McGinty Undergoes Operation In Atlanta

Mr. R. A. McGinty, Vice-Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station was admitted to Piedmont Hospital in Atlanta, Georgia, two weeks ago. He underwent a brain tumor operation. The operation has been reported successful, and Mr. McGinty was to have returned to his home in Clemson today.

Mr. McGinty received his education at Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Washington University, and Cornell University.

Mr. McGinty's son, Bill, graduated from Clemson in the class of 1940. Another son, Richard Allan, is attending Clemson now.

Notice

Alpha Phi Omega announced this week that, as in the past, the fraternity will sponsor collection of food for the needy after the Thanksgiving meal in the college mess hall Tuesday, November 21. Food will be collected as the students leave the mess hall after supper. A P. O. members will be stationed at each door.

The program, which will also present Willard Sekberg in several selections at the piano, is as follows:

An old Song Resung, Charles T. Griffes
Mister Jim, Albert Hay Malotte

Cub Scouts Exhibit In Clemson Museum

The Cub Scouts have decorated a table of Indian lore in the Library. A map shows the home and hunting ground of each early Indian tribe in the United States. The illustrative materials show the Cub Scouts how to make their costumes. The Cubs and their parents are making use of this material and the reserve book shelf.

Clemson's Museum has many Indian relics. Mrs. William Webb gave an Indian bowl to the Library to go with the other relics on display. This particular relic was requested to be deposited in the Smithsonian Institute, but Mrs. Webb gave it to the museum, since it was found about eight miles from Clemson, in Oconee County. James and William Webb found it at their grandparents' plantation in 1901.

Case Three displays arrowheads found around Clemson by Mr. Guy Littleton. Case One contains an illustration of Indians, "Manner of Taking Food," with an excerpt translated by Mr. Bothwell Graham, Jr.

Chapin To Be Item Editor

George Chapin, a former editor of the CLEMSON TIGER, has been named editor of the New Orleans Item. He succeeds Clayton Fritchery, who has accepted a public relations post with the defense department. Chapin is a native of Greenville.

After graduation he furthered his newspaper career as a reporter and later city editor on the Greenville Piedmont.

He was officer-in-charge of the Pacific Stars and Stripes at Honolulu during the war and joined the Item in August of last year after serving as managing editor of the Camden (N. J.) Courier-Post and the San Diego (Calif.) Journal.

Clemson Men Attend Land-Grant Colleges Universities Meeting

The annual meeting of the Association of Land-grant Colleges and Universities was held in Washington November 13-16. Those who attended the meeting from Clemson were: Dr. R. F. Poole, president of Clemson College; Dr. H. P. Cooper, dean of the school of agriculture; Dr. F. M. Kinard, dean of the school of arts and sciences; Dr. J. H. Sams, acting dean of the school of engineering; Dr. H. J. Webb, chairman of the graduate committee; Mr. D. W. Watkins, director of the Clemson extension division; and Mr. T. W. Morgan, assistant director of the extension division. Dr. Poole is a member of the executive committee of the Association of Land-grant Colleges and Universities. He attended the meeting of the executive committee which was held on Saturday, November 11.

The meeting of the association were held at the Statler Hotel in Washington.

Gaillard Announces Taps Junior Staff

W. H. D. Gaillard, editor of the 1951 Taps, has announced the junior staff for this year's publication. They are: A. A. Muckenfuss, civil engineering junior of Summerville; Dr. B. Salley, mechanical engineering junior of Saluda, North Carolina; W. H. Simmons, architecture sophomore of Long Island City, New York; W. E. Newsome, pre-medicine junior of Sandersville, Georgia.

Prof. Lane Speaks To New York Alumni

Alpha Phi Omega Pledges Twenty

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity composed of former Boy Scouts, pledged twenty new members at a meeting held on October 23. The pledges will undergo a six week's pledge period before the final initiation which will be held in December. Those men who have been pledged this semester for membership are: G. E. Taylor, textile manufacturing junior of Newman, Georgia; H. D. Dickert, electrical engineering junior of Orangeburg; J. A. Gaillard, electrical engineering freshman of Florence; J. A. Porter, chemistry sophomore of Williston.

Woodward Speaks To Alumni Groups

Mr. J. H. Woodward, Clemson alumni secretary, and Major S. M. Martin, retired professor of mathematics, spoke to the Philadelphia chapter of Clemson alumni at a meeting November 9.

On Saturday, November 11, Mr. Woodward addressed the Boston alumni prior to the Clemson-Boston College football game. He was also present at a meeting of the Washington, D. C., chapter on November 13. Dr. Poole and six of Clemson's deans spoke at this meeting.

Prof. John Lane, of the English Department, was the speaker at a meeting of the Metropolitan Chapter of the Clemson alumni in New York City last Wednesday night. J. Wilson Newman, son of the late Prof. C. C. Newman of Clemson, and president of the chapter, presided. Reports to the group were made by Barney L. Fink '22, who is secretary, and Dr. Harold H. Keyserling, treasurer.

Among the items of business transacted was appointment of a committee to canvass the group for donations to the fund for furnishing the Clemson House. Keen interest was manifested in the project.

The attendance was said to be the largest since 1940, and the speaker talked about the growth and progress of Clemson during the past quarter of a century, particularly during the past decade.

"The reception they accord a teacher from Clemson and their broad interest in all activities and personalities of the college was stimulating. Their interest in the retired group and others who taught them at Clemson was heart-warming," Prof. Lane said.

Prof. Lane also attended the meetings held at the Kenmore Hotel in Boston, where Curtis Kehew and T. L. Smith had charge of arrangements, and "Uncle Jake" Woodward spoke briefly on the Clemson House.

On Friday evening Coach Frank Howard appeared on television for an interview by newsmen. "There is no doubt in my mind about Coach Howard's popularity with newspapermen," commented Prof. Lane, "and wherever I met an alumnus there (Continued on page 3)

Alpha Zeta Elects Thirteen Members

The South Carolina chapter of the fraternity of Alpha Zeta, national honorary fraternity for agriculturists, formally initiated thirteen candidates for membership on November 2. Candidates for membership are selected on the basis of their scholastic records, character, and potential leadership.

