GAME MONDAYPearman Gives Up But Three Hits to Hoseman

The Clemson Tigers easily defeated the Presbyterian College nine at Clinton on Monday, April 10. Pearman and his cohorts completely outclassed the Blue Hoseman, holding them to only 3 hits, while the Tigers garnered 13 off Knight, the P. C. hurler. Magill and Dunlap were outstanding in Clemson's batting, each securing a triple and two singles.

CADETS EASY MARK FOR DAN CUPID

Of great interest to friends of Cadets R. O. Pickens and C. W. Fike, is the announcement of their marriages which were solemnized during the last week-end. Dan Cupid was on a rampage with his love darts, yet he lost none of his art in choosing delectable targets. Bob and Claud have a wide range of friends in the Tiger Town who are deeply interested in them and theirs.

SALTER-PICKENS

On Friday, the thirteenth, Miss Adelaide Salter of Anniston Ala., was married to Cadet R. O. Pickens, Jr., of Spartanburg, S. C. The wedding took place in the Presbyterian Church of Pickens, the Rev. Mr. Locke, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Pickens is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Salter of Anniston, Ala. The bride was a former student of Converse College. She is extremely popular among the students of Converse and has a wide range of friends at Clemson, where she was a favorite on the dance floor.

Cadet Pickens, a senior at Clemson, is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Pickens of Spartanburg. He has gathered a wide range of friends while at Clemson and has received many merited honors at that institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Pickens left immediately after the ceremony for Atlanta for a short stay and after June first they will be at home in Spartanburg.

HARTNESS-FIKE

Claud W. Fike and Miss Julia Hartness of York were married in Gaffney Saturday afternoon, April 14, by the Rev. Mr. Heffner, pastor of the first Presbyterian church of that city.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hartness of York. She is also a student of Converse College and has many friends there to whom her marriage will be of interest.

Cadet Fike, a Junior of Clemson, is the son of Mrs. Effie Fike of Spartanburg, and while at Clemson he has also achieved a reputation in the school that will not be forgotten in the happy retrospection of his classmates.

PLANS FOR JUNIOR-
SENIOR COMPLETED

Every Junior and Senior is looking forward to the evening of May 4, when the annual banquet of the two classes will be given in the mess hall at Clemson College. This event is without doubt the largest and the greatest in the Clemson social calendar, and one that is remembered by the cadet long after much of his college life has faded in the distant past. This is the occasion when the Juniors bid farewell to the graduating class with whom they have spent many happy hours of college life.

The decoration of the mess hall was begun this week by the decorating committee. The decorations will be beautiful, appropriate, and artistic. In the years past the decorations have always attracted large numbers of visitors who desired to see them before the banquet. As now planned there will be four rows of tables which will be beautifully decorated in a manner suitable for this affair. Overhead, and underneath the lights which will be softened, will be hung blue cheese cloth. This cloth will be drawn from the ceiling to the wall at an angle so as to strike the wall at a point about eight feet from the ceiling to cover all piping. This scheme will necessarily shorten the windows, but these will be attractively decorated to make them look as if they were natural length. Streamers will be hung from the blue cloth to the floor. The college colors of purple and gold will be used to good effect, but it is the desire of the committee to keep from overdoing the use of these colors, as has been done on some occasions in the past. All decorations used will be fireproof.

"Chicko" West, who is in charge of the lighting, is working on a large electric sign to go at the south end of the mess hall. The sign, which will carry the letters JR-SR, will be four feet long, and the letters will be forty inches high. The JR and SR will flash intermittently. The other members of the committee assigned to decorate for this gala event are: J. C. Suber, chairman; W. H. Redfern, J. M. Blankenship, Earle Mayes, T. J. Mitchell, J. F. Callahan, C. D. Wright, and C. A. Jackson.

"Spec" Farrar will officiate as Toastmaster again this year. Those who attended the banquet last year will remember how "Spec's" wit and humor added much to the affair. J. D. O'Quinn will make the welcoming address for the Juniors, while C. E. Britt, president of the Senior class, will make the response for the Seniors. Miss Ethel Cox of Greenville, S. C. will express the sentiments of the guests of the (Continued on page 6)

ANDERSON COLLEGE
GLEE CLUB HERE
FRIDAY NIGHT

This coming Friday night, April 20th, the Anderson College Glee Club will make its first appearance at Clemson this year in the College Chapel.

The glee club this year is one of the best that has ever been put out at Anderson College. There are thirty-five in the club and it is composed entirely of girls and all of them are quite talented in glee club work. The club offers classical, popular, and humorous entertainment.

All those who have seen previous performances given by the Anderson College girls will recall very pleasant evenings of entertainment. It is hoped that a large number will be in attendance Friday night to hear these girls.

MAHAFFEY BLANKS
CAROLINA IN FAST
GAME FRIDAY

With Mahaffey in the box, the Tigers rallied to avenge the double drubbing they received at the hands of the University of Michigan on Thursday and played brilliant baseball in support of their twirler's wonderful pitching to beat Carolina 6 to 0.

Mahaffey was in danger but one time, and then air tight pitching and a beautiful throw from center field to the plate by Ned Moore denied the visitors the single tally they might have scored. A two-base hit by Stoddard into left in the third inning and Swink's single into right in the fifth were the only hits chalked against the Tiger hurler.

Clemson started off with a vengeance in the first inning, when Hudgens walked. Zeigler then singled thru short and Magill laid down a beautiful sacrifice, advancing both runners. Dunlap tripled into deep left center and fetched up at third, with Hudgens and Zeigler safely across the platter. Eskew laid down another beautiful bunt, scoring Dunlap, and Moore closed the inning by fanning.

