

SC LHI
C6T5

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
SOUTH CAROLINA ROOM

Mrs. TAPS Contest

Any married student wishing to enter his wife in the Mrs. TAPS Contest must turn in her name, address, and picture to the Office of Student Affairs no later than Monday, Nov. 16. Entrants will be judged solely by their pictures.

The Tiger

"He Roars For Clemson University"

South Carolina's Oldest College Newspaper

Circulation—7,000

CLEMSON, SOUTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1964

Vol. LIX—No. 10

Who's Who Nominates Clemson Students

Senate Investigates Distribution Of Maintenance And Activity Fee

Last Monday the student senate adopted a new student government seal and heard a special report on the distribution of the student activity and maintenance fee.

Senior Senator Carter presented the design for the new seal. The seal, which has as its center design three tangential circles, one containing the balances of justice, another the lamp of learning, and the third the crossed scrolls of knowledge. It also carries the motto "Ecce Homo" — "Behold the Man." Tommy Hamm, president of the senate, presented a special report on the distribution of the student activity and maintenance fee. At the beginning of Hamm's written report, he called the fee "a misnomer" because "about 90% of the money collected under this name goes for faculty salaries."

Hamm placed the total collection of the fee at approximately 1.2 million dollars; an exact amount 122,950 dollars is used for "what is normally considered student activities."

The following is a breakdown of the student activity and maintenance fee:

Athletics	$41,000
YMCA	19,000
TIGER	10,000
TAPS	10,500
WSBF	7,000
Concert Series	18,000
Student Govt.	2,200
Student Organizations:
Concert Band
PR's
Glee Club
Rifle Team
Fencing Club
Debate Team
Freshman
Orientation
Classes	9,250
CHRONICLE	6,000
TOTAL	$122,950

The report stated that 41,000 dollars is the total amount the athletic department receives from the University or the state. The remainder of the athletic department's budget of four to five hundred thousand dollars comes "from such things as ticket sales."

The grant-in-aid program is financed by IPTAY, the Book Store, and the Canteen. According to the report the Book Store makes an annual profit of 35,000 dollars, the Canteen 15 to 18 thousand dollars. The Book Store and the Canteen pay approximately five thousand dollars in rent and for utilities which they use.

Money for intramural sports comes directly from state appropriations; none of this money comes from the fee.

One senator noted that the Central Dance Association gets no money from the fee; he also said that many people think that the CDA gets money from the University.

Other action at the meeting included presentation of a bill for selection of cheerleaders and a special committee report on ideas to promote spirit at the Clemson-Carolina football game next week.

The bill for the selection of cheerleaders would set up an eleven-member committee to choose after football season each year. The bill was continued until next week pending further consideration.

The special committee to promote spirit at the Clemson-Carolina game reported that it is working on several new ideas to promote spirit; the committee was given the senate's permission to work on its own.

The senate is considering several suggestions brought to the floor from the suggestion

(Continued on page 6)

Exhibition Series Presents Paintings

Fourth in the current series of exhibits sponsored by the Clemson Architectural Foundation, "Emotional Temperatures of Art" will be open to the public beginning Nov. 14 and running until Dec. 5.

The Emotional Temperatures of Art, an exhibition of paintings selected by Samuel Wagstaff, Jr., curator of paintings at the Wadsworth Atheneum, Hartford, Conn., is designed to test the validity of concepts of "hot" and "cold" as analyzed through color, saturation, line texture and subject matter.

An introduction by Mr. Wagstaff calls attention to the formal aspects of painting in outstanding works by contemporary American artists. The exhibition will contain approximately 40 paintings with brief wall text.

The exhibit in Rudolph Lee Gallery of the School of Architecture is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. week days, 9 a.m. to 12 noon Saturdays, and 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays.

A few of the artists represented in this exhibit are: Joseph Albers—"Homage to the Square; Arranged Foliage," Peter Forakis—"You Can't Change the World, But Sum Guy's Doin it All the Time," Robert Rauschenberg—"Break - Through," Andy Warhol—"Race Riot," and Paul Wonner—"Vanity."

Dr. R. C. Edwards

Dr. Edwards Discusses Effects Of ROTC Bill

"Regarding the recently enacted ROTC Vitalization Act," Dr. R. C. Edwards, president of the University, addressed a joint assembly of Air Force and Army ROTC advanced cadets in University Chapel yesterday.

Describing the purpose of the bill, which was signed by President Johnson on Oct. 13, Dr. Edwards said, "The Act is intended to vitalize the Reserve Officers Training Programs of the Army, Navy and Air Force by granting increased pay and allowances to all participants in Advanced training and by offering a four-year Financial Assistance Program under which a limited number as students will receive a retainer pay plus tuition, fees, books and laboratory expenses."

Dr. Edwards went on to state that Congress passed the bill because of the benefits which the nation gains from the program. He says that the size of the junior (high school) level of the ROTC program will be increased by as much as six times the present size. According to Dr. Edwards, "This action was taken over the objections of budget and manpower-conscious advisors from the Pentagon."

Turning to Clemson's four-year program, Dr. Edwards said that Clemson's program is designed to fulfill the intentions of the Congress which, according to his speech, is "to have the ROTC program reach as many of the young men of this nation as possible." He also says that the program here is "worthwhile" and plans for it to "be even better in future years."

He then stated the benefits of the program, saying, "Assuming you have enrolled in the Advanced ROTC Program in good faith for the purpose of qualifying for and accepting a commission, I can see

(Continued on page 6)

31 Seniors, 3 Juniors Get National Recognition

Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges announced this week the selection of 31 seniors and 3 juniors to represent Clemson.

Selection of candidates was determined by a committee of faculty, administration, and student representatives. Recognition for this award is based upon character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and potential for future usefulness to the business world and to society.

The Clemson Who's Who group includes 31 seniors and three juniors. The average grade point ratio for the group is 3.34.

Included in the group of 31 seniors is Rudolph A. Antoncic, an economics major from McKeesport, Pa. He was elected to the Blue Key Honor Fraternity last year; he has also participated in student government as a junior class senator last year and is vice-president of the Tiger Brotherhood of which he has been a member for three years. He has played basketball for four years and is a member of the Block "C" Club. He is a brother of Delta Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

Thomas James Bell, from Hartsville, president of the student body, has also been selected for the award, which he also received last year. A winner of the Sigma Tau Epsilon Award, he has twice been elected president of his class. He holds membership in the Block "C" Club, the Tiger Brotherhood, the Baptist Student Union, and Delta Kappa Alpha.

Gerald Wayne Caughman, an industrial management major from Lexington, is president of Kappa Delta Chi social fraternity, and a member of the High Court, Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Kappa Phi, Blue Key, and Tiger Brotherhood. He was director of Tigerama this year.

Edgar C. Crow, an industrial management major from West Palm Beach, Fla., is a varsity player on the tennis team; he has been on the Atlantic Coast Conference Honor Roll the past two years. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Kappa Phi, the Industrial Management Society, the Calhoun Literary Society, and the Pre-Law Society.

Sandra Eve Cochran is an English major from Clemson. She is the winner of the Link Foundation Award. Miss Cochran holds membership in Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Tau Epsilon, Angel Flight, WSBF, and the YMCA Council and Cabinet.

Charles Foster, a junior, is an electrical engineering major from Summerville; he is the secretary of the senate. He holds membership in Phi Eta Sigma, Blue Key, and Kappa Delta Chi.

Thomas Leroy Gooding is a civil engineering major from Hampton. Gooding, a hall supervisor, was a member of the Pershing Rifles and is now a member of the Scabbard and Blade. He is also a member of Tau Beta Phi, and Phi Eta Sigma.

William Frederick Gryder, an electrical engineering major from Rock Hill, received the Society of American Military Engineers Gold Metal Award last year and the Schlumberger Scholarship Award. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Phi.

Editor of the TAPS, James Robert Hambright from Blacksburg is president of the Inter-Fraternity Council and a member of the High Court. He is a member of Blue Key, Kappa Sigma Nu social fraternity, and Tiger Brotherhood.

William Furman Hamilton, associate editor of THE TIGER, was a member of the General Electric College Bowl Team last year. He is a physics major from Clemson and a Poole Scholar.

Thomas C. Hamm, an industrial management major from Lancaster, is president of the student senate and business director of WSBF radio station. Hamm is a member of Phi Eta Sigma and Blue Key. He has represented Clemson at the South Carolina State Student Legislature and the Southern Universities Student Government meetings.

Brewer Tate Horton, Jr. Burlington, N. C. is an economics major; he is president of the Blue Key national honor fraternity and feature editor of the TAPS. He is a member of Kappa Delta Chi, the student senate and the Tiger Brotherhood.