The new members are Thomas W. Culp, agronomy senior of Fort Mill; Claude M. Inman, animal husbandry senior of York; Marvin W. Livingston, animal husbandry senior of North; Earle W. Moore, entomology senior of Westminster; Raymond E. Moore, animal husbandry junior of Duncan.

Also, Lee M. Rea, vocational agriculture education junior of Matthew, N. C.; David E. Small, vocational agriculture education senior of Davidson, N. C.; Robert H. Steele, agriculture economics senior of Bear Poplar, N. C.; Albert C. White, entomology senior of Chester.

Thanksgiving Holidays Begin November 22

Thanksgiving holidays have been announced by the Registrar's Office. The holidays will begin with the last class on Wednesday, November 22, and will end at 10:00 p. m. on Sunday, November 26.

Next week Thursday, Friday, and Saturday classes will be held on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

Letter To Clemson Students

Students of Clemson:

As in previous years we draw near to the time that will once again pit Furman and Clemson as rivals on the football gridiron. And as usual spirit is running at a renewed high at both schools.

This year we, the students of Furman, will be your guests and it is our hope that the enthusiasm which has been built up through our rivalry will be kept on a friendly and truly school spirit level.

The Blue Key chapters, representing our respective student bodies, have met and have sought to induce that spirit which is felt to be most conducive to true manly virtues and to the highest ideals of students in our caliber of schools. We felt a need for a better relationship between our two great institutions and thus attempted to arrive at common grounds upon which to work to bring about the desired relationship.

Speaking in behalf of the students of Furman we would like to thank you, the students of Clemson, for having us as your guests for this game. We realize that Clemson has a great ball club and can but congratulate you on your past performances which were characterized by good, clean sportsmanship.

Cordially,
Charlie Thomas
President
Furman Student Body
Banks Adams, Jr.

Dean H. P. Cooper Is Elected President Of The American Society Of Agronomy

Dr. H. P. Cooper, dean of the Clemson School of Agriculture, was elected president of the American Society of Agronomy at its recent meeting at the Netherland Plaza Hotel in Cincinnati, Ohio.

More than 1200 members and guests from all 48 states, and several foreign countries heard reports of recent research in crops and soils at the week-long meetings. Special honor was paid to W. L. Slate, Director Emeritus, Agricultural Experiment Station, New Haven, Connecticut, one of the oldest living members of the Society.

The Society, in a report adopted at its general meeting, recommended a plan to the Secretary of Defense and other Military leaders in Washington to insure the most effective use of agronomists in the armed services. The plan pointed out 24 ways in which agronomists could be used effectively.

The largest membership in the history of the Society, more than 2000 regular and 1300 student members, was reported by L. G. Monthey, executive secretary.

The election of ten members of the American Society of Agronomy as Fellows of the Society, highest honors bestowed by the organization, was announced by Dr. Firman E. Bear, chairman of the committee on election of Fellows.

Dr. G. H. Collings of Clemson was one of those elected Fellows of the Society.

The honor is based on outstanding contributions in the field of crop and soil science and service to the Society. The list of Fellows of the Society includes some 75 out of the more than 2,000 members of the Society.

G. H. Collings, professor of Agronomy at Clemson since 1939, was recognized for his ability as a teacher and author in the field of soil fertility, plant nutrition, and the use of commercial fertilizers. A graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Dr. Collings began his professional career with the South Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station in 1918. For the past several years he has been consulting agricultural editor for a series of college text books.

Mrs. McKenna Chairman 1950 Tuberculosis Drive

Monday, November 20th, will mark the beginning of the 45th annual sale of Christmas Seals to raise funds for the global fight against Tuberculosis.

Schedule For Saturday Given

The Registrar's Office has announced a change in class schedules for Saturday, November 18. The change has been in order that students will have ample time to get to the Clemson-Furman football game. The change is as follows:

Reg. schedule	Sat. schedule
Inspection 8:00-8:55	8:00-8:25
Classes 9:05-9:55	8:35-9:10
Classes 10:05-10:55	9:20-9:55

Little Theatre Hears Reports At Meeting Tuesday

Clemson's Little Theatre met at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night. The meeting was opened with a report from the executive committee. The business manager reported that the Little Theatre is in the best financial condition since its reorganization. A sinking fund has been set aside for future operations, and a budget for the rest of the season has been approved.

The report of the membership chairman showed that the number of season ticket holders has reached the goal of 400.

Professor R. E. Ware, director of the forthcoming Little Theatre production of "Berkley Square," reported that rehearsals were under way.

The entertainment for the evening was provided by the play, "If Women Worked as Men Do." Members of the cast were: Miss Anita Gates, Miss Judy Morgan, Mrs. Reagan Rowe, and Mrs. R. E. Ware. The play was directed by Mrs. John Gates.

It was announced at the meeting that there are still vacancies on the production staff for "Berkley Square." Those persons interested in working on the production should contact Jim Beall in room 1-335.

It was a Danish postal clerk who originated the idea of a Christmas Seal to raise money for a sanatorium for tuberculosis children in Denmark and it was an American Red Cross worker in Wilmington, Delaware who read of this Sale and designed the first American Seals for sale in 1907. Today the double-barred cross is an international emblem and tuberculosis has dropped from first place to seventh place among dreaded germ diseases.

In the United States 94 cents of every Seal Sale dollar works in the state where it is raised and the other 6 cents goes to the National Tuberculosis Association for development of research and production of materials for the states.

The familiar little red crosses and bright Santa buttons will become prominent on the Clemson Campus next week when Mrs. A. E. McKenna, Chairman of the Clemson Sale, and her committee of workers open the 1950 TB Christmas Seal Sale. And Clemson citizens will seal letters and packages with the colorful 1950 Seal which pictures three angelic children. Mrs. W. C. Bolen is Co-Chairman of the Sale. Mr. Grady Evans is in charge of the sale of TB Bonds for business firms in downtown Clemson. Mrs. B. D. Cloaninger is in charge of the Sale throughout women's organizations on the Campus, and Mr. Mitchell Reames is in charge (Continued on page 3)

Church Organizations Hold Thanksgiving Sunrise Service

On Tuesday morning, November 21, the student church organizations will conduct the annual Thanksgiving Sunrise Service in the Clemson College Chapel at 6:15 a. m.