In the fourth inning Moore singled sharply past third base and then stole second. Williams fanned, and with two outs McCarley and Mahaffey walked. Bill Hudgens then got a hot single into left field which got away from Salley, scoring Moore, McCarley, and Mahaffey. Hudgens was out at the plate attempting a steal.

Zeigler and Dunlap were the batting stars of the day, getting five safeties between them. Magill at first was the fielding star having seven unassisted put outs.

CORPS SADDENED BY UNTIMELY DEATH OF
CADET RAWLINSON

It is with much regret that friends of Cadet A. S. Rawlinson will learn of his death at his home at Davis Station, S. C. on last Tuesday morning. Mr. Rawlinson, a Sophomore at Clemson pursuing a course in architecture, had made many friends since his entrance to college. He was a member of "G" Company in which he leaves a lasting memory of an amiable disposition, an ever-cheerful countenance, and a spirit of good fellowship and cooperation. All who knew Mr. Rawlinson intimately and those who came in contact with him personally feel that there has been made a vacancy in their midst that cannot be filled.

MICHIGAN TAKES PAIR FROM TIGERS

The Clemson Tigers made their first home appearance this season in a double header with Michigan on Thursday, April 12. The Wolverines took both ends of the double header. However, they met with no little opposition from the Tigers.

Defeat was due chiefly to Clemson's inability to hit the Michigan deliveries. In the second inning of the first game, the Wolverines scored four runs by two Clemson errors, a hit batsman, and three hits, including a smashing homer by McCoy. In the fourth inning the Tigers rallied and scored two runs after Dunlap had walked and stolen, and Eskew and Moore had singled consecutively.

In the second game, Clemson managed to squeeze but two hits from Gawne and Oosterbaan, one of these being an infield hit on a forced play. Nebelung's beautiful catch of Dunlap's long drive into left center, and McCarley's shoe-string stab of Corridens sizzler between short and third featured the fielding, while Oosterbaan's triple was the highlight of the batting.

All eyes were focused on Benny Oosterbaan, All-American end who held first base in the first game, and relieved Gawne in the box in the latter innings of the second. He succeeded, with his terrific speed, in baffling to a certain extent, the Tiger hitters.

RETREAT-PARADE
FOR INSPECTING
OFFICERS FRIDAY

A Retreat Parade will be given by the cadet corps on Friday, April 20, at 5:30 P. M. The uniform for this parade will be full dress, with the exception that white ducks will be worn instead of the gray trousers as formerly used. The idea of the substitution is that it will give the corps a more snappy appearance for the annual inspection that will be held here by the War Department on Friday and Saturday of this week. This uniform will be worn once between now and commencement and also during the commencement military exercises.

Clemson's military staff has long considered the change which includes white duck trousers in the dress uniform to replace the gray trousers for dress parade, but it was not until the corps had favored this much needed change that definite steps were taken in this direction. The corps opinion was voiced in

SEA OF MUD SLOWS
UP TECH RELAYSNew Southern Records Set in Javelin and Shot Put

The sixth annual Southeastern Relays, popularly known as the Tech Relays, were staged at Grant field, Atlanta, last Saturday. Many Southern records were expected to be broken, but due to muddy footing and a drizzling rain which prevailed the meet was considerably slowed up.

The men who represented Clemson at the relays were: O'Dell, Maner, Willimon, McGill, Adams, Andrews, Blakeney and Marchbanks. We feel assured that these men put forth everything they had for the glory of Clemson and that is all we expected of them. We must not forget the handicaps under which the men had to struggle. Ross O'Dell, holder of the Southern conference pole vault at the meet; first place going to Nash and second to Keener, both of Georgia. A wet pole and an uncertain footing made the vault very precarious.

Graydon, a high school lad of Little Rock, Ark. sprang the surprise of the day when he won the free for all javelin even with a throw of 205 feet, 5 inches; a new southern mark and six feet better than the national scholastic mark of 199 feet, 5 inches. A throw of 44 feet 9 3-8 inches by Nelson of Iowa, set a new southern mark in shot put. However, the rain and mud did not act as a handicap in these two events.

The events as they occurred were:
100-YARD DASH—Cummings, Virginia, first; Elder, Notre Dame; Hamn, Georgia Tech. Time 10 seconds.

120-YARD HIGH HURDLES—Beard, Auburn, first; Eubank, Oglethorpe; Durren, Georgia Tech. Time 15 2-5 seconds.

SHOT PUT—Nelson, Iowa, first; Nesom, Louisiana State University; Hood, Georgia Tech. Distance: 44 feet 9 3-8 inches. (New Southern record.)

DISTANCE MEDLEY RELAY FOR COLLEGES (2 miles)—Indiana (Bildine, Buck, Smock, Fields), first; North Carolina, Duke University. Time, 11 minutes 3 1-5 seconds.

HALF-MILE RELAY FOR COLLEGES—Indiana (Abramson, Steffasson, Banks, Hilt), first; Notre Dame, Virginia. Time 1 minute 33 3-5 seconds.

HALF-MILE RELAY FOR COLLEGE FRESHMEN—Florida (Bryson, Bethea, Bickmeyer, Newcomb), first; Alabama, Georgia Tech. Time 1 minute 34 2-5 seconds.

POLE VAULT—Nash, Georgia Tech, first; Keener, Georgia; O'Dell, Clemson. Distance 11 feet 6 inches.

