Miss Tigerama Finalists Announced; Elections Soon

Last Monday night seven finalists in the Miss Tigerama contest were announced. These girls will be voted on by the student body before the final selection is made. The finalists are: top row (left to right), Miss Nancy Bonnette, architecture sophomore from North; Miss Margaret Hoover, architecture freshman from Cheraw; Miss Nancy Edwards, arts and science sophomore from Clemson; Miss Wilma Bonham, education freshman from Chesnee; Miss Anne Sherman, education freshman from Clemson; Miss Joan Miller, arts and science freshman from Walhalla; and Miss Joan Goebel, arts and science freshman from Clemson.

Seven Finalists Compete For Miss Tigerama; Student Elections Scheduled For October 15th

Student body elections for Miss Tigerama 1959-60 will be held on Oct. 15 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. according to Frank Sutherland, chairman of Miss Tigerama contest.

The seven finalists for Miss Tigerama were announced Monday evening by Sutherland. These girls are Nancy Bonnette, sophomore Architecture student from North; Nancy Edwards, sophomore Arts and Sciences major from Clemson; Wilma Bonham, first year Education major from Chesnee.

Also, Joan Miller, freshman from Walhalla, majoring in Education; Joan Goebel, freshman Arts and Sciences major from Clemson; Anne Sherman, Education freshman from Clemson; and Margaret Hoover, first year Architecture student from Cheraw.

The Interviewing Committee — Bob Boles, Director of Tigerama; Luther Bigby, Assistant Director of Tigerama; and Barbara Dillard, Miss Tigerama 1958-59 — interviewed 22 coeds from all classes.

Interviews were held in the itors' Lounge the past two Monday afternoons. Girls were judged strictly on interviews according to Sutherland.

From the interviews, girls were judged on looks and appearance, personality, poise and answers to questions asked by the Committee.

Portraits of the seven finalists will be on display on the Loggia next week prior to student body elections. Miss Tigerama will be announced in the Nov. 6 issue of The Tiger.

Miss Tigerama will reign over the student production to be presented in Memorial Stadium Friday night, Nov. 13. Tigerama will be the first of several highlights of Homecoming 1959.

The first Miss Tigerama was Diane Austin of Decatur. The student spectacular was inaugurated in 1957 and was attended by several thousand people.

Also included in the Homecoming weekend will be two dances, one on Friday night following Tigerama and the other Saturday evening. The Tigers of Clemson and the Maryland Terrapins will provide the afternoon entertainment on Saturday.

The Homecoming Queen will be chosen during the Friday dance and will be presented to the Clemson students at the football game. She will ride on a float made by Numeral Society. This float will be the fourth homecoming float prepared by the organization.

More detailed plans for the week-end will be announced later.

Present Enrollment Sets Record High; Reduction In Excluded Students Noted

With the completion of registration for the current semester record highs have been recorded for total enrollment, new student enrollment and enrollment of women.

Presently enrolled are 3889 students, an increase of 96 over the 3793 enrolled a year ago. This figure of 3889 exceeds by 529 the post-World War II peak of 3360 reached in September, 1949, and is 1199 or 45 per cent higher than the post-war low of 2690 recorded in September, 1954.

Not only is this the largest enrollment at Clemson, but it is also the largest new student class ever enrolled. The present new student enrollment is 1201 which compares with 1193 enrolled a year ago and with 1085 enrolled in September, 1957.

A distribution of the enrollment by schools for this year is Agriculture - 579; Architecture - 179; Arts and Sciences - 1001; Engineering - 1679; Textiles - 262; Graduates - 146; and Post-Graduates and unclassified - 43.

98 Women Enrolled

Ninety-eight women are enrolled at Clemson this semester. This is the largest number of women enrolled since undergraduate women were first admitted in February, 1955, and is 19 greater than the

Unused Ticket Policy For Big Thursday Given

Students not planning to use their Clemson-Carolina tickets were requested to turn in their ticket receipts at the Field House before 4:30 p.m., October 20.

The request was made by H. C. McClellan, assistant business manager of the Athletic Department.

The tickets turned in will be distributed to members of the various classes by their respective class officers for use as date tickets. The junior class will receive the greatest number, the sophomores an intermediate number, and the freshmen the smallest number.

Anyone who does not claim his ticket Big Thursday will lose the privilege of obtaining a date ticket for any Clemson-Carolina game while he is at Clemson.

Also, he will be given bottom priority for any game for which the student demand for tickets exceeds the number allotted, as in a bowl game.

Only an excuse acceptable to the Dean of Student Affairs as legitimate will release the student from the above penalties.

McClellan reminded the students that the Clemson-Carolina tickets are not paid for by the Student Activities Fee, but previous high of 79 enrolled second semester 1958-1959.

There has also been a decided increase in the per cent of women enrolled as full-time students. This semester 77 women or 79 per cent are enrolled as full-time students.

A distribution of women students by major courses is as follows: Agriculture - 1; Architecture - 5; Arts and Sciences - 30; Chemistry - 3; Education - 36; Industrial Management - 2; Graduates - 3; and unclassified - 2.

The present enrollment of veterans is 621 compared with 898 a year ago. Of this number, however, only 349 are receiving educational benefits under Public Law 550 and similar acts.

Twenty-two dependents of deceased veterans are receiving educational benefits under Public Law 634.

At the close of the 1958-1959 session, there was a marked reduction in the number of students excluded for academic deficiencies. This September only 230 students were excluded because of academic deficiencies, or 103 fewer than the 333 ineligible in September 1958.

Improvement Noted

Percentage wise, the improvement in 1959 over 1958 is even greater. In 1958, 9.8 per cent of the students enrolled second semester were ineligible the following September, while the comparable figure for 1959 is 6.4 per cent.

Of the 300 freshmen qualifying to take advanced placement tests the following number exempted: none in history; 26 in chemistry 101; nine in Math 103 and 85 in English 101.

If you pass the exam and qualify for advanced placement you may take another exam which, if passed, will give you credit for the course. The exam grade determines whether you receive an A, B or no credit. The student doesn't have to accept the grade if he doesn't want to. So far ten have received credit for English 101 and four have received credit for Engineering Drawing 107.

Outstanding ROTC Seniors Named Distinguished Military Students

The Office of the Professor of Military Science and Tactics has designated 21 Army ROTC cadets as Distinguished Military Students for the school year 1959-60.

There are five qualifications a cadet must have to be honored with this award. He must possess a high quality of leadership and high moral standards and also exhibit a definite aptitude for the military service. His military science advanced course standing must be in the upper one-third of his ROTC class.

He is required to be an above average student and have an overall standing in the upper one-half of his university or college class. An academic standing will be waived for cadets in the upper 10 percent of their ROTC class.

Grants Waivers

The PMST may also grant waivers for academic standing based upon his judgement that the cadet has demonstrated outstanding qualities of leadership and military potential.

The cadet must demonstrate initiative and leadership capacities through his participation in campus and civic activities.

Nine of these cadets have made applications for regular Army commission to date.

Jungaleers And Tiger Tones Featured At Formal Dance

By JIM YOUNGBLOOD
Tiger News Editor

The Rat Hop, first big dance weekend of the school year, will feature the Jungaleers and Tiger Tones tonight and the Kal Winding Septet tomorrow evening.

The septet is a nationally famous band, the first ever to play for Rat Hop, and the Jungaleers and Tiger Tones are both well known groups of Clemson students.

The 1958-60 Jungaleers have 14 members and are led by Steve Pruitt, a senior in Industrial Management. Steve stated that this should be the best year yet for the band.

Has Bookings

Tommy Lavender, business manager, announced that the group already has bookings as far in advance as February. The Jungaleers, formed in the early 20's, plans to show off their "new look" at the Rat Hop in addition to presenting several new arrangements.

Playing in the band are: Dick Harvin, Charles Easterling, and Steve Pruitt, trumpeters; Bruce Evans, Tom Lavender, Henry Savage, Thomas Stewart, and Emerson Byrd, trombonists; Gene Morehead, drummer; Jack Team, pianist; and Danny Hollis, bass violinist.

The Jungaleers have played at many fraternity and sorority dances throughout the South.

Last year, they appeared at both the Rat Hop and Military Ball here. In addition, they have performed at such places as the Poinsett Hotel in Greenville and the Bon Air Hotel in Augusta.

The Tiger Tones, formed in 1956 as the Four Flats, is a quartet. The vocalists are Sammy Seatrunk of Columbia, Johnny Ivester of Rome, Georgia, Harold Truluck of Atlanta, and Bobby Moore of Greenwood.

Tiger Tones Appear

The quartet has appeared at many colleges and universities in this and adjoining states. Last year, they were even invited to sing before the South Carolina legislature.

Speaking of the Tiger Tones, Seatrunk said, "We try to present a wide variety of songs, many of which are our own arrangements."

The Kia Winding Septet, featuring "The Trombone Sound", is composed of four trombones, a bass violin, piano and drums.

Kia, who immigrated to the United States at the age of 12 has been ranked as a top trombonist since 1947 by Downbeat and Metronome annual polls. He has played with such bands as Benny Goodman and Stan Kenton.

Before organizing his own band, Kai teamed with J. J. Johnson, another well-known trombonist and a close friend of Kai. They were acclaimed "The most widely recorded trombone duet in jazz history" by Metronome.

To Select Queen

Dates of the Rats will be eligible for the title of Rat Queen. Erwin Abell, president of the Central Dance Association, urges freshmen to have their dates in the Dining Hall by 9 p.m. tonight so they will be eligible for the competition.

The Rat Queen will receive a varied selection of gifts. Among these will be a loving cup, now on display on the Loggia. This cup has become an almost traditional gift, donated each year by Mr. Snoddy of the Clemson Jewelers.

Gifts Include

Other gifts include a meal for two from La Braska's in Clemson, a steak dinner for two from the Towne House Restaurant in Anderson, cosmetics from the Clemson Drug Store and a two pound box of candy from L. C. Martin Drug Store in Clemson.

Also, bracelets from the Vogue Shop in Anderson, a long-playing record from Mary's Record Shop in Greenville and three tigers

Rats May Bring Cars To Dances

Freshmen will be permitted to bring cars on campus for a 72 hour period during the dance weekend, according to R. C. Armstrong, Assistant Dean of Students.

The period will begin noon today and end noon Monday. Mr. Armstrong warns freshmen that this privilege will not be extended under any circumstances.

While driving cars on the campus, freshmen must conform to all parking regulations. No parking stickers will be required, however.

