

Excitement Reigns As Weekend Approaches

Groundbreaking For Earle Hall To Be Saturday

By LEE CLYBURN
TIGER News Editor

The coming weekend promises to be a time of hurried and varied activity on the campus—not only because one of the most exciting football games of the season is to be played—but progress on the campus steams on. Yes, Clemson is a growing college in both size and technical know-how.

On Friday afternoon at precisely 4:30 p.m., a great tribute will be paid to two men. Portraits of Dr. Samuel Broadus Earle, Dean Emeritus of the Clemson College School of Engineering, and Dr. Charles E. Horn, Minneapolis, Minn., president of Olin Foundation, will be unveiled in the foyer of Olin Hall.

The program will be a prelude to Saturday's ground-breaking for the Earle Chemical Engineering Building, presented to Clemson by the Olin Foundation and named to honor the retired 80-year-old Clemson professor and dean.

Mr. R. C. Edwards, acting president of Clemson, will preside over the ceremonies. The invocation will be given by Reverend Charles A. Arrington, Pastor of Clemson Baptist Church.

After recognition of Clemson trustees, officials, and many dignitaries who are to be present, Mr. Wright Bryan from Cleveland, Ohio, editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer and Clemson Alumni Association president, will present the Dr. Horn portrait. The portrait will be unveiled by Miss Emily Poole, granddaughter of the late Dr. R. F. Poole and Mrs. Poole. Immediately following the official presentation of Dr. Horn's portrait, the portrait of Dr. Earle will be presented. This portrait will eventually come to rest in the new chemical engineering building as soon as it is completed. Miss Melissa Earle, granddaughter of Dr. Earle, will unveil this portrait.

The paintings of Dr. Horn and Dr. Earle were done by artist Charles M. Crowson of Myrtle Beach. On Saturday morning at 11:00 a.m. another important event will take place. Ground-breaking ceremonies for the $1,175,000 S. B. Earle Chemical Engineering Building—largest single gift ever received by Clemson—will be held here on the building site. Invocation at this ceremony will be given by the Reverend Robert L. Oliver, Rector of the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church of Clemson.

After a welcome by Mr. R. M. Cooper, an address will be made by Dr. Charles L. Horn. Then a brief history of the growth of engineering at Clemson will be cited by Dr. F. M. Kinard, Dean of the College. It is estimated that nearly 200 distinguished guests will be on hand. Among those who will be present at the building site on Williamston Road are: members of the Clemson Board of Trustees, members of the Olin Foundation Board of Trustees, Mr. Ernest Hol-ings, Governor-elect of South Carolina, and leaders of the Chemical Engineering industry in S. C.—just to mention a few.

Honored guests at the ground-breaking will be Dr. Earle, Dr. Horn, and Dr. James O. Wynn, vice-president of the Olin Foundation. These men will be the first to break ground for the new building.

The new building, supposedly to be ready by September of 1959, was presented to the college April 12 as a gift, the second in five years, of the Olin Foundation of Minneapolis, Minn.

Olin Hall, which houses the department of ceramic engineering, was presented in 1953 at a cost, including complete modern equipment, of $600,000.

The benediction for the ceremony will be given by Reverend Arrington, after which the Clemson Band will play "Tiger Rag." It cannot be stressed how important these events will be to Clemson. With all the new construction going on, the college is well on its way to becoming one

Club Presidents Elect Officers

Norman P. Welborn, of Liberty is the newly elected president of the Council of Club Presidents. Dick Yeary of Nicholasville, Ky., is vice-president while Charlie Barron of Seneca is the secretary-treasurer. The club has announced its yearly meetings. Regular meetings are scheduled for Nov. 20, Jan. 15, March 19 and May 21. These meetings will be held at 8:30 p.m. in Room 118 Chemistry Building. All are important, and it is imperative that all club representatives be present at these meetings; otherwise, his club will be dropped from the role.

A special meeting is to be held to elect 20 representatives to student assembly. The date will be announced later.

Gravely, Newman Named To Head Clemson Air Force ROTC Wing

The Air Force Department at Clemson has announced the appointment of E. G. Gravely as Cadet Wing Commander and L. B. Newman as Cadet Deputy Commander for the Air Force ROTC Wing for school year 1958-59.

In making these appointments, Colonel Claude B. Thompson, professor of air science, delegated full authority and full responsibility for managing the Cadet Corps. The two will choose their own staff and establish the training program procedures.

The new wing staff will also include: Cadet Major K. W. Powers, wing training officer and Cadet Captain M. U. Ed-ens, information service officer. The squadron commanders include: Cadet Major R. L. Cunningham, commander of Squadron 1; Cadet Major R. G. Gray, commander of Squadron 2; Cadet Major B. R. Burnside, commander of Squadron 4.

Cadet Colonel Gravely, born in 1937 at Greenville, completed high school at Seneca in 1955. Here he was an honor student and played guard in both football and basketball. Since coming to Clemson he has been active in several campus organizations, including staff membership of the Agrarian, member of Council of Club Presidents, president of the Arnold Air Society, and past president of the Forestry Club. He enjoys fishing, hunting, and golf when time permits.

Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Newman was born in Anderson in 1938. He attended high school at Daniel High, where he excelled in football and track. An end on the football squad, he competed in the 880 and the mile in track. Coming to Clemson in 1956, he promptly set a state collegiate record for the mile at 4:22. Newman enjoys hunting and camping, intends to make the Air Force a career and is enthusiastically looking forward to flying jets.

Insurance ID Cards Ready Next Week

Students may pick up their student insurance identification cards on the loggia between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, according to Joe Fox, president of student government. Joe said this week that this would be the last time for students to pick up these cards. After this time, cards will be discarded.

Jungaleers To Play Friday Night

The Jungaleers, Clemson College's own but regionally famed dance orchestra, will furnish music for Friday night's CDA-sponsored Rat Hop. The weekend, termed the largest and possibly the best Rat Hop weekend in history, gets underway Friday afternoon with unveiling of portraits in Olin Hall followed that night at 9 p.m. in the Dining Hall with the first dance. ## 16 MEMBERS New Junior Staff Elected By CDA

Sixteen juniors have been selected to serve as the 1958-1959 CDA junior staff. They were selected for their interest in the functions of the CDA and an expressed desire to join. Eight of the 16 students will be named for the senior staff next year.

The junior staff members for this year are: Edwin Abell, a chemical engineering major from Lowrys; David Poole, a ceramic engineering major from Greenville; Frank Clark, majoring in architecture from Anderson; Julian Dixon, an agronomy major from Columbia; Bill Mathis, a horticulture major from Manchester, Georgia; Dave Martin, an architecture major from Huntington, West Virginia; Tommy McTeer, a mechanical engineering major from Hampton; and Bob Aiken, a textile management major from Columbia.

Also Frank Eskridge, a civil engineering major from Florence; Ronnie Crow, an entomology major from McColl; Jim Scott, an industrial management major from Gaffney; Bill Fort, an industrial engineering major from Sumter; Eddie Gallup, an industrial management major from Sumter; Jim Creel, a mechanical engineering major from Conway; Lonnie Owens, an industrial management major from Columbia; and Johnny James, a mechanical engineering major from Sumter.

President Edwards Congratulates Students

To the Clemson Student Body: May I take this method to relay to the Student body the many compliments prompted by the excellent conduct and spirit of the students during the weekend of the Virginia football game. It is most gratifying to hear our fine student body so highly praised by so many people.

As you know, each year the Atlantic Coast Conference presents a sportsmanship award to the student body displaying the highest level of good conduct and sportsmanship throughout the intercollegiate athletic year. This award was won by Duke University last year. I believe it can be won by Clemson this year.

We have another big and important weekend almost upon us and I want to take this occasion to invite each student to be a part of it by helping us express appreciation to the Trustees of the Olin Foundation for their great and generous services to Clemson College.

The entire Student Body is cordially invited to attend the groundbreaking exercises for the Samuel Broadus Earle Chemical Engineering Building at 11:00 a.m., Saturday morning, September 27th, at which time classes will be suspended. This building is made possible by a $1,175,000 grant to Clemson by the Olin Foundation, which also gave Clemson Olin Hall, the Ceramic Engineering Building. The exercises will be held at the site of the new building just behind the Textile Building. We hope all of our students will be there for this important occasion.

You are also invited to attend the unveiling of portraits of Dr. Charles L. Horn, president of the Olin Foundation, and Dean S. B. Earle, dean emeritus of the School of Engineering. This will be held at Olin Hall at 4:30 p.m., Friday afternoon, September 26.

As Clemson moves forward to greater heights of excellence, we sincerely hope that each student will take occasion to be an interested and active part of the progress.

Cordially,
R. C. Edwards
Acting President

AT CLEMSON HOUSE

Commerce Subcommittee To Hear Problems Of Textile Industry

The Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce subcommittee will open South and North Carolina hearings into textile industry problems here Monday. The hearings will be open to the public in the Clemson House from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m.

The subcommittee will be headed by Sen. John O. Pastore (D-RI). The subcommittee will be welcomed by Acting President R. C. Edwards at 10 a.m. P. S. Bailey, president of the South Carolina Textile Manufacturers Association, will present an outline for the purpose of the Senate hearings. Scheduled to appear before the subcommittee are Dr. M. K. Horne, Jr., National Cotton Council of America; Walter Simister, Ralph E. Loper and Co.; Fred Dent, vice-president of SCTMA; R. M. Cooper, director of the State Development Board and Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC).

