JOE GUYON, ALL-AMERICAN GRIDIRON STAR, IS SIGNED ON CODY'S COACHING STAFF

Famous Georgia Tech Back-field Star is Here to Head Baseball Staff and Assist in Other Sports

Joe Guyon, former Tech and Carlisle star, has been secured as assistant coach for the Bengal grid squad. This announcement was made Saturday night by James G. ("Mutt") Gee, director of athletics. Joe Guyon first gained distinction with the Carlisle Indians, where he played tackle and half. Later at Georgia Tech he won all-American and all-Southern honors, and was a running mate of Everett Strupper. The addition of this man will be a great aid and distinction to the already great coaching staff which we now have.

For years Joe Guyon has been ranked among the country's greatest grid products. He is expected to report either Tuesday or Wednesday, and soon after his arrival Coach Cody will begin spring practice. In addition to assisting Josh with the football squad, Guyon will also aid in the coaching of the baseball team.

The mention of baseball reminds us of the fact that Guyon has also had much experience in affairs of the diamond. At the present time he is a member of the Louisville club of the American Association. He will report to the Colonels this year, but has obtained permission to enter upon his work at Clemson and will get a recess from spring training. Guyon has also played baseball in the International and Southern leagues.

Guyon is to take the place of Dizzy McLeod, who will return to his alma mater, Furman, as assistant coach. Dizzy will serve under Dad Amis, Furmans recently elected head coach. We, the Tigers, hate to see Dizzy go, for in his leaving we lose not only a fine coach, but also one who is much admired and liked by the entire corps. During his brief stay here Dizzy has been a true Tiger and that is the highest tribute that we can pay to anyone.

The engagement of Guyon gives Clemson an efficient, well balanced staff of coaches, who as players were among the most famous that Southern football has known. Mutt Gee, director of athletics, starred on Clemson eleven and was formerly a coach at the University of Florida. Josh Cody, famous as a punter, tackle, and goal kicker at Vanderbilt served as head coach at Mercer and chief assistant to Coach Dan McGugin at Vanderbilt. Jules Carson, a former Clemson star player, turned out championship prep eleven at Richmond Academy August, prior to becoming freshman coach at Clemson. Guyon is the "Fourth horseman" to complete the quartet.

ARCHITECTS MOVE INTO NEW QUARTERS

Scarcely a year and a half after the old engineering building burned the new, modern, and fireproof Riggs Hall is being occupied by the engineering students and faculty. Immediately after the fire, Professor R. E. Lee, college architect, began work on plans for the new Riggs Hall and as a result construction work was promptly started and has progressed without delay.

The Architectural department, which occupies the entire top floor of the new hall, has already established itself in its new home and settled down to routine duties. In this department the Seniors have been provided with a separate drafting room which is located in the north-eastern corner of the building. (Continued on page 5)

JOHN W. COX SPEAKS TO ENGINEERING MEN

A very interesting and instructive talk was given last Wednesday to the Junior and Senior Engineers by Mr. John W. Cox Jr., chairman of the textile division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and also a consulting engineer of New York City. His talk was centered around the textile industry and the possibilities in this field for the mechanical and other engineers.

His talk was divided into four major topics, the improvement of fabrics, the chemical development in the industry, design and construction of textile plants, and the design of textile machinery. In the discussion of each of the above topics he outlined briefly the possibilities and probable advancement that will be made in each of the four fields. In the first two there is practically unlimited fame and fortune to be won by some engineer with foresight enough to go ahead and make the necessary improvements and discoveries. The two latter fields are more or less limited because of their nature. The design of machinery has not changed much since the industry first started and there is not much room for improvement at present unless some new principles are discovered.

During the chapel hour Mr. Cox gave an illustrated lecture to the entire corps showing the different steps in the manufacture of cloth. With the aid of the pictures he was able to show in an interesting way the manner in which the cotton is first drawn into the thread and later woven into cloth.

Mr. Cox stated that during the last few years the textile industry has been steadily moving Southward and in a few years practically all the larger manufacturers will have moved their plants nearer the center of the cotton belt.

WEAVERS CONVENTION HELD HERE TODAY

The annual Weaving Convention of the Southern Textile Association convened here at 9: A. M. this morning. L. L. Brown had been here previously to make arrangements for the program. The Southern Textile Association holds an annual meeting for each division in the organization of textile manufacturing. The Carders, the Weavers, the Spinners and the Mechanics all assemble and discuss, in individual conventions, the new phases of textile work, the organization of, and the problems relating to each department. Following these assemblages there is a joint meeting of all divisions for a general merging of progressive ideas.

