In a scappy game, characterized by cleat playing, the Tigers swept P. C. off their feet here Friday. The game was the first of the season, and each man was a symbol of “figge” thorough coaching.
Colbert was plainly the outstanding player. He could get the ball to where suited best; but to pick the man that played his position best would be an impossible task. Each man starred, and the team worked together as steadily and as smoothly as parts of a well-regulated clock. Colbert was clearly the stellar artist for P. C., making most of their points.

The whole blew, and with it a burst or roaring cheers from the sidelines—and the game was on. Colbert made the first goal for P. C. Then, in quick succession itself, the scorekeeper began to make out a record of names and figures, followed by a short series of goals by the imposed Tigers. They always held the ball in their goal. Colberg, Carnell, and Schenck ( C. A. C.) each made three. Schenck and Colbert, Robertson, and Watkins missed no opportunity to send the globe thru the hoops. Williams and Clenison were equally alert, and passing was so quick and skillful that the Probies were constantly on the alert as to where the ball had. and when they did find it. Colbert had it above the reach of all. Now and again the ball would go away with a goal, but things looked like a walk-away for the Tigers. Then P. C. tightened up, and things began to look bad; for Barrett showed his ability, and shot good baskets. But the Tigers were more than likely to score, and when it all; Robertson intercepted a pass, and sent the ball soaring from the middle of the court for a goal. Colbert opened the half with a goal. Barrett made the second for P. C. Then, in such quick succession itself, the scorekeeper began to make out an account of the scores. It was then found that Vogel had made seven goals.
Watkins and Schenck each accuracy showed again, giving the Tigers a clean one. Clenison fouled, and P. C. made another. Again Barnet’s sure hand told for P. C., picking up one. Williams added another point. Clenison fouled, and P. C. made another goal for P. C. Then, in such quick succession

B. H. TAYLOR

From a recent article entitled, “Making Airshipments.” He read well and with great enthusiasm.

The society was called to order by the president, and an address delivered by Mr. Lavon, was absent, being on military duty. The reader, Mr. Rees, delivered a good, short oration. After the preliminaries, the program was taken up.

R. H. TAYLOR

Mr. Mills, the declaimer, was universally received.

The society was called to order by the president, and was led in devotional exercises by the captain. After the preliminaries, the program was taken up.

J. R. PAUST

Mr. Neill gave a very good oration entitled, “Hearing Without.”

Mr. Teetor, the editor, kept the society laughing with his numerous and witty sayings.

H. B. WEST

The reader, Mr. Lowman, read an article entitled, “Making Airshipments.”

He read well and with great enthusiasm.

Mr. Mills gave a very good oration about the effects of the war, and delivered it well. The debate was then taken up.

Mr. Way, our visitor, complimented us, in a short talk, on the good work being done in this department. He was doing, and Messrs. Nicolau and Pitts made excellent speeches. Mr. Hooper made a splendid appeal for the united efforts of the society to pay out a good Chronicle this month.

There being no further business, the society adjourned.

I’ve been heard when you hollered, “Oh, Girls!”

I’ve been heard when you whispered, “Oh, say!”

I’ve fallen for “Whist!” and “Missus,” says Mr. Carlin, I’ve done it. But there’s one thing’s that’s got to be different.

You’re not to get calling me “Hun.”

An ambitious man, like a food, is ever pushing forward.

Some men fall flat when they try to rise to an occasion.

AN OLD CLEMSON MAN

Clemson Agricultural College

A young man can make no better investment than in a technical education. Viewed merely as a matter of business, even if he has to borrow the money at interest, he will find that his increased earning capacity permits even the first year's cost, and is more than sufficient to repay the loan. It is a poor business policy to wait until the boy has some money saved to pay for his education--a policy which is adapted only to the earning capacity only one-half or one-third of that of an educated man.

Every year of unemployment and wasted labor represents a direct financial loss. Every boy of ability and ambition whose parents are unable to pay for his education, should examine the value of a technical education and that of other investments, with his own seed in the hand and begin preparation that will make for greater earning capacity and a fuller life. There is no time to lose.

The world is looking for men of large ability and is willing to pay for them. Already there is a surplus of the one-horsepower variety.