DISCUS THROW—Nesom, Louisiana State University, first; Harper, North Carolina; Carter, Auburn. Distance, 129 feet 2 3-4 inches.

FOUR-MILE RELAY FOR COLLEGES—Indiana (Fields, Brattain, Banks, Clapham), first; North Carolina University; Tennessee. Time, 19 minutes 11 4-5 seconds.

HIGH JUMP—Eubanks, Oglethorpe, first; Greeney, Louisiana State University; Coker, Georgia Tech. Distance, 5 feet 11 5-8 inches.

ONE MILE RELAY FOR COLLEGES—Indiana (Leet, Smock, Abramson, Stephenson), first; Iowa, Vanderbilt. Time, 3 minutes 31 3-5 seconds.

chapel last week when they voted unanimously to adopt the white ducks for the coming inspection. As yet nothing has been said of the permanency of the change, but it is generally understood that from now on these trousers will be considered a part of the regular dress uniform to be worn particularly at dress parades and at commencement.

EDITORIAL

If you ride a horse, sit close and tight,
If you ride a man, sit easy and light.
—Poor Richard.

As time moves forward in its never ceasing journey, it becomes necessary for the younger and more energetic minds to take up the work and carry on where their forefathers have left off and to continue in their places as best they can. Improvements are steadily being made in the various fields of learning and it is always to the rising generation that the present generation looks for further advancement. If one individual on the huge machine fails in his task there is another, willing and ready, to take his place and carry on so that no one will suffer. No individual is so all important that he cannot be replaced by some one just as capable of carrying the burden and giving to mankind the services that are expected from one of such high standing.

It is at this time that it becomes necessary for the old staff to retire and leave the destiny of the Tiger for the coming year in the hands of an entirely new staff. And since it is on us, the new staff, that the burden falls for maintaining the standard set by the previous staff, we feel unqualified and incapable of the task that has been set before us.

We do, however, pledge our full support to the Tiger and to the things for which it stands. We propose to present to our readers the news and happenings of the college and campus in the same clear and accurate manner that has been adhered to in the past. We will do our utmost, in any way possible, to assist in the movements that stand for a bigger and better Clemson. To achieve these things it will necessitate the full cooperation of each member of the staff in conjunction with the student body as a whole, and it is our earnest desire that we shall receive their wholehearted cooperation at all times.

This year the reporters club will play a more important part than it has played in the past years. It is to be organized for the boys that are not on the regular staff that feel that they can and want to write for the college publications. If these men enter into the work with the right spirit there is no reason why they will not only help the staff in giving the students and public a better paper, but they will also help themselves materially. Under the present system those members of the staff whose work measures up to a standard set by the faculty advisors will receive college credit in English according to the number of hours spent on this work. It is then the purpose of the reporters club to find men that are adapted to newspaper work and recommend them for positions on the staff next year.

PROF. KIMBALL TO DEDICATE NEW ENGINEERING BUILDING

Prof. Dexter Simpson Kimball, Dean of the College of Engineering, Cornell University, will deliver the address for the dedication of the new Engineering building during commencement.

He received his A. B. and M. E. degrees from Leland Stanford University, California.

Prof. Kimball is a very able speaker, and since his graduation he has held a number of important positions. Since February, 1921, he has been Dean of the College of Engineering, Cornell University. Aside from that, he has written a number of noteworthy books, some of which are: "Elements of Machine Design", "Industrial Education", "Principles of Industrial Organization", "Elements of Cost Finding", and "Plant Management."

From 1911 to 1920, Prof. Kimball was the Faculty Representative of the Board of Trustees of Cornell University and in 1922 was a member of the Board of Visitors of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. He is also a member of the leading Engineering Societies, and in 1921 was President of the A. S. M. E.

Prof. Kimball's address will, no doubt, be instructive as well as interesting, and it is expected that his appearance here will draw a good attendance.

BISHOP MOUZON CONDUCTS UNION SERVICES IN CHAPEL SUNDAY

Delivers Inspiring Address to Cadets and Campus Residents

Last Sunday, at the regular church service, the corps of cadets and the people of the campus gathered in the beautifully decorated chapel to hear Bishop Mouzon deliver a very impressive and beneficial sermon.

Mrs. Eaton opened the service by rendering Zatsis, "Berbsue" as a delightful piano prelude. The singing of the "Doxology" and "Come Thou Almighty King" was followed by Rev. Saterlee's reading the Parable of The Ten Talents, as it is recorded in Matthew 25: verses 14 to 30. A prayer was then rendered by Rev. Crouch, which was closed by the congregation repeating the Lord's Prayer. The strains of "The Holy City" filled the chapel as the choir so pleasingly sang, "Nature's Hymn of Praise," in which Mrs. Seilee and Mr. Hall rendered delightful solos. After the congregation sang "Stand Up, Stand Up For Jesus," Dr. Sikes introduced Bishop Mouzon as one man in the South whose message he coveted for college men, or any other group of people.

The speaker, a tall impressive looking man, who is the Methodist Bishop over both Carolinas, used as his text, "And I Was Afraid," from the twenty fifth verse of the twenty fifth chapter of Matthew.

He opened by saying, "Nothing is so paralyzing to moral, spiritual and intellectual endeavor as fear. The secret lies in 'I was afraid' since we have a fear of failure, ill health, criticism, and death."