The importance of the textile industry to South Carolina textile employees will be presented by representatives of Inman Mills, Clinton Mills and the Graniteville Co. Tours are planned, in connection with the hearings, to the Utica-Mohawk plant in Clemson and to Judson Mills in Greenville.

First In Concert Series To Feature Eleanor Steber

By JOHN LONG
Tiger Staff Writer

The first of five Clemson College Concerts, featuring nationally acclaimed artists, will be held here October 2. Scheduled to perform is Eleanor Steber, one of the truly great American vocalists.

Miss Steber, international star of concert, opera, radio, television and records, has won recent fame for her portrayal of "Tosca" and the creation of the leading role in the new opera, "Vanessa."

Miss Steber, who recently performed at the First International Music Festival in Athens, Greece, has made appearances at such important European music festivals as Edinburgh, Vienna, Verona, and Florence. She has sung 32 different leading operatic roles ranging from the coloratura soprano to the dramatic soprano repertoires.

Wrote the New York Herald Tribune recently: "Miss Steber's performance of them (Berlioz Songs) represents a summit in the art of singing. Her voice has an incandescent purity; it makes for an unforgettable experience."

The story is the same whenever Eleanor Steber appears in recital or with orchestra. She has received national acclaim in newspapers and magazines. Student participation in the concert series is urged as only the best entertainment is provided.

Rat Hop Promises Good Dance Music

By BO COWARD AND BILL ADCOCK
TIGER Staff Writers

The Rat Hop, traditionally the first big dance weekend of the year, will feature the Jungaleers Friday night and The Gladiolas Saturday night. At the formal dance Friday evening, the Jungaleers will feature Miss Phyllis O'Dell as guest vocalist.

Phyllis, a former Clemson student, was the first majorette at Clemson. Her skill as a majorette, her personality, and her beauty added both to the Tiger Band and to the student body as a whole. She was a national coed of the month, and a Taps beauty in 1956 and 1957. Her song styling is often compared with that of Chris Connor.

The Jungaleers are composed of Dave Carroll and Tommy Lavendar on tenor sax, Larry Wilson, who leads the band, and Mike Outen on alto sax, and on baritone sax is Dalton Watkins.

On trombones are Tim Harris, George Foxworth and George Cobb. David Trimmer, booking agent, Steve Pruitt and Bob Ellis compose the trumpet section. Danny Hollis, business manager, is playing bass and Paul Bazemore is on drums. Perry Hudson is tentatively scheduled as piano.

The band, which has been featured at many fraternity and sorority dances at colleges throughout the South, will play contemporary popular music, straight jazz and dance music. They have played at such places as Poinsett Hotel in Greenville, the Bon Air Hotel in Augusta, Ga., and Clemson House.

The highlight of the Friday night dance will be the selection of the Rat Queen. She will be chosen from the dates of "Rats" attending the dance and will receive a silver loving cup from the Clemson Jewelers.

She and her date will also receive several other prizes from local merchants. Her formal presentation to the student body will be Saturday afternoon at the football game.

The Gladiolas, returning to the Clemson campus for their second engagement, will perform at the Saturday night dance. This fine rock and roll aggregation, led by Maurice Williams, originated in Lancaster in 1956.

Their recording of "Little Darling" was a national hit in 1957. They record for the Excello Recording Company and are also in popular demand for fraternity and sorority affairs. During Clemson's Spring Hop last year they entertained a tremendous crowd with their fine rhythm and blues.

The Friday night dance will be formal and the Saturday night dance informal. One of the unwritten laws of Clemson states that the dates of Clemson students should not wear flowers to dances. The dances will be held in the College Dining Hall.

Both dances will last four hours; the Friday night dance begins at 9 p.m. and the Saturday night dance begins at 8 p.m. The prices will be $2.50 for Friday night and $3.00 for Saturday night; block tickets are $5.00. Tickets may be purchased in the dining hall prior to the dance at the ticket table.

Pershing Rifles Drill For Year Of Competition

Once again, as the fall of the year rolls around, the Pershing Rifles begin another year of long hours and hard work in preparation for their many public appearances.

This year, Company C-4 will be led by P/R Capt. J. T. "Buck" Deaton of Lancaster and P/R 1st Lt. F. A. "Booby" Roberts of Chester. Business managers are P/R 2nd Lt. Jerry Brown of North Augusta and Tony Shank of Mullins. P/R 2nd Lt. Ed Maddox of Spartanburg rounds out the staff as P.I.O. Col. K. K. Sells is once again the unit's faculty adviser.

Forty-eight pledges, which were selected in the spring by last year's unit, have returned to Clemson. The Pershing Rifles are looking forward to another successful year as one of the most active organizations on campus and have their hopes set on returning the National Drill Championship to Clemson College.

The new pledges are C. A. Carswell, J. J. Abercrombie, S. J. Beasley, W. J. Brown, T. J. Etheredge, J. B. Floyd, J. H. Fogle, J. W. Ellerbe, J. F. Poole, J. B. Stepp, H. W. Quinlan, J. A. Wellmaker, H. E. Koon and C. H. Douglass.

Also, H. W. Finkler, H. S. Hill, R. H. Kimble, L. M. Mays, P. M. McTeer, M. J. Holstein, R. B. Greer, J. F. Strickland, J. E. Housey, A. D. Hodges, A. W. Mc-

IMMEDIATE EXPULSION

College Officials Remind Students Of Penalties

By JERRY AUSBAND
TIGER Managing Editor

An appeal for thoughtfulness from college officials along with a stern reminder of immediate expulsion has been issued on the heels of a string of thefts.

Acting president Robert C. Edwards and Dean of Student Affairs Walter Cox jointly issued a statement to TIGER reminding students of state law now prohibiting any damage to Clemson College property or any college property.

A series of thefts in the dormitories and the expectations of a too-spirited student body during football season prompted the officials to say that any student caught in these acts will be given a trial before Student Government's Senior Council. However, they said, they were inclined to have no patience with students doing immature and college-damaging acts, and students found guilty will be expelled with no hesitation.

President Edwards expressed the belief that there was "no more important process than having a student become a gentleman or a lady as the case may be." He went on to say vandalism of the type already experienced this year and in past years was not an indication of that process.

The college cannot "afford" the vandalism here nor anywhere else, Mr. Edwards said. He stated the "afford" carries a double meaning—afford from the monetary angle and afford from the detriment attributed to the college by acts committed.

Mr. Edwards said, in his viewpoint, the administration's function towards students is its most important act and that end will be accomplished through student leaders in deciding on student problems. He said he was quite willing to talk with any student concerning the college and no secrets would be kept from him.

We "mean business" on this problem of vandalism and theft, said Mr. Cox. There will be no rogues nor thieves in our midst, and there is "no place for a vandal" here he went on.

Both men, still congratulating the student body on their wonderful appearance and spirit at the Virginia game Saturday, said the school was tremendously boosted by this occurrence. They urged more of the same for the North Carolina game and for all games to come.

However, they said, they would tolerate no vandalism and no thievery. We are here to help the students, they said, but the students will have to help us and themselves.

Army Announces DMS Selections

Army ROTC students who have been selected as Distinguished Military Students for 1958 were announced by Colonel Douglass, professor of military science and tactics this week.

Those who have been chosen Distinguished Military Students are William M. Bruner of Clemson, Alfred N. Bechtler of Rock Hill, Hal N. Craig of Clover, Norman D. Darden of Albertville, Alabama, J. C. Edwards Jr. of Cowpens, Joseph M. Fox of Inman and William R. Hill of Greenville.

Also, Benjamin A. Huggins of Greenville, William L. McElrath Jr. of Waynesville, James L. Merchant of Charleston, Jim D. Rabon of Aynor, Frank D. Sams of Clemson, Rufus C. Sherard of Calhoun Falls, James E. Smith of Florence, James N. Townsend of Lumberton, N. C., John D. Tucker of Inman and William J. Weeks Jr. of Florence.

To become a DMS, a student must possess outstanding qualities of leadership, both in ROTC and in extra-curricular activities, high moral character and a definite aptitude for military service. A Distinguished Military student is eligible to make application for a regular Army commission.

More Distinguished Military Students may be designated later during the academic year.

Gravely New Commander

IDC IS STEP FORWARD BY ADMINISTRATION

We regret to note that an air of procrastination exists concerning the inauguration of Inter-Dormitory Council. Those persons charged with the responsibility of starting the IDC tell us that it will be far into the semester before the system can begin, and they appear to be perfectly content to allow this situation to exist. We feel that all speed should be exercised in the introduction of the plan. The majority of upperclassmen are still in the dark about the purpose of the plan and this situation should be rectified at once. Students are the primary ingredient in this plan and they should be indoctrinated into its aims.

Before IDC can commence operations on the campus there is a mountain of red tape to be dispensed with. First off, the student government executive committee must approve its constitution before the student assembly can act on the measure. This, of course, is good since the constitution was designed and written by a non-student body, and it should be examined closely to determine whether or not it will be acceptable to the students. After the matter has been approved by these two agencies the constitution must then be ratified by the student body. Those measures are all quite necessary, of course, and we do not wish to imply that the system should be started without student approval. We feel, however, that ratification by the student body should be held as quickly as possible so that the system can receive as fair a trial as possible. Let us not forget that time is of the essence.

While we hope that the plan will work let us not lose sight of the fact that IDC is a test process. The question of fraternities, then, has not been completely discarded by the administration, and it may well be that within the next few months these social organizations may make their appearance on our campus.

CLOSER CONSIDERATION OF TICKET SCHEDULE URGED

The Athletic Association has finally found a satisfactory solution to the ticket situation on campus. The method of distributing tickets that is currently in use was tried last year and was a complete success. While it may be inconvenient to stand in line at times, it is always best to have a reserved seat.

