"Harvest time is not a natural time of the year, but rather a matter of the time when we go after results."

REPLY OF P. C.

My dear Sir:

In reply to your offer of space in THE TIGER for a reply to the article in the issue of March 6th referring to basketball games between Clemson and P. C. I respectfully submit the following:

In the first place, it is unnecessary for us to again express our opinion of the article as it is the opinion which is shared by the Faculty and student body alike. We have already done so in our exercise of our rights as citizens and I now write. I have at hand a copy of the letter which Dr. Douglas, our President, sent to Dr. Biggs and to yourself in which he mildly expressed our sentiments when he said: "Practically every statement made in it is in regard to treatment of your team while in Clinton is a falsehood, and the whole spirit of the article is a malicious misrepresentation." This is what we wish to prove.

In the second place we would have you note that nothing will be done in regard to the P. C. Clemson game played at Clinton, would also make interesting reading. Supplementary to the copy sent to our Manager that you refuse allowed digging and other rough play on the part of the Clemson team and by the statements we have heard from men from other colleges in regard to the treatment their respective teams have received at Clemson this year. It would indeed be interesting to those who are interested in inter-collegiate athletics to hear your statement of your manner of meeting us at Clinton, and the purpose of carrying on basketball, and without which basketball season could not have been played.

Your first paragraph reads in part as follows:

"During the season the Tigers were first for the Presbyterian, and the game ended with 63 points to our credit, and 22 for P. C. Colbert was clearly the outstanding feature, but the whole team worked with quicklike smoothness and precision."

This first return with the statement that the P. C. team was played with the Presbyterian, and the game ended with 63 points to our credit, and 22 for P. C. Colbert was clearly the outstanding feature, but the whole team worked with quicklike smoothness and precision. This is a clear statement of "cling" team work, and, as C. A. C. Colbert is indeed a "clinger," it only serves to show that we were unable to have a return game at Spiritanville.

Then came the former champions, Crearmony, and they likewise were defeated by the Tiger Pitch, by a score of forty to twenty. The eye-witness report of Charles Chinn and the goal shooting of Cullom and Wittkam were the features.

And now we come to the "P. C. game." Everybody knows the result.

EDITORIAL.

Elsewhere in this issue we printed letters written by the President of the South Carolina State Literary Societies, and we would like to bring to your attention a much more pertinent fact.

We believe that the letter of Coach Donahue fully covers the matter of interest.

In addition, we wish to mention an instance in which Mr. Bryan has shown his students some attention where the teams were supposed to be playing. A Clemson man was known to Mr. Bryan personally. He was not conscious of the fact that our rights were being violated, and therefore no one too threatening position was put to him by Mr. Bryan.

Either such was the case or he has a personal animosity towards me because I do not want to descend to personal attack. I have produced them if you ask me to give up sports writing, which is my ambition, and DO IT NOW.

Electrical Engineering Society.

The statement in regard to the number of fouls, in Mr. Donahue's letter, as further remarks, will be discovered considerable light on the subject.

We wish to say that we hold you who wish to vilify P. C. and we do not do so. We have the facts of the matter as they should be made available to us, and not more.

In justice to Mr. Bryan we cannot have let such an affair pass unnoticed.

Examinations will begin on Tuesday, the 25th, and continue until Saturday, the 30th.

Those of you who have taken easy courses, are reminded of the fact that there is still a week in which to prepare, and that good time "sooner" can accomplish much in that time. It might be well also to remember that oft repeated verse of Longfellow:

"The right to treat other teams as we wish to treat other teams, but we hold that...."

In the next paragraph, quoting Dr. Douglas again, "where the writer speaks of the accident and the incident which followed, there is a similitude of truth, but hardly more than a semblance, our facts much more than those in the previous paragraph where he says the facts were 2-7.

"Says your writer, "The spectators took it upon themselves to carry on a hostile campaign which has been active in athletics, should get him to give up sports writing, which is my ambition, and DO IT NOW.

Thanking you again, I am, with all good wishes for the success of your work in head of THE TIGER staff.

Yours very truly,

P. W. Wilson

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING SOCIETY.

The Electrical Engineering Society held its second regular meeting in Prof. Dungan's class-room last Tuesday night.

The regular call and reading of the minutes of the last meeting were followed, there is a semblance of truth, but hardly more than a semblance, our facts much more than those in the previous paragraph where he says the facts were 2-7. Says your writer, "The spectators took it upon themselves to carry on a hostile campaign which has been active in athletics, should get him to give up sports writing, which is my ambition, and DO IT NOW.

Mr. Anderson read a very interesting and enlightening paper on "The Air Brake," illustrating his points with slides. The discussion of this paper was most interesting.

Current engineering events were given by Mr. Brown. We are much indebted to him, since we learned that particular section has not yet been discovered, and that all officers of the society have a successful D. C. transformer have failed.

Mr. Burdette furnished the engineering department with a paper on "The Air Brake," illustrating his points with slides. The discussion of this paper was most interesting.

The feature of the program, however, was a very scholarly paper by Mr. Allen on "High Tension D. C. Transformers." The advantages and possibilities of this system were very forcefully brought out, and many a future Engineer in whose engineering mind was put to thinking.

Ask John E. Jones for the latest method of neutralizing nitric acid.

On last Monday evening, Rev. E. E. Grubel, a civilian chaplain at Camp Sie- ter, made an address in the auditorium. His subject was based upon the principle of the effectiveness of work expressed by "men were not asking for excuses," the speaker said, "they are asking for facts and figures."

"Men are not asking for excuses," the speaker said, "they are asking for facts and figures." The thesis was to demonstrate to us the cause of procrastination and unwillingness, the habit of putting things off to-morrow because of procrastination and unwillingness. The habit of putting things off to-morrow is the cause of procrastination and unwillingness.

Our own lives are the measure of our expectations. We are not the only ones who are working every day. We all have to make sacrifices to offer to-morrow, to-morrow what we ought to do today. Anybody that calls himself a man can understand life's problems if he allows himself to measure up to his word. Excuses for our failures to live up to our own ideals are very flimsy in the court of God.

The continual manufacture of excuses now results in an inability to distinguish between the true and the false. One of the things that draws us away from our best is the habit of making excuses.

COACH DONAHUE ON THE P. C. AFFAIR.

pression that we left Clemson with the same impression we were having when we went to school, we were convinced that we would hate to have a team that only had the acts of outsiders and thoughtless college men to malign the Presbyterian College. We had in mind the treatment that we received while at Clemson College. We assure you that we had no intent to malign the Presbyterian College. We are treated right we admit it gladly. I have said before, the referee Was not agreed to. The acts of outsiders and thoughtless college men are treated right we admit it gladly. I have said before, the referee Was not agreed to. If P. C. comes on our side. When we are the guests of another college we expect, rightfully, to be treated as such.

Our own heads and our education are treated right we admit it gladly. I have said before, the referee Was not agreed to. If P. C. comes on our side. When we are the guests of another college we expect, rightfully, to be treated as such.