He continued in part by saying, "There is a spirit of fear throughout all Christendom which makes men afraid of the truth, and afraid to invest in the market of the church. Although dogmatic scientists may be in conflict with religion, truth never has been, and never will be in conflict with religion, for the lines of truth converge to God. Some people look on the fear of religion as it was represented by the law givers and scribes in the Old Testament, while others look on it as something living, and vital, and growing, as a matter of experience such as is found in the life of Christ and the prophets. Faith is the victory which overcomes fear and the world; advance with Faith and Steadfastness even though you may get opposition, invite criticism, have to change your mind, and your way of living. My message is: never be afraid of the truth—invest in the market of the church. If you never take risks you never get any where and there lies the reason that Faith is betting your life that there is a God and winning the bet. Take this view toward religion and venture all on God; then you will find that there is a God. You can live on any plane or level but there is nothing so romantic as Christian living, for then life becomes worthwhile and becomes a safe thing. When you get out on the sea of life don't hug the shore where there are reefs and rocks but get out in the deep currents where the winds of Heaven are blowing and where God is calling men. Modern philosophy creates a fear which keeps men from being self-sacrificing and makes them unselfish; so get away from the shore of modern philosophy. Modern psychology says, "You must not repress," but remember that giving free play to the good and repressing the evil develops the attractive personality. Don't be afraid to get rid of yourself since life expands with self-sacrifice. The principles of the Christian church are association with your fellowmen, and if you want your talents to grow you must associate with your fellow men."

Bishop Mouzon closed the sermon which will long be remembered by those who were fortunate enough to hear him by saying, "Faith is the victory which overcomes all this fear—Rest is the glory given to crown you immortal." The service in which Rev. Hodges officiated was closed by Rev. Bryan's benediction.

Memories of "The Lost Chord."

Seated one day in the mess-hall, I was weary and ill at ease, As I chewed on what you may call "Army Slumgullion with Peas." I knew not what I was eating, And my courage began to lag When I struck a chord tasting Like the string of my laundry bag. It clung to my false teeth, With passionate force it clung; No longer could I breathe, It got twisted around my tongue. I tried to let out a gripe, in vain, For my tongue was tied. The chord settled down my windpipe And, gasping for breath, I died. —G. W. Sackman.

He shuffles into class almost nine minutes late every day, and creates an unnecessary noise by slamming the door after him. He disturbs a large part of the class by calling them by name, and sometimes he has been known to talk aloud in the very midst of class—

Is he on probation? Why of course not! He's our professor.

Mary—I think necking is positively repulsive.

Ann—I don't like it either.

Mary—Shake, sister, we're both lars.

"Not even a woman can step on me and get away with it," said the banana peel as it coasted the sweat young thing into an embarrassing position.

"Is he crooked?"

"Is he? Say, that guy can't even take his whiskey straight."

Preacher—Will you have this woman for your wedded wife?

Groom—What do you suppose I came here for?

Judge—And are you the defendant?

Rastus—No sur, Jedge; Ah's just de man what stole the chickens.

Mabel—Why wouldn't you go to the masquerade with him last night in your Hawaiian costume?

Mae—Well, I found out that he was going as a harvest hand.

"I was in a big train robbery on my way home."

"How exciting! Tell us about it."

"Took my girl to eat on the diner."

"Although only a tattooer's son he had designs on the girl, but she was an architect's daughter and had other plans."

Husband—You ought to dust this closet—there's a spider web in there.

Wife—I knew that you wouldn't say anything nice about my new dress.

Bill—Will you lend me a book for a week, old man?

Dill—Yes, but who is the weak old man?

He—Gosh, girl, the rouge you've got on your lips.

She—Gimme time, big boy, I've just arrived at this party.

Convict in Death Cell—Hey, how about signing me up for a little insurance.

Insurance Agent—Not on your life.

He—You nearly lost your equilibrium that time.

She—Oh! I hope it's not showing.

Sixteen—That certainly was a wonderful party. I never saw men so tight.

Sixty—That's fine. I love to see men save while they are young.

He (on the front porch)—Don't forget our date next week. Can't I see you in the interim?

She—No. Whatever you want to say or do, do it right here.

"Take 'it' from me," said Greta Larbo, as she kissed John Gilbert.

Jack—I had a bad spill on the co yesterday.

Jill—How much did you spill?

Yonkers—Smoking in public! Why I'd sooner become intoxicated. Beautiful and Damned—Who wouldn't?

Icky Jones—I am a track man. Coach Carson—What section do you work on?

"My roommate is awfully dumb."

"Why so?"

"I can't learn him to say 'teach.'"

She—The trouble with the modern books is that they call a spade a spade.

He—That would be all right if they would only stick to spades.

The hall was filled with dense blue smoke from the cigarettes of the men standing about in groups. They were chatting about the various merits of leading movie comedy actresses.

"Suddenly a boy's voice announced, 'The curtain is up.'"

And the men dashed into the next room and leaned far out the open windows, gazing at the windows of the girls dorm next door.

Parrott Byrd—Is this a one way street?

Policeman—Yes, and there ain't no two ways about it.

"College must be a great place," sighed Shorty Barton as he watched the latest release of the "Collegians."

"Have you a cigarette?"

"Lots of 'em, thanks."

Maid (speaking over phone)—No sir, I don't know how long the doctor's going to be out. He's been called out on one of these eternity cases.

Prisoner (just back from trial)—Hurrah, fellows! I'm crazy.

She took horseback riding lessons for six weeks but all she got for her pains was liniment.

Gordon Bryce—Will you pay me what I'm worth?

Employer—I'll do better than that, I'll give you a small salary to start with.

"I'm terribly worried about my party tonight."

"Why is that?"

"Earl Carroll's coming and all we have is a shower bath."

"How do you know that she is a lady?"