Dr. Sikes was asked to deliver an address of welcome to the visitors. Mr. L. L. Long, chairman, had planned that the masters of the warp and weft should discuss in an open forum the two phases of weaving, plain and fancy. The Juniors and Seniors received permission to attend these discussions. Such an opportunity of mingling with the leaders of the textile industries is very rare. Not only do the students obtain advantage of the association but also that of observing theory applied directly to practical problems by experienced executives.

TIGERS CAPTURE CAGE CAGE FROM DAVIDSON

Score is 35 to 24 With Hewitt and McGlone Stars

Again the Tiger Basketeers emerged victorious; this time over the Davidson Quintet. This was the fourth consecutive win for the Tigers, and the final home basketball game of the season.

The Tigers defeated Davidson by superior team work and shooting; the final score was 35 to 24. Hewitt was again the flashing star and high scorer for Clemson, swishing in shots from all quarters. McGlone, playing his last game of home basketball, looked mighty well. The outstanding member of the Davidson Five was Wilson, playing at center.

CLEMSON BASKEETERS ENTER SOUTHERN CONFERENCE TOURNAMENT

Tigers Draw Auburn For First Battle in Southern Cage Title Contest Ethics

Sixteen of the twenty-two Southern conference institutions will meet in Atlanta Friday to battle for the basketball championship crown, it was announced by the tournament committee which met the first part of the week, and paired the teams for the first round of play. It was announced that only fifteen institutions would enter the contest, this was due, however, to Alabama's late application for entry, but inasmuch as a bye for Virginia existed the committee agreed to accept the Tuscaloosa entry as it was mailed before the final date for application elapsed. All conference teams are entering the tournament with the exception of Vanderbilt (last year champions), Tennessee, Virginia Poly, Tulane, Maryland, and Sewanee.

Don't overlook the fact that Josh Cody had Vandy in charge last year, that probably has a great deal to do with why they were champions in '27. "Josh's" Tiger team is going strong just now, having won the last four conference games they played, and feel pretty confident about the last game of the season this week which will be with Carolina.

Clemson's opponent in the first round is Auburn, and Auburn has one of the strongest teams in the conference so it's a sure fact we have got to fight to win any laurels this year, however, Coach Cody says he is going to win. We know what Cody can do so you bet we are pulling for the team.

HARCOMBE'S PIGEONS WIN AT NEW YORK

South Carolina asserted herself when Capt. J. D. Harcombe, resident of Clemson College and mess officer there, drew fourteen prizes with his muffed tumbler pigeons at the Madison Square Garden poultry and pigeon show held in New York Jan. 18. The poultry show is an annual affair in New York. This year there were ten thousand birds on exhibition there, twenty-five hundred of which were pigeons. It is remarkable that the twenty birds shipped all the way to New York by Mr. Harcombe arrived in the condition they did.

Captain Harcombe is a fancier of birds and animals. His hobby is working with his "circus" as he calls his pets. At present he has in his pens about one hundred and fifty pigeons. He raises four species of birds: Hungarian White Kings, Carneaux, and Muffed Tumblers. The first three mentioned are utility birds, the fourth a fancy pigeon.

At the show at Madison Square Gardens Mr. Harcombe received fourteen prizes awarded for the twenty pigeons entered. Of these there were two first prizes, four seconds, four thirds, and four fourths. Mr. Harcombe stated that the birds were shipped in a special

Exciting Match Staged With Robinson Breaking Tie in Extended Bout

In the first intercollegiate boxing match ever staged here, Clemson won from Georgia by a score of 4-3. There were seven bouts of three two minute rounds each.

There were no knock-outs during the tourney, all decisions being rendered by the judges. Two bouts ended in draws at the end of three rounds and an extra round each had to be fought to settle the matches.

J. H. McCauley, 117 1-2, Clemson, won the first match of the day in the bantam weight class from W. B. Carroll, Georgia. McCauley had the advantage from the opening gong, punishing Carroll with blows to the head and jab to the body. In the second round he floored the Georgia boy with a right to the jaw, and in the third round he had him very groggy.

In the feather J. C. Jester, 129, Georgia, defeated C. M. Wells, 126, Clemson. The first round was about even. In the second round the Georgia boy was the aggressor. In the third round Jester pursued his advantage and won the decision.