Parking spaces normally reserved for college personnel will be available for student parking during the hours of the dances only.

In case of rain, the lower quadrangle will be open for parking but otherwise both the upper and lower quadrangle will be closed to automobiles.

Last Day Set For Unrecorded Drop

The last day to drop a subject without having it recorded is Oct. 13, according to R. J. Berry, Assistant Registrar.

Any subject dropped after that date will be assigned a grade of WP (withdrawn passing) or WF (withdrawn failing). The grade WF indicates that the student withdrew while doing satisfactory work. It has no effect on the grade point ratio.

A grade of WF indicates that the student's work was unsatisfactory. Its effect on the grade point ratio is the same as a failure.

Any subject dropped during the last three weeks of the semester is automatically given the grade WF.

Fellowships Encourage Careers In Teaching

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation announced the opening of competition for its fellowships for the academic year 1960-61.

The chief purpose of the fellowship program is to offset the critical shortage of qualified college teachers by encouraging college seniors of outstanding ability to consider college teaching careers.

To this end the Wilson Foundation annually awards 1000 fellowships for first-year graduate study at any university of the recipient's choice in the United States or Canada.

Woodrow Wilson Fellowships carry a stipend of $1500, plus full tuition and fees, and, in the case of married Fellows, a dependency allowance for wives and children.

Open To Graduates

The program is open to college graduates in the natural and social sciences and in the humanities. Both men and women are eligible, and there is no limit on the age of the candidate or the number of years he may have been out of college. Those who receive awards are not asked to commit themselves to college teaching, but merely to "seriously consider" it as a possible career.

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation does not accept applications directly from students. Candidates for the award must be nominated by a faculty member. Nominated students are invited to declare themselves as active candidates for the award by completing the necessary application forms.

Juniors Sponsor Box Lunch Sale

The Junior Class will sponsor the sale of box lunches tomorrow after the Clemson-North Carolina State game. The lunches will include a choice of barbecued chicken or pork, French fries, slaw, bread, and tea or coffee.

The price of these lunches, prepared by Henton's Restaurant of Greenville, is $1.25.

These lunches will be served in an open air stand to be erected to the left of the Field House.

Winners Selected

Winners of the award are selected through screenings of the applications and personal interviews by regional selection committees, made up of faculty members from the region's universities and colleges.

The closing date for nominations for the academic year 1960-61 is Oct. 31, 1959. Nominations should be sent to Dr. Frank A. Burtner, B-7 Hardin Hall, Campus Representative, for forwarding to the Chairman of the selection committee for the region in which the prospective candidate is now located.

Appointment to a Rhodes Scholarship is made for two

Qualifications Listed

To be eligible a candidate must be a male citizen of the United States, with at least five years' domicile, unmarried, and be between the ages of eighteen and 24 on Oct. 1, 1959.

Other qualifications are: by the time of application have at least a Junior standing at some recognized degree-granting college or university in the U.S.A.; receive official endorsement of his college or university.

Certain qualities were stipulated in Cecil Rhodes' will as to the basis of selection. These are: literary and scholastic ability and attainments; qualities of manhood, truthfulness, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy for and protection of the weak, kindness, unselfishness and fellowship.

He must also have these qualities: exhibition of moral force of character and of instincts to lead and to take an interest in his fellows; physical vigor, as shown by fondness for and success in sports.

Important Requirement
Some definite quality of distinction, whether in intellect or character, is the most important requirement for a Rhodes Scholarship and it is upon this that the selection committees will insist.

The value of a Rhodes Scholarship is $2,100 per year. Scholars who qualify under the G. I. Bill of Rights or other military educational funds may expect the same benefits at Oxford as at an American university.

Governor Hollings Pays Campus Visit

Ernest F. Hollings, Governor of South Carolina, visited the Clemson campus last Friday for the purpose of reviewing the budget for the 1960-61 fiscal year. Accompanying Gov. Hollings on his tour were Mueller Kreps, Jr., executive secretary, and J. M. Smith, state auditor and secretary of the Budget and Control Board.

During his tour Gov. Hollings visited the agricultural research facilities and the School of Engineering. He also made a general tour of the entire campus.

Before becoming governor, Hollings was chairman of the Budget and Control Board. As head of this board, he reviews all budget requests from various state agencies.

Apology Offered

We regret that in the October 2 edition of the Tiger Lt. Colonel B. N. Skardon's name was misspelled. Col. Skardon, U. S. Army Infantry, will serve a three-year tenure here as Assistant P.M.S. and T. The error in his name was an oversight on the part of the staff, and we hope that Col. Skardon will accept our apologies.

Shortage Of Available Tickets To Big Thursday Game Credited To Selfishness On Part Of Students

Every year several students sign receipts for tickets to the Clemson-Carolina game in Columbia and then fail to go to see the game. "Big Thursday" has become a classic to the people of South Carolina and to everyone associated with the two respective schools. For this reason there occurs a shortage of available tickets to the game.

Clemson is allotted only a certain quota of tickets for students and IPTAY, of which some are given to IPTAY and the rest are left for the students and their dates. In years past the number of IPTAY tickets were sufficient to cover the demand from members, but this year there were far more requests than there were tickets.

So, several members of IPTAY were unable to obtain tickets and therefore will not be able to see the game unless they get them from some other source.

However, the athletic department reserved enough tickets for the student body and for most of their dates. This year, as in past years, many have signed for tickets merely because they believed that they had paid for them and they were theirs. With this condition, everyone who wishes to take a date to the game will not be able, due to the lack of tickets.

We do not mean to imply at this point that there will be sufficient tickets for all to take a date to the game in any way, but rather to say that more will be able if there are no vacant seats in the Clemson section of the stadium.

Intellectual Thought Helps Erase Numerous Problems

Another day ends, and a new one begins. A new day that will mean classes to meet, quizzes to study for and take, club meetings to attend, letters to write, etc. Each day is a mad scramble to find the necessary time to do this, meet that class, study this—a scramble that confuses and perturbs the average student.

With the modern day rush, few of us actually take the time to sit down and think—not about the formula that the professor introduced today and will be on the quiz tomorrow, or how can I win the election when the club meets tomorrow night, but rather to think about yourself, about social problems, about the problems facing the nations of the present day world and about just "how lucky I am to be able to come to Clemson to increase my education."

Last year some 360 students failed to show up at the gate to pick up their tickets to the game, and for this reason some 360 students were denied the privilege of taking a date to the game due to this unfortunate disregard by their fellow students.

For the remainder of their stay at Clemson they will not be able to obtain a date ticket for the Clemson-Carolina game because of their selfishness. Few realize that this is the penalty for signing for a ticket that they did not plan to use.

This is not the only fact that warrants our consideration. Tickets to the game are given to the students by the Athletic department, and are not included in the $6 activity fee that goes for tickets to all home games.

If these tickets are not used, they nevertheless have to be paid for by the athletic department. This means that hundreds of dollars will have to be paid to Carolina for vacant seats.

With these two very important reasons in mind, ticket manager Bill McCellar urges all students who have receipts for tickets to this year's game, that if they do not plan to use them to turn them back in to the athletic department so that other students can take a date to the game when he might have been deprived this privilege.

These tickets can be turned in up until October 20th. Will you be among those that will sit at home with a ticket to the last "Big Thursday" game?

Yes Sir, Rochester, I swear dat I gave you two pieces.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Proper School Spirit Can Help In Building A Greater Clemson

By KENNETH EATON

What is "school spirit"? This is a term which we have recently heard over and over again in discussions, accusations, explanations, speeches, and newsprint.

Possibly we have become confused as to what school spirit really should mean to a Clemson student. There is no doubt a strong spirit exhibited by Clemson students, but is this spirit the proper "school spirit"?

Going to the dictionary, we find school spirit defined as "enthusiastic loyalty." Loyalty to what? To the football team, the faculty, our own special friends, the rules and regulations, or just the school as a whole?

Clemson as a whole is tremendous in scope. It is a complex collection of joys, sorrows, indifferences, ambitions, friendships, and cliques crowded together for the purpose of obtaining an education.

A most important part of this whole is the individual student. The students part is indeed a very critical and formative part of his life. He is at an age, which, in later years, he will remember as either the best or the most miserable of his life.

So being loyal-enthusiastically, wholeheartedly loyal to every part of a whole school is a big order.

School spirit means respecting fellow students and professors, not only as acquaintances, but as friends. It means being interested and active in everything that the school takes part in, whether it be an athletic, social, political, or academic event.

School spirit is an "all for one, one for all" spirit. It means thinking of ourselves, not as individuals, but as small parts of a whole, made up of some 3700 students.

It means obeying the rules and regulations and blocking the thought that breaking a rule can do no harm, just this once, with the thought of what would happen if the other 3700 students had the idea.

Realizing and co-operating with the problems that faculty members and administrators face is also a definite part of school spirit.

Those, then, are some ideas of what school spirit includes, now, let's see what school spirit excludes.

At the beginning of each school year, a few unscrupulous individuals try to justify the practice of "raiding" neighboring campuses by saying that they are merely demonstrating school spirit.

Well, gentlemen, if these acts of destruction and violence are your interpretations of school spirit, Clemson has no room for you or your type of spirit.

As far as Clemson is concerned, the willful destruction of property constitutes nothing but pure vandalism and the persons involved should be punished accordingly.

The "pooling" of persons at pep rallies and in the college dining hall shows a definite lack of true school spirit along with maturity.

This practice of "pooling" may seem fun to certain persons but when this so called fun is carried to the extent that physical harm results, it is certainly time for this particular type of fun to cease.

Have you ever stopped to think of what visitors may think of such unruly behavior? Remember, gentlemen, the actions of our students form the opinions of our visitors.

Our pep rallies, in certain aspects, lack true school spirit. Included in some of our recent rallies have been everything from "toilet tissue" throwing to "rat races".

The person or persons responsible for these "added attractions" at our pep rallies had very little forethought. The only thing that results from such exhibitions is mob violence, not school spirit.

School spirit demonstrated in the proper manner can be instrumental in building a greater Clemson. On the other hand, it can be determined if improperly demonstrated.

In writing on this subject, this writer has not attempted to dampen school spirit, but to enlighten the students as to what school spirit is and is not.

Analytical Approach

Use Of Live Tiger Mascot Here Would Help Mold Clemson Spirit

By BUCK DEATON

During the preceding two or three weeks at Clemson, the subject of school spirit has been discussed at some length from many different points of view.

Occasionally the spirit of the students has become rather distorted, ending in activities resembling mob action, but as a whole it is generally accepted that the spirit of the Clemson students is properly directed and always stimulating.