Cecil Oates Huey, Jr., a mechanical engineering major from Anderson, is a member of the track team and the Block "C" Club. He is a High Court member and a brother of Delta Kappa Alpha.

(Continued on page 6)

Clemson Team Shows Gains

Clemson, along with 70 college debate teams, participated in the Peachtree Invitational Debate Tournament at Emory University Nov. 6 and 7.

Representing Clemson in the tournament were John Anderson, Michael Hopkins, Jim Stacy, Tom Butler, Marvin Runyan, and Hans Feige. Debate team coach, Arthur J. Fear, speech professor, also attended the tournament.

Debate teams, including some of the nation's top groups, debated on the topic, "The Federal Government Should Establish National Programs of Public Work for the Unemployed." The Emory tournament was the second of a possible eight or ten tournaments.

(Continued on page 6)

Committee Urges Student Enthusiasm

Being a committee formed through the Student Senate that is dealing with school spirit and enthusiasm at the University of South Carolina game next Saturday, we would like to enlighten the student body concerning our intentions.

We hope to think up several new ideas for cheers and to coordinate the band, cheering squad and students in an organized manner. The committee would also like to recommend that all students check THE TIGER next week for our final plans and any other significant information.

Any organization that would like to assist with any activities during pre-game time, please contact Steve Wright in room 5-227 as soon as possible. The organizations participating would be involved in antics and short demonstrations of school spirit.

A subject that should also be considered is the one concerning the possibility of destruction to campus property before the U. S. C. game. This committee wishes to urge each student to report any appearance of unusual activity to the Clemson University "Security Force."

Steve Wright
Chairman of Senate
Committee on Carolina
Game

Plans For New Infirmary Now Nearing Completion

By JUNE BLACKWELL
News Staff

The Board of Trustees has given its permission to the Student Health Service to appropriate money for a new infirmary, to be built in the near future. The plans must now be carried before the state legislature.

After serving as the infirmary for over 50 years, the converted residence has now been declared inadequate. Twice before, after both world wars, similar circumstances have arisen, but the new chemistry building and the library presently being built were deemed more important, according to Dr. Judson E. Hair, director of the Student Health Service. Plans were thus set aside to be considered at another time.

These plans call for an infirmary of approximately 20,000 square feet, which is slightly smaller than the ceramic engineering building. The first floor will include the out-patient clinic and such accessories as a pharmacy, x-ray physiotherapy, clinical lab, and cafeteria. The second floor will be the hospital section. One half of the rooms will be semiprivate, and the other fifty per cent will be divided into individuals (singles) and wards. All rooms will have either private or semiprivate baths.

The future infirmary will be designed with the idea of possible expansion of student body and staff. As estimated now, there will be 56 beds, with room for 32 emergency beds. This gives a total emergency capacity of 88. Space will also be afforded to conference rooms for staff and other medical groups.

"Our idea is to give the quickest good medical care we can afford, without rushing people through, so that they will miss as little time from classes as possible," stated Dr. Hair.

There are several possible locations for the new student health center. According to Dr. Hair, "The health service should be as close to the biggest center of dormitory population as you can get. You penalize only the sick person by putting it far away." One possibility is the area behind Sirrine Hall, and another is the location of the old Earle home in front of Hanover House.

Tigerama Attracts Largest Crowd Ever

Kappa Delta Chi won the overall award for the best skit at Tigerama last Friday night, as the student production which is co-ordinated by the Blue Key national honorary fraternity drew the largest crowd in its history.

(Continued on page 6)

Clemson Alumni Body Elects Coleman President For 1965

Clemson University Alumni Association members have elected Henry C. Coleman '26 of Daytona Beach, Fla., president-elect to assume presidential duties Jan. 1, 1966. He's a native of Hopkins, S. C., and chairman of the Board of Directors, Commercial Bank of Daytona Beach.

Incoming Association president for 1965 is William H. Grier '23 of Rock Hill, S. C., last year's president-elect. He is president of the Rock Hill Printing and Finishing Co. and the Lyman Printing and Finishing Co.

Newly elected Association vice president is Robert L. Stoddard '41 of Spartanburg, S. C., a partner in the law firm of Moore and Stoddard and mayor of Spartanburg. He takes office next January, followed by two years on the National Council.

Another nominee for president-elect was James A. Milling, '27 of Indianapolis, Ind.; in January he automatically becomes a three-year National Council member, by virtue of his nomination for office.

In the balloting for vice president, Mr. Stoddard defeated Philip H. Prince '49, also of Spartanburg, merchandising manager for Paolet Industries.

A total of 1,476 ballots were returned in this largest election in Association history, surpassing the previous record high vote of 1,307 cast by active alumni in 1957.

Division directors in four districts composed of 17 South Carolina counties were elected as follows, the chairman of each, named first:

District 8 (Richland and Sumter): Sam E. McGregor,

Hopkins; Nolan P. Shuler, Columbia; William E. DuRant, Sumter; District 9 (Allendale, Bamberg, Barnwell, Beaufort, Calhoun, Colleton, Hampton, Jasper, Orangeburg): F. Reeves Gressette, Orangeburg; Owen E. Pritchett, Fairfax; Marshall M. Clinkscales, Bamberg; Robert B. Fickling, Blackville; Jules D. Levin, Beaufort; Lawrence M. Gressette, St. Matthews; H. Stanley Fellers, Walterboro; Winston A. Lawton, Estill; Frederick A. Nimmer, Ridgeland.

Also District 10 (Berkeley, Charleston, Clarendon, Dorchester, Georgetown, Williamsburg): Thomas E. Thornhill, Charleston; Frampton E. Wyndham, Moncks Corner; Fred W. Hook, Manning; J. Fletcher Smoak, Summerville; Col. David S. Blackwell, Pawleys Island; Edward C. Burgess, Kingstree; and Percy Miley, Charleston.

Also named were division directors for North Carolina, 12 states in the Northeast and the District of Columbia.

Winners Announced In Display Contest

In the Homecoming Display Contest the winners for moving and still displays were Kappa Delta Chi and Sigma Kappa Epsilon, respectively.

The Chi's received $45 for their moving display, "Frank's Barber Shop" depicting Coach Hickey, University of North Carolina coach, polishing Frank Howard's brogans, and a Clemson tiger clipping a U. N. C. ram's horns.

Sigma Kappa Epsilon won $30 for their still display, "Clemson University Tigers," which included a tiger defending the gridiron, backed by the letters CU.

Other winners in moving displays included Delta Kappa Alpha, second place and $35, Delta Phi Kappa, third place and $15, and Phi Kappa Delta, honorable mention.

Chosen as the top three for still displays were the Forestry Club, Sigma Alpha Zeta, and the Agronomy Club, with $15 and $10 being given for

(Continued on page 6)

Clemson Queen

Miss Ollis Brooks is crowned Homecoming Queen during the halftime show of the Clemson-North Carolina football game. (Photo courtesy of TAPS)

Beauty Queens Express Thanks For Nominations

Two Clemson coeds captured the titles of Miss Clemson and Homecoming Queen last weekend and reigned over the Homecoming festivities.

In a ballot held last Thursday, Nov. 5, Ande Mitchell, a freshman representing the Delta Kappa Alpha fraternity, was elected Miss Clemson University. Miss Mitchell is an applied math major from Columbia. She was crowned at the conclusion of the Tigerama skits over 15 other contestants, after which she announced the Tigerama winners.

"I would like to thank the student body of Clemson for making this dream come true. I only hope to live up to your expectations. Thank you, Delta Kappa Alpha, for sponsoring me and making it all possible," stated Ande.

Ollis Brooks, the only Clemson coed representative in the group of eighteen young ladies, was crowned Homecoming Queen during the halftime activities at the U. N. C. game last Saturday. The Horticulture major represented the Clemson Horticulture Club. Ollis is a junior from Loris.

Kappa Delta Chi's prize-winning moving display delighted many of the large crowd attending Clemson's Homecoming festivities. (Photo courtesy of TAPS)

* TIGER CANVASSES CLEMSON CAMPUS

BOTTLE THROWING

For several years, the top of the Dining Hall has been used as a target for throwing bottles from the dorms facing that side. In order to facilitate those students who want to study, the target on the ventilation duct has been removed, with the cooperation of Mr. Rimmer, Dormitory Manager.

Dean Coakley, Dean of Men, commented, "These students who throw the bottles are not hurting us, they are hurting their buddies. The offenders may cause someone to get cut badly by throwing the bottles out of their windows."

"This 'game' is expensive because it does damage to the roof. All offenders should be reported to the proper authorities. This 'sport' should be stopped so that students can study better. And, if this activity does not stop, we will apprehend the students."