The most hotly contested battle of the day came in the lightweight fracas between J. B. Rogers, 139, Clemson and J. R. Cummings, 139, Georgia, and was won by Georgia. In the first round Rogers had the Athens lad down for the count. He injured his hand, however, in the process and Cummings had him down for the count of one at the bell in the second. Cummings maintained his lead in the third for the decision.

R. S. Howard, 142, snatched the welterweight bout for Clemson from M. E. Shevinsky, 146, Georgia. Howard had the reach and greater boxing ability. The two mixed it up fine in the second and third rounds, but in these fierce mixups Howard was clearly the victor.

In the middleweight division R. E. Torchia, 156, Clemson, conceded seven pounds weight and an advantage in reach to L. H. Mitchell, 163. Torchia overcame these advantages with ease and clearly outpointed his opponent for a decision in three rounds.

Bobby Hooks, 165, Georgia, won the decision in four rounds from A. D. Mouldous, 162, Clemson. Hooks had too much reach for "Zag", and in the extra round they slugged each other with every thing they had.

The count was standing at three matches each for Georgia and Clemson as the heavyweight go was announced. Smoky Joe Robinson with the bones of the Tigers pinned on his shoulders got a big hand as he stepped into the ring, for the deciding match of the day.

With a murderous right and a jabbing left punished Gene Haley for three rounds, but took some punishment in return. In the third round Smoky was all over Haley and was on the verge of scoring a knockout, but the judges called the match a draw, requiring an additional two minute go. Robinson followed up his advantage in this period and was awarded the decision, thus giving Clemson the tourney.

build of coop which is responsible for the good condition of the birds upon their arrival in New York.

Captain Harcombe has been raising pigeons for quite a long time. He has made a rather large collection of cups and blue ribbons with his birds at the various bird shows he has attended or entered his birds in.

CARE OF RIGGS HALL

As we go to the press, hundreds of the Engineering students are going into the New Engineering building. This building is one to be proud of and it is expected that there will develop an "esprit de Engineers" which will prove a pronounced effect upon the future Engineering activities at Clemson. All possible care should be taken, by the students who have the privilege of using this splendid building, to sett that the equipment placed at their disposal is always kept in the very best of condition and appearance. Special attention should be called to the subject of smoking. Although the new hall is entirely fire proof and it is expected that smoking will be allowed in practically all classes held therein, caution should be observed not to damage the appearance of the rooms by this indulgence, for the fireproofness of the building will not prevent al ive cigarette from blistering varnished finishings, and the striking of a match on a light plastered wall continues to leave an unsightly arc.

Announcements have been made that June will bring a great Engineering Commencement, centered around the new building and visitors of National prominence who will be here. Hundreds of South Carolina citizens are expected to visit this commencement. These citizens have voted their money for the New Rigg's Building and they will be interested to see how the cadets are responding to their courtesy. When our commencement visitors are shown through the new building let us be sure that it will look like a new building, and continue to keep it in a manner which will be a credit to technical and military school.

GLANCING BACKWARD

On February 21, 1908, the Junior class met to decide upon a suitable motto. After several had been suggested, the class had a general discussion of the merits of each, a vote was taken, and one of these was chosen by a unanimous vote. It was "By being men of few words, we hope to be the best of men."

There is nothing especially remarkable about the motto; the admirable thing was that the class met as one body, and not as an assembly of factions. There were no internal jealousies which would divide the class; therefore it could pick the best without any part showing partiality toward an opinion held by Ags. Engineers, or others. A certain amount of rivalry is all right, but if it degenerate to clannishness nothing could cripple or tie up the works more. We esteem those Juniors who could meet as a unit, leaving out all selfish motives, and do what was best for their class and Alma Mater. Theirs was the true class loyalty.

Men were being fast weede out in eliminations for positions on the baseball team. The coach had high hopes for a good team as the cadets showed a fine spirit in turning out for a trial, at least. Taking an active part in athletics ws the religion of the boys of '08. Seventy-five were actually training for track, and at least that many were out for baseball.

Block C's were awarded to baseball, football, and track men in chapel the latter part of the week. Only four received letters in baseball, five in football, and four in track. Men receiving them were: Baseball, Brown, Farmer, Waldrop, and Wile; football, Britt, Fleming, Lee, Windham, and Turner; track, Marston, Byrd, Fleming, and Cannon. No wonder the Block has such a high place in the heart of the Clemson athlete.

This is a letter received by a not, says the "Tiger."