The student body and the community residents are invited to attend and take part in this service. Music by the Clemson College Glee Club will be featured and the entire service will be conducted by students.

Hurst Named President Of New Local Lions Club

A Lions Club was organized in Clemson on November 3. Present to help with organization were Norman Trueblood, an International Lions Club representative, and K. R. Helton, secretary-treasurer of the Pendleton Lions Club. Mr. Helton is also deputy district governor of this district.

Fluid Drive Applied To Textile Machine

Professor C. B. Gambrell, Instructor in Textiles, has successfully applied the principle of transmission of power through a liquid for driving a textile carding machine.

Several conditions now existent in the textile industry prompted Prof. Gambrell's work. One of the main reasons was the desire for a satisfactory individual drive to replace the overhead multiple drive, central power source method now in use in most of the textile mills. These overhead drives require constant maintenance and the possibility always exists that the entire card room may be shut down because of a failure of the central power unit.

Several individual drives are available for the carding machine, however they are expensive and the necessary starting torque requires a larger motor for starting than for running conditions in most cases.

Professor Gambrell's application is simple and inexpensive. It allows the use of a motor approximately 1-3 the size of that used on most individual card drives. The load is applied to the motor gradually. Shock loads and torsional vibrations are cushioned out through the fluid coupling so that a smooth flow of power is obtained.

Temporary officers have been named for the newly organized club. They are: Dr. Victor Hurst, president; W. C. Bowen, first vice-president; A. E. Hammond, second vice-president; J. C. Hubbard, third vice-president; Grady Evans, lion tamer; J. W. LaGrone, tail twister; E. N. Rallings, secretary-treasurer. There were also four directors named. They are: J. D. Glenn, T. J. Lindsay, H. W. Humphreys, and Harold Strietman.

The local Lions Club has not yet been granted a charter from the International Lions organization. Members who join the club between now and January 4 will be charter members.

The charter membership drive will end January 4. A charter night will be held on January 11. There are now fifteen members in the Clemson Lions Club.

The organization of the local club is sponsored by the Pendleton Lions Club.

Handicap

For many years now, Clemson has suffered under what amounts to cultural handicap. Though the administration exerts every effort to bring to Clemson the best music and entertainment, they have been held back to a considerable degree by the fact that neither the college nor the community offers adequate facilities for the presentation of artists such as Sir Thomas Beecham's Royal Philharmonic Orchestra. Individual performers like Charles Laughton are not helped, either, by the places in which they perform.

The field house is quite obviously no place to ask world-renowned musician to give concerts. Its bare brick walls, its exposed steel construction, and its hard bleachers add nothing to a musical presentation. There are "dead spots" in the large gym; in these spots, sound is distorted or eliminated.

The only other alternative is the Chapel. Here again the acoustics leave much to be desired. Too, the seating capacity in the chapel is limited, no match for the crowds that attend our concerts. And though it was some time ago, its basic architecture remains the same hideous "Victorian" style. The full benefit of the Concert Series will never be realized until Clemson has some auditorium that is comfortable, commodious, pleasing to the eye, and one which possesses good acoustics.

"Ho, wdy!"

One of the unwritten laws of our college is that a Clemson man speaks to everybody he meets on the street. It is, perhaps, an ideal rather than a law or even a custom.

Nevertheless, we have the reputation of being one of the friendliest student bodies in the South, and therefore, we think, in the nation. It is the sort of reputation to be encouraged and enhanced through constant practice of the common civilities of life. The so-called "common courtesies" are what make this existence bearable.

Social intercourse between healthy minds, the awareness that others experience the same emotions and impressions, give to us a priceless bond of fellowship. We Clemson students need such a bond. We have no fraternities in the social sense as other institutions do.

It is to encourage the "common courtesies" and to continue our traditions that the week of November 15-22 has been designated "Howdy Week" by Student Body President Harrison McLaurin. We would encourage every student to participate in this campaign and to extend it on through the year and the college career.

Have a word of greeting for everyone you meet—student, professor, or visitor!

"Blue Slips"

Mid-semester reports and grades have been posted and sent out. More than half the student body received "unsatisfactory" reports in a leas one course.

That is regrettable, but not exactly unexpected. Rather, it is something to keep in the backs of our minds as the semester draws inexorably to a close.

It is not a discouraging fact, but one which should be stimulating. To serve its purpose, it must make us stop, look around and review the semester's work, seeing where we have fallen short. It should goad us on to increased efforts, to higher standards of scholarship.

Progress, Pleasure, Pastry Please Proser; Propaganda Puzzles People

By Grady Daniel

PROGRESS? WOW!

Have you noticed the small ant-hills and the miniature Grand Canyon in the vicinity of third barracks lately? They're growing. When I first noticed them I couldn't decide whether North Korean termites were beginning to move in or someone was building a gold vault under the barracks. Then somebody suggested that they might be landscaping the grounds which was indeed a silly deduction.

I inquired into the situation and was told that the jagged incision into the historic earth was for the purpose of laying a steam line to the new chemistry building, which goes to show that this building will be about as completely equipped as one could expect. It will also be about the most beautiful building on the campus.

So, if any of you are perturbed about the present appearance of your campus, forget it. Even if trees are being felled here and there, and building materials are haphazardly piled in some of your favorite spots, "be ye not disturbed," for these are marks of progress.

Remember what they did to Hotel Hill? At one time it was just a huge evacuation into a mound of red "South Carolina" clay—look at it now, a landmark to the countryside. Progress, son. Progress!!