"Students are reminded that throwing these bottles is a Residence Hall offense, which means it comes under the jurisdiction of the Men's Residence Court. However, if someone gets hurt by the glass, the offense comes under the High Court."

P. S. One student has already been caught and punished.

"The Administration has also stopped the music practicing in Tillman Hall to make studying easier for that dorm section. However, the students in this section don't seem to appreciate this."

ART EXHIBITION

In the Rudolph Lee Gallery of the School of Architecture, an exhibition of 'Emotional Temperatures of Art' will be shown starting tomorrow. On display will be forty paintings by contemporary American artists.

Accompanying this exhibit will be a brief text prepared by Samuel Wagstaff, Jr. Mr. Wagstaff is the Curator of Paintings at the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford, Connecticut.

This paintings exhibition is sponsored by the Clemson Architectural Foundation. The display will remain in the Architecture Building from Nov. 14 through Dec. 5.

HEAT CONTROL

Many students have been wondering how the steam heating in the dorms is controlled. The majority of the valves which feed steam into the buildings are manually operated.

In two sections of the tincans and in four of the barracks, there are thermostats which control the steam valves. These are completely automatic and need no adjustment for the steam to be delivered during the needed times.

However, the manually operated valves must be turned on by one of the Steam Plant employees. "If trouble arises in the Steam Plant, these valves are sometimes neglected. This results in the steam either being cut on, or off, late," stated Mr. R. M. Rochester, Steam Plant Engineer.

THE VERY END

Read not to contradict, nor to believe, but to weigh and consider. (Bacon)

Styles And Shapes Changed By Time

By JIM STACY
TIGER Feature Writer

When the first cave man dropped the hunk of meat he was gnawing on to whistle at the little ol' gal measuring 48"-47"-49", he probably didn't realize what he was starting. Although some Russians would still like that cave queen, fashions in female figures have changed many times, usually to keep later period cave men whistling.

Egyptian men liked their women long limbed and supple, with firm muscles and dark skin. They considered the fuller, fleshier bodies of the Roman woman soggily bloated and white as if from floating in water for a week.

Henry, the Greek, would have liked the Roman ideal though. Had the model for Venus de Milo of Grecian fame, although from Melos in the Aegean Sea, been five feet, six inches tall, she would have measured 43"-32"-40".

Marie Antoinette and her hourglass figure had women of the late eighteenth century wearing hip padding to emphasize the smallness of their waist. The accent above the waist was on smoothness of line rather than of particular quantity.

In the late nineteenth century the Gibson Girl heard the whistles despite an overall effect of being swaybacked. The outstanding feature of the perfect figure was fullness from collarbone to waistline.

Fashions did a rapid about face to meet the nineteenth-century. The dapper flapper was so straight up and down that she had to stand twice to cast one shadow; all eyes were on the legs and knees.

Today the problem of defining the perfect figure or when to whistle is often made simple by the ancient maxim, "Out of sight, out of mind." Here at Clemson when female figures are out of sight men go out of their minds.

Prosser Fights Cong Influx In Viet Nam

Ed. Note: This article is one telling of the accomplishments and duties of Mr. Lamar Prosser. Mr. Prosser attended Clemson just prior to World War II. The starting of the war saw him quit college and begin his military training.

The story of Lamar Prosser of Washington, D. C., serving with the Agency for International Development in Vietnam, is one of quiet success in an area of the world where the news is more likely to be harsh and frustrating.

Prosser, an army veteran and world traveler, is AID's Development Officer for the province of Pleiku, a mountainous area lying along the border of Cambodia. Almost every day his work-worn jeep can be seen rooster-tailing dirt or slinging mud as he barrels along some rutted track to survey personally the problems or progress in one of the province's 220 hamlets or 27 land development centers.

As with the AID Mission's resident representatives in Vietnam's other 45 provinces, Prosser's task is to help the people of Pleiku build more schools, develop their agriculture, improve their medical services, and learn the processes of democratic government.

Counter-insurgency is his business; all of his efforts and projects are calculated to encourage the rural Vietnamese to resist the blandishments and threats—and all too often the outright violence—of the Communist Viet Cong activities in the area.

More than 100,000 of this province's total population of some 162,000 are mountain tribesmen—montagnards, as they are called. Throughout the highland border country of South Vietnam they number close to one million, belonging to more than 30 tribes.

With stone age cultures of their own, they are ethnically quite apart from the Lowland Vietnamese who occupy the 27 Land Development Centers in Pleiku as part of a program designed years earlier to alleviate overcrowded conditions in the coastal region to the east. Montagnard allegiance to the government is hard to win, but the independent, suspicious people also reject the overtures of the Viet Cong for the most part.

Lamar Prosser's role is to fit hamlet improvement programs to the tribesmen's special needs and customs. He works hand-in-glove with Vietnamese officials and American military advisers in the province in promoting enlightened psychological warfare—civic action projects of the Vietnamese Armed Forces.

The kernel of the program, for Lowland Vietnamese, is in further improvement of the 27 Land Development Centers established in Pleiku Province. Several had deteriorated badly before the present provincial rehabilitation program went into effect with American assistance, and there had been wholesale desertions back to the narrow coastal strip.

Typical of these centers is Ninh Duc, a community of 309 families, numbering 1,219 people. With the help of AID-furnished fertilizer and improved seedlings, the people are cultivating 500 acres of rice, 1,125 acres of rubber, and 455 acres of various other crops that include peanuts, rice, corn, and kenaf fiber.

Under the land development program, each family receives from five to 10 acres of land for cultivation and another plot of property for a home and garden.

The whole community pitches in to help build the houses on a self-help basis, using materials supplied by AID through the government of Vietnam. Schools, public buildings, dispensaries and wells are also built as community projects.

The Ninh Duc development center already has 12 wells dug with AID assistance, and plans to dig more when it receives some new equipment.

The literacy rate in Ninh Duc is high for Vietnam. Seventy-five percent of the people can read and write and another 10 percent can read.

The rate for the country as a whole is about 40 percent.

The farmers of Pleiku Province are able to borrow from their government through the National Agriculture Cooperative (NACO) to buy rubber plants. So well received has this program been, that they hope to be able to extend their credit to include livestock.

A consistent request, according to Prosser, is for medicines, particularly antibiotics. The shortage, he pointed out, is aggravated by the fact that the Viet Cong, in attacking a village, raid the dispensary first, cleaning out the penicillin, streptomycin, and any other drugs they can find.

Prosser works closely with Major Vo Van Ba, who, as province chief, has a position roughly analogous to that of a governor in the United States. It is Prosser's job to evaluate the needs of the people in the province, to make recommendations to Major Ba and to see that when the recommendations are accepted the supplies are shipped without delay and arrive at their destination without diversion.

This is by no means Prosser's first experience in Vietnam. Ten years ago, when, on active duty with the Army as aide to the Chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group in Saigon, he met and married the Ambassador's secretary, Katherine Ann Rapp of Council Bluffs, Iowa. She is today secretary to U. Alexis Johnson, Deputy to Ambassador Maxwell Taylor.

A native of Washington, D. C., Prosser was a student at Clemson College in South Carolina when World War II cancelled his training as an architect and started him training for the military. Twenty years and a world of travel later, he retired from the Army as a major.

During this time, he worked towards his bachelor of arts degree, which he received from the University of Illinois in 1961. He was also on assignment at various times with the League of the International Red Cross, serving both in the Congo and in Switzerland.

In his present assignment in South Vietnam, Prosser finds one of his biggest jobs persuading lowland people to stay on the newly developed land and work it. The problem, he says, stems from the fact that many families in the hills had originally come from coastal areas and still want to return to their first homes.

Some of them, especially those who were fishermen by trade, do return. Others are being encouraged to stay on with the tangible evidence of their government's interest in their welfare.

Besides the distribution of

(Continued on page 4)

Xavier Students Denounce Local Playboy Club

Seventeen students from Xavier University, Cincinnati, Ohio, silently marched in front of the city's new Playboy Club for two hours, carrying signs with such slogans as "Hide From Reality Here" and "Do You Want Your Daughter to Be a Playmate?"

The leader of the group, Thomas Conway, a sophomore from Cleveland, said the demonstrators objected to the presence of the key club because of its connection with Playboy magazine, which he described as "pornographic trash."

THE XAVIER NEWS, campus newspaper, said one of the students distributed a mimeographed sheet which read as follows:

"In picketing the Playboy Club, we as university students wish to point out that the entire Playboy philosophy not only opposes the basic Judeo-Christian principles of our society but openly advocates their overthrow. We deny Hugh Hefner's 'new morality'. It is nothing but plain old immorality."