There has been much talk about campus of possible methods to, more or less, mold the spirit of the students, alumni, and athletic teams into one huge mass of enthusiasm.

Although the three subjects just mentioned do exhibit much spirit, the same seem to be dispersed as far as a unified effort is concerned. The tie between the students and the teams, as well as the tie between the alumni and the teams, is quite firm; however, a gap does exist between the students and the alumni.

As a possible solution to the situation, this columnist offers the suggestion of having a live tiger as a mascot. It is felt that this factor would not only bridge the student-alumni gap, thus unifying the Clemson spirit, but it would also be tremendous publicity propaganda for the athletic department. The powerful tiger would be a suitable compliment to Clemson's powerful athletic team.

The main deterrent to the proposal is one of a financial nature. It is rumored that many occasions have arisen whereby a supporter has offered to donate a tiger to the school.

If this be true, the principal costs would be centered about a cage and up-keep for the animal. To alleviate this problem, the athletic department could make the initial financial venture. Then, shares in the tiger could be offered for sale to the individual students, clubs and organizations on campus, and the alumni.

This columnist believes that the alumni would respond favorably, and it is a certainty that the student body is interested in the possibility.

The proposal could be placed before the council of club presidents of the possibility of individual clubs being responsible for the care of the tiger over short periods of time. To aid the feeding expense of the animal, clubs could submit a financial bid to the council of club presidents for the privilege of escorting the tiger to football games and other athletic events.

The club that receives this privilege would also be responsible for guarding the tiger and keeping adventuresome spectators from the possibility of losing a hand in the cage.

During the week, the tiger could be quartered in a livestock building or area. A tractor might be used to pull the wheeled cage containing the tiger to the locality of events. Picture the air of excitement created when the tiger is ushered to the stadium, trailed by the Clemson band playing "Tiger Rag."

Placing a microphone near the cage and inducing the animal slightly by prodding him, he could issue the official Clemson Tiger roar.

Students Need Vending Machines In Dorms To Facilitate Study

For many students, burning the midnight oil has become a necessary ritual in the course of events. All too often these same students pass the opportunity to visit the canteen, Dan's, or the Tiger Tavern for refreshments and a break from taxing the grey matter merely because of the time element involved.

Valuable time is lost while waiting for the congested mass of students to subside enough to allow one to make his purchase. Therefore, the conscientious student remains in his room without a refreshment break.

Some students who work into the "wee" hours of the morning insist that there should be some facility enabling them to obtain refreshments after the above-mentioned establishments have closed for the night, even though they were able to obtain refreshments earlier during a rest break.

In view of these situations, an urgent plea is voiced for vending machines on the halls in the various dormitories. An ideal arrangement would exist with three machines—one for beverages such as bottled sodas and milk, one for crackers and candies, and one for cigarettes.

It would be necessary to have one group of three machines on each level of the old dorms and "A" and "B" sections of the new dorms. For the remaining students one group of machines per level for "C" and "D" sections combined and one group of machines for "E" and "F" sections combined would probably cover the needs adequately.

One more set of machines could possibly be needed when the new addition to "F" section is completed. The room needed for the machines can be found in the indentures at the end of each hall or near the immediate area of the water fountains.

The installation of these vending machines would not only facilitate the students who used them, but it would also lessen the crowd in the canteen, enabling the students who do venture to the canteen to enjoy their study break more.

One probability that could be considered is that of allowing a portion of the proceeds from these machines to be used in sustaining the above proposed tiger mascot. In any event, the vending machines are direly needed on the dorm halls.

Absence Of Loggia Loungers Compliments Dances

With the first dance of the year being this weekend, we are faced with one of the most unbecoming problems here at Clemson. We do not mean to criticize before anything has happened, but rather to ask the students to continue their commendable actions of last year.

For many years prior to last year, Clemson was almost inevitably invaded by a corps of "Loggia Loungers." During the dance, and especially during intermission and at the beginning and end of the dance, several so-called Clemson Gentlemen could be found on the Loggia admiring other's dates. This certainly was not a credit to the institution as well ent day world and about just "how lucky I am to be able to come to Clemson to increase my education."

Perhaps tonight we will sit down and just think—not necessarily about any particular present-day problem. We are sure that everyone will profit by this experience.

Intellectual thought has never done anything to harm a person, but several of the worlds' great leaders and thinkers were born through taking time for just a few moments to think about others rather than themselves. When we actually "get down to brass tacks" we find that we have very few problems compared to others in the world.

Appropriate Recreational Center Is College Need

There has been much said about the student recreational facility under construction for our campus. This project is greatly needed and would be welcome addition to the college property.

We have seen drawings of the structure in Dean Cox's office, and agree with these schematic drawings as far as function is concerned. All functions proposed for this building seem in line.

These drawings show certain areas reserved for lounges, recreation, exercising and group sports. There is a space designated as an outdoor swimming pool; another designated as additional meeting rooms.

It is direly important that these drawings are not used to achieve a permanent idea of the facilities design. Whatever happens in the procedure of the program for the recreation area, this fact is most important:

To achieve a building worth while and appropriate for Clemson College, an architect or qualified designer should be employed immediately. There should be no restrictions placed upon him that would hinder his devotion of his entire learned talents in the designing of this building.

Many buildings have been built on this campus and others that are not adequate for their function. We hope that those in charge will take steps to see that this is not the case for this building if it reaches the definite planning stages.

During halftime ceremonies at the Clemson Georgia Tech game last weekend, The Clemson College Tiger Band performed a delightful and competent rendition of a Scottish air which was quite entertaining to the spectators.

The majorettes, also, proved their skill by cleverly dancing to "Bonnie Lassie." In the opinion of this writer, the halftime ceremonies last week were the best that have been given in some time.

The Tiger Band works very hard and diligently to perform before us Tiger followers, and they are sometimes long-suffering. They very seldom receive just merits for their efforts.

Last week's efforts received favorable applause from both sides of the stadium. It is satisfying to know that our band is helping to increase the prestige already acclaimed to Clemson by its powerful football squad.

The Tiger band has shown a definite improvement over years past, and we sincerely hope that all constituents will continue to exert their best efforts in the further improvement of our band.

By so doing, not only they but the entire school will benefit. Our commendations go out to this year's band and for the fine job Mr. Lovett and his associates are doing.

Students Need to Develop Last week, the subject of the library's staying open was discussed at length, but the purpose of our belaboring the subject was not for simply filling up space.

The percentage of students using the facilities of the library is very small; there is much to be learned by just roaming through and scanning various books and articles. There are magazines and publications in their respective sections that can be found nowhere else at Clemson.

There seems to be a need for more initiative on the part of the student... to become more interested in reading, thinking, learning, etc. There has been quite an intellectual fermentation on the campuses throughout the South. More colleges are sponsoring literary societies, book discussions, chess clubs, lecture series, and the like than ever before.

However, Clemson has become a sluggard in that race. We lag severely behind other major colleges. We do not have an adequate lecture series, literary club, chess club, or anything pertinent to the same.

Recently the opportunity for taking bridge lessons has been afforded you who are interested. This is a good chance to learn first-rate how to play bridge, which has practically become a social and academic necessity.

The lessons to be offered are being taught at a very nominal price: five dollars for six lessons—nine hours total. The lessons will be taught at the Clemson House at your convenience, and you can sign up in either an intermediate or beginners class.

In the near future intramural bridge may become a reality as a result of careful concentration on the part of interested individuals who take these lessons and are willing to become proficient in the game. The ultimate end is intercollegiate bridge tournaments, which are quite challenging and attach quite a bit of prestige to the winner and his school.

Intercollegiate bridge, along with chess tournaments are spreading rapidly across the country. There is no reason why Clemson should not have one of the best teams in the country. Notre Dame even offers a three-credit course in bridge instructions, stressing both the mathematics and logic aspects of the game.

The idea of a course in bridge, to be accredited in the future looms as a possibility. While this is being considered, the possibility of teaching chess and other related, intellectual games should be given some thought.

WORLD SCENE

Students Should Be Aware Of Red Chinese Strength

By RUSS CAMPBELL
Tiger Special Features

It is disturbing to recognize the number of students who are unaware of the latent power Red China has today. In this ever-shrinking universe, we cannot afford to be like the ostrich and bury our heads in sand as the rest of the world looks ahead.

Some 2,180 years before Karl Marx, the father of communism, advanced his doctrines, a great Chinese emperor, Shih Huang-ti, became a dictator not unlike the present Chinese leader, Mao Tze-tung.

Shih built the Great Wall, organized slave armies, unified China and originated "legalism." Under "legalism" there existed controlled prices, nationalization of capital and state monopoly of trade.

This same pattern is obvious in Red China today. In 1947 Chiang Kai-shek seemed to have the Reds on the run. However, only two years later Mao's armies were over running the "Forbidden City" in Peiping, the ancient home of emperors.

Suddenly Mao had become ruler of a fourth of the world's people. After 28 years of skirmishes and intrigue "The Mao Decade" began on Oct. 1, 1948.

Little Known Of Leaders
Little was known of the Red leaders in China—Lin Shao-Chi, Mao's heir apparent; Chu Teh, grandfather of the Red Army and Chou En-Lai, foreign minister and executor of Red China's foreign policy.

By using hangmen, the jailer and labor gangs, the Reds removed all opposition. They confiscated property and doled it out to the peasants.

Begin Second Plan

This gave the people new hope and the Reds launched their first five-year plan. In 1958 they began the second plan and the 500 million peasants became a grumbling agricultural wage-earner in co-operatives.

By August, 1958 the peasant had become a servant of the state in one of 26,000 dull peasant communes operating with military efficiency.

Unbelievable as it may seem, Russia has not given the Chinese a single ruble as a gift. China is paying back everything she has borrowed at a low interest rate or none at all.

Communist China is not thought to have nuclear weapons yet, but her army contains an estimated 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 men under arms. Supposedly one month after a war began, the Chinese could place 60,000,000 men in the field.

If the Red Chinese do acquire nuclear weapons, the present balance of military power would be completely off-centered. An alarming fact is the sheer fanaticism, dead seriousness and void of humor of China's rulers.

Today, Communist China is recognized by 32 countries. But until she demonstrates peaceful intentions, China will probably not gain membership in the United Nations.

Ervin Abell Chooses Clemson Because Of Its Amiable Campus And Students' Spirit

By FRED BISHOP
Tiger Feature Writer

"C-L-E-M is cadence count!" This is a familiar phrase to all Clemson Men that represents the spirit that gives Clemson its unique place in the hearts of men.