We note, however, that the rules of distribution are not being followed as closely as they should be. We are referring to the fact that several juniors and sophomores were allowed to pick up their tickets during the day reserved for seniors. This is a flagrant breach of senior privileges and this practice should be stopped at once. Those responsible for such action should be instructed that the rules of distribution are to be followed to the letter.

We realize that circumstances surrounding the allotment of tickets was difficult this week since identification cards have not been issued. However, the student roster provided by the registrar's office which gave name and class was not used as effectively as it could have been. In any case there is no excuse for not following the method of distribution explicitly and steps should be taken to see that this is done.

MORE STUDENTS SHOULD PARTICIPATE IN TIGERAMA

TIGERAMA, Clemson's all student variety show that kicks off our Homecoming activities, began operations last week, and we are informed that student participation is running ahead of last year. We are encouraged by this information and we hope that every student will endeavor to help in some way with this spectacular production. The students of Clemson made a fine showing last year and there is no reason why this year's show should not surpass our first effort.

TIGERAMA is you and we should take every advantage to make it the greatest show ever presented on the Clemson campus. Each year we should strive to make the show better than ever—one that everyone will remember. Those who attended last year's production have not forgotten it. And, if we make every effort to out do last year, they will not soon forget the 1958 production.

TIGERAMA is you, the student. Let's make it the best ever.

LETTERS TO TOM IMPORTANT STUDENT OPINION OUTLET

Unfortunately we overlooked a very important item in our statement of policy to the student body in our last editorial. We are referring to Letters to Tom, one of the most important outlets of student feelings. Upperclassmen know of Letters to Tom, but a word of explanation is due the freshmen.

Letters to Tom provide a perfect channel for the emotions of every student. Tom has a patient ear for your problem and he invites you to take your worries to him.

All Letters to Tom are printed if they are not libelous, in bad taste, or detrimental to the student body. Any other letter will be printed, and we encourage every student to let his views be known through a Letter to Tom. Through them your voice is heard and we invite you to speak.

ANTIQUATED CLASS ATTENDANCE RULES NEED REVISION

As we begin a new year our thoughts turn, among other things, to school policy on class attendance. We must realize that our class attendance regulations are perhaps the most outdated rules remaining on the campus, and it is time something were done about them. Last year the students tried to initiate legislation in the faculty senate that would revise these antiquated regulations, but the measure was defeated at the outset.

We hope that this year the faculty and administration will take a more realistic look at these regulations and make improvements in them. We are no longer children. We have reached a point in our lives when we must begin to make our own decisions about what we should and should not do; we must learn now to establish a set of values that will guide us for the rest of our lives; we are mature individuals and should be treated as such.

It is interesting to note that Clemson has made great strides in the last few years—great physical strides, that is. New buildings dot our campus and we are proud of them; new teaching techniques have been employed to our benefit. But the same worn-out, irksome attendance regulations remain. If the college is to progress further, every facet of its operating system should be revised periodically. Some procedures have been revised; other needed revisions are long past due. We, the students, should see to it that these needed amendments are made without further delay.

WEEK'S PEEK

Much Available Assistance Made Unavailable By Restrictions

By TIM TRIVELY

This year about 600 students (approximately 15 per cent) of this institution applied for some form of financial aid. Of this number, how many could have been helped by direct student loan? Less than 10 per cent.

Assistance, no matter how you spell it, always comes out—"money."

In bad shape in the early fifties, the Clemson Student Loan Fund and the Clemson College Foundation have matured quickly into a small but effective fund. Though separate funds, they are classified collectively as Emergency Funds. Though united in category, they are still INSUFFICIENT. Adding to this Emergency Fund several idle sources, that because of residential or major field restrictions are not in use, the fund would expand and in turn better service the needs of those who need. Several funds are not accessible to the students at large because these funds have qualifying restrictions other than those of moral or scholastic record; eg., the applicant must be from the left bank of the Country Creek, a participating soil conservationist and a planter of cotton. The observer might ask, "This loan is based on fulfillment of restrictions or need of applicant?"

Let's look at a loan for a minute. A committee of faculty and administrative personnel review applications and decide upon recipients. There is no administrative charge affixed by the college. Generally, each loan carries with it a four per cent interest charge from the date it is issued. If a student receives a loan and then drops out of school, he is morally bound to return payments of the amount borrowed within a year. The student is bound by moral ethics, not by civil law. Because there is no policy, under which the department operates, there is no legal action taken if a student is delinquent in repaying his loan. The interest collected on loans helps to take care of individual losses that occur from time to time. At present there are about 200 outstanding loans. Student repayments dictate and determine the operational effectiveness of the Financial Aid program.

This is all well and good—and factual—but what about you? You didn't get that loan? Perhaps you are a freshman.

Preference is given to upperclassmen mainly because they will graduate in a shorter period of time. Thus, the money would be tied up for a shorter duration and allow a faster recirculation of the money to more students, who otherwise have to be turned down. It is estimated that a freshman loan ties up that money from five to ten years. Where are freshmen encouraged to go to acquire financial assistance? Nobody knows you like the folks back home. You must consider that at college you have yet to prove yourself. A significant fact is that a sizable number of institutions of this nation are discontinuing student aid programs.

What part are alumni funds playing? At present they are LIMITED to the $20,000 revolving fund.

Faculty report of January 1957:

Of students enrolled—
1 out of 8—on some type of scholarship.
1 out of 7 — borrowing funds.
1 out of 5—working part time while attending school.
Summer of '57; 2 out of every 3 students worked.
A review of existing policies in the light of need rather than fulfillment of fund qualifications might better service the committees reviewing applications.

A Word To The Wise

By BILL WEEKS
Associate Student Chaplain

Dear Jerry,
I appreciate your taking time to write me a letter during these first few days. As a freshman in college I know you must be on the run all the time; it reminds me of my first year! I guess by now you are settling down to lessons and getting into the swing of college life.

Jerry, I do not write this letter as an exchange of news. These thoughts of mine are an aftermath of our discussion a few days ago. You asked me a question then, which has stayed with me for quite a while. After some thinking I feel that as a friend it is my opportunity as one who has experienced college life to try to help you in some way.

If you remember, Jerry, you asked me a question every college freshman asks himself: "How can I really know what course to major in while going to college?" I know how you felt the morning after your graduation. Suddenly you realized more keenly than ever you were no longer a high school senior; there would be no more games, parties, dances

—no more of that never-to-be-forgotten high school fun. Your name was then on a college registrar's list. Looming in front of you were four years of higher learning and a decision to make—what to study.

This question of yours came so unexpectedly that I could not find the right thing to say. But I have thought about it and know you will agree with me that the question is a lot deeper than it appears. You see, beyond your decision as to what you want to study is the matter of what you want to be—a public accountant, an electrician or whatever it is. When you know this, you will know what to study. Do you really know what you want to be? Suppose you decide upon an electrical career. Why did you make this choice? For money? Because you were interested in it?

Well, we are a long way from our original question, aren't we? To get to the center of my thoughts, Jerry, the matter becomes personal and spiritual in nature. To have a home, to be secure, to be interested in one's work—all this is a quest for happiness.

You and I are Christians, Jerry, and realize that real happiness is not found in these ambitions and attainments. Our happiness is founded upon a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. At one time in our lives we reached a state where nothing mattered except to experience peace with God. To serve in love Him who first loved us (who deserved no love) became our very life and breath. In faith Christ not only became our Saviour but also our Lord—our Leader. Our lives are now his to use.

Here, I think, is the answer to the question, Jerry. If God is our Leader, certainly He will lead us into the right course to study—if we let Him. It may not come as handwriting on the wall; it may not be perfectly clear. But I sincerely believe that it will all work out for His glory and our happiness, if we are yielded to His leadership. We can then have no fears and excuses when we stand before Him, and the Book of Life is opened.

Here's wishing you the best for the next four years.

Your friend.

LET'S TALK IT OVER

Smoke, Squalling Tires And Yells — The Frosh Are Off

By ED GETTYS
Tiger Associate Editor

As the sun sinks behind the distant Blue Ridge Mountains promising a peaceful and quiet evening, clouds of blue smoke issuing from "guttered" mufflers screeches from tires slipping on pavement and yells of "Come, which seldom abates until their means of transportation are exhausted or until they finally realize that college is on, fellers, let's go," break the betokened stillness. Upperclassmen shake their heads in wonder and pity as the unsettled freshmen, even now retaining all the restlessness of high school days, begin their never-ending, nightly sojourns to Anderson, Greenville and other surrounding vicinities. Theirs is an energy work along with good times.

The transition to be made from high school immaturity to the moderation of college cannot be effected in the space of a few short weeks; in most cases this maturation requires the greater part of the first year. Any club in their hands could result in a tragedy. One such club is the typical freshman's car. Only a few weeks ago, he was comparatively wild while still under the influence of home. Here, with virtually no restrictions, who can say to what ends he will go.

Two years ago in the first days of the fall semester, a freshman was killed in an automobile accident on the Anderson Highway. The memory of that tragic occurrence has faded all too soon. Had that car not been available, the young man might be with us yet.

If the college's recreational environment is boosted sufficiently by next year, might it not be sensible to refuse dormitory freshmen the privilege of retaining cars. If not the whole year then certainly the first semester. Georgia Tech and Duke University have such policies although their social programs are much superior. Incidentally, as a side effect, this plan would certainly alleviate the parking situation.