"It has been stated that the presence of a Playboy Club will bring more business to Cincinnati. What kind of business? Have we reached such a ridiculous impasse that the development of downtown Cincinnati depends on overgrown 'boys' ogling 'bunnies'?"

"Mr. Hugh Hefner is the publisher of Playboy magazine, famous for its daring pictures. A Playboy Club in Cincinnati cannot but help promote the Playboy magazine. Pornography, no matter how sophisticated it claims to be, is nothing more than filth—a filth whose stench is repulsive and whose advocates are corrupters."

Arnold Morton, vice president of Playboy Clubs International, told reporters that "the presence of the pickets was embarrassing to some of our guests. We are not immoral."

He added: "The leader (Conway) has never been inside a Playboy Club. He reflects an uninformed attitude of emotional blindness. He is doing what he has been told to do by adults."

Subsequently, the university's student council voted, nine to four, against officially sanctioning the actions of any volunteer group of Xavier students in such a protest. But Conway and his band of volunteers vowed to continue their efforts.

Patriots Buried At Local Site

TOM RAMSAY

Few institutions in the Piedmont section of South Carolina can rival the fame of Clemson University, but a choice for the number two spot might well go to that sacred landmark, the Old Stone Church.

In its cemetery rests the remains of many patriots and pioneers of upper South Carolina. Three Revolutionary War Veterans, one of whom was General Andrew Pickens, one Indian Creek War Veteran, and twenty-six Confederate dead, help consecrate this hallowed ground.

The church, which was one hundred years old when Clemson College was established some three miles away, is first mentioned in history on Oct. 13, 1789. At this time, according to the minutes of the Presbytery of South Carolina, "A people on Seneca (River) apply to be taken under our care and receive supplies."

Hopewell-Keowee was the first name of the church and congregation. The name of Hopewell was taken from the Treaty of Hopewell, made with the Chickasaws, Choctaws, Cherokeees, and Creeks, at Hopewell, the residence of General Andrew Pickens. Keowee comes from the stream making a branch of the Seneca.

Indians had ceded the area which now makes up Anderson, Pickens, and Oconee counties; first known as Pendleton, in 1777. The population of this fertile region grew rapidly and was estimated to have reached 10,000 by 1793.

On a lot of nearly seventeen acres, part of the estate of John Miller, the first log church was built. Mr. Miller was born in London and is believed by many to have fled to the United States after his famous "Junius Letters" were published. These letters denounced official corruption, in the ministry, the parliament, and in the judiciary.

A log house of worship built in 1790 was replaced by the "Stone Meeting House" in 1802. This building still stands and was recently restored after years of disuse.

The congregation at Hopewell-Keowee joined the congregation of Carmel Church in sharing pastors during their

Mr. Lamar Prosser, left, and Province Chief Major Ba greet visitors from Saigon, John Bennett, U.S. Embassy economic officer, with glasses, and Alek Rozental, Chief of Economic and Planning Division in AID's Saigon Mission, right.

Coed Views Clemson

By TONDY MCGOWEN

Feature Staff Writer
"Why did you come to Clemson?" "how many girls are there this year?" "I'll bet you have a date every night, don't you?" . . . These are just a few of the somewhat cryptic remarks that every one of Clemson's co-eds has heard at least once since she's been here.

Contrary to popular opinion quite a few of the girls have serious goals other than matrimony in mind. (Namely a degree.) Since Clemson left military status behind and joined the ranks of the universities, more emphasis has been placed on urging girls to apply at Clemson. This is one reason for the substantial increase over last year's coeds. More of a balance in numbers may be reached in the future.

From a co-ed's viewpoint, Clemson is a co-ed's dream come true. The dorms are some of the best, if not the best, afforded any women students in South Carolina. The girls don't even seem to mind the long hike to the dining hall—it helps the figure, you know.

There is a very long list of reasons why this year's new co-eds picked Clemson. Ask any one of them and you get a different answer. However, one appears to pop up in just about everyone of their reasons; that is, "We like it!"

This should be taken as a compliment by Clemson's bachelorhood. Have you ever thought what most women would have to say upon entering a bachelors' domain? As a rule, the comments would be most caustic. As it is, Clemson has been quite adaptable even to putting curtains in the Rifle Team's headquarters and allowing girls to join the Y.M.C.A.

Typical of women, the co-eds' presence will bring about many changes in the overall picture of Clemson and the men should be most happy to see them come about—ever see a man who wasn't?

Though there will continue to be complaints and opinions on both sides of the fence, the group will increase so that the male population will not be able to avoid the fact that they are girls and really roll out the welcome mat!

ROTC Unit Obtains Crests

Members of the Army ROTC have just been issued distinctive shoulder crests to be worn with their uniform. It is traditional in the United States Army for units to have crests depicting something of the unit's history. In keeping with this tradition, a crest was designed by members of the United States Army Instructor Group some months ago and has recently been approved for issue by Department of The Army. The crest are being worn by all members of the Army ROTC Brigade at Clemson University.

The design is a shield with the clock tower of Tillman Hall superimposed on a blue sky and white clouds. The hands on the clock point to 4 p.m., the time the Brigade drills each Thursday. Below the clock is the head of a Tiger between crossed flags. The American flag is symbolic of Clemson's national position; the Confederate flag is of regional significance. On a lawn of green in front of Tillman Hall is a gold Palmetto tree flanked by the gold letters SC representing the State of South Carolina. The motto at the bottom of the shield, "This We'll Defend," is that of the Department of The Army.

It is with great pride that the Cadet Brigade and the U. S. Army Instructor Group Detachment don this distinctive and meaningful emblem. The motto, "This We'll Defend" applies to the traditions of our University as well as to the welfare of our great nation.

Bullwinkle Advises All

Dear Bullwinkle:

All of my 11 wives have met with mysterious accidents, but now I have just married the loveliest one of them all. Should I tell her about the others?

Strange

Dear Strange:

Why unduly frighten her? Anyway, re-telling the story would probably only be a strain on you. Save your emotional strength for her inquest.

Bullwinkle

Dear Bullwinkle:

In our city, there are men so low and rotten that they will actually kill for as little as $100. What can be done about this?

Irate Citizen

Dear Irate Citizen:

I think if they banded together and formed some sort of price-fixing deal, they could get more.

Bullwinkle

Dear Bullwinkle:

Is it possible for me to clear up my rotten complexion by rubbing it with something?

Bad Face.

Miss November: Beauty As Well As Brains

Written by William M. Brown, TIGER Feature Editor, and Photographs by John Lank

Clemson football supporters, who attend the games in Death Valley, have surely seen our first choice. She is Susan Moore, one of the three coed cheerleaders.

Susan comes to Clemson from Columbia, South Carolina, where she graduated from A. C. Flora High School. Upon graduation, she was elected Senior Superlative and the Most Likely to Succeed.

This is Susan's sophomore year at Clemson. During her freshman year, she proved that coeds can make a high gpr (grade point ratio), by earning a cumulative total of 3.68. She also participates in the Honors Program; her major is Applied Mathematics.

While not attending classes or leading cheers at the athletic events, Miss Moore works in the Office of Admissions.

Recently, Susan participated in the contest for Miss Clemson. She is also the sweetheart for Delta Phi Kappa.

Susan feels that "the other coeds are really friendly. We all know each other because we live so close together. Going to Clemson is like going to both a large and a small college. There are not many girls here yet, but Clemson is relatively large in size."

It may come to pass that the prediction of her graduating high school class comes true. Her gpr in the first year, and the activities in which she plays a part, all indicate her ability as a Clemson Coed.

Perfect for the college man

FaraPress

Slacks

by

FARAH

"They're ironing while they're drying"

Styled-right
FaraPress<sup>TM</sup>
Slacks

Never Wrinkle
Won't Wilt or Muss
Creases are Permanent
Colors are Fast
Feature Finest Fabrics
Wear Longer and Stay New Looking

FARAH MANUFACTURING COMPANY, INC. EL PASO, TEXAS

The biggest square on the block.

When you first buy a Volkswagen Station Wagon, people may wonder who's squarer: you or the car. But don't worry. Time is on your side.

Just make sure you have an audience every time you load it up.

A Volkswagen Station Wagon holds twice as much as routine station wagons: 170 cubic feet against roughly 85.

(Which is always good for a few raised eyebrows in the crowd, especially when they see that the VW is 4 feet shorter than regular wagons.)

If you have a crowd of 9 people watching, invite them for a ride. All 9 fit nicely, and everyone gets a window. (There are 21 to go around, plus a hole in the roof so they can look up as well as out.)

If you like to rub it in a little, you can toss around a few numbers like 24 miles to the gallon and 35,000 miles on a set of tires.