"Oh, 'cause when I necked her she made me take my hat off."

"What do you take for a headache?"

"Whiskey the night before."

A co-ed is a girl who also goes to college.

The dog's bark is one thing, at least, which never gets into the sausage.

Gola Townsend—I know that I know that much about music.

Guy Hutchins—Ah, hush! You can't even tell when a tire is flat.

The only difference between Bo-Peep Williams and a movie star is the distance from Clemson College to Hollywood.

She was only a musician's daughter, but she topped the scales.

Bill Player—My girl is so dumb that she thinks Wheeling, West Virginia, is an awfully hard job."

Teacher—Johnnie, what is Shakespeare's most famous poem?

Johnnie—Venice and Adenoids.

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES

The main feature of the program at the meeting of the A. I. E. E. Thursday evening was a salesmanship contest between M. A. Jones and H. E. Stoppelbein. Jones represented the General Electric circuit breakers, while Stoppelbein sold the Westinghouse breakers. Both men presented their points well. L. F. Sander gave a few of the most important current events of the day, and Professor Rhodes asked the cadets to be thinking about an article to be sent to the Southern A. I. E. E. convention. The meeting then adjourned. At the next meeting a report of the A. I. E. E. conference at Atlanta will be given, important business transacted, and an address will be made by one of the new faculty members.

J. J. Avent and C. H. Lineberger gave interesting talks on recent projects in the civil engineering field at the A. S. C. E. meeting Tuesday night. "Horse" told how an emergency job was done when a brick culvert collapsed where it was not desirable to disturb the roadway above, and "Chick" gave some details of the Oakland-Fairmont tube, one of the most unique engineering feats of modern times. After the contemplated trip to Washington had been discussed, the society adjourned.

At the regular meeting of the Palmetto Society last Thursday night the President for the fourth term was installed, and the remainder of the officers were elected. Mr. J. A. Jordan, who succeeds Mr. J. C. Garrison as president, made a short speech in which he urged the attendance and cooperation of every member.

The election on the Sergeant of Arms proved to be a source of much merriment, as the two candidates for this office, "Rats" Clayton and Lloyd, were asked by the president, upon the suggestion of one of the members to make "campaign speeches." "Rat" Clayton was elected by a small majority. The other officers were: G. H. Carroll, vice-president; J. P. Hendrix, secretary; R. F. Nalley, corresponding secretary; G. L. Thomason, literary critic; C. G. Latham, prosecuting critic; R. A. Taylor, censor; and E. B. Early, chaplain. A committee was also elected to investigate the records of the seniors to determine who should get diplomas from the Literary Society.

Only a few of the members were present to vote. In fact, at the conclusion of the meeting it was evident that almost everyone present held an office of some kind. It is a deplorable fact that so little interest is taken in literary society work at Clemson. Nevertheless, it is true that a pitifully small number of cadets ever regularly attend the meetings of a literary society.

The Palmetto does not pretend to be "the best in the world," as the saying goes, but she does consider herself "doggone" good. If anyone doubts this, let him come up to the Palmetto society hall next Thursday night April 19, and see for himself. New members are selected, old members are urged to attend, and visitors are welcome at all times.

"How are you getting along with 'rithmetic, Sam?"

"Well, I done learned to add up all the noughts, but de figgers still bother me."

A draft of Missouri mules had just arrived and a new private made the mistake of going too near one. His comrades caught him on the rebound, placed him on a stretcher and started for the hospital. On the way the injured man regained consciousness. He gazed at the sky overhead and felt the swaying motion of the stretcher. Feebly he lowered his shaky hands over the side, to find only space.

"My gosh!" he groaned, "I ain't even hit the ground yet."

Loonie Leitner—If I were you I'd have more sense.

Skipper Bell—Sure you would.

SPECIALIZATION

Because this store has so many departments and carries so many different lines of merchandise, you may have the impression that it isn't a specialized institution.

Yet every department is really a specialty shop. It has its own manager and buyer—an experienced specialist in that line.

The fact that so many departments are united in one store and cooperate in their efforts make it possible to give you a more highly specialized service in merchandising than any one department or group could give you as a separate business.

8 million a day ~ IT HAD TO BE GOOD TO GET WHERE IT IS

The Vesper Service Sunday night was given over to the installation of the Officers and Cabinet for 1928-29. E. N. Geddings retiring president, presided. Gene Geddings upon retiring thanked the members of the Y. M. C. A. for their co-operation during the year that he was president and expressed the belief that if everyone of the members should put his best into the work the Y. M. C. A. would be greatly improved.

Mr. E. C. Murdock responded for the Cabinet and for Mr. Strowman, who was unable to make his talk. Mr. Murdock thanked Mr. Geddings for his advice and urged the members of the retiring Cabinet to be free with any advice that they thought should be given to the new Cabinet members.

After a selection of special music by a string quartet, Mr. T. B. Lanham delivered the installation address. Mr. Lanham, to show the growth and the permanence of the Y. M. C. A. challenged anyone to find an organization which has grown to the size of the Y. M. C. A. under conditions which were as unfavorable to development. Figures show that during the year 1927, 36,391 persons were converted as a result of Y. M. C. A. influence. The Y. M. C. A. is established in 55 countries. Before the organization is established in any country the Protestant Missionaries and also the government must invite the Y. M. C. A. to organize in that country. Mr. Lanham offered three suggestions to the members of the organization. The first was to develop more heart power. If we are strong physically and do not have heart power and the will power we will not move forward in any work that we undertake. The second was to be clean. Even if we have the heart power and are strong physically but do not have a clean heart and mind we will not conquer our tasks. The third was to have the right connections. The right connections in Christian work is the connection with God through Jesus Christ. Mr. Lanham wished the new Cabinet God-speed and urged the old Cabinet to continue the good work which they have started.