"A Prescription"

Have you ever noticed right after a meal how tired and lazy you always feel? I'm telling you folks it isn't a joke, It will freshen you up if you try a good smoke. But whatever you do these lines you must heed, There's a certain tobacco of course, that you need. It's packed in a tin, the tin's colored blue. Not only the smoking but the chewing kind too. Of course if you never are bothered this way, Just keep the prescription for some other day. Ask for tobacco, the best that's on earth; To shorten the story, just call it "Edgeworth." Chas. J. A fountain of youth for industry

Ponce de Leon would not have searched for a tangible fountain of youth if he had realized that youth is an attitude of the mind—that it may express itself in the ardent enthusiasm with which the pioneer undertakes to explore and develop new fields.

To men of the Bell Telephone System the inspiration of the pioneering spirit is a lasting fountain of youth. This impelling force has already brought about such developments as the modern multiple switchboard, long distance cables and the permalloy loading coil ring.

The telephone needs of the nation grow constantly greater. To meet them telephone men must continue to be pioneers — developing better tools of service and guiding the entire industry to higher levels of usefulness.

The program for Vespers last Sunday was somewhat different from the usual service. The first part of the program was a short talk by Rev. Gardener of Seneca. Mr. Gardener began his talk by relating some of his first experiences while a Freshman at this institution.

"The Lacking Thing" was the subject for his talk. The scripture reading, taken from the seventeenth to twenty-second verses of the tenth chapter of Mark, is the story of a rich young ruler who came to Christ in search for eternal life. This story is old and need not be related here; but when Jesus looked upon him and told him to sell his goods and give to the poor, the young man turned away greatly grieved. When this man decided in favor of his riches, there were three distinct things he forfeited; the first was leadership. Think of the possibilities open for a progressive young man—he may have developed into another Paul or James or John. The second thing from which he deprived himself was influence. If he had sold his goods and followed Christ, he may have yielded as great influence as did Barnabas. The last thing he forfeited was his eternal home.

Mr. Gardener closed his talk by telling a story of two brothers who went into business together and were very successful. However, one brother contracted fever and died very soon after. When the living brother was selecting clothes in which his brother was to be laid away, a thought like this ran thru his mind, this is what my brother got out of business. The principal thought left with the listeners was, what shall you do with your life?

The second part of the program was a Henry Van Dyke reading, "The Lost Word," given by Mrs. B. B. Bleckley. The reading carried with it a narrative of a worldly-minded young man who allowed one word to be taken from him: namely, G. d. This young man, for a season, was apparently very successful in life, but was finally brought to a full realization of his state of condition, when his only child was seriously injured.

The reading was long, but was, indeed well redered. This was illustrated when Mrs. Bleckley held the undivided attention of all throughout the entire reading.

Can We Get Peace By Preparing for War?

"While we are with one hand making a gesture toward the renunciation of war, with the other hand we are building up the greatest peace-time navy in our entire history.

"As much for the navy in a single appropriation as we have saved for higher education during the whole history of the nation.

"82 cents out of every dollar paid in federal taxes is for the purpose of defraying the expense of wars, past and future."

THE EVENING WATCH

Day by day each of us experience difficulty in living up to those high standards which would make of us our best selves. No person other than Jesus of Nazareth, since or before His time, has been able to absolutely conquer temptation.

"If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." (1 John i. 8, 9).

However, there are ways by which we may obtain power to be stronger, better, and more useful fellows than we would otherwise be. Some of those ways are through prayer, Bible study, and association with people who are striving to live true to the standards of Christ.

Immediately after long roll each evening you will find a group of high type students meeting on each Company hall for the EVENING WATCH. One member of the group reads a few verses of scripture, after which several of the fellows offer sentence prayers. The little meetings for a big purpose last for only about ten minutes. You will find it intensely profitable to attend the group meeting on your Company hall.

NOTICE TO SOPHS

Sophomore class night, similar to Junior and Senior nights will be held at the "Y" Thursday, March 15, beginning at 7:30. Saint Patrick's will be the kind of decoration for the lobby. The program, as yet, has not been definitely fixed.

However, musical selections, vocal, instrumental, readings, and a picture will probably be included in the program.

If you want any dope on how Junior night was enjoyed, just ask any that attended. And, too, take the advice of a Junior and speak to a girl early about attending.

He: We are coming to a tunnel; are you afraid?

She: Not if you take that pipe out of your mouth.

What Shakespeare says about Coca-Cola

KING LEAR Act IV, Scene 6

"Nature's above art in that respect"

King Lear may have looked like a walking florist shop, but he certainly talked a full-meaning headline for this Coca-Cola ad:

A pure drink of natural flavors—produced before the day of synthetic and artificial drinks, and still made from the same pure products of nature.