And it won't hurt if you mention the air-cooled engine that can never freeze up or boil over.

Above all, you have to be patient with people.

In the end, it may turn out that the biggest square on the block is the last guy to buy one.

FRANK MYERS MOTORS, INC.
3302 N. Main Street
Anderson, S. C.

Ed. Note: This article is the first in a series of articles. The main purpose of this series is to introduce some of the outstanding coeds to the readers of the TIGER.

This Is New WSBF ...

By C. U. TIGER

TIGER Feature Reporter

Last week, WSBF had two special programs for the Clemson students. These included the election coverage on Tuesday night and the broadcast from the Loggia on Saturday (Homecoming).

On Tuesday night, election results from the national, state, and local elections were announced as soon as the information was received. Most of their election information came from the Network Election Service (NES). This organization was an election pool of the major press systems—AP and UPI—and the major television networks—NBC, ABC, and CBS—coordinating their efforts to bring the American people better and faster coverage of the results.

Along with this information, two faculty members were on hand in the station to answer any questions which students had on the elections. For the Republicans was Mr. E. A. Rogers, professor of Agricultural Economics. The Democrats were represented by Mr. John Gordon, professor in and head of the Social Science Department.

Students on the staff worked overtime on this program, and should be commended.

The student newscasters were Rick Bainbridge, Bob Knowles, Keys Lewis, John Doizer, and Gary Henderson. Several of the junior staffers who kept the station on the air and who did the 'leg' work were Charles Humphries, Dan Bowen, Skip Williams, Ken Parker, George McCullen, Carl Kester, and Jim Spears.

On Saturday, WSBF presented its special Homecoming broadcast from the Loggia. From nine in the morning until one in the afternoon, the voice of Clemson could be heard as it broadcast from its temporary station.

This broadcasting unit on the Loggia gave the students and visitors a chance to see how a radio operates. Several campus personalities and alumni were interviewed during the morning.

Gary Henderson co-ordinated the entire program, and Bob Knowles, Ken Jacob, Ken Parker, and Keys Lewis helped him make the broadcasting possible. Two junior staffers remained in the regular station quarters to keep everything working smoothly. These two were George McCullen and Dan Bowen.

President Edwards was one of those to notice WSBF's special set-up. As he passed by the speakers table, he was overheard to comment humorously, "If they do not pay their rent here, we will put them in the Quadrangle."

CLEMSON'S WHO'S WHO

Coakley Explains Duty

By TONDY MCGOWAN
TIGER Feature

Dean G. E. Coakley

George Coakley, Dean of Men at Clemson University, was born in Washington, D.C. He is, himself, a Clemson Alumnus. He came to Clemson with his twin brother in 1937, during the military days of the university. He graduated in 1941 with a B.S. degree in Agricultural Economics.

Immediately entering the service after graduation as a second lieutenant U.S. Army, he spent the next twenty years in the service of his country. He retired, a Lieutenant Colonel on June 30, 1961 and took his position as Dean of Men here at Clemson on July 1, of the same year.

During his stay in the army, he was a member of the R. O. T. C. staff at Clemson until 1950. He was then sent to Korea.

Dean Coakley married the former Ann Elizabeth Tuten. They have three sons, Ed, John, and Paul.

On talking to Dean Coakley last week we learned much about the function of his office. A part of the discussion follows:

TIGER: How actually does the Office of Student Affairs function?

Dean Coakley: The Office of Student Affairs is directly concerned with the welfare of the individual here at Clemson. It establishes programs to provide an atmosphere for growth, the main goal of which is a degree. This concerns mainly the time outside of the classroom in the religious, physical and emotional realms. The counseling and disciplinary part of the office is homogeneous. The office includes several professional advisors in addition to Dean of Men and Dean of Women. The staff has a great job in communicating with and aiding the students with or without problems.

TIGER: What other functions does the office handle in dealing with the student body as a whole?

Dean Coakley: The office is also closely affiliated with nearly 115 student organizations at Clemson. The Student Senate concentrates on many of the problems on campus and, with the blessing of this office, often comes up with solutions. They are now working on finding a solution to the problem of the damage being done to the roofs by those putting up radio antennas.

The office, also maintained the budget of key organizations such as the TIGER, TAPS, WSBF, and CDA. The social fraternities work through the office on Tigerama, Homecoming displays, and intramural sports.

Another organization we are closely associated with is the Student High Court. Our office is proud of the fact that exceptionally few radical recommendations have had to be made in regard to the decisions of the court. However, as everyone should know, the Dean of Men also functions as a part time judge, particularly in dealing with traffic and parking problems.

TIGER: What are your views toward the possibly serious parking space problem on the campus?

Dean Coakley: There appears to be only one answer to this parking problem resulting from the large amount of new construction around the campus. As I see it, the answer would be to have the students use the more than sufficient parking spaces further out from the geographic center of the campus; thus causing a greater amount of walking on the campus to be foreseen for the future (especially since the requirements for possessing a car on campus are completion of 30 credit hours and a gpr sufficient to graduate).

Dean Coakley added that he would like the Students to feel that he might come to his office for help at any time — before little problems grow and cause undue strain.

people. He introduced a hand-operated brick-making machine into the province which has almost eliminated the previous need for outside materials because it uses native soil reinforced by only eight percent cement.

Such self-help efforts have resulted in a certain amount of fame for the husky American. The people of Pleiku are beginning to refer to their area as "Prosser's Province."

By BILLY WALKER
TIGER Sports Editor
A DEATH IN THE FAMILY

It is with extreme sorrow that "Trailing The Tiger" announces the death of the Clemson University student body. The deceased, a resident of Clemson, South Carolina, died at approximately 2:00 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 7, in Clemson Memorial Stadium.

After intensive investigation it was found that the victim died at its own hands following numerous attempts to revive it.

While attending a football game between the University of North Carolina and Clemson, the deceased went into a state of collapse early in the game and never regained consciousness.

Prior to the death, several signs had pointed to the impending disaster. Most noticeable was the fact that a losing football team, one playing hard just to break even, was spurned by the student body for their efforts, be they good or bad. Also evident was the victim's loss of the world famous "Clemson Spirit." A close friend of the late lamented had recently heard it remark: "Who cares what happens to anybody else? I'm just looking out for little me and letting the rest of the world roll on."

The deceased had been in ill-health in recent months and had been bed-ridden since September 19. All relatives and close friends of the dearly departed are asked to attend the burial rites being held on November 21 in the Clemson Memorial Funeral Home. Perhaps some miracle will occur, and our lost loved-one will come back from the dead—it's possible but highly improbable.

A CHOICE — CRITICISM OR SUPPORT

The homecoming game last Saturday was, to say the least, a big disappointment, but something more than the football defeat stands out. It seems that the student body has become detached from the team. Certainly an exhibition like the Tigers put on Saturday deserves a great deal of criticism, but where does criticism come to the point of being destructive and not constructive? Should students become more concerned with criticism than support?

Not for one minute could anyone defend the way the team looked last Saturday. To be pointed, they were disgusting at times, but can anyone say that there were not players on the team that gave all they had and still could not become coordinated with the remainder of the squad?

A football team that is "up" for a game comes from a student body that gives unconditional support to the squad whether they perform adequately or not.

How many students came out any afternoon of this past week to watch the Tigers practice and show them someone was interested in their efforts? Very few, I know. Everyone, including this writer, was too wrapped up in his own problems to go down and watch the team for just a few minutes.

Tom Nugent

This morning the team left for Maryland to have another try at defeating Tom Nugent's forces. Just how they do will reflect on you (and me) as students. Can anyone truthfully say that he's done his part toward contributing to team spirit?

Perhaps you've realized by now that the entirety of this column so far has been intended to offend someone — offend someone enough to get them to come down to the football practice field every afternoon of next week and show the Tigers some real support. Forget about past records, forget about what happens Saturday, and begin to act like the Clemson students that people have been proud to know in the past.

SPORTS AT A GLANCE

Last Monday Clemson hosted the ACC Cross Country championships. The Tigers ran a distant sixth to winner Maryland. Bob Crombie, South Carolina's finest harrier, won the individual championship with a time of 20 minutes, 48.6 seconds over the measured four mile course.

The highest placed Tiger in the meet came home in sixteenth place in the field of fifty-six runners. The Clemson cross country team can look to a better year next fall with the return of lettermen Bob Tindall, Jay Byers, Al Hudson, and Danny Landreth.

Tiger center-linebacker Ted Bunton has the record this year for the team's longest scoring

(Continued on page 6)

DAVIS SWEEPS — Hal Davis (44) sweeps right end behind the blocking of Pat Crain (31) and Jimmy Bell (17). The run was good for 12 yards, but the game was a loss, 23-0 to UNC.