Rev. Crouch made the following charge to Mr. C. W. Stroman, President-elect.

"Do you, therefore, in accepting the office of president, covenant with this Association:

"That you will give its work first place in your voluntary activities—

"That you will set aside a period each day, preferably the 'Morning Watch' for the cultivation of your deeper devotional life—

"That you will give yourself loyally to the preparation of a worthy program of activities, and to putting that program into operation—

"That you will recognize in committee organization an essential to the success of the work and will assist your fellow-workers on the Cabinet so to relate other students to them; recognizing also that they ought to have your cooperation, your supervision, your prayer and your fellowship in the work of their departments."

The entire Cabinet was then given a charge that was very similar to the one given the president, after which the service ended with Mr. Lanham giving the Benediction.

The members of the old and new Y. M. C. A. Cabinet and the faculty leaders of the Bible Study groups were the guests of the Y. M. C. A. Monday night at a plate supper. The meeting was a get-together meeting between the faculty members and the cabinet. An excellent supper was served. After the supper, Major Martin was called on to say a few words. Dr. Sikes then talked for several minutes and expressed his pleasure at the outcome of the Bible Study groups. He said that for him there was nothing more agreeable than teaching some phase of Christian work to a group of young people who wanted to learn more about Christ. Dr. Sikes said that he thought that the great problem of teaching young people is to get them interested, after they have become interested it is easy to keep them interested. Theo Vaughn called on "Holtzy" for a few words and obtained a good response. The meeting was brought to a close after Theo announced that the Bible Study groups would hold their last meeting on the First Wednesday night in May.

Day by Day at Clemson

The Woman's Club met at the club rooms the afternoon of Monday the ninth. The annual election of officers was held, the following being elected:

President, Mrs. Richard Johnson; Vice-President, Mrs. Feeley; Secretary, Mrs. Donovan; Treasurer, Mrs. Willis; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. McCollum.

The meeting of the School Improvement Association at the school building Tuesday the tenth, was very largely attended, over seventy-five being present. At this meeting refreshments were served by the domestic science class. Each member of the Association was presented with an ice bag and mallet.

The Wednesday Morning Bridge Club met at the home of Mrs. Calhoun.

Mrs. Sikes entertained the Book Club Wednesday afternoon.

Last Thursday evening a very enjoyable little operetta, "Peter Rabbit" was presented at the Calhoun-Clemson school by the first, second, and third grades. Peter, Mopsy, Flopsy, and Cottontail, and all the rest of the characters including the vegetables in the garden, were dressed in very clever costumes. Over fifty dollars was realized, this going to pay for the new electric lights which were used that night for the first time.

EXCHANGE

F. W. LACHICOTTE

There is always a time in the existence of any organization when the Old passes out and the New steps into its place. The New bows to the Old and with a few tactful compliments wishes its as much success in future undertakings as it has had in the past. Then the New vaguely states what it will strive to do in the future, usually without an inkling of what definite object it will try to accomplish during the coming regime. Such is the situation we find ourselves in, now that the seniors have left in our hands their positions in order that they may take up more serious work.

One thing certain as to our platform: our pet aversions, such as compulsory church attendance, the "honor" system, and so on, we will decry in this column at every possible moment, hoping that those "way up" will tire of the racket and do something to help the situation.

Says the Emory "Wheel," "A college degree, some think, entitles the holder to a free ticket to the Great American Show. A college degree is more imposed on than imposed in these days." It goes on to say that, though there was a time when a degree commanded the awed respect of the common people, today a diploma is worthless without a personality to accompany it. We certainly agree with the "Wheel" on this. There was a time, possibly, when one could get something for nothing, but the last of that went out with slot machines. As the old saying goes, you can't take out what you don't put in, unless you are born an Ozark Indian, and sell off your oil land.

"Are freshmen going to take this campus?" asks the N. C. State "Technician." "Freshmen can be seen uptown without caps almost any time. They do not seem to fear the punishment if caught without them. Freshmen when passed on the campus speak if they feel like it. They carry matches if they smoke themselves." Why abolish freshmen caps and the rules of speaking and carrying matches? When a law is not enforced it is not much good to have the law, they complain.

There is only one way to control freshmen. That's by constructive hazing. N. C. State men seem to have more than idle threats up their sleeves, and were we State rats, we would begin walking the straight and narrow very soon!

In speaking of Friday the thirteenth, Lindbergh, and divers other matters, the Citadel "Bull Dog" states, "We have never heard of the Prince of Wales falling off his horse on the thirteenth. He fell off twice when his horse became frightened at the cries of some women. We would advise him to marry, but then he would have to give up riding horses. Either way we look at it, he is bound to fall."

For goodness' sake don't let him get married; it would mean starvation for American joke editors if he gave up riding horses.

Prof: Give me a quotation from the Bible.

Student: "Judas went out and hanged himself."

Prof: And another one?

Student: "Go thou and do, likewise."

TRACKSTERS OFF TO N. C. STATE FOR MEET

Tigers Will Meet V. P. I. and N. C. State in Three Cornered Events

Clemson will make her second out-of-state bow in track and field competition Saturday. Here she will meet in competition with two of the best track teams in the Southern Conference—V. P. I. "Gobblers" and N. C. State "Wolfpack." Coach Jules Carson will leave Friday morning with his entire varsity squad to uphold Clemson's reputation in track and field in its usual position.