BIG WEEKEND SCHEDULED

This weekend holds in store many events of great interest to the college. To name a few, the ground breaking ceremonies for Earle Hall, the unveiling of the portraits of Dr. Horn and Dr. Earle, the North Carolina football game and, last but surely not least, CDA's first dance of the season are all scheduled. CDA has worked very hard (as usual); let's give them our continued support for this dance and all others.

WORK FOR, NOT AGAINST, SCHOOL

School spirit is a strange and wonderful thing. It can spell the difference between victory and defeat, it can permeate an institution and become its life blood and it can bring about a feeling of togetherness as nothing else is capable of doing. It is a most powerful force and, as a force, can be good or evil. Unorganized, it is a mob frighteningly capable of malicious destruction. Organized, enthusiasm can work virtual miracles. An appeal must be made to all upperclassmen—let's keep the rats organized and working for Clemson, not against it.

TALK OF THE TOWN

No Stauncher, Truer Clemson Man Ever

By TOM ANDERSON, III

Last week this writer entered a little post-mortem article on the late Dr. R. F. Poole, our beloved President for the past 18 years. Due to the nature of that write-up, nothing was mentioned about the gentleman who has been appointed as our acting president for the interim period that we now find ourselves in as far as presidents are concerned. An emergency meeting of the Clemson College Board of Trustees was called immediately after the untimely death of Dr. Poole. The Board was faced with an exceedingly difficult decision, for indeed a great vacancy had to be filled.

Robert Cook Edwards, then vice president for development, received and accepted the nomination. Mr. Edwards stipulated in his letter of acceptance that he would assume these duties with the assurance that his name would not be considered when the permanent president is selected. This writer, for one, would like to commend the Board of Trustees for its action in this regard.

A stauncher, truer Clemson man never lived. It is men such as R. C. Edwards who have caused Tom Clemson's dreams to be realized. He is a man who has sacrificed a promising career in the textile industry in order to return to the Clemson that is so indelibly written within his inner being. We are extremely fortunate in having a man of this quality, a man so completely devoted to the ongoing of the Clemson banner, a man so well established, as our temporary president.

Your coming weekend will no doubt be very full, what with the gala Rat Hop and the touted Tiger-Tar Heel tussle; nonetheless, you should plan to attend the ground-breaking ceremonies for the new $1,175,000 Samuel Broadus Earle

Chemical Engineering Building slated for Saturday morning.

Construction on this magnificent new addition to the Clemson physical plant will begin in the very near future with completion slated in time for the 1959 fall semester. Earle Hall, a gift from the famed Olin Foundation, will be the most up-to-date chemical engineering installation in American education. It is designed to accommodate approximately 350 chemical engineering students. This ceremony will prove to be a very worthwhile endeavor, so if you can squeeze it into your agenda, you will benefit.

The action in the college dining hall last Friday evening was enough to warrant omission of the word "Gentlemen" from our popular term of reference—"Country Gentlemen." Occurrences such as seen then should be reserved to establishments of the Sing-Sing and Alcatraz variety. We have no armed guards to quell such riots.

You should appreciate and respect the wonderful facilities that Clemson has been endowed with; paganism is not proper for persons who have passed the Clemson entrance examination, and will not be tolerated here—any more experiences similar to that disgraceful conduct of Friday past might create serious trouble for the relative few who incite and agitate actions of that nature. Watcha say we remember our heritage, men, and conduct ourselves accordingly.

New Home For Structural Sciences

By BO COWARD
TIGER Feature Writer

The new Structural Science Building has brought to Clemson the ultimate in contemporary design. Our purpose here is to bring out the fact that this is an understatement.

The over-all arrangement of this recently-completed building consists essentially of three buildings joined together as one unit. This arrangement includes spacious courtyards, and the many levels of the building give it the appearance that it rambles freely about in a natural setting. Of course, there is much to be done in the courtyards in the way of landscaping, and the total effect of this naturalness will not be evident until that work is done.

The exterior of the building is of face brick; the interior walls are of painted, plastered or tiled-concrete block. The floors, in general, are covered with asphalt tile or terrazzo; the ceilings are of acoustical tile, plaster or exposed concrete. The many windows, framed in either steel or aluminum, have aluminum fins for sun control.

This massive structure which contains 100,000 square feet of floor space, will permanently house the teaching and research activities of the school of agriculture and of the civil engineering and mechanics and hydraulics departments of the school of engineering.

Of the total amount of floor space 48.8 percent is devoted to teaching, 74.4 percent to activities devoted to teaching (offices, conference rooms, etc.), 5.7 percent to storage and utility and the remaining 25.1 percent to halls and corridors.

There was a total of $1,900,000 allocated for the building. Of that amount $1,400,000 was spent on construction. $300,000 was spent on supplies for its offices, laboratories and classrooms.

Another $43,000 will be spent on incidental landscaping and utility of the building.

Perhaps the greatest single factor that makes the building outstanding is the fact that there is a unity of impression. By this is meant that the excellent contemporary design did not stop when the building was completed.

The furniture, for instance, is of contemporary design. It features durability, flexibility, attractiveness and comfort. Lighting employs the latest in modern lighting techniques, in that both natural and artificial light is used. Therefore, the light domes of skylights are both functional and attractive.

All in all, the building, Clemson's newest and finest, has adequate and spacious facilities for the present and for future expansion.

Textile Group Plans Meeting

The South Carolina division of the Southern Textile Association will meet here Saturday for their fall meeting. The association is heavily represented by graduates of the Clemson College School of Textiles.

Acting President R. C. Edwards and Acting Dean of Textiles Gaston Gage will welcome the group at their business session which is to be held in the Chemistry Auditorium at 10 a.m. The group is comprised of manufacturing executives, superintendents and overseers of textile plants.

The technical program will include a discussion of cotton pre-blenching, and panel discussions on current trends in carding and weaving.

The meetings will be followed by a dutch buffet luncheon in the Clemson House and the Clemson-North Carolina football game in Memorial Stadium.

Canterbury Club Meets Freshmen

Activities of the Episcopal college student association, Clemson Canterbury, began this year with a party given for entering freshmen held on Thursday, September 11. Over 40 couples attended.

At the first regular meeting of the Association, which began with a regular evening worship service during the course of which the Senior Vestry of the entity was installed, programs and activities for the semester were discussed, new members were welcomed, and pledge pins, which the entering freshmen are required to wear so that other Canterbury members may recognize and get to know them, were distributed.

This semester's theme, "Your Place is Space," prepared with the joint cooperation of Reverend Robert L. Oliveros, Episcopal Student Chaplain, Dr. George E. Bair, faculty advisor of Canterbury, Jerry Duvall, of Cheraw, student Senior Warden, and Rudy Jones of Dillon, student Junior Warden, promises to be very interesting.

Last night's program included the showing of a movie, "The Toy Maker." After the movie a discussion, on the nature of man, was moderated by Dr. Bair. Another highlight of the meeting was the discussion of the answers to a question about the nature of the members being.

On October 1 the joint meeting of all church clubs will be held, and after this interval Canterbury activities will resume their pace.

TO HOLD FALL RETREAT
The YMCA fall retreat will be held at Camp Long near Aiken on October 17, 18 and 19. All YMCA council members should make plans to attend.

SAM TO MEET
There will be a membership drive meeting of the Society for the Advancement of Management. Students in all departments of the college are invited to join. A student must have at least 50 completed credits to be eligible for membership. The meeting will be held in the Old Education Building's auditorium October 8 at 6:30 p.m.

Attractive Duplexes Available Next Year

By BEN ESTES
Tiger Feature Writer

Married students who are looking for dwellings will be happy to learn that the college is constructing fifty new duplex apartments which will be ready for use sometime early next year. These attractive new duplexes will be identified as the East Campus Apartments until an official name has been selected. Conveniently located near the Pendleton Highway between the "Fruit Stand" and the campus, these modern duplexes are picturesquely set amidst rolling foothills hidden among pecan, oak, and pine trees. They are far enough from the highway to provide the peace, quiet and safety of a quaint neighborhood.

The exterior of each duplex is attractively constructed of select face brick which were manufactured by South Carolina concerns.

These brick are in different shades and patterns and will beautify the entire project. Wood paneling is being added to the front to give those apartments striking contrast.

The floor plan is similar to that of the Little John apartments. Each apartment consists of approximately 690 square feet and was designed to fit the needs of a student's family. The front entrance opens into a living room-dining room combination 11' by 14' (note: the dimensions quoted here are approximate). Here a gas circulating heater will be located that will adequately serve as the heating unit.

An attractive kitchen is conveniently located behind the living room area. The 9' by 7' kitchen is equipped with an electric stove, an 8 cubic foot refrigerator and a gas operated hot water heater. Each apartment has two bedrooms. The front bedroom is 12' by 8' and the back is 11' by 9'. Furthermore each bedroom contains ample closet area. A modern bath with ceramic tile opens into a hall adjacent to the two bedrooms.

In addition each duplex has an added attraction, for separating each of its apartments is a spacious storage area, each apartment getting a 11' by 4' portion. Besides being used for storage this closed in area will provide an air of privacy, absorbing sounds from the adjacent apartment. The floor itself is attractively arranged of different shades and patterns and asphalt tile layered over concrete slabs.

This $700,000 project has been under the competent construction of Cecil, Inc., of Spartanburg. The architects are Lafaye-Pair and Lafaye of Columbia.

Upon completion of these apartments there will be college living facilities for over 400 married students and their families. The new East Campus Apartments will provide 100 of these dwellings. In addition there are 247 prefabs standing, 28 prefab duplex apartments and the 50 Little John apartments.