PASTRY; JAVA, JIVES WELL WITH TROOPS

Not too long ago I dealt the Mess Hall a rather fowl blow concerning eggs and zip. Since then I have been somewhat enlightened on the subject. It was my opinion that the eggs were cold storage or powdered, or, maybe mixed, but they're not. They are fresh yard eggs, not over two or three days old, and come from within a radius of twenty miles around Clemson.

Every effort is made to serve them in the most appetizing manner possible, excluding getting up at two o'clock in the morning and frying three thousand eggs sunny side up, but some troops that eat them have complained about eggshells being in them. However, the only solution I can offer for this problem is to either stop eating the eggs or pick out the eggshells. These shells are only found in a few dishes anyway, and eggs are only a minor part of what I have in mind at present.

The primary motive of this plug nevertheless, is to congratulate the Mess Hall on the improvement in coffee and the delicious pastries that they have been serving lately. I myself as well as many others have noticed the marked change in the taste of the coffee—it's GREAT!

If it's anything we need at breakfast each morning it's coffee that is so strong that it will dissolve the spoon with which you stir, to keep us awake in classes. I say this in all seriousness, too, the coffee is really good. Most of the troops do like it strong enough to curl your toenails, myself included.

RUMORS WERE FLYING

It seems that every year at this time spontaneous rumors begin their invasion of the minds of our students. I don't know how or where they have their origin, but some of them range in scope from "a Russian invasion of Alaska" to an extended Thanksgiving vacation because of the need of repair of our heating system. When I got the word about his invasion of Alaska, you could have knocked me down with a soda straw.

Here we were, all slaving away down at the Tiger office and some "combatty character" waltzes in and nonchalantly announces that Alaska has been invaded by the reds—what a blow! I was shocked beyond recognition. Then in all the confusion somebody yelled, "Hot Dog! We'll scoop the Greenville News." You can read this issue of the Tiger and plainly see that we did not, for the whole bally-hoo was only a rumor.

As you have probably seen by now, rumors only cause unnecessary worry, excitement, and disappointment. Don't believe them. They may only cause you to get all hot and bothered over nothing. I'll believe that we are getting an extended Thanksgiving vacation because of heating difficulties when I wake up some morning and see little men carrying my radiator out of the room on a stretcher.

To you men who have anything to do with starting these rumors, I send you a sizeable bundle of wild onions, garlic, and rabbit tobacco. These rumors certainly don't boost the morale of the troops any. We could do without them.

A SALUTE TO THE "Y"

This past Saturday night I had the pleasure of being a guest of the YMCA Cabinet at a supper held in the cabinet room of the "Y". I must say that I really enjoyed it and the discussion that followed the meal. Never before have I actually taken time to enumerate the many privileges that the "Y" provides for us, nor had I realized just how interesting YMCA work could be. I feel sure that many of our students, besides myself would feel the same way if they would only stop to think.

The "Y" not only provides us intramural sports equipment, but also furnishes many opportunities for fellowship among ourselves, by having "open house." It also provides us with several rooms that we can relax in and read the latest issues of popular magazines; shoot a few games of pool, play ping-pong, go swimming, etc. Still, I think the most important thing, and perhaps the most influential thing that the "Y" does is to provide barracks discussion groups and put on the vesper programs. Many have received unlimited benefits from both these programs.

Let's face the facts. The "Y" is doing a fine job on this campus and we all appreciate your efforts. I, personally, just want to take time out to express my appreciation. We salute you—YMCA!

Solution Offered For Confusion On Hall; Upperclassman's Example

By "Doc" Baker

PANDEMONIUM REIGNS

Any cadet living in the barracks knows the situation that exists every night from Long Roll on. Everybody and his brother want to see the Company First Sergeant or Supply Sergeant. Those who don't have brothers, figuratively speaking, wander in a steady procession from their rooms to the latrine or water fountain. Not only is it annoying to those trying to study, but it interferes with any activity the two sergeants might want to enter.

The irritating part of the problem is, a workable remedy can be initiated to suppress the uneasiness at night. Why not let each company have an orderly room? In some cases, two companies could use one, large, corner room. This would be a fine place for the First and Supply Sergeants to have their desks, forms, ramrods, oil and patches. They could have a regular schedule for seeing cadets or issuing supplies. In this manner, military duties would not be overworking these individuals.

Furthermore, part of the unrest on the halls at night is probably due to the fact that the cadets can't get out. If they are hungry, they must suffer, since prohibited visiting prevents their looking for someone with something to eat. They could take limited kinds of foodstuffs to their rooms, but who likes drinks that have been sitting in a warm room for three or four hours.

With nothing to eat and no means of obtaining anything edible, is it a small wonder the students can't sit in their rooms and be unconcerningly quiet. Their only source of relief is making frequent trips to the latrine or water fountain.

The above mentioned orderly rooms could easily house coke and candy machines. The automatic venders could be used by the students at a given time each night. This wouldn't require any extra work because the Hall NCO could be there for thirty or forty-five minutes to maintain order.

Likewise, it would not deprive the Athletic Association of any funds. In all probability it would aid them. Let the Athletic Association have the receipts from these machines. The cadets want the food and drink.

A man from a small town was attending a convention in the big city, and he and some of his fellow hoodlums took in a burlesque show. The next day he was forced to see an oculist.

"After I left the show last night," he explained, "my eyes were red and sore and inflamed."

The oculist examined his eyes. He thought a minute, and said, "After this, try blinking your eyes once or twice during the show . . . you won't miss much."

Platter Chatter . . .

By STAN KOHN

Hi, people, it's time to listen to some things you haven't heard and might want to listen to. Anyway, it's music and that's all that counts or you wouldn't be here in the first place.

Tops is Doris Day's album of songs you may have heard in the movie "Tea for Two". Doris sounds like Anita O'Day and she's backed by the Page Cavanaugh trio, Alex Stordahl's orchestra, and Gene Nelson's taps. Some of the tunes in the book are Crazy Rhythm, Tea for Two, and I Know That You Know. She has also put out How It Lies on a single with If I Could Be With You as the flipover.