It was because of the spirit that this cheer affords and the friendly campus atmosphere, that our head cheerleader, Erwin Abell, came to Clemson.

Erwin, a native of Lowrys, S. C., is majoring in Arts and Sciences and plans to attend dental school after graduation.

"Abe" has been very active in Clemson's activities. In addition to being a member of the cheering squad for four years, he is president of C.D.A., vice-president of Blue Key, a member of Tiger Brotherhood, the Block "C" Club, Sigma Tau Epsilon, and has served in student government.

When not spending his time in these activities, Erwin likes to hunt and to ski. He also likes to listen to a good jazz orchestra, especially George Shearing.

Soph Year Most Enjoyable

Erwin believes his sophomore year has been his most enjoyable. "It was at this time, that I began to get into the swing of college life, and began meeting people." It was then he found the abstract essence Clemson instills in its students, and makes others remark, "Once a Clemson man, always a Clemson man."

"When we played North Carolina last year, which incidentally was the best game I have seen between any two teams, I saw and felt, more than at any other time, that the students had attained the unity of being one in mind and spirit."

Erwin has been to many campuses and has seen how fraternities have affected the lives of those concerned. "In the military, the cadets had the company and it was this that gave them unity. Now we lack some of this organization, but with fraternities it might possibly bring back the unifying qualities that have been a part of Clemson tradition."

Jump At Conclusions

"The students at Clemson seem to pick up rumors and then draw conclusions upon these. It is an inherent part of human nature to make much of that which is wrong and not say anything about something good."

"In much the same way, we overemphasize the good points when considering fraternities." One cannot actually judge whether fraternities would be helpful or harmful to Clemson, but one can say that it would bring some social stimulation to the sometimes staid existence of Clemson weekends.

"We have a rare quality at Clemson: the students are willing to take an interest in improvements. However, we must develop the possibilities we have not begun to exploit."

UNUSED

instead are given, without charge, to the students of Clemson and the University of South Carolina by the athletic departments.

Last year 360 students did not claim their tickets for the game. This meant that 360 students could not take a date, even though the seats were available.

Students who have ticket receipts which they cannot use were asked by McClellan to consider the rights of their fellow students, and not selfishly reserve a ticket which they will not use.

Tax Burdens CDA

The C.D.A. tries to give the student the social life he wants and needs. There is much more to obtaining an orchestra that is suitable than most students realize, and C.D.A. is financially burdened by a twenty percent state and federal amusement tax.

"We try to get the best band, like Lionel Hampton who played for last year's Mid-Winters and still remain within our budget. We are also limited in that we must choose from the orchestras that are not booked on the night of the dances."

Clemson needs several items. "It needs more men's dormitories, besides the obvious need of women's dormitories. We have many small auditoriums, but there is no indoor auditorium in which all the students can be brought together at one time." This is vital to the raising of the cultural levels by bringing concert and lecture series, many merits.

"Clemson has many deficiencies, but these are typical of any college and the various good points outweigh these, making me proud to say I went to Clemson. I had always heard of Clemson before coming here and now I will be able to speak from experience and with confidence of Clemson's many merits."

Long-Playing Records First Made Specifically For Classical Music

By HERBERT ROWLAND
Tiger Feature Writer

When the first long-playing record was pressed by Columbia back in 1948, there were few ideas that it would become a favorite listening medium for popular record fans. The LP was developed for classical music, and that was where its creators thought it would remain, almost without exception.

A look at today's listings of popular albums will furnish quite a different story, for it seems that many record buyers like their "light" music in heavy doses. The following five top-selling new albums furnish much of the appeal that has made "pop" albums such large sellers for record manufacturers.

On Camera (Mercury). This group of favorites from television by songstress Patti Page provides an ample dose of music taken from Patti's show. Included among these most-requested numbers are "The Gypsy," "It's a Good

Day" and "Crazy Rhythm." For Non-TV Watcher

This album is a good buy only for the non-TV watching pop music lover, or those who haven't tired of seeing and hearing these songs week after week during the regular television season.

Despite his post-nasal drip, Tommy Sands has proved, to a certain extent, that he can sing as an established singer should in his new album When I'm Thinking of You (Capitol).

A far cry from the honking and rocking of earlier attempts is this smoothly swinging collection which includes such ballads as "Pools Rush In," "The Nearness of You" and "Say It Isn't So." Albums of this nature lead us to believe that there is some hope for rock 'n' rollers after all.

True of music twenty years old, but still pleasant for listening or dancing is For the Very First Time (RCA, 3 LPs) by Glenn Miller and his Orchestra, which includes fifty selections which, despite age, manage to swing quite nicely.

A sound seldom heard from modern bands is captured on these sides, and fidelity is good considering the time element involved. All selections are previously unreleased and should please Miller fans.

Bennett-Basie Team

In Person (Columbia.) This sensational album teams Tony Bennett with Count Basie and his Orchestra for some of the best listening currently available.

Each artist is great alone, but together the combination is one of those real experiences in solid sound. "Fascinatin' Rhythm," "Without a Song" and "Pennies from Heaven" headline a program of twelve tremendous numbers.

To close out this "pop" program, we'll include an album for the bargain hunter. It's entitled The Big Hits (Columbia), and has twelve "hits" such as "The Battle of New Orleans," "Pointed Toe Shoes" and "I'm In Love Again" recorded therein by the "artists" who made them famous.

This combination of hits should delight the fan who likes uninterrupted noise at only slightly more than 33c per torture treatment.

Autumn Hat Design Stresses Strength, Range Of Styles

By BILL GRINLEY
Tiger Feature Writer

Headgear this fall will be both stylish and functional. As in previous years, the hat makers of this country have set out to make the hat that is durable, neat, and in style for the year's motif. This year will be no exception.

This fall the head fitters have come forward with a range of styles, color, and material designed to please almost anyone who is wishing to purchase one of their products. In most clothing stores the buyer can find the wide selection of hats put on the market by their respective makers.

Styles in hats for this fall have the predominate small brim. They come in any shape and size that one could wish for. The brims slant back in a "forward" style or retain the same conservatism as in previous years.

Cloth Prevails

The predominate material in hats this fall is cloth. The straw hats of last year will still be in style, but other models of sport hats will appear much more popular. The hat band will accent the flair of individuality. This year they come in different, changeable colors in order that one may change bands (changing the order of hat also.)

Colors will be dark to medium to accompany the dark and burnished tones of fall. Matching the suit and hat will yield a monotone effect; while an off-brown or an off-green against a dark suit breaks through the single tone barrier.

Hats are today, as everything else is, lightweight and crushable. The hatmakers must also be on their toes for the modern public. They come in tweeds, plaids, solids and mixtures. Most can be shaped to the wearers preference or ingenuity.

The Tiger has, after a very close survey, come to the conclusion that the most popular hat on the Clemson College campus comes in the form of a small hat of orange color and with a large purple C sewn on it.

Clemson Does Best Under Conditions

Defeat is often times unavoidable. A desire to win, greatness, agility, skill and power cannot lift one into the limelight of hero's when circumstances do not permit. Many of those making the trip to Atlanta last weekend will readily concede to this fact.

Clemson put forth their best efforts, which were good for a virus stricken team, but it became apparent from the beginning that better conditioned Techsters would lead the way. There was nothing lacking in the Tigers desire to win, for most all of the players will admit that this was the game they wanted as much as any.

Many fans claim that Georgia Tech holds at least a ten point edge when they play in the confines of Grant Field, a statement backed up by the fact that the Yellow Jackets have lost but six games in Atlanta during the past eight years. Quite a number of Clemson followers would like to see the Yellow Jackets pitted in Clemson's own "Death Valley."

But as far as the Tigers are concerned even the name Georgia Tech seems to brew an instant plague. Last year the Tigs went into the game against Tech with both of their top quarterbacks sidelined with ankle injuries. This year it was even worse; some half of the key men in the Tiger lineup were stricken with a flu virus which occurred during the week of the game.

Those who were able to play most of the game did so, but many were down and out before the end of the final quarter. The hot weather took a toll of Tigers also. After the game some six Clemson players had to be revived by oxygen for heat prostration.

End Runs Successful For Tech

As for the game, Tech swept the Tiger ends like a merry-go-round. The speed used by the Atlantan's was excellent and their blockers seldom missed their target. Their variety of backs were probably the best Clemson will face during the season.

The defensive line play of both teams was just the opposite of each other. Tech used their agile line to follow the ball and held when it was most needed. Clemson sent their hefty forward wall in a direct charge often times nailing a Tech back for a loss but failing when the opponents skirted the ends.

Mathis Races 99 Yards For New Record

While most of the game was dominated by Tech, Clemson's Bill Mathis stole the show as he raced 99 yards on the second half kick off for the only Tiger score. This establishes a new school record for a kick-off return formerly held by Fred Hook who ran 90 yards against Georgia in 1932.

Mathis took the ball on the Tigers own one, started to the left but found a wide gap open up the center of the field. By the time he had reached the fifty there stood only one Tech defender, halfback Billy Williamson, between him and the goal. Side-stepping Williamson and heading down the right side of the field Mathis raced to pay dirt as the Speedy Tech back made a last desperate lunge near the goal.

Cline Hurt But Will Likely Play

Fullback Doug Cline received a broken hand in the tussle and rumor spread that the power back would be out of action for nearly two weeks. Also, word spread that the hefty halfback, Mathis, would be switched to the fullback slot until his teammate was ready for action again.

After conferring with both of these players, we find that both of these statements were wrong. Mathis will continue to run at half and Cline, though still wearing a cast, may very probably be in against the Wolfpack Saturday.

Clemson Meets N. C. State In First Home Game

Line 'Em Up Men, We're Coming Through!

Clemson's Block "C" members line the new Cubs up for one of last week's paddling sessions. Doug Hoffman and Fred DeBerry watch as Emil Zager, Bill Warren, Eric Philpott and Bobby Petty come down the line. The Cubs, who don't appear to happy over the situation, will go through their last paddling today.

Paddles To Echo As Block "C" Initiation Draws To An End

By MIKE COSTAS
Tiger Sports Writer

The resounding wack of paddle against flesh has already been heard over the quadrangle as the Block "C" Club welcomes in its new members. Last Monday was the first day for this age-old Clemson tradition to be seen on campus by the new freshmen class, and before they leave they will see many more such actions taking place on the "Big Square."