New Chaplains Assume Duties

Two more chaplains for students at Clemson College have assumed duties here with Clemson churches.

They are Rev. L. H. Buff, associate pastor of the Clemson Methodist Church, and Father Frank P. Sullivan, C.S.P., director of Newman Club, St. Andrew's Church (Paulist Fathers); the Rev. S. W. Hogue was announced last week as pastor of Fort Hill Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Buff, a native of West Columbia, replaces Rev. Charles Crenshaw as associate minister and Wesley Foundation director. It is his first appointment in the South Carolina Methodist Conference.

He is a graduate of Brookland-Cayce High School and Wofford College, where he was a Phi Beta Kappa; a member of Pi Kappa Alpha, national social fraternity; and Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity, and president of the Glee Club. He earned his B. D. from Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., this year.

Father Sullivan, a Connecticut native, relieves Father Thomas Tierney, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, as the Newman Club chaplain here. He was formerly with Paulist Missions in Winchester, Tenn.

He is a graduate of St. Phillip Neri Prep, Haverhill, Mass., studied philosophy at St. Peter's College in Baltimore, and received the bachelor of arts at Catholic University in Washington, D. C. He has completed work for the doctorate at St. Paul's in Washington.

Father Sullivan is a World War II veteran, having served with the U. S. Air Force in the Pacific theatre. He resides at the St. Andrew's Rectory, 123 Folger Street.

Bill Nettles NS President

Bill Nettles, a senior in agronomy from Sumter, was elected president of the Numeral Society at a special meeting called last Thursday night.

Elected to fill the vacancy of vice-president was Ronnie Hillhouse, a junior from Anderson majoring in ceramic engineering. R. D. Smith, an industrial management senior from Bishopville, assumes the responsibility of pledge executive.

At a special meeting of the executive council vacancies were filled as follows: Paul Wright was appointed pep executive replacing Bill Nettles, John Ridgill was named co-chairman of TIGERAMA activities. Carl DeVane was appointed co-chairman of the annual homecoming float.

Officers returning from last year are Robert Kennedy, treasurer; Johnny Mills, recording secretary; Jerry Ausband, corresponding secretary; Ed Gettys, promotion executive.

The Numeral Society will hold a meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 118 Chemistry Building to nominate pledges and to consider other important business. All members are urged to attend.

Groundbreaking

of the most modern campuses in the South. New buildings don't make a school necessarily good, however. It takes good professors, hard work and many other factors relating to the school. The students of Clemson should certainly come out in force to show their appreciation for this magnificent gift of the Olin Foundation. This will not be a very big thing to ask since almost every student will be here for the football game between North Carolina and Clemson.

Physical Plant Division Performs Many Services

By JAMES C. TOBIAS
TIGER Staff Writer

This past summer Clemson underwent a major overhaul of its streets and parking facilities. The Physical Plant Division re-surfaced practically every street on the campus. A section of Perimeter Road was leveled, regraded and re-routed closer to the new Structural Science Building. Calhoun Circle, which runs between the Calhoun Mansion and the new dormitories, was ripped up and errors in the foundation were adjusted. The circle was re-surfaced and is to be surfaced again before completion.

The senior parking lot and the adjoining student parking lot are to be enlarged. The enlarged parking lot will extend from Calhoun Circle to Perimeter Road, and will be completely surfaced with asphalt. Mr. D. J. Watson, Director of the Physical Plant, stated that Clemson has one of the best arrangements for parking facilities. Several colleges do not permit freshmen students to bring automobiles with them. Some of the parking regulations are as follows:

(1) All graduate and undergraduate students are required to register their automobiles.

(2) Students selling their automobiles, graduating, or leaving school are requested to remove registration stickers.
(3) Dormitory students are prohibited from driving to and from classes.
(4) Parking by white curbs other than limited time zones, by yellow curbs, on grass, or in other unauthorized areas is prohibited.
(5) Violations will be fined $2.00 for each violation. Fines which are unpaid after six days will be doubled.

The Physical Plant cares for over 150 acres of grass lawns, trees and shrubbery on the campus. It is estimated that they use seven tons of rye grass seed in one year. The plant also removes dead and rotten trees; these trees are replaced by new trees. These new trees are selected from the white oak, water oak, judas, and maple trees, because of their long life and freedom from disease. Among other things the Physical Plant has a camellia test garden where they grow and cultivate these beautiful flowers.

The Physical Plant employs over 200 men whose job it is to keep the Clemson campus clean. One of the important jobs is keeping the campus free of unsightly paper cups and other paper debris. If Clemson students would use the trash cans which are made available to them, it would make someone's job much easier. These trash buckets are painted orange and purple so that you have no excuse to miss seeing them. Mr. Watson said that if every student would be a little more careful about where they throw their trash and wastes, Clemson would be a more beautiful campus than it is now.

He also added that it has been said that "Cornell University, University of Wisconsin, and Clemson have the prettiest campuses in the country."

Admission Tests For Law Schools To Be Given

The Law School Admission Test required for admission to a number of law schools throughout the United States will be given at more than 100 centers the mornings of Nov. 8, Feb. 21, April 18 and Aug. 1, all in 1959.

This test, prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service, features objective questions measuring verbal aptitudes and reasoning ability rather than acquired information, and therefore cannot be "crammed" for.

Another examination, the Graduate Record Examination, required for admission to a number of graduate schools, will be administered at examination centers throughout the country four times in the coming year. They will be given on Nov. 15, 1958, Jan. 17, April 25 and July 11, all in 1959.

These GRE tests include a test of general scholastic ability and advance level tests of achievement in sixteen different subject matters according to ETS, candidates are permitted to take the aptitude test and/or one of the advanced tests.

A Bulletin of Information, which includes applications, may be obtained from college advisors or directly from Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, N. J., or P. O. Box 27896, Los Angeles 27, Calif. weeks in advance of the desired testing date in order to allow ETS time to complete the necessary testing arrangements.

COL. C. B. THOMPSON

New PAS Likes Clemson, Boosts AFROTC Program

By ED GETTYS
Tiger Associate Editor

A momentarily unfamiliar face is in evidence in the Air Force ROTC detachment here; it is that of the new Professor of Air Science, Col. Claude B. Thompson. Col. Thompson is replacing Col. Lloyd H. Tull who is retiring from duty. Born in Camden, Ala., Col. Thompson received his primary education in the public schools system there. He attended Auburn and graduated with a B.S. degree in education in 1932. This did not end his experiences in education; on the contrary, he has been affiliated with educational services throughout his career. After graduation Col. Thompson taught in two Alabama high schools, serving also as football and basketball coach.

Active duty changed his location but not his field of interest. He was an instructor at the Officer Candidate School at Fort Belvoir, Va. He also taught at the Advanced Engineers' Battalion in Orlando, Fla.

Overseas duty includes service in Africa and the Middle East during World War II and as chief of construction of the Third Air Force in London during the period 1951-54. Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio was the site of his last tour of duty before coming to Clemson. There Col. Thompson was deputy commander of the Air Force Institute of Technology which is a fully accredited institution.

The former Miss Annie Lee Moore, also of Camden (not his high school sweetheart), is Col. Thompson's wife. They have three sons - William, a pre-med student here at Clemson; Frank, who is attending Daniels High; and 5½ year-old Claude Jr. The Thompsons reside at 117 Mitchell Drive here.

Col. Thompson feels that the Air Force offers scientific young men unlimited opportunities. Since 70-80 percent of future leaders are taken from the ROTC, he plans to vitalize the Air Science instruction in all four years. Col. Thompson believes, "The Air Force offers as much or more than industry, especially in the scientific field. Certainly the pay scales compare favorably."

One interesting fact that Col. Thompson calls attention to is that his grandfather lived in the same town that produced the fabulous Frank Howard. Clemson, the college and the town have made a very favorable impression upon Col. Thompson. He feels that the atmosphere here approaches that of the model college community. We join with the Thompsons in the hope that their stay will be long and pleasant.

Bengal Eleven Pitted Against UNC In ACC Headliner

Howard Seeks First Victory Over Tatum

We Pick 'Em

By TOM GLENN

Coach Frank Howard will send his season's once victorious Bengal Brigade over the new Clemson Banner at 2 p.m. Saturday as he seeks to down the University of North Carolina and thus credit his 100th victory here at Clemson College. Also, Howard will be after his first victory over Tar Heel Coach "Sunny" Jim Tatum.

Coach Howard has battled a Tatum-coached team four times and has not come out with a victory yet. Three of those losses were incurred against the Maryland Terps. Last year Tatum's unpredictable Tar Heels upset the sophomore loaded Tigers by a 26-0 score.

The stage for this year's Tar Heel-Tiger battle is similar to last year's. The 'Chapel Hill boys' were upset last year by ACC (dark horse) North Carolina State, and the Tigers ran off with a 66-0 victory over outmanned Presbyterian. Last week the N. C. State Wolfpack again downed the Tar Heels, and Clemson squeaked out a 20-15 victory over the spirited Virginia Cavaliers. According to Coach Howard the Tar Heels will really put in some hard work preparing for this week's game. The Tigers also have some work ahead of them. Howard went on to say that the Tiger "fangs" need to be sharpened against pass defense.

The sell-out crowd of almost 38,000 will see "Sunny Jim" lead a big experienced team of twenty-one lettermen into "Death Valley." Leading the N. C. crowd will be All-ACC tackle Phil Blazer, who is definitely labeled for post-season honors. Blazer, a 224-pounder from Whitaker, Pennsylvania, will serve as captain. Don Redding, the other starting tackle, was injured in last week's game and will probably see limited action.

