90

Consecutive Games Intercepting a Pass:
4 by Dexter Davis, 1990; 4 by Bobby Gage, 1948; 4 by Terry Kinard, 1980-81

Consecutive Double Figure Tackle Games:
19 by Jeff Davis, 1980-81

Consecutive Games with a Tackle:
48 by Levon Kirkland and Ed McDaniel, 1988-91
Note: Kirkland and McDaniel, both All-Americans in 1991, never missed making at least one tackle in a game. Ironically, each player had a career low one tackle in one game over their career.

Consecutive Extra Points:
72 by Chris Gardocki, 1988-90
Note: Gardocki was a perfect 72-72 on extra points in his career.

Consecutive games 40-yard punting Average:
12 by Dale Hatcher, 1983-84
Note: Hatcher had streak of 12 games in a row broken with a 39.6 average in his last game.

Consecutive Field Goals Made:
14 by Obed Aribi, 1980
Note: This was a national record at the time.

Consecutive Games Making a Field Goal:
15 by Obed Aribi, 1979-80
15 by Chris Gardocki, 1988-89

Sapp holds the Clemson record for consecutive 200-yard total offense games.
Clemson is celebrating 100 years of football this season, but Tiger fans always look forward to the opening of each campaign, especially the initial home encounter.

But how many followers know that in the first four years that Clemson fielded a football team, only one game was played at home? That was a 55-0 win over Bingham in 1898. Three of the other games were played on neutral sites. In fact, Walter Riggs, Clemson's first coach and for whom Riggs Field is named, never coached a game at home. There were also no home games in 1903 and in 1914. That was the last time that Clemson has not played at least one game at home in a season.

Even to have a schedule in 1952, some fast scrambling had to take place. That was the year that Southern Conference school presidents put both Clemson and Maryland on a one-year probation for, of all things, playing in a post-season bowl game. The Tigers had played Miami in the Gator Bowl and the Terps, ranked #3 nationally, defeated Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl.

The presidents said that Maryland and Clemson could play each other in 1952, but no other conference school unless there was a state edict. And it didn't take long to get one of those on the books that said Clemson and South Carolina would meet October 23, 1952, during State Fair Week in Columbia.

So in '52, the Tigers opened at home one week against Presbyterian and closed their home schedule the following Saturday against Villanova. The last seven games were played on the road. Maryland wasn't much better off, playing just three of nine in Byrd Stadium. One of those home games was the first meeting with the Tigers. And the two have met every since.

That decision by the presidents was probably the straw that broke the camel's back, because on May 8, 1953, seven of the larger schools of the Southern Conference broke away from that organization and formed the Atlantic Coast Conference. Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, N.C. State, South Carolina and Wake Forest were the original seven, with the understanding that Virginia would become the eighth member, which it did in December of 1953.

But back to the openers. Clemson has faced 26 different teams in its home opener when it was the first game of the season. Thirty-one of these games have been against Presbyterian—28 of them in a row—with 10 straight at Clemson, one in Clinton and then 17 consecutive times back at Clemson. The Tigers have claimed 40 shutouts when their first game was at home, while six opponents have whitewashed Clemson in home openers, four of these being 0-0 ties.

Clemson's largest point total over came in an October 5, 1901 opener, facing Guilford as the Tigers came away with a 122-0 breeze over the Quakers.

Only three times since the ACC was formed have Tiger followers had to wait until the fourth game of the season to see their Clemson team on friendly soil. In the '94 previous seasons where Clemson has had at least one home game, the Tigers have won 71 times, lost 15 and there have been eight ties. The last opening tie at home took place against Boston College and a guy named Doug Flutie in 1982. The last one before that was in 1933 against PC.

All of the opening games I have seen in 'The Valley' since 1941, two Virginia contests stand out as probably the most exciting.

One was in 1966 when the Tigers made up their largest home deficit ever, beating the Cavaliers 40-35 after trailing by 18 points with 17 minutes to play. The other would be in 1958 when Clemson came from behind twice to down Virginia, 20-15. Clemson came from behind three times the next weekend to defeat North Carolina and Coach Jim Tatum, 26-21, which was the beginning of an 8-2 regular season and a date in the silver anniversary Sugar Bowl game with the #1-ranked LSU Tigers—Billy Cannon, Chinese Brandts, et al.

The '58 win over the Cavs was Coach Frank Howard's 99th of his Clemson career and he savored his 100th seven days later over Tatum. That season also saw Clemson playing in an enlarged Memorial Stadium where 18,000 seats had been added since the '57 campaign.

The Tigers came into the 1958 Virginia fracas ranked 18th nationally. But Reese Whitley took the Cavaliers in for a score on the opening drive. In the second period, Harvey White and George Usry propelled the Tigers on a 70-yard scoring drive, but the extra point was missed and Virginia led 6-0 at halftime.

Sophomore quarterback Lowndes Shingler guided the Tigers on a third-period drive which was culminated on a four-yard scoring run by Bill Mathis, then Shingler ran the two-point conversion in for a 14-0 Clemson lead.

Whitley, who had 174 yards passing (13-25), took the Cavaliers for another score and a two-point conversion and Virginia regained the lead, 15-14. The 22-yard scoring pass was to future NFL star Sonny Randle, as was the extra point pass.

Shingler then took over and engineered a 91-yard Clemson drive that saw him personally go in from a yard out for the score for a 20-15 lead. The extra point attempt was blocked. Although there was 8:45 left in the game when Shingler scored, the Tiger secondary buckled down, and did not allow another score. The Cavaliers had the ball twice more before game's end, but each time Clemson intercepted, the first time by White, the second by Shingler, the same quarterback who had scored the winning touchdown. Clemson ran out the clock after Shingler's theft.

This five-point victory set the stage for the remainder of the 1958 season. Clemson's first six wins in '58 were by a total of 32 points and four of these triumphs came in the final period. The Tigers scored 19 fourth-quarter points against Boston College for a 34-12 win and weathered a second half Furman rally in the finale. Clemson held a 30-0 halftime lead over the Paladins, but was outscored 19-6 in the final 30 minutes.

This 20-15 victory was just the fourth straight by Clemson over the Cavaliers, but this would stretch to 29 before Virginia recorded a win over the Tigers in 1990. Ten of Clemson's 31 wins over the Cavs have been by seven points or less, and eight of the ten were decided in the final period...four of them at home...but only two as the opening game. Howard was the head coach in both of those.

Possibly there are other games that could be classified as 'more exciting' than this 20-15 game in 1958. But for openers, wasn't bad.

Then again, that 'old timer's disease' may be creeping up on me!!!

This is the dealership that Yeargin built that sells the cars that BMW builds.

If this building looks impressive, that's because it is. By design. Through the teamwork of Century BMW and Yeargin Enterprises, this state-of-the-art facility reflects the pride and craftsmanship they both work so hard to achieve. (It was nice when our new neighbors, BMW North America, said they liked it too.) So if you appreciate quality, come check out the showroom. And maybe a car or two.