Last semester eighteen men on the Clemson campus lettered in five different sports activities to earn a right to get their sweaters and join the Block "C" club. Baseball claims the longest list of lettermen with such standouts as Dave Sprouse, Ty Cline, Hap Carr, Clayton Lowder, Sam Poe, Jim Roller, Tim Bryant, and Reid Blakney.

The tennis courts have four men to letter on them—Sonny Summer, Bob Burns, Jim Miller, and John Nutt. Golf also had three men to earn letters, when Bob Moser, Johnny Murray, and Ed George got theirs.

Two more men received letters for their action in track—Dick Anderson and Jim Moorhead. In swimming Ed Sullivan and Marvin O'Dowell lettered.

In one of the Cubs own words, "If I had known that it was going to be like this, I don't believe that I would have been so anxious to get in, but now that I have gone this far, I am not going to back out." Some of the old members seem to think that the paddles have been seeming to fly a little faster and harder than usual.

There has been a change from the usual way that the initiation has been carried on from the last few years. The club got together at its last meeting and decided to change the "chopping" from five to two days, so that the Cubs would have more time and feel better to carry out their "cub service".

This year for the first time they are required to carry a shoe (Continued on page 8)

Wolfpack Improved Over Last Year's Squad With Fine Backs

By JOE DEMPSEY
Tiger Co-Sports Editor

Clemson's Tigers will attempt to bounce back from their first loss of the season when they entertain the N. C. State Wolfpack in Memorial Stadium tomorrow at 2 p. m. The Tigs will be after their third conference victory in a row over the upset-minded Wolfpack.

At the beginning of the season the State team was said to possess great potential, but they were supposed to suffer from inexperience at end, guard, and quarterback. If the Pack is inexperienced at these positions it has not been noticed in their two games.

State beat VPI in their opener and lost a 20 to 12 decision to the North Carolina Tarheels. They led North Carolina 12 to 0 at one stage of the game, but a lack of reserve strength was their downfall.

State Quarterback is Fine Passes

State's quarterback, Roman Gabriel, might well be the best sophomore in the ACC this year. His brilliant passing and heady signal calling has been the spark of the Pack this fall. The starting halfbacks will probably be Bernie Latusick and Ron Podwika, two speedsters that give State a well balanced running attack. Relief at the halfback positions will come from Claude Gibson and Randy Harrell, both able runners. All of the State halfbacks are fast and are fine pass receivers.

The starting fullback will be Arnold Nelson, a 200 pound senior stalwart that led the Wolfpack in scoring with four touchdowns last year. He is considered a top defensive line-backer with plenty of power. His reserve will be Kenny Nye, who does not have the power that Nelson has, but is faster.

Line Averages 215

The Wolfpack co-captains, Paul Balonick and Kelly Minyard, will anchor the line which averages 215 pounds from end to end. Balonick, a center, is a strong contender for all-ACC honors even though he missed the entire 1958 season because of a broken leg. Minyard, a tackle, is a hold-over start from the '58 team, and is considered to be the best blocker on the team as well as a top defensive man.

Richard Reynolds, a 262 pound giant, will be the other starting tackle. He will be one of the biggest and strongest linemen the Tigers have faced this year.

Frank Marocco and Alex Gilleskie will get the nod at the guard positions, and both are good middlemen with plenty of speed and blocking savvy. New-comers Graham Singleton and Joe Bushofsky give the Wolfpack two good reserve guards.

The starting flankmen are Dick Drexler and George Vollmer, two fast receivers that have proven to be excellent targets for Gabriel's passes. The two ends on the second unit will be Jim Tapp and John Gill, two able ends.

The Wolfpack was not rated high at the start of the season, but their coach, Earle Edwards, said "We face some of the nation's best, and we are a bit young, but I can't help but believe we will be dangerous."

Tigers to Start Same Eleven

Coach Frank Howard will probably send the same starting eleven into the game that started against Tech, but the status of some of the players is still uncertain. The biggest question mark will be fullback Doug Cline, the big man suffered a hand fracture in the Yellow Jacket game. Cline will probably start the game, but just how much he will be able to use his right hand is the big question.

Lou Cordileone and Harold Olson will be the starting tackles, and both will probably be at full strength. Lou has had a bout with a virus attack and Harold has been injured slightly. The guard positions will be held down by Dave Lynn and Larry Wagner, two boys that played outstanding last Saturday.

Cocaptain Paul Snyder will be set at center, and should be well after his virus last week. The big linebacker was weakened at Tech by this virus, but still played outstanding ball.

The backfield should be the same with White at quarter-back, Mathis at left half, Ustry at right half and Cline at full-back. If Cline is not able to go there is a possibility that Bill Mathis might play some at full-back.

13 Unlucky?

The series between State and Clemson is a long one, dating back to 1929 with the Tigers winning 22, losing 7, and tying one. The unlucky "13" has been the winning score in the last three games played between the two teams with the Tigs winning in 1956 by a 13 to 7 margin, the pack won the '57 game 13 to 7 and the Tigers won last year by a 13 to 6 count. Tomorrow's game promises to be another thrill packed tilt, but the winning score should be higher.

Harriers Lose First Meet, Pit Tech Next

Clemson's cross-country team dropped a 24-34 decision to the University of North Carolina in the opening meet of the season for both teams. Clemson's Jimmy Moorhead took the top honors by finishing first with a time of 16 min. 14 sec.

Some seventy five yards behind Moorhead was the Tar Heels Ed Liipert who wound up second. UNC dominated the meet by taking the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 7th, and 8th positions.

The Tigers Newman and Dunkleburg finished 5th and 6th respectively. The meet was run on the Tigs 3.2 mile track in extremely hot track weather in the high 80's.

Next Tuesday, the Tig Harriers will take on Georgia Tech in the second meet of the year. Clemson took a close decision over the Yellow Jackets in their previous meeting last season and seem to have confidence for the meet. It will be scheduled on the Tigers home track.

Baby Bengals Whip Bullpups For Second Win

Clemson's Cubs stunned Georgia's Bullpups here last Friday afternoon 18-0 for their second victory without a defeat.

Fullback Bill McGurt, a 195 pounder from Lancaster, accounted for two touchdowns, and end Benny Brannon, Fairforest, took a pass from Joe Anderson, the quarterback from Greenwood, for the other TD.

Elmo Ham and Mack Matthews sparked the Clemson offense while Anderson completed several fine passes and got off some good runs.

Quarterback Jake Saye, halfback Cecil Lowery and Fullback Gary Glover looked best on offense for the Bullpups but they were never able to move inside Clemson's 25-yard line. Hugh Deal and Jimmy Lumpkin played well in the Georgia line. Their lone threat being killed by Anderson's interception.

The Cubs scored in the last three quarters after failing to score in the first period. McGurt plunged over from the six-inch (Continued on page 5)

Bengals' "Pogo" Usry Is All-Around Player

By MIKE COSTAS
Tiger Sports Writer

"I know that we can beat State," was George Usry's reply when asked about the game tomorrow. These words of the Tiger's first string halfback pretty well show how the team feels, and the determination that they have.

Mack Folger, a very active and enthusiastic IPTAY member, first saw Usry playing football for his high school Alma Mater at Waycross, Georgia. He told Coach Howard of Georgia's possibilities, and he was signed for a grant-in-aid to Clemson.

George, or as he is better known, "Pogo", lives only about ten miles from the Okefenokee Swamp. This is the home of the now famous comic strip by Walt Kelly — Pogo. This fact came to his friends attention early in his stay at Clemson, and it was only a short time before everyone knew who "Pogo" Usry was on the campus.

"Pogo" was born February 12, 1938—so that makes Abraham Lincoln not the only person known around Clemson born on this date. George grew up in Waycross on a farm owned by his father, George Howard Usry. He and his nineteen year old brother have a pet alligator, Manford, that swims around in a pond behind the house — to keep step with his nickname.

His brother layed out of school for a year and is now planning on entering Abraham Baldwin Junior College at Tifton, where he plans to major in Forestry. After which he plans to enroll in the University of Georgia and finish his major.

While in high school Usry saw action in every major sport and lettered a total of fourteen times. His first letter in football was when he was a sophomore, and he lettered again in his junior and senior years. He earned four letters in baseball, and four in track, and he then went on to receive two letters in basketball.

Track was George's specialty, because he was the Regional Low Hurdles Champion for South Georgia his sophomore and junior years. Pneumonia kept him out of the regional meet his senior year when he came down with it the night before the meet and was unable to attend. His senior year he was an All-Stater for Georgia in football.

As previously mentioned Mr. Mack Folger of Spartanburg, who also played on the same team with Coach Howard, told Clemson of Usry, and it seems that the Tigers gained one of its best backs in the past few years. "Pogo" feels that Mr. Folger has been one of the nicest people to him since his stay here at Clemson.

This is George's last year of action on the gridiron for the Bengals, but he has played well for the fans of Clemson sports. During his high school days, he never had any tape on him, but his sophomore year a ligament was torn lose in his leg and he missed the Virginia game and a part of the South Carolina game that year.

These two games (Virginia and U.S.C.) his sophomore year are the only two games that George has not seen starting action in since his varsity action. Then last year his right hand was broken in the Georgia Tech game, but it did not keep him out of action too long, because he was ready for the following game.

George is an Electrical Engineering major, and he still finds time to keep up with his studies as well as be an outstanding sports figure on the campus. In his four years at Clemson, Usry has become very active in such (Continued on page 6)

Carolina's Gamecocks Hold Best Record After Last Weekends' Games

The Atlantic Coast Conference teams had a rough weekend this past week as they were able to muster only two victories out of six games. One of the games was a conference tilt while all others were outside games. South Carolina took an out of conference match while four other ACC teams fell by the wayside.

South Carolina

The University of South Carolina overpowered thirteenth ranked Georgia last Saturday afternoon with a flurry of fumbles and blocked kicks according to Bulldog coach Wallace Butts. It was the Gamecocks third straight victory without a defeat. Tackle Ed Pitts and Fullback Phil Lavoe played key roles in the victory.

Included on the Rooster victim list are now; Duke, Furman, and Georgia. Coach Geise calls this probably the best team Carolina has had since his signing as coach. USC will play the UNC Tar Heels in an all important conference game this weekend. Many people will be watching and waiting for the outcome of this game.

Maryland

Syracuse outmanned Maryland in a barrage of touchdowns to defeat them 29-0. This was the Terrapins second straight loss after a fine opening victory.

The Orangemen were guided by David Sarette, a sophomore quarterback, who called plays as if he were a veteran. Both halfbacks, Ernie Davis and Gerhard Schwedes, showed fine offensive runs and splendid defensive action.