The Carolina forward wall is an aggressive, fast, hard-hitting unit made up of five seniors and two newcomers. Al Goldstein, Don Kemper and Mac Turlington will lead the Tar Heel flankmen with some help expected from transfer John Schroeder. Besides Blazer, the tackle post is well taken care of by lettermen Don Stallings, Ralph Steele and Don Redding. Redding, who was injured in last week's game may see only limited action. There is some weakness at the guard slot with only two men returning with experience. However Jack Lineberger and Fred Swearingin are quite capable at this position. Jim Davis and Ronnie Koes will lead the centers.

Six-two Jack Cummings heads up an explosive all-around backfield blessed with speedy, pass catching halfbacks and bulldozing fullbacks. There's little to choose between line-spreaders Don Coker, Ed Lipski and Bob Shupin. Lettermen all, and experienced ground-eaters Jim Schuler, Emil DeCantis, Daley Goff and Wade Smith. Probably the most outstanding back is Cummings, a junior, who is a brilliant passer and long distance kicker. Tatum rates the 183-pounder as a definite professional prospect.

Lost from last year's outstanding Tar Heel team will be quarterback Jim Reed, all conference end Buddy Payne, tackle Leo Russavage, guard Hap Setzer, and center Jim Jones.

The Tigers, who apparently present a very powerful team, are ranked 13th in the nation this week by Dick Dunkel's dubious Power Index chart. Last Saturday Howard saw his "Country Gentlemen" take the opening kick-off and start a drive that almost resulted in a quick touchdown. About five plays later Virginia had scored and led Clemson 7-0. From then until the opening minutes of the fourth period, the Tiger headmentor wore a worried expression on his face. The famed Tiger backfield rushed for an amazing total of 384 yards. George Usry, Doug Cline, Harvey White, Sonny Quesenberry and Rudy Hayes were the leading ground gainers of Clemson.

The starting line-up for the Tigers will feature only one change. End Jack Webb suffered torn cartilage in his knee and will miss the rest of the season. Webb, a 215 pound junior from Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, will be sorely missed at the flank position. Senior end Wyatt Cox will probably be promoted from the second team to fill this vacancy. Rae Masneri will be at the other end post. At tackle, Lou Cordileone and Jim Padgett will again start this week. Jim Payne and Dave Olson, the only sophomore on the first team, will handle yeoman duties. Captain Bill Thomas will man the pivot spot.

The explosive backfield will be made up of seniors Rudy Hayes, alternate captain, at fullback and Charlie Horne at right-half and juniors Harvey White at quarterback and George Usry at left-half. Usry was the leading rusher with 85 yards in 10 carries.

One advantage for the Bengals this year, is that they have been tested and have proven themselves worthy. The Tigers and the colorful Baron of Barlow Bend will be ready for the North Carolina eleven this Saturday.

Tankmen Need Several More Additions

Shortly after thanksgiving, the 1958 Clemson Tiger Swimming Team will begin practice. Coach Carl McHugh expects the following 1957 lettermen to return; Eric Philpott, who is captain of the tankmen, Bobby Petty, Henry Longest, Alan Elmore, Mac McCahan, and Hans Trupp.

Several promising freshmen are coming up with the varsity this year; among them are Waldo Phinney, a great diving prospect, Joe Vaccaro, Sheldon Strickland, Carl Quante, Mike Jenkins, Ed Sutherland, and a pair of identical twins, Colvin and Marvin O'Donnell. The team expects this group of swimmers to be the best ever assembled at Clemson, and one of the top teams in the conference.

Swimming in the 400 yard medley relay will be Willy Nickles, a holdover from the 1956 team who was ineligible last year, the two O'Donnells, and Carl Quante. The 220 yard freestyle event will be swam by Alan Elmore, Sheldon Strickland, and Joe Vaccaro. Swimming the 60 yard freestyle will be Eric Philpott and Mac McCahan.

On the boards, doing the Tiger diving will be Bobby Petty and Waldo Phinney. Captain Philpott and Marvin O'Donnell will swim the 200 yard butterfly, an event in which the tankmen promise to be strong. McCahan and Quante should score plenty of points for the team in the 100

As you Clemson men might know, this coming Saturday marks a milestone in our coaches career. Frank Howard will be gunning for his one-hundredth victory, and more important, his first victory over Jim Tatum. "Ty-rant" Tatum has boasted that Coach Howard will never defeat a Tatum-coached team. Let's make sure that this Saturday he will be on the short end of the score at the sound of the final gun in Death Valley.

We hope that all of you noticed the two new additions to the cheering squad. They are Nancy Edwards and Judy DeLoach, freshmen co-eds from Clemson. Both Nancy and Judy come to us from Daniel High School where they were Cheerleaders.

Also new to the squad is Bill McCown, the Tiger, from Darlington, Eddie Gallup, the Country Gentleman, from Sumter, and Buddy Putman, Cannon-firer, from Gastonia.

This Saturday a new tradition will be unveiled at game-time. We have been honored with a new flag to bring the Tigers on the field and on to victory. This flag will represent the Clemson College Tigers only and not the whole south.

Let's start the week-end off right by having a fabulous pep rally. It will be in the quadrangle immediately following supper tonight. Let's turn out at the pep rally and at the game in high spirits to defeat those Damn Tar-heels. "Cremate Tatum in Death Valley" is the goal for the week-end.

PEP RALLY

Head cheerleader Tony Vickers will announce the exact time for this evening's pep rally over the public address system in the dining hall. It will be held on the upper quadrangle instead of the amphitheatre. The "rats" will follow the usual procedures.

yard freestyle event. Henry Longest and Colvin O'Donnell will give a strong punch in the 200 yard backstroke.

Eric Philpott will team with Willy Nickles in the 200 yard breaststroke. Elmore, Quante, Vaccaro, and Mac McCahan will swim the 400 yard freestyle relay. Coach McHugh welcomes all candidates and hopes that more men will respond to his call; a shortage of manpower has been the main problem of the team, and the reason is not understandable since swimming is a major sport and awards block letters to qualified members.

During the 1958 season, the tankmen need the support of the student body, and with the right kind of support the team promises to give everyone a race for their money.

Hayes Leads Fullbacks This Year

Meet Rudy Hayes, alternate captain of the 1958 edition of the Clemson Tigers' football team. Rudy hauls from nearby Pickens, S. C., and he packs 215-lbs. on a six-foot frame.

He gained recognition as an outstanding high school star, being named All-State three consecutive years. During his high school career he led his team to one state championship and a runners-up title, playing halfback on offense and tackle on defense.

Rudy was outstanding as a freshman at Clemson in 1955, being the leading ball-carrier on Coach McMillan's frosh eleven from his halfback position. When he came up to the varsity in 1956, he was shifted to fullback; and soon earned himself a post on the starting team.

During his sophomore year he lived up to all expectations, becoming one of the mainstays of the team on offense and defense. Against Virginia Tech he intercepted a pass and returned it seventy-seven yards to the Tech five before he was dropped from behind. He was a starter on Clemson's last Orange Bowl team, which played such a magnificent game against The University of Colorado.

Action In Virginia Game

This past weekend the Tigermen had their hands full as they took on an unexpectedly strong Virginia team. In the upper picture, Quarterback Lowndes Shingler (12) from Clemson is shown rounding his own right end for a short gain. Virginia's wingback Sonny Randle (22) is being blocked by Tiger Sonny Quesenberry (25), while an unidentified Virginia player moves in on the ball carrier. In the lower left-hand picture Cavalier Jimmy Roberson (44) chases Quesenberry from behind. In the right-hand corner Charlie Horne (21), Clemson right halfback, is tackled by another unidentified Cavalier. John Barger (34) and Frank Call (68) are the other two Virginia players.

Tigers Come From Behind - Win First

By JOE DEMPSEY AND BILL COOPER

The Clemson Tiger's 1958 football team opened their season in spacious Memorial Stadium before a crowd of 20,000 with a hard fought 20 to 15 win over the upstart Cavaliers of Virginia.

After the unveiling of the huge banner given Clemson by the Wunda Weave corporation, the Tigers won the toss and elected to receive.

The Cavaliers held, and on the first play from scrimmage, quarterback Reece Whitley threw a 45 yard pass to halfback Ulmo Randle, and five plays later the visitors had a touchdown. End Bob Williams kicked the extra point, and the Cavs led 7 to 0.

In the second quarter, Pogo Usry and Harvey White led the Tigers on a 70 yard touchdown drive which saw Usry go over from eight yards out; the Tigs tried for two points, but White fell just short. The half came first three games due to injuries. Rudy came back strong to finish as the Tigers' third leading ball-carrier. He picked up 280 yards in 54 attempts for a 5.2 average. He became known as one of the most dependable backs on the squad, a power runner who can be called upon to pick up three or four yards anytime. The Duke game was perhaps his finest last year. All afternoon the big 215-lb. human bulldozer ripped up the big Blue Devil line, his longest run being one of thirty-eight yards.

Rudy is married to his former high school sweetheart, and they are the parents of a girl. He is now in his final year of eligibility at Clemson, and Tiger fans are looking for him to continue his fine play on the gridiron.

to a close with the Tigers on the short end of a 7 to 6 score.

Early in the third period, the Bengal's sophomore quarterback, Lowndes Shingler, led the second unit 60 yards for a touchdown, and then added two points on a neat run, making the score 14 to 7. Then Whitley, the aerialist, again took to the airwaves and hit Randle with another strike for a touchdown. Trailing by a point, Whitley went for the two points, hitting Randle and giving the Cavaliers a 15 to 14 lead.