Somebody mentioned Louis Armstrong recently and I looked all over for his latest. His latest ain't released yet. It's Cavalliera Ruticana which he'll make with Gordon Jenkins. I think that Satchmo used to do this same number way back before most of us were born. He's also writing a book to be called "The Armstrong Story" which can be expected almost any year now.

Say this ad in a record store recently: "Songs that are not too fast, and not too slow. THE HALF-FAST MUSIC COMPANY. For the movie fans: RK is going to make a movie called Star and Stripe Forever another of those musicals about the USO. (Remember Stage Door Canteen) Dinah Shore is to be the star and the proceeds will go to the Damon Runyan cancer fund. Al Jolson, before his death, was also contracted to appear in the film. Arturo Toscanini will conduct the NBC Symphony in the title march by Sousa and our own Dixie.

They've played it over and over again in the mess hall but I'm gonna squeeze in one more time as a request. Ramona's favorite is All My Love as performed by Bill something, but I can't find it by him. RCA has a good one out by Dennis Day and the male chorus and orchestra under the baton of Charles Dent. Flip side is Goodnight Irene of sixth barracks fame, better than most versions we've heard.

Four Brothers, recorded by Woody Herman around 48 gives us a wonderful opportunity to compare the works of three leading tenors. Not only do they play the same chords, but the same rhythm under the same conditions. Zoot Sims is the first soloist, followed by Herbie Steward and then Stan Getz. Those of you who are sax fans should hear this for it gives you a very fine chance for a useful comparison.

Ella Fitzgerald has come through again with a fine platter. It's a Decca featuring Ella and something called "her" band. Top side is Molasses with a cute flipside, Santa Claus Got Stuck in My Chimney. In case you're wondering too, I think it's Charlie Shavers on trumpet.

Flanagan's back again with Apple Blossom Time on RCA. It's the same old Ralph so if you're in the Flanagan Fan Club get this one. Flip over to I'll Never Be in Love Again. Love Again has Harry Prime on vocals, but Ralph has the same tune out with Steve Benor on the vocal and the reverse is Billboard March. Don't know what the idea is, but it seems that Ralph should have left well enough alone.

Bing's brother Bob Crosby, that is, is next to spin for you. He has two records out and they're all great if you like the tune to begin with. Something neat is the fact that he uses both a string bass and a tuba for the waxing. He's done two Sousa marches High School Cadets and King Cotton, and believe me I've heard the boys in sixth barracks do much better. But nothing can beat Hands Across the Sea and Echo Chambers.

I don't know why, but here's a Signature disc of that same Molasses that Ella Fitzgerald did so well. This is by Eugenia Baird and Band and not as good as the previous. Even worse is a take off on King Cole's and Stan Kenton's Orange Colored Sky. Only difference is that Stan used over thirty pieces and this clown has four: a drum, piano, bass, and guitar.

Here's something that you should enjoy for a change. It's a duet by Perry Como and Betty Hutton. Perry's soft and easy voice contrasts with Betty's uninhibited and exuberant vocalizing on A Bushel and a Peck. Pop-over is a tune written especially for the duet by these two stars, She's a Lady.

I had to dig deep for this one to get it out in time for Christmas. The Three Sons perform Sleigh Ride for RCA Victor. Personally it remind me of Mule Train with the horse's hooves and whip cracking too. And if you make that comparison, then you'll certainly think that Frankie Laine could do a better job.

The movies seem to be capturing the music world with three new musicals: "Mr. Music" featuring Bing Crosby, "I'll Get By" has Dennis Day and Harry James on horn, and "The West Point Story" has music by Doris Day.

Miss Sidelle Ellis has made displays for the Clemson Library and the stenographers on the Campus have addressed announcements of the Sale to all residents of the community.

On Tuesday morning of this week an educational film, "Coming Home" was shown at the Calhoun-Clemson High School.

December 3rd has been designated as "TB Sunday" and special Double-Cross bulletins will be used in the Campus Churches and the Y. M. C. A. The Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts of the Campus, too, have joined in with the people of the community to make the Sale a complete community project.

The sale of Seals and buttons will be continued in Clemson until December 25.

FFA Adopts Program; Conditions In Japan Discussed By Ritchie

Clemson's chapter of the Future Farmers of America held its regular meeting on Monday, November 14. President W. T. Cook conducted the meeting through the opening ceremony.

After the ceremony, Professor R. R. Ritchie, the guest speaker, was introduced by Professor J. B. Monroe, the chapter adviser. Mr. Ritchie, who is professor of animal husbandry, has recently returned to Clemson after a two year's leave of absence. During his leave of absence, Mr. Ritchie served as a livestock expert with the United States Army in Japan.

After a discussion of the condition in Japan, Mr. Ritchie showed slides which portrayed the living conditions of the Japanese people. Following the showing of slides, the chapter adopted the following program for the year: Sponsor an initiating team; send delegates to State Fair; sponsor exhibit at agriculture fair; sponsor two socials; invite two speakers each semester to speak to the group; sponsor discussion on how to have an active F. F. A. in high school; sponsor contestant for Trustee Medal.

Also, secure movies for chapter meetings; sell tickets at annual Clemson-P.C. football game to high school F. F. A. and 4-H Club students; to give at least one radio program per semester; sponsor F. F. A. string band and quartet; sponsor two representatives to the national F. F. A. convention.

After the program was adopted, the meeting was closed with the pledge to the flag.

THE HISTORY OF COTTON TEXTILES

STIRRED by the success of William Gregg, southern business men were convinced industry could flourish in Dixie. Their ambitions were stimulated by the International Cotton Exposition of 1881 in Atlanta which was staged primarily to encourage better methods of planting and ginning cotton. The new machines shown there inspired many visitors, however, and mills sprang up throughout the South, where 80 per cent of the industry is located today.

VISITORS TO THE INTERNATIONAL COTTON EXPOSITION, 1881, SEESE NEW OPPORTUNITIES IN TEXTILE MANUFACTURE.

INDUCEMENTS OF FREE LAND, BUILDINGS, CHEAP POWER AND LOW TAXES PROMPTED NORTHERN INTERESTS TO TAKE PART IN THE SOUTH'S INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION.