Wake Forest

Tulane outlasted Wake Forest in a close game which ended in a 6-0 Deacon defeat. The Green Wave received its first win after two defeats while the Deacons were dealt their first defeat against two wins.

Tom McClellan, Tulane fullback, dashed twenty-two yards through the center of the Wake Forest line with seven minutes of the third quarter remaining for the only touchdown of the game. Other standouts for the Green Wave were Phil Nugent, quarterback, Tom Mason and Terry Terrebonne, halfbacks.

The Deacons marched down to within a yard of Tulane's goal twice during the game but quarterback Norman Snead could not get the ball over. The Green Wave line held once and the Deacons fumbled on the second attempt.

North Carolina — N. C. State

North Carolina staged a forth period rally Saturday to beat North Carolina State 20-12 in an exciting ACC game. The win was sparked by UNC halfback Gib Carson who set up both last quarter scores by the Tar Heels.

The win was the Tars first of the year against two setbacks along with the same record for State. It was the first victory over State for the Tar Heels in the past four years.

Duke

Duke's Blue Devils also took their first win of the season with a 26-7 triumph over Rice. The Devils played before a home crowd of 21,000 for the game.

Duke's two previous setbacks came from the hands of South Carolina and Ohio State. Currently they rate sixth in the conference.

Virginia

Virginia continued its streak of losing by being walloped 55-10 by Florida last week. It was one consolation for the Cavaliers, however, as they scored for the (Continued on page 6)

Tiger On The Loose

George "Pogo" Usry, senior right halfback, has proven to be one of the mainstays of the Tiger running attack since coming to Clemson in 1955. He is expected to continue his sparkling play throughout this season.

Mathis Sets New Records With Run

Fullbacks are ruling the roost right now in the Atlantic Coast Conference in the rushing department, but don't sell halfback Bill Mathis of Clemson short when it comes to the Saturday afternoon pastime of yard eating.

The Manchester (Ga.) senior has totaled 150 yards in 26 carries (5.8 average) and ranks fifth in the conference in rushing, but three of the four men ahead of him is there by a scant one yard. And Mathis is just 15 yards out of first place in the loop in rushing.

Where the 200-pounder does excel is in kickoff returns. Those who saw him return that beauty against Georgia Tech agree that it was worth the price of admission to see Mathis outrun the entire Tech team 99 yards on the opening second half kickoff.

That yardage, coupled with three others, gives him a total of 179 yards for the year.

In making that march through Grant Field, which is seldom done and greatly frowned upon in Atlanta when it happens, Mathis broke a school and conference record and his total kickoff yardage also broke an existing ACC mark.

The old school record for a kickoff return was 90 yds. set by Fred Hook against Georgia in 1932. In the conference, King Dixon's run against Texas in 1957 was good for 98 yards but Mathis beat the former Gamecock star by a yard. The 143 yards Mathis collected on three kickoff returns against the Jackets also knocked South Carolina's Carl Brazell's 120 yards against North Carolina in 1955 out of the record books.

line after the Cubs had started from the Georgia 30-yard stripe for the second quarter touchdown.

In the third quarter, the Cubs marched to the 7-yard line and Anderson hit Brannon in the end zone for a touchdown.

The Cub's next engagement is Wednesday night, Oct. 21, against Carolina's Biddies prior to the Big Thursday game.

Virus Stricken Tigers Lose To Tech

Lightening fast Georgia Tech called on eager backfield reserves, and then proceeded to roll over the virus-weakened Clemson Tigers 16-6. This was the third test of the season for Clemson and Tech who were ranked nationally sixth and seventh, respectively, and the engineers used their superior speed and depth to make it three in a row.

Clemson received the kick-off and Mathis hauled it back to the Tigers 22. With Mathis, "Pogo" Usry and Doug Cline doing the running, the Tigers moved the ball to Tech's 49 before they stalled. Doug Cline booted into the end zone and Tech took over on its own 20. On the first play Bobby Harris cut around left end for 58 yards before Ed Bost caught him, and four plays later Tech fumbled in the end zone where the Tigers recovered to end Tech's first threat.

With the pressure on, Lowndes Shingler got off a beautiful 57 yard punt only to see Tech quick kick for 41 yards. The Tigers again found no running room and were forced to punt again. Tech again deemed it necessary to quick kick and this time the ball rolled dead on the one yard line of the Tigers. This continuation of quick kicks kept the Tigers in a hole that they could not get out of, and Tech finally marched 47 yards for its first touchdown.

Clemson had a chance to even the game when Gerald Burch was rushed by Lou Cordileone and kicked for only 13 yards. The Tigers fought down to Tech's 14 but here the stubborn Engineers would not give ground and Clemson finally fumbled on fourth down. Georgia Tech then proceeded to run out the clock and the first half ended with Tech ahead 7-0.

Clemson was again on the receiving end as the second half began, as Georgia Tech elected to kick instead of receiving. This was the one mistake that the Engineers made during the game as Bill Mathis took the kick on his one and rambled 99 yards for Clemson's only score of the afternoon.

During this run the Tigers blocking was at its best for the afternoon and many of the Tiger supporters felt that Clemson would now make a comeback. Cline's try for the extra point was no good, but Tech was off sides. Then the Tigers tried for the two pointer, but Mathis was stopped short of pay-dirt. Tech now aware that the Tigers could be explosive began to turn their flashy backs loose once more. Cal James took a punt after he had traveled 27 yards he ran into the last man who was in his path, Lou Cordileone, who stopped him cold.

Tech then went to the air as Braselton hit Johnny Welch at the Tiger 5, who raced into the end zone for the TD. Tech now led 13-0 and the try for the two extra points was no good. Early in the fourth quarter Tech added a field goal to complete the scoring for the afternoon.

Clemson fought back with a drive of 77 yards early in the fourth quarter only to see it die out on the Tech's three yard line. During this drive the Tigers lost the services of Doug Cline and Bill Mathis with injuries.

This was the last real threat made by the Tigs as the stone wall of Georgia Tech held up in the last stages of the game. This week the Tigers will be in Tiger-town for their first home game, which will be with N. C. State.

Ty Cline Plays For United States In Olympic Pan - American Games

Clemson College received a great deal of prestige this past summer when Tiger pitcher Ty Cline was selected to play on the U. S. baseball team in the Pan-American Games. The Pan-American Games were sponsored by the U. S. Olympic Committee as a warmup for the 1960 Olympics.

The U. S. coach, John Kobs of Michigan State, saw Ty pitch for the Bengal Nine at the College World Series in Omaha. Ty was selected as a pitcher for the U. S. team, but because of a leg injury he was placed in the outfield. Ty played in all of the games either in left or center-field.

The other players for the team were selected mostly from the All-American teams, a few came from amateur teams all over the nation. Clemson and Florida State were the only southern colleges represented on the U. S. team.

All the players on the team were flown to Chicago where the games were to take place. The U. S. players arrived in Chicago three weeks before the start of the games. Most of this time was spent playing exhibition games.

Ten countries from the Western Hemisphere entered ten baseball teams. All of the games were played either in Comiskey Park or Rigley Field. The ten squads were divided into two brackets with four teams playing in the finals.

Ty had an excellent record for the eight game series with ten hits out of twenty nine trips to the plate. Of these hits, three were triples, two doubles and five were singles. Ty had his best game when he hit a triple and a double in a game against Costa Rica. The U. S. went on to win this game 9-1, but they placed third in the finals behind Venezuela and Puerto Rico.

Ty and the other members of the U. S. team were given an Olympic wardrobe worth approximately two hundred and fifty dollars. According to Ty, the only drawback to the Pan-American Games was the fact that the language barriers made it very difficult to understand the players of the other teams.

Intramural Swimmers Hit The Water

The Intramural swimming season got under way with a fast start, and is expected to be somewhat improved over last year's team. The boys above appear to be off to a close race.

Intramural Tennis Opens Here Monday

The intramural program is in high gear with the tennis tournament beginning this Monday afternoon. The sponsors of the tournament, Bill Edell and Les Longshore, expect 32 players but would like more.

All interested persons should register today or Sunday, and there are no qualifications except a racket and pair of tennis shoes. The tournament will last for two weeks and play will be only in the afternoons.

The winner of the tournament plus two runnersup will receive trophies as prizes. Both sponsors encourage all students to participate so let's answer the call. Intramural swimming got off to a good start this week, and results were good. The winner of the 40 yard freestyle was Tim Timmerman with Bagwell in second place and James in third. The 100 yard freestyle was won in a close race by Bagwell with Rhame in second and Paulnat placing third.

Paulnat looked sharp as he took first in the 200 yard freestyle with Street and Rhame finishing behind him in second and third respectively. The 40 yard butterfly was won by Gamble over Mathews and Street, and the 60 yard back stroke was won by Timmerman with Jackson and Edell close behind.

There were twelve students competing in the meet with one professor, Bill Edell, also in the competition. This was an improved meet over last year, and the intramural director, Bill Wilhelm encourages more participation.

Closed Circuit Television System Used For Instructional Purposes

By BOBBY DIE
Tiger Staff Writer

A new system of closed circuit TV was initiated October 5 and 6 in the regularly scheduled Mechanics of Materials (Mech 304). This system of closed circuit TV was designed to give the students a familiarization with the test equipment in the lab of the department.

The initial broadcast allowed them to observe the behavior of some common engineering materials under load.

In this new system, the teachers of individual classes narrate the happenings to their own classes. The classes are carried on in the usual manner, observing the same schedule, seating arrangement, and classroom procedure.

Three Cameras Used

Three cameras are used in this program and the process is repeated eight times, once for each of the eight classes in order to give not only each class, but each student, a close-up shot of the experiments performed during the period.

By repeating the experiment for each class, time may be allowed for the students in the section to ask questions or stop the proceeding in order that a particular phase of an experiment be explained or emphasized again.

Certainly this is one of the bigger advantages of the new system, for each of the cameras is equipped with telephoto lens and designed especially for these circumstances.

Follow Plan

The cameras follow a carefully organized plan for operating in the lab. The planning of this process and set-up carried on in and throughout the lab was handled by a TV Committee in the Engineering Mechanics Department, according to E. C. Byars, head of the television committee.

Any faculty member is welcomed by the committee to hear any of these classes if chair space is available in the particular classroom. Most classrooms have eight extra seats at the regular class meeting times. If any of the faculty members want a seat reserved for him, he may call the instructor concerned, according to E. C. Byars.

Freshmen Hold Elections Oct. 6

Freshmen Elections Result In Runoffs

Returns in the freshmen class elections late Tuesday evening this week resulted in only three candidates for representative being elected.