The second unit, led by the running of fullback Doug Cline, then marched 91 yards for a touchdown with halfback Bill Mathis going over from the four. A placement try for the point was blocked, leaving the score 20 to 15. The rest of the game the Tigers dug in and held Virginia scoreless to notch Coach Howard's 99th career win.

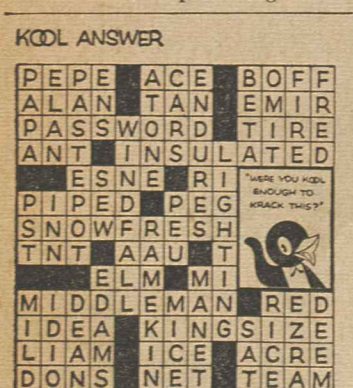

Doug Cline was the leading rusher with 98 yards, followed closely by Pogo Usry with 85. The Bengals total rushing yardage was an impressive 384 yards, but they netted only 44 yards in the air.

Coach Frank Howard said he thought his club would improve, also the coaching staff knew little about the Virginia offense since this was the opening game and they had no time to scout the Cavaliers.

Usry And Cline Are Leading Groundgainers

Last Saturday afternoon when the Tigers of Clemson took to the field against the Cavaliers from Virginia was the beginning of one of the most difficult seasons to ever face the Country Gentlemen in many years. All over the country it was a day for the unexpected and some of what was expected. The Tigers were able to hold back the fighting Virginians and win what turned out to be a most exciting "free-for-all."

Lowndes Shingler made a very impressive debut in his first collegiate game for Clemson. In his pilot position of the second team he gained twenty-three yards in only six tries. He was able to complete two out of four passes for seventeen yards and intercepted one pass from the Cavaliers to help the Tigers.

By RICHARD SHICK What Is School Spirit?

"Just what constitutes school spirit and where does this spirit end and vandalism and dishonor begin?" is a question that confronts the majority of the freshmen class here at Clemson. Last week before the Virginia game the rats exhibited both of these types of spirit.

Tuesday night the rats demonstrated one of the most impressive impromptu pep rallies ever given on our campus. Some unidentified upperclassmen, whose actions are to be commended, kindled the fire in a few rats to start a parade of orange rat hats around the main quadrangle. From there they continued their march to various other parts of the campus.

But after this exposition of true Clemson school spirit which lasted a good two hours—several of the comrades in ranks, which had grown in size since its initial start, decided that their performances should be given on various other campuses.

So, they proceeded to gas up their jalopies and journey down the roads to Anderson and Greenville. This is where good clean-cut manifestation of school spirit ended and they now became vandals, who could only bring dishonor to Clemson and Clemson men.

We don't know just what is to blame for this action—the influence of some few upperclassmen or the excitement of a few high school Harries who had not yet made the transition from high school to college.

Whether you freshmen know it or not, anyone found on the campus of another school with the primary intent of property destruction and vandalism will be immediately expelled from school. But some of the freshmen and upperclassmen who still act as if they were rats will continue to bring dishonor to Tigermen until one or two nonbelievers are given their traveling papers.

Fellow Clemson men, let me impress upon you that the State Legislature was not joking when they passed this ruling and you are expected to abide by it.

Several of the Clemson students may think that this sounds childish but it rests entirely upon your shoulders, since some students are not capable of conducting themselves in the manner of a Country Gentlemen.

In passing let us just mention one more point—the incident in the dining hall last week. Several rats, acting like pigs instead of gentlemen, thought it would be ingenious to douse several of our upperclassmen with some of the college's iced tea. We have only one question to ask, "Would you do this if you were eating at home?"

Head Football Coach Frank Howard at the Virginia Pep Rally aptly summed up our conclusion. He said, "When you are here at Clemson eating in dining hall, you should act like the Country Gentlemen that you are supposed to be. You should be the same gentlemen that you are at home."

Congratulations!

The Athletic Department wishes to congratulate the entire student body for the orderly fashion in which they obtained their tickets for the Virginia game last week. The way in which the students kept the abbreviated schedule from turning into utter chaos is highly commended by those connected with the ticket office in the field house.

Baby Bengals Open Season In Athens

The Clemson freshman football team, under the guidance of Coach Covington "Goat" McMillian, plays the first of a five-game schedule Friday afternoon against Georgia's Bulldogs.

The Cubs have been working hard for three weeks, and are in high spirits for the game. Assistant Coach Wade says the probable starters will be: LE Gary Barnes, 195; LT Jim Lewis, 225; LG Pete Andreozzi, 195; C Lon Armstrong, 210; RG Tommy Gue, 190; RT Earl Horton, 205; RE Billy Lyons, 180; QB Truman Burton, 175; LHB Jimmy Hardwick, 170; RHB Wendell Black, 180; and FB Ronald Serudato, 185.

Not much is known about the Bulldogs except that they have several boys that played in the Georgia All-Star game.

We know our "Rats" will give a good account of themselves this week-end, and will have a successful season this year.

ADULT CLASSES TO BEGIN
Adult classes in shorthand and typing will begin at Daniel High School October 14. Classes will meet twice a week on Tuesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. There will be a typing fee of $3.00 and books will be obtained on a rental basis; there will be no other charges. These classes are given in the interest of adult education and all interested persons are urged to attend.

One Down, Ten To Go!

Defending ACC Champs Begin Fall Baseball Practice Sessions

The 1958-59 Bengal baseball team, champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference and NCAA District Three, opened their fall practice sessions last week. Some 45 players, including both varsity and freshmen, turned out for the sessions which are attended on a voluntary basis.

Action in practice, up to the present, has included sprinting, batting practice, and other routine assignments to help loosen the players up and get them back into top shape. Coach Bill Wilhelm disclosed that it will take about a week of these "conditioning practices" before he will begin to work on the fine points of the boys games.

Wilhelm claimed that he will have at least ten of the fifteen players that made the trip to Omaha back for the spring season and hopes to carry about eighteen strong players on the Bengal squad. Outstanding players lost from last years squad include shortstop Bud Spiers, and outfielders Larry Wilson and Gus Abbott.

However, several outstanding sophomores from last years freshman team will be on hand to replace any vacancies in the depth of the Tiger lineup. John Ivester will be the probable replacement at shortstop along with Dick Suggs in the outfield. The addition of Tyrone Cline to the Tiger pitching staff will probably make the strongest pitching depth a Bengal team has ever claimed. Also, it might not be a surprise to see Cline as a regular outfielder.

Another big aid to the Clemson pitching ranks will probably be David Sprouse, a sophomore who was unable to play freshman ball last year because of a conflicting schedule. Wilhelm states that he hopes Sprouse who at the present is showing much potential, will be one of the better pitchers on the Bengal team.

Intramural Program Begins Next Week

By BILL WILHELM
Intramural Director

Listed below is the general information concerning the 1958-59 Intramural Athletics Program including the changes in structure and conduct designed to improve the overall program for all those who participate.

A. A large bulletin board will be posted just outside the dining room. This board will be devoted entirely to intramural to news concerning this program. The dining hall public address system and the Tiger were ineffective as a means of communication between the Intramural Office and the students, and it is hoped that this new bulletin board will bridge that gap.

B. A major change in the program this year is the complete separation of the activities into individual-dual and team participation. The team sports are touch football, basketball, volleyball, and softball. All other activities are conducted on an all-campus basis, that is the individual or doubles in some cases will be recognized as intramural champion.

C. Another major change in the organization concerns the limit on team subs. There is a maximum number that can be filed on a team roster. However, it is still possible for any group to enter a team. The intramural department encourages any club or organization to enter a team. This rule also limits the number of varsity players on one roster to three. It is hoped that this rule will encourage closer relationship between the students and the varsity athletes.

D. Touch football begins much later this year for two reasons. The first is due to the warm weather. It is believed that swimming, tennis, track, and cross-country will draw more participation if conducted first. Second, the varsity coaches of these sports plan to scout these phases of the program in hope of finding some outstanding performers for their teams.

E. The first event to be open voted most valuable player on the team by home fans.

Other Bengal players—Bagwell, Burnett, Bristol, and DeBerry also played and hit consistently during the summer.

As for the outlook for the spring season Coach Wilhelm predicts that the Bengal nine will be even stronger than the 1958 champs. However, he also warns that UNC, Duke, and State will also have improved squads.

to students is swimming. Any student interested in entering the swimming events must report to the Y. M. C. A. pool on September 30. In the tennis program filing of entry is required. Entries will be accepted up to 6:00 p.m. on Monday, September 29. On this date team pairing for both the doubles and singles will be made.

Intramural Calendar for September and October:

Swimming (Individual) — Sept. 30—Final, Oct. 2.

Tennis (Singles and doubles)—Sept. 29—Final, Oct. 10.

Cross-country (Individual) — Oct. 8—Final, Oct. 8.

Track (Individual)—Oct. 13 — Final, Oct. 15.

Touch football (Team)—Oct. 18 —Final, Nov. 14.

Howard Expounds On Virginia Game

I thought for the most part we looked sluggish, but I guess that is to be expected in the first game. Also, we didn't know too much about Virginia's offense. The only time we got to look at them was in their spring game, and things have been changed quite a bit since then.

Lowndes Shingler, Doug Cline and George Ury played a good game for us but there are a lot of things that have to be corrected and improved on. There isn't a chance to keep up with those pre-season ratings with a couple more games like today. However, I'm pretty sure we'll get better.

Coach Voris has a fine group of boys and they really played their hearts out. They have some mighty fine players and with a little depth here and there could spell trouble for the rest of their opponents this season.