MANY NORTHERN MILLS ALSO MOVED SOUTH TO BE NEAR THE SOURCES OF RAW COTTON.

MECHANIZATION OF A GREAT INDUSTRY NOW EXTENDS TO THE COTTON FIELDS THEMSELVES.

Clemson Now Has Biggest Band In Years

(By Alton Gwinn)

The Clemson band has the largest number of men this year that it has had in at least the last four years. There are ninety-four men in the company this year with fourteen trombones leading the procession.

In marching, the band drills just like any other platoon and plays as it marches. It marches by cadents and listens to the drum-major for instructions. The drum-major instructs the band when marching by blowing his whistle. The band drills extra time besides the regular drills and has band practices. The band averaged, during the football season about four hours of extra drill a week. Gary Hayes, a senior who hails from Ellentown, has led his company to victory in one of the company competition parades this year and has hopes of winning others. Jack Padgett, the student bandmaster, is from Ridgeland. The band is under the direction of First Lt. Padgett. The drum-major, P. C. Davis, comes from Greer.

The band went to New York in the summer of 1949 as guests of the Lions Club to parade in the Lions National Convention parade, representing South Carolina. Of all the bands participating in the parade, Clemson won second place in the adult division and three hundred dollars. The band goes to a number of parades in the state. For the last two years it has been to the Azalea Festival in Charleston. They parade at Yule parades in nearby cities and towns such as Greenville, Anderson, Abbeville, and will parade in Pickens this year. It has a big parade on Army Day and other special occasions.

Following the football team to many of its games, the band has been to Wake Forest and Carolina this year as well as playing at the home games. During the half time of the football games the band drills and gives music to accompany the special attractions. The band turns out in full strength to give the "pep meetings" their largest group. The band carries its own chairs from their quarters to the meeting. The band when not playing is always cheering. This section is usually as large as the cheering section and is always there even if no one else yells.

Last year the band, together with the Glee Club, made a recording, of which over 500 albums have been sold. Some of the recordings included in these albums are the Alma Mater, Tiger Song, The Fight Song, and different marches. The Clemson Concert Band is organized during the second semester. It gives an annual concert on Mother's Day and is making plans to give a concert at Winthrop College the latter part of the second semester.

The band has appropriated three hundred dollars each year from the college and makes what expenses it further needs. Captain Hayes says that this does not cover all the expenses, but the band is working hard and enjoy itself.

LAST HOME APPEARANCE FOR SENIORS

This week's tilt with Furman will mark the final home appearance of fourteen graduating seniors. These men are: center Jack Brunson; guards Sterling Smith and Jack Childress; tackles Billy Grigsby (alternate captain) and Dick Gillespie; ends Bob Hudson and Gil Rushton; blocking backs Wyndie Wyndham (alternate captain), Dick Hendley, and Frank Carothers; tailbacks Jackie Calvert (alternate captain) and Albert Willis; fullback Fred Cone (captain); and wingback Ray Mathews (alternate captain), who will not see action because of the injury he received in the Wake Forest tilt. These men will be sorely missed, but Coach Frank Howard already has his eyes set on men to replace many of these veterans.

Furman is Clemson's second oldest opponent. Only South Carolina has tangled with the Tigers more than the Purple Hurricane. Of a total of 36 games played, the Country Gentlemen have won 22, lost 10, and tied 4.

Not since 1936 has Furman been able to defeat the Tigers; however, they tied the Bengals the following year. Last season in Greenville, the Purples were given their best chance of winning since then, but Clemson gained a 28-21 victory. This year, too, the Hornets could upset the dope bucket as has been done all over the country. But the Tigers appear too strong from where I sit.

KIND-HEARTED HOWARD

Coach Denny Myers of Boston College had better be thankful Clemson head man Frank Howard has a kind heart. For after the Tigers rolled to four quick third quarter touchdowns, they could have named their own score. However, the Country Gentlemen took pity on the Yankees and held the score to a minimum of 35-14 with reserves taking over for the last of the third period and all of the fourth quarter.

Even the Boston sportswriters agree. Excerpts from several of Boston's leading newspapers follow. These clippings previously appeared in the Anderson Daily Mail. John Gillooly in the Boston Advertiser says, "Clemson, an old B. C. friend from Cotton Bowl connections, acted like an ally. It kept the score decent as all books, musical and burlesque, in Boston should be kept . . . Coach Frank Howard of the orange and black bully boys from South Carolina, who is looking for a bowl bid, was over-merciful or he pulled punches too soon. Oklahoma whipped B. C. 28 points; Mississippi by 54. Clemson could have won, maybe, by 60 yesterday . . ."

Will Cloney of the Boston Herald said of the game, "Charlie Radcliff, a sophomore from Norfolk, converted all five Clemson points. So confident was he that he never bothered to look up after he kicked the ball. He'd just stoop right over, pick up his rubber tee, and trot back to the bench. He might have been a lot busier had Frank Howard wanted to rub it in . . ."

In the Boston Post, Joe McKenney said, "The final score is deceiving, because in this instance figures rolled up a score of 35-0 mainly by tallying four times during the third period. Its backs were running through much the same sort of opposition that Santa Claus and the other marchers in downtown pageants encountered . . . Actually it seemed lucky Clemson College didn't score 75 points . . ."

CARD SECTION FOR FURMAN GAME

Two weeks ago I said that the Clemson students would have a card section during the half-time of the Duquesne game. However, the cards were not finished in time to be used. For over 12,000 yards had to be glued together and shellacked. Now the cards have been finished and are ready to go!

Plans are now for the cards to be passed out during the half for use during the intermission period. Those students in the special section are asked to remain fairly still and not move around too much so that the stunt will go over. On the signals from the cheerleaders, each student will hold up the card which his directions specify. In this manner, letters will be formed and words spelled. Then on another signal from the cheerleaders, the cards will be taken down.

This will be the first time such a stunt has been attempted at Clemson, so let's back the cheerleaders up and cooperate fully. They deserve a lot of the credit for attempting this plan.