Jim Brabham of Greenwood, Gene Crocker of Enoree and Tommy Vaughan of Rock Hill were elected to the position of representative.

Competing for representative were Bob Conrad of Aiken, Andy Dowling, Hal Littleton of Hartsville and Richard Melton of Charlotte.

Results of the run-offs held yesterday were not available in time for this week's Tiger.

Seniors Organize Thirty-First Platoon; Edward Stewart To Lead Top Drill Team

The Clemson Senior Platoon was organized for the thirty-first consecutive year since its organization by Frank B. "Gator" Farr, former cadet colonel of the Clemson Cadet Corp. Class of 1930.

Gains Recognition

Since that date the platoon, which is composed of seniors and several hand-picked juniors, has performed for football games, parades, and numerous other events and has gained recognition as one of the top drill teams in the country.

At the first meeting, the members elected Ed Stewart, of Greenville, S. C., as leader; named as the assistant leader was Aubrey Shirley, an Industrial Management major from Honea Path.

Also elected were: Dick Weisner, a Mechanical Engineering major from Lancaster, business manager, and B. E. "Speedy" Lewis, as Agriculture major from Dillon, publicity manager.

Study Patterns

Following the election of officers the meeting became a drill session, and some of the basic senior platoon drill patterns were studied. This year more attention is being placed on the use of newer drill formations.

The officers are working together to form new movements which they hope will enable the Senior Platoon to give better performances and achieve higher recognition for Clemson and themselves, according to Lewis.

Words To The Wise

By MAC MCCORD
Associate Chapelain

If someone gave us a "buck," a "greenback" or a $1 bill, we would have no trouble determining the worth of this small piece of paper.

It is worth two halves, four quarters, ten dimes, twenty nickels or one hundred pennies, but scientists tell us the materials of a 150 lb. man are worth less than this small piece of paper—worth about $.98.

Now we realize this is no way to measure man's worth. Economic theories teach us that man is worth about what he can earn.

If this were true, it would mean that the winners of the World Series would be worth more for their few hours of work than many companies of soldiers fighting for days in Korea. This is not right—man is not worth what he can earn.

If an automobile costs two thousand dollars to produce, the salesman will tell us that's what it is worth, but a man is not worth what he costs. A very good example of this was the late Czar Nicholas of Russia.

He had every material thing that he wanted at his fingertips. Thousands of Russian peasants labored for years in the mines of Siberia to produce that comparatively insignificant figure, the Czar of Russia.

A generation earlier an Abraham Lincoln was being produced in America. This man struggled for an education, read borrowed books by the flickering light of a log fire and wore homespun clothing. His cost was a thousand times less than this Czar, and his worth was a thousand times more. No, men aren't worth what they cost.

If man is not worth the price of the materials in his body, or what he can earn or what he cost, just how does he know what he's worth?

Judges To Hold Tryouts For MC

Initial tryouts for the position of Master of Ceremonies of Tigerama will be conducted at 4 p.m. Wednesday, in the college auditorium in Tillman Hall.

Candidates must prepare an introduction to an act of their own choice which they will present before the judges. They will also be required to read a passage, tell a joke and ad lib before a microphone.

All students who are interested should register in the dormitory office sometime before Wednesday, Oct. 14th.

PRESBYTERIAN STUDENTS VISIT MONTREAT COLLEGE

Members of the Clemson Presbyterian Student Association were guests at Montreat Junior College on Oct. 3 and 4.

The students attended a square dance Saturday night, directed by Mr. Wylie Hogue, Presbyterian Minister to Students; a marsh-mellow roasting and a worship program led by the Clemson group.

On Sunday morning, the Clemson Students had as their Sunday School teacher Dr. Nelson Bell, father-in-law of Billy Graham. They stayed at the Assembly Inn in Montreat, North Carolina, overlooking Lake Susan.

Wesley Foundation Elects Executives

The president of the Wesley Foundation for 1954-55 will be Dwight Strawn, an Arts and Sciences junior from Raleigh.

Other officers elected at last Wednesday's meeting were Marshall Murphy, first vice-president; Wick Watson, second vice-president.

Also Robert Hill, secretary; and Phil Kennedy, Treasurer. Dr. Claud Green, professor and acting head of the English Department, was re-elected as faculty advisor.

The new directors, appointed by executives of Wesley Foundation, are Wesley Murph. projects; Frank Sutherland, deputations; Larry Snipes, publicity; Reo Bryan, fellowship.

campus organizations as the Blue Key, for which he is the alumni secretary.

He is president of the Tiger Brotherhood; he lettered his sophomore year and joined the Block "C" Club; and he also is a member of the Numeral Society. He takes a very active part in almost all of Clemson activities and backs them to the best of his ability.

"The fellowship that is among the students here at Clemson is what really makes it so well known. It is almost impossible for us to go on a trip anywhere and not have the backing that is so needed by the students as well as the alumni to make us have a winning team." These were the words of George Ustry when asked how he felt about Clemson.

"We weren't ready for Tech—there was too much talk and not enough playing, but this was due to so many cases of flu on the team," stated Ustry as to how he felt about last week's game. "After State we meet Carolina (U.S.C.), and this is our really next big hurdle."

When asked more about the South Carolina game "Pogo" stated "We romped all over them when I played on the freshman team, and we beat them when we played them my sophomore year. Last year the gamecocks returned the taste of defeat to us, but this time we intend to see that it does not happen.

Ustry feels that this year's schedule is one of the hardest that the team has played since he has been on the Clemson campus, but he also thinks that the Tigers are still one of the best teams in the country and can have one of their best seasons.

"One thing that has been against us this year has been the fact that we have not played a home game yet. It is hard to do very good in school and fly all over the country to play ball before a team on their home field. Now that we will play more home games and can hear a mighty roar from the students to back us, it will sure make it easier for us to win," states Ustry, "and it will be nice to be back to play in Death Valley."

"Pogo" played some baseball as a freshman, and he plans to play some more this spring, if it is at all possible, but his main goal for now is to do his best and see that the Bengals finish the rest of the season on the winning side of the gridiron.

Ustry stated it would be wonderful to be home to hear the backing of the students, so let us not be the ones to disappoint him and the rest of the team and really turn out for our first home game tomorrow when the terrible Tigers take on the Wolf Pack from State.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE FOR NEWMAN CLUB EVENT

L. Dean Darbe graduated from Kansas State U. in 1955 with a B. S. degree in electrical engineering. Today he is Supervising Service Foreman for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company at Hutchinson, Kansas. Dean has five Foremen and 58 craftsmen reporting to him. He's got full responsibility—covering installation, maintenance, testing and repair—for 21,000 telephones and all the equipment that serves them.

"It's interesting work," says Dean, "and it keeps me on the go. Here are a few of my activities during a recent day on the job."

"8:30 a.m. I meet with one of our Foremen at the plant garage to discuss a cable-pressurizing job. We're putting all aerial cable in Hutchinson under air pressure to keep out moisture which causes cable failure and costly service interruptions."

"10:15 a.m. My boss, District Plant Superintendent Randy Barron, and I go over plans for an addition to our dial central office. Several pieces of large and complex switching equipment will have to be rearranged to tie in with the new facilities."

"1:30 p.m. After lunch, I drive out to the new plant of a mobile home manufacturer. My men are completing installation of a new-type cordless switchboard. I discuss features of the new equipment with the firm's Vice President and Plant Manager."

"3:00 p.m. At our toll center we'll soon be adding another test desk to increase our facilities for 'trouble shooting' Long Distance circuits. Here, with our Chief Testboardman, I go over some of the board changes which will have to be made."

"That's about it for one day. Tomorrow's schedule will be different. I'm doing interesting, challenging work all the time—and I'm given plenty of responsibility. That's what I like about my job."

There are countless young men like Dean Darbe who are moving ahead in supervisory careers with the Bell Telephone Companies. You could be one of them. Talk it over with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus—and read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office.

Freshmen Cheerleaders Begin Season's Work

Tatum Gressett Leads Frosh Cheerleaders

Last week, after two grueling weeks of practice, eight freshmen were chosen from thirty-two candidates by the varsity cheerleaders. The freshman cheering squad has already cheered for a game that the Baby Tigs won 18-0 over the Georgia Bull Pups. These cheerleaders are out to give an immense amount of support to the Cub team this season. All freshmen are urged to attend the Baby Tigs games and yell with the cheerleaders to give the team its winning spirit.

The Squad is headed by Tatum Gressette, head cheerleader. He hails from Columbia, S. C., where he attended Dreher High School, lettering in football and track. His father is an old Carolina graduate and he hears so much about it that he got tired and decided to attend Clemson.

Another Dreher graduate to make the frosh cheering squad was Jim Covington. It was here that he took a part in the school's football, baseball, and track. He was assistant sports editor for the student newspaper — The Blue Print, and he is now working on the Tiger sports staff. He is a Civil Engineering major.

The only Tarheel on the squad, Raymond Putnam, hails from Gastonia, and is also a Civil Engineering major. While in high school he lettered for three years in football and track. He came to Clemson because he did not like the North Carolina schools, and his brother, Buddy, is also attending Clemson.

Fort Knox, Kentucky, has a member on the squad in Dick Wilbanks. He lettered in football and was on the rifle team for his high school. Dick was originally from Greenville, and that is his main reason for coming to Clemson to major in Mechanical Engineering.

The last male member of the team is also from Columbia. Jerry Kline attended Columbia High, and he is majoring in Industrial Management here at Clemson.

Margaret Hoover of Cheraw, is majoring in Architecture. She worked on the school newspaper — The Spokesman and the annual — The Brave. She was a member of the National Honor Society and was a member of the Block "C" Club for her participation in basketball and tennis.

Martha Embler of Townville attended Hanna Hi at Anderson. She was a state 4-H vice-president. She came to Clemson to major in mathematics in the Arts and Science department.

The cheering squad is rounded out by Sybil Evatt of Newry.

STAFF SERGEANT WARD ASSIGNED TO CLEMSON

Staff Sergeant William B. Ward was assigned to the Department of Air Science Detachment at Clemson June 15, 1959. Prior to his recent assignment S-Sgt. Ward was stationed at Ramstein Air Base, Germany.

Ward, a native of St. Stephen, entered the Air Force in 1950. He is performing duties as a personnel specialist at this detachment.

S-Sgt. Ward resides at 19A Daniel Drive with his wife, Lu, a native of Oklahoma, and his two boys, Brock and Kevin.