Bruley Slates Tennis Match

Coaches Duane Bruley and Dick Pregall, varsity and freshmen tennis coaches respectively, have announced a tennis match between the Clemson varsity and the freshmen teams on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 14, at 1:00 on the tennis courts behind the field house.

The varsity will be led by seniors James Ledbetter and Ed Crow. Sam Smithyman, Dicon Ornekian, Steve Scheer and transfer student, Zulifugar Raheim round out the team. Junior Tom Long will not see action Saturday because of a pulled muscle.

This year's freshmen team has ample talent and ability to knock off the varsity on Saturday. David Wilkeur, Perry Reynolds, Dave Siebert, Billy Neely, Henry Swink, and Danny Carlson will see action for the freshmen Saturday.

WE PICK 'EM TALLY

	W	L	GB
Carros	109	51
Walker	105	55	4
Fishbein	104	56	5
Rifkin	104	56	5
Laitala	97	63	12
Stallworth	97	63	12
Dunkel	97	63	12

"We Were Flat," Says Baron

Howard:
Who Heard
Who?

By SAMMIE CARROS
TIGER Sports Editor

Last Monday morning after some of the wounds from last Saturday's homecoming loss to UNC had been licked and as the janitor cleaned the field house for another week, Coach Howard stood in his office and changed the month of the calendar on the door to November. He turned around, sat down and began talking freely.

"Son," he began, "don't ask me why we lost. I don't know and I can't tell you. There's no reason in the world why we looked so flat. But you know I think it's kind of hard to keep a team up and have 'em play heads-up ball every week. I'd say it's almost impossible to keep 'em up every week. Now you see we were up for Wake Forest and TCU and Virginia, but we just had a letdown. The boys wanted to look good Saturday and play to win, but they didn't.

Now, I think the stuff we tried against UNC was good, but we didn't run 'em well. If we was to play 'em tomorrow, I believe I'd use the same defense and offense again."

DID YOU TRY ANYTHING NEW?

Howard: Yeah, we tried something new, but we ran it so poorly the fans didn't know it was new. We tried a new running play and a new pass play where the quarterback fakes to the halfback and fullback and throws a pass. But they didn't work.

That new stuff isn't what's gonna win ballgames for you. It's the execution of plays that counts, and we didn't execute 'em. We didn't block good on offense or rush good on defense. Maybe that's one thing we shouldn't be doing — teaching the boys new plays. We ought to let 'em get the others down first.

WAS THAT THE FIRST TIME UNC HAS USED THE TACKLE ELIGIBLE PASS?

Howard: Yeah, that's the first time they've used it all year. The man who had split out on the left dropped back a couple of yards and became a back. That made the tackle an end. But you know that tackle (Frank Gallagher) plays defensive end; so he's got some ability for offense.

The only thing that really hurt us was Willard's (Ken) running. He's one of the finest ball players you'll ever see. He's big and fast and that Kesler (Eddie) is big too. Kesler outweighed our ends thirty pounds; so he could lead the way for Willard. We tried to get Willard to come to Clemson. We tried to get a lot of other boys, but they didn't want to come.

HOW IS YOUR GOOD FRIEND TOM NUGENT?

Howard: Huh! You ain't gonna get me to say anything bad about him. I'm not gonna give him any ammunition that'll get his players fired up Saturday. Yes sir, I think he's a fine gentleman and a fine football coach.

DO YOU REALLY HAVE DIFFERENCES WITH NUGENT?

Howard: Well, you know how it is son. You probably know people that you don't like too much. They're some people you just like. Now

South Carolina, North Carolina and Navy, while they have lost to Oklahoma, N. C. State, Duke, Wake Forest and Penn State.

With its best offensive players on one unit and the outstanding defensive men on another, Maryland will revert to its 1962 practice of the platoon system. Injured players who will not see action for the Terps tomorrow are Darryl Hill, who set an ACC record by catching seven touchdowns passes last season and Len Chiaverini who lead the conference in rushing in 1962 and was Maryland's second leading ground gainer last year.

The offensive backfield for the Terrapins will have four sophomores starting set to call the signals will be quarterback Phil Petry who has taken over the starting position from junior Ken Ambrusko. With Petry in the backfield will be tailback Tom Hickey who is presently second in the ACC in rushing with 675 yards on 134 carries; wingback Charlie Myrtle and fullback Walt Marcinak. On the offensive line Maryland will have senior Rich Pettit and Dick Absher. Absher also punts and is used occasionally to kick off. At tackles senior Joe Frattaroli (220) and junior you take Jim Hickey at UNC. He's as fine a fellow as you'd wanna meet. Most coaches are great guys. You could call most any of 'em up right now, and they'd give you the shirt off their back, 'cept Nugent.

HOW DO YOU DEFEND AGAINST SO MANY DIFFERENT FORMATIONS?

Howard: Oh, it's not really all that hard. You can get you a good defense and execute it well, and you'll stop all those formations. But you've got to execute your defense right.

(Continued on page 6)

We Pick 'Em

Walker	Laitala	Dunkel	Stallworth	Rifkin	Carros	Fishbein
Clemson over Maryland	Clemson	Clemson	Clemson	Clemson	MARYLAND	Clemson
Alabama over Ga. Tech	Ga. Tech	Alabama	Alabama	Alabama	Alabama	Alabama
Army over Pittsburgh	Army	Army	Pitt	Pitt	Pitt	Pitt
Georgia over Auburn	Auburn	Georgia	Georgia	Georgia	Georgia	Georgia
Duke over Navy	Navy	Duke	Duke	Duke	Duke	Duke
Indiana over Oregon	Indiana	Indiana	Indiana	Indiana	Indiana	Oregon
Notre Dame over Mich. St.	Notre Dame	Notre Dame	Notre Dame	Notre Dame	Notre Dame	Notre Dame
Purdue over Minnesota	Minnesota	Purdue	Purdue	Purdue	Purdue	Purdue
Fla. State over N. C. State	N.C. State	Fla. State	Fla. State	Fla. State	Fla. State	Fla. State
U.N.C. over Virginia	Virginia	U.N.C.	U.N.C.	U.N.C.	U.N.C.	U.N.C.
Oregon State over Stanford	Stanford	Oregon St.	Oregon St.	Oregon St.	Oregon St.	Oregon St.
Wake Forest over U.S.C.	Wake Forest	Wake Forest	Wake Forest	Wake Forest	Wake Forest	Wake Forest
Washington over U.C.L.A.	U.C.L.A.	Washington	Washington	U.C.L.A.	Washington	Washington
Columbia over Penn	Columbia	Columbia	Columbia	Columbia	Columbia	Columbia
Vanderbilt over Tulane	Tulane	Vanderbilt	Vanderbilt	Vanderbilt	Vanderbilt	Vanderbilt
Tufts over Hobart	Tufts	Tufts	Hobart	Tufts	Tufts	Tufts
Mississippi over Tennessee	Mississippi	Mississippi	Mississippi	Mississippi	Tennessee	Mississippi
Michigan over Iowa	Iowa	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan	Michigan
Oklahoma over Missouri	Missouri	Oklahoma	Oklahoma	Oklahoma	Oklahoma	Missouri
Kentucky over Baylor	Kentucky	Kentucky	Kentucky	Kentucky	Baylor	Kentucky

Wake Tops Duke, 20-7

By MATHIAS RICHARDSON
TIGER Sports Editor
Maryland 27
Navy 22

Maryland's sophomore-student Terps defeated Navy 27-22, in a game which featured Ken Ambrusko's 101-yard kickoff return in the final three minutes which gave the Terrapins the win. After Maryland had held a 14-3 half-time lead, Navy's outstanding quarterback, Roger Staubach, led the Middles back with two fourth quarter touchdown passes for a 22-21 lead. But Ambrusko shattered all of Staubach's record breaking efforts with his clinching run.

VPI 28
North Carolina State 19
North Carolina State, ACC league leader, was defeated by Southern Conference foe Virginia Tech 28-19. Quarterback Bob Schweickert was the big man for the Gobblers as he ran for two touchdowns, one for 66 yards, and passed for another. Ron Skosnik, Wolfpack quarterback, led Schweickert in the air with 115 yards to 80, but the VPI quarterback picked up 122 yards rushing.

Wake Forest 20
Duke 7

Brian Piccolo, leading ground gainer in the nation, led an upset-minded Wake Forest team past Duke 20-7. The loss, Duke's second in a row, dumped the Blue Devils out of the ACC lead and boosted the Deacons into a third place tie with North Carolina. Piccolo rushed for 115 yards on 36 rushes and scored three times in the Deacons win over the favored Duke team.