ARCHITECTS MOVE TO NEW QUARTERS

The Juniors and Sophomore drafting room is connected directly with the senior room by means of two large arched openings, and this generously proportioned room faces on the central north front of the building. The freshman drafting room is a separate unit and is placed in the south-eastern wing of the top story. Each of the drafting rooms is completely equipped with all modern facilities, including individual lights for each student, which may be easily adjusted to any desired position. The Architectural library is a room of rare beauty and ample proportions, with its pleasing panel work, decorated ceiling and numerous shelves for books and periodicals. In the south-west wing is a large assembly room which is to be used as a lecture and exhibition hall. It is especially designed to prevent echoing disturbances and should prove ideal as a meeting room. The freehand drawing studio unit is composed of several smaller rooms so that any lighting arrangement which is desired may be ready. An exceptionally attractive and unique feature of the Architectural department is the structural drafting room. In this room the floor, walls, and ceiling are divided into small areas in which are placed samples of different artistic building materials that are employed in modern construction. By such an arrangement students are given the opportunity of observing the various brands as they appear in actual construction, rather than as they are described in the catalogues. It is no wonder that the fifty-six architectural students are all thoroughly pleased with their new home and with the comfort and opportunities which it offers to them.

As the other engineering departments move into Riggs Hall they will find themselves surrounded by conveniences and beauty that are equal and appropriate as those enjoyed by the architects. Into each department, the design of the building is inclusive of all that can be employed for the equipping of a modern technical school.

Quality sent P.A. to the head of the class

YEARS ago, P.A. showed a clean pair of heels to the field of smoking-tobaccos. It has maintained its lead ever since, putting more distance behind it every year. There must be a reason why P.A. is the world's largest-selling brand.

There is! Open a tidy red tin and get a full breath of that class-by-itself fragrance. Then tamp a load into the bowl of your pipe and light up. The first pull tells you why more men smoke P.A. than any other brand. Cool and smooth and mellow and mild—not for one pipe-load, but always. Try this long-burning tobacco, Fellows. You'll say so!

M. M. CAMPBELL

The one thing that we are all interested in now is the signing of Joe Guyon, famous Carlisle Indian and All-American halfback, as assistant to "Josh" in football and head coach in baseball. Coach Guyon not only starred on the gridiron, but was one of the greatest track stars ever to attend Carlisle. Our new coach has cavorted in the Southern, International, and National leagues. Besides being one of the greatest athletes ever produced in this country, Guyon is a coach that enjoys teaching young men what he knows of football and baseball; and he knows plenty too.

After Joe finished the Carlisle Indian School he entered Georgia Tech and there made All-American halfback for two years. He played at Tech along with Harlan, Fincher, Strupper, and a host of others. By the way, the picture in the Greenville News Sunday was not that of our new coach. We do not know whose map that was, but one thing we are certain of and that is that it was not Joe's. Coach Guyon is a big handsome, husky tipping the beams somewhat in the immediate vicinity of 210 pounds.

We all welcome Coach Guyon to Clemson and may he enjoy the success here that he has in every other thing he has attempted. Clemson is indeed lucky to obtain the services of such a man.

There is not a Cadet in the Corps who does not regret that "Dizzy" McLeod is leaving us on March 1st. "Dizzy" may never have made an All-American football team, but we feel sure that if there had been a similar team for all around good fellows "Dizzy's" name would have headed them all and he would have been Captain of the team. "Dizzy" is going back to his Alma Mater where he has accepted the position of assistant to Dad Amis, Furman's newly elected head coach. Coach McLeod's good work will long be remembered and when he leaves us on the first he will have with him the best wishes for success from every man in the Corps. At the end of this column you will find a few words from "Dizzy" himself.

Here is one that they tell on Joe Guyon and Jim Thorpe, when they were both on the Carlisle Indian Track Team: The Carlisle team was to meet the strong University of Pennsylvania team in a dual meet. Pop Warner was then head coach at Carlisle. The Carlisle team arrived in Philadelphia and were waiting at the station when a representative of the U. of Pa. came in. The Representative recognizing Pop, greeted him and asked, "where is your team?" Pop mentioning to Joe Guyon and Jim Thorpe, who were parked on a bench, answered, "there they are."

Well, boys huge things are in store for Tigertown and it won't be long now.