Chesterfield's Last Pre-Holiday Contest

C. J. Burton, 8-334, won the carton of cigarettes offered in the Chesterfield pigskin contest last week by virtue of picking the most winners. The Citadel-USC game resulted in an unanimous miss on the cards of all entrants.

This will be the last contest before the holidays. Give your predictions to Charles McCreight in room 18, YMCA, before 5:00 o'clock Friday afternoon. Mark through the losing team.

Clemson Advances To 11th In Nation

Tigers Reach Highest Position Of Years; Ohio State Replaces Army In First Spot

Clemson's high riding and undefeated Tigers were standing on the eleventh rung of the Associated Press ladder of the nation's leading football teams. The Bengals jumped two spaces over their rating last week, and are presently in the highest position they've reached this year.

Trouncing Boston College 35-14, Howard's charges received a total of 260 votes, an increase of eighty-five over the polls last week. Seventy of these votes were the result of Clemson's seven first place votes, the same number attained last time.

Quite some changes were noted in the voting this week as compared to last week's. Ohio State gained the first place nod, just 31 votes ahead of second place Oklahoma. Army, number one in the previous poll, held down third. However, Army received more first place votes than its forerunners.

SMU and Miami dropped out of the first ten and into fourteenth and seventeenth slots respectively. Tennessee, Michigan State and Clemson moved up in order to occupy the vacancies.

The Clemsonians with two remaining games have climbed six spaces in three weeks, having been in seventeenth place after their tie with South Carolina. If they can get by Furman and Auburn, their remaining opposition in regular season play, chances are very favorable for the Tigers to receive a New Year's Day engagement.

Gressette Boys Top Clemson Freshman Football Prospects

By PAT RUSH

The name "Gressette" is going to be a familiar sight to Clemson football fans for the next few years. This year's freshman team boasts three of them in the starting lineup. The boys, Lawrence, Nathan, and Reeves are all first cousins. They hail from St. Matthews, South Carolina.

Lawrence, a six foot, 185 pound halfback is one of Coach McFadden's top offensive cogs this season. He's 18 years old and majoring in Arts and Sciences. Lawrence was a four star athlete in high school. He played in the '49 Shrine Bowl at Charlotte, N. C.

He also played in the '49 Horse Bowl game at Camden, S. C. Lawrence plans to go out for baseball this Spring. Coach McMillan was one of the forces that steered him toward Clemson.

Possibly one of the best future line prospects on the Fresh team this year is huge Nathan Gressette, six foot, two, 215 pound tackle. He's 19 years old, majoring in Animal Husbandry. Nathan was selected most valuable player two years straight in high school. Coach Howard revealed his keen eye for talent when he persuaded the husky lineman to come to Tigertown. Nathan also played football, baseball, basketball, and ran track in high school. He plans to go out for baseball this Spring. He played with Larry in the two '49 Shrine and Horse Bowl games. Mr. (Tackle) Gressette was also selected to the '49 All-Star team. His father, Bill Gressette, was an All-Southern Backfield star for Furman in 1917.

Big Reeves Gressette, the last of the trio is a first class end. He weighs 195 pounds and stands six foot, three. Reeves is the number one Freshman wingman. He played basketball, baseball, and football in high school. He's planning to play basketball this winter. Reeves is taking a Pre-Med course here at Clemson.

The boys have two uncles who were football standouts. Bob Gressette, an All-Southern End for South Carolina, and Tatum Gressette, and All-Southern Halfback, who, incidentally was one of the officials for last Saturday's Clemson-Duquesne game.

Bengal Swimmers Begin On Jan. 13

Clemson's swimmers, who have yet to miss copying the state crown, are whipping into shape as a result of their continued daily workouts.

Coach McHugh revealed that the Tigers have added Furman to their schedule in a regular season meet to take place in February. The tankmen open their season on January 13 when Davidson comes to town in an effort to out-splash the waterfamed Bengals.

A freshman team is practicing with the regulars in the YMCA pool, and arrangements are being made for them to have meets with state and conference opposition. The freshman team is still in need of several men. Anyone interested may begin workouts any afternoon at 5:00 o'clock.

Writers Pick Clemson To Win Week End Tilt

By Doc Baker and Harold Owen

Last Saturday brought about some of the most puzzling situations and leaves several of the college coaches smiling; others tear at the cranium where the tegumentary covering departed long ago. It wasn't quite as hectic in our department; we picked 29 out of 36 for a .806 average.

This week's schedule appears to be somewhat easier than the past week. In the light of this, let's get underway right here in the Tiger's Lair.

CLEMSON OVER FURMAN—If any of us see an airplane flying over the territory, there is no need for alarm. Why? It will be some little windbag dropping out leaflets to the effect "Furman is going to beat you!" (They call it psychology). Well, we aren't too optimistic, but there is nothing better than a good joke before a track meet. In view of the facts, all of you come on out to the stadium Saturday and watch the Tigers make whirlwinds out of Hurricanes by the score of 35-6.

North Carolina over South Carolina—The Gamecocks got their spurs dulled and their tail feathers clipped last week as the Cadets marched away with the better end of a 19-7 score. (No ifs about it.) We can't see anything but woe at Columbia next week as the Tarheel mechanics pull in to throttle the Cadillacs. The score, 21-14 in favor of the Yankee Carolinians.

Ohio State over Illinois—The Buckeyes appear to be on their way this week, but it won't be a pushover by any means. According to the crystal ball, it's a 23-14 victory for Ohio State.

Wake Forest over NC State—The Deacons seem to be the dominating power in North Carolina. Since this is another intersectional game, the rivalry will probably retard the scoring. N. C. State is capable of pulling over-whelming upsets, which it proved against Maryland. The Deacons will probably win by 21 points in a 27-6 game.

The Citadel over VMI—The Bulldogs raised up and caught a lazy rooster without an alibi. Perhaps this victory will be the incentive for them to play two good games in a row and smear the rival Cadets in a 13-7 win.