Fred V. Tweed Leaves For Europe

New York (Special to the Tiger)—Fabulous Fred Tweed, the perfect Clemson man, will leave on his world tour Friday night from Pier 69 at New York harbor. Tuesday night, Tweed telephoned the to a minute account of his activities since leaving Clemson last week.

Fred was in New York City for several days before leaving for Newport, Rhode Island, where he witnessed the America's Cup yacht races. Tweed is contemplating buying a 12-meter yacht modeled after the United States entry, the Columbia. This beautiful and lighting fast yacht is of a special racing design and costs approximately $400,000 to build.

Tweed was accompanied to Rhode Island by Crown Prince Rodolfo of Baroda. They were both staying at the Park-Sheraton and met when Tweed spilled a drink on the prince's dinner jacket. The Prince and Tweed viewed the race from Fred's present yacht, The Valiant Bengal. When Tweed and the Prince returned to New York, they were honored at luncheon of the International Adventure Club.

Tweed and the prince then attended the hit play, "Two for the Seesaw"; afterwards, the adventurers journeyed over to Birdland to quench their thirst. While at Birdland, Fred met an entire Bumble Puppy team from the University of Nova Scotia. Tweed said the Scotties from U. N. S. had a terrific crew-race squad and were unbeaten all night.

Fred leaves New York tomorrow on the United States Lines' beautiful and fast SS United States for Europe. The first leg of his trip around the globe will begin in England. The TIGER will bring you Fred Tweed's exploits from the British Isles next issue.

Campus Character

JOE FOX

Joe Fox Has Best Interests Of Clemson College At Heart

By BEN ESTES
TIGER Feature Writer

Our student body is very fortunate indeed to have as its president Joe Fox, a graduating senior in textile chemistry. Joe has faithfully shown his interest in the student body of Clemson throughout his college life.

During Joe's sophomore year he was chosen as a representative for the student assembly. In addition, during the same year, he was assistant campus coordinator for National Student Association.

Joe's interest in student government grew and was finally rewarded—in his junior year he was elected campus coordinator for National Student Association. During the year he represented Clemson at three regional conferences for this organization.

His deep interest for participation in student government has stayed with him; for last summer he attended National Student Body President's Conference in Delaware.

"The role of the student government," he said, "is to increase the intellectual values of the college and also to deal with the social problems of a college community so that the students would be as free as possible from administrative supervision."

He says this concept can not be too highly stressed. "Student government is the responsibility not only of the elected student leaders but also of every member of the student body."

Joe is from Inman, and graduated from high school there. Last year he was assistant advertising manager of Bobin and Beaker, and this year he is the organization's advertising manager. Also, Joe is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, the Wesley Foundation and the Executive Sergeants. A distinguished military student, Joe has obtained the post of S-4 in the 2nd Battalion of Army R.O.T.C. here at Clemson.

His future plans are undecided but he will very likely either do graduate work here at Clemson or enter law school. We at Clemson thank Joe for sharing his interest by helping people to solve problems that are basic to every college campus.

The purpose of the Kappa Cast (Clemson Chapter) of Alpha Psi Omega is to promote dramatics on the campus through The Little Theater and to honor those who have done so. Membership in the group is based on interest in dramatics, past dramatic experiences, and activities carried out as a pledge of the group. Pledgeships will be considered in the near future.

Officers of the group include Glenn McGee, president, Allen Marshall, vice-president, and Elizabeth Booker, secretary.

Prospective Graduates Urged To Get Interviews

This year the Student Placement office has reminded all prospective 1959 BS and MS Graduates that company literature will be available in the Placement Library on the second floor of the student center. This literature will be available two weeks before recruiting visits.

Personal interviews may be scheduled then, by those students which the companies request. Notice that not only prospective graduates may be interested but also students seeking summer jobs.

Read the literature first, then schedule interviews and make notes, in order to meet appointments promptly with required forms. In case of serious emergencies, notify Placement Office to cancel scheduled appointments. Interview room assignments for Representatives will be posted outside the Placement Library weekly. Copies of recruiters' schedules will be posted outside assigned meeting rooms and on various bulletin boards around the campus. Students may arrange with Representatives for interview during vacant periods, if they have time. The TIGER will also carry a tentative schedule from time to time.

During Student Center interview visits, Company Representatives will eat in the College Dining Hall at noon. Then at 12:30 p.m. all interested students may attend Company briefings in assigned meeting rooms, before going to 1 p.m. classes. Interview schedules will indicate when those students who sign up for personal interviews are expected to attend these briefings, or any other group meeting the company requests. Prompt replies to all employer communications are expected, until those agencies contacted are informed of no further interest.

Prospective graduates are reminded to fill out their data sheet completely because it will go into their permanent student folder upon graduation. It will be used for faculty reference and selection for honors, awards, etc. Fifty copies of the data sheet will be multiplied FREE for campus interviews, when company forms are not required and for other similar contacts.

Also upon turning in his data sheet, each senior will receive a College Placement Annual for 1959. This annual, a new thing on the campus, contains an index of some 1600 companies and agencies not to be represented on the Clem-

CDA Asks For Accomodations

By JIMMY YOUNGBLOOD
TIGER Staff Writer

Due to the crowded conditions at Clemson resulting from the record enrollment, rooms in the sixth barracks will no longer be available for housing students' dates attending the Rat Hop and Homecoming Dance.

It is possible, however, that the barracks may be opened second semester. Since students must now go over 30 miles to find accommodations, the Central Dance Association asks the people of the community of Clemson to make any extra room available to the dates of the students this weekend and Homecoming weekend.

Anyone willing to house one of the girls is asked to notify either Mrs. Albert of the Student Affairs Office or Coker Garrison in Room 5-229.

Livestock Judging Team Attends Fair

Clemson's 1958-59 livestock judging team is attending the 16-college weekend competition at the annual Mid-South Fair held in Memphis, Tenn.

A squad of seven animal husbandry seniors entered under the direction of Coach Dale Handlin. They are Robert F. Breland of Cottageville, James E. Goff of Saluda, Tommy LeMaster of Gaffney, Tom Sandifer of York, Todd Arant of Bowman, Richard Neal of Silverstreet and J. K. Lovell of Marion.

The Clemson team, which finished eighth last year, warmed up for the traditional opening contest with a practice trip in the state last week. Classes were provided for the team members at Ninety-Six Hereford Farm, Four-Oaks Berkshire Farm at Lexington; White Plains Short-horn Farm at Cross Hill; Covington and Smith Poll Hereford Farm at North; Caw Caw Plantation (Herefords) at Orangeburg; Mossdale Poland China Farm at Camden and Tindal Duvoc Farm at Pinewood.

HOW GREEN WAS MY CAMPUS

Don't tell me: I know how busy you've been! I know all the things you've had to do in the opening days of the school year—registering, paying fees, finding lodgings, entering a drag race, getting married, building a cage for your raccoon. But now, with all these essentials out of the way, let us pause and join hands and take, for the first time, a long, leisurely look at our campus.

Ready? Let's go!

We begin our tour over here on this lovely stretch of green-sward called The Mall. The Mall, as we all know, was named in honor of our distinguished alumnus Fred Mall, inventor of the opposing thumb. Before Mr. Mall's invention, the thumb could not be pressed or clicked against the other fingers. As a result, millions of castanet makers were out of work. Today however, thanks to Mr. Mall, one out of every three Americans is gainfully employed making castanets. (The other two make croquet wickets.) Mr. Mall is now 106 years old and living in seclusion on a sea cliff in Wellington, Kansas, but the old gentleman is far from idle. He still works twelve hours a day in his laboratory, and in the last year has invented the tuna, the cuticle, and lint.

But I digress. Let us resume our tour. At the end of The Mall we see a handsome edifice called The Library. Here books are kept. By "kept" I mean "kept." There is no way in the world for you to get a book out of the library...No, I'm wrong. If you have a stack permit you can take out a book, but stack permits are issued only to widows of Presidents of the United States. (That lady you see coming out of the library with a copy of Girl of the Limberlost is Mrs. Millard Fillmore.)

Next to The Library we see the Administration Building. Here one finds the president of the university, the deans, and the registrar. According to ancient academic usage, the president is always called "Prexy." Similarly, the deans are called "Dixie," and the registrar is called "Roxy." Professors are called "Proxy," and housemothers are called "Hoxy-Moxy." Students are called "Algae."

Diagonally across The Mall we see the Students Union. It is a gay, mad place, frankly dedicated to the fun and relaxation of we undergraduates. Here we undergraduates may enjoy ourselves in one of two ways—with filter or without. We undergraduates who prefer filters, prefer Marlboro, of course. Oh, what a piece of work is Marlboro! The filter filters, the taste is smooth but not skimpy, mild but not meagre.

We undergraduates who prefer non-filters, prefer Philip Morris, of course. It is a natural smoke, a clean smoke, a flavorful, zestful, pure and peaceful smoke...Now hear this: Philip Morris and Marlboro each come in a choice of two packs—crushproof Flip-Top Box or the familiar Soft Pack.

So now, as the setting sun casts a fiery aura over the spires and battlements of our beloved campus, let us hie ourselves to our tobaccoist's and lay in a night's supply of Marlboro or Philip Morris, and then let us, lowing, wind slowly o'er the lea to our dormitories and sit upon our army surplus coats, spent but content, and smoke and dream and hark the curfew toll the knell of parting day. Aloha, fair campus, aloha!

For a complete tour of smoking pleasure try filtered Marlboro and non-filtered Philip Morris, whose makers take pleasure in bringing you this column throughout the school year.