The Tiger Basketeers drew Auburn for their first game in the Conference Tourney next week. Clemson lost to Auburn at the first of the season, but since then the Bengals have improved decidedly. The team is going down to Atlanta to win and wise heads are not discounting the strength of "Josh's" charges. We believe that the quintet is going to win some games even if they do not garner the main honors. You know "Josh" is one of those fellows that doesn't believe he is whipped until the last whistle has proven it to him. No not hardhearted, but just a red-blooded fighter who never gives up.

The track schedule has been announced by Director Gee and it seems as though he has arranged one of the most varied and strongest menus ever undertaken by a Tiger track team. The season opens March 31 with the Uni. of Fla. here. Then on the 7th of April the boys will journey over to Greenville to meet Furman. On April 14th Coach Carson will take the team to the Capital of Georgia for the Tech Relay Carnival. A tri-meet will be held with N. C. State and V. P. I. at Raleigh on the 21st. A tentative meet has been arranged with Georgia to be held here on April 28th, an official announcement will be made later. On May 5th the State meet will be held in Clinton. To cap such an excellent program the team will en-with Mercer on April 6th and 7th at Macon and two games with the University of Georgia in Atlanta on March 30th and 31st are pending. A brace of settees have been arranged with Furman, one to be played in Greenville on April 30th and the other to be staged on Rigg's Field May 9th. This rounds out a schedule that any college should be proud of. If we get good pitching a new Southern Champion is going to be crowned this year, "believe you me." Fair pitching will keep us in the running. Coach Guyon will pilot the baseball team; he arrives today to assume his new duties.

"Smoky's Rats are still winning games and from all signs and co-signs they are going to continue winning until the last game is played. Smoky's boys went over to Greenville last week and hung a 21 to 19 defeat on the Furman Rats. This is the second time that the Cubs have defeated the Baptists Rats this year. Saturday night the strong Riverside Five fell before the onslaught of the Cubs. The final count was 31 to 24. The Rats clinched the State Freshman title Monday night when they defeated the Newberry Papooses 41 to 38. This is the second championship that the rat teams have annexed this year. Smoky has corralled a real aggregation here lately and the only regret that we have is that the season doesn't last longer. The Cubs have two more games, one with Pelzer Wednesday and the other, a tentative game with Mercer to be played soon.

"Dizzy" acting for his last time as a Clemson Coach will take his leather shovels to Athens where they will do battle with the Georgia Bulldogs. The Clemson seven defeated Georgia in a close meet here last week and this time the Tigers are hoping to erase the least shadow of a doubt as to who has the best team. It is hoped that "Terry" Stutts will be in shape to make the trip. The team leaves Thursday morning for the meet. This will close a fairly successful season, considering that this is Clemson's first year in the Marquis of Queensberry sport.

I want to take this opportunity of thanking the Clemson Cadets for their kindness and friendship toward me during my short but pleasant stay here. I have tried at all times to give my best to Clemson College and the athletic teams that I have been associated with. My association with the cadets. Alumni, and faculty of Clemson College has been far more pleasant than I could have ever expected. I shall always have a warm spot in my heart for Clemson College and Clemson men. If there is ever anything that "Dizzy" can do for Clemson, I assure you that he will be more than willing to do whatever it might be.

Clemson College and Clemson Cadets have helped me far more than I care to admit. You have a coaching staff here at Clemson now, that I know will place Clemson high in athletics. You could not possibly get a better bunch of men together than are—"Mutt" Gee, "Josh" Cody, Jules Carson, Joe Guyon, and "Smoky" Harper. With this coaching staff and the spirit that you showed last football season, Clemson is bound to reach the top in athletics. The boys who compose the athletic team at Clemson College are among the best boys that I have ever had the pleasure of working with.

To sum up my feelings would be to say that I have the highest regard and love for Clemson College, its athletics and its Cadets, and I hope that all of the Clemson men in school will think of "Dizzy" as their friend and if ever there comes a time when "Dizzy" can help Clemson College I hope that you will honor me by calling on me to do whatever it might be.

"Dizzy" McLeod.

PENTAGON MEETS

The Pentagon Engineering Club, which consists of one member of each of the engineering societies on the campus, met on the night of February 14, 1928.

The first action of the club was that of taking J. L. Bell into its fold, replacing H. E. Johnson—acting president of the Textile Engineering Society.

After this procedure had been arranged to the satisfaction of all present, a discussion of a suitable key for the society came about. It was decided that designs would be submitted on Feb. 20, at which time one would be selected from which the key would be designed.

Another discussion of interest to all engineers was that of joint meetings of all the engineering students of the college. All engineers are urged to watch for the announcements of these meetings.
