1.0 Welcome (Creech)

The meeting was called to order at 1:02 pm.

2.0 Treasurer’s Report (Hanson)

Hanson is still crunching the numbers from the conference, but early estimates indicate that NASIG is in the black. Hanson also continues to transfer accounts from the previous treasurer, Beverly Geckle, over to him.

2.1 Changing Credit Cards from Business to Corporate Cards

Hanson is in the process of transferring NASIG business credit cards to corporate cards. Chase Bank suggested moving to corporate accounts so that the liability resides with each cardholder, as opposed to the current corporate cards where liability resides with the NASIG Treasurer. To make the change, the NASIG Board needs to pass a resolution per Chase’s guidelines.

VOTE: Borchert moved to adopt the resolution to transfer NASIG business credit cards to corporate cards. This motion was seconded by Kaplan. There were eight votes in favor, and one abstention (Hanson). The resolution passed.

After the resolution has passed, the Secretary (Getz) needs to send a letter to Chase stating that the resolution to move from business cards to corporate cards passed and that Hanson is now authorized as the organization’s treasurer to be the authorized representative on the corporate accounts. Getz and Hanson will need to meet in the next few weeks so that Getz can witness Hanson sign the authorization forms.

There was a question about whether Board members will need to individually pay for their credit accounts and then be reimbursed by Hanson, or whether Hanson will get one bill for all of the accounts.

ACTION ITEM: Hanson will check with Chase to see whether Board members will need to individually pay for their credit accounts and then be reimbursed by Hanson, or whether Hanson will get one bill for all of the accounts.

Committee budget reports and mid-year reports are due October 1st. Newly formed committees that do not currently have a budget should request what they anticipate that they will need over the coming year, including a line item for conference calls. Committees are advised to contact Hanson if they have any budgeting questions.

ACTION ITEM: Board liaisons will notify committee and task force chairs that annual budget reports and mid-year reports are due October 1st.

Hanson is also working to put together the annual audit.