Letters To The Editor

Holds Students Responsible For Lack Of Library Time

Dear Editor,
After reading your editorial in the Tiger on October 2, I decided that some thing ought to be corrected. Before I start I agree with you that new library is needed, but I must remind you that Mr. Gourlay, Director of the Library, is also aware of this and is doing his utmost to alleviate this problem.

Disagrees With Reasons
While I agree with you, I can not at all in any stretch of imagination agree with the reasons that you have stated. It is not very practical to build and move an expensive library on such unrealistic ideas.

1. Concerning the classes on Sat. - Agreed there are classes to 12 o'clock and Agreed it would be 1 o'clock before everyone has finished with lunch.

If the library closed at 2 o'clock (this would give you an hour) then you would be justified in using this reason, however, the library closes at 5 o'clock and there are 4 hrs. that anyone who needs the library can make use of it.

But the majority waste their time, but yet in all fairness you can not sacrifice the library system because some are not willing to economize their own time.

Students Leave
You must also agree that there are usually some types of entertainment for all the boys on Saturday night dancing, bowling, student lounge, bridge, and if necessary studying. Those who leave town on Saturday don't because the library is closed!!

Have you ever realized how many hours the Library is open? From Monday to Friday the library is opened from 8 o'clock in the morning to 10 o'clock at night.

Then the library is opened from 8 to 5 on Saturdays, giving you nine hours. On Sundays the library is opened from 2 in the afternoon to 10 at night. YOU HAVE A TOTAL OF 87 HOURS THAT THE LIBRARY IS OPENED.

2. It is not true that the library is understaffed, but is it not for this reason that the library is kept open or is closed. The library has an ample number of professional librarians at all times.

3. It is totally unfair for you to hold the library responsible for the procrastination on the student's part. This college is to teach young men how to use their time. What other part of ed provides details of registration and administration as well as sample questions, and may be obtained from the Dean of the Graduate School or directly from Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau St., Princeton, N. J., or P. O. Box 27896, Los Angeles 27, Calif.

A completed application must reach the ETS office at least fifteen days before the date of the administration for which the candidate is applying.

ETS To Give 3 Sets Of Exams For Graduates

The Graduate Record Examinations will be administered at Clemson three times during this school year as announced by the Educational Testing Service.

Dean J. K. Williams of the Graduate School state that this exam is required by Clemson Graduate School for candidates for graduate degrees, however, graduate courses may be taken without having taken the exam.

Seniors may take the exam here on Saturday, Nov. 21. The tests will be given on Jan. 16, April 23 and July 9 in 1960. Educational Testing Service has advised each candidate to inquire of the Graduate school of his choice which of the exams he should take and on which dates.

The GRE tests offered in these nationwide programs include a test of general scholastic ability and advance level tests of achievement in sixteen different subject matter fields. Candidates are permitted to take the Aptitude Test and or one of the Advanced Tests.

A Bulletin of Information (in which an application is insert-the school lets the students get away with procrastination?

It is for each student to make use of his time, especially when he is perfectly aware that the library is closed at certain hours on the weekends. Letting the student procrastinate any further would only hurt him.

Has 175,000 Volumes
4. The library collection of some 175,000 volumes, which is now available, has been carefully selected for the needs of the students and faculty, but I am quite sure that the library staff would be the first to admit that they need more, but don't most libraries?

Nothing is more disturbing than to hear, "I can never find anything in this library!" I would like to remind everyone that the books are put back on the shelves by trained library assistants. The job of finding a book is difficult, that I agree on.

It is difficult because the system of any library is difficult. You have an entirely different layout of numbers in the Library of Congress System that people are not used to, and again you are using a big research library.

I must also point out that while the open stack system has advantages to the majority there is also the chance that some of the books may be put on the shelves wrong.

Mr. Editor, it is inconceivable that any library can be a black spot to any campus. Every book has something useful to somebody and therefore it is helpful. Many of the things that can't be found in our library are not available to our library.

I am quite sure that the library is willing to stay open when the demand requires, and when it is most helpful. However, it is not necessary, in my opinion, for your stated reasons.

Sincerely yours,
Andrew Cochran, '63

Letters To Tom

Student Criticizes Columns, Editorials

Dear Tom,
May I point out that in Mr. Clark's column on the 2nd of October, he seemed to have left out one of the very hard-hitting points that could have been in reference to Clemson that also appeared in that same very fine Parade article:

"A state college in the South committed every dime of its borrowing power to build a handsome new agricultural school—in the face of dwindling agricultural enrollments. Now the building is only partly used, and the school has no funds for a much-needed science building."

If Mr. Clark is going to use the Parade article to best advantage, it would be better to look at the situation more objectively and with less bias.

And also Tom, is it necessary to have a re-hash of the same material in two (or more) columns? Mr. Deaton has covered the subject of voting admirably and with special emphasis on the needed points, but we can look on both sides of Mr. Deaton's column and see honest endeavors to say the same thing.

In the Editorial section, one finds reference to the closed library; Mr. Clark also covers the same subject and tells us nothing new. In the Editorial section, reference is made to the coming Frosh elections.

Here and in Mr. Clark's column we find nothing that Mr. Deaton hasn't already noted. If repetition isn't necessary, why have it. Certainly there is more material about which editorials can be written than the editors would have us believe.

Executive Sergeant's Club Names Hill As President

Executive Sergeant's Club elected Robert Hill, Chemical Engineering major from Jackson, president for the coming year. The election and reorganization of the club occurred at the Sept. 24 meeting.

The other officers elected were Dave Rodgers, Civil Engineering major from Georgetown, vice-president; Charles Floyd, Chemical Engineering major from Galivants Ferry, secretary; Roscoe Caughman, treasurer; and Captain Joseph E. Green, assistant professor of ROTC, Advisor.

Membership is granted to members of the junior class of both the Army and Air Force ROTC units who have attained the rank of Sergeant Major, First Sergeant, Color Sergeant, or Master Sergeant.

Elect Other Juniors These members then elect other outstanding juniors from the ROTC units who are holding the rank of Sergeant First Class or Technical Sergeant until the quota of thirty has been completed for the entire club.

The purpose of the club is to meet and discuss mutual problems which arise concerning military matters. The Executive Sergeant's Club presents a sabre drill at the annual Military Ball each year.

Other activities the club participates in are the sponsoring of the best drilled cadet eliminations and a display for Homecoming.

shine box with them twenty-four hours a day to shine any member's shoes that so desire. Each Cub is also assigned to about three members to do anything within reason between the hours of 12: Noon and 8 o'clock the following morning.

Another new oddity has been added, besides the old standards of the paddle, candy boxes, and block "C" around their neck, and this is the punishment pad. If a Cub does not do as an old member wishes, the old member will sign this pad and settle the score this afternoon. Also, the Cub must have his pad signed by each man that he is assigned.

President of the Block "C" Club, Jim Payne, says, "The Cubs may seem a little over anxious when they 'clear the quadrangle', but we want everyone to know that it is all in fun and we do not want anyone to be hurt. It is a welcome relief to the Cubs to have a chance to get out of the line and run around to cool off and hide for a few minutes."

"It has been one of the traditions at Clemson, and no one has ever gotten hurt, but something is being done about it now, so please bear with us and take it in your stride, so that the Cubs can have a little break without causing any trouble."

This afternoon at 1 o'clock marks the last of the orange paddles for this semester, but they will be seen again next semester when it all starts again. It has been a long week for the Cubs, but it is over now and they can wear their new sweaters with a justified pride, because it is one of the marks of one of the finest colleges in the South.

Parachute Vets Hold Sky Diving Shows Sundays

Bill Holt and Ed Selby, two Clemson students, are conducting sky diving shows each Sunday at Lavonia, Ga. from 2 until 5 p.m.

Involves No Danger Veterans of many parachute jumps, Bill and Ed stated that there is nothing dangerous connected with sky diving as long as the diver has been instructed properly and taught to observe the safety regulations.

Bill, Industrial Education major from Nichols, is a veteran of 31 static line jumps and 10 sky diving jumps. Ed, Industrial Management major from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., has made 14 static line jumps and 41 sky diving jumps.

Admit Free They do continuous sky diving allowing very little delay between jumps. Admission to their show in Lavonia is free, although they do ask for donations during the show to pay for the airplane and gasoline.

In the near future Ed and Bill hope to begin a sky diving team at Clemson such as are at the University of Texas, University of Florida, and Harvard.

STUDYING CAN BE SCREAMS

If studying is bugging you, try mnemonics.

Mnemonics, as we all know, was invented by the great Greek philosopher Mnemon in 526 B.C. (Mnemonics, incidentally, was only one of the inventions of this fertile Athenian. He also invented the staircase which, as you may imagine, was of inestimable value to mankind. Before the staircase people who wished to go from floor to floor were forced to live out their lives, willy-nilly, on the ground floor, and many of them grew cross as bears. Especially Demosthenes who was elected Consul of Athens three times but never served because he was unable to get up to the office of Commissioner of Oaths on the third floor to be sworn in. But after Mnemon's staircase, Demosthenes got up to the third floor easy as pie—to Athens' sorrow, as it turned out. Demosthenes, his temper shortened by years of confinement to the ground floor, soon embroiled his countrymen in a series of senseless wars with the Persians, the Visigoths and the Ogallala Sioux. He was voted out of office in 517 B.C. and Mnemon, who had made his accession possible, was pelted to death with fruit salad in the Duomo. This later became known as the Missouri Compromise.)

But I digress. We were discussing mnemonics, which are nothing more than aids to memory—catchwords or jingles that help you remember names, dates and places. For example:

Columbus sailed the ocean blue In fourteen hundred ninety-two.

See how simple? Make up your own jingles. What, for instance, is the important event immediately following Columbus's discovery of America? The Boston Tea Party, of course. Try this:

Samuel Adams threw the tea Into the briny Zuyder Zee.

(NOTE: The Zuyder Zee was located in Boston Harbor until 1904 when Salmon P. Chase traded it to Holland for Louisiana and two outfields.)

But I digress. To get back to mnemonics, you can see how simple and useful they are—not only for history but also for everyday living; for instance:

In nineteen hundred fifty-nine The smoke to look for is Alpine.

"Why Alpine?" you ask. Taste that fine, fresh flavor. Enjoy that subtle coolness. Until Alpine you needed two cigarettes to reap the benefits of Alpine—one for flavor, one for high filtration—and smoking two cigarettes is never graceful; in fact, with mittens it is high impossible. Now you need only one cigarette—Alpine. Get some. You'll see.