Texas A&M over Rice—The Aggies brought about one of the puzzles by defeating SMU. (Who said Texas U. was a sure thing for the Cotton Bowl? Don't they have to meet their arch rival?) The virtue of this win throws turmoil into the Southwest Conference. We don't think the A&M players will be cocky enough to let the commonly used term of overconfidence prevent a victory over the Owls by a 21-13 score.

Texas over TCU—Here is the game homologous to the one just mentioned. The Longhorns realize it is a must game. "Dutch" Meyer's Horned Frogs will be trying with all their might to dehorn their bitter rivals. However, it appears to be a thought in vain; we see the Longhorns coming out on top by a 34-14 count.

Washington & Lee over Louisville—The leading team in the Southern Conference with its mighty barrage of pigskin talent, after a grueling season among conference opponents takes on supposedly weak Louisville. We think they are sweating it out after the Cardinals tied Miami last Friday. It isn't that bad

Cone And Michaels In First Place Tie For S. C. Point Lead

Clemson's Fred Cone has moved into a first place tie with Walt Michaels of Washington & Lee to lead the Southern Conference scorers with 49 points each. Both of these top scorers run from the fullback position. Another fullback, Joe Stump of V. M. I., and halfbacks Tom Powers and Bob Shemonski of Duke and Maryland respectively, are in a three-way deadlock for third place with 48 points each.

Cone booster his point total when he scored two touchdowns in last Saturday's game with Boston College. Michaels boosted two extra points in Washington & Lee's game last week-end tilt with Delefare to send his total to 49.

The Bruising Tiger fullback is also leading the state scorers. Furman's Ed Jasek is now holding second place with 42 points. Tailback Jackie Calvert of Clemson is in a three-way tie for third position with Wofford's McLellan and Steve Wadiak of Carolina, each with 36 markers to their credit.

Clemson's Ray Mathews, Glenn Smith, and Charlie Radcliff are

Jackie Calvert, No. 21, is shown as he fought for the ball and a Clemson touchdown. The pass, identical in the preceding play which Calvert missed, was thrown by Billy Hair in the Tigers 53-20 victory over Duquesne.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 6...THE TURTLE

They had our slow-moving brother moving at too fast a pace with those quick-trick cigarette tests! A fast puff . . . a swift sniff . . . a quick inhale . . . a rapid exhale. Terrapin's head was spinning — didn't know if he was coming or going! But he slowed down to his own speed — decided there was no need to rush. After all, he figured, how could anyone possibly prove cigarette mildness so fast? And he was right, too! That's why we suggest: The sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a pack after pack, day after day basis. No snap judgments needed. After you've enjoyed Camels — and only Camels — for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste) we believe you'll know why . . .

Navy Announces Field Vacancies

Naval procurement programs that have been frozen for the past several months are now open to a varied extent. Applications are being accepted from qualified candidates for the following procurement programs: in the regular Navy: Dental, Medical Service, and Chaplain Corps.

The following are listed for Naval Reserves: Medical Corps, Medical Interns, Ensign Probationary, Dental Corps, General Line, and Supply Corps (active duty).

Also listed are Electronics Specialists, Naval Architect Specialists, Civil Engineering Corps, and Petroleum Engineering Specialists.

All interested candidates are advised to contact Professor Bell in Room 20 in Main Building between 7:30 and 8:30 p. m. on Wednesdays for information concerning requirements, qualifications, and procedure for making applications.

Clemson Garden Club Meets; Bowen Speaks

Mr. W. C. Bowen was the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Clemson Garden Club which was held at four o'clock on Monday afternoon, November 13. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. T. Foy.

Mr. Bowen spoke on camellias. He showed leaf specimens of camellias which are adaptable to the climate of this area. He told the group that there were at least 2,000 varieties which will grow here. Mr. Bowen also gave instructions for planting camellias.

Following a short business meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess committee. Hostess for the meeting were Mrs. E. G. Godbey, Miss Jean Sloan, Mrs. J. M. Cook, and Mrs. J. T. Foy.

Conference On Sex Be Held By B. S. U. Soon; Dr. Masters To Speak

Dr. E. Walter Masters, physician of Columbia, will be the main speaker of a conference held in the Club Room of the Clemson Baptist Church on December 1 and 2. This conference will concern "Christianity and Life," and the main topic of discussion will be "Christianity and Sex."

The purpose of the conference is to give the student a more adequate understanding of their sexual capacities and instincts, and Christian attitude towards sex.

Dr. Masters was born in Anderson, S. C., received his B. S. Degree at the University of South Carolina, and his M. D. Degree at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee. He spent thirteen months in France and was later Chief of Officers' Medical Section in the Oliver General Hospital in Augusta, Georgia. A member and a deacon of the First Baptist Church of Columbia, he has had his own private practice since July of 1946.

These sessions of the conference will be held at 7 p. m., December 1, and at 2 and 7 p. m. on December 2 respectively. It is sponsored by the Clemson B. S. U. and all interested students are invited to attend.

right end position in football, Dreher also participates in basketball and track.

"Goon," as Dreher is well known to the students here at Clemson, played center on the freshman cage team last year and threw the shot-put and discus for the cinder squad. Dreher also high jumped for the track team.

"The Goon" is expected to take over Holshouser's place in throwing the shot.

Dreher participated in these three sports when playing for the Orangeburg Indians. He captained the Orangeburg basketball team for two years.

Gaskins stated that this year's Clemson squad was the best bunch of boys that he has ever had the pleasure and honor of playing with.

Dreher Gaskins is expected to develop into one of the best offensive and defensive ends that Clemson has had in several seasons.

Enjoy your cigarette! Enjoy truly fine tobacco that combines both perfect mildness and rich taste in one great cigarette — Lucky Strike!

Perfect mildness? You bet. Scientific tests, confirmed by three independent consulting laboratories, prove that Lucky Strike is milder than any other principal brand. Rich taste?
Yes, the full, rich taste of truly fine tobacco.

Only fine tobacco gives you both real mildness and rich taste. And Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. So enjoy the happy blending that com-