(Continued on page 6)

Matt Arbutina (215) afford adequate weight and mobility. At guards will be Milan Vucin, a sophomore and junior Chick Krahling, a former center. At center will be senior Charles Martin.

The defensive charges will be led by linebackers Jerry Fishman and Lorrie McQueen. The interior of the defensive line will have Olaf Drodzow, a senior and Larry Bagranoff a junior at the tackle positions. The defensive center will be senior Fred Joyce. The ends will be manned by junior John Kennedy and sophomore Ron Nalewak. In the secondary will be junior George Stem, sophomore Fred Cooper, junior Bob Sullivan and sophomore Curtis Hotze.

The Tigers are expected to be at full strength again as both Bob Baldwin and "Boss" Hostetter will be back in uniform. It will be the first home appearance for native Marylanders Charlie Meadowcroft, Bob Harner, and Bob Baldwin since they have been at Clemson. The starting unit for Tigers is expected to remain the same with Bill Sharpe and Wayne Bell at ends, John Boyette and Mac McMurray at tackles, Richard Cooper and Joe Blackwell at guards and Ted Bunton at center. The backfield will have Jimmy Bell at quarterback, Hal Davis and Billy Ward at halfbacks, and Pat Crain at fullback.

ATTENTION

Intramural director Bill Wilhelm has announced November 25 as the deadline for the entry of teams in basketball intramurals. Entry blanks may be secured at room 206, Field House, or through Mr. Florey of the Dormitory Office. They must be returned to either of these places before the specified date.

A payday in Europe can help

WORK IN EUROPE

Grand Duchy of Luxembourg — Every registered student can get a job in Europe through the American Student Information Service, and the first 5000 applicants receive $250 travel grants. It is possible to earn $300 a month from a job selection that includes lifeguarding, child care and other resort work, office, sales, shipboard, farm and factory work. Job and travel grant applications and complete details are available in a 36-page illustrated booklet which students may obtain by sending $2 (for the booklet and airmail postage) to Dept. N, ASIS, 22 Ave. de la Liberte, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

HERRINGBONE SPORT JACKETS are most often seen among the pipe-smoking set. We do not discriminate, however, and offer this PBM natural shoulder brand to all who filter through our doors.

PBM
Gordon Ford
Nottingham
Saint Laurie

$39.95 to $55.00
walters & hillman
campus shop
anderson clemson

SPORT COATS

BLAZERS

SLACKS

SHOES

SOX

JUDGE KELLER

STOP AT LARRY'S DRIVE IN

"FOR YOUR FAVORITE BEVERAGE"

104 W. Calhoun St.

Anderson

Mary Lee's

"WOMEN'S APPAREL AND ACCESSORIES"

PARKING — CALHOUN HOTEL

109 Sharpe St.

Anderson, S. C.

600 AM WSBF 88.1 FM
PROGRAM NOTES

CLEMSON vs. MARYLAND

Pre-game 1:45 — Game starts 2:00
Following the game music and scores.

At 6:00 PM "OFFBEAT" begins with a wide variety of music
If you have a request, drop it off at the studio

Sunday, Nov. 15 — 3-5 PM

"CONCERT IN HIGH FIDELITY"
Fallas—"Nights in the Gardens of Spain"
Beethoven — "Violin Concerto"

Sunday, Nov. 15 — 7-8 PM

"SOUNDS OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY"
presents
"SAIL AWAY"

ALEXANDER DRUG CO.

WE INVITE YOU TO COME

SEE US FOR YOUR

DRUG AND SUNDRY ITEMS

WE HAVE "BY GEORGE"

"Your Walgreen Agency"

KODAK FILM
PRINTING
DEVELOPING
ENLARGING
FREE

A fresh roll of film for every roll processed here
Black — White — Color

Harper's 5 & 10c Store

College Ave.

Members of the Army ROTC compete in the three-legged race during the Field Day activities last week.

Campus News Roundup

Pre-Law
There will be a meeting of the Pre-Law Society Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m. on the 8th level of the Student Center. Professor Capel of the sociology department will speak on The Relationship Between the Behavioral Sciences and Law.
All regular members and interested students are urged to attend.

Emory Law School
Professor George Savage King of the Law School at Emory University will be here Tuesday, Nov. 17, to interview prospective law students. Emory University Law School has substantial scholarship funds available for assistance to outstanding students and is particularly interested in attracting more out of state students.
Any student interested in talking with Professor King, please contact Miss Susan Brown at 112 Hardin Hall.

Sorority Tea
All women students are invited to attend an informal sorority tea to be held Sunday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the back lounge of the women's dorm.
This is an opportunity for the coeds to become acquainted with the Sigma Beta Chi, Chi Chi Chi, and Omicron sorority sisters.

Married Students
The Married Students Association will hold a meeting Monday, Nov. 16, at 7 p.m. at the Baptist church. Baby sitting will be available.

January Graduates
All January graduates are to place their orders for caps, gowns, and invitations Nov. 23 to Dec. 4 at the Book Store.

Ceramic Society
The American Ceramic Society will hold a meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of Olin Hall. The annual speakers contest, which is open to all members of the society, will be held at this time. The winner of the contest will receive an expenses paid trip to the national convention of the American Ceramic Society in Philadelphia. Any mem-

(Continued from page 1)
Eugene Glenn Huff, an electrical engineering major from Whitmire, is a Poole Scholar. He holds membership in Phi Eta Sigma and Tau Beta Pi.

Kendall M. Jacobs, an electrical engineering major from Springfield, Ill., is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Tau Beta Pi, the Scabbard and Blade, and the Arnold Air Society. He has also worked on WSBF radio station.

Head cheerleader Lloyd McCrary Kapp is a dairy major from Columbia. He is a brother of Sigma Alpha Zeta social fraternity, a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Zeta, Tiger Brotherhood, and the Block "C" Club.

Stephen Cooley King, a math major from Williamston, is a Poole Scholar and a National Merit Scholar. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Tau Epsilon, and Mu Beta Psi, and the Newtonian Society.

James B. Ledbetter, III, a chemical engineering major from Belton, was named a Who's Who as a junior. He holds the American Institute of Chemical Engineers Award, the Chemical Rubber Co. Achievement Award and the Sons of the American Revolution Award. He is a member of the varsity tennis team, ber who has not entered the contest may do so by contacting Sonny Irick in room A-743.

Literary Society
The Calhoun Literary Society will meet in the first floor conference room of the office building in the Math-English complex on Monday, Nov. 16, at 8:30 p.m.

Bloodmobile
On Nov. 23, the Asheville Red Cross Regional Blood program's Bloodmobile will be here at Clemson. The Bloodmobile, to be located in front of the Episcopal Parish house, will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
According to Danny Ford of the Ways and Means committee of the President's Cabinet, "in order to give blood you have to sign a blood pledge card." The main reason for this formality is so that the Red Cross will be able to secure written permission from parents of donors under 21.

We Were Flat
(Continued from page 5)
ARE YOU GOING TO TRY ANYTHING NEW AGAINST MARYLAND?
Howard: Yeah, buddy, we are. We're gonna go up there to Maryland and knock the heck out of 'em and play heads up football and win the ball game.

Tigerama Attracts
(Continued from page 1)
Kappa Delta Chi's "Curtain Call for the Palace" won the overall award. "From Barlow Bend with Love," presented by Delta Kappa Alpha, won the first place award. Delta Phi Kappa with "Paradise Lost" and "Entertainment Varieties" by the Numeral Society placed second and third, respectively.

Display Winners
(Continued from page 1)
second and third place, respectively.
John Scherer, head of the committee for displays, commented on this year's output. "A great deal of credit goes to all of those who presented displays for this year's homecoming. All of the displays were outstanding, and added much to a colorful weekend."

Prominent Students Achieve Recognition

(Continued from page 1)
Tau Beta Pi, and Phi Kappa Phi.
Walter Keys Lewis, III, a civil engineering major from Hartsville, is a Poole Scholar winner and program director for WSBF radio station. He has been a member of the student senate for three years. He is also a member of Blue Key and Phi Eta Sigma.
Editor of THE TIGER William Harold Linn is an industrial management major from Pickens. He is a member of the Society for the Advancement of Management, and he worked on a Tigerama committee.

Edward K. Lominack, Jr., a biology major from Newberry, is chairman of the High Court and business manager for the TAPS. He is secretary of Kappa Delta Chi and was secretary of his junior class. He holds membership in Delta Sigma Nu, Blue Key, and Alpha Zeta.