We had an "off" day Saturday at the Tech Relays in Atlanta, our team placing in only two events. The main factor in our poor showing in Atlanta was adverse field and weather conditions, Jupiter Pluvius reigning supreme thruout the meet, keeping the track ankle deep in mud.

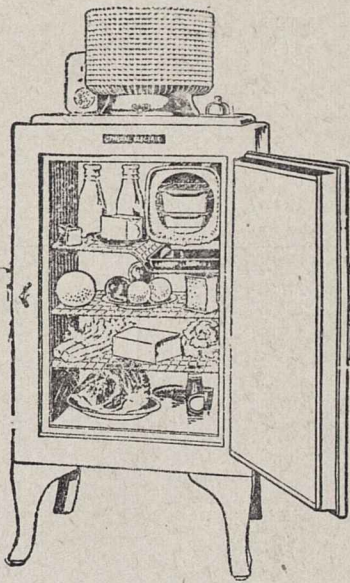

Sporting the Purple and Gold of the Tiger school, we feel sure that this group of picked athletes will rank high in the final results at Leigh Saturday.

Safe-guarding tobacco's priceless asset

TOBACCO that's a veritable treasure, a wealth of rich mellowness, worth its weight in gold... deserves every possible protection to assure its safe-keeping. So, the utmost precaution is taken to safe-guard Granger's priceless properties.

To prevent the loss of one bit of its freshness, Granger is first packed in a heavy-foil pouch... Then to be 100% on the safe-side, this is sealed 'AIR-TIGHT' in an extra outside-wrapper of glassine—keeping the tobacco 'factory-fresh' till you break the seal to load your pipe!

Our chemists say it is 'an almost perfect seal for tobacco condition'—protecting tobacco better than any container except the VACUUM tin. Then, because it is much less expensive than a costly pocket-tin, Granger's pocket-package sells at just ten cents. It's the greatest value ever offered to pipe-smokers!

GRANGER ROUGH CUT

The half-pound vacuum tin is forty-five cents, the foil-pouch package, sealed in glassine, is ten cents

Made for pipes only!

Granger Rough Cut is made by the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company

They say P.A. is the world's largest seller

I DON'T doubt it, nor do I wonder why. Just open a tidy red tin and get that full fragrance of Nature's noblest gift to pipe-smokers. Then tuck a load in the business-end of your old jimmy-pipe.

Now you've got it—that taste—that Lead-me-to-it, Gee-how-I-like-it taste! Cool as a condition. Sweet as making it up. Mellow and satisfying. Try this mild, long-burning tobacco, Fellows. I know you'll like it.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP IN SIGHT

SPORTS

SPORTS

T. J. MITCHELL

The baseball team lost the double-header to Michigan last Thursday but came back strong Friday and licked Carolina to the tune of 6-0. In the Michigan game the boys just could not seem to get hold of the ball. Several pretty plays were pulled off, but errors undoubtedly cost us the game. In the Carolina game it was different. The boys handled the ball to perfection and at the crucial moment when a hit was needed that hit was pounded out. This makes the third consecutive sport that we have beat Carolina in this year. We do not meet them in track, except at the state meet, and there we hope to make it four out of four.

Floopy stepped back into the limelight with another three-bagger which puts him in the realm of the sluggers. Dick McGill has been doing himself proud at first, making a number of unassisted put outs in the game Friday.

In the Tech Relays the bunch did not come out as well as hoped for, but we are happy in the knowledge that the boys put their all into the meet, and we wish them better luck in the future. The soggy field was a big handicap to the men whom we expected to come out on top. Graydon, a high school lad, sprung a surprise in the free for all javelin throw, when he made 205 feet 5 inches, six feet better than the old record. Nelson, Iowa, set a new mark with the shot with 44 feet 9 3-8 inches.

In the tank meet with Tech last week we did not come out so hot, but this was to be expected in view of the fact that we had a green team to put up against an experienced one. There is a tentative meet pending with Georgia this week. The water babies seem anxious to stage a come back, because the taste of defeat is not so sweet in their youthful mouths. This is the first year that Clemson has tried to turn out a tank team, and experience is almost sure to triumph over inexperience every time, so the boys shouldn't feel so bad.

Spring football practice started again today. It sure looked good to see the ole pigskin spinning through the air again. There is a wealth of material out this spring and the coaches ought to be able to have a good squad to start with next fall.

The rat baseball team is getting into good shape under the coaching of Smoky Harper. As yet there has been no schedule of games for the rats published but we hope to get it in the next issue.

Monday afternoon the Tiger Horde turned the Blue Sox back with a 11-1 victory. Pearman allowed but three hits, while Knight, P. C. allowed 13. Floopy Dunlap still leads the Tiger batmen, getting 3 out of 4, one of them a triple.

Tuesday afternoon, the Tiger team still on a rampage, licked their old rivals, Newberry, 6-3. This game usually seems to be a jinx to the Tigers, but this year the old jinx did not work. No details of the game have as yet been gathered.

GLEE CLUB BACK FROM STATE TOUR

The Glee Club returned to the campus Saturday morning from a week's tour of the lower State. The Cadets left Monday, presenting the Clemson College Follies in Saluda Monday, Batesburg-Leesville Tuesday, Charleston Wednesday, Allendale Thursday, and Greenwood Friday. Thirty-two boys made the trip, twelve being members of the symphony orchestra. Prof. Townsend directed the singing, and Laurence Knobloch had charge of the orchestra. The cadets travelled in autos and a special bus. The program which was given in the chapel the night of the Taps ball, was very well received in all towns on the itinerary. The many special features were enthusiastically received, and the attendance at all performances was very good. In Charleston the cadets played to a packed hall, six hundred attending, many of whom were Clemson alumni. At Allendale and Charleston dances were given after the regular Follies program, the Jungaleers furnishing the music.

The cadets making the trip had a fine time, especially in Charleston, where they were guests of the alumni. Most of them went out to see the sights, many of them visiting the Citadel.

This week the Follies will be given in Seneca and Westminster.

JUNGALERS PLAY FOR APPLE FESTIVAL AT CORNELIA, GA.

Cornelia, Georgia, was the scene of much fun and merry making Saturday afternoon and evening. It was the occasion of the third annual Apple Blossom Pageant. This affair is sponsored by the apple growers of Georgia and by many prominent business men of Atlanta. It is a statewide event and is looked forward to each year by many South Carolinians as well as Georgians. Miss Belle Vernon Porter was chosen as Queen of the Pageant. Her winning smile and dainty feminine manner blended well with the gaiety of the occasion and made her a fitting queen indeed.

Old Mother Nature has always been willing to lend a helping hand, and on this occasion she gave forth an abundant shower of fragrant apple blossoms that were much in evidence throughout that town. These fragrant and delicately shaded blossoms were used to decorate the streets and prominent buildings. Amid such surroundings as these it is obvious why the pageant was proclaimed a success.

Music for the entire program was appropriately rendered by the Clemson College Symphony Orchestra, the only school orchestra of its kind in the South. Their selections were so well played that at the request of the audience the members of the Jungaleers played several up-to-date numbers. These also met the approval of the audience. From all evidence the boys did themselves proud and we want to take this opportunity to congratulate them in behalf of the corps.

LAST OLD ENGINEERING BUILDING DISAPPEARS

Plans For Beautification of the Grounds About New Buildings Completed

Workmen have been busy for the past week tearing down the old electrical laboratory in preparation for the beautifying of the grounds around the new engineering building.

The present plans include the planting of grass and shrubbery on the terrace which is to surround the building. A set of steps will lead to the top of the terrace at the North and West entrances to the building. All of the ground between Riggs's Hall and the small parade ground will be leveled off and planted in grass and shrubbery.

The road leading from the greenhouse to the postoffice will be extended to the North-Eastern corner of the hall and from there it will turn Westward to join the road which leads to the shop building. The present road to the engineering building will be discontinued at the point where it joins the road which passes in front of the trustee house. The continuance of this road will be in the form of a very impressive driveway which will turn at the trustee house and follow along the East side of the long line of stately cedar trees in front of the Calhoun Mansion, and it will continue until it joins the road leading to the shop building.

The present sidewalk from the main building will be extended to the main entrance of the engineering building and another sidewalk will be built from the postoffice along the East side of the new roadway to the North-Eastern corner of the new building and from there it will branch off to the main terrace steps and to the hydraulic laboratory in the basement of the building. The sidewalk in front of the barracks will be extended so as to follow along the East side of the driveway under the cedars.

Two rustic pools are to be constructed, one of which will lie to the South of the postoffice and to the East of the new roadway, and the other will lie between the shop and engineering buildings. The former will be constructed purely for decorative purposes while the latter will not only add to the beauty of the campus but will also act as a condenser for the steam from the laboratories. Both of these pools will be surrounded by grass and shrubbery.

Our beautiful campus will be greatly ornamented by these constructive changes and they will tend to bring out the intrinsic beauty of the buildings as well as tend to make it more conspicuous.

fair sex present. Dr. D. W. Daniel and Pres. E. V. Sikes will make addresses in behalf of the faculty.

The culinary end of the banquet will be taken care of by Captain Harcombe, who has furnished the food for this event for many years past. Those who have attended a banquet where Captain Harcombe has had charge of the courses, know of his ability along this line.

May 4, the date which was set by Col. Cole and Dr. Sikes, caused some disappointment to a few Juniors and Seniors because the state track meet is to be held on the fifth, and this will prevent their attending. However, they would have been unable to go had the banquet been held earlier, for they could not have broken training. These men, especially the Seniors, have our sympathy, and we hope that their achievements for Clemson will compensate for the pleasure they miss. The Clemson Cavaliers will furnish the music for the banquet, and so for the dance which will follow immediately after the banquet. This dance is given by the Junior and Senior dancing clubs, and is attended by This hop, coming as it does after the banquet only helps to make the night one of the biggest social triumphs in cadets from all classes in college. collegiate circles.

Gus—"I'm not sure, Jack, but I think it is made from the fleece of hydraulic rams."

"Can you loan me five dollars?" said Jones.

"Sure," said Smith. "Would you rather have an old five or a new one?"

"A new one of course," said Jones. "Here is the one," said Smith. "I'm four dollars ahead."

A Scot applied for a position as patrolman on the London police force. Here is a question they put to him in Scotland Yard and the answer.

"Suppose, McFarland, you saw a crowd congregated at a certain point on your beat, how would you disperse it quickly, with the least trouble?"

"I would pass the hat."

Gentlemen:

The agent while going through his plunder stored in our baggage room came across a can of your tobacco, and account of his not using a pipe he made me a present of this tobacco.

You will note the revenue stamp and your memo which was inclosed. The tobacco was put up in 1910, sixteen years ago. But it was in good shape, of remarkable flavor, and was greatly enjoyed by me.

Thought you would be interested in knowing how your tobacco held out in these days of fast living.