Roger Allen McClain, an electrical engineering major from Clemson, has received the Reserve Officer's Association Award, the Vice Commandant's Award, and was named as one of the Distinguished Military Students. He is president of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers and served on the student senate in his sophomore and junior years. He is a member of Scabbard and Blade, the Arnold Air Society, and the YMCA.

Douglas Gray Mahon, III, who is majoring in English and Economics, was named as a Distinguished Military Student and holds a Junior Division Honors Program Certificate. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Kappa Phi, Blue Key, Kappa Delta Chi, and Tiger Brotherhood, and the TAPS Junior Staff. He was vice president of his junior class and presently serves on the Freshman Court and Financial Review Board. He is Attorney General for the student government.

John C. Newton, an industrial management major from Washington, D. C., has received the Bruce Knight Memorial Award and was named Outstanding Perishing Rifle Pledge, Distinguished Military Student, and Superior Army Cadet. He is a member of Blue Key, SAM, Scabbard and Blade, and is Battalion Commander for the Army ROTC Brigade. He is vice-president of the senior class and serves on High Court.

Britt Kendall Pearce, a mechanical engineering major from Greenville, has received the Lois B. Green Memorial Scholarship and the Higgins Undergraduate Engineering Scholarship. He is a member of Baptist Student Union, the track team and the Weightlifting Club. He is treasurer of Tau Beta Pi and ASME, and a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Eta Sigma.

George Millon Plyler, an industrial management major from Lancaster, is president of the senior class, a member of the Industrial Management Society and SAM. He was named Distinguished Military Student and was a White House Conference delegate earlier this year.

Edward Thaddeus Samulski, a textile chemistry major from North Augusta, has received the Leon Lowenstein Foundation Scholarship for four years and received the NSF Summer Research Grant in his junior year. He is vice-president of Newman Club, a member of the Concert Band, and is on the CHRONICLE staff and THE TIGER staff. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Phi Eta Sigma.

John Harry Scherer, a senior electrical engineering major from Beaufort, S. C., is a Poole Scholar and member of WSBF radio staff. In addition he is in the honor organizations: Phi Eta Sigma, Lydia Lee Threatt, an Arts and Science Math major from Gadsden, is a member of Sigma Tau Epsilon and SAM. She has served on the Women's House Council and presently serves on Women's Residence Court. She is treasurer of Sigma Beta Chi Sorority and a member of Concert Band.

Marshall White, Jr., who is majoring in textile chemistry, was named Superior Cadet for Army ROTC and received High Honors during both his sophomore and junior years. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Kappa Phi, Gamma Sigma Delta Secretary-Treasurer of Blue Key, and is a member of Alpha Zeta. He is a member of BSU, YMCA, and the Clemson Aero Club.

LSU English Prof Here To Speak About Poetry

Miller Williams, English professor at Louisiana State University, will speak on "What Poetry Is About" Nov. 17 at 4:15 p.m. in room 1 of the physics building.

Williams, a recipient of the Henry Bellman Poetry Award, graduated from Arkansas State College with a B.S. in biology; he earned a master's degree in zoology from the University of Arkansas.

His poetry has been published in The American Scholar, Antioch Review, Best Poems of 1958, Best Poems of 1963, Chicago Review, Colo- rado Quarterly, Saturday Review and others.

Williams has published a book of poetry, A Circle of Stone. Other of his books include editorship of the bilingual collection Nineteen North American Poets.

He has lectured at Southern University, the University of Chile, Louisiana State University, Oberlin University, Feen College, and many others.

Wake Bounces Duke, 20-7

(Continued from page 5)
North Carolina 29
Clemson 0

Clemson absorbed its worst loss in Tigertown in forty years at the hands of the Tarheels of North Carolina 29-0, before a homecoming crowd of 35,000. North Carolina's tough defense held the Tigers to 190 yards and stopped four drives inside their 31 yard line. In Jim Hickey's first win over Clemson after six games, Ken Willard kept Carolina's offense rolling as he rushed for 60 yards.

South Carolina 17
Citadel 14

South Carolina won their first game of a long season and broke a sixteen game winless streak by turning back a stubborn Citadel team Saturday, 17-14. The Gamecocks, who were celebrating Homecoming, struck for ten quick points, including a 38 yard field goal by Jack McCathern that later proved to be the difference. Francis Grant picked off one of Carolina quarterback Dan Reeves' passes and raced 76 yards to pull the Bulldogs within striking distance in the third quarter, but the Gamecocks preserved their long-sought-after victory by responding with a touchdown march of their own.

Senate Breaks Down Fees

(Continued from page 1)
box on the Loggia. Among these are a proposal to have clocks installed in the dining hall, and another to have lockers provided for the use

Dr. Edwards

(Continued from page 1)
nothing but beneficial effects for you."

Retainers' pay will be increased by $13 from 27 to 40 dollars per month. Retainer pay will have to be reported as income on income tax forms. Summer camp pay will increase from $78 to about 120 dollars per month. Travel allowances for travel to and from summer camp will be increased from 5 cents to 6 cents per mile.

Under the new law, upon enrollment in the Advanced ROTC program, each student, in addition to signing an Advanced Course Contract, will be enrolled in the Reserve component of his service branch. According to Dr. Edwards, "Cadets refusing to honor their agreements will be reported by the Head of their Military Department and be called to active duty in an enlisted status for a period not to exceed two years."

"This provision was inserted in order to prevent some irresponsible individuals from defrauding the government by refusing to accept a commission..." stated Dr. Edwards. He also said that if a student had "justifiable reasons," his contract and enlistment in the Reserves can be terminated.

In concluding his explanation of the provisions of the Act, Dr. Edwards stated, "Your enlistment in the Reserves will entail no participation whatever in the Reserves as long as you are a member of your ROTC program in good standing."

of commuting students for books, lab clothes, and so on.

Finally, the senate adopted two resolutions — one requesting that the dormitory office take necessary measures to put the dining hall PA system in good working order and provide music for supper through this system, the other requesting a special guard of campus security men for Homecoming displays in future years.

According to John Matthews, assistant secretary of the senate, it is the hope of the senate that any students having suggestions or comments concerning pending actions will convey these to members of the senate before final consideration is made at the next meeting of the senate.

Trailing The Tiger

(Continued from page 5)
play. Bunton's tally came on the 48-yard runback of an intercepted pass in the Virginia game. The longest scoring play against the Tigers was a 70-yard run by Jimmy Fauver of TCU.

Few people can help but admire the Wake Forest football team. Under new head coach Bill Tate, the Deacons have been underdogs in all eight of their games thus far. At present they have a 4-4 overall record and have a mathematical chance of winning the ACC championship. Pretty big strides for a team that had the nation's longest losing streak at one time last season. Tate seems a sure bet to win ACC Coach of the Year honors and is in the running for the national Coach of the Year award, although Ara Parsegian at Notre Dame seems to have the inside track.

That's it; so long Abrams.

DON'T KEEP YOUR PARENTS
IN THE DARK
SEND THEM YOUR PAPER
A WHOLE YEAR
COSTS ONLY THREE DOLLARS

The most walked about Slacks on Campus contain "DACRON"®.

Hubbard Slacks have a faculty for fashions of 65% "Dacron"® polyester and 35% combed cotton. Styled in Classic plain front and traditional Gay Blade models for wrinkle-free good looks and carefree comfort, at Better Stores everywhere.

*Dupont's registered trademark

HUBBARD
Slacks

AURORA $350.00
Also to $975
Wedding Ring $87.50

OHLEN $225.00
Also to $1650
Wedding Ring $75.00

ALIE $100.00
Also to $300
Wedding Ring $20.00

Rings enlarged to show detail. Prices include Federal Tax.

To Have and To Hold

Keepsake

DIAMOND ENGAGEMENT AND WEDDING RINGS
Every Keepsake Ring is beautifully styled to enhance the full brilliance of the diamonds. Remember, you can pay more but you can't buy a finer diamond ring than Keepsake. The name "Keepsake" is in the ring and on the tag.

Kingoff's
INC.
ANDERSON'S QUALITY JEWELERS

"If It's From Kingoff's, It's Guaranteed"

115 N. Main St. Ph. CA 5-8041

YOUR CLOTHES CAN
LAST LONGER
LOOK LOVELIER

It's a fact. Dry cleaning makes clothes last up to twice as long! And with Martinizing, your clothes get personal care that restores them like new.

Clemson
Shopping Center
Clemson, S. C.

One HOUR
MARTINIZING
the most in DRY CLEANING

®Certification Mark Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

L. C. MARTIN
DRUG COMPANY
Your Rexall Store

OVER
HALF A CENTURY
OF TRADITIONAL
SERVICE TO CLEMSON
— WITH A SMILE —

LITTLE HUT

814 Wade Hampton Blvd.
GREENVILLE, S. C.